Frequently Asked Questions

1) What is Acupuncture?

- Acupuncture, means treatment of disorders by stimulating certain points on the skin. It is used to treat successfully both pain and dysfunction in the body.

2) How does acupuncture work?

- Chinese medical theory holds that vital life energy circulates through the human body by way of channels called meridians. If for any reason this flow is blocked, ailments & diseases occur. Just as a tune-up keeps an automobile in good running order, acupuncture can maintain health and prevent illness and disability. Acupuncture can increase the immunity and maintain balance in the physiological functions.

3) Is the treatment painful?

- Because of the extreme slenderness of the needle most people compare the sensations to "less than a mosquito bite". TENS, LASER etc can also be used, instead of needle to stimulate the points.

4) How many treatment Sessions are necessary?

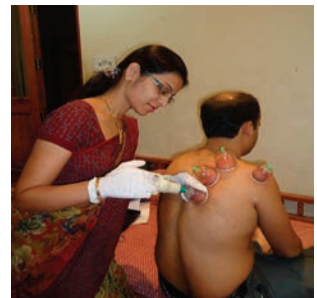

- Obviously the number of treatments vary with different conditions and individuals. Chronic problems generally require more treatment than acute ones. Some patients notice an immediate improvement after the 1st treatment. Whereas others may not notice any effect until the 7th or 8th visit. It's been shown that a certain percentage of patients receive maximum benefit upto 3 months following a course of therapy.

5) In which disorders it is useful?

- Acupuncture textbooks list well over 100 different conditions that respond well to acupuncture such as Hemiplegia, Rheumatoid Arthritis, Diabetes, Asthma, Cerebral palsy, Hypertension, Lumbar spondylosis, Cervical spondylosis, sciatica, osteoArthritis, Allergy, Acidity, Migrane, Deaf-Mute, Obesity, Impotence, Addiction, Skin/Abdomen/Kidney/Liver/Heart/Brain diseases etc.

6) Are the results permanent?

- For acute problems where there has been little or no organ system or tissue damage, results are often permanent. For chronic conditions, symptoms may recur from time to time. Generally a few additional treatments are sufficient to obtain relief.
