Searchers Failed

Suspect Seized Riding in Taxi

Police from five cities used a helicopter and police dogs in a fruitless 90-minute search for an armed robbery suspect in Fountain Valley early today, then captured him two hours later as he tried to flee in a taxi.

George Waldron Pennell, Jr., 28, of Santa Ana, was turned over to Costa Mesa police after he was arrested by Fountain Valley officers at 5 a.m. today.

He was wanted in connection with the 12:40 a.m. holdup of a Costa Mesa gas station at 3006 Harbor Blvd. police reported.

In addition, police say he is suspected of robbing a Westminster man at gunpoint, taking his car and wallet at 12:14 a.m.

The Westminster robbery occurred at the home of John Vilburn at 13582 Portsmouth Circle, police reported.

The suspect then allegedly went to Costa Mesa, where he robbed a Mobil station of $40 at gunpoint. It was the second Mobil station holdup in Costa Mesa in as many nights.

In the predawn hours Wednesday, a man entered the station at Harbor Boulevard and Gisler Avenue and escaped with $116 before being captured later by police.

Fountain Valley police spotted Pennell in the stolen car as he allegedly was fleeing the Costa Mesa robbery and was speeding across Warner Avenue in Fountain Valley.

Pennell turned off his car lights, police reported, but officers were able to track him by the occasional flash of his brake lights.

Pennell turned into a housing tract at Newhope Street and Warner, police reported, then abandoned the car on Tin Mountain Drive.

Officers aided by the Costa Mesa police helicopter, and police dogs from Westminster and Huntington Beach, as well as officers from Santa Ana and Costa Mesa, searched the area for 90 minutes then abandoned their efforts.

Police notified all-night markets in the area of Pennell's description.

A clerk notified officers at about 5 a.m. that a man matching Pennell's description was outside his market. When police arrived, they spotted a taxicab leaving, then stopped it on Newhope Street north of Bolsa Avenue.

Officers reported Pennell was arrested without further incident.

Police claim they found a .22 caliber pistol in his possession as well as about $40 cash.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Navy burned tons of marijuana on at least two occasions in which air-pollution regulations were violated, says San Diego County's health director.

Dr. J. B. Askew, who also is an officer of the Air Pollution Control District, said a single-chamber incinerator at North Island Naval Air Station was used in July.

Idaho Indians Declare 'War' in Land Dispute

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (UPI) — A small Indian tribe ignored a government peace gesture today, vowing to go ahead with its war over 1.6 million acres of aboriginal land seized 120 years ago.

The 67 members of the Kootenai tribe said they would set up four road blocks and collect tolls from those passing through the area starting at midnight.

The Kootenais demand that Bureau of Indian Affairs set aside 128,000 acres of the disputed land for use as a reservation and give them a cash payment. They said this would compensate them for the land taken by the government.

Bureau Commissioner Morris Thompson said in a telegram to tribal Chairman Amelia Trice Wednesday that his agency was reviewing the situation and would reply soon, to the tribe's demands.

Kootenai spokesman Doug Wheaton said the wire "sounded like the bureau is trying to formulate a plan and get people together. What we want will take congressional action." He added the "war" would start on schedule. (See INDIANS, Page A2)

Target Practice Brings Arrests

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Police say two men who decided to test their marksmanship by shooting at flies with a pistol have been charged with reckless firing of a gun.

Officers said L.C. Olney and Dennis Burger opened the fly-shoot at the Suburban Garage Wednesday after having a couple of drinks.

Three garbage men who had to dodge flying lead called police.

Police said there was no indication that the some 70 shots fired during the episode brought down any flies.

5 Meet Death As Plane Goes Down in Flames

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A single-engine plane flying in dense fog crashed in flames today, killing all five persons aboard, including a child, authorities said.

The Cherokee, en route here from Las Vegas, slammed into the Santa Ana River bed, which runs parallel to runways at nearby Riverside Airport but about a mile away — about nine miles south west of Riverside.

Names of the victims were not immediately known. A spokesman for the Riverside County sheriff's department said, "The bodies are so badly burned it may be many hours before we can tell who they were."

The sheriff's spokesman said conditions were very bad for visual flying — "It was very foggy and visibility was 'way down.'"

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration in Los Angeles said the plane was on an approach to the airport. He said visibility was reported as one-half mile in fog.

Subpoena Going to Clemente

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski has subpoenaed former President Nixon as a prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial of six former Nixon associates, it was announced today.

Nixon has already been subpoenaed by his former No. 2 aide, John D. Ehrlichman, to appear as a defense witness in the trial scheduled to begin Oct. 1.

Jaworski's office confirmed that the subpoena was issued Wednesday night and will be served on Nixon at his San Clemente estate by FBI agents.

"He's been subpoenaed to testify," a spokesman for Jaworski said. "We expect him to testify."

The Jaworski subpoena calls for Nixon to appear in U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's courtroom Oct. 1, even though he may not be called to the witness stand for several days.

A spokesman for the special prosecutor said its subpoena will not conflict with Ehrlichman's subpoena — indicating the possibility Nixon might appear both for the prosecution and defense.

There has been speculation as to whether Nixon will actually comply with the subpoenas and appear in person because of reports that he is in poor health and deeply depressed about his loss of the presidency.

Hurricane Fifi Rips Honduras; 200 Killed

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Hurricane Fifi struck the northern coast of Honduras today with 130-mile winds, storm tides and torrential rains which left a trail of death and destruction in the nation's worst storm in a century. Honduran authorities said the death toll is expected to exceed 200, and that in the region around the city of La Ceiba alone, 100 bodies have been counted. They estimated 100 other persons died elsewhere along the coast. Apparently most of the deaths were caused by drowning. After smashing through Honduras, Fifi turned its full force towards the tiny Caribbean country of Belize and was expected to hit there this afternoon. Most of the damage in Honduras was from flooding, with property and crop damage going into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Fifi devastated banana plantations, rice fields, bridges and highways, mowed down houses, and buildings of poor construction which could not withstand the flooding and the hurricane winds. Among cities reporting damage were San Pedro Sula, La Ceiba, Tela, Puerto Cortes, Trujillo, Puerto Castilla, Guajaca and the Bay Islands (Islas Bahias) off the coast. Honduran government authorities calculated that one-third of the country — comprising the nation's richest agricultural zone — was affected by the storm, although Fifi's rains covered virtually the entire country. Emergency relief committees were rushing aid to affected areas. At Puerto Cortes, Honduras' only oil refinery was reported isolated by flood waters. Weathermen said that on its present course Fifi's winds will sweep inland over the southernmost tip of Belize, just south of Punta Gorda, a city of 7,000 persons. The Belize government ordered hurricane precautions throughout the country, especially in the southern coastal sector. Dr. Neil Frank, chief of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said Fifi was the "worst hurricane to affect the north coast of Honduras this century."

Dogs Still Beating Bush For Arsonist

Search teams and tracking dogs from two counties were still beating the brush in rugged Santa Ana Canyon today, hunting for a man suspected of starting at least one major brush fire in Orange County last Sunday.

A spokesman for the Orange County Fire Department said half a dozen expert trackers with dogs in addition to about two dozen other officers are prowling the mountains near the Glen Ivy Boys Ranch in Riverside County.

"He was last seen a few days ago in this vicinity," the spokesman said. "He apparently stole some clothing and shoes from the ranch laundry so we aren't sure now what he is wearing."

The ranch is a former resort hotel now used to house juvenile delinquents. The only person who has seen the suspect up close was a state forest ranger who fired several rifle shots at him Sunday and missed.

He is described as a black man about six feet tall and weighing about 170 pounds, according to the spokesman.

It was thought at first the suspect was a prison parolee who formerly worked as a county firefighter but the fire department spokesman said that lead ran into a blank wall when the man was found asleep in his home Sunday night.

The spokesman said the arson suspect may have been responsible for setting a fire that burned down a meeting hall at the boys ranch Tuesday night.

The suspect has been sought since Sunday when he was spotted starting a fire in Holy Jim Canyon in Orange County that burned about 10 acres. He may also have started a similar blaze earlier Sunday in Trabuco Canyon, which also scorched 10 acres.

and they never stopped ringing."

Phillips said he understood telephones in three Newport Beach branches also "were kept busy" during the service crunch.

"Thanks to the efforts of our people here we were able to keep pace with priority mail but out of necessity had to give bulk mailings a back seat," he added.

Phillips said that in the case of a postmaster vacancy, such as exists in Newport Beach, an "officer in charge" is assigned for a maximum period of 120 days.

"So far, there's been two of us assigned here and the 120-day period has expired for both of us," he said.

Thayer retired in mid-November, 1973. Phillips said he "can only assume" a permanent replacement for him will be named by the postal service's Selection Advisory Board in "the very near future."

Volcano Spews Lava

HONOLULU (UPI) — Halemauau crater on the Kilauea volcano erupted early today, blasting fountains of lava 60 to 80 feet into the sky. Scientists at the volcano observatory overlooking the volcano said the violent eruption followed the pattern of a similar eruption in September 1971.

Senate Votes Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, by a vote of 64 to 35, cleared a pay raise for 3.5 million civilian and military employees today, handing President Ford's economic policy its first setback in Congress.

The Senate refused Ford's request, backed by a last-minute plea, to postpone the pay increase by three months and cut government spending by $700 million. As a result, the 5.52 percent increase will go into effect Oct. 1 instead of Jan. 1 as proposed by Ford.

The owner of this car obviously doesn't believe in signs, but this one, in the parking lot of a Mt. Clemens, Mich., church, may carry a heavier penalty than a $5 parking ticket. But then, let he who is without a parking space grab the first spot.

Approval Near on Measure To Safeguard Nixon Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee today was expected to approve a proposal to prevent former President Nixon from destroying his Watergate tapes.

The joint resolution by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield would negate the agreement between Nixon and the White House on the tapes and make them public.

If signed by President Ford, the resolution would have the full effect of law. There is strong support in the House for a similar proposal.

The Mansfield resolution is part of a growing clamor in Congress for a full report on Nixon's actions in the Watergate scandal.

The resolution before the Government Operations Committee provides that all the White House documents and tapes compiled during the Nixon years would become public property. All would be made public except those protected by national security.

Under the agreement between Nixon and the White House, the former president would get custody of the tapes in three years, and would be allowed to destroy them. The agreement provides that the tapes be destroyed should Nixon die sooner.

Two of the most vocal critics are members of the operations committee — Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.), and Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.).

The committee will later consider legislation by Javits making all presidential documents public property. Two-thirds of Nixon's presidential files have been shipped to San Clemente, according to White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig.

Haig said that "absolutely normal procedures" are being followed, although a truck ready to carry away some of Nixon's papers in the week after his health condition "was held up temporarily to make sure no evidentiary material was being shipped."

"There was nothing spooky about it," Haig said.

In a clarification later, he reported that the transfer had been stopped at the request of J. Fred Buzhardt, one of Nixon's Watergate lawyers, until it could be determined that none of the papers was needed for pending legal suits.

Haig denied reports that "burn bags" and paper shredders were brought in to dispose of some of the documents.

San Clemente today to be with him.

Should Nixon's lawyer argue that his health does not permit him to testify, Sirica could appoint a doctor to visit the former president to determine whether he would stand the rigors of testimony in a long trial. If Nixon were found fit to testify but failed to appear, he could be cited for contempt.

Ehrlichman and five other former Nixon aides and associates are scheduled to be tried on charges of covering up the Watergate scandal. The same grand jury that indicted them also named Nixon as an undicted co-conspirator.

Nixon cannot face criminal charges for any role he might have had in the cover-up because he was pardoned by President Ford. But the pardon also removed Nixon's option of pleading the 5th Amendment.

Mesan Faces Prison Term In Slaying

A Costa Mesa gardener booked on murder charges after he stabbed his father during an argument about the younger man's drinking habits has pleaded guilty to lesser charges.

Orange County Superior Court Judge Byron K. McMillan, cancelled the scheduled trial of Daniel Rios Rivera, 23, of 2505 Orange Ave., and accepted his plea of guilty to charges of voluntary manslaughter.

He sent Rivera to the state's Chino facility for a pre-sentencing diagnostic study. Rivera will be sentenced Dec. 16 to what could be a state prison term of one to 15 years.

Rivera was arrested last May 26 shortly after the fatally wounded Raymond Pena Rivera, 50, crawled from the apartment he shared with his son to a neighbor's home. He died before medical aid could reach him.

Police said Rivera told them he became enraged when his father upbraided him for drinking and further argued with him over their joint use of the telephone in the apartment.

Rivera said he drew his pocket knife, plunged it twice into the older man's chest and then slumped into a chair while his mortally wounded father crept on hands and knees from the apartment.

INDIANS . . .

At Boise, Idaho, Gov. Cecil Andrus warned that he would send state troopers to arrest anyone attempting to set up a roadblock.

Wheaton said the governor told him it was his duty to enforce the state's laws "regardless of the consequences." But the tribe spokesman said the governor's decision would not deter the Indians.

Wheaton said the situation could become a repeat of the trouble at Wounded Knee, S.D., where Indians were locked in combat with the federal government.

The Kootenai said their tribe did receive some cash payment for the land several years ago but this was not enough. They said that despite the reservation and cash payments they wanted fishing and hunting rights.

Thompson's wife said: "At the request of the President, the bureau is in the process of preparing a reply to the Sept. 11, 1974, letter to the president of the United States. We are currently reviewing the material you have submitted and will respond promptly."

The commissioner also said the Justice Department has been asked to send a representative to meetings over the dispute.

Wheaton said at the heart of the issue was the poverty of the Kootenais themselves.

"We are about 300 percent below the poverty level, only about one-fourth of this once-powerful nation of native Americans here have steady jobs — most of them earn 'quick money' during the harvest time," he explained.

The spokesman said there were several "entrapments" on the drawing board once the tribe is given its reservation and these would provide economic stability for the members.

Church Name Change

Macon, Ga. (AP) — The General Assembly of the nine-month-old National Presbyterian Church voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to change its name to the National Reform Presbyterian Church. The move came after a complaint from the National Presbyterian Church and Center of Washington, D.C., which said the reform church's previous name resembled its own too closely.

Kennedy Candid Would Discuss Personal Tragedy

HOBART, Ind. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says that if he decides to run for president he will answer any questions raised about Chappaquiddick. The Massachusetts Democrat, here Wednesday for a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, said he would "respond to questions and do the best I could" on the controversy surrounding the accident. Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge into deep water off Chappaquiddick Island in July 1969. He said, "I have indicated it was a very deep personal tragedy. I have accepted full responsibility for it and full regret for the incident. I would respond to any questions." Demonstrators who said they opposed a possible presidential bid by Kennedy, marched outside when he appeared at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Lake County Democratic candidates. They also sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee," while Kennedy spoke. "Nobody Drowned in Watergate," one of the signs carried by the demonstrators said.

November Ballot Rowlands Not Guessing Outcome of Tax Voting

By TERRY COVILLE Of the Daily Pilot Staff City Administrator Dave Rowlands isn't willing to predict the outcome of a March 4 transfer tax election in Huntington Beach until after voters cast their ballots on a related issue Nov. 5. "November is the critical election," Rowlands said in an interview. "If the majority of the people say they favor a trash collection fee and a higher utility tax, then the council will give that consideration." "But if the November election turns the other way (favoring a transfer tax), the city can use that for its argument in the March election." On Nov. 5, voters will have a choice between taxes. They can either support the real estate transfer tax, or advise the council to drop it and impose a monthly trash collection fee and increase the already existing utility tax. In March, there will be a straight "yes" or "no" ballot on which the controversial transfer tax could be dumped and the city prohibited from ever using it without first holding an election. The November measure is purely advisory and the council is not obligated to do anything after it, though councilmen have said they would probably follow the will of the people. They surprised critics of the transfer tax Monday night by giving the go ahead for the March election, even though they had previously indicated they would not allow such an election until April, 1976. Shirley Commons, president of the Huntington Beach-Fountain Valley Board of Realtors, said her group, which fought the transfer tax, is quite happy with the March election. She said the realtors may not take any stand on the November issue. "The board of directors will meet Tuesday to discuss whether we want to take any public stand on the November issue," Mrs. Commons said today. "I'm inclined to ignore it. It doesn't mean anything — purely advisory." Rowlands, however, feels the November vote is critical in determining how the people really feel about methods of taxing. Asked what he would do in March, if the people knock out the transfer tax, Rowlands said he'd rather not tackle that until he has to face it. "We have a tight budget now and I personally wouldn't recommend any cutbacks. But if the city council wants to do that, I'll do whatever they direct," he said. Meanwhile, as the debate continues, so does the transfer tax. City Treasurer Warren Hall says the city has so far collected about $80,000 to $90,000 over the first six weeks it has been in effect. The tax will be collected until the outcome of the March election is known, or councilmen order a change.

Democracy Shattered?

Schlesinger Assails Ford Move in Speech

By ALAN DIRKIN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Author-historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr. has criticized provisions of the 25th amendment which allowed President Ford and Vice President-designate Nelson Rockefeller to be appointed to office rather than elected.

On the eve of the bicentennial, he said Wednesday, the nation is no longer headed by a democratic government.

Schlesinger, two-time winner of the Pulitzer Prize and a special assistant to President Kennedy, spoke at Cal State, Long Beach, at the opening of a symposium on "The State of American Society 1974." The symposium marks the university's 25th anniversary.

Schlesinger called for the repeal of the 25th amendment and for the enactment of provisions guaranteeing an election to fill a vacated presidential term.

He also attacked the vice presidency and said the office should be abolished.

Schlesinger recalled for students in the crowded auditorium that in the same year that President Nixon resigned President Georges Pompidou of France died before his term was completed. But in less than two months, the French had elected a new national leader.

"Which government is more legitimate? Which is more democratic?" Schlesinger asked. "The French formula or ours?"

The history professor, whose topic was "The Condition of American Democracy: Thoughts After Watergate," noted that Ford owed his office to his predecessor, former President Nixon, and reminded the students that Nixon's preferred choice for vice president after Spiro Agnew was former Democrat John Connally, facing trial on charges of taking a bribe in the decision over milk price supports.

Schlesinger, who holds an endowed chair at the City University of New York, said there was almost nothing to be said for the vice presidency. In designating Nelson Rockefeller for the office, Ford "put one of the most hyperactive men in the country into the greatest non-job in the country."

He noted that some observers felt Ford may yield power to Rockefeller, but Schlesinger doubted it because no President in the past has ever delegated responsibility to men he cannot hire and fire.

"If they surmount past objections and do work out a sharing of the burden, the inescapable fact remains that the vice president's only serious job is to wait for the President to die — hardly a basis for a cordial and enduring friendship."

Schlesinger predicted that Rockefeller was facing frustration if he hoped to find power in the vice presidency.

The speaker took issue with those who advocated adoption of the British parliamentary form of government as a method to prevent future abuses of Presidential power. Schlesinger argued that the British parliamentary system rather than providing a greater check on the executive by the legislature tended to strengthen the executive and weaken the legislature.

This could be done by the executive calling or threatening to call elections.

He said that Watergate would not have been heard of if it had occurred in Britain and contended that the coup of the British decision to land paratroops on Suez 20 years ago was still going on.

Schlesinger said that the essential lesson of Watergate was that the balance was lost between presidential power and the accountability of the president to Congress and the nation.

The way to restore the balance was with consciousness raising so that the nation would have a President who would hold himself accountable to a Congress that would discharge — is responsibility in holding the President accountable.

Schlesinger said that presidential worship had led to Watergate and that Americans "should never forget that the President is simply a politician luckier than the rest, one who has made it to the top of the greedy pole."

The professor loudly condemned Ford's pardon of Nixon, which he saw as destroying national confidence in the U.S. system of even-handed justice.

Tending that "Mr. Nixon mistakes San Clemente for Elba" (the island of Italy where Napoleon was exiled) Schlesinger said that Nixon even in his resignation did not see his presidency dying of self-inflicted wounds. "He talked as if he was the victim of a hit and run driver."

Reminding the students that in a message to Congress as President, Nixon had said that the way to attack crime

'NO LONGER DEMOCRACY' Historian Schlesinger was without pity, Schlesinger rejected the argument that Nixon had suffered enough.

"The greater the trust, the greater the betrayal of trust and this by all logic calls for greater punishment," the speaker said to resounding cheers from the students.

The greatest good in the pardoning of Nixon that Schlesinger could find was that Ford, by this one act, had ended the euphoria surrounded him and the office.

"We must treasure this skepticism of presidents which Ford has restored to us," Schlesinger concluded.

'Really Big'

Star to Retire in County

By JACK CHAPPELL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A 78-year-old star of stage, screen and ring retired in an exclusive local leisure life community Wednesday.

The retiring luminary is not your average star either. She is a really big star.

She is Modoc, a 9,180-pound elephant. Modoc will be spending her golden years at Lion Country Safari in Irvine.

At 78 the world's oldest known elephant, Modoc is the former center ring star of the Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus. She, has performed in hundreds of movies, was once ridden by Jimmy Stewart, and starred recently in the television series "Daktari."

"She is leaving show business. We're quite excited about having her here," Jerry Kobrin, a Lion Country executive, said.

The sprawling preserve-tourist attraction already has 10 elephants — all of them African. Modoc is an Indian elephant.

Her owner, Ralph D. Helfer, said he had papers showing that Modoc was brought to the United States from India in 1898 when she was two years old.

The Guinness Book of Records lists the oldest elephant as Jessica, another Asian beast who died in a zoo in Australia at the age of 69. She was destroyed because she had developed abscesses on her feet and found it painful to walk. Most elephants live to be about 60.

Helfer said that Modoc, who was known professionally as "Mighty Mo," was appearing in the circus in New England 30 years ago when a fire broke out among the cages housing lions, tigers, and other wild animals.

Modoc was hitched to several of the cages and pulled the animals to safety. At Lion Country Safari, she will have an area all her own separate from the other elephants. Being of a different variety and much younger, they might attack Modoc who long ago lost her tusks, according to Kobrin.

In a ceremony at the park, onetime home of the late lamented Frasier, the sensuous lion, senior citizens from nearby Leisure World drove here to present Modoc with a wreath of sweet peas, alfalfa and hay which she promptly ate.

Leary's Son, Other Figures Berate Him

From Wire Services

SAN FRANCISCO — Dr. Timothy Leary has been denounced by his son and leftist figures who said the former "high priest of LSD" is lying to incriminate friends in secret grand jury testimony.

"The government has forced Timothy Leary to lie and fabricate to get out of jail," Jerry Rubin, a former defendant in the Chicago 7 conspiracy trial, charged here Wednesday.

Rubin, underground poet Allen Ginsberg and Leary's son, Jack Leary, told a news conference that the federal government may have drugged and terrorized the former Laguna Beach resident to extract testimony that could lead to imprisonment of leftists.

Rubin said the government is trying to "take our attention off of Watergate and related matters."

"The people who are today directing Leary's testimony before a federal grand jury in Chicago are the same people who were working under John Mitchell and Robert Mardian in the Justice Department," Rubin said.

"He's helping build the very jails that he once worked to break down. He's trying to give his jail cell to someone else."

Jack Leary, 25, son of the former Harvard University professor, said: "Timothy has become a government informer and his actions come as no surprise to me. Based on past experience, I can say Timothy can lie when he knows it will benefit him. "He likes to create fantastic stories which he gets caught up in and then can't distinguish from the truth."

Ginsberg, who rose to prominence during the beatnik era in the 1950s, said Leary saw himself as "a spiritual president clearing the Karma blackboard by creating a hippie Watergate."

Ginsberg read a poetic "44 temporary questions about Dr. Leary" which asked, "Is his head upside down?"

Speakers said the news conference fears were bolstered by recent California indictment, based on Leary's testimony, against George Chula, a Costa Mesa lawyer who once represented him for free.

They also noted that Leary now is represented by John Doyle, a former Justice Department attorney who handled "witch hunts against New York radicals in 1971." They said Doyle has told people names of numerous persons who may be indicted.

Ken Kelley, former publisher of Sundance magazine, said the news conference was arranged by a new group called PILL — People Investigating Leary's Lies. PILL issued a statement with 120 signatures, including many of luminary of the youth and radical cultures.

The speakers condemned testimony allegedly rendered by Leary in Chicago against underground political groups and former friends for their alleged role in his escape from the California Men's Colony at San Luis Obispo in 1970 where he was being held on a drug conviction.

At the time he allegedly agreed to give secret testimony to a grand jury, Leary was at Folsom prison facing a possible 25-year-jail term for his escape and for two prior drug convictions, Rubin said.

U.S. Atty. James Thompson of Chicago, where it has been reported that the federal grand jury is meeting, has denied any knowledge of a grand jury considering indictment based on testimony from Leary.

Leary was last known to be at Terminal Island federal prison in Los Angeles and was moved Aug. 2 to an "undisclosed location by the state of California," said Warden Jack Wise of Terminal Island.

The press conference was unusual by most standards, with musicians playing flutes and stringed instruments while Ginsberg began his segment of the conference by chanting a monotone "Ohhmmmm."

During Rubin's statement, Dr. Eugene Schoenfeld, who once wrote a counter-culture medical column, bounced up to the speaker's table clad in a boxing kangaroo costume and threw a plastic-covered pig plate in Rubin's face.

Bab Ram Dass, who as Richard Albert was Leary's associate and was ousted along with Leary from a Harvard teaching post a decade ago, said Leary always told imaginative tales when it suited his purpose.

"I can vouch for the fact that Timothy can't keep a bankbook," he said in reference to a charge Leary masterminded a smuggling ring. "If he were running the hippie Mafia, believe me, it would not be profit making."

Economic Attack

Hinshaw Urges Halting Of Aliens In Job Drive

By WILLIAM SCHREIBER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A million jobs now held by illegal aliens in the United States could be opened up through passage of tough new laws and a bolstered force of immigration officers, Rep. Andrew Hinshaw (R-Newport Beach) said Wednesday.

Hinshaw said he has recommended in a letter to President Gerald Ford that a massive crackdown on illegal alien traffic be launched as part of the administration's attack on economic problems.

The congressman said he decided on that course of action after hearing testimony in his House subcommittee on legal and monetary affairs by Leonard Chapman, former Marine Corps Commandant and present head of the federal Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS).

"Chapman says at least one million jobs each year are held by illegals across the nation of which 135,000 are in the Los Angeles area alone," Hinshaw said.

Breaking down the Los Angeles area figure, Hinshaw said, 50,000 are in service-related jobs, 50,000 in light industry, 29,000 in heavy industry and 6,000 in agriculture.

Hinshaw said Chapman's responses to questions concerning the figures led subcommittee members to believe that ousting the illegals from the country and keeping out most new ones, "could have a dramatic impact on unemployment."

Hinshaw said about 4.9 million people are jobless across the nation.

"Even if we could only expect to get 10 percent of those jobs opened, the impact would be significant," Hinshaw said. "But Chapman is certain the one million figure is realistic given certain factors."

Hinshaw said the key factors Chapman said would create an impact on the illegal alien traffic include:

— Quick passage of laws like one pending in the Senate by Rep. Peter Rodino (D-New Jersey) making it a federal crime for employers to knowingly hire illegal aliens.

— An additional appropriation of $50 million for the INS to pay for new personnel and final improvements to a new border crossing system that is thought to be "imposter-proof."

— Radical shifts in existing INS personnel that would reduce inland and farm checks for aliens, decrease the number of INS men on the Canadian border and significantly increase the forces at the Mexican border.

— Tough support from the Ford administration of all legitimate crackdowns on the alien problem.

Hinshaw's subcommittee, part of the House Committee on Governmental Affairs, has been participating in a probe of alleged corruption in the INS that may be contributing to the alien problem.

In his testimony, Chapman told the panel he has been spending nine months cleaning house and tightening his internal security.

"The flood of illegal entries we are experiencing will become a torrent unless resources and legislation are forthcoming," Chapman told the subcommittee Wednesday.

"I want to emphasize to the committee my strong belief that we are possibly on the brink of what could become a national crisis unless action is taken very soon," Chapman added.

Hinshaw said, "I don't think Chapman was overstating the situation one bit."

The congressman said the $50 million supplemental funding, Chapman requested could go much farther toward solving national unemployment than the $4 billion national public employment program Ford is now considering.

"The results would be quick in coming, not spaced out over many years," Hinshaw said. "I think the key to this is action by Congress to pass the Rodino legislation and begin this practical solution immediately."

Hinshaw said his staff's research into the problem, along with testimony by Chapman and others over the past 18 months has yielded some noteworthy information, including:

— The supposition that pressure on Mexicans to immigrate illegally is growing rapidly. An estimated 40 percent of the current work force of 20 million people in Mexico is either unemployed, underemployed or employed only seasonally, Hinshaw said.

— The fact that INS manpower shortages have created a backlog of 155,000 unprocessed applications from aliens who want to enter the country legally.

— The fact that more than a third of the estimated 350,000 farm workers employed annually in the San Joaquin Valley are illegals.

Armed Recluse Slain by Police

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — An 89-year-old man, who apparently secluded himself in his apartment for several days after he was served with a temporary eviction notice, was shot and killed here during a gun battle with policemen.

Four policemen were injured Wednesday night during the shootout with the man, identified as Fred Featherstone, but none was hurt seriously.

Patrolmen used 17 tear gas bombs to try to flush the man out of the apartment, "but each time the old man responded with a blast from his shotgun," an officer said.

Nepal Imports Sacrifices

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — Nepal will import 10,000 mountain goats and sheep from Tibet next month to be used for sacrifices during the Hindu festival of Desain.

The animals will be offered to the goddess Durga Bhawani to keep her in good humor.

For the past few years, Tibet has been exporting the animals to Nepal during the Hindu festival — when demand outstrips supply.

Getting High In Hawaii

EYE IN THE SKY: Ever wonder what happened to the construction kick of throwing up high rise buildings along our Orange Coast? It almost seems like a dead novelty in these parts.

Man, the builder, has always wanted to construct something just a little bit taller than his neighbor. Put up a 16-foot tepee and the next thing you know, your neighbor has built a 20-foot wigwam.

When civilization advanced to solid structures, the same sort of thing happened. For years, our coastline seemed constricted to short, flat beach cottages. But Newport Beach got on a high rise kick in the late 1950s and early 60s. Costa Mesa got tall buildings like Bethel Towers, Civic Center and Southern California College and then the high rise kick cooled.

LAGUNA BEACH has a few tall buildings in disguise with structures dribbled over edges of cliffs — short on the highway but tall looking up from the beach and shoreline.

Art Colony residents got so exercised about all this that they passed an anti-tall building law a few years back. About the last real surge in multi-story construction we've seen in along our coastline is at the Irvine Company's Newport Center.

Maybe all the lack of enthusiasm has come from new strictures of the coastal commission. Or maybe scarcity of dollars or, who knows?

If you think man has given up construction of tall buildings, however, you have another thing coming.

TALL BUILDERS aren't dead; they've just moved to Hawaii. Condominium apartments are going up everywhere. They sell out Hawaiian condominiums before the foundation pilings are in.

Wags suggest that the Hawaiian state bird is now the construction crane. Indeed, the tall spindle-like steel cranes with long necks and steel cables lifting construction material seem to loom over every palm tree grove.

In Honolulu, Oahu, along the famed Waikiki Beach high rise hotels have long been a way of life. Now along Waikiki, they are even tearing down tall buildings to make room for taller ones.

This has resulted in a recent wire service dispatch from Honolulu wherein it reports tourists are greatly annoyed by the piledriver just across the street from Waikiki Beach.

IT BEGINS POUNDING at 8 a.m. and continues shaking the waterfront until 5 p.m. This started in mid-June for construction of twin 40-story hotels to be called the Hemmeter Center.

Tourists have been calling them something else. Even if you stay at a hotel way down by Diamond Head, the distant Waikiki piledriver can be heard in early morn.

How would you like to have hocked the family farm for a week in one of Waikiki's plush hotels and be greeted each morning by a pounding head you didn't even deserve?

FRUSTRATED HAWAIIAN authorities are rushing in sound experts to solve the problem. Maybe they'll force all the high rise builders out of the island state.

Could be. But you can bet the men who must build tall will fold up their cranes and pop up elsewhere. Maybe Alaska is next.

Palestinians Disavow Act By Terrorists

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Both the Palestine leadership and the Syrian government sought today to disassociate their guerrilla movement from the Japanese Red Army terrorists who held 11 persons hostage in the French Embassy in the Netherlands.

The Paris office of the Palestine Liberation Organization said the PLO "never asked the Syrian authorities to hand over the three men and had nothing to do with The Hague affair." The Syrian government earlier backed off from an announcement that the terrorists were in PLO custody for the time being. Observers felt the Syrian and PLO moves were aimed at keeping the Palestinian cause from being hurt at a time when the Palestinians are campaigning for U.N. recognition as a liberation movement.

Slaying Suspect
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Police have arrested a 27-year-old man on what they called "solid evidence" linking him to the slayings of two white youths last June, and indicated three or four more arrests would be made soon.

Police arrested John Jacob Duggan Jr. early Wednesday at the home of a legal secretary on an open charge of murder.

The bodies of Stephen Lamont Roberts, 17, and Stephen S. Orlando, 18, a New Jersey police lieutenant's son, were found with notes pinned to their bodies boasting that the youths were "victims of execution" by a group called "The Black Liberation Army."

Oil Bill Approved
WASHINGTON (UPI) — By a vote of 64 to 23, the Senate has approved legislation designed to facilitate "rapid and responsible" commercial exploitation of oil and gas under the nation's offshore waters.

The bill would direct the Secretary of Interior to draw up a program to make available — with guaranteed environmental safeguards — leasing of all Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) lands that show promise of oil or gas.

Artists Freed
MOSCOW (UPI) — The last of five persons arrested on hooliganism charges arising from Sunday's abortive attempt to stage an abstract art show have been released, a show organizer said today.

Artist Alexander Glazer said fellow artist Alexander Rabin, 22, and photographer Vladimir Sechov, 28, were freed about midnight Wednesday by police who told them: "Justice has been done — go home."

Police even gave them the 13-cent subway fare.

Surgery Separates Girls; 'They'll Be Very Happy'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Separated by surgery which took 6½ hours, Siamese twin girls from the Dominican Republic slept in separate cribs for the first time in their 13 months of life.

"I know of no reason why they won't live," Dr. C. Everett Koop said after the long operation carried out on Wednesday by 23 surgeons and nurses at Children's Hospital.

"They were two healthy little girls together. We have every reason to believe they'll be two healthy girls apart," said Koop, who headed the surgical team. He said not only are both girls expected to live, but that they should lead very normal lives and even bear their own children.

CLARA AND ALTAGRACIA Rodriguez, who had been joined since birth at the pelvis and abdomen, were given their own complete sets of internal organs during the surgical operation.

In the initial recovery stage, Clara and Altigracia were placed in two beds, but they will be treated in the same bed later to prevent possible psychological trauma resulting from separation after living as one being up until now, hospital spokeswoman Shirley Bonnem said.

She said the tots were doing "extremely well." Mrs. Farida Rodriguez and her twins came here 11 days ago from a farm outside Santo Domingo. When her daughters were born on Aug. 12, 1973, Mrs. Rodriguez said she was told they would die. Other doctors told her they would live into adulthood but could never be separated.

BUT MRS. RODRIGUEZ'S cousin worked for an American woman in Puerto Rico, who told her sister in Pennsylvania about the Siamese twins. Dianna Zimnoch of Warrington, Pa., arranged for the operation and her church raised the funds. Mrs. Rodriguez, whose husband remained at home, has three other children.

The operation started at 6:15 a.m. and the girls were finally separated almost 6½ hours later, at 12:37 p.m.

Their joint liver was divided. This was possible because both had separate blood supplies to the organ. Their crossed ureters were sorted out to empty into the correct bladders from the kidneys.

President Ford Tells Affection for Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford publicly announced his affection for the press as he took part in the inauguration of the first male president of the 55-year-old Washington Press Club.

Lingering at the party for new President Ron Sarro of the Washington Star-News amid a crush of some 500 guests, Ford said of the news media staffers:

"I love them. I even love them after Monday night," a reference to his news conference at which the questioning was predominantly on his pardon of former President Nixon.

"I ENJOY THEIR company. I love the competition," Ford said.

As for the news conference sparring, he said, "I really look forward to it. I hope I give as much as I take. I don't feel any animosity to anyone for asking a question."

The president lit his pipe and sipped a martini as he and Mrs. Ford sat at an outdoor patio table after swearing in Sarro at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel.

In the long history of the Press Club, five U.S. Presidents have come to speak, but Ford was the first to take part in the inauguration.

He gave a joke-filled speech.

"YOU PEOPLE sure know how to hurt a fella," he said laughingly, adding "I have proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that you don't need a pool at the White House to get into deep water."

