'Youth For Christ' Organization Now Functioning In Davie County

Programs And Rallies Set For This Weekend

By GORDON TOMLINSON In 1944 a group of people were holding evangelical youth rallies in scattered cities in the United States to try and combat juvenile delinquency.

The first paid employee for the Youth For Christ was Billy Graham, the famed evangelist.

Last November, initial steps were taken in Davie County for the organization of a Youth For Christ chapter.

C. B. Boger, 30, an employee of the Western Electric Company, invited YFC leaders from Winston-Salem over to speak to a group of young people at the Oak Grove Methodist Church.

The Davie County Youth For Christ is an interdenominational, non-profit organization. The theme is "Telling Teens Today, Christ The Only Way."

Laymen of the various denominations are in charge of directing the Youth For Christ activities.

The overall program of the YFC is carried out in numerous ways.

a. There are Saturday night rallies. b. Five quiz teams compete against one another on Saturday night.

Civil Cases Are Settled

A mistrial was declared last week when a Davie County Superior Court jury deadlocked over issues in a suit seeking to set aside a deed on 342 acres of land in Jerusalem Township.

After deliberating for over a day, Judge L. Richardson Preyer of Greensboro withdrew a juror and declared a mistrial.

The trial involved children of the late J. C. Charles, who owned the 342 acres involved. The land, according to the plaintiffs, was valued at about $125,000.

The plaintiffs contended the deed, dated November, 1937, should be set aside because it was a gift deed and not delivered.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs were Walter Woodson, Sr. and James Woodson, both of Salisbury, and Walter Zachary of Yadkinville.

Attorneys for the defendants were B. C. Brock and J. T. Brock, both of Mocksville, and Dallas Kirby of Danbury.

Jack L. Hunt vs. Claudia W. Hunt, divorce, Non-suited. Bowles and York Service Station was awarded $2231 from Gray Carter, trading as C and S Home Improvement Co., as the result of an open account bill.

Ajalie Coble vs. John Q. Coble, divorce, Case dismissed and plaintiff dismissed.

'Let God Be True' School Boards To Meet Here

J. B. WHITAKER
In II Cor. 3:2 we read, "Ye are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read of all men." We are known and read by others. Many do not read anything else in the religious sphere other than the lives of those who are Christians.

Each person, Christian or non-Christian, has influence. Many find it hard to realize this fact. We have the privilege of making many choices but we cannot choose whether or not we will have an influence. When people observe us they read a message.

People read a good message or a bad message when they observe you. Jesus says there is no middle ground (Matt. 12:30). We are either for or against Him. Those who do not have a good influence have a bad one. People sometimes speak of someone "losing his influence." Such a statement is a misnomer. You might lose your good influence, but you automatically have a bad one. You might lose yourself in a large city, flee to the mountains and live the life of a hermit, but your influence still affects others.

We read by others without knowing it. Our actions sometimes influence others to act. This fact should cause us to be exceedingly careful. No right thinking person can say, "I do not care what people think." I Cor. 8 is a wonderful chapter on the attitude we should have with reference to influencing others. Paul declared there that he would eat no more meat so long as the world stood if doing so would cause a brother to offend.

In what ways are we read? In our speech. This is normally the first thing folk notice. Do you talk in such a way that they people leave they feel that when have read a cheap, ten-cent piece of trashy literature? Watch your words! We are also read in our daily lives. A steady, consistent life leads people to the Lord (I Peter 3:1). We also influence others by our attitude toward the church. The church must mean everything to me if I convince others that it means anything to them. Influence is immortal. (Heb. 11:4 and Mark 14:9). On-

Davie Farmers Are Losing S.S. Benefits

Davie County farmers are losing money. Whose fault is it? Social Security benefits to farmers and their families are available to eligible farmers. What are these eligibility requirements?

For Male Farmers
1. Attained age 65 before April 1, 1958. (For women same except attain age 62).

2. Farmed for at least 2 years out of 3 years - 1955, 1956, 1957, and netted $400 or grossed $600. (For 1955, grossed $800.)

3. Filed tax returns and paid social security tax.

There are many farmers that meet requirements 1 and 2 and many of these need to do only 3 and 4 to get benefits. It is those persons who meet test 1 and 2 and who have not filed their tax returns nor filed an application, that are losing money.

S. W. Miller, Social Security representative for Davie County, advises that one day in this past February, out of 8 farmers who made application, 6 of these had lost 10 months benefits for himself, his wife and children. As minimum family benefit is $45, this was at least $2,700 lost forever to Davie County.

If you are 65 and farmed in 1955, 1956 and 1957, or any two of these years, and netted $400 in these years or grossed $800 in 1955, or $600 in 1956 and 1957, contact your Social Security Office in Salisbury, located at 106 Corriher Ave., immediately. Their telephone number is 7041 or 7042. Mr. Miller is at the Court House in Mocksville on the first and third Fridays of each month.

Don't be one of the losers. Don't let your wife and family suffer want or need because you just couldn't find time to see about your Social Security.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS
A son, Dery Ray, Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Derry Barnhardt of Copperas Cove, Texas, on March 7. Mrs. Barnhardt is the former Ommie Sue McDaniel of Rt. 3.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Jack F. Warner, Rt. 5, March 10.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Tutterow, Rt. 1, March 8.

Curriculum Study, Mr. Lynn Hostetler, Iredell County.

The REA Phone And What It Means To The Schools

By CURTIS PRICE
Supt. Davie County Schools.

The schools of Davie County are located in widely separated sections of the county. Many times during the week it is necessary to contact these schools for smooth running of lunch rooms, school buses, and for the many items of business in connection with the schools. One principal may want to call the office for clearing a question. Another may have a broken water line, water pump, or there may be a sick pupil needing medical attention before being removed from the school. A quick call over the telephone can bring a ready response and within minutes or an hour or two, things will be moving forward as usual. Without REA telephones many of these important items connected with the smooth running of a school would take up the time of someone, and it may be the next day or several days plus a lot of expensive digging before things could be brought to normal.

To make an announcement known before we had REA telephones, it was necessary for someone, usually the superintendent or one of the staff, to drive from school to school to inform the principals of matters that would immediately affect all the schools. REA telephones have helped greatly to eliminate stress and strain in the running of schools in the county.

Davie County has many parents, one or both of whom work in Winston-Salem, Lexington, Salisbury, or in other nearby towns. These people have reason many times to contact the schools regarding their pupils and changes in the home schedule. Telephones in the schools and in the homes have made it practical to call and have understandings in minutes instead of having to wait for hours.

Calls to the local hospital make for quick admittance for people who have acute or rush cases. Many times tractors in the fields can be running within an hour after a breakdown; without telephones it would take a day or two.

I feel that the installation of REA telephones in Davie County has made the entire people of the county a more contented and happier people. It has saved lives, had mad schools run smoother, and has contributed to a happier home life.

Grange Announces Sewing Contest

"A breath-taking trip for two by luxurious Sabena, Belgian World Airlines to the World's Fair in Brussels, and then on, by helicopter, to the heart of Paris for two weeks at the deluxe Hotel Claridge on the Champs Elysees, plus $500 personal expense money," are the words used by Mrs. C. E. Leagans, chairman of the Home Economics Committee of the Pine Community Grange, in describing the first place award in a $50,000 Sewing Contest sponsored by the National Grange.

Mrs. Leagans explains that the contest is open to Grange members and non-members alike, and that it closes April 30.

Separate divisions and awards are provided for: (a) adults—18 years of age and over, (b) youth—15 through 17 years of age, and (c) juniors—12 through 17.

In addition to the all-expense paid trip to Paris, the adult division includes an Isotta sports car, a five hundred dollar wardrobe, and a mink stole for second, third and fourth place winners.

Top winners in the youth division will receive a luxurious ranch mink bolero—$500 value, a 52 piece set of solid sterling silver, a handsome cedar chest filled with a treasure of of Pleiderest linens, and a Symphonie HI-FL.

High ranking contestants in the junior division receive a "Concert Master" HI-FL set, mounted on a beautiful mahogany, walnut or blonde cabinet; a high fidelity tape recorder; a Brownie 500 movie outfit, and a transistor radio.

Each division provides many other awards for local, state and national winners.

Subordinate Granges turning in the greatest number of entries in relation to their membership will receive these special awards: First—a Conn electric organ, valued at $1,000; third—$300 cash; fourth—$100 cash; plus 100 awards of $50 and 100 of $25 each.

Complete details on the Contest can be obtained from Mrs. C. E. Leagans, or from the Home Economics Committee chairman of any Subordinate Grange. All entry cards are to be returned to Mrs. Leagans as soon as possible, so that she in turn can mail the entry cards to the State Home Economics Chairman.

Library News

MRS. J. FRANK CLEMENT
"WAKE UP AND READ"
How about your public library? Is your public library all it should be? Is it up to standard? And who says what is "standard?"

Your public library can be a vital part of your community life. It should have everything people need for information, research, recreation—such as plenty of books, pamphlets, magazines, and maps. It should be an open door to knowledge and a fuller life for everyone: student, homemaker, businessman, sportsman, gardener, music lover, for a child learning how to live and for older ones learning how to enjoy life longer.

Does your public library really serve all the people? Every American should have a good library service close at hand, whether in a city or county library, branch or bookmobile.

Is your public library designed for service? Your public library should be easily accessible, clearly identified, comfortable, and efficient. The central library should be within short driving distance, and bookmobile stops located so that older youngsters can go there on foot.

Is your public library well staffed? Every library system should have professionally trained librarians, and at least one full-time worker for each 2,500 population in area served.

How about your public library? In Davie County Public Library all it should be? Is it up to the above standard? And who says what is "standard?"

In the over-all picture we know that our library, while we all proud of its growth and development, has much room for improvement. However, it does help the morale of the Library Board, who make the policies, and the librarians who try to carry out these policies, to get works of appreciation from patrons. The following quotes from some of our citizens who really appreciate the Davie County Public Library and the Bookmobile service.

From a college student: "Education is not a mere collection of hundreds of facts, figures, and formulas. It is the ability to find the answer to the many perplexing problems of life. One of the most valuable assets in a community for this, is the library. I discovered this when I had to write some research papers in college and to my amazement, I was able to secure almost all of my information from the Davie County Public Library. Surely, if this library can run competition with a large college library, it can furnish you with a lot of good reading. I have found it to be a great help to me and I urge you to get into the habit of reading and patronizing our library." James L. Roberts.

What the Davie County Public Library means to a rural community, in this instance, Farmington: "Our appreciation for the pleasure, inspiration, and information which has been made possible for me through the facilities of the county library, can not be expressed in mere printed words." Mrs. Mildred P. Johnson.

"Long before the advent of the bookmobile and the enormous growth of our library, some of us were toting books from the old brick store, these collections being made available from the main library." Mrs. R. D. Shore.

"A discriminating staff, alert, and ever interested in the tastes of its various readers is giving us the best." Mrs. Frank Bahnsen.

"Come bookmobile day, and be said we have been awaiting that day, shuffling along, arms loaded, bags full, an occasional child's wagon called into service, we meet for a visit with friends. The thrill of a new book, an old familiar one to be re-read—such wealth, such happiness! Thanks to our sponsors: Federal, State, County and Town!" Mrs. J. Frank Johnson.

"What would I ever have done without this privilege?" Mrs. Marion Johnson.

"I feel that this is a public service, with which I could not now dispense. I am not a traveler, even a limited one, but I do travel as far as a book can take me, and by mind can reach. Nothing in the way of cultural advantages can excel the opportunities the Davie County Public Library affords its rural readers." Miss Blanche Brock.

"To paraphrase a commercial for the best in pleasure, enlarging your horizon on any subject, join the many satisfied customers of the Davie County Public Library." Mrs. B. R. Bennett.

What the Davie County public library means to a busy housewife in the county: "The library means several things to me. One, of course, being the excellent source of information, that the library has

Farm Records Needed For Social Security Claim

"A number of social security claims based on farm earnings have been turned down in Davie County because the claimants did not keep records and were not able to prove that they had the income reported," J. David Bryan, field representative of the Salisbury Social Security Office, reported today.

"It is a well-known saying that 'ignorance of the law is no excuse,'" Mr. Bryan said, "and that applies to keeping records and filing social security tax returns on time. Social security benefits cannot be based on guess-work, and estimates of income won't do. While there is an optional reporting system which permits farmers to pay social security taxes on two thirds of their gross income instead of the actual net profit, the taxpayer who had not kept a current record of expenses would not be able to tell at the end of the year which method was better for him."

Mr. Bryan expressed concern that some younger farmers may not be keeping up with their tax reports. Failure to do that will make it difficult, if not impossible, for the widow and children to collect benefits, he said, in the event of the farmer's death, and benefits might not be payable at all because he has not been under social security long enough.

The Davie County Youth For Christ organization meets at the Mocksville Rotary Hut every other Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. At other times, several carloads of young people are taken to Winston-Salem to meet with the YFC there.

For this week end the Davie County Youth For Christ has proclaimed a "Magic Weekend."

Forrest McColeg, a pre-medical student from Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., will be here to present a special program. Mr. McColeg will present a film along with the following specialties:

- Trumpet with a hand dummy.
- Ventriloquism (Shaggy and his friend).
- Fracts of Gospel Magic.
- Illustrative chalk drawings.

The film, entitled "The Way of Faith," is an hour-and-a-half film about Forrest McColeg, Ronald Thomson (now of Davie County), and three other students of Asbury College who formed a vocal quartet and gospel team and went to Central America during the summer of 1956 as part of a campaign directed by the Evangelical Schools of Central America. This picture shows the lands of Mexico, Guatemala, and Honduras, their people, problems and scenery, in natural color. It narrates the trip from the time the boys were preparing to go, until their return home.

This film will be shown at the Mocksville Rotary Hut on Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. and at the Oak Grove Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m.

Six services and rallies are set up for the "Youth For Christ Week end."

Local Representative To Attend Workshop On Juvenile Problems

Mrs. C. C. Smoot, Supt. of the Davie County Welfare Dept., will attend a two day meeting in Raleigh this week on "Juveniles With Problems."

Judges and probation workers for Domestic Relations and Special Juvenile Courts throughout the State and county public welfare staffs who work with the other juvenile courts will participate in the meeting. Sessions will be held in the auditorium of the Employment Security Commission. The N. C. Domestic Relations and Juvenile Court Judges' Association joins in sponsoring the program. Judge E. S. Heefner of Winston-Salem, is president of the association.

Among the subjects which will be discussed at the meeting are: "The Juvenile Court: Laws and Philosophy," "Problems of Children Coming Into The Court," "Supervision of Children on Probation," and other areas of concern to the groups represented.

The Hon. Gustav L. Schramm of Pittsburgh, Pa., judge of the Alleghany County Juvenile Court, will be a special speaker at the afternoon session the first day of the meeting — a session open to the public. Judge Schramm is one of the outstanding juvenile court judges of the country and has served as president of the National Juvenile Court Foundation.

Plans for the meeting have been made by a committee composed of the following: Judge Heefner; Eugene Deal, supervisor of court services in the Mecklenburg County Department of Public Welfare; Jackson S. Hoyle, superintendent of public welfare in Cleveland County; and Myrtle P. Wolff of Raleigh, director of the division of child welfare of the State Board of Public Welfare.

Build a stronger, richer life...

WORSHIP TOGETHER EVERY WEEK!

