Carlsark Crosses Ocean

Sailing Vessel Piloted by Cornellians Arrives at Azores in Twelve Days from Nova Scotia

Three Cornellians, two of them newly informed of their destination, brought the Carlsark, forty-six-foot ketch safely into port at Horta, the Azores, August 4, after a twelve-day crossing of the Atlantic Ocean from Nova Scotia. The arrival marked the achievement of a remarkable marine accomplishment.

The crew of the Carlsark was captained by Carl L. Weagant '29 of Douglaston, L. I., owner of the ketch and last year's football manager. The sailors were Dudley N. Schoales '29 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, 1928 football captain; Joseph M. Rummler '29 of Chicago, Ill., former business manager of The Cornell Widow, and H. M. Devereaux, a friend.

The skipper did not tell his crew where they were going until the Carlsark was seven days out on her way across the ocean. There were twelve days of good weather, according to Weagant, making "a splendid journey for us. We encountered a whale on entering the Gulf Stream. We have two radio receiving sets. We intend," he added, "to leave Fayal tomorrow (August 6) and proceed by way of San Miguel and Gibraltar to the Mediterranean, returning by way of the Canary Islands and Cape Verde.

"Our provisions lasted well and we obtained fresh fish from the Newfoundland fishing fleet."

The Carlsark left Ithaca June 20, headed toward the head of Cayuga Lake and the St. Lawrence River. A member of the crew at that time was J. Evans Estabrook '32 of Fayetteville. He left the ketch to return down the St. Lawrence by canoe. When the Carlsark left Ithaca, it was reported that it would go to Nova Scotia and then sail down the Atlantic coast to New York.

The boat was built four years ago by four Austrians who christened it the Sowitasgoht. They brought the ketch to America in a forty-day ocean crossing.

William K. Vanderbilt purchased the ship and named it the WiKiVa. He sold it after a year's use to Weagant, who brought it to Ithaca last fall. Early this year it was completely overhauled and equipped. During the Princeton-Yale and Syracuse regattas on Cayuga Lake in May, the Carlsark served as the judges' boat at the finish line.

The equipment included a stove burning liquified natural gas, an electric generating plant, a fireplace, and radio. The boat was also equipped with a four-cylinder engine. It had a fuel capacity of fifty gallons and carried 300 gallons of water.

A complete sword fishing outfit and high powered rifles were also carried, as well as Caston lights, and other modern aids for convenience and comfort.

ELECTED SECRETARY

Dr. Robert L. Kelly, permanent secretary of the Association of American Colleges, has announced the election of Archie M. Palmer '18 as associate secretary of the association, with headquarters at 111 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Palmer was for three years secretary of the College of Arts and Sciences. During the past two years he has been assistant director of the Institute of International Education.

The Association of American Colleges, founded in 1915, is composed of more than 400 undergraduate colleges. Its purpose is the promotion of higher education in all its forms in the member colleges and the prosecution of such plans as may make these institutions more efficient.

SUMMER THEATRE CLOSÉS

Four plays, the work of Cornellians, were produced in the University Theatre August 13 for the final bill of the Cornell Summer Theatre. The productions were given in the final week of the Summer Session, a season that brought twenty-three productions to the Willard Straight Hall stage.

The plays came from the pens of George Fass '29 of New York, John B. Emperor '26, Philip H. Freund '29 of Detroit, and Elizabeth Raushenbush '25.

NEW FELLOWSHIP GIVEN

A new grant to the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation now makes possible exchange fellowships between the United States and the countries of Latin America. Cornell is reported among the American universities which may receive students from Mexico and certain South American countries under the proposed exchange. The first appointments will be made next January.

To Visit Cornell Centers

Jervis Langdon '97 and Harold Flack '12 to Spend a Month on an Extended Cornell Club Tour

In order to build a closer relationship between the Alumni of the West and the University, Jervis Langdon '97, president of the Cornellian Council and Harold Flack '12, executive secretary, will leave Ithaca on September 11 on a month's trip, which will take them into twenty or more Cornell centers. With the cooperation of Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative, meetings of alumni will be held at the various points of the tour. Langdon and Flack intend their trip to be a "Good Will Pilgrimage," and will devote considerable time in assisting the further development of existing Cornell clubs in the West and in the organizations of new ones. They wish it clearly understood that no appeals for funds will be made at any of the meetings.