His oath for Sarro included a pledge to defend the Washington Press Club "against all forms of chauvinism."

Saluting the club "for breaking down the barriers of sexual discrimination," Ford said, "I'm sure you all know where I stand on this issue. As I prove every morning at breakfast time, I certainly don't believe that a woman's place is in the kitchen."

Sarro, 36, of Cranston, R.I., an assistant national editor of the Washington Star-News, takes over as head of the 650-member press club that was started in 1919 as the Women's National Press Club, because the National Press Club barred women from membership. In 1971, the club changed its name and admitted qualified male journalists.

Regime Recognized

LONDON (AP) — Britain has decided to recognize the new military regime in Ethiopia that deposed Haile Selassie as emperor, informed sources reported today. The Foreign Office was expected to announce the decision shortly.

Arms, Troop Reductions Chief Goals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today the United States will try to reach agreements with Moscow on nuclear limitations and troop reduction but opposed using trade policy to change emigration restrictions on Soviet Jews.

"We face an opportunity that was not possible 25 years, or even a decade ago," Kissinger said in a statement prepared for a Senate Foreign Relations Committee inquiry into U.S.-U.S.S.R. detente. "If that opportunity is lost, its moment will not quickly come again. 'Indeed, it may not come at all.'"

KISSINGER OUTLINED the origins and accomplishments of detente in a 50-page policy statement.

He also promised to strive in the coming months to complete negotiations for strategic arms limitations through 1985, finish negotiations on mutual force reductions in central Europe, conclude a conference of European security and cooperation and continue efforts to limit the spread of nuclear weapons to additional countries.

But Kissinger said cold war doctrines would be revived if the United States tried to use economic pressure to change the Soviet system, achieve a military superiority or deny benefits to the Soviet Union.

Kissinger said the United States will use maximum influence to alleviate human suffering. "But we cannot demand that the Soviet Union, in effect, suddenly reverse five decades of Soviet and centuries of Russian history," he added.

IN AN APPARENT reference to congressional efforts to use trade policy as a wedge for changes in Soviet emigration policy, Kissinger said "such an attempt would be futile and at the same time hazardous that has been achieved." "A renewal of the cold war will hardly encourage the Soviet Union to change its emigration policies or adopt a more benevolent attitude toward dissent," he said.

Kissinger said the Soviets could wreck detente if they used it as a cover to strengthen their military capacity, undermine U.S. alliances or increase world tensions through crises.

"If . . . we look for final results before we agree to any results, then we would be reviving the doctrines of liberation and massive retaliation of the 1950's," he said.

"And we would do so at a time when Soviet physical power and influence on the world are greater than a quarter century ago when those policies were devised and failed. The futility of such a course is as certain as its danger."

He said the goal of the current strategic arms limitations talks (SALT) is an agreement for a 10-year period to set ceilings on strategic forces.

BORDELLO MADAM CLICKED AT BAR

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Many an elector in the state assembly district of bordellogo operator Beverly Harrell hoisted a glass of spirits in her honor during the recent primary campaign.

Ms. Harrell, who received the Democratic Assembly nomination, disclosed Wednesday that she ran up $435 in bar tabs in woeing voters. She said she did most of her stumping at the plank.

In all, she said, her campaign fund was depleted of $2,767.

Crusade Fervor NY Not the Same After Rev. Moon

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Sun Myung Moon's spiritual crusade is Philadelphia-bound, but his message and the retorts of his critics lingered on here in a litter of posters, pamphlets and flyers.

The self-proclaimed Korean prophet on Wednesday night drew a capacity crowd of 20,000 to Madison Square Garden for a free rally. Ten thousand more were turned away.

Moon's opponents, claiming to represent Mennonites, Baptists, Jews for Jesus, pentecostals, and socialists, gathered outside to picket and distribute leaflets. They condemned Moon as an anti-Christ, opportunist and a "fascist, millionaire preacher."

IMPROMPTU RELIGIOUS debate resulted. So did a mountain of trash from discarded leaflets of all sides. Moon's Unification Church spent $600,000 on an advertising blitz to promote the Garden revival. The city, complaining that the posters and leaflets made for messy ministry, issued summonses to five Moon followers. One Queens overpass reportedly was plastered with 2,500 likenesses of the smiling preacher, who resembles a Buddha in a business suit.

Gunfire Misses Officer Posted At Boston School

BOSTON (UPI) — A policeman was shot at but missed as he stood guard outside Jamaica Plain High School today in the Dorchester section of Boston on the sixth day of a court-ordered plan to integrate the city's schools.

Detective Thomas M. Smith was standing in front of the school when he heard a shot. He was not injured.

It was the first time a shot had been fired during the tense week the busing plan has been in effect. Police recovered a bullet, but it was not known if the shot was fired from a passing car. It also was not immediately known if it was a rifle or pistol shot.

In other developments, a fist fight and argument broke out between white and black youths near Woodrow Wilson High School in Dorchester, and seven members of the American Nazi Party were ordered out of the city.

Officials said there were no injuries nor arrests in the "verbal confrontation and scuffle" near the school just as classes were about to begin.

About 100 white students refused to attend classes at the school following the fight.

Authorities refused to take seriously reports that members of the Ku Klux Klan would show up in force to help fight the busing. Two persons who contend they are members of the KKK were known to be in Boston. Police said both were under surveillance.

David Duke of Baton Rouge, La., self-styled grand dragon of the KKK, said he would fly to Boston today to try organizing resistance to busing.

POLICE SAID THAT ABOUT 10,000 would-be spectators had to be turned away from the free rally when the Garden's 20,000 seats quickly became filled. About 380,000 tickets had been passed out, police added.

At one point, part of the disappointed overflow crowd tried to stampeed through an entrance and knocked many persons to the ground. There were no serious injuries, police said.

In a two-hour speech, Moon said through an interpreter that God told him to get the world ready for the second coming of the messiah who will establish both a sin-free family and God's heaven on earth.

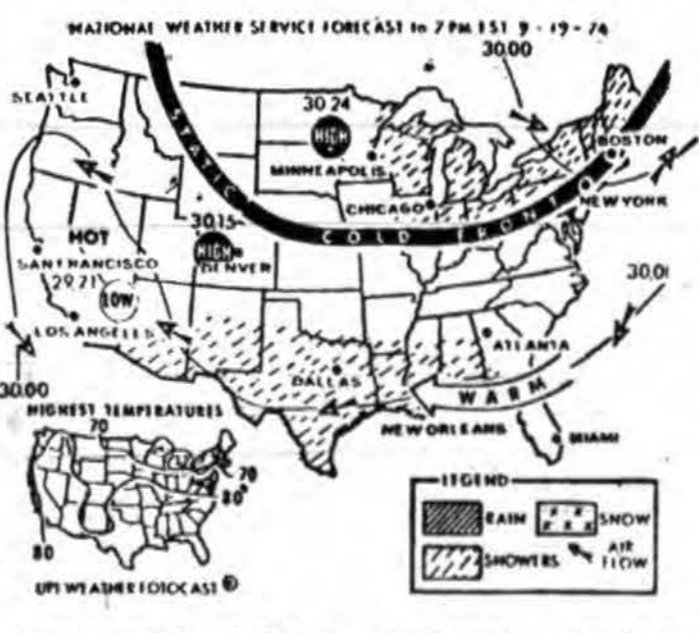

"God asked me to declare that that day is at hand," concluded the exhausted preacher, who had lost half of his audience by the end of the marathon speech.

Pension Repeal? 'No Way'

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A special legislative session to repeal the $5.7 million pension bonus for lawmakers would be useless, Gov. Ronald Reagan says, and he will not call one.

Despite Reagan's comments, a spokesman for the author of a bill to wipe out the windfall for defeated legislators said efforts to gain support for the extra session will continue.

"I WOULD HAVE been delighted to call a special session," Reagan told a group of high school students in the Capitol Wednesday, "except that there is no sense in going through all that cost for a useless exercise."

"I have checked with the legislative leadership to see if I call a special session if there was any hope in getting it done now. I was told there was none," the Republican chief executive said.

The remarks came in response to questions from students from three state high schools during a taping session of the "Young People's Television Series" which features Reagan.

"THE LEGISLATURE had three chances to make these changes and they didn't do it," Reagan added.

Despite Reagan's stand, the spokesman for Assemblyman Bob McLennan (R-Downey), said a letter asking for a special session is still being circulated among legislators.

McLennan authored a bill — killed during the final days of the regular legislative session in August — that would have ended the huge early pension bonuses.

Forced Drug Sentencing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — David Marcus was ordered to return to court Oct. 9 for sentencing after pleading guilty to possessing dangerous drugs in connection with the drugging of a Playboy bunny.

Marcus, 31, reportedly gave a glass of grape juice spiked with hallucinogenic MDA to Joyce Williams, 25, and attempted to force her into certain sex acts.

Miss Williams was confined to a hospital for five weeks for psychiatric treatment following the incident.

Vesco Call Girl Suspect Arrested

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A West Hollywood woman who reportedly has admitted supplying call girls to fugitive financier Robert L. Vesco, has been arrested and booked for investigation of pimping and pandering.

Betty Alexander, 31, told a Los Angeles County sheriff's detective she sent call girls to Costa Rica, where Vesco is a fugitive, said Sheriff's Lt. Robert Ciulik.

He would not elaborate on the six-month investigation of the woman, who was arrested late Wednesday. But Ciulik said the investigation had nothing to do with the Vesco case.

Vesco is under federal indictment on charges stemming from a secret $200,000 contribution to the re-election campaign of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Ciulik alleged the woman has supplied more than 25 young women to prominent businessmen, professional men and entertainers in Los Angeles County during the past several years.

She was booked for investigation on two counts each of pimping — deriving income from activities of prostitutes — and pandering — soliciting persons to become prostitutes.

Reinecke Stays If Pardoned?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Could Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke remain in office if he is pardoned before being sentenced?

Assemblyman Ken Cory, the Democratic candidate for controller, asked California Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger for a formal opinion on the question Wednesday.

Cory, of Garden Grove, wrote Younger, "Your opinion has been that Mr. Reinecke can continue to serve as lieutenant governor of California until such time as sentence has been passed on him."

"Does it follow therefore, that, in your opinion, a pardon of Mr. Reinecke by President Ford prior to the former's formal sentencing, would enable Mr. Reinecke to serve the balance of his term?"

Reinecke was convicted in July of lying to a Senate committee about his conversations with then-U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell on a pledge by International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. to underwrite the 1972 Republican National Convention in San Diego.

Girl Scouts Picket Due To Dues

OAKLAND (AP) — Cookie and calendar sales weren't enough to offset inflation so the local Girl Scout council announced it was boosting membership dues from $2 to $17.

Outraged scouts and troop leaders picketed the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout council on Wednesday to protest the $15 increase in dues, but they calmed down when informed the hike was voluntary.

Girl Scout Council officials said the slack from those who couldn't afford the increase would be taken up by contributions from those who can, the United Bay Area Crusade and other organizations.

About 50 scouts and 600 troop leaders had marched outside complaining that the hike could destroy the scout movement because many girls and their parents "just don't have the money."

Marianne Arnsstein of San Mateo, president of the 30,000-member council, explained the boost was the council's "attempt to save itself" in the face of rising program costs.

The actor was arrested Monday at Warner Brothers Studios. He reportedly told officers: "I have a drug problem."

Consumers Ask Milk Price Revamp

FROM WIRE SERVICES — The Department of Consumer Affairs has called on the legislature to revamp California's milk pricing program and come up with laws which insure fair and reasonable prices.

The comment came at the close of a two-day hearing, with consumers asking for a 13 cent reduction in the price of a half gallon of milk.

Milk producers said Wednesday they would ask the state for an increase of at least three cents a half gallon in the minimum price of milk sold in California, which has increased 33 percent in the last 18 months.

STATE AGRICULTURE director C. B. Christensen, who sets minimum milk prices under California's state-regulated system, said he would look at the proposal. He said he had seen no merit in demands by consumer groups for an immediate reduction in milk prices.

Judith Pond, a spokesman for the department, told the 200 attending the hearing that "milk has become a political football."

"Brickbats and accusations are being hurled by and at everyone and anyone who becomes involved with the issue," she said.

She said that some of suggested revisions voiced at the two-day hearing — called by the Department of Food and Agriculture — should be included in the law.

enough efficient producers and handlers to guarantee a needed supply of safe, wholesome milk to the people of California."

SHE SAID THIS could result in "a coherent and logical milk stabilization act which insures fair and reasonable prices to consumers, while at the same time maintaining an average statewide price of 71 cents.

"If the Department (of Agriculture) has not been able to come up with something substantial to alleviate consumer consternation by now," Ms. Pond said, "then it appears the laws under which they operate need severe revamping."

Getting High In Hawaii

EYE IN THE SKY: Ever wonder what happened to the construction kick of throwing up high rise buildings along our Orange Coast? It almost seems like a dead novelty in these parts.

Man, the builder, has always wanted to construct something just a little bit taller than his neighbor. Put up a 16-foot teepee and the next thing you know, your neighbor has built a 20-foot wigwam.

When civilization advanced to solid structures, the same sort of thing happened. For years, our coastline seemed consigned to short, flat beach cottages. But Newport Beach got on a highrise kick in the late 1950s and early 60s. Costa Mesa got tall buildings like Bethel Towers, Civic Center and Southern California College and then the high rise kick cooled.

LAGUNA BEACH has a few tall buildings in disguise with structures dribbled over edges of cliffs - short on the highway but tall looking up from the beach and shoreline.

Art Colony residents got so exercised about all this that they passed an anti-tall building law a few years back. About the last real surge in multi-story construction we've seen in along our coastline is at the Irvine Company's Newport Center.

Maybe all the lack of enthusiasm has come from new strictures of the coastal commission. Or maybe scarcity of dollars or, who knows?

If you think man has given up construction of tall buildings, however, you have another thing coming.

TALL BUILDERS aren't dead; they've just moved to Hawaii. Condominium apartments are going up everywhere. They sell out Hawaiian condominiums before the foundation pilings are in.

Wags suggest that the Hawaiian state bird is now the construction crane. Indeed, the tall spindle-like steel cranes with long necks and steel cables lifting construction material seem to loom over every palm tree grove.

In Honolulu, Oahu, along the famed Waikiki Beach, high rise hotels have long been a way of life. Now along Waikiki, they are even tearing down tall buildings to make room for taller ones.

This has resulted in a recent wire service dispatch from Honolulu wherein it reports tourists are greatly annoyed by the pledriver just across the street from Waikiki Beach.

IT'S BEGINS POUNDING at 8 a.m. and continues shaking the waterfront until 5 p.m. This started in mid-June for construction of twin 40-story hotels to be called the Hemmeter Center.

Even if you stay at a hotel way down by Diamond Head, the distant-Waikiki piledriver can be heard in early morn.

How would you like to have hocked the family farm for a week in one of Waikiki's plush hotels and be greeted each morning by a pounding head you didn't even deserve?

FRUSTRATED HAWAIIAN authorities are rushing in sound experts to solve the problem. Maybe they'll force all of the high rise builders out of the island state.

Could be. But you can bet the men who must build tall will fold up their cranes and pop up elsewhere. Maybe Alaska is next.

Palestinians Disavow Act By Terrorists

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Both the Palestine leadership and the Syrian government sought today to disassociate their guerrilla movement from the Japanese Red Army terrorists who held 11 persons hostage in the French Embassy in the Netherlands.

The Paris office of the Palestine Liberation Organization said the PLO "never asked the Syrian authorities to hand over the three men and had nothing to do with The Hague affair." The Syrian government earlier backed off from an announcement that the terrorists were in PLO custody for the time being.

Observers felt the Syrian and PLO moves were aimed at keeping the Palestinian cause from being hurt at a time when the Palestinians are campaigning for U.N. recognition as a liberation movement.

Slaying Suspect
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Police have arrested a 27-year-old man on what they called "solid evidence" linking him to the slayings of two white youths last June, and indicated three or four more arrests would be made soon.

Police arrested John Jacob Duggan Jr. early Wednesday at the home of a legal secretary on an open charge of murder.

The bodies of Stephen Lamont Roberts, 17, and Stephen S. Orlando, 18, a New Jersey police lieutenant's son, were found with notes pinned to their bodies boasting that the youths were "victims of execution" by a group called "The Black Liberation Army."

Oil Bill Approved
WASHINGTON (UPI) — By a vote of 64 to 23, the Senate has approved legislation designed to facilitate "rapid and responsible" commercial exploitation of oil and gas under the nation's offshore waters.

The bill would direct the Secretary of Interior to draw up a program to make available — with guaranteed environmental safeguards — leasing of all Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) lands that show promise of oil or gas.

Artists Freed
MOSCOW (UPI) — The last of five persons arrested on hooliganism charges arising from Sunday's abortive attempt to stage an abstract art show have been released, a show organizer said today.

Artist Alexander Glazer said fellow artist Alexander Rabin, 22, and photographer Vladimir Sechov, 23, were freed about midnight Wednesday by police who told them: "Justice has been done — go home."

Police even gave them the 13-cent subway fare.

Surgery Separates Girls; 'They'll Be Very Happy'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Separated by surgery which took 6½ hours, Siamese twin girls from the Dominican Republic slept in separate cribs for the first time in their 13 months of life.

"I know of no reason why they won't live," Dr. C. Everett Koop said after the long operation carried out on Wednesday by 23 surgeons and nurses at Children's Hospital.

"They were two healthy little girls together. We have every reason to believe they'll be two healthy girls apart," said Koop, who headed the surgical team.

He said not only are both girls expected to live, but that they should lead very normal lives and even bear their own children.

CLARA AND ALTAGRACIA Rodriguez, who had been joined since birth at the pelvis and abdomen, were given their own complete sets of internal organs during the surgical operation.

In the initial recovery stage, Clara and Altigracia were placed in two beds, but they will be treated in the same bed later to prevent possible psychological trauma resulting from separation after living as one being up until now, hospital spokesman Shirley Bonnem said.

She said the tots were doing "extremely well."

Mrs. Farida Rodriguez and her twins came here 11 days ago from a farm outside Santo Domingo. When her daughters were born on Aug. 12, 1973, Mrs. Rodriguez said she was told they would die. Other doctors told her they would live into adulthood but could never be separated.

BUT MRS. RODRIGUEZ'S cousin worked for an American woman in Puerto Rico, who told her sister in Pennsylvania about the Siamese twins. Dianna Zimnoch of Warrington, Pa., arranged for the operation and her church raised the funds. Mrs. Rodriguez, whose husband remained at home, has three other children.

The operation started at 6:15 a.m. and the girls were finally separated almost 6½ hours later, at 12:37 p.m.

Their joint liver was divided. This was possible because both had separate blood supplies to the organ. Their crossed ureters were sorted out to empty into the correct bladders from the kidneys.

President Ford Tells Affection for Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford publicly announced his affection for the press as he took part in the inauguration of the first male president of the 55-year-old Washington Press Club.

Lingering at the party for new President Ron Sarro of the Washington Star-News amid a crush of some 500 guests, Ford said of the news media staffers: "I love them. I even love them after Monday night," a reference to his news conference at which the questioning was predominantly on his pardon of former President Nixon.

"I ENJOY THEIR company. I love the competition," Ford said.

As for the news conference sparring, he said, "I really look forward to it. I don't give as much as I take. I don't feel any animosity to anyone for asking a question."

The president lighted his pipe and sipped a martini as he and Mrs. Ford sat at an outdoor patio table after swearing in Sarro at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel.

In the long history of the Press Club, five U.S. Presidents have come to speak, but Ford was the first to take part in the inauguration.

He gave a joke-filled speech.

"YOU PEOPLE sure know how to hurt a fella," he said laughingly, adding "I have proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that you don't need a pool at the White House to get into deep water."

His oath for Sarro included a pledge to defend the Washington Press Club "against all forms of chauvinism."

Saluting the club "for breaking down the barriers of sexual discrimination," Ford said, "I'm sure you all know where I stand on this issue. As I prove every morning at breakfast time, I certainly don't believe that a woman's place is in the kitchen."

Sarro, 36, of Cranston, R.I., an assistant national editor of the Washington Star-News, takes over as head of the 650-member press club that was started in 1919 as the Women's National Press Club, because the National Press Club barred women from membership. In 1971, the club changed its name and admitted qualified male journalists.

Arms, Troop Reductions Chief Goals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today the United States will try to reach agreements with Moscow on nuclear limitations and troop reduction but opposed using trade policy to change emigration restrictions on Soviet Jews.

"We face an opportunity that was not possible 25 years, or even a decade ago," Kissinger said in a statement prepared for a Senate Foreign Relations Committee inquiry into U.S.-U.S.S.R. detente. "If that opportunity is lost, its moment will not quickly come again."

"Indeed, it may not come at all."

KISSINGER OUTLINED the origins and accomplishments of detente in a 50-page policy statement.

He also promised to strive in the coming months to complete negotiations for strategic arms limitations through 1985, finish negotiations on mutual force reductions in central Europe, conclude a conference of European security and cooperation and continue efforts to limit the spread of nuclear weapons to additional countries.

But Kissinger said cold war doctrines would be revived if the United States tried to use economic pressure to change the Soviet system, achieve a military superiority or deny benefits to the Soviet Union.

Kissinger said the United States will use maximum influence to alleviate human suffering. "But we cannot demand that the Soviet Union, in effect, suddenly reverse five decades of Soviet and centuries of Russian history," he added.

IN AN APPARENT reference to congressional efforts to use trade policy as a wedge for changes in Soviet emigration policy, Kissinger said "such an attempt would be futile and at the same time hazard all that has been achieved." "A renewal of the cold war will hardly encourage the Soviet Union to change its emigration policies or adopt a more benevolent attitude toward dissent," he said.

Kissinger said the Soviets could wreck detente if they used it as a cover to strengthen their military capacity, undermine U.S. alliances or increase world tensions through crises.

"If... we look for final results before we agree to any results, then we would be reviving the doctrines of liberation and massive retaliation of the 1950's," he said.

"And we would do so at a time when Soviet physical power and influence on the world are greater than a quarter century ago when those policies were devised and failed. The utility of such a course is as certain as its danger."

He said the goal of the current strategic arms limitations talks (SALT) is an agreement for a 10-year period to set ceilings on strategic forces.

In all, she said, her campaign fund was depleted of $2,767.

Crusade Fervor NY Not the Same After Rev. Moon

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Sun Myung Moon's spiritual crusade is Philadelphia-bound, but his message and the retorts of his critics lingered on here in a litter of posters, pamphlets and flyers.

The self-proclaimed Korean prophet on Wednesday night drew a capacity crowd of 20,000 to Madison Square Garden for a free rally. Ten thousand more were turned away.

Moon's opponents, claiming to represent Mennonites, Baptists, Jews for Jesus, pentecostals, and socialists, gathered outside to picket and distribute leaflets. They condemned Moon as an anti-Christ, opportunist and a "fascist, millionaire preacher."

IMPROMPTU RELIGIOUS debate resulted. So did a mountain of trash from discarded leaflets of all sides.

Moon's Unification Church spent $800,000 on an advertising blitz to promote the Garden revival. The city, complaining that the posters and leaflets made for messy ministry, issued summonses to five Moon followers. One Queens overpass reportedly was plastered with 2,500 likeness of the smiling preacher, who resembles a Buddha in a business suit.

Gunfire Misses Officer Posted At Boston School

BOSTON (UPI) — A policeman was shot at but missed as he stood guard outside Jamaica Plain High School today in the Dorchester section of Boston on the sixth day of a court-ordered plan to integrate the city's schools.

Detective Thomas M. Smith was standing in front of the school when he heard a shot. He was not injured.

It was the first time a shot had been fired during the tense week the busing plan has been in effect. Police recovered a bullet, but it was not known if the shot was fired from a passing car. It also was not immediately known if it was a rifle or pistol shot.

In other developments, a fist fight and argument broke out between white and black youths near Woodrow Wilson High School in Dorchester, and seven members of the American Nazi Party were ordered out of the city.

Officials said there were no injuries nor arrests in the "verbal confrontation and scuffle" near the school just as classes were about to begin.

About 100 white students refused to attend classes at the school following the fight.

Authorities refused to take seriously reports that members of the Ku Klux Klan would show up in force to help fight the busing. Two persons who contend they are members of the KKK were known to be in Boston. Police said both were under surveillance.

David Duke of Baton Rouge, La., self-styled grand dragon of the KKK, said he would fly to Boston today to try organizing resistance to busing.

POLICE SAID THAT about 10,000 would-be spectators had to be turned away from the free rally when the Garden's 20,000 seats quickly became filled. About 300,000 tickets had been passed out, police added.

At one point, part of the disappointed overflow crowd tried to stampede through an entrance and knocked many persons to the ground. There were no serious injuries, police said.

In a two-hour speech, Moon said through an interpreter that God told him to get the world ready for the second coming of the messiah who will establish both a sin-free family and God's heaven on earth.

"God asked me to declare that that day is at hand," concluded the exhausted preacher, who had lost half of his audience by the end of the marathon speech.

Consumers Ask Milk Price Revamp

From Wire Services SACRAMENTO — The Department of Consumer Affairs has called on the legislature to revamp California's milk pricing program and come up with laws which insure fair and reasonable prices.

The comment came at the close of a two-day hearing with consumers asking for a 13 cent reduction in the price of a half gallon of milk.

Milk producers said Wednesday they would ask the state for an increase of at least three cents a half gallon in the minimum price of milk sold in California, which has increased 33 percent in the last 18 months.

STATE AGRICULTURE director C. B. Christensen, who sets minimum milk prices under California's state-regulated system, said he would look at the proposal. He said he had seen no merit in demands by consumer groups for an immediate reduction in milk prices.

Judith Pond, a spokesman for the department, told the 200 attending the hearing that "milk has become a political football."

"Brickbats and accusations are being hurled by and at everyone and anyone who becomes involved with the issue," she said.

She said that some of suggested revisions voiced at the two-day hearing — called by the Department of Food and Agriculture — should be included in the law.

SHE SAID THIS could result in "a coherent and logical milk stabilization act which insures fair and reasonable prices to consumers, while at the same time maintaining enough efficient producers and handlers to guarantee a needed supply of safe, wholesome milk to the people of California."

The state, through the Agriculture Department, sets all minimum milk prices at the producer, wholesale and retail levels. Currently, a half gallon of milk is selling at an average statewide price of 71 cents.

"If the Department (of Agriculture) has not been able to come up with something substantial to alleviate consumer consternation by now," Ms. Pond said, "then it appears the laws under which they operate need severe revamping."

Whose Sandy Beach?

One element in a plan now before the regional coastal commission proposes that the California Legislature declare all sandy beaches public property.

In many parts of the world, the idea that natural sandy beaches are public property would not appear too startling.

But for Southern California the proposal, attractive as it may sound, has serious legal complications.

Here many deeds of ownership, drawn up from original Spanish land grants, set the oceanward boundary of coastal properties at mean high tide line — which is likely to be located somewhere in the middle of a sandy beach.

This has resulted in the development of many so-called "private" beaches, some without any access to the public, even the publicly owned tidelands.

While it might not be too difficult to pass laws requiring the establishment of beach access routes, the question of compensation to owners should all the sands be declared public would remain.

The growing practice on the part of governmental attorneys and planning agencies at all levels of pushing plans and actions which do in fact convert private land to public use without dealing also with the problem of proper compensation needs to be sharply questioned.

The Doubt Remains

President Ford faced the Washington press corps again this week, in what was anticipated as a more complete explanation of his precipitous action in pardoning former President Nixon.

Unfortunately, perhaps partly because sharp enough questions were not asked, we know little more now than we did before the conference.

The President was convincingly emphatic in denying that there had been any "deal" with Mr. Nixon regarding the pardon.

He said he felt acceptance of the pardon could be regarded as an admission of guilt, though no specific admission had been sought or made.

He skirted the question of the extent to which concern for the former President's health influenced his action.

He acknowledged he was surprised by the intensity of public reaction.

So, the question as to why President Ford so suddenly and totally reversed his announced intention to let the legal process take its course largely remains. Why he acted so very secretly, without substantial consultation with the special prosecutor and other key advisors on such a significant matter still is a puzzle.

As it stands, while applauding Mr. Ford's willingness to meet the public through the press, we must conclude that he has not dispelled the public's feeling that there was a great deal more behind the sudden pardon than has yet been revealed. Unhappily, the credibility of the new administration will suffer accordingly.

The Voter Gap

Political events of recent months have sharply reduced the traditional Republican voter majority in Orange County.

Democrats now are registering to vote at a rate that exceeds Republican registrations by almost 200 a day. The GOP still holds a substantial edge over the Democrats in the county, but this has fallen from 54,707 at the close of registration for the June primary to 44,354, a drop of more than 10,000.

In short, Orange County is rapidly losing its position as one of the nation's most secure Republican strongholds. And blame for the widening gap apparently falls directly on the leadership of the party that has enjoyed such staunch local support.

New Truth Device Detects Thoughts

If we as a people cared as much for vigilance about the conduct of public figures as we do about the conduct of private persons, we might march one sturdy step towards felicity.

Why should our current "mania for security," which is a nice way of saying paranoia, be directed only less to Richard Milhous Nixon and Ronald Reagan and Joe and Millie, citizens?

Why have we developed the technology of detection to a point where we can detect a lie with a machine? The supposed technology underlying research in this field are the lie detectors which are being used by employers against their help. Often these days job applicants are warned that if they do not submit to a company lie test they will almost certainly not get the job.

A Cleveland department store takes the detection mania to a really extraordinary length. A job applicant must sign the following: "I agree to take a polygraph test administered by the Truth Verification Agency regularly engaged by the company. If I refuse to take the test I agree that the company apply against the shortage any moneys otherwise due to me."

In English, if you don't take the test and there is a shortage in your till, you pay up the shortage out of your salary. Jolly good thinking, on the part of management. One wonders how many of the store owners would be willing to put their own honesty on the line so guilelessly?

AND NOBODY seems to care, least of all the people this rotten people-watching gets done to. We all have been so drugged by the law and order stories on the telly, where every year is either 1964 or beyond, that we cannot relate these burglaries of our spirit to the promises this country was made on.

If lie detector tests were aimed, first and carefully, at elected officials, these same officials would be far less eager to give official sanction to Peeping Toms anywhere. Which would be pretty much of all right with those of us who still care.

A SPLENDID little device called a "truth verification mold" is now being developed, if that is the word, at Kent State University, a place memorable in the history of civil liberties.

This machine has been described to a House subcommittee which has for four months been quietly, almost secretly, holding hearings about secrecy and government invasion into individual privacy. It is claimed this bit of equipment can tell if a man is lying even if he doesn't open his mouth.

The gizmo works by measuring the response of the human eye to questions and comments. It calibrates, with enormous accuracy, tiny and fliffling changes in the size of the pupil, retina, and they eye's overall focus.

This admirable number supposedly can tell if a drugged or drunk person is being truthful. It can probe behind the evasions of someone claiming the protection of the Fifth Amendment. It can drag a comment from the most stoic "no comment." Already men on Kent's campus police force have been screened with this device.

MORE AND more, elsewhere, detection devices are being used by employers against their help. Often these days job applicants are warned that if they do not submit to a company lie test they will almost certainly not get the job.

A Cleveland department store takes the detection mania to a really extraordinary length. ## How Much Do We Really Value Life?

SYDNEY HARRIS

We talk glibly about "the value of life" whether on the battlefield or in the embryo, but how much do we really care, and what are we willing to give up to sustain this value?

Last month the National Safety Council's board of directors passed a resolution urging Congress "to continue to support a maximum speed limit of 55 mph throughout the United States." I don't see how anyone can rationally oppose this recommendation.

For the first three months of the new limit, auto deaths declined by 25 percent from the first three months of the year before. This gives a projected saving of 8,500 lives annually—or nearly 230 lives each week — through the reduction in highway speed.

THE COUNCIL'S decision was influenced by turnpike statistics showing that reduction in speed, rather than reduction in amount of travel, is responsible for the drop in fatalities. Although travel dropped only 18 percent in the first two months of 1974, turnpike figures showed a nearly 60 percent reduction in fatalities.

As the council said: "Travel reduction reduces motorists' chances of having accidents, but speed reduction reduces the severity of the accidents that do occur."

IN POINT of fact, the council reports, the chances of death or serious injury in a traffic accident double for each 10 mph increase over 50 mph. Incredibly enough, if you are going at 55, your chances of getting killed in a crash are less than half the chances if you are going 65. (And this is without even taking into consideration the fact that at much above 65, the car is controlling us, rather than we the car.)

At first, traveling as I do in the summer between the country and the city, I found the new limit rather repressive. But soon I adjusted to it and found it both physically and psychologically less taxing than clipping along at a steady 70 as I used to. I now see things I never saw before, feel less pressure to "make time," and am not hypnotized into near-sleep by the scenery slipping by at flashing speed.

AND THEN, of course, there are those 8,500 lives a year—a cumulative figure that can exceed all our wartime losses. None of us has been spared the tragedy of a friend or relative prematurely lost in a traffic accident. This is our best way of paying tribute to their senseless and avoidable deaths, by making it up to the future.

First Astronaut Seems a Winner

Glenn's Political Sweep

EVANS-NOVAK

COLUMBUS, Ohio—When Sen. Edward M. Kennedy arrived in Cincinnati to campaign for Democratic Rep. Thomas Luken, conspicuously absent from the platform was John Glenn, whose sweeping popularity in campaigning for the U.S. Senate is surprising hard-bitten political operatives here.

Glenn, the first American in space, was careful to be elsewhere, 400 miles across the state at a Democratic clambake in Toledo. Indeed, the kind of "help" that Glenn might want from any Democratic party leader outside the Buckeye State would be found last in the person of Teddy Kennedy.

Now running a phenomenal 2-to-1 ahead of colorless Republican Mayor Ralph Perk of Cleveland, the high-flying Glenn may become the first statewide candidate since Lyndon Johnson in 1964 to amass a million-vote plurality. As one Republican statewide leader here told us, "Glenn is taking every Republican vote away from Perk without half trying."

THE GLENN phenomenon is unique in the post-Watergate politics of mass voter disillusionment: a national hero, unencumbered with the ideological baggage that has fragmented the Democratic party, who seems eminently acceptable to blue-collar hard-hats and left-of-center intellectuals. Glenn's personal constituency today ranges from deep right-center to left-center, a broad spectrum the Democratic party badly needs in the embittered search for its soul.

It is only natural, then, that Glenn does not need or want the kind of political help which has made Kennedy an attraction for some other Democratic candidates this fall. Beyond that, Glenn will not soon forget that Kennedy cut him dead in his losing 1970 senatorial primary battle with Howard Metzenbaum and in his decisive victory over Sen. Metzenbaum in their return engagement last May.

What rankled Glenn partisans about the Kennedy snub was the memory of hawish, ex-Marine Glenn's stalwart support for Robert Kennedy in his 1968 presidential campaign, despite his dovish position on the Vietnam war. Help from the Kennedy family which Glenn got in last spring's primary battle with Metzenbaum came not from Ted Kennedy but from Jacqueline Onassis, who taped a television endorsement for Glenn in the campaign's closing days.

NOW THAT Glenn looks like a glittering winner against Perk in November, Ted Kennedy is not above wanting a piece of the action. But a private offer from his senatorial office to Glenn's headquarters here suggesting that Kennedy would be more than glad to give Glenn a helping hand on his Ohio visit this week was politely rejected.

That Glenn is being courted by such national party leaders as Kennedy is not surprising. He is likely to emerge from the senatorial campaign as the No. 1 Democrat in the fifth largest state. If his awesome lead over Perk holds, Glenn could become a major factor in the party's 1976 presidential battle—at least a strong possibility for second place on the ticket.

THAT VERY prospect is viewed darkly by Gov. John J. Gilligan, running for reelection against Republican retreat James Rhodes. Afflicted with the usual liabilities of an incumbent governor, Gilligan is only marginally ahead of former Gov. Rhodes. Democratic politicians agree that if Glenn emerges on Nov. 5 with a plurality which exceeds Gilligan's by anything like 500,000 votes—a distinct possibility—Gilligan's own presidential aspirations will shrivel. The result would be a strong indication that the national party should move to the center in 1976, and away from the left-liberal ideology of John Gilligan.

Glenn was treated by the Gilligan-controlled state party like a pariah until his primary win. He is now showing the same bleakness for Gilligan's new courtship as he is for Kennedy's.

History at San Clemente

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The dramatic events can now be told, which led to the pardoning of Richard Nixon.

The former President didn't participate in the conversations at San Clemente but let his loyal aide Ronald Ziegler do the talking for him.