You know the hymn—"How firm a Foundation?" Of course you do. But it's more than a hymn. To many it is a way of life.

The foundation is faith. Faith that gives every day a shining new quality. Faith that provides a strong shelter in time of need. Faith that sustains you in sickness and trouble, that makes life a great adventure, truly worth living.

One does not find faith in a vacuum. You find it as a member of a family, as a member of a community. Worshiping together every week, with those you love, with others who believe as you do—gives you a closeness, a strength to carry you through with hope and courage.

You can build a stronger, richer life—on a firm foundation of faith. Worship together this week . . . every week!

Retail Spending Remains High Locally

A comprehensive survey of consumer buying in the nation's retail stores in the twelve months preceding the business setback shows that the Davie County market was a vigorous one in the period.

With local incomes at a high level, consumers spent freely for goods and services. The buying surge was in evidence, for the most part, in stores selling non-durables, which attracted the biggest part of the household dollar.

The retail spending picture is revealed in the annual report of the Standard Rate and Data Service for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1957.

In Davie County stores, it shows, consumer spending reached a total of $9,542,000 in the year.

Not all of this retail strength can be credited, however, to increased buying on the part of the public. The creeping rise in the cost of living had much to do with boosting the dollar volume. Nevertheless, the higher costs were more than counterbalanced by the better incomes that prevailed.

Locally, per household, the amount available for spending, after taxes, averaged $4,200, an increase over the previous year's $4,120.

How did Davie County residents apportion their expenditures in the year? The answer is to be seen in the gross volume reported for the various kinds of retail business. Included are:

Food stores, whose sales came to $3,053,000, equivalent to 32 per cent of the total retail outlay.

Places selling automobiles and other automotive equipment, $2,021,000, equal to 21 per cent.

Stores selling general merchandise, $883,000, amounting to 9 per cent.

Apparel stores, $144,000, or nearly two per cent.

Home furnishings establishments, $547,000, equivalent to six per cent.

The consuming public proved to be the bulwark of the economy, continuing to buy at a high level despite the talk of a forthcoming recession. Even now, in the midst of a broad decline, the confidence persists that a resumption of good times cannot be too far off. This is evidenced by January retail sales volume, which was four per cent above that of January, 1957.

The Center Fire Department

The Center Community appears to be well on its way towards having a volunteer fire department.

At the present time they have an organization that is functioning. They have raised a considerable amount of money and are making plans to raise more. They have already purchased a 2,000 gallon tanker to haul water. And recently the announcement was made that a modernly equipped fire truck would soon be purchased.

The Center Volunteer Fire Department will mean much to each and every citizen of that area. It will mean much to the farm and home owner to know that there is a fire department in his area capable of saving his property. The training will mean much to the individual volunteer fireman as he learns more about fire, how to prevent it and how to extinguish various types of blazes. This training alone, when carried back into the farms and homes of the various members, means much.

However, one of the foremost assets to a community of a rural fire department is the pride and cooperative spirit it engenders among all the people. It brings together people of varying religious and political faiths, as well as varying personalities. It brings them together in the spirit of serving to help others should the need arise.

The purchase of a new truck by the Center VFD will be the beginning of a new era for that community. It will give an added meaning and purpose to the organization that now exists. However, it will require the support of the people of the community. Such support will give deeper appreciation and a feeling of greater pride to the individual, everytime the Volunteer Fire Department renders a service.

World Is Getting Warmer

Over the last 40 or 50 years the earth has been getting warmer, the National Geographic Society reports.

The change is gradual and there have been short-term reverses, but science has proved grandfather correct: Today's winters are not as cold as those he knew as a boy.

Warmer weather has both advantages and disadvantages.

A New Yorker who awakes to the liquid cadences of the mockingbird, once the avian symbol of the south, or the Canadian wheat grower who finds farming possible 50 miles north of the former limit may be delighted.

A different view may be taken by a New England waterman who finds tropical green crabs threatening his clam beds, or the skier who is forced to go farther and higher to find snow.

All forms of wildlife have been affected. Turkey vultures soar in western Massachusetts, where they were not seen 15 years ago. White egrets stalk the Middle Atlantic marshes. In South Dakota and Minnesota, the cardinal clashes at ever more northerly points.

Reports indicate that the moose and the polar bear, as well as the common opossum, are finding haunts well north of their former ranges.

Ocean dwellers are changing their feeding grounds. Warm-water fish have been moving up the California coast. Dolphin were taken last year as far north as Oregon.

Weather patterns have been disrupted. Last year, for the first time in history, a hurricane struck Hawaii. At Point Barrow, the northernmost part of Alaska, the ice went out earlier in 1957 than ever before.

Changes have also taken place on the Atlantic. The life of the Greenland Eskimo has been revolutionized. Seals provided meat, skins for clothing and shelter, and oil for lamps.

When warmer weather drove the seals north, the economy was wrecked. But codfish moved north, too, and became plentiful near Greenland. The Eskimos turned to fishing which offered income, but not all the uses of the seals. They were forced to convert to a money-based economy.

As the world's icecaps melt and glaciers become smaller, more water is released to the oceans. The sea level has been rising an eighth of an inch a year. If it continues, some coastal cities eventually may have to build dikes.

Climatologists differ on the cause of the warming. Some see the change as part of the Ice Age cycle, with the ice retreating as it has several times before.

Possibly, climatologists hold, gradual clearing from the atmosphere of the dust thrown up by huge volcanic eruptions of the past, such as Krakatau (1883) and Katmai (1912), has allowed more of the sun's heat to strike the earth. Other theories tie the change to sunspot cycles, or to an increase in carbon dioxide in the air caused by man's burning of fuels.

Will the trend continue? Again there is dispute. Some scientists forecast a century of warmer weather. Others, noting increases in the sizes of certain glaciers, believe the cycle may have reached its warmest point, and is about to reverse itself.

Editorial Briefs

Hawaii's Moun Waialeale is probably the world's rainiest spot, the National Geographic Magazine says. Waialeale's annual rainfall averages 489 inches. In a recent year, 624 inches poured down. Strangely, only 20 inches a year fall on Waimea, a coastal town just 15 miles away.

Dahlias, though named after Swedish botanist Andreas Dahl, were first used as food by ancient Mexicans. The tubers contain a healthful starchy substance, inulin, according to "The World in your Garden," a new book published by the National Geographic Society.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — As further evidence of the Senate's concern with the economic situation, two concurrent resolutions were proposed last week by Lyndon Johnson, Democratic Majority Leader.

He underscored the importance of the Resolutions when he said that Congress can and should express our feeling that the action of the Government, the executive, should accelerate the projects.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR W. KERR SCOTT WASHINGTON — "If my critics are saying we are doing too much for farmers, I must take issue."

Believe it or not, but the person who made that statement was Secretary of Agriculture Benson. I don't think anybody will disagree with what the befuddled Benson said in this particular instance, but it has taken him a long time to see the light.

The statement was made in an attempt to refute charges that Benson has unnecessarily run up the cost of operating the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Of course the Secretary got indignant when such a thing was suggested. I suppose he figured his rise up on his hind legs and lit the world know that more ought to be done for farmers.

On the other hand, considering what he has done—deliberately—to destroy the farm program. It is hard to believe he would make such a statement. In fact, the whole purpose of the Benson farm plan is to give less and less assistance to farmers. In order to help stop the Benson plan for lower and lower farm prices, the Senate Agriculture Committee last week voted overwhelmingly to turn down, in effect, the new Benson - Eisenhower farm price program. Benson and the President have asked Congress to give the Secretary of Agriculture authority to make additional sharp reductions in the price support level.

It is obvious that there is very little support for such proposals in Congress. When the Senate committee voted last week, only three committee members — of a total of 15 members — voted against a resolution that would freeze all price supports at the 1957 level for this crop year.

Until this year, the Senate Agriculture Committee has been almost evenly divided on the Benson farm price program. The fact that only three members of the committee are still willing to go along with the Administration on its farm price support proposals is evidence enough that Benson and his policies are steadily losing favor.

There is no way of knowing how long the Secretary and the President will refuse to face facts about their policies, but Congress does not seem to be in any mood to listen to their proposals any more. Instead, Congress is going about its own business of writing a new farm price support program. Whether or not it will be the answer, there is no way of knowing. But one thing is sure: it will be an improvement over what we have now.

TEXT: "Quick believers need broad shoulders." — George Herbert.

An angry man stormed into the newspaper editor's office, shouting, "My name is Arthur Jones! You printed in today's paper that I am dead!"

"There obviously is some mistake," assured the editor. "I'm very sorry it happened."

"Very sorry," sneered Jones. "Did you realize what a fix I'd be in if I believed everything I read in the paper?"

It's good to have beliefs, but Ovid advised, "Do not believe hastily." Quick believers are swept into regrettable blunders. Unfortunately our quick beliefs are not the result of honest understanding and frank appraisal. We believe emotionally. We are lazy and indifferent. We do not work out our beliefs for ourselves. We are satisfied to have others tell us. We believe the one who tells us most vigorously and most often.

Think for a moment about your regrets. You'll find that most of them occurred because you believed someone or something too quickly. You didn't have the knowledge and didn't make the effort to establish a defensible belief. If you had, there would be no regrets. By all means—believe! To quote Ovid again, "No storm harms the man who believes." However, do not believe hastily. Understand what you believe and why. Copyright 1957 Fred Dodge

THE PROPOSAL... When he was in Raleigh to address the 11th annual meeting of Tobacco Associates, Congressman Harold D. Cooley — ever the excellent speaker and good story-teller, related an event he said occurred when President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon were laying out their now-famous agreement in the event Ike should become unable to carry on his official duties.

Cooley said the story in Washington is that the arrangement was set up at the White House about a year ago when the President was desperately ill. As he lay there under the oxygen tent, he called in Hagerly and Adams and asked them to have Nixon come over for the assignment of official duties of President as a guide for him in case it became necessary for him to take over.

In came the Vice President. And, as he lay there under the tent, the President went over the important items. When he had finished, he told Nixon that his assistance would fill him in with further details.

The Vice President, deeply touched by this sudden display of confidence in him, stood erect, looked firmly at Ike and said: "Mr. President, you have done so much for me here. Now what can I do for you?"

"Well," said the President, "first of all, Nick, I'd thank you to take your foot off that oxygen tent tube."

ESSAY CONTEST... High school students in grades from nine through 12 are eligible to enter the First Citizens Bank and Trust Co.'s $1,500 essay contest which runs until midnight, May 15. First prize, $500; second prize, $300; third prize, $200, etc.; and to enter they should write to Free Enterprise Contest, POB 2545, Raleigh.

There will be five special awards of $100 each.

SCHOOL FIRES... The recent tragedy in Kentucky involving school children brings to our attention the fact that fires plague our schools in North Carolina.

The N. C. Dept. of Public Instruction finds that about 35 per cent of school fires come from electrical systems—from overloading or short circuit wiring. Heating and cooking equipment account for about 18 per cent. Other causes: incendiary, 12 per cent; smoking and matches, 11 per cent; rags and mops, 5 per cent; gas explosions, 3 per cent; light bulbs and curtains, one per cent; sparks on roof, one per cent, etc.

The worst school fires in North Carolina in 1957 came in Surry County: at Platt Rock and at another school also just out from Mt. Airy.

Greatest loss of life from school fires reported for North Carolina by the National Fire Protection Association was on Nov. 16, 1917, when seven children were burned to death in an elementary school in Asheville. They had escaped, but returned to get their clothing and were trapped in the flames.

PROMOTION... C. V. Henkel, Jr. was one of the most outspoken critics of the Hodges administration in the last session of the General Assembly.

This big, hearty fellow from Iredell has a fathom voice and a full-blown personality. Well, he has unexpected opposition in C. B. Winbery of Statesville, judge of recorder's court there for 26 years.

When he announced for the State Senate against Henkel last week, the Statesville Record and Landmark gave Judge Winbery 26 column inches of type. That's good. But something better awaits him should he beat out Henkel: a superior Court judgeship from a grateful Governor.

IN PENCIL... A few months ago an outstanding Congressman from North Carolina told us he paid more attention to a post card received from a constituent than he did to a telegram. Said he:

"The telegrams sound too much alike, as a rule. You can see the sender has not put any thought into it — and in fact frequently does not know himself what he is writing about. Why can't our people take the time to write a card or a letter in their own words any more? You'd think if they really deeply cared about something, they could take the time and trouble to write. But no. All we get is wires. They come in like maple leaves in October."

The other day we read that House Speaker Sam Rayburn, in sorting out his mail, gives his personal attention to letters or post cards written in pencil. "I figure," he was quoted as saying, "that if a man writes me with a pencil, his problem is pretty important to him." Makes sense?

IN THE CABINET... What will Gov. Luther Hodges do when he vacates the Governor's Office? What are his ambitions? Everybody when Kerr Scott would run for the U. S. Senate. Had William B. Umstead lived, he would have returned to law practice as did R. Gregg Cherry and J. C. B. Ehringhaus before him. Clyde R. Hoey went to the U. S. Senate, and so did J. M. Broughton.

But Luther Hodges had retired even before he became Governor. He is not an attorney. The word here is that he has finally and definitely given up the idea of opposing Kerr Scott for U. S. Senate.

But he is keeping his hand in the Vice Presidency talk. He seems to be casting his lot with Senator Kennedy. So, don't be so much surprised if he lands a place in the cabinet—if Kennedy is the man.

THE HONEST DARS... About the only thing left you don't have to register to attend is the church.

We were reminded of this last week when Daughters of the American Revolution were holding a meeting in Raleigh. On the mezzanine of the Hotel Sir Walter, they had lined up before tables umpteen efficient looking ladies. Before they lay the usual note pads and other accoutrements of the registration desk.

On the same day, Tobacco Associates — all men — were holding their half-day meeting at the Sir Walter. And, each man had to go by, or near the DAR registration desk to get into the morning program.

"We could have collected $5,000 — and no questions asked," sang out Mrs. Emery B. Denny, one of the registrars and wife of the State Supreme Court Justice. We stood and watched for a moment.

Sure enough, as each man came up the steps toward the ballroom where Tobacco Associates Head J. B. Hutson and others were holding forth, he would slide over to that DAR registration desk, meantime reaching for his pocketbook. "How much is it please?" he would ask.

Finally in desperation the DAR's honest people that they are, put up a little sign reading: "DAR REGISTRATION DESK." After that, everything went all right until one visiting farmer came by and said he was through with tobacco farming and wanted to join up with the Soil Bank.

THE BOUT... Although the Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Tournament held here last week was a great success, they could have attracted a crowd of 50,000 any day they had wanted to by putting gloves on Carolina Coach Frank McGuire, Duke Football Coach Bill Murray, with Carolina Grid Coach Big Jim Tatum in there as referee.

We think Tatum would have been an impartial official.

Do We Have Chorus Girls?

Theatre in any form we know it began with the dramas of ancient Greece. Earliest of these were the Dionysian "Revels" in which the principal attraction was a singing and dancing chorus of fifty men, impersonating satyr followers of the wine god Bacchus, prancing about half-clad in goatskin.

In our musical revues—various follies, frolics, scandals, and vanities whose kinship to "Revels" is obvious — as many chorus girls prance on stage considerably less than half-clad in bareskin. Copyright 1956 John Emery Ent., Inc.

