Media Player

Which HD media player fits my needs?

Nowadays more and more households have a large collection of digital photos, music and movies. All these files are stored on a PC, notebook, USB stick or external hard disk. Would it not be easier if you could play these files on your television just from one central place? Eminent therefore offers various solutions to enjoy all your digital media files with family and friends. Connect an Eminent media player to your TV for the ultimate cinema experience in your home.

Which files to support?

If you want to watch movies in the highest quality then choose a media player that plays 'high definition' content. Make sure they support H.264, MKV and Blu-Ray ISO. These 'high definition' media players retrieve the best image quality. Many movies have Dolby True HD and DTS-HD for the ultimate cinema sound. If you want to enjoy the best sound on your TV make sure that your media player also supports 'downmix'. The sound is hereby played through the speakers of your TV. The Eminent EM7167, EM7280 and the limited edition EM7285 are HD media players that meet the highest standards in both audio and video.

Built-in storage?

HD media players with built-in storage enable you to store multimedia files. You can easily play your files from the HD media player on your TV. Eminent HD media players EM7167, EM7280 and EM7285 have room for an internal hard disk. You can mount a hard disk yourself or choose among different storage capacities. The Eminent EM7285 HD media player is also equipped with an easy hard disk mounting system to install your hard disk in a convenient way.

Network connection?

A network connection is useful when you are 'streaming'. This means that you can play movies or other files that are stored on a notebook, PC or network-attached storage (NAS) on your TV via the HD media player. With the EM7280 and EM7285 HD media players you download directly Torrents and Usenet files from the Internet to the hard disk without having your computer turned on.

Do you want to connect quickly to your home network? Do you want to play files directly from your PC or other devices? The EM7280 and EM7285 HD media players are equipped with a built-in Gigabit lan. Do you prefer a wireless connection with your network? Choose the EM7285 HD media player with its built-in wireless adapter. Or connect the EM7280 HD media player to an external wireless adapter.

Enjoy the media portal with YouTube and other online content.