Not until the parleying had been completed did a taut, troubled Nixon put in an appearance to murmur his thanks. He didn't even mention the pardon. Nor did he ask about the fate of his former aides who face trial on September 30 for the alleged crimes that he no longer can be prosecuted for.

In an earlier column, we detailed the reasons that President Ford granted his predecessor a blanket pardon. The overriding reason, according to our White House sources, was to save Nixon from a possible emotional collapse.

But the President's lawyers, Philip Buchen and Boston Becker, wanted a "contrition statement" from Nixon as part of the pardon agreement.

They were concerned that he might aggravate the Watergate controversy by proclaiming his innocence once it was no longer possible for the courts to establish his guilt. As one White House source put it bluntly: "We wanted to avoid the Ted Agnew bull—of protesting his innocence all over the country."

THE QUESTION of contrition was brought up delicately with Nixon's crack criminal attorney, Herbert "Jack" Miller. They didn't want to make it a condition of the pardon, so they merely suggested that a cleansing statement from Nixon would be helpful.

On September 5, Becker and Miller flew out to San Clemente for the final negotiations. White House aides say President Ford's parting instructions to Becker were: (1) he should not promise Nixon a pardon but should inform him only that a pardon was possible; and (2) Becker should stress that the Watergate case was an "albatross" which Ford wanted to remove from around his neck so he could concentrate on solving other problems.

The two lawyers arrived at San Clemente at 11 p.m., California time, and immediately went into a three-hour huddle with Ronald Ziegler. After the discussions broke up at 2 a.m., Becker and Miller drank a couple of beers and then retired to guest rooms in the San Clemente compound.

BECKER was up at 5:30 a.m. to telephone a progress report to Buchen at the White House. Later the talks resumed in Ziegler's office. Frequently, Ziegler and Miller would slip out of the room for whispered consultations, perhaps with the President. At one point, Becker showed Miller an advance draft of the pardon statement that the President might issue.

An understanding ultimately was reached that a pardon, if the President agreed to it, would be followed by a statement of contrition from San Clemente. The contents, if not the exact language, of the statement were carefully worked out.

THE DETAILS were also finalized for giving Nixon eventual custody of his presidential tapes and documents, with safeguards to assure that they would be available to the courts.

All the agreements were completed before President Ford's weary emissary sat down with Nixon himself. Before Becker and Miller were ushered into Nixon's office, they were cautioned to keep the meeting informal.

They found Nixon mentally alert but terribly tired and distraught. Ziegler stood at the door while the others sat and talked.

"THANK YOU for being fair," Nixon murmured to the 36-year-old Becker. "You are a fine young man."

In a few minutes, it was over. History had been made.

Pigeon Racers Conserve Energy

Football coaches pace up and down the sidelines. Boxing managers fan their fighters between rounds. Horse trainers leap up at dawn to time their animals. Baseball managers march out to the mound and yell at the umpire. All this comes to mind because a client averse to labor wants to know if there's any participant sport wherein the participant need not burn up any energy. Certainly is. Pigeon racing. A shipper will pick up the birds, deliver them to a starting point several hundred miles away, then turn them loose at the prescribed moment. They fly with hot hearts 300 miles a day. Back home, the sportsman in the rocking chair may doze, read a little, sip tea, whatever.

BIRDBRAIN

How we came by that term "birdbrain" I do not know. Relative to its size, the brain of a bird is enormous. QUICK, without looking at your watch, which is closer to the dial, the hour hand or the minute hand. Odd how we fail to notice such. The hour hand, always.

ANOTHER little known fact about poet Walt Whitman is that although he used "I" and "me" in his own writings with large abandon, he wouldn't read anything written in the first person by anyone else.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY researchers say they've proved that men are inclined to get angry at things while women are more apt to get angry at people.

THIS ONE is told about a New York dress manufacturer who invited in 40 buyers to see his fall line. He ordered his assistant: "Go down to Lindy's Restaurant. Buy one sandwich, but make sure it's the most expensive one." The assistant asked, "How are you going to feed 40 buyers on one sandwich." The manufacturer snapped, "Don't back talk me. OAKLAND (AP) — Black activist Angela Davis and a companion have filed a $75,000 claim against two law agencies and a hospital contending they were unlawfully detained, their attorney says.

The claims were filed by attorney Doris Walker who said Wednesday that Miss Davis was "forcibly handcuffed and sustained some physical and psychological injuries" in an incident last Thursday night at Highland Hospital.

Dispute Fueled

WASHINGTON (AP) — High-ranking Pentagon officers frequently use government cars for improper purposes such as trips to golf courses and theaters and commuting to work, a federal audit says.

The survey by the General Accounting Office, which was released this week, also charged that the military improperly offered use of sedans to members of Congress.

"IT IS INTOLERABLE when so many of our people are suffering economic hardship and deprivation because of inflation that highly placed government officials use sedans purchased with the public's money for personal errands," said Sen. John O. Pastore, (D-R.I.), who requested the audit.

He asked the GAO to conduct another investigation to show the cost of the misuse to taxpayers.

Force provided vehicles, for the use of members of Congress and their aides or dependents on numerous occasions to residences, airports, country clubs and mostly "as directed," the report said.

trips made by high-ranking officers to restaurants, golf courses, florists, cleaners, officers' clubs, theaters and "as directed," it added. The federal agency said there had been no action taken against the misuse by June, even though the Defense Department was aware of it.

New Drug Remedy For Cold?

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Illinois researchers say an experimental drug experimentally increases the body's defenses against the common cold and may be the answer to control of the ailment.

The drug, propanediamine, stimulates an increase in the body's natural production of interferon, a chemical that defends the body against viral and other infections.

BECAUSE INTERFERON is effective against all viruses, it has been considered promising in the control of respiratory infections, such as the cold.

Colds are caused by so many types of viruses that a vaccine against all of them is thought impractical.

The scientists at the university's medical school in Chicago said they used 39 young volunteers to study the effects of propanediamine.

WRITING IN THE New England Journal of Medicine, the scientists said the results of their study make them optimistic that ultimately effective drugs can be developed for the common cold and other viral respiratory infections.

An editorial in the journal notes that the limitation on use of the drug is that it must be administered throughout the period in which a person might catch a cold.

And it notes that the production of interferon decreases with repeated stimulation.

FIFTEEN SUBJECTS in the Illinois experiment were given the new drug via nose drops. Then they were exposed to cold-causing viruses.

They developed either no cold symptoms or so few that they were considered insignificant.

Other subjects not given the drug were exposed to the same viruses. They developed severe colds.

CMDR. ROBIN QUIGLEY

Distaff Commander Leaving Service

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The first woman ever given a major command by the Navy says she will become a civilian in two weeks at the age of 44 and without a job.

"It's a big world out there," says Capt. Robin L. Quigley, the commander of the Navy's Service Center Command in San Diego.

Before taking the command 16 months ago, she was assistant chief of naval personnel for women in Washington, D.C.

The daughter of an Army colonel, she majored in music in college and attended Officer Candidate School before the Navy commissioned her in 1954. From 1961 to 1963 she was secretary to the chief of naval operations and later senior aide to the deputy commander of the U.S. European Command.

Her good looks were utilized by the Navy in recruiting in the late 1960s. A staff of nearly 1,000 men and women have helped Capt. Quigley and her San Diego training school prepare an average of 33,000 sailors at a time for work ranging from cake decorating and cooking to nuclear power plant welding.

The assignment came "simply because I was a qualified naval officer," not as a woman, she said in an interview.

But Capt. Quigley says she enjoyed training the young sailors and is a little sorry to retire.

"I'm not leaving the Navy for anything definite," she said this week. "It's a big world out there and there are very many things to do."

"To know the pains of power, we must go to those that have it. To know its pleasures, we must go to those who seek it. The pains of power are real, its pleasures imaginary."
 Caleb Colton

With the possible exception of some degree of influence over our preschool children and the family pet, most of us have never been privileged to wield real power.

Power, bringing real pain to those who have it and possessing only illusory pleasures, would seem to be poor choice as a goal for anyone's life unless it were sought solely for the good it would enable one to do.

Nat King Cole Was Too Early

Q: Is it true that the late Nat "King" Cole started out as one of the original Ink Spots, the great singing group? — R. F. Bedsworth, Pittsburgh.

A: No. He began his career in 1936 as a pianist in Lew Leslie's Negro revue, "Shuffle Along." And launched his fabulous recording career with a number he composed himself, "Straighten Up and Fly Right." Nat really won fame with his recording of "Nature Boy," which sold an incredible half-million discs within a month. His lifetime record sales topped 50 million. He was one of the first black talents to get his own TV show. But it was too early in the game and it was canceled after the first cycle when some Southern stations and squeamish sponsors got chicken about presenting the great black artist.

THEY KEEP ASKING:

Were Carol Burnett's mother and father both alcoholics? A: Yes. "I saw enough to know that drinking is an illness and nothing to be ashamed of," the candid comedienne confesses.

Who did the voice of Mickey Mouse when Mickey first went on radio? A: Walt Disney himself.

Why do the two surviving Ritz Brothers sign autographs "The Three Ritz Bros."? A: To keep their dead brother's memory alive.

Is it true that Dick Cavett was once a Shakespearean actor? A: Yes. He had a one-line part in a summer theater company of "The Merchant of Venice," starring Katharine Hepburn. (Which may be one reason she guested on his TV show.)

Is it true that former President Nixon had a small music box on his desk which played "Hail to the Chief"? A: Yes. But today it can hardly be music to his ears.

Are the guest stars in "Hollywood Squares" given the answers to questions they'll be asked once the show goes on? A: Before the taping, the participants are given an area of general (not specific) questions to help them to prepare their ad libs.

Send your questions to Hy Gardner, "Glad You Asked That," care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1560, Costa Mesa 92626. Marilyn and Hy Gardner will answer as many questions as they can in their column, but the volume of mail makes personal replies impossible.

Psychic Surgery Helped—Patient

SEATTLE (AP) — A California housewife has testified she was satisfied with the authenticity of psychic surgery, and another witness from California said he was happy with the results of such an operation performed on him.

Melvin Howard of San Jose testified at a Federal Trade Commission hearing this week on the controversial "faith healing." He said that a psychic surgeon removed a loose cartilage from his knee last February.

"I AM SUPREMELY happy with the results," he said. "I have not had a pain in the knee since then."

Mrs. Sarah Paukert of Lafayette, said she satisfied herself about the practice by inserting her hand into her own abdomen while the psychic surgeon was operating.

"I felt warm, whooshy, swishy material and my hand appeared to be covered with my blood," she said. "I couldn't see how they could fabricate that much tissue."

STILL ANOTHER Californian, Don Westerbeke of Mill Valley, said, "We all agree that slight of hand takes place. But not always."

"If any one case is not fraud, then something there is a reality that exists."

Marian Butterfield, secretary-treasurer of one of the three travel agencies which conduct tours to the Philippines, where the self-styled surgeons operate, said she never believed in psychic surgery. But she said she didn't see any reason to inform customers about any doubts.

"I don't think that is our function," she said. "We are a travel agency."

Volunteer Firemen Ask Raise

SANTA ANA — Orange County's 400 volunteer county firemen have leveled a sharp protest against federally-mandated changes in their wage system.

The County Board of Supervisors was told Wednesday that the firemen specifically object to the change that sets their pay at $5 per hour on duty rather than the current $5 per call.

THE FIREMEN say that although the system would appear to be more beneficial to them in the event of a call lasting several hours, there is no provision for full payment of $5 for the majority of their calls that last less than a full hour.

The federal Fair Labor Practice Act requires the county to begin paying the volunteers an hourly wage as of Sept. 27. County Administrative Officer Robert Thomas said the county must initiate the change before then or risk breaking the law.

Thomas said the firemen want to delay enactment of the new wage law until after some means of fractional hourly pay can be worked out.

DURING DISCUSSION of the matter, several supervisors indicated they could act quickly to resolve the problem simply by stipulating that the firemen would be paid a full $5 for the first hour, or any part of it, and then on an hourly basis for the remainder of time spent on duty.

But supervisors accepted Thomas' recommendation to go ahead and enact the law in its current form and order staff personnel negotiators to sit down with the firemen over the next 30 days and work out all the details of the protest. If the negotiations are resolved satisfactorily, Thomas said the law could be amended.

FBI School For Gates

SANTA ANA — Orange County Sheriff-elect Bradley Gates has left for three months of intensive training at the 99th national academy of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The FBI academy, which takes place at Quantico, Virginia, provides top professional law enforcement training to career lawmen.

Gates, elected to succeed retiring county Sheriff James Musick, will take office in January. He was appointed undersheriff in July and has already taken a major role in the department.

Two Harbor Men Named

SANTA ANA — Two men from the Harbor Area have been appointed to the board of the Orange County Chapter of the March of Dimes.

Dr. Allan L. Louderback, a clinical chemist, of Costa Mesa, joins the board after serving as a volunteer lecturer with the March of Dimes for three years. He is married and has six children.

The other new director is Hugh M. Saddington, of Newport Beach. A certified public accountant, Saddington is married with four children.

Off-campus Program Seen at UCI

UC Irvine associate biology professor Patrick L. Healey has been named to a six-man commission to develop off-campus degree programs for the California university and state college systems.

Dr. Healey is an academic assistant to UC Vice President Durwood Long, also a member of the commission.

Other members are Dr. Rosemary Park of UCLA; Dr. Alex Sherriffs, vice chancellor for academic affairs for the state college system; Dr. Leo F. Cain, president of Cal State Dom Dominguez Hills; and Dr. president of Cal State university dean of continuing education.

Supervisors Pushing General Plan Meets

SANTA ANA — Orange County Supervisors Wednesday pressured county planners to conclude all three scheduled general plan amendment sessions by the end of the year.

The board, led by Supervisor Ralph Diedrich, said staff planners and planning commissioners have been dragging their feet in getting together the data needed to hold public hearings on general plan changes.

SUPERVISORS HASTILY adopted the land plan at the very end of 1973 with the idea it could be amended under state law three times during the year. So far, no amendment hearings have taken place.

After nine months of delays, supervisors were finally asked earlier this month to set the first planning commission amendment hearing. It will take place Tuesday.

If the proposed changes come to the board Oct. 2 unaltered, more than 7,000 acres of land in the Aliso Creek, Laguna Hills, Chino Hills and Santa Ana Canyon areas will be opened up for development.

In Wednesday's action, Diedrich succeeded in getting the amendment session schedule pushed up four weeks.

"I WANTED TO GIVE them as much leeway as possible to get in all three amendment sessions," Diedrich said. "It may well be the time limitation will force the second and third sessions to be combined."

According to a schedule presented to the board several months ago, Environmental Management Agency chief H.G. "George" Osborne was hoping to wind up the sessions after the first of the year.

OC Health Unit Asks For Funds

SANTA ANA — The Orange County Health Department was told by the board of supervisors Wednesday to apply for a $47,000 federal grant to pay for a study of disease immunization levels among county children.

Health Department Director Dr. John Philp said the study will show once and for all how effective mass inoculation programs have been in protecting school-age youngsters against major illnesses.

“OUR PRELIMINARY studies in some portions of the county — particularly the poorer Mexican-American parts of Santa Ana — have indicated there may be some children who are not fully immunized,” Philp said.

“Overall, I think we have reached a vast majority of the children before they enter school — a requirement under new state laws,” he said.

Philp said the federal grant will allow his staff to do a countywide study of immunization levels to determine where inoculation programs should be stepped up and where they have proven most effective.

“IN TERMS OF immunization programs themselves, this grant won't change anything,” Philp told supervisors. “The county has had some form of program since 1923 when the health department was created to counter an epidemic of typhoid fever.”

Philp said until passage of the new state laws, his staff has conducted school immunization clinics. Now, he has switched to a system of 29 community clinics to reach the children before they enter schools.

According to health department figures, which Philp says are sketchy because of a lack of hard data, about 80 percent of the children in black and white areas of the county have been fully immunized, against such things as diphtheria, polio, measles and other ailments.

In Driver's Seat

Robert J. Evid has been named to the newly created position of assistant general manager of business and administration for the Orange County Transit District. He lives in Orange.

Democrat's Title May Get Change

SANTA ANA — Democratic candidate Paul B. Carpenter may have to run for office Nov. 5 in the newly formed 71st Assembly District of Orange County without the title of “health planning director” he allegedly is using right now.

District voters E. Doug Hawkes and Robert A. Bark have filed an action in Superior Court which charges Carpenter with using a misleading title and deceiving voters in the area.

Judge Mark Soden will rule Friday on the demand that the title be deleted from all ballots and election literature and that acting Registrar of Voters M.J. Mayer and California Secretary of State Edmond G. Brown Jr. be ordered to comply with such a ruling.

Hawkes and Bark contend that Carpenter never held the post of health planning director at any time prior to his resigning from the Orange County Health Planning Council last Feb. 28.

County Won't Weaken Dirty Air Standard

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

SANTA ANA — Orange County Supervisors Wednesday defied orders from the California Air Resources Board (ARB) to weaken the county's air pollution alert standards.

The ARB has told all counties in the smog-plagued South Coast Air Basin to realign their standards to fit those now used by Los Angeles County.

SUPERVISORS WERE told by Deputy Pollution Control Officer Edward Camarena that the move would, in effect, mean Orange County's air would have to get 20 to 25 percent dirtier than it now gets before an alert could be called.

The board held off final defiance of the ARB mandate until Wednesday to get more information from County Administrative Officer Robert Thomas. The matter was first raised three weeks ago.

The conflict first arose when the ARB ordered all counties in the air basin to draft emergency smog episode plans. In an effort to make all the alert levels uniform, the ARB included a directive that the standards used by the Los Angeles APCD be adhered to.

It was discovered recently that the calibration procedure used by Los Angeles County's ozone monitoring equipment was different from the other counties in the basin, all of which used the same method.

SUBSEQUENTLY, the ARB passed on the order that the Los Angeles standard be adopted, forcing all other counties to apply a special adjustment to their smog measurements.

If supervisors are ultimately successful in their defiance, there will be a significant difference between Orange County and Los Angeles County alert levels.

Currently, a first stage health alert is called in Orange County when ozone levels hit 20 parts per million of oxygen. In Los Angeles, the standard is .25 parts per million.

The disparity is even greater at the more critical second and third stages. Orange County's figures are .40 and .60, respectively. Los Angeles levels are .50 and .75.

According to Camarena, Orange County experiences only one second stage alert per year on the average and has never had a third stage alert. But, he said, if either should come, the air would be up to 25 percent dirtier with the Los Angeles standards.

SUPERVISOR RALPH Clark was the strongest proponent of defiance of ARB mandates.

“We all know how smoggy it can get in the county and I think our standards are fair enough in terms of calling alerts,” he said. “They are working well and I see no reason to change them.”

Thomas told supervisors the county should retain its own alert levels and not apply the adjustment factor mandated by ARB.

In the meantime, he said, County Health Officer Dr. John Philp and APCD officer H.G. “George” Osborne should keep tabs of ongoing ARB studies of the calibration problem.

DURING THEIR discussion, supervisors heard comments by Dale Secord, a spokesman for the county Environmental Coalition.

“While it is true we have never had a stage three alert, neighboring counties have,” he said. “Pollution does not contain itself in a political boundary.”

Secord said the county is acting wisely to maintain a system that not only protects its own citizens but also those in other jurisdictions.

Never Too Late to Mate—She's 79

SEATTLE (AP) — She said call her "Ms. Something" — the "Ms." so she would be modern; "Something" so friends wouldn't know that at age 79 she's still pursuing an active sex life.

So, Ms. Something sits in her apartment and talks about how her sex life continued when she became a widow at age 56.

Tall and thin, she has a healthy glow about her, and says she's been "struggling, struggling" about giving in to the pleas of a suitor and inviting him up to her apartment. She's afraid the neighbors will gossip.

IN THE 23-YEARS since her husband's death, she says she has had 35 adventures, some lasting the smaller part of an evening, others going on for 15 years. Her youngest mate was only 15, the eldest 82.

Her message is don't give up sex. And medical students at the University of Washington are viewing a videotaped interview with her to gain a better grasp on sexuality and aging.

She is also the star witness for Caroline Preston, a 60-year-old assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Washington, who has taught a class two years on aging and retirement readiness.

'Her youngest mate was only 15, the eldest 82.'

MS. PRESTON, WHO also prefers the courtesy title "Ms.," thinks men and women give up sex years before they need to, and this she believes is unhealthy.

"One's ongoing sexuality has so much to do with your vitality and interest in the here and now, realizing that the here and now is all you have."

Ms. Something is a intelligent woman who spent her professional life in newspapering, advertising and public relations. She is the proud mother of loving and successful children. Prior to her husband's death at 64, she says they had an active sex life.

AND THOUGH SHE admits one might be surprised at her tally of partners from age 56 on, she says she never had difficulty meeting men and gives all credit to having a cozy fireplace for her and a companion to sit in front of.

Ms. Something shoots down the idea that menopause is the end of sexuality. It should be viewed as another beginning, says Ms. Preston.

"Menopause? Why should it even be a pause? Women give up the risk of having a child late in life. Menopause frees them to be more sexually active than ever before in their lives," says Ms. Preston.

Is Ms. Something living a life most women her age could keep up with?

IT'S DIFFICULT to tell, says Ms. Preston, because there's been little research on sex and aging. Both patient and physician aren't anxious to talk about it.

'Menopause? Why should it even be a pause?'

And Ms. Something doesn't know either. She has tried to encourage discussion of the subject but her peers are reluctant. But she knows an 86-year-old couple that married four years ago and knows two other oldsters who are living together as lovers.

She said she recently watched a prostitute escort an old gentleman to the elevator of a senior citizens' home.

Ms. Preston says these experiences knock down the old saw: You can't teach an old dog new tricks.

AND SHE SAYS studies show that old people who expose themselves to new situations continue to learn. A key factor in learning difficulties may be a simple loss of confidence, she says.

Ms. Preston encourages her students to begin projects that will build up their self-confidence. Her students have learned to play the harp, started organic gardens, taken up belly dancing and chess. Some are serving as consultants to small businesses. Both she and Ms. Something, who is a frequent guest lecturer, practice transcendental meditation.

"Another unfortunate but prevailing notion is that as we age, our sexual needs and feelings somehow dry up and blow away. Impotence and frigidity settle in as though embedded in concrete," Ms. Preston said. "I am both obliged and delighted to predict for many of us, this simply is not so."

BUT SHE SAYS one major problem is that men die too young, creating a considerable surplus of aging women. She said one solution to the sexual dilemma is for the medical profession to accelerate efforts to prolong the life of males.

But until medicine closes that gap, Ms. Preston says one answer is communal living where women would share their men.

That would also cut living expenses for those just getting by on fixed incomes but "I'm not sure that people in my generation can achieve that kind of submersion of their rugged individualism."

Trudeau Wife Under Stress

MONTREAL (UPI) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's 26-year-old wife Margaret, who has been hospitalized for an unknown illness since last week, says she will remain in the hospital "under psychiatric care for severe emotional stress" for a while longer.

Mrs. Trudeau, accompanied by her 54-year-old husband, spoke briefly with reporters Wednesday before the couple went for a walk on the hospital grounds.

SHE SAID, "I'VE been here (at Royal Victoria Hospital) for 10 days and I plan to be here a while longer. I'm under psychiatric care for severe emotional stress but I'm recovering."

The prime minister arrived at the hospital shortly before 1 p.m. local time and emerged with his wife 2½ hours later. Trudeau brushed off newsmen's questions on entering and said "I don't think the press should be in a hospital."

HOSPITAL OFFICIALS refused to disclose the nature of the illness suffered by the 26-year-old Mrs. Trudeau or identify any of her doctors.

An Ottawa newsman, Paul Taylor of News Radio, reported that one of Mrs. Trudeau's doctors was a Montreal psychiatrist, Dr. C.G. Bos.

Dr. Bos could not be reached for comment. A spokesman for the prime minister's office in Ottawa said he could not confirm that Dr. Bos was in attendance.

MRS. TRUDEAU'S hospitalization followed by a few weeks her return from a private visit to Paris, which she visited alone.

Five Mesa Students Finalists

Five students at Costa Mesa High School have been named semi-finalists in the competition for about 3,400 merit scholarships to be awarded in 1975.

The students are Terri Bergman, Don Brotemarkle, Paul Edelstein, Roger Engdahl and Donald Wright. The semifinalists were the highest scorers in each state in two tests — the 1973 preliminary scholastic aptitude test and the national merit scholarship qualifying test.

Past records indicate that 90 percent of the semifinalists become finalists and eligible for one of the 1,000 scholarships awarded nationwide. The scholarships are worth $1,000.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An emergency permit system for both dairy and beef cattle shipments has been signed by Acting Gov. Ed Reinecke to protect California's herds from brucellosis. The state Department of Food and Agriculture said too many unvaccinated animals have slipped through the undermanned system lately.

County Puts Prostitution On Ballot

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — A suit seeking to block Churchill County residents from voting on the issue of prostitution has been dismissed by the Nevada Supreme Court.

The suit was filed by Churchill County Commission Chairman John J. Hanifan; Timothy Wolf, chairman of the Committee in Opposition to Legalized Prostitution in Churchill County, and Ernest H. Haying, district deputy of the Knights of Columbus.

The Supreme Court said they failed to file affidavits as required by law or proof of service on the defendants and called the suit "procedurally deficient."

Residents of Churchill County gathered more than 600 names on a petition to change the law to allow prostitution. The county commission put the question on the November election ballot.

Nevada has local option prostitution laws.

Moviegoer Sues - Films No Good

BRIGHTON, Ill. (UPI) — Randy Seeger likes to get his money's worth. So after he sat through nine hours of what were advertised as horror films at a nearby drive-in theater and wasn't scared once, he decided to sue for $100 actual damages and $1,000 punitive damages.

Seeger, a 61-year-old legal investigator, said the experience was a real ripoff. "It was like advertising a roller coaster ride and putting you on a scooter."

THE FATEFUL NIGHT WAS back in July. The Starlight Theatre in Alton ran "about a third of a page ad saying such things as 'see who can stay and see these things, they're so horrible,'" Seeger said. "They said live monsters would come into the audience to scare the people and kidnap the girls."

The movies were not horrifying, he said — just plain horrible. "They were so flat, so dull, they were nothing," he said. "I couldn't even tell you the story of them. They were nothing."

He said he and his wife showed up about 7:30 p.m. and the theater was packed.

"I never saw anything like it in my life," he said. "That ad really pulled. There was not even any standing room."

THEY SHOWED TWO BAD pictures, he said, "then the management came on the loudspeaker and said the real show would be next, and anyone who wanted to come in to see the real pictures would have to go out and come in and pay again. That was the real ripoff."

The real confusion set in then. "Traffic was backed up for blocks. You never saw such a traffic jam in a small town," Seeger said. "The missus wanted to go but I told her I wanted to see it through. So we went back through and paid the second time — and the last two pictures were worse than the first two. People began leaving then, blowing their horns and leaving with their lights on."

sex and aging. Both patient and physician aren't anxious to talk about it.

And Ms. Something doesn't know either. She has tried to encourage discussion of the subject but her peers are reluctant. But she knows an 86-year-old couple that married four years ago and knows two other oldsters who are living together as lovers.

She said she recently watched a prostitute escort an old gentleman to the elevator of a senior citizens' home.

Ms. Preston says these experiences knock down the old saw: You can't teach an old dog new tricks.

AND SHE SAYS studies show that old people who expose themselves to new situations continue to learn. A key factor in learning difficulties may be a simple loss of confidence, she says.

Ms. Preston encourages her students to begin projects that will build up their self-confidence. Her students have learned to play the harp, started organic gardens, taken up belly dancing and chess. Some are serving as consultants to small businesses. Both she and Ms. Something, who is a frequent guest lecturer, practice transcendental meditation.

"Another unfortunate but prevailing notion is that as we age, our sexual needs and feelings somehow dry up and blow away. Impotence and frigidity settle in as though embedded in concrete," Ms. Preston said. "I am both obliged and delighted to predict for many of us, this simply is not so."

BUT SHE SAYS one major problem is that men die too young, creating a considerable surplus of aging women. She said one solution to the sexual dilemma is for the medical profession to accelerate efforts to prolong the life of males.

But until medicine closes that gap, Ms. Preston says one answer is communal living where women would share their men.

That would also cut living expenses for those just getting by on fixed incomes but "I'm not sure that people in my generation can achieve that kind of submersion of their rugged individualism."

In Canada Hospital Trudeau Wife Under Stress

MONTREAL (UPI) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's 26-year-old wife Margaret, who has been hospitalized for an unknown illness since last week, says she will remain in the hospital "under psychiatric care for severe emotional stress" for a while longer.

Mrs. Trudeau, accompanied by her 54-year-old husband, spoke briefly with reporters Wednesday before the couple went for a walk on the hospital grounds.

SHE SAID, "I've been here (at Royal Victoria Hospital) for 10 days and I plan to be here a while longer. "I'm under psychiatric care for severe emotional stress but I'm recovering."

The prime minister arrived at the hospital shortly before 1 p.m. local time and emerged with his wife 2½ hours later. Trudeau brushed off newsmen's questions on entering and said "I don't think the press should be in a hospital."

HOSPITAL OFFICIALS refused to disclose the nature of the illness suffered by the 26-year-old Mrs. Trudeau or identify any of her doctors.

An Ottawa newsman, Paul Taylor of News Radio, reported that one of Mrs. Trudeau's doctors was a Montreal psychiatrist, Dr. C.G. Bos.

Dr. Bos could not be reached for comment. A spokesman for the prime minister's office in Ottawa said he could not confirm that Dr. Bos was in attendance.

MRS. TRUDEAU'S hospitalization followed by a few weeks her return from a private visit to Paris, which she visited alone.

Five Mesa Students Finalists

Five students at Costa Mesa High School have been named semi-finalists in the competition for about 3,400 merit scholarships to be awarded in 1975.

The students are Terri Bergman, Don Brotemarkle, Paul Edelstein, Roger Engdahl and Donald Wright. The semifinalists were the highest scorers in each state in two tests — the 1973 preliminary scholastic aptitude test and the national merit scholarship qualifying test.

Past records indicate that 90 percent of the semifinalists become finalists and eligible for one of the 1,000 scholarships awarded nationwide. The scholarships are worth $1,000.

Cattle Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An emergency permit system for both dairy and beef cattle shipments has been signed by Acting Gov. Ed Reinecke to protect California's herds from brucellosis. The state Department of Food and Agriculture said too many unvaccinated animals have slipped through the undermanned system lately.

County Puts Prostitution On Ballot

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — A suit seeking to block Churchill County residents from voting on the issue of prostitution has been dismissed by the Nevada Supreme Court.

The suit was filed by Churchill County Commission Chairman John J. Hanifan; Timothy Wolf, chairman of the Committee in Opposition to Legalized Prostitution in Churchill County; and Ernest H. Haying, district deputy of the Knights of Columbus.

The Supreme Court said they failed to file affidavits as required by law or proof of service on the defendants and called the suit "procedurally deficient."

Residents of Churchill County gathered more than 600 names on a petition to change the law to allow prostitution. The county commission put the question on the November election ballot.

Nevada has local option prostitution laws.

Moviegoer Sues - Films No Good

BRIGHTON, Ill. (UPI) — Randy Seeger likes to get his money's worth. So after he sat through nine hours of what were advertised as horror films at a nearby drive-in theater and wasn't scared once, he decided to sue for $100 actual damages and $1,000 punitive damages.

Seeger, a 61-year-old legal investigator, said the experience was a real ripoff.

"It was like advertising a roller coaster ride and putting you on a scooter."

THE FATEFUL NIGHT WAS back in July. The Starlight Theatre in Alton ran "about a third of a page ad saying such things as 'see who can stay and see these things, they're so horrible.'" Seeger said. "They said live monsters would come into the audience to scare the people and kidnap the girls."

The movies were not horrifying, he said — just plain horrible.

"They were so flat, so dull, they were nothing," he said. "I couldn't even tell you the story of them. They were nothing."

He said he and his wife showed up about 7:30 p.m. and the theater was packed.

"I never saw anything like it in my life," he said. "That ad really pulled. There was not even any standing room."

THEY SHOWED TWO BAD pictures, he said, "then the management came on the loudspeaker and said the real show would be next, and anyone who wanted to come in to see the real pictures would have to go out and come in and pay again. That was the real ripoff."

The real confusion set in then.

"Traffic was backed up for blocks. You never saw such a traffic jam in a small town," Seeger said. "The missus wanted to go but I told her I wanted to see it through. So we went back through and paid the second time — and the last two pictures were worse than the first two. People began leaving then, blowing their horns and leaving with their lights on."

Some people wondered if a volunteer Army would work. 300,000 young people believe it will.

There were times when we, like the rest of America, wondered if the Army would make it without a draft.

Could we meet our total manpower needs by relying solely on volunteers? And if so, could we meet those needs in quality as well as number? On June 30, 1974, we got the answer.

How the Army's doing without the draft.

For the period covering July 1, 1973 to June 30, 1974 over 199,000 young men and women enlisted in the Army. Which meant that we not only reached, but exceeded our goal.

And since the last person was drafted, 300,000 young people have joined. As a result, the Army today is at full authorized strength and prepared to do its job.

Since we've been asking for volunteers, we've been getting better soldiers.

The figures are impressive. But not quite as impressive as the fact behind them. The people who are joining are joining because they want to, not because they have to. They're better motivated, better prepared to accept discipline, and, therefore, better soldiers.

They're joining because they're finding things in the Army they may not be able to find anywhere else.

They're finding three square meals isn't all we have to offer.

They're finding good jobs. If they qualify, they can even take their choice from over 200 job-training courses.

They're finding new people to meet and new worlds to experience. From Europe to Texas to Hawaii to Panama.

They're finding a chance to get a college education. On Army posts, as well as at nearby universities. And they're finding that the Army not only encourages them to further their education, but pays 75% of their tuition costs.

They're finding a place to gain self-confidence and maturity. From the ruggedness of Basic Training to the everyday discipline of Army life.

The most important thing we do for them is what they do for us.

And while they're finding that the Army is making them better individuals, we're finding they're making us a better Army.

Male Bastion Invaded

Women Sharing Press Box

By ROBIN WRIGHT
Of the Christian Science Monitor

There I was, sitting in the Red Sox press box, taking in a game between Boston and New York from the best location in the ball park. And it had all been so easy.

After years of threatening civil rights suits, withstanding fierce peer opposition, even facing arrest, I (a female) had walked into the ball park on a press pass, stood on the field during batting practice, sat in the dugout chatting with the players, turned down a free sirloin steak in the press room and, now, was sitting unquestioned, unharassed among a dozen or more male writers.

Hmmmmmm, I thought as I sat there, things sure have changed.

It had been a couple of years since I last tried this type of thing. And while women have become more numerous in the sports writing field, I wasn't ready to believe we had been totally accepted.

But throughout the three hours there wasn't any teasing, harassing, scolding, or coarse joking designed to embarrass me.

And not one pot-bellied sports writer walked up, stuck a burning cigar in my face and quizzed me about my credentials.

Nor did they bombard me with trick trivia, like what Babe Ruth hit in 1936 (he had retired by then).

ALONE AT LAST

In fact, the only thing I didn't expect to happen happened: I was ignored.

Yes, times really have changed, I concluded. I guess now I'm nothing more than a trend.

At least half the country's self-respecting newspapers either have had or now have female sports writers on their staffs. Television stations have liberated one of the last strongholds of the male empire with women sportscasters.

That isn't to say it's easy for women writers now. In 99 percent of the cases women must edge their way in as gimmicks or tokens, slowly building their way up from covering junior high school tiddleywinks to college or professional sports.

Miami's Jane Chastain of WTVJ, for example, started 13 years ago as "Coach Friday" in a two-minute predication show on an Atlanta station. It was "a joke, a gimmick. I was a fictitious lady football coach with that girl-next-door appeal," she explains.

But she took it seriously and has gradually pushed her way into not only a sportscasting position, but a regular show that is now syndicated five days a week to more than 80 stations throughout the country.

Mary Garber, dean of women sportswriters, edged into sports 30 years ago only after the entire Winston-Salem Sentinel sports department was drafted into World War II.

With the precedent-setting examples of Miss Garber, Mrs. Chastain and the legendary Elinor Kaine — who gained fame in 1969 after slapping a successful civil rights suit on the New York Jets and New York Giants for refusing to admit her to the annual Yale Bowl game — the road has been smoothed if not paved for other women.

Comparatively, it's "2,000 percent" easier for women now, according to Miss Garber. And some even argue it's more advantageous to be a woman now.

Specifically, being female worked to the advantage of Mrs. Chastain on the day all-star receiver Paul Warfield was traded from Cleveland to Miami. He refused to be interviewed by the male reporters, but "couldn't refuse a woman" and did talk with Mrs. Chastain.