Report Given On Soil Test Taken From Fescue Used At Forage Meeting

The sod containing the huge stalk of fescue used at the Forage Meeting was sent to the Soil Testing Division, N. C. Department of Agriculture. The soil tested pH 6.2; Calcium — High; Phosphorus — Medium; Potash — Very High; Organic Matter — 21.9; Suggested Lime — none; Fertilizer recommendations — 40 pounds Phosphorus, 120-200 N. Remarks: Topdress 60-100 lbs. of recommended Nitrogen in February or March and remaining 60-100 lbs. in Aug. or Sept. Where lower rate of Nitrogen is used, reduce rate of applied phosphorus and/or potash by one-third.

March Egg Month

March is again being declared national as Egg Month. The North Carolina Poultry Council is cooperating in this consumer education program. The March Egg Month program is designed to feature eggs. Theme for this year's program is "Eggs are Right — Morning, Noon, and Night."

The poultry industry is big business in North Carolina, being the second largest source of income. Eggs are available and they are nutritious. Consumers need to know how to buy eggs to get the most in food value and money value. Eggs aren't new — they have been around for centuries.

North Carolinians consumed about 350 eggs per person in 1957. This was about one dozen less than the number consumed by the average American. Storage eggs do not necessarily indicate eggs of inferior quality. Eggs containing bloodspots are edible. Objection is on the basis of appearance rather than wholesomeness. Dark colored yolks do not signify poor quality but indicate that the producing hen has been fed lots of greens and yellow corn. About two-thirds of the food matter in an egg is water. Eggs transported from other areas can easily be of equal quality to local eggs. Grade A eggs kept at temperatures of 95 to 100 degrees for one day usually are lowered in quality to Grade B. There's a season of the year when each size of egg is in plentiful supply. Buy the size most hens are laying at the time you purchase.

Shell color may vary from white to deep brown. Color is a breed characteristic. Shell color does not affect the flavor, the nutritive value or cooking performance. Neither is it a guide to yolk color. There is no advantage to the consumer to pay more for brown or white eggs of the same quality and size.

High nutritional value, versatility in cooking, mild, delicate flavor and ready availability characterize the eggs as unique among foods. The egg deserves the attention of the homemaker who plans and prepares family meals as well as the individual who dines out.

Proper refrigeration helps to maintain the original quality of eggs. Eggs may be stored commercially for several months at temperatures as low as 32 degrees F. In the home, egg quality is maintained by storage in the refrigerator. Whenever possible buy eggs that have been kept under refrigeration.

Eggs are graded on the basis of outside appearance, weight and interior quality. The grade shown on the carton clearly indicates the quality. Some eggs are candled to determine the grade. Grade tells both inside and outside quality. Inside — the condition of the yolk and the white, and gives a clue to flavor quality. Outside — whether shells are clean, well-shaped and unbroken.

U. S. Grade AA and A: Table eggs especially for cooking in shell, poaching or frying. U. S. Grade B: Table eggs, also for baking and other cooking. U. S. Grade C: for baking and other cooking.

Eggs are sold by the dozen, yet consumers should know what weight they are, to get their money's worth. Each weight class designates size according to U. S. Standards. How much do eggs weigh per dozen?

Large: 1 1/2 pounds to 1 pound 10 ounces. Medium: 1 pound five ounces to 1 pound 7 ounces. Small: 1 pound 2 ounces to 1 pound 4 ounces.

Small eggs are usually more plentiful in the late summer and fall months. The size does not affect the quality but does affect price. The various qualities of eggs may be found in all sizes. Weight for weight the nutritive value and the cooking performance of small eggs is equal to that of large eggs of the same quality.

Poultry Suggestions March, 1958

From time to time, this question arises — which type of feeder, tube or trough, is better for feeding chickens? With good management and plenty of feeds there would be little if any difference in results secured from using either type of feeder. The Maine Experiment Station ran a test on broilers using the tube type of feeder and the floor trough type. The results showed very little difference from the second week to the tenth week for these two types of feeders in average weight, feed efficiency, feed cost per pound of meat and per cent mortality. They listed the following advantages for the hanging tube feeder: (1) easier to keep the feed clean in hoppers as it was easy to change the height of the hanging feeders; (2) only one type of hopper was necessary from start to finish; (3) easier to get good hopper distribution in the pens; (4) less tendency to fill hoppers too full; and (5) tube hoppers took up one-third of floor space that trough hoppers required. They listed the following advantages for the floor trough feeders: (1) more durable; (2) no moving parts to get out of adjustment which sometimes happened with tube feeders and allowed too much or too little feed for the birds; (3) easier to store; (4) no bridging over of mash feeds as sometimes happens with hanging feeders.

In the 8th California Random Sample Egg Laying Test, entries were tested on the floor and in cages. In the floor pens the 3150 birds averaged 266 eggs per pullet while the 1780 individual caged birds averaged 242 eggs each on ten-day basis. The average mortality was heavier for floor birds (14.5 per cent) than for cage layers (10 per cent). The interior quality, shell thickness, egg weight and egg sizes ran about the same for both cage and floor layers. The cage hens had a little higher per cent blood and meat spots for the average bird entered than the floor birds. Future tests of floor and cage birds should show interesting results. A one-year test is not sufficient data to draw final conclusions. The choice of keeping hens in cages or on the floor is up to the individual poultryman.

ENTERING A NEW HALF CENTURY

JEFFERSON STANDARD REPORTS TO POLICYHOLDERS

This 51st Annual Report reflects another successful year of operations for Jefferson Standard.

Life insurance sales for 1957 were $229,822,210, an increase over 1956 of nearly $6,000,000. Total insurance in force as of December 31 amounted to $1,708,566,863, an increase of 7.8% for the year.

At the end of the year, Company assets amounted to $496,805,341, an increase of $33,870,398 during 1957.

Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in 1957 amounted to $23,292,416, 63% of which went to living policyholders. During the half century of Company service just closed, the basic purpose of life insurance has been served by the payment of more than $321,921,296 to our policyholders and beneficiaries.

Jefferson Standard, now guaranteeing 2 1/2% on policies currently issued, has never paid less than 4% interest on dividend accumulations and on policy proceeds left with the Company to provide income. 4% is the highest rate paid by any major life insurance company in the United States. This means extra income to policyholders and beneficiaries.

DAVIE COUNTY ELEMENTARY BASKETBALL TEAMS

This year a new program was instituted in the elementary schools of Davie County—basketball.

Last fall Superintendent Curtis Price met with the principals of five elementary schools and outlined plans for elementary basketball play during the year. At that time many felt that it was on an experimental basis—that it might be a question mark as to support and acceptance by the public. Last week the final games of the 1957-58 season were played and there is no longer any doubt about its acceptance by the public.

Probably just about everyone looking at this page saw one or more games between these elementary teams during the past year. To anyone having seen even one of these games, no explanation is necessary as to the enthusiasm of the fans and players alike. It would be the understatement of the year to say that the program was enthusiastically accepted and liked by all.

The Cooleemee boys team and the Advance girls team went through the season undefeated. The Mocksville boys and the Cooleemee girls lost only two games each and were runners-up. However, more important than the season record is what it did for the players themselves, the students of the school and their parents.

This elementary basketball play will do much to help the high school varsity in years to come. A good athlete has to begin young. The program enabled approximately 200 boys and girls of the county to actively participate in basketball. Of course not all will go on to play high school basketball, but many will and the others will never forget their experience on these teams.

To the students of the individual schools, the basketball games were inspirations for school spirit. Such school spirit was always manifested at the games, regardless of whether their teams were winning or losing.

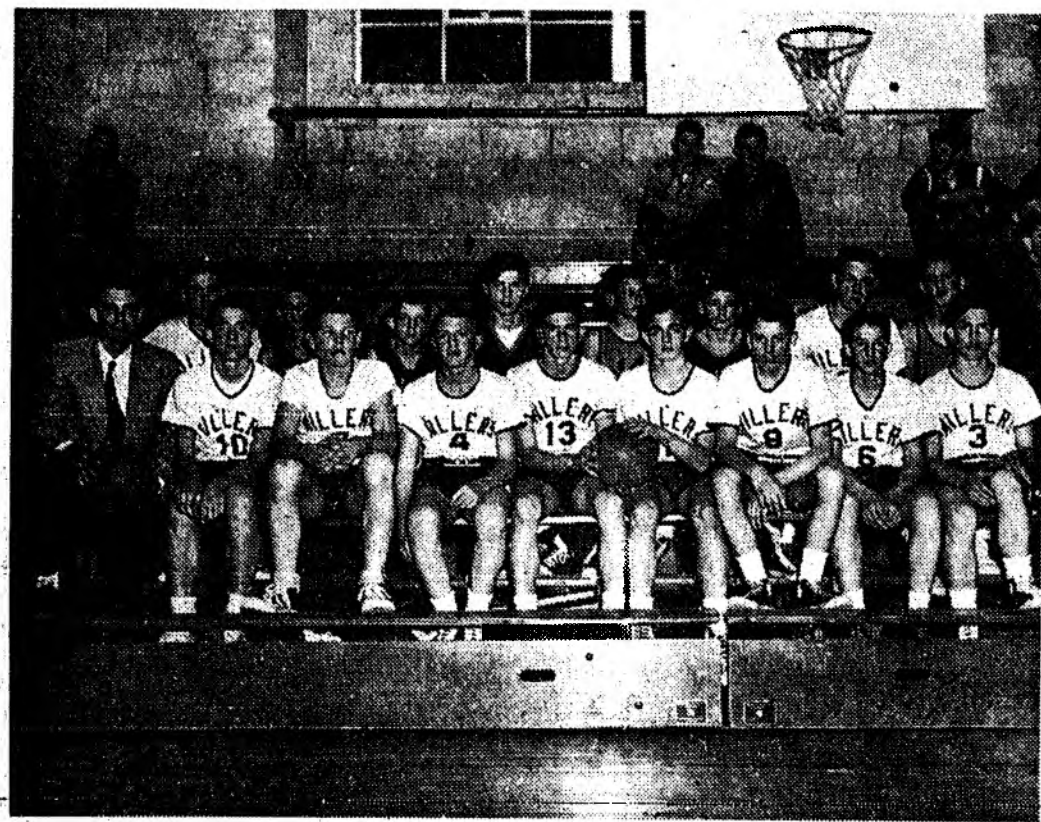

Also, a very important aspect of the program was the training of the parents in the know-how of basketball and getting their interest. The attendance of a youngster at this age usually requires that the parents accompany. This brought out many parents who would ordinarily not go to a ball game and probably established an interest in the sport that will continue on for sometime.

In addition to Supt. Curtis Price, appreciation for making the program, such a success should be expressed to the principals of the five elementary schools involved: S. G. Wallace of Farmington; J. M. Smith of Advance; Roy Marsh of Mocksville; V. G. Prim of Cooleemee; and Leonard Crofts of Smith Grove.

The coaches of the teams were as follows: Cooleemee boys and girls, Tom Ridenour; Mocksville boys, D. C. Redmond, and Mocksville girls, Mrs. Flake Hayes. Advance boys and girls, Vestal Potts; Farmington boys and girls, S. G. Wallace; Smith Grove girls, Mrs. Frances Ellis; Smith Grove boys, "Shorty" Ellis and Darwin Allen.

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Great landmarks was falling fast in the nation last week.

Smith Brothers cough drops went from a nickel to a dime. That was the last stronghold of the American nickel. The year gold was discovered in California these brothers put their beads together and set the price of their new cough remedy at a nickel.

Buffalo roamed the prairies, the Civil War came and went, railroads was built, Dan McGrew was shot, more and bigger wars came and went, telephones, televisions, juke boxes, electric razors, but the Smith Brothers held fast. Last week up in upstate New York the directors had a meeting and decided it couldn't go on forever. It was a sad day.

About the same time, in downstate New York, Sophie Tucker, known everywhere as "the last of the red hot mamas," announced her retirement. Another old landmark had fell.

Then in Washington, President Ike stated again he was holding steady for that five-cent postage stamp on mail out of town. Congressman Baratt of Illinois suggested that the first series of these new stamps ought to carry a picture of two pirates. I would suggest that the second series have a picture of Jessie James with his horse and gun.

But while things seemed to be falling apart everywhere, there

Registration Cards

The State Highway Patrol has called attention to the fact that North Carolina law requires that the motor vehicle registration card must be always in possession of the operator of that vehicle.

State Highway Patrolman A. W. Cox said that checks in this area revealed that the operator of motor vehicles were not carrying these registration cards, and therefore were in violation of the law.

Catawba Man Heads District School Boards

Dr. L. M. Caldwell of Newton-Conover was elected president of District 13, North Carolina School Board Association, Thursday night at a meeting at the Mocksville School.

The new president is chairman of the Newton-Conover City School Board; He replaces J. H. Harrellson of Salisbury.

Other new officers are J. B. Cain, chairman of the Davie County Board of Education, and Harry Arndt, superintendent of the Catawba County Schools.

About 150 representatives from Alexander, Catawba, Davie, Iredell and Rowan counties attended the panel meeting and dinner.

Panel discussions were held on curriculum study, guidance, special education, teaching personnel and financing the public schools. Prof. Fred T. Hollis of Pfeiffer Junior College at Misenheimer spoke on the study that has been made on curriculum at North Rowan Consolidated High School.

The 1958 meeting of the group will be held at Newton-Conover.

A barbecued chicken dinner was served by the home economics department of the Davie County High School.

Supt. Curtis Price welcomed the group to Mocksville. The high school glee club under the direction of Paul Reichle rendered two numbers.

REPUBLICAN MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Republicans of Davie County at the court house on Friday night, March 28, at 7:30. The purpose of this meeting is to organize a Young Republican Club for Davie County. Jerry K. Green, State chairman of the YRC will be the main speaker and help in organizing the club. It is urged that all Republican women and men of Davie County be present for this meeting.

Five Boys Fined For Trespassing

Five Davidson County boys were fined in Davie County court, Tuesday on the charge of creating a disturbance in this county early on Sunday morning of March 9th. The charges were trespassing and using profane language in public places.

Testimony revealed that the five boys followed "Peter Rabbit" Williams of Mocksville, Route 3, Fork community, home from a cafe in Davidson County. They called him all types of abusive names, followed him to his home, and dared him to come outside. His mother, Mrs. Martha Williams, grabbed a shotgun and lined the boys up against the barn, and kept the gun on them until the officers arrived.

The trouble allegedly grew out of the Williams boy cooperating with officers in Davidson County in illegally purchasing beer.

Judge Grant termed Lorenzo Essic as the ringleader and fined him a total of $100 and cost on the charges of trespass and using profane language in a public place.

The other boys, Odell Smith, Wallace Gray Slaydon, Don Walter Brooks and John Chester Barrette, were let off with a fine of $10 and cost.

Miss Carol Smith Speaks To Rotary

Rotarians heard a Davie High School student give her prize winning speech on a world peace study at their regular meeting, Tuesday.

Carol Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith of Coolemece and sophomore at the Davie County High School, spoke on "The United Nations in Search of World Peace." Miss Smith was the winner at the Davie County High School in the world peace speaking contest sponsored by the University of North Carolina.

President P. J. Johnson presided. Grady Ward introduced Miss Smith. Bob Schladensky was present as Junior Rotarian. Miss Barbara Chapman served as pianist.