Inasmuch as this will be the first visit of members of the official family to the Coast in a number of years, lantern slides and motion pictures showing the latest developments on the Campus and the outstanding events of the past year will be shown at most of the meetings.

Langdon and Flack will also meet with the members of various alumni committees, such as the Committee on Relations with Preparatory Schools, and will give first hand assistance to the work of that committee. Members of the Committee on Bequests will be seen and the work of this important alumni committee explained.

Medical Center Plan

Construction of Thirteen Buildings in New York, Housing College, to be Started

Plans for the medical center in New York to be erected by the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association have been prepared, and one of the largest centers for the care of the sick and the instruction of physicians and nurses will soon be in the process of construction.

The center will include thirteen connected buildings, dominated by a twenty-four-story structure, on the site between Sixty-eighth and Seventieth Streets and York Avenue and Avenue A, New York. North of Seventieth Street another unit, with service buildings and garages, will be constructed.

The construction of the medical center, to contain the most modern equipment for the practice and teaching of medicine and surgery, was made possible from gifts from the estate of Harry Payne Whitney.

The largest building in the group will contain the main hospital. The smaller units will house the Cornell Medical College and three special institutes, including a maternity hospital which will eventually take over the work of the Lying-in Hospital; a hospital for children, and an institute for the treatment of nervous and mental disorders. The maternity institute is to be constructed from funds provided by the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Foundation.

On the side of the main building adjoining York Avenue the pathological building of the Medical College and other structures connected with the college. The first building will house the offices and library. Departments of biochemistry, pharmacology, anatomy, bacteriology, and physiology will be located in structures connected with the main building.

There will be accommodations for 1,000 ward patients and an equal number of out-patients, an indeterminate number of private patients, 100 resident physicians, 300 undergraduate medical students and 500 graduate and student nurses.

"With the completion of the present building program," the association announced, "the association will have a comprehensive and well integrated medical unit for the cooperative advancement of all branches of medicine."

Cornell is represented in the association by President Farrand, J. Du Pratt White '90, and Dr. Walter L. Niles '00.

PROFESSOR MELVIN L. NICHOLS sailed for Europe on July 25 with Mrs. Nichols and their daughter. Professor Nichols will study and do research work in Germany during the next fifteen months under a Guggenheim fellowship fund-

REUNION OF '09 WOMEN

Had all returned for their twenty-year reunion who expressed the ardent desire or determined intention of making the Ithaca trip, we should have had nearly seventy percent of the women of the class in Ithaca in June. In this regard the returns were better than for our famous fifteen-year reunion and distinctly gratifying to the chairman. Unfortunately, so many were the interrupting foreign tours, business conventions, camping trips, rose fevers, June measles, and other acts unjustifiably attributed to God—that only thirty-seven finally registered. However, felinely speaking, we had more women back than at any previous twenty-year reunion and more women back than any other women's group save '27 at this reunion. We are glad the younger classes have so many women to come back and may they all be as pretty and attractively attired as '27!

Having disposed of these necessary statistics we go on to state that we all thoroughly enjoyed our reunion and this includes—the real test—the undersigned or chairman. We performed in all the "main tent" events and had some really snappy side shows of our own. Our very late—or was it early—"bull session" on "These times and those" or "Who said Life is a gay adventure?" was a startling illustration of what the well dressed dancing mother wears en boudoir.

Speaking of costumes, upon assurance of many variously vintaged male admirers that we looked only a few days older than the class of 1919, we wore all the while our natty models—in all cases unprotestingly and for the most part cheerfully. For that matter people who do not wear costumes at a reunion nowadays merely make themselves conspicuous.

Taking the class picture was a funny number. We are opposed to being photographed—who isn't? Our male chairman, however—gallant but harassed—got us finally grouped—most of us that is—and even a few of the rahrahs who, not being the giants now they were in those days, would not have been so much missed as they had hoped they were going to be.

While our banquet furnished for the flesh only the usual excellent meal the University provides for these occasions, it had for the spirit a uniquely happy flavour in the contemporary comments of Dean Fitch, the anecdotal sallies of Professor Guerlac and the poetic whimsies of Professor Sampson. In order that all might hear these favorites and many others of former occasions, would not a solution of this ever augmenting banquet spacing problem be the use of the Drill Hall with amplifier equipment for all class banquets?