FRESH PERSPECTIVE

While most ignore and some grumble, there are at least a few men who don't think women are ruining their racket.

Dave Burgin, sports-turned-city editor of the Washington Star-News, has said about women sports writers that they "see things differently. They bring a fresh perspective, a new point of view."

When women writers were just becoming common two years ago, the New York Post's columnist Larry Merchant said: "I'm all for them. Too many male reporters consider sports a matter of life and death. Women look at it with a sort of bemused attachment."

Generally women sports writers feel their only real limitation is the locker room. But some persistent women have even found ways around it.

So move over fellows, I guess we're here to stay.

Lupus Erythematosus. Nine out of 10 victims of Lupus are women.

It strikes hardest during a woman's child bearing years.

The disease is not contagious, but cause and cure are unknown. It afflicts 2.5 million in the United States.

But perhaps most frustrating to victims of LE is that few people have ever heard of the affliction that kills 5,000 Americans each year.

The most promising research into the cause and a cure is under way at the City of Hope, Duarte, by Dr. R. L. Tepitz, a specialist in genetics and immunology.

In the past year, the 100-member Lupus Chapter of Orange County, an auxiliary for City of Hope, raised more than $15,000 for his research.

"When you have Lupus," explained Dorothy Jean, Huntington Beach, who helped charter the chapter a year ago, "you have to change your whole lifestyle."

There are two forms of LE: discoid, usually involving only the skin; and systemic, which can affect any part of the body.

A scaling, red "butterfly rash" across the cheeks and bridge of the nose is a symptom of discoid LE.

MIMICS

"Systemic Lupus, however, mimics many other diseases," Mrs. Jean said. "Patients suffer from rashes and photosensitivity, arthritis and inflammation of the joints, anemia, pleurisy, fever, chills, fatigue.

"Others may suffer from poor circulation in the extremities and develop kidney, liver and spleen problems, have damage to the brain and nervous system, develop meningitis, strokes, heart disease or ulcers."

Because of low immunity, "one man's cold is an LE victim's pneumonia," said Steve Crawford, Santa Ana, a father of two in his 30s.

Treatment with steroids and other drugs, a moderated lifestyle and avoidance of caffeine and ultraviolet light are required for Lupus patients.

ACTIVITY REDUCED

Women, who have led active lives, find living with the disease frustrating.

"I was diagnosed 20 years ago," said Harriet Fellows, Costa Mesa. "I had been very active in volunteer work, but with Lupus, I couldn't continue.

"I never know when I'm not even going to be able to get out of bed."

LUPUS PATIENTS BY NECESSITY ARE "NIGHT PEOPLE."

Barbara Gardner, Fullerton, was a sun worshiper, always with a year "round tan when a trip to Hawaii resulted in a terrible skin rash, headaches, head-toe pain.

She wasn't diagnosed until she'd been to three dermatologists. Now, like others with the disease, she must avoid the sun whenever possible and venture out wearing sun screen, long sleeves and a large hat or with an umbrella.

Even ultraviolet rays reflected off the sidewalk and fluorescent light are damaging, and "we have to guard against heat as well," Mrs. Jean said.

Beverly Branberg, Fountain Valley, another member and victim, said that family support is mandatory. "My family has been my backbone."

A former nurse who had to leave her profession and even found clerical work impossible with her ailment, noted that "you can't complain every time you have pain because you are in constant pain."

DISEASE TRIGGERED

She believes her condition was triggered by her second pregnancy. The mother of teenage daughters said, "It is hard not to overdo."

They explained that LE patients can't just take a nap and be revitalized. It takes several days in bed.

All of the women interviewed have had major complications: arthritis, kidney or spleen involvement, and all have had pneumonia at least once.

Each is worried about the emotional problems that come with coping with an incurable disease. Additionally, LE can attack the nervous system and drugs used for treatment also have emotional side effects.

Another fear is that children may suffer from the ailment. Researchers believe that the predisposition toward rheumatoid diseases can be hereditary.

Treatment costs are high, "$13,000 my first year."

Victims often tell people they're "allergic to the sun" to avoid longer explanations.

Except for the rash, which is not always present, patients look perfectly healthy, they said, and even families can't understand why they are unable to do as much as they once could.

The OC Chapter is currently planning the opening of a volunteer-manned thrift shop in the Anaheim area.

Members are currently being recruited and can contact membership chairman Alice Molina, 956-2377, for information.

Lupus: Little Known Killer

Customer Registers Profitable Advice

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm itching to reply to "Veteran of Supermarket Tangles." That check-out dame had lots to say about rude customers. Her list of complaints is plenty complete.

I wonder if she is aware that the customer may have a few gripes from the other side of the counter. Having just come back from the supermarket, they are fresh in my mind. Here's a little advice on how to make a shopper's life miserable:

1. Ring up the items so fast that the cash register sounds like an adding machine. It's fun for the shopper to discover, after she gets home, that she paid $1.69 for a 69-cent box of cereal. She then has the enjoyable task of returning to the store for a refund. The walk will be good for her.

2. Throw the canned goods down on the counter as if you were bowling. With a little luck you can break a few eggs and squash a loaf of bread.

3. Wait until the 5 o'clock rush to count your money and charge the cash register tapes. It's a thrill to stand in line and watch you fumbling around for half an hour. Every housewife adores shopping and hates to leave the store.

4. Pack everything in one big bag. When the customer gets out of the store, the bottom will fall out and she'll get another good look at everything she bought. It will give her an opportunity to see if she has everything she needs. Also, it's wonderful exercise to chase cans down the street.

I can think of plenty more, but this will do for now. Thanks for a chance to speak my piece. — THE

Ann Landers

CUSTOMER HASN'T BEEN RIGHT SINCE WORLD WAR TWO

DEAR WORLD WAR: Your letter was my laugh for the day. Thanks a heap for putting your gripes down on paper. It's a great way to unload your hostility, and I'm not kidding.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband blames me because we have no friends. He says I am too quiet and people think I'm stupid.

The real reason we have no friends is because HE doesn't shut his mouth. The man is an authority on everything. He turns every conversation into the Spanish Inquisition, asking questions about things that are none of his business. He loves to get into people's personal lives, and is a bigger gossip than any woman I know.

What can I do to get him to see this? — THE MOUSE

DEAR M: I know the type. Three mouths and no ears. I suggest that you discuss the "no friends" problem with a counselor. If the counselor is halfway bright, he'll get the picture early and hopefully get the message across to Mr. Yacketyack.

DEAR ANN: I am six months pregnant and very happy about it. My husband and I have been trying to have a baby for two years. The problem is that we've been separated for three months. He wants a divorce. We've been fighting for over a year. After he learned I was pregnant he took off.

My question is, what should I do about birth announcements? It seems like a stupid question, but I am stumped. I know I'll be having this baby alone. Any suggestions? — MAMA

DEAR MAMA: Why send an announcement? Your close friends will know you had the baby and the others will learn of it eventually. I have always regarded announcements of any kind as "invoices."

If you insist on sending birth announcements, ignore the fact that you are separated. Your husband is the baby's father and that's the only thing that matters.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts" will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 35 cents in coin along with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope and your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3346, 222 W. Bank Dr., Chicago, IL 60654.

Femininity No Cop-out

Policewoman Diana Little smiles as she prepares to go on duty in a New York precinct where she is assigned. Reflecting her authority are the uniform and regalia she wears (left). However, on off-duty hours she apparently prefers the more feminine attire which she has donned for an outing in the park (right). Before joining the police force, the native New Yorker was a dental technologist and student nurse.

Horoscope: Aries Obtains Answers

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 20
By SYDNEY OMARR
ARIES (March 21-April 19): Strive to understand financial arrangements of partner, mate. You are due for domestic refreshment, adjustment. You obtain answers which are both an advantage and a burden.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Legal affairs dominate. The papers, the nuances, the meanings and implications are paramount. Here is a mood of anticipation, deception, clandestine and thick glamor.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Stick to hard facts. Leave the "soft stuff" for others or for another time. Basic issues dominate and so do your diet and health.
CANCER (June 21-July 22): Finish rather than begin; bring forth creative resources. Chips are down and member of opposite sex insists on commitment. Some aggressive associates may go too far.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accent is on structure, justice, ultimate decisions. Those who are radical are jealous of your position, attitude. You should assert views in direct, independent and dynamic manner.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Emphasis is on ideas and how to make them work. Family member may be more conservative than imagined. Key is to make concessions without abandoning principles.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Cycle is on upswing; you have reason to celebrate. Financial windfall is not out of the picture. Means you get more than you expected. Expand horizons.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your natural qualities, abilities surface — and they are appreciated. Timing improves and more persons become aware, intrigued. You are able to correct past errors.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be ready for a variety of experiences, including possible change of scenery. You could be called upon to aid in special club or group activity.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You get your wish! Key now is to make amends to family member for recent misunderstanding. Be a gracious winner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Emphasis is on responsibility, an elevation of your standing in community. Beware of false flattery — some now want something for nothing.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You can see at a distance — means you understand what is upcoming. Sense of perception, direction are sharpened. You get messages, assignments and your views will be more widely distributed.
IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are sensitive, moody and, during 1974, you made significant changes, some involving opposite sex. December will be one of your most important months of the year. Gemini, Virgo individuals are drawn to you. You are creative, analytical and a natural reporter-writer-teacher.

Myths Attacked

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mandatory retirement at 65 should not mean retirement from sex, too, says Dr. Robert Butler, a research psychiatrist and gerontologist from Washington, D.C.
At an American Medical Association Congress on Aging, he attacked myths about sex in later years. Among them is the idea that older persons lose their sex drives. Not always so.
Too often, according to Dr. Butler, older persons believe they no longer are capable of sexual activity. As a result, they become impotent. Often, too, the pressure of society's attitudes and fear of possible physical injury cause the elderly to abstain.
"Bones are not as brittle as myth would have it," Butler said.

Weddings and Engagements

To avoid disappointment, prospective brides are reminded to have their wedding stories with black and white glossy photographs to the Daily Pilot People Department one week before the wedding. Pictures received after that time will not be used. For engagement announcements it is imperative that the story, also accompanied by a black and white glossy picture, be submitted six weeks or more before the wedding date; otherwise it will not be published. To help fill requirements on both wedding and engagement stories, forms are available in all Daily Pilot offices. Further questions will be answered by People Department staff members at 642-4321.

Seminar to Hone Skills

Communicator Neil Brown

How can we cope with criticism?

Can arguments be eliminated? How?

How do we get people to feel enthusiastic?

These are the kinds of questions which will be answered during a one-day seminar sponsored by a man who believes in communication, Neil Robert Brown.

His seminar will help the nervous wife learn to tell her husband that she has just blown the budget on a new dress to fill the empty room in her wardrobe, or the new attorney discover how to get maximum cooperation from his witnesses.

In short, it is a "how-to" course in personal communication skills.

Brown, interested in counseling since he started working in church camp and youth programs as a high school student, also has had practical experience in communicating.

The native New Yorker and his wife, each married for the second time, decided that communication was the only thing which would weld together their family of five "yours, mine and ours" children, so they learned how to have frank discussions of their goals and aspirations.

He had found, early on, that he was interested in other people's problems, so he studied to become a counselor.

"So many problems were the result of a breakdown in communications," Brown said.

He got the idea of trying to prevent problems instead of solve them after it was too late, and began experimenting with techniques.

"I found it worked," Brown added.

He started building a staff to present seminars, then came to California in late 1969 to regain a focus on his life.

After making the move, Brown went back to being more personally involved in the seminars, feeling that they had gotten too big in the east.

Brown and his staff offer their seminars for schools, businesses and the public, and he has created a non-profit corporation so he can offer them free to prisons, drug centers and other institutions.

Explaining that a lot of time is spent teaching the techniques to prisoners and juvenile delinquents, Brown said, "We're people-oriented, not get-rich oriented."

Why is there a lack of knowledge about communicating?

"It should have been given the importance of reading and writing in school," Brown believes. "Only recently have courses in communication been offered. How do you learn to be a parent? It's the same thing."

"The real problem is that we aren't accustomed to confrontation. It's too easy to escape. But it's important that people learn the value of confrontation to work the bugs out."

A lack of confrontation, Brown revealed, robs a person of his freedom and puts a "shadow" on his life.

Brown will offer his personal communications skills development program from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 28 in the Newport Inn. Anyone wishing more information may call him at (213) 392-3858.

Golden Date Celebrated

Nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren were among the 250 guests who honored Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Shields Thomas Sr. on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. A. Everett Lewis of Hayward, Rolland S. Thomas Jr. of Tustin and Terry Thomas of Garden Grove were assisted by their spouses in hosting the jubilee celebration for their parents who were married in Long Beach.

They resided in Garden Grove until moving to Westminster a year ago.

Mrs. Thomas was a home economics teacher and her husband was chairman of Industrial Education at Woodrow Wilson High School and taught drafting at Long Beach City College.

The honorees' hobby is genealogy and they are well known in civic, educational, cultural and historical societies.

Thomas has been president of the Orange County Genealogical Society, Retired Teachers of Orange County Central Division and the Dalewood Mutual Water Association.

In April, he was one of two men in the state awarded the National Silver Patriot's Medal by the Sons of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Thomas received a medal of appreciation from the same group and also has been recognized for her leadership in Alpha Gamma Delta, American Association of University Women and Samuel Ramsey chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Shields Thomas Sr. marked five decades of marriage at a party.

No Winners In Name Game

By ERMA BOMBECK

I visited my friend who lives in a 320-room-apartment-complex and with a few less people it could have been another Woodstock.

AT WIT'S END

"Boy, I bet you have a lot of friends here." I said.

"Oh yes," she beamed proudly. "There are people around all the time."

"Who's the guy over there who looks like Robert Redford?"

"Oh him, he's the one with the license plates, '2-MUCH.'"

"Clever, but does he have a name?"

"Who knows. There's the girl I was telling you about who uses a weak bleach. Her laundry looks like a mechanic's handkerchief."

"And here comes the guy everyone knows. He's a cabbage freak. Cooks it three or four times a week. Someone told him it would make him sexy. I wonder where Helpless Hanna is? She calls the super every time she has to turn on a light switch. Just can't seem to get the hang of it."

"What's her last name? Hanna who?"

"That's not her real name. We just call her that."

"Whose we?"

"A gang I see all the time. A really neat girl who fell asleep in the sauna one day and got her leg caught in the slats and Wide Load, the only guy in the apartment with a station wagon."

"There's a cute girl."

"She's a dingy," said my friend. "Put a hibachi in her closet one night to keep the air conditioner from blowing out the fire. That's the night three engines showed up. I told you about her."

"You surely are a close knit group."

"Just like a big family . . . We have some great times. There's the girl who wears an ace bandage under her string bikini for support . . . Apple Pie, the girl who has heard from her mother every day for the last two years . . . the Gift Wrapper, a guy who has such neat looking garbage, you want to auction it off . . . and the Moocher, who said he gave up cigarettes three years ago but just gave up buying them."

"This looks like a great place to have an identity crisis," I said shaking my head.

"Hey, my roommate just came home. I want you to meet her. She's great—15 pounds overweight, cooks, loves to iron, gets along great with my mother, buys neat records and for the last two years has never missed paying her rent on time. By the way," she said, turning to her, "What is your last name?"

Semantics Suspected

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Firemen will be fire fighters and kennelmen will become kennel attendants in the latest round of official "desexing."

The city Civil Service Commission approved the "desexing" of 170 job titles in an effort to eliminate sex discrimination.

Male liberationists should be pleased with some of the changes.

Housemothers become houseparents and waitresses become dining room servers.

Official manuals will be purged of such sexist designations as "manpower," a spokesman — or spokesperson — says. It's "staffing requirement" in the new lingo.

Paint Spots

Autumn often means a bit of painting to spruce up the house.

A big problem: paint spattering on hardware fixtures, door knobs, window panes, and everywhere else it shouldn't be. You can prevent this. Cover all adjacent areas with a thin film of petroleum jelly. Then, if you accidentally get paint on them, the coating of petroleum jelly makes removal and cleanup fast and simple.

Just wipe away.

P-T Units Re-group

Miss Lily Peter, of Marvell, Ark., makes musical contribution to bicentennial celebration.

Poet Produces Musical Past

MARVELL, Ark. (UPI) — Life is a ball for Miss Lily Peter of Marvell.

She's a poet, author, cotton ginner and farmer, and probably could be a candlestick maker if she so determined.

She's a continuous smile, and talker when she finds someone interested in her first loves — poetry, history and music.

Miss Peter, the state's poet laureate, has an 8,000-acre soybean and cotton plantation in Arkansas. Mississippi River delta region. She operates half of it herself and leases the rest. She believes she's the only woman who operates a cotton gin in the state, which she's been doing for 48 years.

Revenues from the plantation provide her the freedom to lavishly allow others the opportunity to join in her interests. Her civic deeds, she says, have some of her neighbors thinking she is a sorceress.

"I'm turning soybeans into poetry and music so that's the reason they call it sorcery," she laughed.

Her love for music brought her national attention in 1969 when she mortgaged her farm for $45,000 to bring the Philadelphia Orchestra and Eugene Ormandy to Little Rock for two concerts so residents would have the opportunity to hear some "good music."

At present, her energies and about $200,000 of her money are tuned in to the nation's bicentennial celebration.

Miss Peter has an ancestral link to the nation's birthday. She said the first Fourth of July service held in this country was on July 4, 1783, in Salem, N.C. She said the religious service was arranged and conducted by her great-great-uncle, John Frederick Peter, who was director of music for the southern province of the Moravian Church in America.

"The exact program he gave is still on record," she said, and she is giving a grant to the Moravian Music Foundation in Winston-Salem, N.C., so a recording can be made.

"I thought that would be a good gift to music in the country and to the history of our country," she said. "I love history, I love my country and I love Arkansas. So, I'm trying to make the contribution of Arkansas and Phillips County to the bicentennial as valuable and memorable as I possibly can."

Screaming Over Detroit Embraces Catalytic Gadget

By EDWARD S. LECHTIZIN

UPI Auto Writer

DETROIT — The catalytic converter is one device Detroit's auto makers could have done without.

The muffler-like device that treats exhaust gases makes the 1975 models now rolling off assembly lines probably the most pollution-free automobiles ever produced with internal combustion engines.

Sometimes kicking, sometimes screaming and sometimes getting their way, Detroit's auto makers have come up with the catalytic converter as their answer to the 1970 government order to take the car out of the pollution picture by 1975.

THEY NOT TOO affectionately refer to the device as the "Muskie muffler" in reference to the U.S. Senator from Maine who was most responsible for the 1970 Clean Air Act.

Higher prices since the catalytic muffler is adding between $100 and $150 to the price tags of the '75s.

Better mileage since engines who for the past five years have been tuning engines to produce fewer pollutants can now tune for more get-up-and-go and mileage.

General Motors is talking about a 14 percent improvement over '74 models and Chrysler says it has a general 15 percent gain.

Mandatory use of unleaded gasoline since the lead additive that controls knocking also "poisons" the platinum and palladium catalyst.

LESS EVIDENT to the motorist will be the exhaust coming out of the tailpipe containing 90 percent fewer hydrocarbons than P967 models, 83 percent less carbon monoxide and 48 percent fewer oxides of nitrogen.

GM, which was sharply critical of the government's timetable set in 1970, has since embraced the catalytic technology more than any of its competitors.

In Congress, in the courts and in front of big and small groups, GM spokesmen told their side of the clean air controversy.

"Catalysts have an aura of alchemy about them, black magic, even with chemists," said Dr. Richard Klimisch, GM's first resident expert in catalysis.

"Somebody finds a catalyst maybe by a clumsy accident," he says. "Then we spend 20 years trying to find out why it works. I hesitate to say this, and I'll probably lose a lot of friends, but we don't really understand many catalysts."

THE BASIC principle of the catalytic converter is that it speeds up the chemical reaction that converts unburned hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide caused by incomplete combustion in the engine into harmless carbon dioxide and water.

What if you run out of gas and can't find a station selling the unleaded fuel you need for your '75-model? Or maybe you don't want to pay the extra cent or two a gallon?

The main effect will be to ruin the catalyst. There won't be any effect on the engine's performance or mileage.

Droughts, Flooding Bring Up Food Cost

United Press International Food prices are on the upswing again, nudged in part by spring floods and summer droughts.

Leon Dillenber, a spokesman for the Bay Area Grocers' Association in San Francisco, said he hopes this year are behind us.

HE SAID MOST grocers are switching to cheaper products and some grocers have noticed people are simply eating less.

"AND THE MAJOR droughts caused by the drought haven't hit yet. When they do, I think we're in for some really sharp increases."

Prices on these items have skyrocketed during the past few months and they may go higher before this ends.

Health Industries, Inc. of Newport Beach has announced the election of Norman E. Pessin as president and chief executive officer.

Alva L. Cusick has been appointed area supervisor of Carl's Jr. Restaurants, with hiring and training responsibilities for eateries in the north section of Orange County.

Retired president and chief executive officer of McDonnell Douglas Astronautics Company, Walter F. Burke, has been named vice president of operation for Recovery Systems, Inc. of Irvine.

Ward Munson, president of Munson Sporting Goods of Costa Mesa, has been awarded the "Outstanding Small Businessman of the Year" title by the National Council for Small Business Management Development.

William H. Richmond has been named national sales manager for Western Digital Corporation.

Alice A. Swaim, a 12-year veteran of First American Title Insurance Company's Orange County title division, has been promoted to the position of engineering supervisor.

Huntington Beach resident John J. Caputo has been promoted to manager of the South Anaheim Bank of America.

B. Dale Smith, formerly manager of the Treasury store in Santa Ana, has been named manager of the J. C. Penney Store in Huntington Beach Shopping Center.

Supplies Of Oil Up -- Simon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — World oil production is running nearly a million barrels a day above demand and there is the potential for a daily surplus of up to 5 million barrels, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon says.

Simon said that, with storage tanks full and consuming nations looking for alternate energy sources, the Arab oil-producing nations are finding their market for oil dwindling.

"The oil producing and exporting countries (OPEC) will, in a relatively short period of time, find their market for oil tending sharply downward," Simon told an investigation subcommittee of the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The meeting, called to discuss what the United States can do about oil prices, was closed, but participants released prepared statements.

Simon said oil production was 3 million barrels a day above demand during most of the summer, then went to 500,000 barrels above demand when some OPEC countries cut production.

"Our latest evidence is that production is slightly up once again, and that the surplus may now approach 900,000 barrels per day," Simon said.

55 MPH Limit Lowers State Gas Consumption

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The 55 mile-an-hour speed limit appears to be reducing gasoline consumption in California although motorists seem to be driving as much as ever, according to the State Board of Equalization.

The board Tuesday based its conclusion on a 2.9 percent drop in the distribution of gasoline to retail outlets in July, the eighth straight month of decreasing distribution figures compared with last year.

California's motorists seem to be driving as much as ever, but the reduced speed limit appears to be holding down gasoline consumption below that of a year ago," the board said.

Revenues from the state gasoline tax in July also dropped 2.9 percent in July from the same month in 1973 — from $63.6 million to $61.7 million.

Burroughs Adds 4 New Computers

Burroughs Corp. announced the production of four new computer systems with prices ranging from $3,760,000 to $9,400,000.

The new B 7700s—which may be leased for $80,000 to $200,000 a month — are the largest and most powerful of Burroughs' 700 Systems family.

Available for immediate delivery, the systems provide twice the computing power of previous B 7700 systems, Burroughs said.

National Steel Hikes Tin Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — National Steel Corp., the nation's third largest steelmaker, announced it is raising prices on its tin mill products by an average of 2 1/4 percent.

The increase will become effective Oct. 21.

A spokesman for National Steel said that because of the variety of items involved he could not immediately give a dollar figure for the increase.

The major use of tin mill products is in the manufacture of beverage and other containers.

Two Never Met--Bingo

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingrid Bergman says controversial and torrid love affair 25 years ago with Italian film director Roberto Rossellini began before she ever met him.

In a McCall's magazine article, she says, "It all started because I was bored. I had everything a woman could expect in life, but suddenly I realized there was no excitement any more. To keep alive I had to do something... I was exploding inside."

That prompted the successful Hollywood actress and wife of Dr. Peter Lindstrom to write a love letter to Rossellini, she says.

The letter led to a child by Rossellini while she was still married to Lindstrom, a divorce, a worldwide scandal and a seven-year marriage and two more children.

The Swedish actress has been married to Swedish theatrical producer Lars Schmidt since 1958.

Trick Succeeds

Kidnapers Left Holding the Bag

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Kidnapers of a 20-year-old man dropped him off and escaped with a bagful of paper instead of $3,920 promised by his brother, narcotics officers say.

The victim, identified as Timothy James Grunstad of Rialto, near San Bernardino, was uninjured in the three-day ordeal.

GRUNSTAD WAS taken from his apartment Saturday night by three men armed with pistols.

The trio were joined later by six men, and investigators said their victim was held in several houses in the San Diego area in a plot to get $3,920 as repayment for stolen marijuana.

By telephone, Grunstad's brother Paul arranged for the pickup on condition the kidnaped man was freed.

AUTHORITIES HIDDEN nearby watched Tuesday night as a car drove up to a pre-arranged spot near San Diego's Shelter Island pier and let Grunstad out before leaving with a bag believed containing the money. Instead, it was filled with paper.

"It's a calculated risk," said an officer in the San Diego Integrated Narcotics Task Force.

NO ATTEMPT WAS made at that time to arrest the kidnapers, he said, because they were considered armed and Grunstad was still in danger.

The brother was placed in protective custody by San Bernardino County authorities who said they would ask for arrest complaints. Possible danger to the brother was considered "in relation to the danger his brother was in," said the San Diego officer, adding that "we have identified several" of those being sought.

Doris Day Awarded $22 Million

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Doris Day has won a judgment of more than $22 million from an attorney accused of defrauding her and her late husband, Marty Melcher, in a variety of business ventures.

Superior Court Judge Lester E. Olson ruled Wednesday for Miss Day in the culmination of a five-year court battle that cost $250,000 and described attorney Jerome Rosenthal's relationship with Melcher as fraudulent.

WEARING A PANTS suit and a floppy hat, she alternately wept and laughed after the decision was announced.

Olson said Rosenthal was guilty of the "grossest negligence" in business which he said "stinks to high heaven."

Of the total of $22,835,646, Olson assessed Rosenthal $3 million in punitive damages.

Miss Day was in court to hear the ruling and as spectators gathered around her, she sobbed, "I knew that justice would prevail. Reliving it all has destroyed me. As he (Olson) recounted it, it just wiped me out."

ROSENTHAL'S ATTORNEY, Craig Dummit, indicated he would appeal saying, "This is only the first round."

During the trial, it was testified Rosenthal advised Miss Day and Melcher on speculation in oil wells in Texas, Oklahoma and Kentucky and in the construction of two large hotels.

Miss Day testified she had given Melcher power of attorney and never questioned his business deals because she was "too busy" in her acting jobs to be well informed.

"MY HUSBAND trusted Rosenthal and I trusted my husband," said Miss Day.

Walbuena Still No. 2, Despite Winning Game

The Detroit Wheels and the Southern California Sun are going different directions the same way in the World Football League.

For Southern California the final minutes continue to spell victory but Detroit continues to lose in the closing quarter.

It was a 26-yard touchdown pass from reserve quarterback Gary Valbuena to Dick Witcher with exactly one minute to play that gave the Sun a comeback 28-24 victory over the Wheels Wednesday night after Detroit had come from 19 points back to take the lead in the fourth quarter. Valbuena prepped at Fountain Valley and also played at Orange Coast and Tennessee.

For the Sun, it was the sixth time in eight victories the team has come from behind late in the fourth quarter to win and the third time in the closing minutes.

Detroit coach Danny Boisjore shook his head and said, "This is the sixth time we've been leading in the last two minutes of a game and lost. I can't fault my players, they've fought back."

The Sun, 8-4, leads the Western Division and Detroit is last in the Central Division at 1-11.

Running back Alonzo Emery plunged in from close range twice in the second quarter as the Sun took a 15-3 halftime lead.

Quarterback Tony Adams extended the lead to 22-3 when he teamed with Dave Williams for a 29-yard touchdown in the third quarter.

But quarterback Bubba Wyche, helped by the running of Sam Scarber who gained 95 yards on 17 carries as the game's top rusher, brought Detroit back.

Wyche hit wide receiver Terry Phillips on a 34-yard scoring pass, dove in for a score from one yard out to make the score 22-17, then connected with Phillips for another touchdown, this one from 17 yards out, to give Detroit a 24-22 lead with 1:41 to play.

Valbuena then went to work — throwing passes of 21 and 16 yards to Dave Parks before the 26-yard pass to Witcher at the goal line to win the game.

"Yes, I called the play," Sun coach Tom Fears said of the touchdown throw to Witcher.

"We thought Detroit was leaving the middle open and we decided to try it."

Fears said even though Valbuena had quarterbacked the victory, Adams would stay as the starter.

"This doesn't change Gary's status. Tony is still the starter, he's gained a lot of yards for us."

Title Fight Set Oct. 30; Taylor Dies

NEW YORK — The George Foreman-Muhammad Ali heavyweight championship fight in Kinshasa, Zaire, has been rescheduled for Oct. 30, promoter Hank Schwartz said Wednesday.

That would set fight time at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 29, on the west coast.

The government of Zaire had announced on Tuesday that the fight was being postponed from Sept. 25 until Oct. 23, or Oct. 22 in the United States. There was no reason given for the additional week's delay, and there was no immediate confirmation of the date from Zaire.

Schwartz said Ali and Foreman, whose cut above his right eye has caused the postponement, would remain in Zaire until the fight.

● Taylor Succumbs

LOS ANGELES — Brice Taylor, the first black to win all-American college fame as a single-wing blocking guard in the 1920s at the University of Southern California, is dead at the age of 72.

Taylor, great-grandson of the Shawnee chief, Tecumseh, died Wednesday at Rancho Los Amigos Hospital in Downey. He received honorable mention. All-American honors for the 1926 season.

Despite the handicap of being born without a left hand, Taylor participated in football, basketball and track at Franklin High School in Seattle. He won an athletic scholarship to USC where he started as a fullback in 1924.

● Richards Dead

Ray Richards, a star football player at Nebraska and a professional player and coach, died Wednesday of cancer in Brea.

Richards, 68, had been ill since June. He spent more than 30 years in football, retiring from the game in 1968 to become general manager and vice president of Pemaco, Inc., a Los Angeles firm dealing in chemical products.

● Topping Dies

PASADENA — Keith Topping, a former Rose Bowl star, is dead at 62. Topping became a star on Claude E. "Ting" Thornhill's teams at Stanford that played in three straight Rose Bowl games, in 1934 through 1936.

Topping, an end, starred in all three games. In 1934, Stanford lost to Columbia 7-0, in 1935 Stanford lost to Alabama 29-13, and in 1936 Stanford defeated Southern Methodist University 7-0.

● King Advances

ORLANDO, Fla. — In spite of a painful toe, U.S. Open champion Billie Jean King used just 35 minutes to score a 6-0, 6-0 sweep over Sweden's Ingrid Bentzer in Wednesday's second round of a $50,000 stop on the women's professional tennis tour.

In other action Wednesday night, second-seeded Rosemary Casals defeated Janet Newberry, 6-3, 6-2 and third-seeded Françoise Durr dunned Kathy Kuykendall, 7-6, 6-4.

Czechoslovakian teen-ager Martina Navratilova upset seventh-seeded Laura DuPont 6-3, 5-3.

Favorites Marcie Louie, Julie Heldman, Betty Stove, and Tina Zwan advanced to the third round as expected. Louie edged Ilana Kloss, 7-6, 7-5; Heldman crushed Kathy Harter, 6-2, 6-4; Stove defeated Tory Fretz, 7-6, 6-0 and Zwan topped Diane Fromholz, 7-5, 6-2.

CLOSE CALL — St. Louis' Larry Herndon (right) scampers back to second base as Pittsburgh shortstop Mario Mendoza cuts off a throw to third from the outfield. Pittsburgh won the game, 4-1, to cut the Cards' National League East baseball lead to 1 1/2 games.

Pennant Races

Pirates Down Cardinals; Orioles Crush Yankees

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jim Rooker hurled a six-hitter and Al Oliver belted a two-run double, helping the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-1 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night and moving them within 1 1/2 games of the first-place Cardinals in the National League East pennant race.

The triumph ended a six-game losing streak for the Pirates and the loss halted St. Louis' string of consecutive victories at the same number of games. The Cardinals led 1-0 into the fourth when the Pirates scored twice off loser Lynn McGlothen with the help of two errors by St. Louis shortstop Mike Tyson.

Oliver opened the Pirates' fourth with a double to left. Willie Stargell then hit a grounder that was deflected by McGlothen and fielded by Tyson, who threw wildly past Joe Torre at first, enabling Oliver to score. Stargell was thrown out when he tried to take second. However, Dave Parker followed with a single and took third on a single by Manny Sanguillen.

Parker then scored when E. D. Kirkpatrick's bloop to short center was dropped by Tyson for another error, though Tyson managed to throw to second for a force out on Sanguillen.

McGlothen left the game in the seventh with runners at first and second, and Oliver followed with a two-run double off reliever Rich Folkers. In the Cardinal fifth, Lou Brock reached first on a forceout and stole second for his 110th steal of the year, extending his season record.

Cuellar Sparkles

NEW YORK — Mike Cuellar pitched Baltimore to within one-half game of first-place New York in the American League East and became a 20-game winner for the fourth time as the Orioles broke a tie with seven runs in the sixth inning and crushed the Yankees 10-4 Tuesday night.

The triumph gave the Orioles the first two games of the crucial three-game series and was their 17th in the past 22 games.

The Orioles' big inning against three pitchers included three walks — two with the bases loaded — three singles and consecutive two-run doubles by Rich Coggins and Bobby Grich.

Baltimore sent 12 batters to the plate, starting with Grich, who drew a walk off Pat Dobson, 16-15, winner of his last six decisions and eight of nine since Aug. 1. Grich raced to third on Tommy Davis' hit-and-run single and scored the go-ahead run when Boog Powell bounced a single past second baseman Sandy Alomar.

Lynn Paces Boston

BOSTON — Rookie outfielder Fred Lynn, formerly of USC, drove in three runs while collecting four hits Wednesday night, sparking the Boston Red Sox to an 8-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Winning for only the seventh time in the last 24 games, the Red Sox kept alive their flickering hopes for the American League East title. Lynn, starting only his second major league game since being recalled from Pawtucket of the International League, lined a run-scoring single in the first, tripled off the wall in left center as Boston went ahead 4-3 in the third and doubled off the wall in left for two more rbi in the fourth.

Then he lined a single to right center and scored on Dick McAuliffe's fifth homer, a drive into the Boston bullpen in right center, in the sixth.

Detroit's Al Kaline had a home run, double and a single, leaving him only four hits shy of becoming the 12th player in history to reach the 3,000 mark. The double was the 497th of his career, tying him with Sam Rice for 22nd place on baseball's all-time list.

Padres Trip Reds Gamble by Astros Defeats Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Greg Gross, Houston's rookie right fielder, took a gamble and the Los Angeles Dodgers lost.

Gross played Los Angeles slugger Joe Ferguson in short right field in the bottom of the ninth inning with Rick Auerbach on second base, representing the potential winning run.

Ferguson drove a single to right. Gross fielded the ball quickly and fired a strike to the plate, cutting down Auerbach.

Despite the loss, the Dodgers' second in three games with the Astros, Los Angeles retained its 2 1/2-game grasp on first place in the National League West, thanks to the San Diego Padres, who knocked off the second-place Reds two out of three. San Diego edged Cincinnati, 6-5, Wednesday night.

Tonight San Diego takes on the Dodgers in the opener of a four game series in Dodger Stadium while the Reds go to San Francisco.

Rookie right-hander Dave Freisleben, 9-12, will start for San Diego, against the Dodgers' Don Sutton, 16-9, who has won six straight decisions and 10 of his last 11.

The Dodgers had been restricted to four hits and no runs for eight innings by Larry Dierker, who had a 2-0 lead. But a single by Steve Garvey to open the ninth brought Mike Cosgrove out of the bullpen.

"Larry was tiring," Houston manager Preston Gomez said of his decision to lift Dierker.

Ken McMullen batted for Willie Crawford and rifled a dramatic home run into the left field pavilion to suddenly tie the game 2-2.

Ken Forsch replaced Cosgrove but Ron Cey shot a double to right and Auerbach ran for him. It was then that Ferguson singled to right.

"I thought Ferguson would try and hit the ball on the ground to the right side and get the run 'over,'" Gross explained later. "Usually, I play Ferguson deep. But in this situation I decided to move up a couple of steps instead. I guessed right and everything worked out all right."

