An Author Catalog of
DISCIPLES OF CHRIST
AND
RELATED RELIGIOUS GROUPS

Compiled by

CLAUDE E. SPENCER

Curator, Disciples of Christ Historical Society

CANTON, MISSOURI
DISCIPLES OF CHRIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY

1946

EXPLANATION OF ARRANGEMENT

This catalog is arranged alphabetically by authors. Complete author fullness is used where known, together with the place and date of birth, and place and date of death. Non-Disciple authors, included because of Disciple relationship such as having books published by Disciple publishing houses, do not have the place and date of birth and death.

As a means of identification, Christian church authors have c prefixed to their names and Churches of Christ authors have cc prefixed. As a dividing line between Disciple of Christ and Church of Christ authors, the compiler has used the date 1906, the date used by the United States Census Bureau.

The arrangement under each author is as follows: Separate titles, Analytics, Introductions, Joint works, Books edited and compiled, Joint editors, and Books about.

The entry for each title follows general library cataloging practice as nearly as possible with the usual cataloging abbreviations and symbols. Since the information about each book and pamphlet has been secured by several different methods, that is, an examination of the book, a description from a publisher's catalog, a book review in a periodical, or a catalog card from another library, the entries are not always as uniform and accurate as the compiler would like to have them. Also many entries consist of the title only without bibliographical details because it was impossible to secure those details.

FOREWORD

It is a real privilege for the Disciples of Christ Historical Society to be able to issue this vast listing of the materials published by and about this indigenous American religious movement and its leaders. Insofar as is known, this is the first time that any American Protestant body has ever published such a master list of authors and titles.

Mr. Claude E. Spencer, Curator of the Society, began to compile this catalog nearly twenty years ago. At that time when a brotherhood Historical Society was simply a dream, he realized the increasing need of an adequate listing of Disciplina. The result of his prodigious labor, published in this volume, is but the first part of the necessary project.

The compiler would be the first to recognize how incomplete is this published list. Much work lies ahead, on the part of many interested persons, before the 10,000 main entries of religious and general books represented in this catalog can be adequately enlarged and revised. The various librarians and research workers who carefully check this list can render the Historical Society invaluable aid by making corrections, additions, and suggested revisions. This indispensable assistance will then ultimately make it possible for the Society to issue a correct list that will also indicate in which libraries and collections the present material is to be found.

The Disciples of Christ Historical Society seeks always to stimulate the collection, the preservation, and the use of materials by and about Disciples. The Society has previously published Theses Concerning the Disciples of Christ and Periodicals of Disciples of Christ and Related Religious Groups, and both are necessary to thorough research work. Disciples of Christ must yet write and publish a definitive history. This union catalog, now envisioned, is indispensable.

An Author Catalog of Disciples of Christ and Related Religious Groups is then the first step in making historical materials available. It should prove to be a real aid in the location of existing primary and original source materials.

Research workers generally, and the Disciples of Christ Historical Society particularly, are deeply indebted to Mr. Spencer for the compilation of this catalog. Its publication has long been anticipated. The value of such a listing will be recognized immediately. This catalog is truly a pioneer effort, and as such, the Society seeks the active cooperation of all interested persons in making its final revision both accurate and complete.

INTRODUCTION

This catalog grew out of necessity. In 1924 the Library of Culver-Stockton College started a project to collect the literature produced by the religious groups which grew out of the reformation and restoration movements in the American religious scene in the early nineteenth century. The project was handicapped from the start because of a lack of bibliographical tools which gave knowledge concerning the books and pamphlets that had been published. The Literature of the Disciples, a study by J. W. Monser, 1906, and The Literature of the Disciples of Christ by W. E. Garrison, 1922, were available but were far from comprehensive in scope and lacked the details necessary for use as collecting and cataloging guides.

For several years the compiler worked on a want list, adding new titles as he found items in catalogs and periodicals; always making as complete an entry as possible for each title. This want list combined with the catalog of books in the college library became the nucleus of An Author Catalog of Disciples of Christ and Related Religious Groups. At first there was no intention to publish this listing as it was compiled solely for use in The Henry Barton Robison Collection, the name by which the collection of Disciple literature at Culver-Stockton was known.

In 1941, the Disciples of Christ Historical Society was organized and the compiler became the curator of the Society with instructions to start the preparation of a union catalog of Disciple materials located in the various libraries in connection with Disciple institutions. The publication of this book is a step in that direction as it will be used in checking the holdings of Disciple institutions. In addition, the compiler hopes that the volume will be valuable as a guide for purchasing and cataloging.

After a study of the needs of libraries, institutions and research workers, the compiler decided to make the catalog all inclusive by listing secular as well as religious books and pamphlets of the Disciples of Christ, the Christian church, and the Churches of Christ.

Due to the time involved in its preparation and the extra cost of publication, a subject index is not included in this volume although such an index must eventually be prepared.

The compiler wishes to acknowledge his indebtedness to the following persons for information, advice and encouragement: Alfred T. DeGroot, Enos E. Dowling, B. C. Goodpasture, Colby D. Hall, Ernest W. Lundeen, Mrs. Ada Mosher, J. Edward Moseley, George L. Peters, the late Edgar C. Riley, Henry K. Shaw, and Charles C. Ware. Scores of other individuals helped in minor ways.

The following libraries were visited during the preparation of the catalog: Bethany College, Butler University School of Religion, Christian Board of Publication, College of the Bible, The Disciples Divinity House, Drake University College of the Bible, The Gospel Advocate Company, The Kentucky Female Orphan School, The Shepherd Library, The Standard Publishing Company, The United Christian Missionary Society, and The University of Chicago.

It would have been impossible to have published this work without the cooperation of Culver-Stockton College and the active interest of President W. H. McDonald. Because of a leave of absence from his duties as librarian of the college, the compiler has been able to complete his task much earlier than he expected when he first started to get his material ready for publication.

(Baptist)

An oral debate...held at Reynoldsburg, Ohio, commencing November 10, 1873, and lasting four days, four hours each day, on the following propositions: I. Remission of sins, as set forth in the gospel, is offered to the unconverted or alien sinners, on conditions in which they exercise free-will and have power to perform; II. The quickening of the sinner by the spirit of God into new life, or eternal life, is dependent on the written word or scriptures; III. Baptism as commanded in the commission, is in order to the remission of past sins; IV. The eternal salvation of Christians, as set forth in the scriptures, is the work of God, independent of conditions to be performed by man. Cincinnati, Franklin & Rice, publishers, 1874.