Our dinner at Forest Home Tea Room Sunday was equaled only by a similar one four years ago—a major event from both a social and culinary standpoint. Forest Home Tea Room cooking has not yet gone institutional.

During the tea for the '09 women Sunday afternoon at the home of the secretary it developed that practically all of the women present are coming back for the Dix reunion next June. As we know of many more unable to come this year who are surely coming next it looks like another record. And it will be another record for the entire class if the '09 men will realize that it is not propaganda and programs but their duty to their University and their own previous record for good sportsmanship that should bring them back next June.

ATHLETICS

Beaman Wins Award

Orson C. Beaman '29 of White Plains was awarded a wrist watch by the Cornell Track Association of New York for his performance in winning the two-mile run in the international track meet July 20, in which Cornell and Princeton athletes defeated a team representing Oxford and Cambridge Universities of England.

The association, whose purpose it is to further development of track and to maintain the interest of alumni in undergraduate track, donated the watch before the meet. Beaman won the two-mile event in 9:33 4/5, smashing the existing record.

The watch bore this inscription: "Presented by The Cornell Track Alumni of New York to Best Cornell Performer—Oxford Cambridge, Princeton Cornell Meet July 20, 1929."

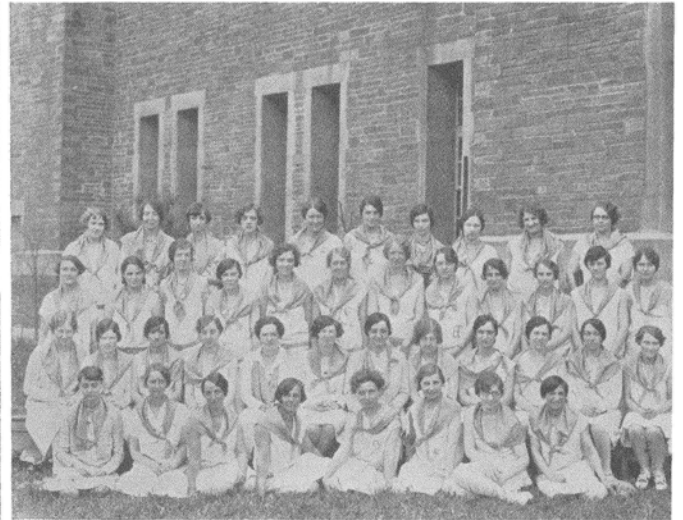

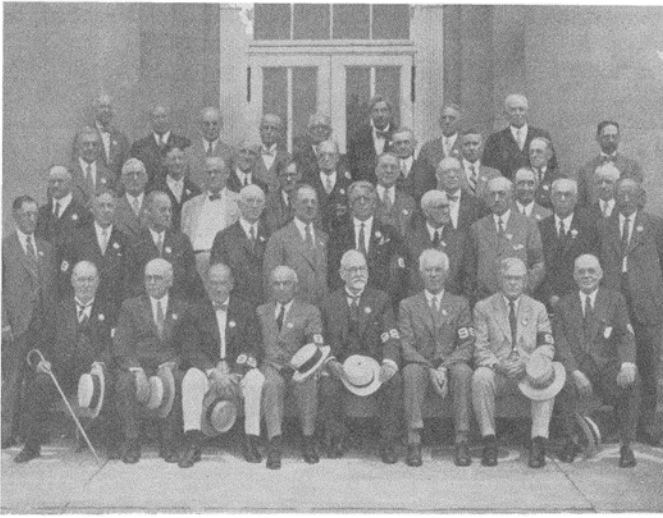

The watch was presented to Beaman after the meet in the presence of Coach Jack Moakley, Herbert L. Trube '08, John E. Whinery '13, Henry A. Russell '26, George N. Scott '27, and Oswald Rothmaler '12.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Dr. Carl E. Ladd '12, director of extension in the College of Agriculture, sailed August 16 for England where he will attend the first international conference on agricultural economics at Dartington Hall, Devon. Other Cornellians attending are Professors George F. Warren '03, Frank A. Pearson '12, Leland Spencer '18, and Myers P. Rasmussen '19.

The conference was proposed by Dr. Ladd in 1928, when he was engaged in agricultural research in Devon.

MRS. FRANK A. BARTON announces the marriage of her daughter, Harriet Garrison Barton to Paul M. O'Leary, assistant professor of economics on July 5, 1929 in Ithaca.