Billy V. Athan Serving With The Atlantic Fleet

Billy V. Athan, engineer 3rd class, UNS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Athan of Route 5, is serving aboard the drone aircraft control craft USS Launcher operating with the U. S. Atlantic Fleet.

In mid-February the Launcher was engaged in a scientific program testing and launching the new rocket, "Orion" in Puerto Rican waters.

The smallest and cheapest high altitude rocket available, the Orion weighs 25 pounds and costs only $200. It was fired to altitudes up to 100 miles.

CENTER MEETING

The Center Fire Department meeting will be held Tuesday, March 25 in the community building at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is urged to attend.

Davie County Library To Have Open House Friday

The Davie County Library is participating in the first "National Library Week" observance, March 16-22.

Among the special event at the library this week is open house which will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. on Friday afternoon. The public is invited to attend this event. Members of the library are urged to come and bring friends to inspect the facilities.

National Library Week, instituted to emphasize the importance of reading, has as its objective a "better read, better informed America."

Twenty-Six Members Meet Each Week For Study And Training

By GORDON TOMLINSON

A blue panel truck pulled into the parking area of the local school. Out jumped several youngsters clad in khaki coveralls and a blue flight cap. In a manner of minutes they had assembled a radio control station and were talking to points in an adjoining county.

The above serves merely as an introduction to the Mocksville Flight of the Civil Air Patrol that is now active in this area. It is composed of 26 members and meets each Monday night in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Partin on Hardison St. Lt. Harvey L. Beck is the Commanding Officer.

The Civil Air Patrol is the official civilian auxiliary of the U. S. Air Force by act of Congress of the United States. It is also chartered by the Congress to act as a non-profit corporation dedicated to the advancement of aviation.

The CAP has more than 92,000 volunteer members including approximately 62,000 cadets. The cadets are young men and young women, 14 years or older, who are engaged in an intensive aviation education program. The more than 40,000 adult members are pilots, observers, radio operators, first aid specialists, instructors, and technical specialists.

The CAP maintains a nationwide radio network of more than 10,800 fixed, mobile and airborne facilities. They operate on both medium and very high frequencies assigned by the Air Force and blanket the 48 states.

The Mocksville Flight of the CAP is mostly concerned with an educational and training program for cadets. This training program takes the form of learning the basic Army drills, and training in aircraft spotting and identification, electronics, radio, radio operation, aircraft tracking, etc.

The Mocksville Flight is a part of the Salisbury Composite Squadron. This squadron was reactivated in the fall of 1955 with Captain Charles Lineback as commanding officer. Captain Lineback, a long time member of the CAP in Statesville, is still with the squadron but is on inactive duty.

Construction will begin this spring on the squadron's own building on land adjoining the Salisbury Airport.

Last fall several youngsters in Davie County became interested in CAP work. Each week they made the trip to Salisbury to meet with the Squadron. They grew in number and soon had enough members to form the Mocksville Flight with Lt. Beck being named the commanding officer.

Lt. Harvey Beck has been active in Civil Air Patrol work for ten years. Prior to January of this year, he was personnel officer in the Charlotte Composite Squadron. He holds private license as a pilot and has long been interested in the field of aviation. (Continued on Page 5)

North Carolina has a larger farm population than any other state (1.4 million), and ranks 2nd in actual number of farms. It is within this area of our population and land that there lies a very great potential for future development through not only better farming methods, but through industrial growth and local food processing activities.

It is also an interesting fact that in those counties where both farming and industry are most successful, the people subscribe to the "legal control" system of the sale of beer and ale because it has proven to be in the best interests of enlightened and law-abiding communities.

Dear Folks: There are dozens of surprises in the new John Deere Day we've planned for you, your family, and your friends. More colorful, more informative, more entertaining than ever, it's entirely different from previous John Deere Day programs. In beautiful Technicolor you'll see an interesting new "Dilemmas in Farming," your old friend Tom Gordon, an interesting success story on irrigation. In "What's New for '58" you'll see the latest in farm machinery. The feature picture is something new—a rib-tickling western musical comedy. And tying the program together are colorfully costumed choruses and three singing bouncy music written especially for this show. It's a program you and your family will long remember. Here's something else—no tickets are required. You simply have to show up on the date, at the time, and at the place shown below. You'll be our guests. We're counting on you!

MORE ABOUT CIVIL AIR PATROL

ation. He is employed at the Davie Electric Membership Corporation in Mocksville.

The Mocksville Flight was organized in January of this year with 15 members. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Partin offered the use of their basement as headquarters and a meeting place. Each Monday night the flight members meet at 7 p.m. for two and one-half hours of drill and instruction. As was said before, it has now grown to 26 members.

Recently the flight acquired an old Dodge panel truck. This the members have painted and fixed up to be used as a mobile communications truck for the CAP and Civil Defense. It will be completely equipped with radio communications equipment, rescue equipment, and life saving equipment. It will be used to answer any emergency occurring in the area.

Most any week now, the flight is due to get their own aircraft. This will be an AF L-16. The plane will be stationed at the Lexington Airport until the Salisbury Airport is completed. This plane will also be available for air search and rescue work.

On Saturday and Sunday, the members of the flight may take airplane rides.

In June, the members of the flight will go to an Air Force Base for a two-weeks period of encampment.

In addition to Lt. Beck, officers of the flight include: Jimmy Sheek, Finance Officer; Johnny Sheek, Training and Public Information Officer; Mrs. Mildred Beck, Coordinator of Women.

Members of the Cadet advisory staff include:

Sharon Partin, First Sergeant; Glenn Everest, Supply Officer, and Patsy Everest.

Toppresing Alfalfa and Permanent Pastures

Now is the time to toppress alfalfa and permanent pastures. The only sure way of finding out if you need to toppress and what kind of fertilizer to use is by getting your soil tested.

Alfalfa, clovers, and grasses remove a lot of potash and smaller amounts of phosphorus. After growing several good hay or pasture crops it is necessary to add potash and phosphate to the soil if you want to keep your yields high. On clover - grass pastures you should toppress now so you won't damage new growth. With alfalfa you can wait until after the first cutting before toppressing.

With crops such as alfalfa or clover - grass pastures you don't have to add any nitrogen since they furnish their own. However, if you have a fescue, orchard grass or coastal bermude grass pasture you have to add nitrogen in addition to the phosphate and potash.

It is best to apply the nitrogen on grass pastures in two split applications. On fescue and orchard grass 60 to 100 lbs. of nitrogen per acre should be applied in March, and then in August and September apply another 60 to 100 lbs. of nitrogen per acre. The same rates of nitrogen should be applied to Coastal Bermude but the first application should be in April and the second in June or July.

After the meeting the hostesses, Mrs. Betty Ward and Mrs. Annie Bell Mullis served refreshments to 13 members.

Pvt. Marvin Dyson To Go To Europe

Pvt. Marvin M. Dyson, Jr., whose wife, Linda, lives in Mocksville, is scheduled to depart from Fort Benning, Ga., this month for Europe under "Operation Gyroscope," the Army's unit rotation plan.

Dyson is a member of the 3rd Infantry Division which is replacing the 10th Infantry Division in Germany.

A cook in Battery E of the 3rd Division's 10th Artillery, he entered the Army last September and received basic training at the fort.

The 19 year old soldier attended Davie High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dyson, Route 1, Mocksville.

Pvt. Jerry L. Ratledge Serving In Germany

Army Pvt. Jerry L. Ratledge, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Ratledge, Rt. 1, Mocksville, recently participated in a field training exercise with the 8th Infantry Division's 8th Cavalry in Germany.

Ratledge, a tank crewman in the cavalry's Troop B, entered the Army in June, 1957, and arrived in Europe in January of this year. He attended Mocksville High School.

Recently inducted members include: Rodwell, Kay Matthews, and "Missy" Waters.

Keeping Skaters' Costumes Pretty Is Full Time Job

Do you ever think you had trouble keeping your wardrobe in good shape?

Multiply your dry cleaning and mending problems by a troupe of ice skaters, several million sequins and rhinestones and your answer will tell you what uelle Vogt, wardrobe mistress for Ice Capades, copes with every day.

Miss Vogt is responsible for packing the costumes, keeping them in good condition and mending any rips or broken zippers. There are very few extra costumes carried with the show, so if a zipper or anything gets broken, you just have to sew the skater into the costume to get him onto the ice in two or three minutes.

Ice Capades will be playing in Winston-Salem, at the Memorial Coliseum, opening on Tuesday, March 18 and playing through Sunday, March 23 and already arrangements have been made with the local union to furnish helpers, men and women to assist in dressing the skaters and helping care for the 40 odd crates of costumes.

All repair materials are kept in specially made crates containing sequins, rhinestones, ribbon, tape and elastic of every size, shape and color. Each color has its own special box.

All costumes are numbered and hung together. Hats, gloves, gaiters, jewelry are within easy reaching distance. Each skater knows his or her number and can find a whole costume and don it within seconds. The same system applies to the make-up tables.

When the show arrives in town, it takes about six or seven hours to set up the "wardrobe" crates, for the costumes must be unpacked, aired and checked for repair work needed.

At showtime, Miss Vogt must stand in the wings and make a final check of costumes to make sure that no one will lose a jacket or trousers during the performance.

Despite the hectic activity and confusion backstage during each performance, Lucille loves every minute of her job.

The very costume that a performer wears in an ice show can be a lethal weapon if not made right. Great efforts are made to safeguard the necks and limbs of the Ice Capades company.

Weight has to be kept to a minimum. Plastics have to be used in trimmings. Sequins have to be knotted in place individually so that if one falls off a whole string does not go ripping after and perhaps trip the wearer in the middle of a fast spin.

FERTILIZER COMPOUND

There's more units per bag, because it's 45% nitrogen.

Carolina tests show that corn and cotton side-dressed with nitrogen returns an extra $4 to $13 for each dollar spent on actual units of nitrogen.

Du Pont "NuGreen" saves you time and labor because a little goes a long way - it's 45% nitrogen. And "NuGreen" lasts longer because it's leach-resistant.

Talk over "NuGreen" with your fertilizer dealer - you'll find it costs about the same, or less, per unit of nitrogen.

If your dealer does not have "NuGreen" on hand, he can now conveniently get it through warehouse stocks.

Postal Costs Locally May Rise $13,100

Mail costs will go higher by an estimated 30% in Mocksville during the next fiscal year if the bill approved by the Senate becomes law.

It calls for an increase in nearly all classifications of service. Postal receipts throughout the nation, by virtue of these hikes, are expected to be $750 million greater than at present.

Mocksville's portion of that increase is estimated a $13,100 a year.

In the last fiscal year, according to figures issued by the Post Office Dept., local individuals and business firms spent a total of $43,470 for postal services. Under the new rates, as passed by the Senate, this would rise to $56,600. Assumed is that average, normal conditions apply in the city.

Specifically, the increases, effective on July 1st, would be as follows: five cents instead of three cents on ounce for letters delivered out of town; four cents if delivered locally, eight cents instead of six cents for air mail, an increase of 30%, spread over three years, in second class mail and more involved changes in the other categories.

Should the House of Representatives refuse to go along with the five cent stamp and insist on four cents, the postal rise nationally would total $575 million instead of $750 million. In that case, mail costs in Mocksville would be only $10,000 higher than at present.

Why such an increase? Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield points out that his department is struggling under a mounting load of postal deficits. Although the postal system is handling more mail and is taking in more money than ever before, it is losing ground at an increasing rate, he claims.

It has become necessary to install more modern equipment such as electronic mail facers, sorters and the like to achieve better efficiency and cut down operational costs. Many foreign countries are considerably ahead of us in this respect, he admits.

Also contemplated is the modernization of a number of obsolete post office buildings and the acquisition of new ones.

A Merchants Association

There have been many indications recently among business people for the reactivation of the merchants association. However, the feeling is that this time it should be county-wide in nature and scope.

J. G. Dwiggins of Mocksville has been contacting many of the merchants and investigating as to what type of organization is desired and needed. Mr. Dwiggins has gone to a number of merchants associations in the surrounding cities and counties, studied their organizations and methods, in the effort to work out a system that would be the best adaptable to Davie County.

Mr. Dwiggins has pointed out the activities of the Winston-Salem Merchants Association during the past year as an example of what a merchants association can do for the progress of a community. These activities were listed as follows:

- a. The association raised and spent $16,900 last year for the promotion of trade in Winston-Salem.
- b. The credit bureau supplied 135,217 credit reports to merchants, the largest number in the history of the association. c. The collection department showed a gain with more than $128,000 collected for members of the association.

d. Sponsored Christmas street decorations, and parade. Also sponsored promotion programs for Mother's Day and Father's Day.

Mr. Dwiggins has announced that plans are being made for a county-wide meeting in the near future of all interested merchants. At this meeting, Ernest Yarbrough, managing director of the Winston-Salem Merchants Association will be present to explain the organizational setup and make recommendations for such an organization in Davie County.

A prerequisite for any successful merchants organization is having someone with the time, interest and ability to manage it and see that it works. Mr. Dwiggins has displayed great interest in laying plans for the organization and it is possible that under his leadership the organization could become a success and mean much to the progress of the county.

Thoughts On Reading

This is National Library Week. Its purpose is to focus attention on the vital importance of the public library, the school library, the church library and the home library. Naturally, the library points up the importance of reading.

In keeping with the theme of this observance, "Wake Up And Read," we are printing some thoughts on books and reading:

"A good book is the very essence of a good man. His virtues survive it, while the foibles and faults of his actual life are forgotten. — All the goodly company of the excellent and great sit around my table, or look down on me from yonder shelves, waiting patiently to answer my questions and enrich me with their wisdom—A precious book is a foretaste of immortality." — T. L. Cuyler.

"Books are standing counselors and preachers, always at hand, and always disinterested; having this advantage over oral instructors, that they are ready to repeat their lesson as often as we please." — Chambers.

"Books are masters who instruct us without rods or ferules, without words or anger, without bread or money. If you approach them, they are not asleep; if you seek them, they do not hide; if you blunder, they do not scold; if you are ignorant, they do not laugh at you." — Richard de Bury.

"When I get a little money, I buy books; and if any is left, I buy food and clothes." — Erasmus.

"In good books is one of the best safeguards from evil. Life's first danger has been said to be an empty mind which, like an unoccupied room, is open for base spirits to enter. The taste for reading provides a pleasant and elevating preoccupation." — H. W. Grout.

"A house without books is like a room without windows. No man has the right to bring up his children without surrounding them with books, if he has the means to buy them. It is wrong to his family. Children learn to read by being in the presence of books. The love of knowledge comes with reading and grows upon it. And the love of knowledge, in a young mind, is almost a warrant against the inferior excitement of passions and vices." — H. Mann.

"The book to read is not the one which thinks for you, but the one which makes you think. No book in the world equals the Bible for that." — McCosh.

"After all manner of professors have done their best for us, the place we are to get knowledge is in books. The true universality of these days is a collection of books." — Carlyle.

"By reading we enjoy the dead; by conversation, the living; and by contemplation, ourselves. Reading enriches the memory; conversation polishes the wit; and contemplation, improves the judgment. Of these, reading is the most important, as it furnishes both the others." — Colton.

"The man who is fond of books is usually a man of lofty thought, and of elevated opinions." — Dawson.

"It was from my own early experience that I decided there was no use to which money could be applied so productive of good to boys and girls who have good within them and ability and ambition to develop it as the founding of a public library." — Andrew Carnegie.