Gross made the play on Auerbach, with a strike to catcher Milt May, who easily tagged out Auerbach. But the Dodgers weren't through.

Ferguson had taken second on the throw to the plate and Bill Russell was intentionally walked, putting runners at first and second with only one out.

But Forsch got pinch-hitter Von Joshua to bounce back to the mound and then Dave Lopes was thrown out by third baseman Doug Rader.

"The turning point in the game was Gross' throw," said Gomez afterward.

NIXON GETS CALLS FROM 'SKINS' ALLEN

Among the telephone calls to Richard Nixon wishing him well have been two from George Allen, the coach of the Washington Redskins professional football team, it was learned Wednesday.

Nixon was an enthusiastic Redskins fan while he was president and was said to seldom miss a game on television.

Such was his interest that during one game Nixon telephoned Allen and reached him on the sidelines, suggesting a play which the Redskins used on the next series.

Cal Poloists Favored In UC Irvine Tournney

Defending champion UC Berkeley will be the favorite again in the ninth annual UC Irvine water polo tournney, set to begin Friday.

Two games are scheduled Friday for the Newport Harbor High pool with another seven Saturday. The championship games will be played Sunday with action getting under way at 8:30 a.m.

UCI's Anteaters, under coach Ed Newland face USC in the opening game of the tournney Friday at 5 p.m.

UCI also meets Stanford at 10 Saturday morning.

The tournney is made up of three divisions with the winners of each division advancing to the championship bracket Sunday.

Division I includes UC Berkeley, Cal State (Fullerton) and Cal State (LB). In Division II are UCLA, San Jose State, UC Davis while UCI, USC and Stanford make up Division III.

Newland has seven returning lettermen, led by goalie Guy Antley. Other top returnees include Bret Bernard, Thomas Boughey, Tim Quinn, Chip Rowe, Keith Wall and Jason Wheaton.

The leading newcomers include Gary Figueroa, a freshman from Sunny Hills and Bruce Freund, a JC transfer from Fullerton, who also prepped at Sunny Hills.

Three former area stars — Bruce and Kurt Krumpolz and Garth Bergeon, all of whom prepped at Coronado del Mar will play in the tournney for UCLA. And Newport Harbor High grad Jim Young and Tom Billings compete for USC.

UC Irvine Tournney Pairings

Angels Split Doubleheader With Rangers

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Steve Hargan stopped the California Angels on three hits and rookie Tom Robson singled in two runs as the Texas Rangers blanked the California Angels, 2-0, Wednesday night for a split of their doubleheader.

Bruce Bochte and Joe Lahoud tagged 23-game winner Ferguson Jenkins for successive home runs in the first inning and the Angels went on to a 4-1 victory in the first game.

In the nightcap, Hargan, 12-8, retired the first 11 batters he faced before Bochte and Charlie Sands nicked him for two-out singles in the fourth. Hargan worked out of that jam, his only one of the game, by getting John Balaz on a line drive to third baseman Lenny Randle. John Doherty's infield single in the eighth was California's only other hit.

In the opener, Jenkins, 23-12, got the first two men he faced before Bochte smashed his fifth homer of the season and Lahoud followed with his 13th.

After the Rangers scored a run in the second on Toby Harrah's rbi single, California came back with two in the third on a double by Sands.

Andy Hassler, 5-11, who worked the first six innings, was the winner.

Emerson Tops Austin; Lutz Ousted

LOS ANGELES — Roy Emerson of Newport Beach won his second match in the Pacific Southwest Tennis tournament at the Los Angeles Tennis Club Wednesday, defeating Jeff Austin, 7-5, 6-3.

Bob Lutz of San Clemente dropped his second encounter to Raul Ramirez of Mexico, 7-6, 6-2. Emerson is making one of his infrequent appearances in tournament tennis and at 38, is a threat to the younger stars in the event, that has seen Stan Smith, among others, losing.

In other matches Wednesday, Jimmy Connors defeated Brian Teacher, 6-2, 6-7, 6-2. Connors is top seeded.

Arthur Ashe, the No. 3 seed, was extended to three sets before defeating Bill Brown, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1. Fifth seeded Roscoe Tanner beat Jurgen Fassbender, 7-5, 6-2; Tom Gorman, seeded sixth, downed John Yull, 6-3, 6-4 and seventh-seeded Harold Solomon eliminated Sydney Ball, 6-0, 6-1.

Two unseeded players who had first round upsets, were ousted in the second round.

Eric Van Dillen, who beat second-seeded Stan Smith, was defeated by Bob Kreiss, 7-6, 7-5, and Paul Kronk, who eliminated fourth-seeded Marty Riessen, fell to Roger Dowdesell, 6-4, 6-4. Connors had a tough time with Teacher, but in the end just wore down the UCLA junior.

Barons Battle Rugged St. Paul Monarchs, Corona del Mar Clash

Swordsmen Favored Over FV

Fountain Valley High opens the 1974 football season tonight by hosting the St. Paul High Swordsmen on the Orange Coast College field with kickoff at 8 o'clock.

St. Paul, one of the pre-season favorites to gain a CIF playoff berth, is the toughest opening foe in the history of Fountain Valley football.

"They have a fine football team and we know it," coach Bruce Pickford says. "Our kids have been working well in practice and we are in good health."

"But size-wise and in experience, we could be somewhat undermanned."

Pickford's charges participated in a summer passing league and did well with Chris Dove at the helm. Dove will start at quarterback for the Barons tonight.

"Whether he will be able to throw against the vaunted defensive strength of the Swordsmen or not, is a big question mark and one that will be answered when the final whistle is blown."

St. Paul, under coach Marjon Ancich, has always had a tough defensive unit and this year is no exception.

He also has a pair of quarterbacks in Ed Luther and Craig Johnson who like to throw the ball and an outstanding runner in Tony Mire, a 6-0, 200-pounder.

Joining Dove in the Fountain Valley opening offensive backfield are Dave Kruetzer at tailback, Steve Thomson at fullback and Vince Bienek at halfback.

Dan Jackson gets the nod at split end and could be the key to the Barons' passing game along with the backfield starters.

Death is of concern to Pickford this season with several of his key players going both ways including fullback Thomson.

A second-team choice at fullback in the Irvine League last season, Thomson will also double at linebacker on defense.

We'll Have to Contain GWC To Win, Says Bucs' Tucker

A unique situation has developed in the football rivalry between Golden West College and Orange Coast College.

In past years, the game has been the opener for both teams and each has gone into the skirmish knowing little about the other except for films of the previous season and watching informal scrimmage sessions.

When the two teams meet Saturday night at Orange Coast, Pirates coach Dick Tucker isn't sure which team will benefit.

"There are two ways to look at the situation," he says. "First, we have a game under our belts and will have the advantage of correcting any mistakes we might have made."

"On the other hand, they have had a chance to scout us and we haven't been able to do the same with them under game conditions. I really don't know where the advantage lies."

Off what the Orange Coast coach has seen in an informal scrimmage with Carristos and knowing the personnel of Golden West better than most opposing coaches because of his close proximity to the GWC scene, Tucker says:

"They are a great passing team and I respect quarterback Dan Accomando for his ability. Their entire offense is explosive and their defense is probably as good as ours so we will have to contain them to win."

Tucker praised the Orange Coast defense for its work in the opener against Cypress which the Pirates won, 20-0.

"I thought our defense played a great game but I was disappointed in our inability to score when we were inside the five-yard line."

"We had great field position but when we got down there, we didn't have the scoring punch."

The only lineup change will find freshman Tony Accomando, Dan's brother starting at a halfback spot for the Pirates. He was impressive in the Cypress game and was named the Bucs' offensive player of the game.

Feil in Tourney

Bill Feil of Laguna Niguel will return to play in the Queen Mary open golf tournament in Long Beach Oct. 16-20 after finishing third a year ago.

Feil pocketed $1,600 for his third place finish in the $22,500 event that will be held at El Dorado Park or Recreation Park Golf Course this year. First prize is $4,500.

MD Picked To Topple Sea Kings

Mater Dei High's beefy Monarchs and the Corona del Mar High Sea Kings clash tonight at Santa Ana Bowl in the opening football test for both schools.

Kickoff is at 8 and the Monarchs of coach Gary Carr are six-point favorites to up their record to 21-2 in opening games.

Mater Dei opens with an offensive line consisting of five, 200-pound plus athletes and it averages 205 as opposed to coach Dave Holland's smaller Sea Kings.

The Century League representatives from Corona del Mar average 182 from tackle to tackle with center Rhett Tucker and tackle Tony Roxstrom the biggest at 190.

Both teams like to pound the opposition through the middle—Mater Dei with tailbacks Pat McKeon or Martin Sundy and Corona del Mar with dive action from halfbacks Marty and Mike Ferraro.

Corona del Mar's major weapon is quarterback Gary Guinness, a junior who started for the Sea Kings as a sophomore but was plagued by injury in 1973.

Guinness completed 35 of 54 passes for 456 yards and four touchdowns in a five-game span for the Sea Kings.

And, when Guinness wasn't throwing, the runners were gaining yardage effectively.

Both of the Ferraros are effective runners and CdM has another good back in Bruce Carpenter.

Holland says his team's major task is performing consistently and keeping mistakes to a minimum, along with a good kicking game.

Mater Dei's running game is boosted with the aerial ability of quarterback Jim Wigmore, who displayed a good arm in scrimmage warfare at Newport Harbor.

But while Mater Dei's primary concern is to stop Guinness with his passing and running, Corona's big task is to hold off the slants of the tailbacks running behind the blocking of Eric Berg, Don Watters and John LaGrandeur, who make up the right side of the Monarchs' offensive line.

LaGrandeur earned third team All-CIF 4-A honors at center as a junior and Berg is a blue chip prospect.

Huntington Haunted By Hipple

Huntington Beach High's defense will get an early season acid test Friday night when coach Roy Brummett's Oilers invade Warren in Downey and the Oilers coach says its the corners that will be under fire.

"We've got to get to Warren's quarterback, Eric Hipple," says Brummett.

"He's one of the best we'll see this year, especially as a sprintout quarterback. It puts a lot of pressure on our corners and the thing we have to do is simply get some defenders all over him."

"He can do a lot of things well and he doesn't seem to get hurt. And he can throw very deep," says Brummett.

Brummett's own offense appears to be in fair shape, although he'd like to see a better passing game than provided in last week's scrimmage.

"If we can throw the ball effectively and get an excellent defensive effort I believe we have a good shot at them," says Brummett.

The Oilers have been installed as underdogs in their 1974 opener to Warren, a team which boasts an all-veteran backfield and a 5-4 record in '73.

Perhaps the most pleasant surprise in the Oilers camp is the lack of pre-season injury, although Tony Bonwell might be held out.

If he gets the doctor's ok he'll be starting at linebacker. Brummett likens Warren to his own team in terms of sheer hitting.

Says Pizzica

Fullerton Coach Blowing Smoke

Fullerton High co-coach Gil Tucker is moaning that his Indians are too slow to stay with the Newport Harbor Sailors Friday night in the 1974 football opener.

But Newport coach Bill Pizzica isn't buying it. "You've got to be kidding," says Pizzica when informed of Tucker's analysis.

"He's just blowing smoke. We watched their 225-pound fullback, Ron Lipias, run 70 yards for a touchdown against Anaheim in a scrimmage and the secondary couldn't catch him. And Fullerton outscored Anaheim, four touchdowns to one."

Pizzica also notes Fullerton's size, which is similar to Mater Dei. "They may be bigger than Mater Dei and we feel we're in for a real battle," says Pizzica.

Pizzica says his offense must find a way to move the ball consistently up the middle against Fullerton in order to maintain supremacy. "Fullerton's defense is different from what we'll see in the future. They do a lot of stunting and run out of an odd front. It poses some confusion in our offensive line. They do a lot of moving around, bringing their linebackers up with red dogs and sometimes they'll stack up three linebackers and make you figure out where they are going to go," says Pizzica.

As for the Fullerton offense, Pizzica's worries include such tactics as an end around pass play and isolation action. "They like to pick on a lineman. They won't block him with their linemen, instead using two blocking backs on him to give their linemen the chance to double-team the other defensive lineman."

"It's a power thing and very effective."

Kevin Lindsay appears lost for the game due to a knee injury which has not responded well to treatment.

Taking his spot at defensive end is Jimmy Helfrich (190), who looked good in the Sailors' scrimmage against Mater Dei.

Dolphins' Goal: Snap Wishbone

Breaking the wishbone has everybody breaking their backs at Dana Hills.

The Dolphins must face the complicated, quick-hitting attack Friday night when they trek to Chaffey High for an 8 o'clock football game against Ontario.

"They run the wishbone very well," says Dana Hills coach Tony Leon. "They have quick backs who appear to know the system and their quarterback keeps the ball hidden very well."

Reading the keys and going to the ball will be the strategy for the Dolphins' defensive game plan. Tackles Joe Cameron and Craig Fulladosa will key on the fullback, ends Arnulfo Malagon and Nick Yocco will stay with the quarterback and outside backers Ron Kosmala and Bruce Warrington will key the option back.

Inside linebackers Rick Browning and Bob Spires will follow the ball while defensive backs Kerry Crabb, Darryl Howe and Chris Walsh will have to keep alive for an occasional Ontario pass.

The loss of linebacker Mark Bethke, out two more weeks with a knee problem, really hurts the Dolphins in a game like this, says Leon. He is quick and is the kind of defensive athlete needed to stop the wishbone.

One of Dana Hills' big problems this year is depth. Seven players will be forced to go both ways against Ontario which could hurt the Dolphins in the final period if the game is close.

Mesa Planning Passing Attack

Drawing a team like Foothill for its first game doesn't help Costa Mesa's chances of having its first winning football season ever. The Mustangs, under new head coach Tom French, open the 1974 campaign Friday night at 8 against the Knights at Orange Coast College. With 21 lettermen back from a team which finished high in the Crestview League standings last year, Foothill is a tough initial game opponent.

Foothill not only has a host of athletes back from last year, but they are all big. The Knights outweigh the Mustangs about 20-25 pounds each man. French hopes to offset the weight disadvantage with speed and quickness.

Mesa hopes to turn things around by throwing the ball. French promises a wide-open attack. Despite the fact Foothill has its entire defensive backfield returning, Costa Mesa hopes to win through the air, says French.

French reports that Mission

Viejo was able to throw against the Knights in their scrimmage and figures Mesa should also. "We won't change our game plan to try and beat Foothill — we'll go with what we do best," adds the Mesa coach.

Although still inexperienced, quarterback Rod Figgatt is performing very well. Tight end Keith Josephson is developing into a top flight receiver to go along with flanker Mark Krikorian, says French.

Mesa's small offensive line might have trouble against the larger Knights, but again French is hoping quickness will make up for it. Gary Baume and Scott Turner will start at tackle. Terry Kohlenberg and Mark Nebeker will open at guard and Tim Mullikin will start at center.

The Mustangs defense is led by all-league safety Figgatt. Defensive backs Dave Cooper and Mark Kennedy along with lineman Nebeker are also playing very well defensively, says French.

Mission Viejo to Use 110-pound Deep Back

Mission Viejo High's Diablos will be fielding a relative small team Friday night when they open the 1974 prep football season at Santa Ana Bowl against Empire League representative Saddleback High.

Coach John Murio has only one 200-pounder in the starting lineup and the defense includes a 135-pound cornerback and a 110-pound safety!

Mark Andrews, the captain of the sophomore team in '73, is the mighty mite at safety while Jeff Hopp will man one of the corners.

Murio's chief concern as he takes a Mission Viejo team into battle for the first time, however, is a way to stop Saddleback's nifty set of running backs while at the same time coming up with a mistake-free offense.

"We weren't real sharp in our scrimmage with Foothill," says Murio, "and we'd like to establish a better running game."

"And our lack of overall and individual speed worries me."

A major setback in "the Diablos' armor is at tackle where starters Vance Corrier (175) and Jeff McCarty (170) have been lost indefinitely with a knee and broken foot.

Both were hurt in the first week of pads and taking their place in the forward wall are Brad Silva (200) and Todd Shumsky (165).

The Diablos also lost Ren Pagan at tailback due to his moving to Kansas City. John Montgomery, however, has stepped in to assume starting duty at tailback.

"I really don't know what to think until we get this game under our belt," says Murio. "We only have 12 seniors on the entire squad and we haven't really been tested."

El Toro's Big Key: Offense

El Toro's defense figures to be strong again this season, but just how far the Chargers will go in a tougher CIF classification this year depends on how well the offense develops.

Coach Mac Moore will get many of the answers Friday when his Chargers travel to Brea to open the football season with an 8 p.m. contest.

El Toro should be strong at the skilled positions, but the offensive line is a big question mark. Center Keith Jones and tight end Jeff Green were starters last season, but are the only athletes at this spot with experience.

"Our offensive line is the big problem with our club right now," says Moore. "The kids have looked good in practice, but we won't know what we have until we see them under game conditions."

El Toro's ground game will be one of the keys in the Brea game. The Chargers hope to establish a running attack with fullback Chuck Van Liew and tailback Brian Heaney doing most of the work. Van Liew provides the power in the attack and Heaney the speed.

The Chargers, however, will take to the air if things get tough on the ground. Quarterback Gary Key threw two touchdown passes to split end Joe Carta in the Santa Ana scrimmage last Saturday and tight end Green and flanker Scott Burghardt can also catch the ball.

Defensively, El Toro allowed less than a touchdown a contest in 1974 and with virtually all the starters returning, Moore expects more of the same this year.

Green and Van Liew are fixtures at linebacker, Jones and Dave Ricker will start at end, while Tony Lundy and Keith Mosby will open at tackle. All played last year for the Chargers who made the CIF 1-A playoffs.

"Brea is a well-coached team which likes to stay on the ground," says Moore. "They run the ball right at you, but we should be able to stop them if our defensive athletes play their kind of game."

Bad News, Good News For Uni

The doctor brought some good news and some bad to University coach Jerry Redman this week after three of his top players were injured in the Trojans scrimmage against Huntington Beach Saturday.

The good news was that starting fullback and strong safety Jim Green will be able to play in University's opening football game Friday night at 8 o'clock at Tustin. The bad news revealed first string wide receiver and free safety Sean Graham and tackle Mike Hanfield would not be ready.

Having Green healthy, however, is a big factor in the Trojans' chances against the Tillers. The 61, 196-pounder is instrumental to both offense and defense. Offensively, his power running adds balance to the Trojans ground game and on defense he is probably the most important player Redman has.

Tustin's defense against the run is very good, but the Tillers have trouble with the pass, which is bad news to the Trojans who like to stay on the ground. Tustin was able to contain rugged Servite's running game, but the Friars exploded when they took to the air.

Green is the power runner in the Trojans attack while Terry Preston provides most of the speed. When given protection, Richard Herson can pass but Redman prefers staying on the ground.

"I feel our offense will get going if it can just hang on to the ball," says Redman. "We moved the ball well in our scrimmage but fumbled too many times to be effective."

University won four of its last five games last season and Redman is hoping to carry the momentum into Friday's opener with Tustit.

Cup 'Secret Weapon'

Aussies Praise Olin Stephens' Design

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — As long as Olin J. Stephens II is alive and well and designing America's Cup racing yachts, the chances that America will lose the "Auld Mug" are slight.

permitted the class boats to be built of aluminum. A QUIET-MANNERED Stephens, who is a man of simplicity and conviction, said about Courageous being the ultimate in design, "I wouldn't go so far as to say that, but she is a good boat."

Stephens had already agreed to redesign Intrepid but drew new plans for the aluminum Courageous. This year the International 12-meter rule

TO MEET THE British challenge in 1937 Stephens joined with W. Starling Burgess and designed the fastest J class sloop the yachting world has ever seen.

The New York Yacht Club changed the America's Cup "Deed of Gift" which establishes rules for the races and designated that International 12-meter class sloops would be used for the next challenge.

It was a Stephens-designed 12-meter that defended the cup in 1958, the first year the races were sailed in the 12-meter class. Columbia defeated England's Sceptre in four consecutive races.

CONSTELLATION, another Stephens-designed 12-meter, defeated England's Sovereign in four straight races in 1964.

For the 1967 cup defense it was Intrepid that dominated four races over Australia's Dame Pattie with ease. Stephens' design of Intrepid was considered by yachting experts to be a major breakthrough in 12-meter design.

Intrepid lived on as the dominating 12-meter in the 1970 races against Australia's 'Ninety Day Mistress'

Play Rich in Laughs

'The Ninety Day Mistress...' a sort of 'sleeper' comedy produced only once before on the Orange Coast since its Broadway debut in the late 1960s...

Intermission Tom Titus

but the laughs are there nevertheless. Director Beverly Sparks has fashioned an attractive production of J. J. Coyle's modern comedy...

At the San Clemente Community Theater, some of the physical potential of the play is watered down and some of its comic finesse is diluted by inattentiveness...

AT ITS CORE, however, 'Mistress' is quite sound. Marie Armstrong plays the liberated lady given to terminating her affairs before the novelty wears off...

Harvey Dabbling appears to have been made for the opening scene when she employs mispronunciation as an attempt at sophistication. Their byplay over her pregnancy, however, is well done.

Ray Judson gives a cool, deliberate performance as Miss Armstrong's new-found father, drolly delivering some of the show's funniest lines...

'THE NINETY DAY MISTRESS' A comedy by J. J. Coyle, directed and designed by Beverly Sparks...

role of the Minnesota farm boy overwhelmed by New York sophistication, but his timing comes too close to his character—slow and deliberate...

The weakest member of the San Clemente cast is Doris Donka as Miss Armstrong's approving mother...

THE OFFSTAGE couple of Heidi and Les Heide play a pair of bickering friends quite effectively...

Among the more disappointing elements of the production is the over-clothing of the participants in the opening boudoir scene...

MISS SPARKS, doubling as set designer, does an impressive job of reshaping the Cabrillo stage to the demands of the script...

'The Ninety Day Mistress' will be in residence for two more weekends, Thursdays through Saturdays...

'Rhoda' Leads New Shows

By JAY SHARBUIT NEW YORK (AP)—The ratings for television's "premiere week" are in and CBS' new "Rhoda" series tops the list...

But there's bad news for ABC: Four of seven new series it aired the week of Sept. 9-15 landed in the bottom of the A.C. Nielsen ratings pile.

Three ABC losers—"Kodiak," "Texas Wheelers" and "Night Stalker," bowed on Friday night, a night ABC's "Six Million Dollar Man" proved a victim of ratings deflation...

THE WOE DIDN'T ease Saturday when another new ABC entry, "The New Land," was last. It was seen in 6.3 million homes...

It's way too early to tell how any show aired in premiere week will fare over the long haul...

But for those who like to keep track of opening-night receptions, six new series—three on CBS, three on NBC—were among the nation's 20 highest-rated programs in premiere week...

The top-rated CBS shows, in addition to "Rhoda," were the "Paul Sand" show and "Manhunter"...

The top-rated NBC shows, in addition to "Rhoda," were the "Chico and the Man" and "Little House on the Prairie"... had it not been for its new "Petrocelli" series, which was rated 49th of all shows on the bill that week.

There were some surprises in ratings for new programs and old reliables alike. CBS' "Gunsmoke," entering its 19th TV season without Miss Kitty...

for TV showings of the movie versions came in 37th.

ABC's "Paper Moon" was registered at 38 on the popularity scale.

The only bloomer in ABC's new show crop was "Harry O," which came in 25th overall...

But stay tuned. All this can and probably will change next week.

Business Sets Clean Air Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Business, labor and local government is giving Gov. Ronald Reagan a go-ahead to fight federal Clean Air provisions that would reportedly be disastrous to California's economy.

About 25 representatives of the three sectors nodded their "general approval" Wednesday after being told the South Coast Basin "could obviously not survive" enforcement of the Clean Air Act's provisions.

Reagan called the closed meeting to discuss a draft report by his Task Force on the Clean Air Act. Environmentalists were not included.

Store Killing LONG BEACH (UPI) — Dale R. Lentz, 34, a liquor store clerk, was shot and killed Wednesday after two robbery suspects took $100 from the cash register.

Police said two men, one armed with a rifle, entered Cherry Liquor Store and demanded money. One man scooped the money from the cash register and Lentz was shot as they fled the store.

Life Term LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jurors voted against death, and the slight, stooped, 57-year-old karate instructor wept, then stood and bowed three times — to the jury, the judge and his defense attorney.

The Superior Court jury's decision Wednesday means James Mitose will automatically receive a life prison sentence for his conviction of the killing of the strawberry king of the San Gabriel Valley.

New Center LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $125 million shopping center with offices, a rooftop hotel and more than six acres of interior sunlit walkways, lakes, streams and landscaped areas is in the works for downtown Los Angeles.

Plans for the complex, called The Centrum, were unveiled Wednesday by Mayor Tom Bradley. Ground breaking is set for late 1975 and the project is to be completed in early 1978, officials said.

Stew Strike OAKLAND (UPI) — Stewardesses and stewards of Hughes Airwest Airline will go on strike Friday unless an 11-month contract dispute is settled.

The company employs 550 flight attendants, including 32 male stewards, in San Francisco, Las Vegas, Phoenix and Seattle.

Fruit Flies SACRAMENTO (AP) — An infestation of the oriental fruit fly has been found in San Diego.

But worry not, they will be lured to their deaths by sex and food, says the state Department of Food and Agriculture.

The department said the "male annihilation technique," in which a sex lure is used on males, is in operation. It is regarded as one of the most efficient among all measures against insects.

Safe Landing LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Pan American World Airways 747 jetliner made a safe landing here with one of its 18 landing wheels missing, officials report.

Pan American flight 812 from Honolulu lost the wheel on takeoff Wednesday but made a normal flight and landing with many of the 220 passengers unaware of the emergency, a spokesman said.

San Juan Mom Pleads For Child Safety

An emotional plea for added precautions to protect small children crossing a busy arterial highway to get to school was heard Wednesday by San Juan Capistrano city councilmen.

intersection of Del Obispo and Del Avion, in spite of a new traffic signal. "We're grateful for the new signal," said Mrs. Lautrop. "But the woman ran a red light and nearly ran over the children in the crosswalk." Councilman Doug Nash said it was premature to judge the value of the signal because school has only been in session a few days. But the council sent the matter to the Traffic and Transportation Committee for study. Mrs. Lautrop asked the city to hire a crossing guard, a person who could accompany children across the street, holding a stop sign. She said it is common practice in San Clemente. Guards there are supervised by the San Clemente Police Department. "The state requires us to send our children to school daily," the city forces us to send them across a major arterial highway and yet no governmental body wishes to be responsible for their safety," she said. "We would hope that the lack of foresight by governing bodies never forces them to erect an overpass in the name of a dead child. There would be little consolation to the parents watching a bridge grow old instead of the child they loved," she said. Mrs. Lautrop pointed out that the speed limit on most of Del Obispo is 50 miles per hour. She said visibility is good for drivers approaching the signal from the east, but bad from the west. The signal was installed as a temporary device about a month ago. City officials hope to construct a permanent signal at the intersection in February. The traffic light was requested by parents of school children who feared that youngsters wouldn't be able to safely cross Del Obispo. If approved by the Traffic and Transportation Committee, the crossing guard will be a paid employee of the city. The school district, which supports the concept, does not have funding for guards.

Decision Attacked

Doheny Camping Appeal Readied

Leaders in the South Coast effort to scotch any state plans for increasing campsites at Doheny State Park vowed today to appeal the decision early this week by regional coastal commissioners who approved the new version of the controversial project.

Vaughn Curtiss, a leader of the group from Capistrano Beach seeking the retention of the strip of Doheny for day use, said that the appeal "is a natural."

Curtiss hopes that history will repeat itself when the appeal is scheduled to be heard and acted upon by the state coastal commission.

"The first time, when they had more campsites proposed for the park, the regional commission approved it, then our appeal was upheld at the state level and we won."

"One of our main fears right now is that the California Department of Parks and Recreation will break ground on the project before our appeal reaches the state commission," he said.

State park planners have fought hard for months to win the crucial permits to expand the Doheny beachfront camping area by 175 new spaces.

They view the latest plans as a compromise with foes after the loss of the initial project.

But Curtiss and scores of others, primarily from Capistrano Beach, insist that day use is a far better fate for the large beach immediately downcoast of the existing Doheny camp area.

They insist that use of a white sand beach for camping violates the spirit of the Coastal Initiative.

State officials have argued heavily, however, that the serious need for more camping in the area reinforces their plans.

Before Monday's vote of the regional commission yielded approval for the $1 million project, local foes were buoyed, Curtiss said, by a strong commission staff recommendation that the request be denied.

Other support for the opposition has come from the cities of San Juan Capistrano and San Clemente. Councilmen in each community unanimously (See DOHENY, Page A2)

Senate Votes Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, by a vote of 64 to 35, cleared a pay raise for 3.5 million civilian and military employees today, handing President Ford's economic policy its first setback in Congress.

The Senate refused Ford's request, backed by a last-minute plea, to postpone the pay increase by three months and cut government spending by $700 million.

As a result, the 5.52 percent increase will go into effect Oct. 1 instead of Jan. 1 as proposed by Ford.

Five Meet Death As Plane Goes Down in Flames

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A single-engine plane flying in dense fog crashed in flames today, killing all five persons aboard, including a child, authorities said.

The Cherokee, en route here from Las Vegas, slammed into the Santa Ana River bed, which runs parallel to runways at nearby Riverside Airport but about a mile away — about nine miles south west of Riverside.

Names of the victims were not immediately known. A spokesman for the Riverside County sheriff's department said, "The bodies are so badly burned it may be many hours before we can tell who they were."

The sheriff's spokesman said conditions were very bad for visual flying — "It was very foggy and visibility was 'way down.'"

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration in Los Angeles said the plane was on an approach to the airport. He said visibility was reported as one-half mile in fog.

However, the pilot was making his approach with navigational aids, he said.

Target Practice Brings Arrests

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Police say two men who decided to test their marksmanship by shooting at flies with a pistol have been charged with reckless firing of a gun.

Officers said L.C. Olney and Dennis Burger opened the flyshoot at the Suburban Garage Wednesday after having a couple of drinks.

Three garbagemen who had to dodge flying lead called police.

Police said there was no indication that the some 70 shots fired during the episode brought down any flies.

Lebin's Big Top

Capistrano Beach's tenacious camper Richard W. Lebin obviously hasn't capitulated to the foes at the county seat, as this tent — his new home — attests. Unemployed local man lived in old Cadillac camp car on this spot before county officials ordered it hauled away. Undaunted, he has found another way to keep out the damp night air. County legal counsel says tent is illegal and Lebin seems headed for yet another round in battle over squatter's rights.

Talks to Resume In Pipefitters' Strike Oct. 4

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCHE

Negotiations are set to resume Oct. 4 in a pipefitters strike which has already cost Southern Californians more than $25 million in delays on a single project.

More than 2,500 steamfitters and pipefitters in Southern California walked off their jobs July 1 in a strike to retain a 36-hour work week. A wage and fringe benefit increase of $2.47 an hour for the first year of a new contract has already been reached by negotiators. Pipefitters now earn $8.88 an hour plus fringe benefits.

Larry Hamlin, Southern California Edison Company project manager for the San Onofre nuclear generating station, this morning estimated that work stopped by the strike has cost the company $25 million, a cost which will ultimately be borne by customers.

Pipefitters picket lines went up at the plant Aug. 5, Hamlin said, and other crafts working on the station stopped work.

The picket lines went down this week, he said, and work by other trades has resumed.

MARIJUANA SMOKE POLLUTED SKIES

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Navy burned tons of marijuana on at least two occasions in which air-pollution regulations were violated, says San Diego County's health director.

Dr. J. B. Askew, who also is an officer of the Air Pollution Control District, said a single-chamber incinerator at North Island Naval Air Station was used in July.

Laguna Hills a Bonanza For Military Recruiters

By JAN WORTH

Under the shadow of a huge blue jeans emporium in the Wild West Plaza in Laguna Hills, a recruiting office for the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps is doing a booming business.

The four men who run the office can't explain the boom fully, but since they moved from an office in San Clemente last April, the Marines have had five times the number of applicants and the Navy, ten times.

The Navy has recruited 43 volunteers—including three young women—from the new quarters at 25272 McIntyre. It's a marked contrast from their former quota of one enlistment per month.

"If you picture a pie with a six at the bottom and a 12 at the top, we've moved about a third of the way toward the 12 from the six," said Chief Bos'n Mate Chuck Evans, head Navy recruiter.

The recruiting area for both the Marines and Navy is the same—the sprawling southern half of Orange County that includes El Toro, Mission Viejo, Laguna Beach, Laguna Niguel, Laguna Hills, San Juan Capistrano, Dana Point, and San Clemente.

The Marines have recruited 10 young men, and expect to have several more sworn in by the end of the month—including more than a five-fold increase for them.

Marine Gunnery Sgt. Larry Reid said in general the youths recruited from the south county are more affluent, more intelligent and more sure of themselves than the average recruit.

"They don't just wander in from the street looking for a job," Reid said. "They come in with definite ideas about what they want."

However many have preconceived negative notions about what they could be getting into Evans said, which in his opinion are for the most part false.

"They think of the four or six years involved being a very long time," he said. "We discuss this with them and compare it with their past and with their future. Being young, many things like this look insurmountable."

"They also feel that they'll be locked in with no free time. We explain to them that it's a regular work day, plus the specialized professional duties that you choose."

"Of the kids we've tested here for Navy schools, 85 to 90 percent of them pass with flying colors," Evans said. Ten percent of those qualify for the elite nuclear and advanced electronics programs, he said.

Part of the interest, both among the Marine and Navy recruits, may lie in the preponderance of military families (See RECRUIT, Page A2)

Appointee Approved In 4-0 Vote

By JOHN VALTERZA

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

San Clemente Real Estate appraiser and fledgling planning Commissioner Charles P. Fox emerged as the fifth member of the city council early today after councilmen wound up three hours of wrangling over an appointee.

The 32-year-old Fox, a local resident since 1970 and planning commissioner since last July, won 4-0 approval at 2 a.m. after councilmen in a sometimes tense public session appeared headed for a deadlock.

They finally gave up a public try at accord and retired to a secret executive session to reach unanimity.

Had they failed to agree, the councilmen would have had to work with one man short until the earliest possible special election — March of next year.

Fox was the strong choice of Councilman Tony DiGiovanni, and is a close neighbor. DiGiovanni spoke highly of the nominee early in the evening.

But the remaining three members of the council felt just as strongly about their nominees:

Mayor Thomas O'Keefe led the break from the executive session tradition with an assault on speculative press stories which he asserted were fed by reports from abundant executive sessions held on the appointment matter.

He termed press reporting of executive-session material "highly irresponsible" and urged that the council deliberate publicly to assure accuracy in reporting.

Then he made his nomination.

Citing the scarcity of women in city government, O'Keefe came out strongly for Ms. Donna Wilkinson, the chairwoman of the Parks and Recreation Commission, praising her devotion to community service.

DiGiovanni lauded Fox highly and stressed that in the eventual winner's short tenure on the commission, he proved his effectiveness. Fox, he said, would be a "tremendous asset" on the council because of expertise in matters of growth.

Arthur Holmes raised the name of long-time former councilman and Mayor Dr. Wade Lower, and was adamant in his support of the retired oral surgeon who lost re-election by a handful of votes last spring.

Holmes' adamantness soon would spell (See FOX, Page A2) doom for an initial public selection process.

B. Patrick Lane made two nominations, one which he defended highly, despite its ramifications.

He said one choice would be former Mayor and Councilman Howard Massie.

"I make no attempt to hide the fact that he is a trusted friend and was my campaign manager, but I must emphasize that I am nominating him, but will cast no votes for him," said Lane. His second nominee was someone recommended highly to him, Traffic and Parking Commissioner William Waddell.

With the nominations out and the prospect of a hopeless deadlock looming, O'Keefe suggested a complex number game on written ballots to ferret out the top contenders.

It failed. After the first vote, in which Dr. Lower emerged as the last choice, Holmes put down his pencil and pad and said he refused to continue in the exercise.

That procedure amounted to each councilman listing in order of priority his choices for the council seat.

The man with the fewest points would emerge tops; the nominee with the most would fall by the wayside.

Holmes' backing out and assertions that he would not yield in his choice of Dr. Lower chagrined others on the panel. And at that point, the handful of press and spectators left the chambers. Two hours later, the council reconvened publicly and a swift and unanimous ballot gave the term to Fox.

The new councilman, who will serve the remainder of the term left vacant by innkeeper Paul Presley, is 32 and the head of a successful appraisal firm in San Clemente bearing his name.

