Environmental Regulation, Designated Areas, and the Historic Environment

1. Environmental Regulation

Afforestation, deforestation, forest road works and forest quarry works are subject to regulation under the Environmental Impact Assessment (Forestry) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2006, as amended under the Environmental Impact Assessment (Forestry) (Amendment) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2017. Thresholds beyond which projects must be screened are determined by the type of project and existence of a designation, as listed in Schedule 2 of the 2006 Regulations.

In areas designated as Special Area of Conservation (SAC) or Special Protection Area (SPA) management plans and, where necessary, operational plans in connection with forestry or recreational activities, are subject to regulation under the Conservation (Natural Habitats etc.) (Northern Ireland) Regulations (as amended), commonly referred to as the Habitats Regulations. Operational plans for forest management activities in Areas of Special Scientific Interest (ASSI) are subject to regulation under the Environment Order (Northern Ireland).

Nature Reserves (NR) and National Nature Reserves (NNR) are declared under the Nature Conservation and Amenity Lands Order (Northern Ireland) 1985, and are managed in accordance with a management plan.

2. Designated areas

Forestry land is designated under the Habitats Regulations, the Environment Order, and/or the Nature Conservation and Amenity Lands Order (Northern Ireland) 1985. Forestry land may also include Sites of Local Nature Conservation Importance (SLNCI), which are local areas designated by Councils under the Strategic Planning Policy Statement (SPPS) for Northern Ireland, and Planning Policy (PPS) 2: Natural Heritage. Designated areas adjacent to and on land managed by Forest Service are shown in Table 1.

3. Forests and the Historic Environment

Forests and woodland often include historic sites, such as earthworks, ruined structures and buried archaeological features. These may be designated as state care or scheduled sites and monuments, or they may be non-scheduled. Features listed in the Northern Ireland Sites and Monuments Record (NISMR) that are located in forests or within 50m of forest boundaries are shown in Table 2. Some Forest Service forests include or are connected to areas of historic parks, gardens and demesnes including Castlecaldwell, Ely Lodge, Castle Archdale, Necarne Castle (Castle Irvine), and Florencecourt.

Table 2State-care, scheduled and non-scheduled historic sites and monuments located in or near forest boundary (within 50m).