The sport of curling, increasingly popular in the United States, was introduced to Canada nearly 200 years ago by Scottish troops stationed in Quebec. A kind of shuffleboard on ice, the game gets its name from the motion of the rounded stone as it slides toward the scoring area.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR W. KERR SCOTT
WASHINGTON, MARCH 19 — One again, controversy has flared over the collection of fees, or tolls, to travel over the Blue Ridge Parkway.

On several occasions, the National Park Service has tried to impose tolls on the Parkway. The latest effort came a few weeks ago when notice was given by the Park Service that fees to travel on the Parkway would be collected beginning June 1, 1958.

I think it is too much to hope that Secretary of the Interior, Fred Sato, who has jurisdiction over the Parkway, will voluntarily rescind the order to start tolls. I think it will be necessary for Congress to take action to settle the matter. The last time the Park Service tried to impose tolls on the Parkway, the Administration failed to call the dogs off until the House Appropriations Committee directed it to stop the toll plans.

This year, the same appropriations bill has cleared the House. Perhaps Secretary Sato thought he was being clever in waiting for the money bill to pass the House before he issued the order.

The bill, however, has not passed the Senate. The whole business of collecting tolls on national parks and parkways has reached the point where Congress is going to have to work out some sort of program that makes sense.

Unless something is done, it means that all parks and parkways are at the mercy of administrators who want to show a good set of books on park operations rather than equal treatment.

It is true that the Park Service for some years has collected fees and tolls for using park and parkway facilities, but there is no uniform system and no pattern to the system.

Tolls and fees are collected, so the Park Service says, in order for those who use the facilities to help pay the freight, so to speak.

But the Park Service is being very unfair. In fact, there's nothing that makes sense about the proposal.

If they are looking for funds to help pay for operating the Park Service, then they ought to go where they can get them.

Not a whisper has been heard to collect tolls on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, which carries as much daily traffic as any highway on the East Coast and is operated by the Park Service. It was built to connect Washington and Baltimore and to provide a more scenic route than the unsightly U. S. Route 1 between these two cities.

If the Park Service wants to raise money, it could get more revenue from charging a nickle a car on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway than $5 a year on the Blue Ridge Parkway.

60 Second Sermons

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Reading maketh a full man." — Francis Bacon.

The businessman was raging. A book salesman had disturbed him.

"You and your books," shouted the businessman. "I—I—I can't find words to say what I'm thinking."

"Ah," said the book salesman, "I can help you. I'm selling an English dictionary with all the words and slang phrases. Take it. You'll never be at a loss for words again."

Perhaps the National Library Week slogan "Wake Up And Read," should be phrased, "Read and Wake Up." Reading has always awakened mankind. Reading feeds us with ideas. We may embrace those ideas; we may challenge them, but reading opens the mind. It causes people to act.

Cicero wrote this about reading. "No mental employment is so broadening to the sympathies or so enlightening to the understanding. Reading gives stimulation to our youth and diversion to our old age; adds a charm to success, and offers a haven of consolation to failure. Through the right watches, on all our journeys and in our hours of ease, it is our unfailing companion."

"He that loves reading," wrote William Godwin, "may possess himself of every species of wisdom to judge and power to perform."

Read and Wake Up!
Copyright 1958 Fred Dodge

There is another shining example of inconsistency in the argument that the Park Service is proposing tolls to help pay the cost of operation.

Millions of Americans have traveled over the beautiful highway from Washington to Mount Vernon. That highway is a national parkway. But there is no toll on it.

The main purpose of the road is to furnish a nice access to the home of George Washington. I think this is a good thing. I think it is proper.

But there is one thing we ought to remember: Mount Vernon is not operated by a Federal agency. Why should the Park Service not collect a toll for the use of this road?

None of the toll business makes sense. It has been botched and muddled to the place where Congress will have to step in.

'SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS'

WASHINGTON — Officials here have been jolted into a realization that the recession has reached a point where aggressive action is required.

Points of View
I am supporting the view that the acceleration of projects for which funds have already been authorized and appropriated is the sensible approach to immediate positive action. Another view, supported by some Administration spokesmen, exalts a tax cut and less public works as the most desirable remedy. A good case can be made for some tax relief. I am concerned about what will happen to the unemployed. A tax cut for a person who has no job is purely an academic question.

Where We Stand
As a nation this is where we stand now, according to figures released by the Department of Labor and Commerce. Presently unemployed are 5.2 million, the jobless being 6.7 per cent of the total labor force of our country, compared to 5.8 per cent for January of this year. February figures project the number of unemployed beyond the highest peak of jobless in the 1954 recession and about the same as the economic dip in 1949 on a percentage basis. But the total number of jobless is reported to be at the highest mark in 16 years. Although we must take into consideration that same blame can be put on the unusually bad weather during February. It is nevertheless greatly disturbing to hear that the jobless figure rose by nearly 700,000 during February. Looking at the brighter side of the picture, there are now 61,888,000 people employed, and I think that thoughtful and positive action on the part of our country can halt the downward turn. It is in this belief that I voted for the acceleration of authorized civil and military projects rather than pursuing a policy of waiting to see what will happen. In my judgment it is far better to take preventive steps now rather than wait until our economy is flat on its back.

It is a tragedy when a person is honestly seeking employment and can find none. The lesson of the great depression of the early thirties should be clearly remembered by our country; the toll of a depression is so severe that it must not happen again.

Industry and labor in North Carolina deserve great credit for helping to continue our economy on a more normal plane than some other areas of our nation. The mail I have had from the people reflect a definite concern about unemployment but shows no signs of panic. This is to our credit because the attitude of a people means much in this effort to isolate the recession damage and restore the economy.

CHANGE . . . Raleigh has changed a lot in a decade, John Harden of Burlington Mills found out the other day.

He left here shortly after Gregg Cherry ended his four years as Governor in January of 1949. In time to come, Cherry will be remembered as one of our better Governors — and much of the credit for this must go to Harden, speech-writer, greeter, and meetee.

John Harden comes back to Raleigh frequently on business and to renew acquaintances with old friends. The other day he did, and parked on devilish Downtown Boulevard. Shortly after 5, he went back to get his car. It

NEW LIFE . . . One of the more able young senators in the 1957 session of the General Assembly was handsome and erudite Bill Cobb of Morganton, new chairman of the Republican party in North Carolina.

As modern as they come with a flair of publicity and sharp public relations, Cobb last week began taking steps to put new life in the GOP in North Carolina. His predecessor, Ray Jennings of Taylorsville, needed to get back to his law practice and big, growing family.

Stung by some pungent Cobb comment, Gov. Luther Hodges said perhaps the "office has gone to his head." Not at all, Governor. Bill Cobb is just being a good Republican. You may not agree with everything he does and says while leading the party — but there will be activity.

THE CONTEST . . . Radio stations and newspapers will be vying for the interest of the merchant in a concentrated manner when the N. C. Merchants Association holds its 56th annual convention here in Raleigh on May 18-20.

The newspaper advertising directors are putting on a contest for the best ads. They will have Arthur H. "Red" Motley as one of the convention speakers. Not to be outdone, the radio people have reserved the Governor's Suite in the Sir Walter for Open House throughout the convention. They will also have a speaker on the best use to make of radio.

Not to be outdone, the American Trucking Association will have on the merchants' program their top-flight guy, Hon. Calvin Johnson, former Congressman from Illinois. And, meeting with the merchants will be 150 ladies with the N. C. Assn. of Credit Women's Clubs. Wow!

CAR BUSINESS . . . You can get some idea about the automobile business from a look at new car figures available from the N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles. In January, 6,107 new cars were sold — as compared with 8,276 new cars for January of 1957 and 7,924 in 1956 January. In January of 1955, new cars sold in North Carolina were 7,130. In January, 1954, 6,826. In January of 1953: 8,571. In 1952 January: 6,715.

So, of the past seven January's that of 1958 was the worst.

FORD LED . . . Although admittedly having its troubles with Edsel and worried a little by Mercury, Ford sales in North Carolina in January were 1,643 to 1,615 for the new Chevrolet.

Other new car sales in North Carolina for January: Buick, 478; Cadillac, 124; Chrysler, 87; DeSoto, 83; Dodge, 175; Edsel, 51; Imperial, 17; Lincoln, 31; Mercury, 138; Metropolitan, 14; Oldsmobile, leading Buick, Pontiac, Mercury, Dodge and its other stalemated, 492; Packard, 4; Plymouth, 506; Pontiac, 364; Rambler, 91; Studebaker, 71; Willys, 1; foreign cars, 117; and miscellaneous, 8.

In the nation, 1958 compares this way with 1957, so far: DeSoto, down 42 per cent; Mercury down 33 per cent; Chrysler, down 28 per cent; and Buick — although down last year — down 15 per cent from this stage in 1957; Oldsmobile, up nine per cent.

What automobile manufacturers are worried over is this puzzle: Cadillac is selling good because it's big; Rambler is not because it's little; Olds is good because it's flashy; and Chevrolet is way up from last year because it's new.

General Motors, worried sick by Buick's downfall, is now laying plans for a completely new Buick and a try for third place in sales again (behind Ford and Chevrolet) in 1959.

CHANGE . . . Raleigh has changed a lot in a decade, John Harden of Burlington Mills found out the other day.

He left here shortly after Gregg Cherry ended his four years as Governor in January of 1949. In time to come, Cherry will be remembered as one of our better Governors — and much of the credit for this must go to Harden, speech-writer, greeter, and meetee.

John Harden comes back to Raleigh frequently on business and to renew acquaintances with old friends. The other day he did, and parked on devilish Downtown Boulevard. Shortly after 5, he went back to get his car. It was gone, towed in, off the street, as scores of others have been treated in recent weeks.

After rescuing his auto, John told a friend: "Raleigh sure has gone forward in the past ten years."

COLLEGE SIZES . . . The largest college in North Carolina, from an enrollment viewpoint this winter is the Chapel Hill unit of the Greater University of North Carolina, with 7,038 students, and in second place is State College with 5,757. Then comes Duke, by far the largest of our non-public colleges, with 5,310. These figures are from the N. C. Dept. of Education.

Chapel Hill ten years ago this winter had 7,670 students and State had 5,333. Duke, 4,890. In second place among non-public colleges is Wake Forest with 2,289. Total N. C. College enrollment this year: 55,000.

The Chapel Hill unit of UNC has 1,320 girls enrolled this year, with State having 105. Duke has 1,707 girls and Wake Forest, 489.

The largest Junior College in North Carolina is highly rated Mars Hill, with 1,062. In second place is Campbell, with 780.

One of the most rapidly growing schools is East Carolina, which has 3,367 students this year as compared with 1,404 a decade ago. East Carolina has 1,695 women and 1,672 men.

NOTES . . . Friends of Carl Vanders of Onslow County, candidate for Speaker of the House in the 1959 Legislature, say he has the support of Gov. L. Hodges. It looks like a neck and neck, right down to the wire race between Vanders and steady, greying Addison Hewlett of New Hanover County.

In a meeting with key people in Raleigh last week, head men with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis hinted that the entire resources of the organization may soon be turned toward the conquering of another disease. Interesting thought: If FDR had not been stricken with infantile paralysis, would there have been, ever, a March of Dimes, a Foundation, and thus research, the Salk vaccine, and the defeat of the disease? Millions were spent before the disease was finally mastered. Now what will the Foundation turn to? Cancer, muscular dystrophy, heart? An announcement may be made this spring.

William Johnson, Jr., has joined the Governor's staff of speech-writers — that is, assistants who dig up those interesting facts presented in the many and widely varying subjects discussed by Luther Hodges in his public speeches. . . . Johnson's going with the Governor's office leaves a vacancy . . . it would seem . . . in the State Water Commissioners Board setup . . . for a newspaper reporter, radio man.

Friend of ours from Washington, D. C., says the Democrats have no doubt they can win in 1960 — with the "right man" — but they are far from being in agreement as to who that might be. . . . His opinion is that it looks less like Kennedy and more and more like Governor Meynor of N. Jersey. We seldom elect senators President — unless they move in via the vice presidency route as did H. Truman. Eisenhower never served in the Senate; and neither did Franklin D. Roosevelt; and neither did Herbert Hoover; and neither did Calvin Coolidge. Warren C. Harding was a U. S. Senator (1914-20). Woodrow Wilson was never a U. S. Senator; and neither was his predecessor, William Howard Taft. Teddy Roosevelt was never a Senator. We seldom elect a Senator as President.

COST PLUS
Prosperity has its drawbacks — it costs people more and more to live beyond their incomes.

Diplomacy is the art of convincing peopple you really don't want something you know you can't get.

The man who claims he can't live within his income should try to live without one for a while.

OCEAN TO OCEAN ACROSS SOUTH AMERICA—AND BACK—IN 41 HOURS!
CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!

To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world — the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make it harder, the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires — no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.

So the run began — across the blazing Argentine pampas, into the ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 2½ miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet — but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of grades up to 30 percent. Then a plunge to the Pacific at Valparaiso, Chile, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes — and the engine was never turned off!

Miss Martha Call Retires After 42 Years With Mill

Began Work In 1916 As Fill-In For Vacation

By GORDON TOMLINSON

It was the day after the annual Masonic Picnic in 1916. A petite young miss walked into the office of the Horn-Johnstone Flour Mill in Mocksville. She was to work here temporarily for a ten day period while the regular bookkeeper took a vacation.

This young woman, just fresh out of Davenport College, had already accepted employment elsewhere. She was to be the bookkeeper at the Hanes Chair Company just as soon as that plant was finished.

In March, 1958, Miss Martha Call retired as bookkeeper at the Mocksville Feed Mills after 42 years of service. What started out to be a temporary job, turned into quite steady employment when the woman Miss Martha was replacing chose to go into another line of work. This woman was the present Mrs. Esther Horn Hawkins, who entered the school teaching profession.

The Horn - Johnstone Flour Mill at that time was owned and operated by the late L. G. Horn and J. B. Johnstone. Mr. Johnstone was also one of the owners of the Hanes Chair Company. Therefore, when this company became ready for a bookkeeper it had to look elsewhere. Miss Martha Call was doing such a good job at the flour mill that Mr. Johnstone refused to let her change. At that time the flour mill was a steam plant with about six employees. The shipments were made by horse and wagon and by train. Most of the business was custom grinding.

Miss Martha Call's work consisted of the regular bookkeeping chores and purchasing grain. She also kept the books for the telephone company, at that time owned by the same men. As time marched on, Mr. Johnstone passed away and Mr. Horn's health failed. From 1939-1941, Miss Martha Call served as the general manager of the mill, overseeing the entire operations.

In 1941 the mill was purchased by M. H. Murray and G. D. Drum. A short time later Carroll F. Arndt came into the company and the mill became the Mocksville Flour Mills, Inc.

The Mocksville Flour Mills, Inc., began stressing the feed and soon had developed into quite a large concern. They were buying more grain, shipping more, and employing more. Additional office help was required.

In 1956, other changes were made and the organization became (Continued on Page 4)

Rotary Club Hears About Highway Patrol

Sgt. Ernest Gutherie of the State Highway Patrol out of Salisbury, discussed highway safety and the Highway Patrol for the Mocksville Rotary Club, Tuesday.

Sgt. Gutherie discussed the work of the State Highway Patrol pointing out that "we are friends of the motoring public." He also pointed out that the highway patrolman and a minister had a lot in common: "We try to save the body so the minister can save the soul."