The Navy Reserve lieutenant and his wife, Madeleine, have three children and live in the Hillcrest colony at 907 Avenida Presidio. Mrs. Fox serves as an on-call, blood-alcohol technician for the city police department.

Fox is a graduate of San Francisco State College with a degree in finance. He and his family settled in San Clemente in 1970 after a tour in the Navy.

DiGiovanni, who must consider the appointment as a major victory, characterized Fox as a "skilled and decisive man who is not afraid of making the right decision and sticking by it, even if it is unpopular."

Search Teams, Dogs Still Hunt Firebug Suspect

Search teams and tracking dogs from two counties were still beating the brush in rugged Santa Ana Canyon today, hunting for a man suspected of starting at least one major brush fire in Orange County last Sunday.

A spokesman for the Orange County Fire Department said half a dozen expert trackers with dogs in addition to about two dozen other officers are prowling the mountains near the Glen Ivy Boys Ranch in Riverside County.

"He was last seen a few days ago in this vicinity," the spokesman said. "He apparently stole some clothing and shoes from the ranch laundry so we aren't sure now what he is wearing."

The ranch is a former resort hotel now used to house juvenile delinquents.

The only person who has seen the suspect up close was a state forest ranger who fired several rifle shots at him Sunday and missed.

He is described as a black man about six feet tall and weighing about 170 pounds, according to the spokesman.

It was thought at first the suspect was a prison parolee who formerly worked as a county firefighter but the fire department spokesman said that lead ran into a blank wall when the man was found asleep in his home Sunday night.

The spokesman said the arson suspect may have been responsible for setting a fire that burned down a meeting hall at the boys ranch Tuesday night.

living in the area.

Many of the kids going into the service from this area are sons and daughters of military personnel. In many cases, the youth is sworn into his chosen branch by his father, Evans said.

"We have everything in this area—brigadier generals, major generals, commanders, captains—the whole route of ratings. The only branch of the service we haven't come into contact with is the Coast Guard."

Typically, recruiters for a branch of the service which has a local base have more trouble than recruiters for another branch. The same is true of the Marines in this area, with opinion apparently negatively affected by the nearby El Toro and Camp Pendleton Marine bases.

"But we've been doing a lot of advertising and publicity and it seems to be paying off," Sgt. Reid said.

On the bulletin board in the office are photos of kids sworn in recently by both the Navy and Marines.

Many have long hair and mustaches. They're wearing flannel shirts and look like tanned surfers, their girlfriends at their sides.

"The moms and dads around here are extremely interested in their kids," Evans observed. "Even if they have long hair and smoke pot, the parents still love them."

And reflecting on why the recent recruiting approach may be winning more response, Evans added, "Above all else, we don't lie to the kids. We don't feed them a bunch of malarkey."

Owner Couldn't Handle 40 Dogs

OAKLAND (AP) — "They've been breeding so fast I haven't had time to do anything about them," Francis Chaudet told police, who found 40 dogs at his home.

Officers investigated Wednesday after Chaudet's neighbors complained about stray dogs running loose in the area.

Police found 15 dogs nosing around in front of Chaudet's two-bedroom home, and another 25 inside, including a dead one sprawled on the floor. Officers said many of the dogs apparently suffered from distemper and skin infections.

Idaho Indians Declare 'War' in Land Dispute

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (UPI) — A small Indian tribe ignored a government peace gesture today, vowing to go ahead with its war over 1.6 million acres of aboriginal land seized 120 years ago.

The 67 members of the Kootenai tribe said they would set up four road blocks and collect tolls from those passing through the area starting at midnight.

The Kootenais demand that Bureau of Indian Affairs set aside 128,000 acres of the disputed land for use as a reservation and give them a cash payment. They said this would compensate them for the land taken by the government.

Bureau Commissioner Morris Thompson said in a telegram to tribal Chairman Amelia Trice Wednesday that his agency was reviewing the situation and would reply soon to the tribe's demands.

Kootenai spokesman Doug Wheaton said the wire "sounded like the bureau is trying to formulate a plan and get people together. What we want will take congressional action." He added the "war" would start on schedule.

At Boise, Idaho, Gov. Cecil Andrus warned that he would send state troopers to arrest anyone attempting to set up a roadblock.

Wheaton said the governor told him it was his duty to enforce the state's laws "regardless of the consequences." But the tribe spokesman said the governor's decision would not deter the Indians.

Wheaton said the situation could become a repeat of the trouble at Wounded Knee, S.D., where Indians were locked in combat with the federal government.

The Kootenai said their tribe did receive some cash payment for the land several years ago but this was not enough. They said that despite the reservation and cash payments they wanted fishing and hunting rights.

Thompson's wire said: "At the request of the President, the bureau is in the process of preparing a reply to the Sept. 11, 1974, letter to the president of the United States. We are currently reviewing the material you have submitted and will respond promptly."

The commissioner also said the Justice Department has been asked to send a representative to meetings over the dispute.

Wheaton said at the heart of the issue was the poverty of the Kootenais themselves.

"We are about 300 percent below the poverty level, only about one-fourth of this once-powerful nation of native Americans here have steady jobs — most of them earn 'quick money' during the harvest time," he explained.

The spokesman said there were several "enterprises" on the drawing board once the tribe is given its reservation and these would provide economic stability for the members.

Prosecution Witness

Jaworski Issues Nixon Subpoena

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski has subpoenaed former President Nixon as a prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial of six former Nixon associates, it was announced today.

Nixon has already been subpoenaed by his former No. 2 aide, John D. Ehrlichman, to appear as a defense witness in the trial scheduled to begin Oct. 1.

Jaworski's office confirmed that the subpoena was issued Wednesday night and will be served on Nixon at his San Clemente estate by FBI agents.

"He's been subpoenaed to testify," a spokesman for Jaworski said. "We expect him to testify."

The Jaworski subpoena calls for Nixon to appear in U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's courtroom Oct. 1, even though he may not be called to the witness stand for several days.

A spokesman for the special prosecutor said its subpoena will not conflict with Ehrlichman's subpoena — indicating the possibility Nixon might appear both for the prosecution and defense.

There has been speculation as to whether Nixon will actually comply with the subpoenas and appear in person because of reports that he is in poor health and deeply depressed about his loss of the presidency.

Julie Nixon Eisenhower said this week that her father was expected to be hospitalized soon for a new flareup of phlebitis in his left leg. She flew to San Clemente today to be with him.

Should Nixon's lawyer argue that his health does not permit him to testify, Sirica could appoint a doctor to visit the former president to determine whether he would stand the rigors of testifying in a long trial. If Nixon were found fit to testify but failed to appear, he could be cited for contempt.

Ehrlichman and five other former Nixon aides and associates are scheduled to be tried on charges of covering up the Watergate scandal. The same grand jury that indicted them also named Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator.

Nixon cannot face criminal charges for any role he might have had in the cover-up because he was pardoned by President Ford. But the pardon also removed Nixon's option of pleading the 5th Amendment.

Hamlin estimated the cost of delays at about $9 million a week, or a total of $25 million.

Members of Local 250 of the Steam-Refrigerator-Air Conditioning and Pipefitters Union in Gardena want to keep the reduced work week they have had for the past four years.

Pipefitters have reportedly suggested alternating 32 and 40 hour work weeks.

But a management spokesman protested that "the pipefitters are supported by operating engineers, teamsters, laborers and other workers."

"The problem is what do we do with those people when we get to a 32-hour week?"

"My feeling," Hamlin said, "is that their working hours should be the same as others — 40 hours a week."

The reduced week, he said, produces problems in scheduling work as well as morale in the other trades.

Gains Recorded By Most Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, filled with hopes of a decline in interest rates and an easing of monetary restraints, closed Thursday with one of its biggest gains in months in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 22.14 points to 674.05. Advances held an overwhelming lead over declines among the 1,800 issues traded. Volume amounted to 17 million shares, compared with 11,760,000 traded Wednesday.

The market picked up momentum after Treasury Secretary William Simon said he expected short-term interest rates to decline further and told newsmen in New York a reduction in the prime rate would be healthy.

Big in Era

Two Never Met--Bingo

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingrid Bergman says her controversial and torrid love affair 25 years ago with Italian film director Roberto Rossellini began before she ever met him.

In a McCall's magazine article, she says, "It all started because I was bored. I had everything a woman could expect in life, but suddenly I realized there was no excitement any more. To keep alive I had to do something . . . I was exploding inside."

That prompted the successful Hollywood actress and wife of Dr. Peter Lindstrom to write a love letter to Rossellini, she says.

The letter led to a child by Rossellini while she was still married to Lindstrom, a divorce, a worldwide scandal and a seven-year marriage and two more children.

The Swedish actress has been married to Swedish theatrical producer Lars Schmidt since 1958.

Kidnapers Left Holding the Bag

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Kidnapers of a 20-year-old man dropped him off and escaped with a bagful of paper instead of $3,920 promised by his brother, narcotics officers say.

The victim, identified as Timothy James Grunstad of Rialto, near San Bernardino, was uninjured in the three-day ordeal.

GRUNSTAD WAS taken from his apartment Saturday night by three men armed with pistols.

The trio were joined later by six men, and investigators said their victim was held in several houses in the San Diego area in a plot to get $3,920 as repayment for stolen marijuana.

By telephone, Grunstad's brother Paul arranged for the pickup on condition the kidnaped man was freed.

AUTHORITIES HIDDEN nearby watched Tuesday night as a car drove up to a pre-arranged spot near San Diego's Shelter Island pier and let Grunstad out before leaving with a bag believed containing the money. Instead, it was filled with paper.

"It's a calculated risk," said an officer in the San Diego Integrated Narcotics Task Force.

NO ATTEMPT WAS made at that time to arrest the kidnapers, he said, because they were considered armed and Grunstad was still in danger.

The brother was placed in protective custody by San Bernardino County authorities who said they would ask for arrest complaints. Possible danger to the brother was considered "in relation to the danger his brother was in," said the San Diego officer, adding that "we have identified several" of those being sought.

Doris Day Awarded $22 Million

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Doris Day has won a judgment of more than $22 million from an attorney accused of defrauding her and her late husband, Marty Melcher, in a variety of business ventures.

Superior Court Judge Lester E. Olson ruled Wednesday for Miss Day in the culmination of a five-year court battle that cost $250,000 and described attorney Jerome Rosenthal's relationship with Melcher as fraudulent.

WEARING A PANTS suit and a floppy hat, she alternately wept and laughed after the decision was announced.

Olson said Rosenthal was guilty of the "grossest negligence" in business which he said "stinks to high heaven."

Of the total of $22,835,646, Olson assessed Rosenthal $3 million in punitive damages.

Miss Day was in court to hear the ruling and as spectators gathered around her, she sobbed. "I knew that justice would prevail. Reliving it all has destroyed me. As he (Olson) recounted it, it just wiped me out."

ROSENTHAL'S ATTORNEY, Craig Dummit, indicated he would appeal saying, "This is only the first round."

During the trial, it was testified Rosenthal advised Miss Day and Melcher on speculation in oil wells in Texas, Oklahoma and Kentucky and in the construction of two large hotels.

Miss Day testified she had given Melcher power of attorney and never questioned his business deals because she was "too busy" in her acting jobs to be well informed.

"MY HUSBAND trusted Rosenthal and I trusted my husband," said Miss Day. Melcher died of heart trouble in April 1968 at the age of 52.

Laguna Council Okays Laws on Density Limit

Cable TV's Bid Held By Laguna

The city of Laguna Beach has put off a request by Storer Cable Television for a 15 percent rate increase pending a city probe of the firm's finances.

That was the decision of the Laguna Beach City Council Wednesday following a discussion of the relationship between the city and the monopoly cable TV company.

Storer requested a hike in rates from $6 a month to $8.90 a month for the first TV hookup. No increase was requested for the $2 additional TV hookups in homes.

The council deferred judgment on the hikes until Finance Director Tom Meade can look at the company's financial records and determine if the rate increase is necessary.

The county customers of Storer have been charged the additional rate for some time.

W. E. Schiller, Storer vice president and general manager, told the council the firm would cooperate fully.

Schiller said the company was not interested in "ripping off" Laguna but only wanted a reasonable return on its investment.

He said the company has invested more than $2 million in the system. Storer bought it in 1967.

Schiller answered charges that Storer did not adequately respond to customer complaints saying that the company received complaints from 2.5 percent of its subscribers monthly. Of those actually 1.5 percent of them turn out to be system difficulties, he said.

He said this is below that permitted the telephone company by the Public Utilities Commission.

One speaker didn't agree with Schiller. Resident Chris Reeske told the council that although she has complained repeatedly, no one has ever responded to her calls for service.

She complained of the system dumping San Diego television channels for others which carry Japanese language movies and reruns of "The Little Rascals."

Kennedy Candid Would Discuss Personal Tragedy

From Wire Services

HOBART, Ind. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says that if he decides to run for president he will answer any questions raised about Chappaquiddick.

The Massachusetts Democrat, here Wednesday for a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, said he would "respond to questions and do the best I could" on the controversy surrounding the accident.

Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge into deep water off Chappaquiddick Island in July 1969.

He said, "I have indicated it was a very deep personal tragedy. I have accepted full responsibility for it and full regret for the incident. I would respond to any questions."

Demonstrators who said they opposed a possible presidential bid by Kennedy, marched outside when he appeared at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Lake County Democratic candidates.

They also sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee," while Kennedy spoke. "Nobody Drowned in Watergate," one of the signs carried by the demonstrators said.

Taxpayers Group Eyes Lawsuit

By JACK CHAPPELL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Over vehement objections, and threat of a lawsuit the Laguna Beach City Council gave final approval Wednesday to a package of laws limiting future duplex, apartment and condominium building in the city.

Councilman Charlton Boyd, who has opposed the measure since its appearance before the city council, continued to oppose it and pressed for moderation.

James Yancey, president of the Laguna Beach Taxpayers Association (LBTA) told the council the organization would take the city to court on the density limitations issue.

The council brushed aside a claim by opponents of the measure that a petition said to contain the names of 471 property owners would require that a four-fifths vote of the council affirm the laws. It was approved on a 3-1 vote.

City Attorney George Logan said the petition pertained only to changes from one zone to another, not changes in the requirements of the same zones.

The council met with four members. Councilwoman Phyllis Sweeney was out of town. Councilman Boyd voted against the package. Mayor Roy Holm, Vice Mayor Carl Johnson and Councilman Jon Brand voted for the measures.

The laws when taken in total will reduce the projected building of apartments, duplexes and condominiums by half that permitted under old law.

Previously laws would have permitted the number of such units to more than double to 7,300 units from the existing 3,566 units. The new law will hold the increase to 5,093, a 43 percent increase.

Although listed as a public hearing on the council's agenda, no public discussion was permitted prior to the council's vote on each of the five laws.

Opening discussion, Councilman Boyd said he opposes the measures because there had not been an attempt to find a "middle ground" that would satisfy all concerns.

He compared it to the sign ordinances which were controversial several years ago, but which Boyd said were worked out to compromise.

Councilman Boyd criticized polarization on the issue and what he called the rigidity of the ordinance standards.

"My vote will say, 'come on down, let's give in a little, next time,'" Boyd said.

Councilman Brand disagreed with Boyd. He said no attempt by the opponents had been made to seek a compromise. "They just don't want it at all," he said.

Brand said that while some people (See DENSITY, Page A2)

Fullerton Police Sweep County in Big Drug Raid

More than 75 Fullerton police officers descended on Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Fountain Valley and several other Orange County cities Wednesday night arresting 65 persons alleged to be narcotics dealers.

Names of those arrested during the massive roundup were not immediately available.

Of the 65 taken into custody on warrants issued Wednesday were 21 juveniles, seven females and 58 males.

Fullerton police said 20 three-man teams were dispatched to cities throughout the county to make the arrests. More arrests are expected today and later in the week.

Fullerton Police Sgt. Bud Lathrop said the offenses included sales of a variety of drugs, including heroin, cocaine, the psychedelic LSD and marijuana.

Police said return of the 107 warrants, including 23 secret grand jury indictments, followed a four-month investigation of drug sales activities in the county.

They said that undercover agents working the case purchased up to 55 pounds of marijuana from alleged dealers during the investigation. Several purchases of other drugs also were made, police said.

Wednesday night's roundup by Fullerton police marked the fourth major sweep in Orange County in recent months.

Costa Mesa Police conducted a major roundup of alleged street-level drug dealers in August; San Clemente police and Orange County Sheriff's deputies made a series of arrests also in August and Irvine police apprehended scores of persons during a spring roundup.

Laguna Council Lauds Distance Champion Hulst

Laguna Beach High School distance runner Eric Hulst was commended by the City Council Wednesday night for his 10,000 meter victory over Soviet runners in the 1974 Junior International Olympics.

Mayor Roy Holm presented the tousle-haired youth with a resolution passed unanimously by the Laguna council expressing the city's official pleasure with Hulst's victory in competition between the United States and USSR.

Trustees of the Laguna Beach Unified School District honored Hulst with a similar action Tuesday.

Councilman John Brand asked the young runner — he was 16 at the time of the June competitions — how long 10,000 meters is.

"Six and one-quarter miles," Hulst said. His time was 30 minutes and 49 seconds.

For the council meeting, Hulst wore a T-shirt bearing the message "Run for Fun" on the back.

Senate Votes Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, by a vote of 64 to 35, cleared a pay raise for 3.5 million civilian and military employees today, handing President Ford's economic policy its first setback in Congress.

The Senate refused Ford's request, backed by a last-minute plea, to postpone the pay increase by three months and cut government spending by $700 million.

As a result, the 5.52 percent increase will go into effect Oct. 1 instead of Jan. 1 as proposed by Ford.

Five Meet Death As Plane Goes Down in Flames

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A single-engine plane flying in dense fog crashed in flames today, killing all five persons aboard, including a child, authorities said.

The Cherokee, en route here from Las Vegas, slammed into the Santa Ana River bed, which runs parallel to runways at nearby Riverside Airport but about a mile away — about nine miles south west of Riverside.

Names of the victims were not immediately known. A spokesman for the Riverside County sheriff's department said, "The bodies are so badly burned it may be many hours before we can tell who they were."

The sheriff's spokesman said conditions were very bad for visual flying — "It was very foggy and visibility was 'way down.'"

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration in Los Angeles said the plane was on an approach to the airport. He said visibility was reported as one-half mile in fog.

However, the pilot was making his approach with navigational aids, he said.

'Similar to Italy' Consul General Speaks in Laguna

Laguna Beach has a lot in common with Italy because both are art and cultural centers, Vittorio Farinelli, Italy's Consul General, said Wednesday.

Farinelli, speaking to a group of about 60 Italian-Americans at the Victor Hugo Inn in Laguna Beach, said he believes Italians feel at home here because of the similar cultural backgrounds.

"Culture and art are what make men and women great," Farinelli said.

It was his first official visit to Laguna Beach, to attend a luncheon in his honor arranged by the newly formed Laguna Beach Italian-American Cultural Club.

"As the only full-blooded Norwegian here, I'm proud to welcome you," Mayor Roy Holm told Farinelli.

Local artists Marco Massimo Sassone and Grazia Montell, both Italian natives, presented samples of their work to the consul.

Another distinguished Italian-American who attended the luncheon was Giovanni Cecchetti, chairman of the UC Los Angeles Italian Department.

The Italian-American Cultural Club, headed by Maria Price, hopes to raise scholarship funds for Italian students and to promote interest in and knowledge of Italy.

Jaworski Issues Nixon Subpoena

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski has subpoenaed former President Nixon as a prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial of six former Nixon associates, it was announced today.

Village Fair Center Nears Its Debut

Shops in Village Fair, a $4 million Laguna Beach shopping center plagued by building problems, should begin opening within two weeks, according to project officials.

Robert McConihay, project manager, said Village Fair is 95 percent leased and that individual shops should begin opening about Oct. 1.

He said the project's grand opening will probably take place the first two weeks in November. Village Fair is located in the 1100 block of South Coast Highway.

The project, originally scheduled to open July 12, ran into trouble in May when a city building inspector discovered that the height was about 10 inches above the 30-foot height limit.

Architect Ronald Goldman said the mistake would cost about $30,000 to correct.

Further trouble came when, through a series of misunderstandings, a sidewalk was poured in front of the project which did not conform to standards approved by the city.

However, earlier this month the city council agreed to permit the additional height if builders make some corrections in the sidewalk.

Builders were also required to install two water sculptures and 15 mature trees, at a cost of $350 per tree, to compensate for the height.

Goldman said today he doesn't know when this additional work will be completed but it should be within a month.

McConihay said that among the businesses in Village Fair will be two restaurants, art and jewelry stores, import shops and clothing stores.

Some of the unusual shop titles will be "Lure of the Kite (a kite shop), Vibes and Visions (stereos) and Mother's Cupboard (gourmet cookware).

McConihay said 60 percent of the shops should be open by the end of October.

2 From India Die

TONOPAH, Nev. (UPI) — An Indian army officer and his wife, assigned to the United Nations, were killed Wednesday when their automobile overturned near here. The Nevada Highway Patrol said Maj. Gen. Ruston Vazifdar, 58, and his wife, Aloo, 50, were killed when the car driven by their son went out of control on U.S. 6.

UC Irvine Program Cuts Eyed

UC Irvine would be omitted from a list of campuses offering post-graduate instruction under a scheme proposed by UC Regent Norton Simon.

In a newspaper interview, Simon said post-graduate programs should be limited to the campuses at Berkeley, Davis, Los Angeles and San Diego as a money-saving measure.

UC Irvine Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich said this morning as he was leaving for a monthly regents meeting in Los Angeles that he sees no basis for Simon's suggestions.

"I think there would be a big savings. That's the way you save money and beat inflation," Simon said.

Responding to the report, Aldrich said, "I don't know what the background for Regent Simon's comment is."

"As far as UCI is concerned and other campuses moving toward combined undergraduate and graduate status, I have no basis for understanding his suggestions."

"He claims that certain economies take place, I gather, but the master plan for education in California calls for the University of California to be the graduate degree granting and sole PhD granting institution in the state and the sole agency for a variety of professional schools."

The Irvine campus, he said, is necessary to meet those commitments.

"I have no idea of how he will present it," Aldrich said. "All I'm aware of is the interview and the issues ranged rather widely."

"How the regent plans to pursue them and how they will provide a basis for future discussion, I don't know."

"I'll have to wait to hear about them at the regents meeting," he said.

Simon, who has been a regent since 1958, also suggested:

—Converting UCLA to year-round operation "so the enormous investment in physical plant and libraries is not wasted in the summer months."

—Cutting tuition at UC Riverside to attract students and solve the problem of low enrollment.

—Add more personnel to the university treasurer's office to improve the handling of more than $1 billion in investments.

Laguna Police Probing Three More Burglaries

Three more burglaries have been reported to Laguna Beach police.

Today, the theft of a king-size bed and a chair was reported by Keith H. Earl, 447 Cypress Drive, for a loss of $310.

Earl told officers he had been gone for several days and when he returned, the bed was gone.

Grant Nerenhauser of 1039 Gaviota Drive reported the theft Wednesday of a television set and $40 in cash apparently taken from the first floor of his residence while he was in the upper story.

Nerenhauser's front door had been unlocked and officers speculate someone just walked in, grabbed the loot and left.

Nearby, Vincent Capozziello of 1273 Gaviota Drive, reported the theft of a woman's diamond watch and coins worth $440.

Capozziello told officers he discovered the theft when he returned home and found the front door unlocked. Police believe the thief slipped the latch on a side door, and then left by the front door.

Lebin's Big Top

Capistrano Beach's tenacious camper Richard W. Lebin obviously hasn't capitulated to the foes at the county seat, as this tent — his new home — attests. Unemployed local man lived in old Cadillac camp car on this spot before county officials ordered it hailed away. Undaunted, he has found another way to keep out the damp night air. County legal counsel says tent is illegal and Lebin seems headed for yet another round in battle over squatter's rights.

Laguna Beach Clears Way For Campus Site Annex

The Laguna Beach City Council cleared the way Wednesday for annexation of the School of Art's future Laguna Canyon campus.

The council declared its intention to zone the land involved, a little less than an acre, to agriculture-recreational (A-R).

That was the assurance requested by the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFC) which rules on annexation requests by municipalities.

The LAFC held up the requested annexation until assurances could be given by the city that the agricultural preserve status of the county land involved would not be disturbed.

The city agreed.

Annexation was needed because the Irvine Company required the entire art school parcel of about 3 acres not be split between the city of Laguna Beach and the county.

The school plans on developing a $400,000 campus on the land, about a mile and a half up the Laguna Canyon Road from Coast Highway.

Construction will begin just after the first of the year, unless further red tape is encountered.

Hospital Group Accepts Pupils In Stroke Class

The South Coast Community Hospital Auxiliary is accepting students for its "Stroke Resocialization" course to begin Oct. 7 at the hospital.

The course, a six-week series of classes, is designed to help the stroke patient, his friends and relatives during the resocialization following attack.

"The training equips the volunteer to help the convalescent cope with problems, both physical and mental, which he may encounter as he leaves the hospital," Stina Wolf, auxiliary community services chairwoman, said.

"All too often, without such help, the stroke victim as he leaves the hospital is allowed to become psychologically homebound, depressed and withdrawn from the mainstream of community life," she said.

The student is taught how to comfort, encourage and support the patient while at the same time applying the proper pressure toward improvement and a previous way of life, Mrs. Wolf said.

Registration information is available by contacting the hospital's auxiliary office, or Mrs. Wolf.

Bloodmobile Visits

An American Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Community Presbyterian Church, 415 Forest Ave., Laguna Beach Oct. 14.

Blood can be given between 2:30 and 7 p.m. and reservations are necessary. They may be made by calling 835-3381.

Board to View Park Avenue Mall Design

The design of the controversial proposed Park Avenue Mall will come up for review of the Laguna Beach Board of Adjustments tonight.

The mall, to be built on the short segment of Park Avenue between the segment and Coast Highway, was opposed by some downtown merchants because it will eliminate eight parking spaces and cut off through traffic.

However, planning commissioners last month approved plans for the mall, which will include a "meandering brown cobblestone concrete" walkway with benches and grassy areas.

Public Works Director Stan Scholl pointed out that 14 parking spaces had been picked up in a restriping of the Gleneyre Street parking lot and six spaces in the restriping of Forest Avenue.

Also to be considered tonight is the design of the proposed completion of an alley which will connect Thalia and Anita Streets between Coast Highway and Gleneyre Street.

The alley, nick-named "Secor Alley" because of efforts by sign painter Earl Secor to have it completed, is blocked by Sheffer Mortuary.

Another item on tonight's agenda is a request for a 45-day extension of time for the design review of the Laguna Beach Lumber Yard.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in city council chambers.

Fall Recreation Signups Monday

Registration for the Laguna Beach Recreation Department's fall classes will begin Monday at 8 a.m. at the Recreation Office, 570 Gleneyre St.

Classes will be offered in such fields as tennis, belly dancing, women's volleyball, yoga, bridge and guitar.

Most classes meet one or two hours a week for eight weeks. Fees range from $7.50 to $25.

Registration will be accepted on a first come, first served basis.

Laguna Council Action

Here are the principal actions taken by the Laguna Beach City Council Wednesday.

BUILDING LIMIT PASSED — Final approval was given to a set of five ordinances which will cut in half future residential building in the city's duplex, apartment and condominium zones. A lawsuit against the city was promised by the Laguna Beach Taxpayers Association.

ART SCHOOL ANNEX — Prezoning a small chunk of county territory to Agriculture-Recreation, the city council cleared the way for the future annexation of the land to the city and for development near it of the Laguna Beach School of Art.

CABLE TV RATES — An investigation of the profits earned by Storer Cable TV was ordered by the council to determine if Storer's request for a 15 percent rate increase is justified. The council also is studying new laws regulating the city system.

PARKING LOT APPRAISAL — Possible purchase of the Lumberyard parking lot adjacent to city hall for $400,000 was considered and the council ordered an appraisal of the land as a step preparatory to the purchase arrangement.

CITY GOLF COURSE? — A public Golf Committee was organized by the council and charged with investigating means of developing a municipal golf course in Laguna Beach. Persons interested in serving on the committee may contact city hall.

DIVING REGULATIONS — Preliminary approval was given to a law restricting scuba diving classes to certain times on city beaches during the summer. The city may also probe new controls on the skin diving classes.

ALTA LAGUNA EXTENSION — Action deleting the extension of Alta Laguna Boulevard from Top of the World to Arch Beach Heights was deferred to a future hearing.

Laguna Hills Navy Enlistments Rise

BUSINESS IS BOOMING FOR NEW SOUTH COUNTY MARINE-NAVY RECRUITERS Marine Staff Sgt. Jim Singer Talks To Jim Kerslake, Ron Herzer of San Juan Capistrano

By JAN WORTH Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Under the shadow of a huge blue jeans emporium in the Wild West Plaza in Laguna Hills, a recruiting office for the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps is doing a booming business.

The four men who run the office can't explain the boom fully, but since they moved from an office in San Clemente last April, the Marines have had five times the number of applicants and the Navy, ten times.

The Navy has recruited 43 volunteers—including three young women—from the new quarters at 25272 McIntyre. It's a marked contrast from their former quota of one enlistment per month.

"If you picture a pie with a six at the bottom and a 12 at the top, we've moved about a third of the way toward the 12 from the six," said Chief Bos'n Mate Chuck Evans, head Navy recruiter.

The recruiting area for both the Marines and Navy is the same—the sprawling southern half of Orange County that includes El Toro, Mission Viejo, Laguna Beach, Laguna Niguel, Laguna Hills, San Juan Capistrano, Dana Point, and San Clemente.

The Marines have recruited 10 young men, and expect to have several more sworn in by the end of the month — (See RECRUIT, Page A2)

Indian Uprising?

War Vowed Over Idaho Land

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (UPI) — A small Indian tribe ignored a government peace gesture today, vowing to go ahead with its war over 1.6 million acres of aboriginal land seized 120 years ago.

The 67 members of the Kootenai tribe said they would set up four road blocks and collect tolls from those passing through the area starting at midnight.

The Kootenais demand that Bureau of Indian Affairs set aside 128,000 acres of the disputed land for use as a reservation and give them a cash payment. They said this would compensate them for the land taken by the government.

Bureau Commissioner Morris Thompson said in a telegram to tribal Chairman Amelia Trice Wednesday that his agency was reviewing the situation and would reply soon to the tribe's demands.

Kootenai spokesman Doug Wheaton said the wire "sounded like the bureau is trying to formulate a plan and get people together. What we want will take congressional action." He added the "war" would start on schedule.

At Boise, Idaho, Gov. Cecil Andrus warned that he would send state troopers to arrest anyone attempting to set up a roadblock.

Wheaton said the governor told him it was his duty to enforce the state's laws "regardless of the consequences." (See INDIANS, Page A2)

Rocky Reveals Net Worth

Fortune, Other Assets Total $182 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President designate Nelson A. Rockefeller said today that his personal fortune is $62.5 million, and that he receives in addition income from trusts with total assets of $120 million.

Rockefeller issued those figures in advance of congressional hearings on his confirmation, saying he wanted to set the record straight because of misleading reports of his wealth.

"... Total assets owned outright and in the two trusts amount to approximately $182.5 million," Rockefeller said in a statement distributed to newsmen.

The former New York governor, an heir to one of America's great fortunes, said he issued the statement because of earlier reports that he filed a statement with congressional committees reporting his net worth to be $33 million.

At that time, Rockefeller was said to be preparing a revised account of his holdings.

"I am concerned that incomplete and therefore misleading data about my personal assets have been leaked to the press before I have had an opportunity to make an orderly presentation in connection with my nomination to the vice presidency," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller's confirmation hearings are to begin Monday before the Senate Rules Committee.

"I shall give a frank and open statement of my background, my career, my associations, my purposes, my finances, and anything else the committee and the Congress quite properly want to know," Rockefeller said. "To keep the record straight in the meantime, I announce now that the final and complete data I am submitting show the net worth of my wife and myself to be $62.5 million . . .

"In addition to my personal assets, I receive the income during my lifetime of two trusts with total net assets of $120 million," Rockefeller said.

He said the leaked reports "gave a doubly erroneous impression" because they did not include that information.

Simon Cites Savings

UCI's Post-grad Plan Hit

UC Irvine would be omitted from a list of campuses offering post-graduate instruction under a scheme proposed by UC Regent Norton Simon.

In a newspaper interview, Simon said post-graduate programs should be limited to the campuses at Berkeley, Davis, Los Angeles and San Diego as a money-saving measure.

UC Irvine Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich said this morning as he was leaving for a monthly regents meeting in Los Angeles that he sees no basis for Simon's suggestions.

"I think there would be a big savings. That's the way you save money and beat inflation," Simon said.

Responding to the report, Aldrich said, "I don't know what the background for Regent Simon's comment is. As far as UCI is concerned and other campuses moving toward combined undergraduate and graduate status, I have no basis for understanding his suggestions.

"He claims that certain economies take place, I gather, but the master plan for education in California calls for the University of California to be the graduate degree granting and sole PhD granting institution in the state and the sole agency for a variety of professional schools."

The Irvine campus, he said, is necessary to meet those commitments.

Backing Claimed

For Ford Ouster

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Two college professors involved in a drive to impeach President Ford have reported nationwide response.

They told a news conference Wednesday they received some 250 letters plus telephone calls and telegrams from persons across the nation since they announced their impeachment drive 10 days ago.

Larry Schwartz, history professor at San Diego City College, and Arthur M. Schaffer, professor of jurisprudence at Western State University College of Law, said 99 percent of the responses opposed the pardon of former President Nixon. They said most of the writers asked for information as to how to set up impeachment committees.

Pool Saving Carp

PETALUMA (UPI) — A portable swimming pool was pressed into use Wednesday to save carp which were trapped because the flow of the Petaluma River has receded. The fish, trapped by the low water, were dying by the thousands.

Kennedy Candid

Would Discuss Personal Tragedy

From Wire Services

HOBART, Ind. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says that if he decides to run for president he will answer any questions raised about Chappaquiddick.

The Massachusetts Democrat, here Wednesday for a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, said he would "respond to questions and do the best I could" on the controversy surrounding the accident.

Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge into deep water off Chappaquiddick Island in July 1969.

He said, "I have indicated it was a very deep personal tragedy. I have accepted full responsibility for it and full regret for the incident. I would respond to any questions."

Demonstrators who said they opposed a possible presidential bid by Kennedy, marched outside when he appeared at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Lake County Democratic candidates.

They also sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee," while Kennedy spoke. "Nobody Drowned in Watergate," one of the signs carried by the demonstrators said.

Senate Votes Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, by a vote of 64 to 35, cleared a pay raise for 3.5 million civilian and military employees today, handing President Ford's economic policy its first setback in Congress.

The Senate refused Ford's request, backed by a last-minute plea, to postpone the pay increase by three months and cut government spending by $700 million.

As a result, the 5.52 percent increase will go into effect Oct. 1 instead of Jan. 1 as proposed by Ford.

Irvine's Safety Director Field Narrowed to 10

An original field of 152 candidates for Irvine's new director of public safety has been narrowed to 10, and City Manager William Woollett hopes a final selection will be reached by the end of September.

Woollett said he and Administrative Services Director James Harrington spent Monday in San Francisco interviewing five candidates for the job.

He hopes to call a special secret executive session of the city council Sept. 30 to interview the five or six remaining candidates and make a final selection.

The Irvine director of public safety will be in charge of police, fire, animal control and emergency transportation services.

Expenditure OK For Teen Center

An evaluation of the Irvine Teen Center by the community services commission Wednesday led to a recommendation that $20,655 be spent to keep it running until June.

The center was approved by the city council with an initial budget of $14,538 for the first three months of operation.

The Sept. 13 end of the evaluation period came with expenditures totalling $12,066.

Commissioner Miles Peterson said the commission recommended the city council appropriate $20,655 to hire a teen recreation director, two teen leaders, two maintenance workers and a security guard.

The council is expected to review the teen center recommendations Sept. 24.

Karpov Wins Match

MOSCOW (AP) — Anatoly Karpov has a 1-0 lead in the finals of the world chess challenge competition after forcing Viktor Korchnoi to resign on the 27th move Wednesday. The young Leningrader mounted a crushing attack on the king side after Korchnoi chose a dragon defense.

Irvine Panel Okays Park Land Cuts for One Area

Irvine's community services commission has let the Irvine Company cut the amount of park land for the Rancho San Joaquin area, but turned down a similar request for Turtle Rock.

The city's requirement for park land dedication of 4.5 acres per 1,000 residents does not apply in the largely adult Rancho San Joaquin townhouses, the commission decided.

Five Meet Death As Plane Goes Down in Flames

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A single-engine plane flying in dense fog crashed in flames today, killing all five persons aboard, including a child, authorities said.