The Rochester Convention

To Be Convened October 17-18—Plans for Business and Pleasure Briefly Outlined

Business and pleasure will be combined in Rochester on October 17 and 18, when the Alumni Corporation, to which all Cornell alumni automatically belong, gathers for its Tenth Annual Convention.

The Cornell Club and the Cornell Women's Club of Rochester are exerting their energies towards preparing a well-balanced program for the hundreds of alumni expected to attend. Dr. Stearns S. Bullen '09 heads the general and executive committees, and Miss Carroll C. Griminger '24, president of the Women's Club, is a vice-chairman.

In general, there will be two business sessions, with a key-note topic of import to the University; a banquet with President Farrand as one of the speakers; a closing smoker; and golf, sight-seeing, and social festivities for the interims.

A special inducement to alumni from afar to attend the convention is the Cornell-Princeton football game on October 19, the day succeeding the close of the meeting. Rochester Cornellians have a committee at work to make it easy for those attending to hop down to Ithaca for the week-end.

Aside from being a city which boasts that it contains more active Cornellians than any other district, Rochester is considered the ideal convention city, with its many parks, its George Eastman, its famous Eastman Theater, the Genesee River cutting it in two, and blue Lake Ontario just to the north.

Last year the convention was held in Washington, D. C., as no alumnus who was there will be likely to forget. In many respects each of the nine conventions since 1921 has been better than its predecessor. The Washington convention, and that in St. Louis the year before, were probably the most successful. The convention idea was started in Cleveland back in 1921. The annual meetings have been held regularly since then, in Chicago, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, New York, Detroit, and Philadelphia.

Headquarters for the convention this year will be at the Powers Hotel, long the center of Cornell activity in Rochester. Reservations will be handled by Louis B. Swift '12 and should be addressed to him at 95 Ames Street, Rochester.

Dr. Floyd S. Winslow '06, the only Rochester man ever to be a member of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Corporation, is this year a vice-president. He and Joseph W. Gavett, Jr., '11, are vice-chairmen of the general and executive committees. Ex-officio members of the general committee are George A. Benton '19, president of the Cornell Club of Rochester; Louis C. Boochever '12, director of public information at the University; and Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative.

The other members of the general committee are Hon. Simon Adler '89, James F. Barker '93, Edward Bausch '75, Irving E. Booth '83, Quentin W. Booth '81, Dr. Willis E. Bowen '02, Milo Cleveland '05, Arthur B. Curran '16, Mrs. Charles W. Curtis (Stephanie Marx) '88, Paul Folger '06, Frank E. Gannett '98, Andrew L. Gilman '09, Andrew G. Gleason '95, James E. Gleason '92, William V. Hamilton '84, Edward Harris, Jr. '00, Henry L. Howe, Jr. '10, Dr. Edwin S. Ingersoll '09, J. Arthur Jennings '18, Hon. Clyde W. Knapp '93, George M. Keller '09, Dr. William S. McGann '15, Arthur J. Messner '12, Allan H. Mogensen '23, J. Emmett O'Brien '15, George C. Perkins '93, James K. Quigley '03, Cecil R. Rosenberry '25, Philip D. Rupert '20, Charles H. Stuart '91, John F. Skinner '90, Adrian L. Spencer '21, Henry M. Stern '00, Leon Stern '89, William F. Strang '04, Adolph Stuber '12, Lewis B. Swift '12, Walter L. Todd '09, and Philip Will '00.

BOOKS

Icelandic Manuscripts

Icelandic Manuscripts. By Halldor Hermannsson. With Eight Plates. Ithaca. Cornell University Library. 1929. 24.8 cm., pp. vi, 80. Price, $2. Islandica xix.

Professor Hermannsson continues with great regularity the production of his valuable contributions to Icelandic bibliography and philology. Since 1908 he has averaged a little over one publication a year—nineteen numbers of Islandica and three catalogues, the latter totaling 1164 pages.

In the present volume the author goes rather thoroughly into the whole matter of the writing and transmission of manuscripts from the earliest known records down to modern times.

It is curious that although the early literature of Iceland and Norway is often called "runic," there is no Icelandic runic ms. extant nor is it known that any ever existed. When Iceland at the Althing of 1000 accepted Christianity the Latin alphabet was brought in. The Carolingian minuscule was probably the type of script used in the earliest Icelandic mss.