Sgt. Gutherie said that it had definitely been established that the "speed watch" saved lives. Last year there was a reduction in traffic deaths of from 50 to 60 people in the state.

He pointed out that the patrol needs the help and cooperation of the public. That the patrol was working for the people, enforcing the laws that the people themselves had created through their elected representatives.

Truck Driver Suffers Heart Attack On Square

Guy Null of Salisbury is a patient at the Davie County Hospital after suffering a heart attack on the square in Mocksville around noon, Tuesday.

The play is a comedy about a young man's attempt to keep his sweetheart from marrying the wrong man. In the end he not only wins the bride for himself but endears himself to her father who is known as the "Pickle King," by helping him find a recipe for making dill pickles crisp.

Alice Anderson Named To All-Northwest Cage Team

Alice Anderson, star guard of the Davie County high school girl's basketball team, was named to the 32nd annual Girls and Sentinel All-Northwest girls' team. A squad of 18 outstanding high school players were selected from Northwest North Carolina.

Lorraine McDaniel, star forward, received honorable mention. The 18 girl squad was picked by the Journal and Sentinel sports department after an exhaustive study of nominations throughout Northwest North Carolina. The girls selected will be guests of honor later this spring at a banquet in the Hotel Robert E. Lee. They will also receive engraved trophies.

Alice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Anderson of Route 1, Mocksville. She is 5 feet nine inches in height and a senior at the Davie County High School. Commenting on her play, the Journal said:

"Alice is outstanding in rebound work and also excellent in breaking up passes and getting the ball to her forwards. She has quick hands and works equally well in a man-to-man defense or zone."

Additional Soil Bank Funds May Be Available Here

The chairman of the Davie County ASC Committee, J. G. Crawford, reports that most farmers who wanted to take part in the 1958 Acreage Reserve of the Soil Bank, but could not file signed agreements because of fund limitations, will apparently be able to sign up at the county office in the near future.

Both the Senate and House of Representatives have approved a supplemental appropriation of 250 million dollars to provide for additional Acreage Reserve participation. This will bring the total to 750 million dollars for the 1958 program.

Because agreement on some detailed program provisions must still be reached in House-Senate conference, Congressional action of the supplemental appropriation is not yet complete. As soon as final action is taken, the county committee will get the "go ahead" for completing the sign-up. Preliminary steps have been taken by the State ASC Committee to prepare the way for immediate action when the supplemental funds are authorized.

In addition to farmers who have already filed signed agreements, which were in general covered by the initial appropriation for the Acreage Reserve, other eligible farmers will be in position to take part in the enlarged program. These will include those whose names are on "waiting list" registers at the County Office, and possibly others where there is evidence that they made an attempt to participate during the sign-up period.

It is expected that in general funds will be available to take care of all farmers who indicated that they would take part in the program if it was enlarged. Public notice will be given promptly when the county ASC office is ready to sign additional Acreage Reserve agreements. Chairman Crawford says that in the meantime the County Office will be prepared to furnish general information but that farmers should not attempt to sign up agreements until official announcements are made.

Revival To Be Held At Baptist Church

The annual revival will begin April 6 at the First Baptist Church and will continue through April 13. The Rev. George T. Tunstall, former pastor of Green Street Church at High Point, will preach each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Services will be held on Tuesday through Friday at 10:30 a.m.

A 24-hour chain of prayer will be observed at the church on April 2 and 3.

Rev. John A. Zunes Goes To Rockingham

The Rev. and Mrs. John A. Zunes and son, John Stephen, will leave April 8th for Rockingham where Mr. Zunes will serve as Rector of the Church of the Messiah.

Mr. Zunes has been priest in charge of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Cooleemee and the Church of Ascension at Fork since June, 1955.

Davie County G.O.P. To Organize Friday

There will be a meeting of the Republicans of Davie County at the Court House Friday night, March 28, at 7:30. The purpose of this meeting is to organize a Young Republicans Club for Davie County.

Speaker for the occasion will be Jerry K. Green, State Chairman of the Y.R.C., who will point out how to organize this club.

County officers will be elected and it is urgent that all Republicans, both men and women, be present for this meeting.

A meeting of precinct chairmen will be held following the regular meeting.

UNION SERVICE

A union service will be held Sunday, March 30, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. William Long, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will preach.

Davie To Open Baseball Season Here On Friday

The Davie High Rebels begin their second season in the strong North Piedmont Conference as they entertain the Spencer team at Rich Park on Friday afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

The Rebels will be looking for their first victory as they meet the last year's conference champions.

Probable starters in the first conference game will be Otis Snow, Z. N. Anderson, Lester Allen and Clarence Driver in the infield. Seeing action in the outfield will be Ronnie Spry, Joe Anderson and Allen Bailey.

Carl Jacobs, Duffy Daniel, H. T. Meroney and Price McEwen will be given the pitching chores this year. Stationed behind the plate will be Darwin Allen, backed up by James Latham.

Also back from last year's team in infielder James Edwards. The rest of the squad is made up of several promising freshmen.

Coach Bill Peeler's boys will be facing some of the toughest teams in this section of North Carolina. One of these will be the Ashboro team, which the Rebels will meet next Tuesday at Rich Park. Davie's first two practice games were postponed because of weather conditions.

UNCLE DAVE FROM DAVIE Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where this fellow Gallup conducted a poll and found that one of every 20 persons would volunteer to go up in one of these earth satellites.

That settles a argument that's been going on in this country for years. There's always been a difference of opinion among authorities on the subject as to what per cent of Americans was crazy. One out of 20 is five per cent. That fixes it, final and beyond any act of Congress.

I got a hunch that five per cent is higher than when I was a young man. In those days folks didn't have but three things to worry about, religion, starvation, and the tariff. This generation ain't unduly concerned with religion, know the Government won't let 'em starve, and they ain't never heard of the tariff.

But they got a million other things to worry about. A feller, for instance, can't even step across the road to hunt rabbits without getting his worries. Ed Doolittle said he went hunting Saturday and all he got was $14.20 worth of game warden. Ed gits about $50 worth of game warden ever year on account of him being convinced it's un-American to charge a feller for hunting and fishing. He vows he'll live and die without buying a hunting or fishing license.

When they come out with them tranquilizer pills it looked like maybe we had licked the worry business and that the per cent of crazy folks would drop. But it wasn't long until they started raising the price of the pills to where a pore man couldn't afford them and he had to start back to worrying.

Of course, some people just naturally worry, whether they got anything to worry about or not. I knowed a feller once that said he drunk liquor to keep from worrying and worried so's he could drink liquor.

And we got a few folks in this country that don't worry about nothing. For instance, we got a hard surface farmer out in our neighborhood that's in this category. I call him a hard surface farmer because he stays between his farm and somewhere else all the time. He was up at the country store Saturday night popping off about everything in this country being alright, even in Congress. Can you imagine a feller like that?

Speaking of Congress, I see where a Washington columnist says there ain't as much hair in this Congress as in the last one. I reckon worrying about Sputnik has got some of them bald-headed.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dave

LEO F. WILLIAMS
County Agent

Alfalfa Weevil

People who have alfalfa and expect to mow any hay from the first cutting should examine their fields immediately for alfalfa weevils. The weevil is already present in practically every field we have checked in the county. We have checked several fields in most sections and the buds are completely eaten up by the weevil. If you have not checked your alfalfa stands, you should do so immediately.

Fly Control

Entomologists say that farmers can greatly reduce the number of flies around the farm by sprinkling some malathion on litter and places where flies breed just before warm weather. If you have trouble with field and have had trouble during the past years to a great extent, you could try sprinkling fly flakes over the litter or spraying it with malathion every two weeks until warm weather.

It is believed that this will greatly reduce flies during the summer months.

Livestock

Most livestock accidents occur with children under 14 years of age and older persons between 50 to 80 years of age.

A bull, boar, or a sow with pigs, even a vicious goat or ram, can cause a serious injury. A kicking horse is a hard that calls for constant carelessness.

A few practical hints:

- 1. Handle stock quietly, gently and firmly and with suitable handling equipment.
- 2. Speak to an animal before entering its stall; then stroke its neck or back, if it is not too nervous. A nervous animal behaves best when handled by someone in whom it has confidence.

3. Ring the nose of the bull. Always lead him with a safety staff. Keep him in a safekeeper pen of the type developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Never trust any bull.

4. Human beings are susceptible to many animal diseases. Learn and apply every precaution in the treatment and quarantine of sick animals or fowls and disposal of dead ones. Practice strict sanitation at all times.

5. Use caution when handling animals with diseases such as anthrax, rabies, tuberculosis, brucellosis, and tularemia. Follow instructions of a veterinarian.

6. Keep fences, gates, and equipment in good repair. Inadequate facilities invite accidents.

Vegetables

Poor stands in the garden are caused by poor soil preparation, bad seed, insects, diseases or fertilizer injury. Poor stands result in more grass or weeds and less yield. Just a little added effort in preparing the soil can do wonders. Mix the fertilizer with the soil thoroughly to prevent fertilizer injury. Many small garden seeds are planted too deep. Plant most seeds 2 to 3 times as deep as the thickness of the seed. Lettuce seed, however, requires some light for germination and should be planted only deep enough to cover the seed.

Established asparagus plantings should be fertilized this month before the new shoots come through. Broadcast 2 to 3 pounds of 5-10-10 fertilizer over each 100 square feet of row space and work it into the upper 3 or 4 inches of soil.

Hotcaps are good for starting early plants in the row, especially the warm season crops like cucumbers, cantaloupes, and watermelons. Under hotcaps these vegetables are planted 2-3 weeks earlier than they are normally planted in the open. On bright came the Mocksville Feed Mills, Inc., specializing in poultry feeds. During her 42 years as bookkeeper for this organization, Miss Martha saw it grow from a total of six employees to 70 employees today. From a horse and wagon delivery service to a fleet of 12 tractor and trailers. From a 50-barrel flour mill to a concern that produces thousands of tons of feed each week.

MISS TIRZAH MESSICK ISON of Charlotte, announces the engagement of her daughter, Tirzah Messick, to Ralph Hartman Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Bowen. MORE ABOUT Miss Martha Call

In her early days of employment, Miss Martha would walk to and from work and her home on Salisbury Street, a distance of over a mile. In 1922, she purchased a Ford "touring car" which she says was "... the best car I've ever had."

During the 42 years, she has missed little time from work due to sickness. In the early 1930's she had the mumps and was out for three weeks. Part of this time was due, according to Miss Martha, to the fact that Mr. Horn was afraid for her to come back because he, himself, had not had the mumps. Since 1940... she has not been out a day due to sickness.

In addition to her work at the mill, Miss Martha has served as treasurer of the Mocksville Methodist Church for over 35 years. Wednesday night Miss Martha Call was honored by Mocksville Feed Mills at a banquet at the Rotary Hut. Here many of her friends and co-workers joined together to pay her special tribute.

M. H. Murray summed up the feeling for Miss Martha with the statement:

"Miss Martha has proved to be a valuable asset to this company through her loyal, efficient and devoted service. We hate to lose her services, but wish her the best of everything which she so richly deserves. We will always value her devoted services and friendship."

So after 42 years, Miss Martha's first job has come to an end. Her plans now include travelling... visiting friends and relatives... sewing and doing housework. In other words, enjoying the leisure she has earned.

MISS MARTHA HUSSER

Miss Martha Kate Husser of Advance will be presented in her vocal recital on Monday evening, March 31, at Catawba College. Miss Husser will be accompanied by Miss Luella Epperson in the recital which begins at 8:15 p.m.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Husser of Advance, she is a graduate of the Shady Grove High School and was valedictorian of her class. She is currently a junior at Catawba College where she is a member of the college choir, vocal ensemble and secretary of the Ars de Musica.

Miss Husser will be the contralto soloist in the presentation of the "Magnificat" by J. S. Bach, presented by the Salisbury - Spencer Choral Group just before Christmas. She was also a soloist in the Piedmont Carolina Community Concert series at Shelby on March 21. She had the contralto lead in the Gilbert and Sullivan production of "H.M.S. Pinafore" presented by the Catawba Department of Music in May of last year.

Miss Husser is a member of Temple Emanuel's choir in Winston-Salem and has appeared as soloist at various church and civic meetings.

The program will consist of: "Et exultavit" by Bach; "O rest in the Lord," by Menhelssohn; "Lascia Ch'io Plange," by Handel; "O del mio dolce ardor," by Gluck; "Che fiero costume," by Legrenzi; "Von eignen Liebe and Madchenlied," by Brahms; "Du Bist die Ruh," by Schubert; "Er Der Herrliche Von Allen," by Shumann; "It st doux, il est bon," by Massenet; "Verstlich," by Castelnuovo - Tedesco; "El Hakochoy," by Barkan; "Habet nishomayin," by David; "Fear," by Epperson; "Silent Noon," by Vaughan Williams; and "Little Shepherds Song" by Watts.

SFC Howard L. Reavis Completes NCO Course

Sgt. First Class Howard L. Reavis, 36, son of Mrs. Elva Reavis, Route 5, Mocksville, recently completed the III Corps Academy's advanced non-commissioned officers course at Fort Hood, Tex.

A member of Troop C of the 2nd Armored Division's 15th Cavalry, Sgt. Reavis received instruction in leadership of units, map reading and other military subjects.

The sergeant, whose wife, Betty Anne, lives in Killen, Texas, entered the Army in 1942.

It's no problem to keep in touch with society if you have plenty of money to lend.

On the birthday of the Father of his Country, George Washington appeared here—only it was George Lafayette Washington, fourth grand-nephew of the original. This latter George planted a cherry tree instead of cutting one down. In a real state stunt commemorating the founding of Washington Square Village, a $75 million housing development just south of where General George one drilled his troops. To carry out the idea further, Martha Washington, a fifth generation niece sent the tree here from Missouri. The grand-nephew was born in West Virginia and his wife is the sister of Admiral Richard Byrd's widow. The current Washingtons live in Philadelphia. New York also makes the time worn claim that George Washington slept here—regularly in fact for about a year when this was our nation's first capital. Previously, George and his ragged Continental troops were chased out of this city by the British. Among the local mementoes which give a special after-glow to the birthday of Washington is his old army cot now preserved in the New York Historical Society.

This is really a big country town. Superstitions still held by some migrant workers here prove it. A supervisor reports that she finds pairs of small claws or a small tied to a string around the necks of new-born babies. Soot and cowwebs are placed on cuts and sores and bags of herbs are applied to tooth aches. Wounds are believed to be caused by early morning dew and some of these folks drink keyserene before visiting the sick. They anoint their bodies with turpentine to ward off illness and wear good luck charms which they buy from fortune tellers. One of the latter holds forth on the second floor at the world's busiest corner, 42nd Street and 5th Avenue, reading the leaves in tea cups free—with your tea and crumpets. Even the fire chief of New York City is said to be afraid to walk under a ladder, but maybe this is because he was once-conked on the head with a big one.