The Cherokee, en route here from Las Vegas, slammed into the Santa Ana River bed, which runs parallel to runways at nearby Riverside Airport but about a mile away — about nine miles south west of Riverside.

Names of the victims were not immediately known. A spokesman for the Riverside County sheriff's department said, "The bodies are so badly burned it may be many hours before we can tell who they were."

The sheriff's spokesman said conditions were very bad for visual flying — "It was very foggy and visibility was 'way down.'"

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration in Los Angeles said the plane was on an approach to the airport. He said visibility was reported as one-half mile in fog.

However, the pilot was making his approach with navigational aids, he said.

Orange Coast Weather Friday will be a carbon copy of today, according to the weather service, with overnight low clouds and fog along the coast clearing by midday to sunny skies. Beach highs near 70 rising to the mid-80s inland.

Prosecution Witness

Jaworski Issues Nixon Subpoena

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski has subpoenaed former President Nixon as a prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial of six former Nixon associates, it was announced today.

Senate Bill On Consumer Agency Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today refused to end a two-month filibuster that has blocked action on a bill creating a federal consumer protection agency, killing the bill for this session of Congress.

The 64-34 vote to end the debate and bring the measure to a final vote fell two short of the required two-thirds.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-N.C.), the leader of the opposition, said the bill "is repugnant to the free enterprise system" and would create an agency with unlimited authority "to throw monkey wrenches into government machinery."

Sponsors said the bill would pass easily if the filibuster could be ended.

The agency to be created by the bill would have authority to represent consumers before any federal court or federal agency where a consumer issue is at stake.

Three earlier attempts to close off the debate failed by 10, 7 and 4 votes.

Traditionally, only three attempts to break a filibuster are allowed. A fourth effort had been tried only twice in the past. The Senate leadership had said that if the latest attempt failed the measure would be dead for this year.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader told news conference Wednesday that the following votes belonged to Sen. Russell Long (D-La.), J. Bennett Johnston (D-La.), Alan Bible (D-Nev.), Howard H. Baker (R-Tenn.), George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Ted Stevens (R-Alaska), all of whom opposed the earlier debate-ending tries.

YMCA Offering Course Covering Family Pressure

The latest innovation of the YMCA is a course in family life, scheduled to begin Oct. 2 at the Saddleback Valley 23131 Orange Avenue, El Toro.

Called "Family Focus," the course is based on the premise that among the skills people gain in becoming adults, the skills for being a parent are neglected.

Now, in a time of crisis and pressures on the family unit, the YMCA has developed the family focus program as a positive technique for dealing with being parents.

The course is taught in six sessions using transactional analysis as taught in the book "I'm OK, You're OK." Each session will attempt to deal with bridging the generation gap, discipline, family communication, and improving the quality of life in the home.

The course is set to meet from 7 to 10 p.m. at the YMCA. Cost will be $40 per couple or $25 per individual. For more information and to register, call the Y at 830-9622.

ORANGE COAST DAILY PILOT. The Orange Coast Daily Pilot, with which is combined the News-Press, is published by the Orange Coast Publishing Company. Separate editions are published Monday through Friday for Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, Fountain Valley, Laguna Beach, Irvine/Saddleback and San Clemente/San Juan Capistrano. A single regional edition is published Saturdays and Sundays. The principal publishing plant is at 330 West Bay Street, Costa Mesa, California, 92626.

and will be served on Nixon at his San Clemente estate by FBI agents.

"He's been subpoenaed to testify," a spokesman for Jaworski said. "We expect him to testify."

The Jaworski subpoena calls for Nixon to appear in U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's courtroom Oct. 1, even though he may not be called to the witness stand for several days.

A spokesman for the special prosecutor said its subpoena will not conflict with Ehrlichman's subpoena — indicating the possibility Nixon might appear both for the prosecution and defense.

There has been speculation as to whether Nixon will actually comply with the subpoenas and appear in person because of reports that he is in poor health and deeply depressed about his loss of the presidency.

Julie Nixon Eisenhower said this week that her father was expected to be hospitalized soon for a new flareup of plebitis in his left leg. She flew to San Clemente today to be with him.

Should Nixon's lawyer argue that his health does not permit him to testify, Sirica could appoint a doctor to visit the former president to determine whether he would stand the rigors of testifying in a long trial. If Nixon were found fit to testify but failed to appear, he could be cited for contempt.

Ehrlichman and five other former Nixon aides and associates are scheduled to be tried on charges of covering up the Watergate scandal. The same grand jury that indicted them also named Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator.

Nixon cannot face criminal charges for any role he might have had in the cover-up because he was pardoned by President Ford. But the pardon also removed Nixon's option of pleading the 5th Amendment.

Talks to Resume In Pipefitters' Strike Oct. 4

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCH Of the Daily Pilot Staff. Negotiations are set to resume Oct. 4 in a pipefitters strike which has already cost Southern Californians more than $25 million in delays on a single project.

More than 2,500 steamfitters and pipefitters in Southern California walked off their jobs July 1 in a strike to retain a 36-hour work week. A wage and fringe benefit increase of $2.47 an hour for the first year of a new contract has already been reached by negotiators.

Pipefitters now earn $8.88 an hour plus fringe benefits.

Larry Hamlin, Southern California Edison Company project manager for the San Onofre nuclear generating station, this morning estimated that work stopped by the strike has cost the company $25 million, a cost which will ultimately be borne by customers.

Pipefitters picket lines went up at the plant Aug. 5, Hamlin said, and other crafts working on the station stopped work.

The picket lines went down this week, he said, and work by other trades has resumed.

Pipefitters are constructing the water and cooling systems for the two 1,180 megawatt generators, he said. Construction can continue without pipefitters for two to three months.

Hamlin estimated the cost of delays at about $9 million a week, or a total of $25 million.

Members of Local 250 of the Steam-Refrigerator-Air Conditioning and Pipefitters Union in Gardena want to keep the reduced work week they have had for the past four years.

Pipefitters have reportedly suggested alternating 32 and 40 hour work weeks.

But a management spokesman protested that "the pipefitters are supported by operating engineers, teamsters, laborers and other workers."

"The problem is what do we do with those people when we get to a 32-hour week?"

"My feeling," Hamlin said, "is that their working hours should be the same as others — 40 hours a week."

The reduced week, he said, produces problems in scheduling work as well as morale in the other trades.

Irvine Exchange Students Sought

Irvine University High School students interested in taking part in the American Field Service student exchange program have until Friday to return applications.

Applicants for the Americans Abroad Program must be American citizens or legal residents, in excellent health and in junior or senior years of high school.

Three programs are available: a summer program, the southern hemisphere program from January 1975 to January 1976, and the northern hemisphere program from September 1974 to September 1975.

Applications are available in the high school student activities office, the foreign language department, by contacting Mrs. Gary Spencer at 833-1845.

Lebin's Big Top

Capistrano Beach's tenacious camper Richard W. Lebin obviously hasn't capitulated to the foes at the county seat, as this tent — his new home — attests. Unemployed local man lived in old Cadillac camp car on this spot before county officials ordered it

including more than a five-fold increase for them.

Marine Gunnery Sgt. Larry Reid said in general the youths recruited from the south county are more affluent, more intelligent and more sure of themselves than the look insurmountable.

"They don't just wander in from the street looking for a job," Reid said. "They come in with definite ideas about what they want."

However many have preconceived negative notions about what they could be getting into Evans said, which in his opinion are for the most part false.

"They think of the four or six years involved being a very long time," he said. "We discuss this with them and compare it with their past and with their future. Being young, many things like this look insurmountable."

"They also feel that they'll be locked in with no free time. We explain to them that it's a regular work day, plus the specialized professional duties that you choose."

"Of the kids we've tested here for Navy schools, 85 to 90 percent of them pass with flying colors," Evans said. Ten percent of those qualify for the elite nuclear and advanced electronics programs, he said.

Part of the interest, both among the Marine and Navy recruits, may lie in the preponderance of military families living in the area.

Many of the kids going into the service from this area are sons and daughters of military personnel. In many cases, the youth is sworn into his chosen branch by his father, Evans said.

"We have everything in this area—brigadier generals, major generals, commanders, captains—the whole route of ratings. The only branch of the service we haven't come into contact with is the Coast Guard."

Typically, recruiters for a branch of the service which has a local base have more trouble than recruiters for another branch. The same is true of the Marines in this area, with opinion apparently negatively affected by the nearby El Toro and Camp Pendleton Marine bases.

"But we've been doing a lot of advertising and publicity and it seems to be paying off," Sgt. Reid said.

On the bulletin board in the office are photos of kids sworn in recently by both the Navy and Marines.

Many have long hair and mustaches. They're wearing flannel shirts and look like tanned surfers, their girlfriends at their sides.

"The moms and dads around here are extremely interested in their kids," Evans observed. "Even if they have long hair and smoke pot, the parents still love them."

And reflecting on why the recent recruiting approach may be winning more response, Evans added, "Above all else, we don't lie to the kids. We don't feed them a bunch of malarkey."

But the tribe spokesman said the governor's decision would not deter the Indians.

Wheaton said the situation could become a repeat of the trouble at Wounded Knee, S.D., where Indians were locked in combat with the federal government.

The Kootenai said their tribe did receive some cash payment for the land several years ago but this was not enough. They said that despite the reservation and cash payments they wanted fishing and hunting rights.

Thompson's wire said: "At the request of the President, the bureau is in the process of preparing a reply to the president of the United States. We are currently reviewing the material you have submitted and will respond promptly."

The commissioner also said the Justice Department has been asked to send a representative to meetings over the dispute.

Wheaton said at the heart of the issue was the poverty of the Kootenais themselves.

Fullerton Police Sweep County in Big Drug Raid

More than 75 Fullerton police officers descended on Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Fountain Valley and several other Orange County cities Wednesday night arresting 65 persons alleged to be narcotics dealers.

Names of those arrested during the massive roundup were not immediately available.

Of the 65 taken into custody on warrants issued Wednesday were 21 juveniles, seven females and 58 males.

Fullerton police said 20 three-man teams were dispatched to cities throughout the county to make the arrests. More arrests are expected today and later in the week.

Fullerton Police Sgt. Bud Lathrop said the offenses included sales of a variety

Burglars Return To Irvine Home, Get Coins, Rings

An Irvine household hit once by burglars last Friday was struck again this week by persons who escaped with more than $570 in old coins, gold rings and jewelry.

Judith Hollace Atherton reported to police Wednesday that unknown persons entered her home through an unlocked kitchen window while she was at work Tuesday.

She reported the theft of five 1800 silver dollars, three silver half dollars, one sapphire and diamond studded gold ring valued at $300, an antique silver and turquoise Indian bracelet worth $200, a white gold ring, a choker necklace and a pocket knife.

Last Friday evening the housewife returned home after visiting friends and discovered at least two persons in her kitchen apparently preparing to steal a loaf of bread, a package of sliced ham and other food items. They escaped through a dining room window when she appeared.

Nixon's Daughter Flies to Coast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower flew to California today to see her ailing father for the first time since he resigned as President.

A spokesman said Mrs. Eisenhower went to her parents' home in San Clemente, by commercial airliner and intended to return to Washington Monday. Her husband, David, did not accompany her.

Mrs. Eisenhower disclosed earlier this week that former President Nixon plans to enter a hospital shortly because of a new flareup of plebitis in his left leg.

When Nixon resigned and returned to San Clemente Aug. 9, the Eisenhowers decided to remain in Washington. Mrs. Eisenhower said she has talked to her father by telephone, but has not yet seen him since that day.

Santa Anan Arrested in Card Theft

A man who police allege tried to bilk a South Coast Plaza clothing store out of $47 worth of casual attire with a stolen credit card is in custody today, under $10,000 bond.

John Liawellyn Borden, 24, of Santa Ana faces forgery and possession of marijuana charges in addition to the possession of stolen property count.

Sgt. Donald Casey said Borden and another young male entered the Rebel Shop on the plaza's lower level about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and asked to see some matching outfits in the $45 to $50 range.

After selecting a $47.70 combination, Borden gave a major credit card to a clerk who asked to see some other identification.

According to Casey, Borden told the clerk he could only show her some other credit cards and that he had no driver's license. The clerk then called the credit card company for verification and was told the card had been reported stolen earlier the same day.

Borden's accomplice, Casey said, left the store with the clothes. Borden was detained by the clerk until police arrived, Casey said.

Hurricane Rips Into Honduras; Toll Over 200

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Hurricane Fifi struck the northern coast of Honduras today with 130-mile winds, storm tides and torrential rains which left a trail of death and destruction in the nation's worst storm in a century.

Honduran authorities said the death toll is expected to exceed 200, and that in the region around the city of La Ceiba alone, 100 bodies have been counted. They estimated 100 other persons died elsewhere along the coast. Apparently most of the deaths were caused by drowning.

After smashing through Honduras, Fifi turned its full force towards the tiny Caribbean country of Belize and was expected to hit there this afternoon.

Most of the damage in Honduras was from flooding, with property and crop damage going into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Fifi devastated banana plantations, rice fields, bridges and highways, mowed down houses, and buildings of poor construction which could not withstand the flooding and the hurricane winds.

Among cities reporting damage were San Pedro Sula, La Ceiba, Tela, Puerto Cortes, Trujillo, Puerto Castilla, Guajaca and the Bay Island (Islas Bahia) off the coast.

Irvine's Mayor Talks on Women

A newer "new" woman will be described by Irvine Mayor Gabrielle Pryor at the first of a series of lectures at Park Newport Apartments.

"New Roles for Women" is the title of Mrs. Pryor's speech in the complex multi-use room tonight at 8.

Mrs. Pryor will look beyond the turmoil of women's rights and project possibilities of the "new" woman relating to men, her family, the community, politics and the world.

The "Year of Consciousness Four" lecture series is open to Park Newport residents and their guests.

Rowlands: No Prediction on Realty Election

By TERRY COVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

City Administrator Dave Rowlands isn't willing to predict the outcome of a March 4 transfer tax election in Huntington Beach until after voters cast their ballots on a related issue Nov. 5.

"November is the critical election," Rowlands said in an interview. "If the majority of the people say they favor a trash collection fee and a higher utility tax, then the council will give that consideration.

"But if the November election turns the other way (favoring a transfer tax), the city can use that for its argument in the March election."

On Nov. 5, voters will have a choice between taxes. They can either support the real estate transfer tax, or advise the council to drop it and impose a monthly trash collection fee and increase the already existing utility tax.

In March, there will be a straight "yes" or "no" ballot on which the controversial transfer tax will be dumped and the city prohibited from ever using it without first holding an election.

The November measure is purely advisory and the council is not obligated to do anything after it, though councilmen have said they would probably follow the will of the people.

They surprised critics of the transfer tax Monday night by giving the go ahead for the March election, even though they had previously indicated they would not allow such an election until April, 1976.

Shirley Commons, president of the Huntington Beach-Fountain Valley Board of Realtors, said her group, which fought the transfer tax, is quite happy with the March election.

The board of directors will meet

Tuesday to discuss whether we want to take any public stand on the November issue," Mrs. Commons said today. "I'm inclined to ignore it. It doesn't mean anything — purely advisory."

Rowlands, however, feels the November vote is critical in determining how the people really feel about methods of taxing.

Asked what he would do in March, if the people knock out the transfer tax, Rowlands said he'd rather not tackle that until he has to face it.

"We have a tight budget now and I personally wouldn't recommend any cutbacks. But if the city council wants to do that, I'll do whatever they direct," he said.

Searchers Failed

Suspect Seized Riding in Taxi

Police from five cities used a helicopter and police dogs in a fruitless 90-minute search for an armed robbery suspect in Fountain Valley early today, then captured him two hours later as he tried to flee in a taxi.

George Waldron Pennell, Jr., 28, of Santa Ana, was turned over to Costa Mesa police after he was arrested by Fountain Valley officers at 5 a.m. today.

He was wanted in connection with the 12:40 a.m. holdup of a Costa Mesa gas station at 3006 Harbor Blvd., police reported.

In addition, police say he is suspected of robbing a Westminster man at gunpoint, taking his car and wallet at 12:14 a.m.

The Westminster robbery occurred at the home of John Vilburn at 13582 Portsmouth Circle, police reported.

The suspect then allegedly went to Costa Mesa, where he robbed a Mobil station of $40 at gunpoint. It was the second Mobil station holdup in Costa Mesa in as many nights.

In the predawn hours Wednesday, a man entered the station at Harbor Boulevard and Gistler Avenue and escaped with $116 before being captured later by police.

Fountain Valley police spotted Pennell in the stolen car as he allegedly was fleeing the Costa Mesa robbery and was speeding across Warner Avenue in Fountain Valley.

Pennell turned off his car lights, police reported, but officers were able to track him by the occasional flash of his brake lights.

Pennell turned into a housing tract at Newhope Street and Warner, police reported, then abandoned the car on Tin Mountain Drive.

Officers aided by the Costa Mesa police helicopter, and police dogs from Westminster and Huntington Beach, as well as officers from Santa Ana and Costa Mesa, searched the area for 90 minutes then abandoned their efforts.

Police notified all-night markets in the area of Pennell's description.

A clerk notified officers at about 5 a.m. that a man matching Pennell's description was outside his market. When police arrived, they spotted a taxicab leaving, then stopped it on Newhope Street north of Bolsa Avenue.

Officers reported Pennell was arrested without further incident.

Westminster Police Nab Two Gunmen

Two armed robbery suspects who threatened to "blow away" a policeman gave up without firing a shot early this morning in the parking lot of a Westminster restaurant.

The suspects gave up when a second officer they hadn't seen cocked his shotgun and told them to "freeze," according to Westminster Detective Sgt. Richard Grodt.

Both men, Bob Allen Bratton, 25, who listed his home as Camarillo, and John Edward Picciello, 19, Lakewood, were booked into Orange County Jail and charged with suspicion of armed robbery and attempted murder, police said.

They allegedly took about $1,000 from the bar at the Fireside Restaurant, 13950 Springdale St., about 2 a.m.

Sgt. Grodt said the "face off" took place in the parking lot at the Fireside (See TENSE, Page A2)

Trash Collection Truck Crushes Suicide Victim

A 57-year-old woman apparently committed suicide in Huntington Beach Wednesday by crawling beneath the wheels of a trash collection truck.

Huntington Beach police reported Muriel Canfield, of 4552 Operetta Drive was dead on arrival at Huntington Intercommunity Hospital. The Orange County coroner ruled her death a suicide.

Police reported Toriblo Robles of Midway City, a driver for Rainbow Disposal, spotted the victim lying beneath his truck as he worked on Operetta Drive.

He pulled her out, then drove on to his next collection, police said, where he stopped and picked up additional trash.

Not realizing the woman had followed him, Robles started the truck again, crushing Mrs. Canfield beneath the wheels, police said.

A neighbor spotted the incident and tried to run outside to stop the truck but was unable to do so in time, officers reported.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday at B. W. Coon Funeral Home in Long Beach, with burial there. Mrs. Canfield is survived by a son, Robert.

Indian Uprising?

War Vowed Over Idaho Land

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (UPI) — A small Idaho tribe ignored a government peace gesture today, vowing to go ahead with its war over 1.6 million acres of aboriginal land seized 120 years ago.

The 67 members of the Kootenai tribe said they would set up four road blocks and collect tolls from those passing through the area starting at midnight.

The Kootenais demand that Bureau of Indian Affairs set aside 128,000 acres of the disputed land for use as a reservation and give them a cash payment. They said this would compensate them for the land taken by the government.

Bureau Commissioner Morris Thompson said in a telegram to tribal Chairman Amelia Trice Wednesday that his agency was reviewing the situation and would reply soon to the tribe's demands.

Kootenai spokesman Doug Wheaton said the wire "sounded like the bureau is trying to formulate a plan and get people together. What we want will take congressional action." He added the "war" would start on schedule.

At Boise, Idaho, Gov. Cecil Andrus warned that he would send state troopers to arrest anyone attempting to set up a roadblock.

Wheaton said the governor told him it was his duty to enforce the state's laws "regardless of the consequences." But the tribe spokesman said the governor's decision would not deter the Indians.

Wheaton said the situation could become a repeat of the trouble at Wounded Knee, S.D., where Indians were locked in combat with the federal government.

The Kootenai said their tribe did receive some cash payment for the land several years ago but this was not enough. They said that despite the reservation and cash payments they wanted fishing and hunting rights.

Thompson's wire said: "At the request of the President, the bureau is in the process of preparing a reply to the Sept. 11, 1974, letter to the president of the United States. We are currently reviewing the material you have submitted and will respond promptly."

The commissioner also said the Justice Department has been "asked to send a representative to meetings over the dispute."

Wheaton said at the heart of the issue was the poverty of the Kootenais themselves.

"We are about 300 percent below the poverty level, only about one-fourth of this once-powerful nation of native Americans here have steady jobs — most of them earn 'quick money' during the harvest time," he explained.

The spokesman said there were once 100 enterprises on the drawing board several of the tribe is given its reservation and these would provide economic stability for the members.

Prosecution Witness

Nixon Called to Testify In 'Watergate Six' Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski has subpoenaed former President Nixon as a prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial of six former Nixon associates, it was announced today.

Nixon has already been subpoenaed by his former No. 2 aide, John D. Ehrlichman, to appear as a defense witness in the trial scheduled to begin Oct. 1.

Jaworski's office confirmed that the subpoena was issued Wednesday night and will be served on Nixon at his San Clemente estate by FBI agents.

"He's been subpoenaed to testify," a spokesman for Jaworski said. "We expect him to testify."

The Jaworski subpoena calls for Nixon to appear in U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's courtroom Oct. 1, even though he may not be called to the witness stand for several days.

A spokesman for the special prosecutor said its subpoena will not conflict with Ehrlichman's subpoena — indicating the possibility Nixon might appear both for the prosecution and defense.

There has been speculation as to whether Nixon will actually comply with the subpoenas and appear in person because of reports that he is in poor health and deeply depressed about his loss of the presidency.

Julie Nixon Eisenhower said this week that her father was expected to be hospitalized soon for a new flareup of pleuritis in his left leg. She flew to San Clemente today to be with him.

Should Nixon's lawyer argue that his health does not permit him to testify, Sirica could appoint a doctor to visit the former president to determine whether he would stand the rigors of testifying in a long trial. If Nixon were found fit to testify but failed to appear, he could be cited for contempt.

Ehrlichman and five other former Nixon aides and associates are scheduled to be tried on charges of covering up the Watergate scandal. The same grand jury that indicted them also named Nixon as an indicted co-conspirator.

Nixon cannot face criminal charges for any role he might have had in the cover-up because he was pardoned by President Ford. But the pardon also removed Nixon's option of pleading the 5th Amendment.

Plane Sets Down On Huntington Beach; None Hurt

A light, single-engine plane made an emergency landing on Huntington City Beach Wednesday evening after the pilot reported his radio and navigational equipment went dead.

A Huntington Beach police officer on patrol spotted the landing and investigated.

He reported the pilot, Michael Akyias Caloyannides of Placentia, and his passengers were not injured and the plane was not damaged.

Police said Caloyannides rented the plane in Fullerton and was 15th in line to land there when an apparent battery failure caused his equipment to stop functioning.

Unaware of any other nearby airport, police reported, he landed on the beach, near Lake Street and Pacific Coast Highway.

The plane's owner, Tom Adams of Hayward, said he would try to fly the plane off the beach today.

Senate Votes Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, by a vote of 64 to 35, cleared a pay raise for 3.5 million civilian and military employees today, handing President Ford's economic policy its first setback in Congress.

The Senate refused Ford's request, backed by a last-minute plea, to postpone the pay increase by three months and cut government spending by $700 million.

As a result, the 5.52 percent increase will go into effect Oct. 1 instead of Jan. 1 as proposed by Ford.

Rocky Reveals Net Worth

Fortune, Other Assets Total $182 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller said today that his personal fortune is $82.5 million, and that he receives in addition income from trusts with total assets of $120 million.

Rockefeller issued those figures in advance of congressional hearings on his confirmation, saying he wanted to set the record straight because of misleading reports of his wealth.

"... Total assets owned outright and in the two trusts amount to approximately $182.5 million," Rockefeller said in a statement distributed to newsmen.

The former New York governor, an aid to one of America's great fortunes, said he issued the statement because of earlier reports that he filed a statement with congressional committees reporting his net worth to be $33 million.

At that time, Rockefeller was said to be preparing a revised account of his holdings.

"I am concerned that incomplete and therefore misleading data about my personal assets have been leaked to the press before I have had an opportunity to make an orderly presentation in connection with my nomination to the vice presidency," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller's confirmation hearings are to begin Monday before the Senate Rules Committee.

"I shall give a frank and open statement of my background, my career, my associations, my purposes, my finances, and anything else the committee and the Congress quite properly want to know," Rockefeller said. "To keep the record straight in the meantime, I announce now that the final and complete data I am submitting show the net worth of my wife and myself to be $82.5 million."

"In addition to my personal assets, I receive the income during my lifetime of two trusts with total net assets of $120 million," Rockefeller said.

He said the leaked reports "gave a doubly erroneous impression" because they did not include that information.

Hurricane Fifi Rips Honduras; 200 Killed

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Hurricane Fifi struck the northern coast of Honduras today with 130-mile winds, storm tides and torrential rains which left a trail of death and destruction in the nation's worst storm in a century.

Honduran authorities said the death toll is expected to exceed 200, and that in the region around the city of La Ceiba alone, 100 bodies have been counted. They estimated 100 other persons died elsewhere along the coast. Apparently most of the deaths were caused by drowning.

After smashing through Honduras, Fifi turned its full force towards the tiny Caribbean country of Belize and was expected to hit there this afternoon.

Most of the damage in Honduras was from flooding, with property and crop damage going into the hundred-thousands of dollars.

Fifi devastated banana plantations, rice fields, bridges and highways, mowed down houses, and buildings of poor construction which could not withstand the flooding and the hurricane winds.

Among cities reporting damage were San Pedro Sula, La Ceiba, Tela, Puerto Cortes, Trujillo, Puerto Castilla, Guajaca and the Bay Islands (Islas Bahias) off the coast.

Honduran government authorities calculated that one-third of the country — comprising the nation's richest agricultural zone — was affected by the storm, although Fifi's rains covered virtually the entire country.

Emergency relief committees were rushing aid to affected areas.

At Puerto Cortes, Honduras' only oil refinery was reported isolated by flood waters.

Weathermen said that on its present course Fifi's winds will sweep inland over the southernmost tip of Belize, just south of Punta Gorda, a city of 7,000 persons. The Belize government ordered hurricane precautions throughout the country, especially in the southern coastal sector.

Dr. Neil Frank, chief of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said Fifi was the "worst hurricane to affect the north coast of Honduras this century."

Senate Bill On Consumer Agency Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today refused to end a two-month filibuster that has blocked action on a bill creating a federal consumer protection agency, killing the bill for this session of Congress.

The 64-34 vote to end the debate and bring the measure to a final vote fell two short of the required two-thirds.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-N.C.), the leader of the opposition, said the bill "is repugnant to the free enterprise system" and would create an agency with unlimited authority "to throw monkey wrenches into government machinery."

Sponsors said the bill would pass easily if the filibuster could be ended.

The agency to be created by the bill would have authority to represent consumers before any federal court or federal agency where a consumer issue is at stake.

Three earlier attempts to close off the debate failed by 10, 7 and 4 votes.

Traditionally, only three attempts to break a filibuster are allowed. A fourth effort had been tried only twice in the past. The Senate leadership had said that if the latest attempt failed the measure would be dead for this year.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader told a news conference Wednesday that the key swing votes belonged to Sens. Russell Long (D-La.), J. Bennett Johnston (D-La.), Alan Bible (D-Nev.), Howard H. Baker (R-Tenn.), George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Ted Stevens (R-Alaska), all of whom opposed the earlier debate-ending tries.

Area Jaycee 'Critical' After Crash

Vincent Scotti of the Fountain Valley Jaycees remained in "stable but still critical" condition at Orange County Medical Center today after a Tuesday car crash which killed two other Jaycees.

Scotti, 41, of 307 S. Newhope St., Santa Ana, is still being treated in the hospital intensive care unit.

Jaycee President James Edward Bennett, 33, of 16089 Shasta St., Fountain Valley, died early Wednesday of injuries suffered in the crash.

A third club member, Aubrey Wayne "Bronco" Helphinstein, 31, of 2881 Bristol St. Apt. 302, Costa Mesa, was dead on arrival at the hospital after the accident.

The accident took place as the men were returning from a Jaycee exchange visit to a club in San Dimas. Their car was struck head-on by a van driving in the wrong direction on the Newport Freeway in Orange, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Driver of the van George Thomas Nelson, 28, of the Santa Ana, also was injured in the crash. He is being held on charges of felony drunken driving and vehicular manslaughter.

Funeral services for Bennett will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Peek Family Colonial Funeral Home, Westminster.

The family asks that donations be made to the Fountain Valley Jaycees or to the Vincent Scotti fund, being collected to help the Scotti family during his recovery. Donations may be mailed to Box 8527 in Fountain Valley.

Survivors include Bennett's wife, Marilyn, of the home, two sons, James Edward III and Brett Thompson Bennett, his mother, two sisters, a brother and his grandfather.

Blaze Victim Remains Critical

Katherine Driver, 23, of 9411 Dayton Circle, Huntington Beach, was still listed in critical condition today in the burn ward at Orange County Medical Center.

Hospital authorities said there has been no change in her condition since she was brought in following the fire that destroyed her home Sunday morning.

She suffered second degree burns over 60 percent of her body and third degree burns over 10 percent, according to Huntington Beach firemen.

She was pulled from a downstairs bedroom by firemen who had to break through a back door to reach her.

Animal Board Members Sought For Huntington

Huntington Beach is looking for volunteers for its new seven-member Animal Care and Control Commission.

Applications are available at city hall, or prospective volunteers can phone 536-5201 and ask for an application to be mailed.

The city council wants the commission to be composed of: a veterinarian, a non-animal owner, a representative of the California Coalition of Animal Owners, an Animal Assistance League member, two non-affiliated animal owners, and a breeder.

Otherwise, the only requirement is residency in the city.

The city council will appoint individuals to the commission, possibly at the council's Oct. 7 meeting.

Primary functions of the commission will include the revision of the city's animal control laws, serving as an appeals board on pet fines, and serving as an overseer of animal control within the city.

Kennedy Candid Would Discuss Personal Tragedy

HOBART, Ind. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says that if he decides to run for president he will answer any questions raised about Chappaquiddick.

The Massachusetts Democrat, here Wednesday for a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, said he would "respond to questions and do the best I could" on the controversy surrounding the accident.

Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge into deep water off Chappaquiddick Island in July 1969.

He said, "I have indicated it was a very deep personal tragedy. I have accepted full responsibility for it and full regret for the incident. I would respond to any questions."

Demonstrators who said they opposed a possible presidential bid by Kennedy, marched outside when he appeared at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Lake County Democratic candidates. They also sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee," while Kennedy spoke. "Nobody Drowned in Watergate," one of the signs carried by the demonstrators said.

"Officers Jim Lancaster and Gary Max had arrived and were in the parking lot, questioning someone outside, when the suspects walked out the door," Grodt said.

"Max had nothing to shield him and one of the men yelled 'I'm going to blow you away,'" Grodt said. "Max leaped over a nearby car and Lancaster pulled his shotgun and yelled. They apparently hadn't seen Lancaster who was safely behind his patrol car."

Grodt said both men surrendered when Lancaster yelled.

According to police reports, the men had entered the bar section of the restaurant and sat down for about 15 minutes.

Then at closing time they stood up and ordered everyone to lie on the floor while they cleaned out the cash register.

Fullerton Police Sweep County in Big Drug Raid

More than 75 Fullerton police officers descended on Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Fountain Valley and several other Orange County cities Wednesday night arresting 65 persons alleged to be narcotics dealers.

Names of those arrested during the massive roundup were not immediately available.

Of the 65 taken into custody on warrants issued Wednesday were 21 juveniles, seven females and 58 males.

Fullerton police said 20 three-man teams were dispatched to cities throughout the county to make the arrests. More arrests are expected today and later in the week.

Fullerton Police Sgt. Bud Lathrop said the offenses included sales of a variety of drugs, including heroin, cocaine, the psychedelic LSD and marijuana. Police said return of the 107 warrants, including 23 secret grand jury indictments, followed a four-month investigation of drug sales activities in the county.

The county said that undercover agents working the case purchased up to 55 pounds of marijuana from alleged dealers during the investigation. Several purchases of other drugs also were made, police said.

Wednesday night's roundup by Fullerton police marked the fourth major sweep in Orange County in recent months.

Approval Seen on Measure To Safeguard Nixon Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee Friday is expected to approve a proposal to prevent former President Nixon from destroying his Watergate tapes.

The joint resolution by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield would negate the agreement between Nixon and the White House on the tapes and make them public.

If signed by President Ford, the resolution would have the full effect of law. There is strong support in the House for a similar proposal.

The Mansfield resolution is part of a growing clamor in Congress for a full report on Nixon's actions in the Watergate scandal.

The resolution before the Government Operations Committee provides that all the White House documents and tapes compiled during the Nixon years would become public property. All would be made public except those protected by national security.

Under the agreement between Nixon and the White House, the former president would get custody of the tapes in three years, and would be allowed to destroy them. The agreement provides that the tapes be destroyed should Nixon die sooner.

Two of the most vocal critics are members of the operations committee — Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.), and Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.).

The committee will later consider legislation by Javits making all presidential documents public property.

Two-thirds of Nixon's presidential files have been shipped to San Clemente, according to White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig.

Haig said that "absolutely normal procedures" are being followed, although a truck ready to carry away some of Nixon's papers in the week after his resignation "was held up temporarily to make sure no evidentiary material was being shipped.

Talks to Resume In Pipefitters' Strike Oct. 4

Negotiations are set to resume Oct. 4 in a pipefitters strike which has already cost Southern Californians more than $25 million in delays on a single project.

More than 2,500 steamfitters and pipefitters in Southern California walked off their jobs July 1 in a strike to obtain a 36-hour work week. A wage and fringe benefit increase of $2.47 an hour for the first year of a new contract has already been reached by negotiators.

Pipefitters now earn $8.88 an hour plus fringe benefits.

Larry Hamlin, Southern California Edison Company project manager for the San Onofre nuclear generating station, this morning estimated that work stopped by the strike has cost the company $25 million, a cost which will ultimately be borne by customers.

Newport Postal Officials Cite Mail 'Storm'

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A Newport Beach postal official admitted Wednesday that an "almost incalculable" number of recent service complaints resulted in a local "state of emergency" being declared.

As a result, said Dan Phillips, about 90 postal clerks were assigned 10-hour six-day work weeks "until further notice."

Phillips, who is Brea postmaster, has been assigned interim duty at the Newport Beach Post Office until a replacement for retired postmaster Payne Thayer is named.

"We've just about dug our way out and plan to end it Friday," Phillips said of the emergency situation.

He went on to say the postal service crisis was touched off by an unexpected deluge of mail hitting the Newport Beach office over the three-day Labor Day weekend.

"We don't know where it all came from but suddenly it was Christmas all over again," said Phillips.

The veteran postal official mentioned that the inflation impact has resulted in manpower budgets being "cut to the bare bones."

Consequently, he said, there was no manpower reserve standing by to throw in the breach when the Labor Day mail deluge hit.

A few weeks before the Newport Beach office was rocked by the mail storm, operational procedures, including carrier routes, were adjusted, according to Phillips.

"That meant our carriers were in the process of mastering new routes and our clerks were learning new distribution patterns when we were hit so hard," Phillips said.

How severe was the crisis that touched off declaration of the state of emergency? "See that phone?" Phillips asked as he nodded towards the telephone sitting on his desk. "It has two incoming lines and they never stopped ringing."

Phillips said he understood telephones in three Newport Beach branches also "were kept busy" during the service crunch.

"Thanks to the efforts of our people here we were able to keep pace with priority mail but out of necessity had to give bulk mailings a back seat," he added.

Phillips said that in the case of a postmaster vacancy, such as exists in Newport Beach, an "officer in charge" is assigned for a maximum period of 120 days.

"So far, there's been two of us assigned here and the 120-day period has expired for both of us," he said.

Thayer retired in mid-November, 1973. Phillips said he "can only assume" a permanent replacement for him will be named by the postal service's Selection Advisory Board in "the very near future."

Small Tribe Ignores U.S. Peace Move

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (UPI) — A small Indian tribe ignored a government peace gesture today, vowing to go ahead with its war over 1.6 million acres of aboriginal land seized 120 years ago.

The Kootenais demand that Bureau of Indian Affairs set aside 128,000 acres of the disputed land for use as a reservation and give them a cash payment.