Of vellum mss. produced in Iceland or written by Icelanders before 1550 there are now extant some seven hundred—a very fair showing when it is remembered that the mortality of the earliest mss. must have been heavy. The oldest Icelandic ms. now in existence is No. 237a of the Arna-Magnaean Collection at Copenhagen, a folio dating from around 1150, being a mere fragment of two leaves of homilies.

Various events tended from early times to despoil Iceland of her ms. treasures: the Black Plague of the fifteenth century, the Lutheran Reformation of the middle of the sixteenth century, the seizure by the government of the landed properties of the monasteries followed by the dispersal of their libraries. No great cities were developed in Iceland; consequently there were no great libraries at which collections of mss. could be centered. Moreover, there were eager collectors who scoured Iceland and bore away many of her most precious mss. The most famous of these collectors was Arni Magnusson (1663-1730), whose collection, though partly destroyed by the great Copenhagen fire of October 20-21, 1728, is still the largest in existence. The National Library of Iceland today possesses a ms. collection of some 7,000 volumes, but they are all of modern origin.

Basic Truths About Farming

America Challenged: a Preface to a Point of View. By Lewis F. Carr. New York. Macmillan. 1929. 22.2 cm., pp. xii, 322. Price, $3.50.

It is a gloomy picture that Mr. Carr paints of the American farmer. While manufacturers are showing a net gain of almost two billion dollars a year, our thirty million farmers are losing money at the rate of five billions a year. To haul the farmer out of this slough looks like a nearly hopeless job. Yet it is not too much to say that if the republic is to survive, in some way this must be achieved. The author is less despondent than some of his readers might be disposed to become after going through the first chapters of the book.

He argues for greater efficiency in the management of farming; a more equitable tax system, which shall have more regard for the respective needs of industry and of agriculture—two separate worlds; more intelligent and economical distribution of products; and the regulation of the tariff in such a manner that the farmer shall not have to sell in a cheap market and buy in a dear one.

All this and more he presents in a readable and convincing manner. It is a notable contribution to our economic literature.

Spots and Futures

Commodity Exchanges. By Julius B. Baer '04 and George P. Woodruff. New York. Harper. 1929. 22 cm., pp. xiv, 319. Price, $5.

This is a methodical and well written treatise which would seem likely to answer nearly every question of importance relating to the complicated problems raised by the growth of exchanges for trading in commodities.

Trading in future, one of the features of the commodity exchange has long been carried on. Since 1848 futures trading in grain has been carried on in an organized market in Chicago. The New York Produce Exchange was founded in 1850. The New York and New Orleans Cotton Exchanges date from 1870. Futures in silk have been bought and sold on the Yokohama Bourse for many years.

Our authors expound in admirable fashion the complicated system of modern trade in spots and futures on the exchanges, and make it very clear that their existence helps the market, "gives commodities the element of mobility," and tends to diminish the spread between the price paid by the consumer and the price paid to the producer. Moreover, the linking together of exchanges makes for a uniformity of price which it would otherwise be difficult to attain. And to some extent at least exchange prices influence the rate of consumption and production.

Baer and Woodruff have made a good book, whether as a text for schools of business or as a volume for the general reader.

'QUAKE FELT IN ITHACA

The seismograph of the Department of Geology, located in the basement of McGraw Hall, had the chance of its lifetime August 12, but it was not in commission, and it lost the opportunity to record the earthquake that shook Ithaca early that morning.

The tremors shook houses, awakened sleepers, and provided food for thought and conversation beginning at 6.30 o'clock. The tremor lasted nearly a minute, long enough to send hundreds to the telephone. The Geology Department was besieged with calls. Other residents slept through the disturbance.

The 'quake recalled the night of February 28, 1925, when the heaviest shock in Ithaca's history occurred. No property damage was recorded at either time.

The University community, centered on East Hill, failed to feel the force of the shock, as was experienced in downtown Ithaca.

Ithaca's earthquake record reveals that tremors lasting nearly three minutes were experienced February 11, 1914.

RUSSIAN CONDUCTS RESEARCH

Professor P. S. Kupalov, staff member of the laboratory of Dr. Ivan P. Pavlov at the Institute of Experimental Medicine in Russia, is at the University, engaged with Howard S. Liddell, assistant professor of physiology, in research on the problems of conditional reflexes. Professor Kupalov is working under a grant by the Heckscher Foundation.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL

THE Summer Session at Cornell University has not always been in good odor. This year it leaves in its wake the various irritations that have been common to it in recent years, some of them augmented, some diminished, but unquestionably trying to the temper of the onlooker and to many of the participants.