Frank Sinatra came from just across the river in New Jersey and it still holds the wonder of entertainment-conscious folks of his old neighborhood—as well as New York, Hollywood and elsewhere. A homely, skinny fellow with an ordinary voice, he is, notwithstanding, the country's most popular singer, succeeding the incomparable Bing Crosby. What makes Sinatra tick? As I passed Hotel Astor, the answer came. Francis—that's Frank's first name—was trained under the late Tommy Dorsey whose orchestra played so memorably to so many of us on the Astor for years. Dorsey had at that time a vocal group known as "The Pied Pipers" among whom was young Frank Sinatra. Tommy taught Frank how to "sell a song," when to deliver it "hot" and when to sound sentimental. Today when Frankie does a tune, he puts into practice all those old tricks from the "Sentimental" Dorsey who along with his late brother, Himmie, is still much missed by the musical fraternity hereabouts.

The story is told of a New York advertising man who developed a case of nerves from his high-tension work that he almost had a nervous breakdown. Particularly did he become lacking in ability to make decisions. Finally he didn't know whether he should add cream in his coffee, could he decide what tie to wear; whether to drive his car or take a cab. So they sent him to a rest home where he seemed to improve. At the end of six months he was decided to let him out. His doctor went to him and asked, "Don't you think you can now take your place again in the world and make decisions?" The ad man thought for a long moment, struck a meditative pose and then answered, "Well, yes and no."

A group of American Indians came to town and I asked one of their Chief High Mountain, "Did I thought of New York?" He pondered for a moment, shook his head. I reminded him we paid the early Indians $24 for this island of Manhattan, and his face broke into a smile. "You want to say you paid too much?" he asked. "Well, at that time you probably did. Show"—he looked up at the nearby Empire State Building—"now your city is worth billions—to you white Americans. To we who lives among nature's skyscrapers, New York is still not worth $24."

Now and then, we still hear the expression here, "The Four Hundred" referring to the inner circle of local society. This term originated in 1892 from the fact that because of space limitations, only 400 guests could be invited to a party given by Mrs. William Astor. So the invitation list was compiled by Ward McAllister, then the arbiter of New York society. He was quoted as saying that "there are only 400 persons in New York society who really matter." Actually, he did not say this. He was a genial gentleman who observed that "No one can keep some one else in society. It requires not only money, but brains, and above all, infinite tact."

Around Times Square nowadays, there are many examples of humorous cards and hilarious cartoons for sale, as if the vendors were determined to cheer people up who might be at all bothered by business conditions. Many of the cartoons are outlandish drawings of grotesque figures who are supposed to be humans in various poses of ridiculous activity. The card slogans are mainly clever, some risqué. One of them seems worth repeating. It said: "I was sad and low and all down and out, and a friend of mine came along and said, 'Cheer up. Things could be worse.' So I cheered up and sure enough, things got worse!"

James W. Atkins, a friendly and observant visitor to this city occasionally, had two friends who knew each other and both moved to New York City in 1922. Several years later when Mr. Atkins came here, he went to see these friends and asked when they had seen each other. Neither had seen or heard from the other. Imagine their surprise when he informed them that they worked all of five blocks apart, at Washington Square and 55 5th Ave. respectively, and yet had not seen each other for all those years—something not untypical of this big city.

Should any one doubt that the 1920's were a fabulous time, he has only to look briefly at the career of John Held, Jr., the cartoonist who died here a few days ago. His specialty was drawing the flapper figures for humor magazines, and these thin, smartly-dressed girls became symbols for the "jazz age." So popular did Held become, that he made several thousand dollars a week back when taxes were small. And he was so much in demand that people sent him blank checks to make drawings for them. He could write in his own price.

State ASC To Recruit Help

The State ASC Office in Raleigh announced plans to recruit 100 men who will be trained as tobacco variety identification specialists. According to Tillman R. Walker, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, these temporary employees will begin work between the first and the 15th of June and the period of work will last from 75 to 90 days. These men, while serving as employees of the State ASC, will visit fields throughout the State on which flue-cured tobacco is planted to determine if the tobacco being grown has characteristics similar to the "discount varieties," Coker 139, Coker 140 or Dixie Bright 244.

Mr. Walker requests that qualified persons obtain Application Forms (SF 57) from their local post office and file this application with the State ASC Office, State College Station, Raleigh.

N. C. He emphasized, however, that persons filing must meet certain qualification standards and the fact that they meet these standards must be borne out by information on the Form 57, application blank.

In order to qualify for this employment, applicants must have experience with the production of flue-cured tobacco, including Coker 139, Coker 140, and Dixie Bright 244. This experience may have been gained on the farm as a producer of flue-cured tobacco; as teacher of vocational agriculture, or a veteran's farm training instructor where instruction included supervision of students in the production of flue-cured tobacco. Other ways than this experience may have been gained, according to Walker, include experience as a plant scientist working with tobacco plant breeding at a State Experiment Station, experience as an AMS tobacco inspector, or experience as an insurance adjuster working with tobacco.

Application forms submitted must show that the applicant has five years of one of these types of experience or a combination of one or more types adding up to five years. Complete qualification requirements can be secured from the State ASC Office or from County ASC Offices. In addition, Walker stated, applicants must be able to conduct training meetings in connection with the identification of these types of tobacco.

Applicants who are accepted for this work will serve from 2½ to 3 months at a salary of approximately $21 per day for each day they actually work. In addition to the salary, selected applicants will be paid for official travel in the form of a mileage and per diem allowance.

All applications received in the State Office will be reviewed by the State ASC Committee and prior to selection of employees each applicant will be interviewed by the State Committee.

In filing applications for this position, Walker stressed the importance of explaining in detail past experience with flue-cured tobacco production. Applications may be submitted immediately.

Cotton Expected To Bring Good Prices

Cotton in 1958 is expected to bring prices above the past five years, especially bright cotton grading strict low middling or above.

Reasons for this include heavy belt-wide rainfall in 1957, heavy export sales for two years, very low temperatures in February, and increased loan rates.

Cotton producers in North Carolina are urged to plant every available acre and aim for 700 pounds of lint per acre.

Heavy rainfall in 1957 across the cotton belt during harvest time damaged cotton quality severely, lowering the production volume of better grades of cotton.

The export surplus sale of CCC cotton at world prices in 1956 and 1957 resulted in quality cotton being taken out, and a pile-up of "dog tail" cotton in Government hands.

No applications will be considered that reach the State Office later than April 21, 1958.

LITTLE MEAT LOAVES

- 1-lb. can tomatoes
- 1 lb. ground lean beef
- 1 Tablespoon grated onion
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 slices fresh bread, torn into small pieces
- 1/2 cup PET Instant (In dry form)
- 3 Tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 Tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon sugar

Drain and measure 1/2 cup juice from tomatoes. Let rest of juice and tomatoes stand until needed. Mix well in a 1 1/2-qt. bowl the 1/2 cup tomato juice, beef, onion, 1/2 teasp. Worcestershire sauce, 1 teasp. salt, pepper, bread and PET Instant. Divide meat mixture into 4 equal parts. With wet hands, shape each part into a small loaf. Put loaves into 9-in. square pan. Dot loaves with equal parts of 1 Tablesp. butter. Bake near center of 325 oven (low moderate) for 30 to 35 min., or until brown. Meanwhile, melt 2 Tablesp. butter in a qt. saucepan. Stir in flour until smooth. Add tomatoes and rest of juice, sugar, 1/2 teasp. salt and 1/2 teasp. Worcestershire sauce. Bring sauce to boil. Then lower heat and cook 10 min., stirring now and then. Serve meat loaves with the sauce and hot, seasoned broccoli. Makes 4 servings.

Auto Registration Cards

If you drive an automobile, the chances are that you have violated a motor vehicle law today or will tomorrow. In fact, that is one part of the motor vehicle law that every husband and wife, if both drive, one or the other of them violates every time they drive the car without being in the company of the other.

We are referring to Section "C" of N. C. Statute 20-57, which provides that the registration card for a vehicle be carried at all times in the vehicle to which it refers. This section reads as follows:

"Every owner, upon receipt of a registration card, shall write his signature thereon with pen and ink in the space provided. Every such registration card shall at all times be carried in the vehicle to which it refers, or shall be carried by the person operating or in control of such vehicle, who shall display the same upon demand of any peace officer or any officer of the department. Provided, however, no person charged with fallude to so carry such registration card shall be convicted if he produces in court a registration card theretofore issued to him and valid at the time of his arrest."

Certainly no one would argue the merits of the above provision. We can certainly see the need for an officer to be able to determine legal ownership of the car, and the only way would be through either the title or this registration card. Since the title may be tied up in a number of ways due to financing methods, the registration card is the only proof of ownership that can be carried.

In most cases, the owner of the vehicle carries the registration card. This card is carried either in a billfold, card case or purse, along with the driver's license. It is readily available as required by law as long as the owner is in the car.

However, if the husband carries the registration card, when the wife is driving the car, she is usually without it . . . and vice versa. There is no intent to circumvent or violate the law . . . it is simply a matter of thinking to transfer it from one to another.

All officers advise against leaving the registration card in the car. Leaving the registration card with the card is just about the same as granting license to steal . . . for if the car and registration card are stolen together, the recovery of the car is made most difficult.

What is the answer then? It certainly seems that modern driving habits points up a need for a change in the method of providing registration cards. We do not believe that the law should be changed.

Why cannot the registration card, containing all the vital information, be reduced some in size and put in such a form as to be carried with the keys? This way the registration card would always be with the vehicle, and would also make the owner more careful with his keys. With his registration card fastened thereon few would gamble with leaving the keys in an unattended car.

Anyway we are glad to note that no one can be convicted with failure to carry the registration card if he can produce in court a registration card theretofore issued to him and valid at the time of his arrest. This will save many of us from being convicted as law violators in this matter.

KIDD BREWER'S Raleigh Roundup

IN THE CORNER . . . We noted the other day that State revenues are down and that prospects point to further declines.

A few hours later leaders of United Forces for Education said that, despite the recession, they were laying the groundwork to ask for more money. They did not suggest where to get it—or where to look for it. That is where they are fortunate. They leave it to others to do the finding. It looks as if a three per cent tax on food is on the way—as if your food bill were not already high enough.

If you spend $30 per week for food, your food bill is $1,500 per year. Add the three per cent or $45.00, and your food bill goes to a total of $1,545.00.

The trouble in North Carolina is this: it is difficult to be against an increase in taxes without being placed in the corner of being against education and the poor. Why? Because roughly 78 per cent of our General Fund budget is spent for education and welfare.

FOOD? . . . When the leader of a big business organization prophesied at his annual meeting in Raleigh last week that the 1959 Legislature would likely be long and rough, one of the things he doubtless had in mind was the battle building up between these forces:

Those wanting to keep the tax off food and those wanting to keep off industry's shoulders the $15,000,000 lifted from these shoulders by the 1957 Legislature. For eight years — from 1933 until 1951 — we had a sales tax on food. Gov. J. M. Broughton's first Legislature removed it. Will Gov. Luther H. Hodges, last Legislature put it back on?

FLOUNDERING? . . . With its chairman in declining health and on the verge of retirement, operating on only about three of its five cylinders, and losing its ace telephone investigations man, the State Utilities Commission is not a bed of ease these days.

It never has been, as for that matter, for it has been kicked about, changed, and played with by a long string of governors, as previously noted here. But it is staffed by good folks, blessed by a stabilizing load of hard work, and will come out of its present state of confusion in good shape.

CROSSING . . . We heard the other day that the head of a certain college in North Carolina—a girl's school — had been bothered because the students kept crossing the street right in front of the school instead of going down to the corner.

He tried everything, but nothing worked. Finally he persuaded a friend of his working for the State Highway Department to let him have one of those signs reading "Cattle Crossing."

The dean placed it right in front of the school—and from that day forward the girls went down to the corner to cross the street.

PEACE SMOKE . . . Speaking at the Liggett & Myers show put on each year for the Durham Merchant's Association, Gov. Luther Hodges last week said he had been thinking about the old Indian smokers.

He said they came up with a peace pipe. Why couldn't, reasoned the Governor in his interesting way, the tobacco companies invent a "peace cigarette" which would bring love and affection among countries all over the world.

"I can't tell you what kind of filter it would have," said the Governor. "That's their problem."

SUPPORT . . . Dr. I. Beverly Lake, former head of the Wake Forest Law School and at one time assistant Attorney General, was urged again last week to make the race for Governor.

Lake practices law here, is not expected to be named by the Governor to become the new Attorney General, but has avoided talk about running for Governor.

The Citizens Government Council, Inc., professedly segregationist, met in Winston-Salem and were advised by Dallas Gwynn, former chairman of the Leaks House.

All of us, regardless of political party affiliation, ought to be proud of these men. They are doing a great deal for their state and their nation.

ville School Board that Lake "wants to run for Governor."

Maybe so . . . but he's being mighty quiet about it.

NOT QUIET . . . the last quiet man among those being spoken of as candidates for Governor is former State Senator Terry Sanford of Fayetteville.

He's making speeches all around. As manager for W. Kerr Scott's successful campaign for the U. S. Senate in 1954, Sanford made a lot of friends.

He is using them to make more. He is running for Governor—hard, too.

AND LT. GOV. . . . A man who is said to be acting like a candidate for the second State place—that of Lt. Governor — is none other than David M. McConnell, general counsel for the Belk stores and at one time an administrative assistant to James Byrnes when Byrnes was in the Senate.

McConnell wanted to run for the office in 1956 — but somehow didn't get around to it. He is former chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee in Mecklenburg County . . . and has connections.

NOTES . . . After looking at the Saturday practice game at Chapel Hill, some out of State experts pointed to Carolina as the team to watch in 1959 . . . Publishing miracle in North Carolina: the N. C. Motor Carriers Association's "Tarheel Wheels," young and healthy, 40 pages in the March issue chockful of interesting items and advertisements. It lists a staff of eight people headed by Editor Jeff B. Wilson.

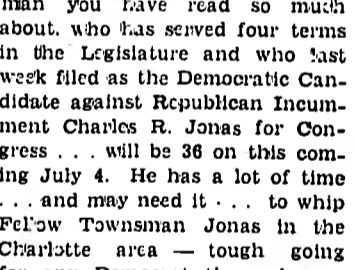

The next legislature will lay plans for another State building on the property now occupied by the Raleigh YMCA . . . Although Secretary of State Trad Eure's main offices are still in the capitol, most of his floor space is now in the old Supreme Court Building sometimes known as the Library Building . . . And State Auditor now has better quarters, much more space, and all his people in adjacent offices in the Revenue Building . . . Auditor Henry Bridges' old offices in the capitol are now used by the Governor.

We hear there is a 50-50 chance the Parkway toll charges may not stick . . . Although we could only see a lot of trouble for the compulsory insurance law passed by the 1957 Legislature and tied to car license sales, they say it is really paying off . . . in protection . . . and is being praised all around.

David Clark of Lincolnton, the man you have read so much about, who has served four terms in the Legislature and who last week filed as the Democratic Candidate against Republican Incumbent Charles R. Jonas for Congress . . . will be 36 on this coming July 4. He has a lot of time . . . and may need it . . . to whip Fellow Townsman Jonas in the Charlotte area — tough going for any Democrat these days.

The Governor this week will participate in the big Carl Sandburg Day in Raleigh and then go to the Azalea Festival in Wilmington.

WHY?

Do We Advertise? Early advertisers were knights whose dedication to the code of chivalry is credited with advancing Christian ideals over Dark Age barbarism.

At jousts and tournaments they hung their armorial shields on tree, tent and pavilions around the arena, like billboards for inspection, to prove they were worthy contenders in the lists, or noble births, military prowess, unspotted character and purity.