"I shall give a frank and open statement of my background, my career, my associations, my purposes, my finances, and anything else the committee and the Congress quite properly want to know," Rockefeller said.

Bureau Commissioner Morris Thompson said in a telegram to tribal Chairman Amelia Trice Wednesday that his agency was reviewing the situation and would reply soon to the tribe's demands.

"To keep the record straight in the meantime, I announce now that the final and complete data I am submitting show the net worth of my wife and myself to be $62.5 million . . ."

Kootenai spokesman Doug Wheaton said the wire "sounded like the bureau is trying to formulate a plan and get people together. What we want will take congressional action." He added the "war" would start on schedule.

He said the leaked reports "gave a doubly erroneous impression" because they did not include that information.

Boos for Greenspan

Adviser Says Brokers Hurting the Worst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chairman of President Ford's Council of Economic Advisers suggested today that inflation was hurting Wall Street brokers proportionately more than the nation's poor.

The statement by Alan Greenspan drew jeers and boos from many of the 180 delegates to a government-sponsored mini-summit conference on health, education and welfare inflation.

"We're all essentially saying that the outlook for the economy is very dull and sluggish, going nowhere," he said.

The delegates represented about 60 major national organizations.

There were few positive solutions to inflation offered at the conference.

Greenspan was asked by trade unionists in the audience whether the Ford administration wasn't making the poor suffer "a bit more" to make life easier for manufacturers and the upper class.

"Everybody is hurt by inflation," Greenspan declared.

"If you really want to examine who, percentage-wise, is really hurt most in these incomes, it's Wall Street brokers," he said. "I mean their incomes have gone down the most."

Many of the delegates jumped to their feet in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare auditorium, voicing catcalls, boos, jeers and hisses.

"That's the whole trouble with this administration — Wall Street brokers," shouted an unidentified man in the back of the audience.

At the conclusion of his address, Greenspan was applauded.

But after the delegates broke up into smaller sessions, Greenspan's remarks were criticized again.

"This incredible man who heads the council equates that some Wall Street financiers eat less steak and drink less champagne than poor people who have to eat dog food and finally the dog," said Joseph E. Lowery of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

"When stockbrokers' income drops from $60,000 to $25,000, they don't go hungry," added Rhoda Karpatkin of the Consumers Union.

on aides and associates are scheduled to be tried on charges of covering up the Watergate scandal. The same grand jury that indicted them also named Nixon as an undicted co-conspirator.

Nixon cannot face criminal charges for any role he might have had in the cover-up because he was pardoned by President Ford. But the pardon also removed Nixon's option of pleading the 5th Amendment.

Nixon has already been subpoenaed by his former No. 2 aide, John D. Ehrlichman, to appear as a defense witness in the trial scheduled to begin Oct. 1.

Jaworski's office confirmed that the subpoena was issued Wednesday night and will be served on Nixon at his San Clemente estate by FBI agents.

"He's been subpoenaed to testify," a spokesman for Jaworski said. "We expect him to testify."

The Jaworski subpoena calls for Nixon to appear in U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's courtroom Oct. 1, even though he may not be called to the witness stand for several days.

A spokesman for the special prosecutor said his subpoena will not conflict with Ehrlichman's subpoena — indicating the possibility Nixon might appear both for the prosecution and defense.

There has been speculation as to whether Nixon will actually comply with the subpoenas and appear in person because of reports that he is in poor health and deeply depressed about his loss of the presidency.

Julie Nixon Eisenhower said this week that her father was expected to be hospitalized soon for a new flareup of plebitis in his left leg. She flew to San Clemente today to be with him.

Should Nixon's lawyer argue that his health does not permit him to testify, Sirica could appoint a doctor to visit the former president to determine whether he would stand the rigors of testifying in a long trial. If Nixon were found fit to testify but failed to appear, he could be cited for contempt.

Senate Votes Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, by a vote of 64 to 35, cleared a pay raise for 3.5 million civilian and military employees today, handing President Ford's economic policy its first setback in Congress.

Pool Saving Carp

PETALUMA (UPI) — A portable swimming pool was pressed into use Wednesday to save carp which were trapped because the flow of the Petaluma River has receded.

The Senate refused Ford's request, backed by a last-minute plea, to postpone the pay increase by three months and cut government spending by $700 million.

As a result, the 5.2 percent increase will go into effect Oct. 1 instead of Jan. 1 as proposed by Ford.

General Services Director Jacob Myrdere said if newspaper collections don't drop off the city will earn $12,000 beyond "out of pocket" expenses during the program's first year.

Both he and Dostal praised the role played by Citizens to Recycle Usable Discards (CRUD), a Newport-Costa Mesa environmental coalition, and Valerie Murley in getting the program under way.

He noted that the city effort will not be hurt by the recent plunge in used newspaper prices.

A note of warning was sounded at the informal meeting of civic leaders when a paper company official said the once-a-month pick up program could have an adverse effect on newspaper collections.

"Our contract gives us a minimum base price of $25 a ton no matter what the market does," said Myrdere.

UC Irvine Program Cuts Eyed

UC Irvine would be omitted from a list of campuses offering post-graduate instruction under a scheme proposed by UC Regent Norton Simon.

In a newspaper interview, Simon said post-graduate programs should be limited to the campuses at Berkeley, Davis, Los Angeles and San Diego as a money-saving measure.

UC Irvine Chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich said this morning as he was leaving for a monthly regents meeting in Los Angeles that he sees no basis for Simon's suggestions.

"I think there would be a big savings. That's the way you save money and beat inflation," Simon said.

Responding to the report, Aldrich said, "I don't know what the background for Regent Simon's comment is."

"As far as UCI is concerned and other campuses moving toward combined undergraduate and graduate status, I have no basis for understanding his suggestions."

"He claims that certain economies take place, I gather, but the master plan for education in California calls for the University of California to be the graduate degree granting and sole PhD granting institution in the state and the sole agency for a variety of professional schools."

The Irvine campus, he said, is necessary to meet those commitments.

"I have no idea of how he will present it," Aldrich said. "All I'm aware of is the interview and the issues ranged rather widely."

"How the regent plans to pursue them and how they will provide a basis for future discussion, I don't know."

"I'll have to wait to hear about them at the regents meeting," he said.

Simon, who has been a regent since 1958, also suggested:

—Converting UCLA to year-round operation "so the enormous investment in physical plant and libraries is not wasted in the summer months."

—Cutting tuition at UC Riverside to attract students and solve the problem of low enrollment.

—Add more personnel to the university treasurer's office to improve the handling of more than $1 billion in investments.

The $22.5 million net worth figure he reported and the $33 million reported earlier by other sources "is largely accounted for by the fact that the leaked figure did not include the value of art and real estate I have already pledged to be given away for public use and enjoyment after my death..." He said that fact was shown in his original report to congressional committees.

"This factor alone accounts for $20.5 million of the differences," Rockefeller said. "The remainder is accounted for by updated appraisals of art and real estate which were not available at the time of my initial submissions of data, plus some minor substantive changes."

His statement did not give details of those changes.

BUSINESS IS BOOMING FOR NEW SOUTH COUNTY MARINE-NAVY RECRUITERS Marine Staff Sgt. Jim Singer Talks To Jim Kerslake, Ron Herzer of San Juan Capistrano

Laguna Hills a Bonanza For Military Recruiters

By JAN WORTH Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Under the shadow of a huge blue jeans emporium in the Wild West Plaza in Laguna Hills, a recruiting office for the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps is doing a booming business.

The four men who run the office can't explain the boom fully, but since they moved from an office in San Clemente last April, the Marines have had five times the number of applicants and the Navy, ten times.

The Navy has recruited 43 volunteers—including three young women—from the new quarters at 25272 McIntyre. It's a marked contrast from their former quota of one enlistment per month.

"If you picture a pie with a six at the bottom and a 12 at the top, we've moved about a third of the way toward the 12 from the six," said Chief Bos'n Mate Chuck Evans, head Navy recruiter.

The recruiting area for both the Marines and Navy is the same—the sprawling southern half of Orange County that includes El Toro, Mission Viejo, Laguna Beach, Laguna Niguel, Laguna Hills, San Juan Capistrano, Dana Point, and San Clemente.

The Marines have recruited 10 young men, and expect to have several more sworn in by the end of the month—including more than a five-fold increase for them.

Marine Gunnery Sgt. Larry Reid said in general the youths recruited from the south county are more affluent, more intelligent and more sure of themselves than the average recruit.

"They don't just wander in from the street looking for a job," Reid said. "They come in with definite ideas about what they want."

However many have preconceived negative notions about what they could be getting into Evans said, which in his opinion are for the most part false.

"They think of the four or six years involved being a very long time," he said. "We discuss this with them and compare it with their past and with their future. Being young, many things like this look insurmountable."

"They also feel that they'll be locked in with no free time. We explain to them that it's a regular work day, plus the specialized professional duties that you choose."

"Of the kids we've tested here for Navy schools, 85 to 90 percent of them pass with flying colors," Evans said. Ten percent of those qualify for the elite nuclear and advanced electronics programs, he said.

Part of the interest, both among the Marine and Navy recruits, may lie in the preponderance of military families living in the area.

Many of the kids going into the service from this area are sons and daughters of military personnel. In many cases, the youth is sworn into his chosen branch by his father, Evans said.

"We have everything in this area—brigadier generals, major generals, commanders, captains—the whole route of ratings. The only branch of the service we haven't come into contact with is the Coast Guard."

Typically, recruiters for a branch of the service which has a local base have more trouble than recruiters for another branch. The same is true of the Marines in this area, with opinion

Bicyclist 'Fair' After Accident

A Newport Beach bicyclist injured in a Wednesday afternoon traffic accident in Costa Mesa was reported in fair condition and progressing well today at Costa Mesa Memorial Hospital.

Klein suffered a broken leg and deep facial lacerations, hospital aides said.

apparently negatively affected by the nearby El Toro and Camp Pendleton Marine bases.

"But we've been doing a lot of advertising and publicity and it seems to be paying off," Sgt. Reid said.

On the bulletin board in the office are photos of kids sworn in recently by both the Navy and Marines.

Many have long hair and mustaches. They're wearing flannel shirts and look like tanned surfers, their girlfriends at their sides.

"The moms and dads around here are extremely interested in their kids," Evans observed. "Even if they have long hair and smoke pot, the parents still love them."

And reflecting on why the recent recruiting approach may be winning more response, Evans added, "Above all else, we don't lie to the kids. We don't feed them a bunch of malarkey."

Talks to Resume In Pipefitters' Strike Oct. 4

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCHE Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Negotiations are set to resume Oct. 4 in a pipefitters strike which has already cost Southern Californians more than $25 million in delays on a single project.

More than 2,500 steamfitters and pipefitters in Southern California walked off their jobs July 1 in a strike to retain a 36-hour work week. A wage and fringe benefit increase of $2.47 an hour for the first year of a new contract has already been reached by negotiators. Pipefitters now earn $8.88 an hour plus fringe benefits.

Larry Hamlin, Southern California Edison Company project manager for the San Onofre nuclear generating station, this morning estimated that work stopped by the strike has cost the company $25 million, a cost which will ultimately be borne by customers.

Pipefitters picket lines went up at the plant Aug. 5, Hamlin said, and other crafts working on the station stopped work.

The picket lines went down this week, he said, and work by other trades has resumed.

Pipefitters are constructing the water and cooling systems for the two 1,180 megawatt generators, he said. Construction can continue without pipefitters for two to three months.

Hamlin estimated the cost of delays at about $9 million a week, or a total of $25 million.

Members of Local 250 of the Steam-Refrigerator-Air Conditioning and Pipefitters Union in Gardena want to keep the reduced work week they have had for the past four years.

Pipefitters have reportedly suggested alternating 32 and 40 hour work weeks. But a management spokesman protested that "the pipefitters are supported by operating engineers, teamsters, laborers and other workers."

"The problem is what do we do with those people when we get to a 32-hour week?"

"My feeling," Hamlin said, "is that their working hours should be the same as others—40 hours a week."

The reduced week, he said, produces problems in scheduling work as well as morale in the other trades.

Career Center Faces Problem

By HILARY KAYE Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The year-old Career Development Center at Orange Coast College is in jeopardy following a decision Wednesday to stop its funding by the California College Board of Governors.

However, officials at the local Coast Community College District said today they will attempt to secure funds needed to continue operation of the center from within the district.

"We will do everything we can to finance the most important aspects of the center, since it was so successful the first year," said John Buller, vice chancellor for vocational education.

"It's obvious, though, that without state funds we can't have the total program we had before," he added.

The district requested $104,258 from the "disadvantaged student" section of the vocational education allocations for 1974-75. The request was turned down, along with 47 requests from other districts at Wednesday's Board of Governor's bi-monthly meeting at the Airport Inn in Irvine.

The money was to be used to continue operating the Costa Mesa college's center, which assists students in identifying and pursuing career choices.

"The board apparently wanted to fund new programs this year, not existing ones," Buller said.

"Last year they were excited about career centers. This year, they're not," he added.

Buller and other district officials will prepare a proposal for local funding of the center to present to district trustees, who are expected to make a decision before Nov. 1.

The center is open to both Orange Coast College students and potential students. It offers career guidance materials, vocational counseling, work experience, coordination, financial aid officers and other help for students seeking careers.

"We'll try not to cut back major services of the center. Perhaps we can figure out a way to do things more efficiently and less costly. Also, we may find we can only serve OCC students, not potential students," Buller said.

A second request by the district, from Golden West College in Huntington Beach, for $6,750, was also turned down.

The request involved training workshops for high school counselors to assist seniors in the transition from high school to Golden West's vocational programs.

Educators from the state informed Buller that the request should have been made under another section of the allocations. The vice chancellor said the district will probably resubmit the request, under the other section, later this year.

Senate Bill On Consumer Agency Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today refused to end a two-month filibuster that has blocked action on a bill creating a federal consumer protection agency, killing the bill for this session of Congress.

The 64-34 vote to end the debate and bring the measure to a final vote fell two short of the required two-thirds.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-N.C.), the leader of the opposition, said the bill "is repugnant to the free enterprise system" and would create an agency with unlimited authority "to throw monkey wrenches into government machinery."

Sponsors said the bill would pass easily if the filibuster could be ended.

The agency to be created by the bill would have authority to represent consumers before any federal court or federal agency where a consumer issue is at stake.

Three earlier attempts to close off the debate failed by 10, 7 and 4 votes.

Traditionally, only three attempts to break a filibuster are allowed. A fourth effort had been tried only twice in the past. The Senate leadership had said that if the latest attempt failed the measure would be dead for this year.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader told a news conference Wednesday that the key swing votes belonged to Sens. Russell Long (D-La.), J. Bennett Johnston (D-La.), Alan Bible (D-Nev.), Howard H. Baker (R-Tenn.), George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), and Ted Stevens (R-Alaska), all of whom opposed the earlier debate-ending tries.

Hurricane Rips Into Honduras; Toll Over 200

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Hurricane Fifi struck the northern coast of Honduras today with 130-mile winds, storm tides and torrential rains which left a trail of death and destruction in the nation's worst storm in a century.

Honduran authorities said the death toll is expected to exceed 200, and that in the region around the city of La Ceiba alone, 100 bodies have been counted. They estimated 100 other persons died elsewhere along the coast. Apparently most of the deaths were caused by drowning.

After smashing through Honduras, Fifi turned its full force towards the tiny Caribbean country of Belize and was expected to hit there this afternoon.

Most of the damage in Honduras was from flooding, with property and crop damage going into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Kennedy Candid Would Discuss Personal Tragedy

From Wire Services

HOBART, Ind. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says that if he decides to run for president he will answer any questions raised about Chappaquiddick.

The Massachusetts Democrat, here Wednesday for a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, said he would "respond to questions and do the best I could" on the controversy surrounding the accident.

Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge into deep water off Chappaquiddick Island in July 1969.

He said, "I have indicated it was a very deep personal tragedy. I have accepted full responsibility for it and full regret for the incident. I would respond to any questions."

Demonstrators who said they opposed a possible presidential bid by Kennedy, marched outside when he appeared at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Lake County Democratic candidates.

They also sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee," while Kennedy spoke. "Nobody Drowned in Watergate," one of the signs carried by the demonstrators said.

$182 Million—That's What Rocky's Worth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller said today that his personal fortune is $62.5 million, and that he receives in addition income from trusts with total assets of $120 million.

Rockefeller issued those figures in advance of congressional hearings on his confirmation, saying he wanted to set the record straight because of misleading reports of his wealth.

"I am concerned that incomplete and therefore misleading data about my personal assets have been leaked to the press before I have had an opportunity to make an orderly presentation in connection with my nomination to the vice presidency," Rockefeller said.

"In addition to my personal assets, I receive the income during my lifetime of two trusts with total net assets of $120 million," Rockefeller said.

He said the leaked reports "gave a doubly erroneous impression" because they did not include that information.

Rockefeller said the difference between the $62.5 million net worth figure he reported and the $33 million reported earlier by other sources "is largely accounted for by the fact that the leaked figure did not include the value of art and real estate I have already pledged to be given away for public use and enjoyment after my death..."

Small Tribe Ignores U.S. Peace Move

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (UPI) — A small Indian tribe ignored a government peace gesture today, vowing to go ahead with its war over 1.6 million acres of aboriginal land seized 120 years ago.

The 67 members of the Kootenai tribe said they would set up four road blocks and collect tolls from those passing through the area starting at midnight.

The Kootenais demand that Bureau of Indian Affairs set aside 123,000 acres of the disputed land for use as a reservation and give them a cash payment. They said this would compensate them for the land taken by the government.

Bureau Commissioner Morris Thompson said in a telegram to tribal Chairman Amelia Trice Wednesday that his agency was reviewing the situation and would reply soon to the tribe's demands.

Kootenai spokesman Doug Wheaton said the wire "sounded like the bureau is trying to formulate a plan and get people together. What we want will take congressional action."

A contestant for the title must be between the ages of 17 and 22, a resident of Costa Mesa, single and never married, be willing to serve as queen for one year and register by Sept. 30.

Application forms are available at the chamber office, 583 W. 19th St. According to the chamber's Cliff Wesdorf, only three contestants have signed up so far.

The winner of the contest will be selected Oct. 13 during the fiesta. She will receive $1,000 in prizes.

Contestants will be judged on voice and personality, gracefulness, facial beauty, posture, make up and complexion, and figure.

Boos for Greenspan

Adviser Says Brokers Hurting the Worst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of President Ford's Council of Economic Advisers suggested today that inflation was hurting Wall Street brokers proportionately more than the nation's poor.

The statement by Alan Greenspan drew jeers and boos from many of the 180 delegates to a government-sponsored mini-summit conference on health, education and welfare inflation.

There were few positive solutions to inflation offered at the conference.

Greenspan was asked by trade unionists in the audience whether the Ford administration wasn't making the poor suffer "a bit more" to make life easier for manufacturers and the upper class.

"Everybody is hurt by inflation," Greenspan declared.

"If you really want to examine who, percentage-wise, is really hurt most in these incomes, it's Wall Street brokers," he said. "I mean their incomes have gone down the most."

Many of the delegates jumped to their feet in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare auditorium, voicing catcalls, boos, jeers and hisses.

"That's the whole trouble with this administration — Wall Street brokers," shouted an unidentified man in the back of the audience.

At the conclusion of his address, Greenspan was applauded.

But after the delegates broke up into smaller sessions, Greenspan's remarks were criticized again.

"This incredible man who heads the council equates that some Wall Street financiers eat less steak and drink less champagne than poor people who have to eat dog food and finally the dog," said Joseph E. Lowery of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

"When stockbrokers' income drops from $60,000 to $25,000, they don't go hungry," added Rhoda Karpakina of the Consumers Union.

Greenspan painted a dreary picture of the state of the nation's economy, saying that he knows no one "who looks on the outlook over the next six or nine months with any degree of optimism."

Prosecution Witness

Nixon Called to Testify In 'Watergate Six' Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski has subpoenaed former President Nixon as a prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial of six former Nixon associates, it was announced today.

Nixon has already been subpoenaed by his former No. 2 aide, John D. Ehrlichman, to appear as a defense witness in the trial scheduled to begin Oct. 1.

Jaworski's office confirmed that the subpoena was issued Wednesday night and will be served on Nixon at his San Clemente estate by FBI agents.

"He's been subpoenaed to testify," a spokesman for Jaworski said. "We expect him to testify."

The Jaworski subpoena calls for Nixon to appear in U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's courtroom Oct. 1, even though he may not be called to the witness stand for several days.

A spokesman for the special prosecutor said his subpoena will not conflict with Ehrlichman's subpoena — indicating the possibility Nixon might appear both for the prosecution and defense.

There has been speculation as to whether Nixon will actually comply with the subpoenas and appear in person because of reports that he is in poor health and deeply depressed about his loss of the presidency.

Julie Nixon Eisenhower said this week that her father was expected to be hospitalized soon for a new flareup of plebitis in his left leg. She flew to San Clemente today to be with him.

Should Nixon's lawyer argue that his health does not permit him to testify, Sirica could appoint a doctor to visit the former president to determine whether he would stand the rigors of testifying in a long trial. If Nixon were found fit to testify but failed to appear, he could be cited for contempt.

Ehrlichman and five other former Nixon aides and associates are scheduled to be tried on charges of covering up the Watergate scandal. The same grand jury that indicted them also named Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator.

Nixon cannot face criminal charges for any role he might have had in the cover-up because he was pardoned by President Ford. But the pardon also removed Nixon's option of pleading the 5th Amendment.

"We're all essentially saying that the outlook for the economy is very dull and sluggish, going nowhere," he said. The delegates represented about 60 major national organizations.

Doctor Claims Murder Suspect Tried Suicide

By TOM BARLEY Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A psychiatrist called by the defense, testified today that Helen Jeannine May was mentally incapable of forming an intent to kill when she shot her 23-year-old boarder in her Costa Mesa home last June 11.

Dr. Herman Romm testified as the trial of Mrs. May, 45, of 1383 Shannon Lane, moved into its final hours that he has diagnosed her as suicidal and that murder is completely remote from her type of character.

Mrs. May is being tried for murder in Orange County Superior Court following the shooting of jazz drummer Venice Hernando Willis.

Defense attorney Donald McCartin has withdrawn his plea of innocent by reason of insanity and asked Judge Walter E. Smith to rule in the non-jury trial that Mrs. May was of "diminished capacity" when she killed her boarder.

Dr. Romm today agreed that Mrs. May was sane when she got a .22-caliber pistol from her bedroom, walked to the dining room and shot Willis through the head.

She broke down several times on the witness stand during her testimony but repeatedly told McCartin and prosecutor Pat Brian that she did not intend to fire the weapon.

"I couldn't believe it went off," she sobbed. "I knelt down and put my (See SHOOTING, Page A2)

Senate Votes Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, by a vote of 64 to 35, cleared a pay raise for 3.5 million civilian and military employees today, handing President Ford's economic policy its first setback in Congress.

The Senate refused Ford's request, backed by a last-minute plea, to postpone the pay increase by three months and cut government spending by $700 million.

As a result, the 5.52 percent increase will go into effect Oct. 1 instead of Jan. 1 as proposed by Ford.

Recruiting Office Booming

Laguna Hills Navy, Marine Corps Office Busy

By JAN WORTH Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Under the shadow of a huge blue jeans emporium in the Wild West Plaza in Laguna Hills, a recruiting office for the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps is doing a booming business.

The four men who run the office can't explain the boom fully, but since they moved from an office in San Clemente last April, the Marines have had five times the number of applicants and the Navy, ten times.

The Navy has recruited 43 volunteers—including three young women—from the new quarters at 25272 McIntyre. It's a marked contrast from their former quota of one enlistment per month.

"If you picture a pie with a six at the bottom and a 12 at the top, we've moved about a third of the way toward the 12 from the six," said Chief Bos'n Mate Chuck Evans, head Navy recruiter.

The recruiting area for both the Marines and Navy is the same—the sprawling southern half of Orange County that includes El Toro, Mission Viejo, Laguna Beach, Laguna Niguel, Laguna Hills, San Juan Capistrano, Dana Point, and San Clemente.

The Marines have recruited 10 young men, and expect to have several more sworn in by the end of the month — including more than a five-fold increase for them.

Marine Gunnery Sgt. Larry Reid said in general the youths recruited from the south county are more affluent, more intelligent and more sure of themselves than the average recruit.

"They don't just wander in from the street looking for a job," Reid said. "They come in with definite ideas about what they want."

However many have preconceived negative notions about what they could be getting into Evans said, which in his opinion are for the most part false.

"They think of the four or six years involved being a very long time," he said. "We discuss this with them and compare it with their past and with their future. Being young, many things like this look insurmountable."

"They also feel that they'll be locked in with no free time. We explain to them that it's a regular work day, plus the specialized professional duties that you choose.

State Funds Cut at OCC Career Unit

By HILARY KAYE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The year-old Career Development Center at Orange Coast College is in jeopardy following a decision Wednesday to stop its funding by the California College Board of Governors.

However, officials at the local Coast Community College District said today they will attempt to secure funds needed to continue operation of the center from within the district.

"We will do everything we can to finance the most important aspects of the center, since it was so successful the first year," said John Buller, vice chancellor for vocational education.

"It's obvious, though, that without state funds we can't have the total program we had before," he added.

The district requested $104,258 from the "disadvantaged student" section of the vocational education allocations for 1974-75. The request was turned down, along with 47 requests from other districts at Wednesday's Board of Governor's bi-monthly meeting at the Airport Inn in Irvine.

The money was to be used to continue operating the Costa Mesa college's center, which assists students in identifying and pursuing career choices.

"The board apparently wanted to fund new programs this year, not existing ones," Buller said.

"Last year they were excited about career centers. This year, they're not," he added.

Buller and other district officials will prepare a proposal for local funding of the center to present to district trustees, who are expected to make a decision before Nov. 1.

The center is open to both Orange Coast College students and potential students. It offers career guidance materials, vocational counseling, work experience, coordination, financial aid officers and other help for students seeking careers.

"We'll try not to cut back major services of the center. Perhaps we can figure out a way to do things more efficiently and less costly. Also, we may find we can only serve OCC students, not potential students," Buller said.

A second request by the district, from Golden West College in Huntington Beach, for $5,750, was also turned down.

Kennedy Candid Would Discuss Personal Tragedy

From Wire Services

HOBART, Ind. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says that if he decides to run for president he will answer any questions raised about Chappaquiddick.

The Massachusetts Democrat, here Wednesday for a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, said he would "respond to questions and do the best I could" on the controversy surrounding the accident.

Mary Jo Kopechne drowned when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a bridge into deep water off Chappaquiddick Island in July 1969.

He said, "I have indicated it was a very deep personal tragedy. I have accepted full responsibility for it and full regret for the incident. I would respond to any questions."

Demonstrators who said they opposed a possible presidential bid by Kennedy, marched outside when he appeared at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Lake County Democratic candidates.

They also sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee," while Kennedy spoke. "Nobody Drowned in Watergate," one of the signs carried by the demonstrators said.

Approval Seen on Measure To Safeguard Nixon Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee Friday is expected to approve a proposal to prevent former President Nixon from destroying his Watergate tapes.

The joint resolution by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield would negate the agreement between Nixon and the White House on the tapes and make them public.

If signed by President Ford, the resolution would have the full effect of law. There is strong support in the House for a similar proposal.

The Mansfield resolution is part of a growing clamor in Congress for a full report on Nixon's actions in the Watergate scandal.

The resolution before the Government Operations Committee provides that all the White House documents and tapes compiled during the Nixon years would become public property. All would be made public except those protected by national security.

Under the agreement between Nixon and the White House, the former president would get custody of the tapes in three years, and would be allowed to destroy them. The agreement provides that the tapes be destroyed should Nixon die sooner.

Two of the most vocal critics are members of the operations committee — Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.), and Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.).

The committee will later consider legislation by Javits making all presidential documents public property.

Two-thirds of Nixon's presidential files have been shipped to San Clemente, according to White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig.

Haig said that "absolutely normal procedures" are being followed, although a truck ready to carry away some of Nixon's papers in the week after his resignation "was held up temporarily to make sure no evidentiary material was being shipped."

"There was nothing spooky about it," Haig said.

In a clarification later, he reported that the transfer had been stopped at the request of J. Fred Buzhardt, one of Nixon's Watergate lawyers, until it could be determined that none of the papers was needed for pending legal suits.

Haig denied reports that "burn bags" and paper shredders were brought in to dispose of some of the documents.

hands under Venice's head and said please don't be hurt, please be all right."

Mrs. May testified that she then made two attempts to take her own life with the same weapon but that the pistol went off before she was ready to aim it on both occasions.

The weeping widow testified that she only brought the weapon from the bedroom to scare Willis after her boarder had announced his intention of raping her.

Dr. Romm testified today that he accepts Mrs. May's statement that she had made four unsuccessful suicide attempts in recent years.

He said a big factor in that frame of mind was the death of her husband last spring.

Romm conceded that Costa Mesa Fire Captain Lawrence May had been separated from his wife for nearly two years when he died of leukemia. But the psychiatrist noted that there had been other separations in the 23-year marriage with eventual reconciliations.

The knowledge that she could no longer turn to her husband at all was certainly responsible for much of her deep depression, Romm testified.

He said his examination revealed that Mrs. May could not have borne any malice towards Willis or anyone at the time of the killing despite the fact that her boarder cheated her, repeatedly abused her and spanked her across his knee with his belt.

Mrs. May broke down in court late Wednesday as she told prosecutor Brian "Venice was like a son to me. I tried to help him all I could."

'Fifi' Hits Honduras; 200 Killed

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Hurricane Fifi struck the northern coast of Honduras today with 130-mile winds, storm tides and torrential rains which left a trail of death and destruction in the nation's worst storm in a century.

Honduran authorities said the death toll is expected to exceed 200, and that in the region around the city of La Ceiba alone, 100 bodies have been counted. They estimated 100 other persons died elsewhere along the coast. Apparently most of the deaths were caused by drowning.

After smashing through Honduras, Fifi turned its full force towards the tiny Caribbean country of Belize and was expected to hit there this afternoon.

Most of the damage in Honduras was from flooding, with property and crop damage going into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Fifi devastated banana plantations, rice fields, bridges and highways, mowed down houses, and buildings of poor construction which could not withstand the flooding and the hurricane winds.

Among cities reporting damage were San Pedro Sula, La Ceiba, Tela, Puerto Cortes, Trujillo, Puerto Castilla, Guajaca and the Bay Island (Islas Bahia) off the coast.

Honduran government authorities calculated that one-third of the country — comprising the nation's richest agricultural zone — was affected by the storm, although Fifi's rains covered virtually the entire country.

Emergency relief committees were rushing aid to affected areas.

At Puerto Cortes, Honduras' only oil refinery was reported isolated by flood waters.

Weathermen said that on its present course Fifi's winds will sweep inland over the southernmost tip of Belize, just south of Punta Gorda, a city of 7,000 persons. The Belize government ordered hurricane precautions throughout the country, especially in the southern coastal sector.

Dr. Neil Frank, chief of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said Fifi was the "worst hurricane to affect the north coast of Honduras this century."

Mesan Changes Plea to Guilty In Dad's Death

A Costa Mesa gardener booked on murder charges after he stabbed his father during an argument about the younger man's drinking habits has pleaded guilty to lesser charges.

Orange County Superior Court Judge Byron K. McMillan cancelled the scheduled trial of Daniel Rios Rivera, 23, of 2505 Orange Ave., and accepted his plea of guilty to charges of voluntary manslaughter.

He sent Rivera to the state's Chino facility for a pre-sentencing diagnostic study. Rivera will be sentenced Dec. 16 to what could be a state prison term of one to 15 years.

Rivera was arrested last May 26 shortly after the fatally wounded Raymond Pena Rivera, 50, crawled from the apartment he shared with his son to a neighbor's home. He died before medical aid could reach him.

Police said Rivera told them he became enraged when his father upbraided him for drinking and further argued with him over their joint use of the telephone in the apartment.

Rivera said he drew his pocket knife, plunged it twice into the older man's chest and then slumped into a chair while his mortally wounded father crept on hands and knees from the apartment.

Wheaton said the governor told him it was his duty to enforce the state's laws "regardless of the consequences." But the tribe spokesman said the governor's decision would not deter the Indians.

Wheaton said the situation could become a repeat of the trouble at Wounded Knee, S.D., where Indians were locked in combat with the federal government.

The Kootenai said their tribe did receive some cash payment for the land several years ago but this was not enough. They said that despite the reservation and cash payments they wanted fishing and hunting rights.

Thompson's wire said: "At the request of the President, the bureau is in the process of preparing a reply to the Sept. 11, 1974, letter to the president of the United States. We are currently reviewing the material you have submitted and will respond promptly."

The commissioner also said the Justice Department has been asked to send a representative to meetings over the dispute.

Wheaton said at the heart of the issue was the poverty of the Kootenais themselves.

"We are about 300 percent below the poverty level, only about one-fourth of this once-powerful nation of native Americans here have steady jobs — most of them earn 'quick money' during the harvest time," he explained.

The spokesman said there were several "enterprises" on the drawing board once the tribe is given its reservation and these would provide economic stability for the members.

Navy schools, 85 to 90 percent of them pass with flying colors," Evans said. Ten percent of those qualify for the elite nuclear and advanced electronics programs, he said.

Part of the interest, both among the Marine and Navy recruits, may lie in the preponderance of military families living in the area.

Many of the kids going into the service from this area are sons and daughters of military personnel. In many cases, the youth is sworn into his chosen branch by his father, Evans said.

"We have everything in this area — brigadier generals, major generals, commanders, captains — the whole route of ratings. The only branch of the service we haven't come into contact with is the Coast Guard."

Typically, recruiters for a branch of the service which has a local base have more trouble than recruiters for another branch. The same is true of the Marines in this area, with opinion apparently negatively affected by the nearby El Toro and Camp Pendleton Marine bases.

"But we've been doing a lot of advertising and publicity and it seems to be paying off," Sgt. Reid said.

On the bulletin board in the office are photos of kids sworn in recently by both the Navy and Marines.

Many have long hair and mustaches. They're wearing flannel shirts and look like tanned surfers, their girlfriends at their sides.

"The moms and dads around here are extremely interested in their kids," Evans observed. "Even if they have long hair and smoke pot, the parents still love them."

And reflecting on why the recent recruiting approach may be winning more response, Evans added, "Above all else, we don't lie to the kids. We don't feed them a bunch of malarkey."

A man who police allege tried to bilk a South Coast Plaza clothing store out of $47 worth of casual attire when a stolen credit card is in custody today, under $10,000 bond.

John Llewellyn Borden, 24, of Santa Ana faces forgery and possession of marijuana charges in addition to the possession of stolen property count.

Sgt. Donald Casey said Borden and another young male entered the Rebel Shop on the plaza's lower level about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and asked to see some matching outfits in the $45 to $50 range.

After selecting a $47.70 combination, Borden gave a major credit card to a clerk who asked to see some other identification.

According to Casey, Borden told the clerk he could only show her some other credit cards and that he had no driver's license. The clerk then called the credit card company for verification and was told the card had been reported stolen earlier the same day.

Borden's accomplice, Casey said, left the store with the clothes. Borden was detained by the clerk until police arrived, Casey said.

Talks to Resume In Pipefitters' Strike Oct. 4

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCHE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Negotiations are set to resume Oct. 4 in a pipefitters strike which has already cost Southern Californians more than $25 million in delays on a single project.

More than 2,500 steamfitters and pipefitters in Southern California walked off their jobs July 1 in a strike to retain a 36-hour work week. A wage and fringe benefit increase of $2.47 an hour for the first year of a new contract has already been reached by negotiators.

Pipefitters now earn $8.88 an hour plus fringe benefits.

Larry Hamlin, Southern California Edison Company project manager for the San Onofre nuclear generating station, this morning estimated that work stopped by the strike has cost the company $25 million, a cost which will ultimately be borne by customers.

Pipefitters picket lines went up at the plant Aug. 5, Hamlin said, and other crafts working on the station stopped work.

The picket lines went down this week, he said, and work by other trades has resumed.

Pipefitters are constructing the water and cooling systems for the two 1,180 megawatt generators, he said. Construction can continue without pipefitters for two to three more months.

Hamlin estimated the cost of delays at about $9 million a week, or a total of $25 million.

Members of Local 250 of the Steam-Refrigerator-Air Conditioning and Pipefitters Union in Gardena want to keep the reduced work week they have had for the past four years.

Pipefitters have reportedly suggested alternating 32 and 40 hour work weeks.

But a management spokesman protested that "the pipefitters are supported by operating engineers, electricians, laborers and other workers."