Today's largest advertisers advance civilization by heralding the nearly 100 per cent purity of soap, and proving the proposition that cleanliness is not character, is next to godliness.

Reduced Prices - On Parking Tickets

"Special reduced fines for parking violations if you act now!"

"Parking tickets reduced 50 per cent if you act today!"

Either of the two above statements is appropriate for the new parking fine system now in effect in Mocksville. This system provides a way that you can square your violation for 50c if you do it the same day of your violation. After 5 p.m. on the day of the violation, the price goes back up to the regular $1.00.

To put this system into effect, several new methods were adopted.

Instead of the regular old parking ticket telling you to report to the Town Office and pay a dollar, you now get a nice little envelope. On this envelope is printed the following:

"Mocksville Police Department Parking Violation. License No . . . ; Date . . . ; Time . . . ; Place . . . ; Officer . . ."

"Fifty Cents Fine For Violation Marked if paid before 5 p.m. on the above date.

$1.00 fine thereafter."

"For your convenience, FINE may be placed in this Envelope and deposited in a FINE BOX located on the square, or may be paid, by presenting this ticket at the Town office. Envelope must be sealed with FINE enclosed, otherwise responsibility for Receipt or Payment rests with violator."

Several of these FINE BOXES, red in color, are located on the lamp posts around the square in Mocksville.

Many towns have found this system to work very satisfactorily. It is a convenient way for handling the fines for both the violator and the town office. Those using this system have found that it cuts down on the number of license numbers to be traced out. This is necessary when the violator does not come by to pay the fine.

And of course everyone loves a bargain! Being able to settle a parking ticket for half-price is just too good for most of us to pass up, which is of course that which makes the system work, anyway.

Farewell To Mastoiditis

If you have any doubt about the world being better for our children than it was for us, you can find comfort in some figures that we just noticed from the Health News Institute on mastoiditis. This was both cruel and common only 20 years ago.

It usually involved a painful, costly, disfiguring operation and complete loss of hearing in the ear affected. The New York City hospitals had 5,400 cases of mastoiditis in 1933 and only 50 in 1956.

Achromycin and other antibiotic drugs developed in recent years made the difference. In the pre-antibiotic era the overall cost of a case of mastoiditis and the surgery involved was about $1,000. Today, thanks to antibiotics, which have come down in price since first introduced, the cost is only about $15 for drugs in most cases and no surgery is necessary.

Actually, the Health News Institute points out, the average drug store prescription in these days of soaring prices in all fields is much less than this, being either $2.49 or $2.79 in 1956 depending on which trade journal you read. Seven out of 10 prescriptions cost less than $3.00 and only one in 200 sells for more than $10.00.

While our disposable personal income rose 308 per cent from 1939 to 1956, personal consumption expenditures for drug preparations and sundries which took 0.87 per cent in 1939, dropped to 0.66 per cent of disposable income in 1956. The HNI points out we are spending less percentage wise for better treatment of disease.

In the case of mastoiditis, we have bought a miracle which puts an end to a particularly excruciating type of suffering and preserves to our children a normal life for which the gift of hearing is essential as well as such priceless pleasures as the voices of loved ones, the making of friends through conversation, the inspiration of great speeches and the soul-filling joy of music and song.

Hippopotamuses rarely attack people, but enraged bull hippos have been known to lift boats out of water and bite or slash holes in the hulls, the National Geographic Magazine says.

SENATOR SAM ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON—For this week's column, I want to use my remarks made on the Senate floor the other day with reference to the question of Presidential ineligibility.

Needful or Desirable? Recent events have drawn the attention of the Congress to the question of whether it is needful or desirable to amend the Constitution of the United States to clarify the somewhat indefinite provisions of article II, section 6, in respect to how the inability of the President to discharge the powers and duties of his office is to be determined in case of disabling accident or disease deprives him of the capacity to make such determination, and in respect to the ultimate legal effect of the action of the Vice President in assuming the powers and duties of the Presidential office in case the President suffers a temporary inability to discharge them.

No one can gainsay the desirability of clarifying these matters. It may be argued with much show of reason, however, that Congress itself is empowered by article I, section 8, clause 18, and even by article II, section 6, to clarify them by a simple legislative act; and that for this reason, resort need not be had to a constitutional amendment. Be this as it may, I am convinced that the importance of these matters in our governmental system demands that the clarification be made by amendment.

Amendment Needed I submit that the amendment should vest in the Congress the power to pass upon and determine the question of the inability of the President to discharge his official powers and duties, in case there are reasonable grounds for believing that a disabling accident or disease has deprived the President of the capacity to make the determination himself.

This power should be vested in the Congress because its members are duly elected constitutional officers who can be held responsible by the people for any action they may take. It certainly ought not to be entrusted to Presidentially appointed cabinet members answerable to the President alone, or to a newly created commission answerable to nobody.

In advocating that the power to pass upon and determine the inability of the President be vested in the Congress, rather than in the cabinet or in a commission, I am not unaware of the argument that such a course would offend the constitutional doctrine of the separation of governmental powers. However, this argument, it seems to me, is heavily outweighed by one significant circumstance that committing this power to the Congress will harmonize in full measure with our constitutional system of checks and balances. This is made crystal clear by amend-

By FRED DODGE

TEXT: "No honest man ever repented of his honesty."—Thomas Fuller.

Two bitter business competitors met in a railroad station. "Where are you going," asked one. "To St. Louis," the other replied.

"Why can't you be honest with me?" demanded the first man. "You think that by telling me you are going to St. Louis, Ill. think that you're going to Kansas City. But you're really going to St. Louis and you thought you'd fool me by telling the truth!"

We all have been dishonest. Some tumble unexpectedly into dishonesty. Some are deliberately dishonest. No matter how we became dishonest few people remain that way. Some are uncomfortable about it. Others are lazy and not clever enough to be successfully dishonest.

There is a prominent man who claims that he is honest because he is lazy and stupid. His dishonesty showed. He got confused and wasted too much time defending his falsehoods. Years ago he learned that it was hard work to guard constantly against being caught. It wasn't worth it.

Now he avoids dishonesty in two ways. First, he doesn't get in positions where he is ashamed. Second, he admits error, takes the consequences, and starts over with a free heart and clear head. Not a bad idea. Try it.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR W. KERR SCOTT WASHINGTON — Last week, at the annual Congressional banquet of the North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington, I had the honor of awarding certificates of appreciation — in behalf of the Club — to the four Congressmen from our State who serve as Committee Chairmen in the House.

I think it was fitting that the N. C. Democratic Club of Washington decided to make such awards of appreciation for the fine public service that has been rendered by these outstanding men, Reps. Harold Cooley, Graham Barden, Carl T. Durham and Herbert Bonner.

No one in the history of our State has done more for the advancement and betterment of North Carolina than these Representatives in Congress.

In the a most four years I have been in Washington, I have found each of them most cooperative in working on projects and problems that affect the people of North Carolina and the Nation.

Congressman Cooley is recognized as one of the Nation's most informed experts in the field of agriculture. As Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, Congressman Cooley has been instrumental in the passage of all beneficial farm legislation that has gone into effect during the past 25 years. Nowhere is there a stronger advocate of the importance of a sound farm economy.

Congressman Barden is one of the most powerful men in the House as Chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor. First and foremost, he is a strong believer in the rights of the individual. A rugged individualist himself, he has done a great deal to bring into being many valuable programs and projects that have been important in the growth and development of North Carolina and the Nation.

As Chairman of the Joint Senate - House Committee on Atomic Energy, Congressman Durham occupies one of the most important positions in the Nation. Military and scientific leaders alike have accorded respect for his knowledge of the atomic energy program and his devotion to duty.

Congressman Bonner is recognized as the Nation's outstanding expert in the fields of water transportation and commercial fisheries. As Chairman of the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, Congressman Bonner has been a key figure in the development and success of the nation's merchant marine and fisheries industries.

It has taken a great deal of hard work, and a long time, for these four North Carolinians to reach the positions of leadership they hold today.

As North Carolinians we should remember that these men make up the largest group of Committee Chairmen of any State delegation in the House. Together, they have 84 years of service in the

Success Of Artificial Breeding Aided By Rural Telephones

By E. P. HOLMES

In the past few years the art of artificial insemination has become one of the important factors in rural life; especially to the Grade A Dairy farmers and to those who raise cows for both milk and beef. Carl Obenshain, Box 53, Yadkinville, is the artificial breeding technician in Yadkin County and his services are almost without parallel in the state. In the following years Yadkin has produced the following calves artificially:—

1954—900
1955—1115
1956—1335
1957—1801.

In 1958 he hopes to reach the 2000 mark for cows bred artificially and calves produced. He took third place winner in the state in 1957 for cows bred and conceived—his percentage was 74 per cent. He takes his REA phone calls at home and in the County Agents Office. He does not leave home until around 10 o'clock in the morning. When all of them are in, and often times he has as many as 15 on his list to service. Then during the day he stays in touch with his home and the County Agent's Office by phone. In fact he is dependent almost entirely on REA rural phones financed by the National REA through the North Carolina Authority and the Yadkin Valley Telephone Corp. All this has made possible a biggest and better stock production.

D. R. Riddle, Route 1, Advance, is the artificial breeder for Davie County and his record is almost equal to that of Carl Obenshain and he is also dependent on the same rural phone system. Mr. Riddle tells me there were not but two working days in 1957 that he did not have a call to service a cow. The demand is that great. He says he has many night calls. Twenty-five is the most he ever serviced in one day.

A Highly Developed Art

The process of artificial insemination has developed in the past few years into a high technical art. It produces more and better calves. The semen is kept in a compartment in the artificial technician truck. It is kept at a temperature of 320 degrees below zero — this is done with a form of liquid nitrogen. If dry ice was used that would keep it only at 120 degrees below. When the portion is ready for use it can be thawed in five minutes or more and it goes into the cow at a temperature of 35 or 40 degrees—just below freezing. Thus the breeding technician performs the technical process, the rural telephone performs the time element and the dairyman and the general public benefits from the whole transaction.

'Let God Be True'

J. B. WHITAKER
During the trial of the Lord, Pilate asked Jesus if He were king. Jesus answered that He was, but said, "My kingdom is not of this world." (John 18:33-37). There are many outstanding features of the kingdom of Christ, which give emphasis to the fact that His kingdom is not of this world.

Christ's kingdom is not of this world in its nature. It is not civil. He is not a temporal king, and, therefore no rival of Caesar's. Its nature is not material but spiritual. The kingdom of Christ and the kingdoms of the earth are not to be united, the church and state are to be kept separate. The two cannot mix. They are different in their very essence. Yet, one can be a citizen of both kingdoms. He is to render both to Caesar and to God that which is due each. He is to render to all their dues. Rom. 13:7. He is to fear God and pay honor to the king. 1 Peter 2:17. The reply of Jesus did not make sense to Pilate who thought of things only in earthly terms. There are many things about this kingdom that do not make sense to one who thinks only in terms of the material.

The kingdom of Christ is not of this world in the tactics it employs. Many things pertaining to the church are exactly the opposite of that which worldly wisdom would have dictated. The birth of the king and the circumstances of his home life were far different from the way the world would have expected. How obscure, humble, and lowly was the place of His birth. He selected an humble group to help in the inauguration of His kingdom. Not rich men, nor philosophers, nor statesmen, but poor men from the common walks of life. How different from the group worldly wisdom would have selected! The announced terms of admission into His kingdom on the day of Pentecost in Acts 2 were contrary to worldly wisdom. Worldly wisdom would not have suggested the way of faith, repentance, and baptism as the way into the kingdom. Human wisdom would not have suggested baptism and it even rebels against baptism as an initiatory act. But this was the plan set forth by the early disciples, not only at Jerusalem, but in every place.

(Heb. 12:28). In the midst of shaking kingdoms and transitory things it is consoling to know that there is a kingdom that shall endure when the world is on fire and the elements are melting with fervent heat. The privilege of membership in this kingdom is yours if you desire. The terms of admission are the same as they were when the kingdom was established. Jericho church of Christ.

V-C FERTILIZER The Fertilizer With Extra Producing Power . . .

I have been fortunate in obtaining the dealership for V-C Fertilizers and precision-made to include major plant foods, plus secondary plant foods, and minor elements.

For several years I have been saving the farmers of Davie and surrounding counties, many dollars on their fertilizers, by selling it to them at less profit to me.

Now I can save you more than ever, and deliver it to your farm if you want it delivered. Whether you are a small or large buyer, see me and I will save you money or pay you $5.00 for your trouble coming to see me. Come in now and place your order and avoid any possible delay in getting the exact analysis you want at the time you want it. I will save you money on any kind of seeds. If I do not have the kind you want, I will get it for you each week.

Lime spreading, wet or dry-bag lime. I have a new truck equipped with the latest type spreader body for spreading either wet or dry lime. This spreader will give you an even distribution of material over your fields, whether it be wet or dry lime or fertilizer, and with less trips around your field to pack it. Come to see me and let's talk prices on all your farm needs.

Doing Student Teaching Miss Sylvia Laird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Laird, is now doing student teaching at South Fork Elementary School, Winston-Salem.

Sylvia is taking part during this spring quarter in the teacher training program of Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone. During the senior year each student devotes a quarter (approximately 12 weeks) to student teaching in the field for which the student has been preparing. Sylvia is teaching fourth grade under the supervision of the regular teacher, Mrs. Hovis, and the principal of South Fork elementary school, Mr. Bridges.

The teacher training program consists of full-time teaching under the guidance of a competent and experienced teacher. The student spends full time in the school where he does his student teaching and his formal teaching load is gradually increased until he has an opportunity to carry from one-half to all of the teaching load of his supervising teacher. The student teaching course will give the student professional experiences in the same activities which the regular teacher engages. Thus in addition to the regular classroom teaching activities the student will experience and share in the extra curricular activities, professional activities, such as faculty meetings, routine activities, such as making reports, and meeting and working with the parents.

Miss Laird is majoring in Elementary Education and plans to enter the teaching profession this fall. Sylvia graduated from Mocksville High School in the class of 1955.

NUGREEN

FERTILIZER COMPOUND

There's more units per bag, because it's 45% nitrogen.

Carolina tests show that corn and cotton side-dressed with nitrogen returns an extra $4 to $13 for each dollar spent on actual units of nitrogen.

Du Pont "NuGreen" saves you time and labor because a little goes a long way—it's 45% nitrogen. And "NuGreen" lasts longer because it's leach-resistant.

Talk over "NuGreen" with your fertilizer dealer—you'll find it costs about the same, or less, per unit of nitrogen.

If your dealer does not have "NuGreen" on hand, he can now conveniently get it through warehouse stocks.

FREE! No Tickets Required

Dear Folks:

There are dozens of surprises in the new John Deere Day we've planned for you, your family, and your friends. More colorful, more informative, more entertaining than ever, it's entirely different from previous John Deere Day programs.

In beautiful Technicolor you'll see an interesting new "Addition in Farming," your old friend Don Gordon, an interesting success story on irrigation.

In "What's New for '58" you'll see the latest in farm machinery. The feature picture is something new—a rib-tickling western musical comedy. And tying the program together are colorfully costumed choruses and three singing bouncy music written especially for this show. It's a program you and your family will long remember.

Here's something else—no tickets are required. You simply have to show up on the date, at the time, and at the place shown below. You'll be our guest.

We're counting on you!