The session has had a long and praiseworthy career of some three dozen summers. There is no question that much excellent work is done, that a superior faculty is assembled from the regular staff and from distinguished visitors. It is unfortunate that it should gain an ill repute from mere lack of regulation.

The principal indictments would be lack of restraint, lack of manners, and lack of modesty, on the part of a noisy and conspicuous minority. The offenses are magnified by being obvious to a heavy tourist traffic of strangers, and particularly graduates of other universities, who gather thus their first impressions of Cornell. They find that positively, to caricature the words of the Founder, any sort of person can come here, and does.

Then the alumnus. Many alumni have long suspected that the old place is not what it used to be in the good old days. Of course it is not, and never was. If, however, he honestly makes his comparison with the regular session, he must conclude that Cornell is stronger than it was in those purple and red days of his memory. And if his comparison is based on a three-hour stop with the summer session he must conclude that Cornell is no place for his kind any longer. Many have done so.

The Summer Session faculty might well emulate the methods of the corresponding body during the rest of the year and impose by those forces at the command of faculties some of the restraint, modesty, and manners that the summer scholars under discussion do not bring with them.

The Summer Session is self-supporting and is performing an excellent educational work. It has taken its first steps toward restraining the unrestrained. We hope it will take seriously its obvious task of upholding the reputation of the University.

Otherwise, it would be better to limit the session to those who find the regular session too distracting for serious work. The gain in prestige would be worth much to the alumni, who could be looked to to replace the deficit.

DIXON HALL DEDICATED

Dixon Hall at Newcomb College, near New Orleans, named for Dr. Brandt Van Blarcom Dixon '70, president emeritus, was dedicated June 7, at exercises in which Dr. Dixon was the principal speaker. A bas relief of Dr. Dixon was also unveiled during the ceremonies.

Dr. Dixon has been connected with Newcomb College since it was founded forty-two years ago. The first class was held in a private dwelling. The school was the result of Mrs. Josephine Louise Newcomb's idea of a place of instruction for girls and young women.

The movement to build a hall and to honor Dr. Dixon was started four years ago, when the alumnae association of the college raised $75,000. The cost of the structure was $300,000, the remainder being raised by the board.

Many needs of the college are filled in the new hall, which will house the music department and the library. An auditorium is also provided in the structure.

The building was first officially used for baccalaureate services June 9.

PRAISES FARM BOARD

The new Federal Farm Board, appointed by President Herbert Hoover as part of the Government Administration's program of farm relief, has been highly praised by H. Edward Babcock, former member of the Faculty of the College of Agriculture, now general manager of the Cooperative Grange League Federation Exchange, with headquarters at Ithaca. Babcock was at one time mentioned for a place on the Farm Board, which now includes Charles S. Wilson '04.

Babcock recently appeared before the board in Washington in a meeting in which farmers' problems were discussed. Upon his return, he expressed himself as highly impressed by the attitude of the board and said that in the future the board would prove of genuine value in the advancement of agriculture.

"Taking the country as a whole," Babcock said, "the success of New York State farmers in organizing for the cooperative sale of milk through the Dairymen's League and of the purchase of supplies through the Grange League Federation is looked upon as a model of accomplishment. This leaves only the field of general farm produce not served in this State by cooperative selling agencies. With the stimulus of cooperative endeavor which comes from the Federal Farm Board I look for rapid development in the field of marketing farm produce cooperatively in this state within the next two or three years."

WEAI BEGINS BROADCASTING

Station WEAI broadcast its first program August 15, with John C. Fisher '09 giving a talk on the harvest weather forecast service of the weather bureau. Fisher was formerly associated with the weather bureau at Cornell. He is now director of the bureau at Syracuse.

Professor William C. Ballard '10 is in charge of the station.

Members of the staff of the College of Agriculture were on the air August 15, 16, and 17. Although the station is primarily for the use of the state colleges, University events will be broadcast regularly. Pick-up lines are to be placed in the large lecture rooms, auditoriums, the athletic fields, and the Drill Hall, for the broadcasting of programs in the future.

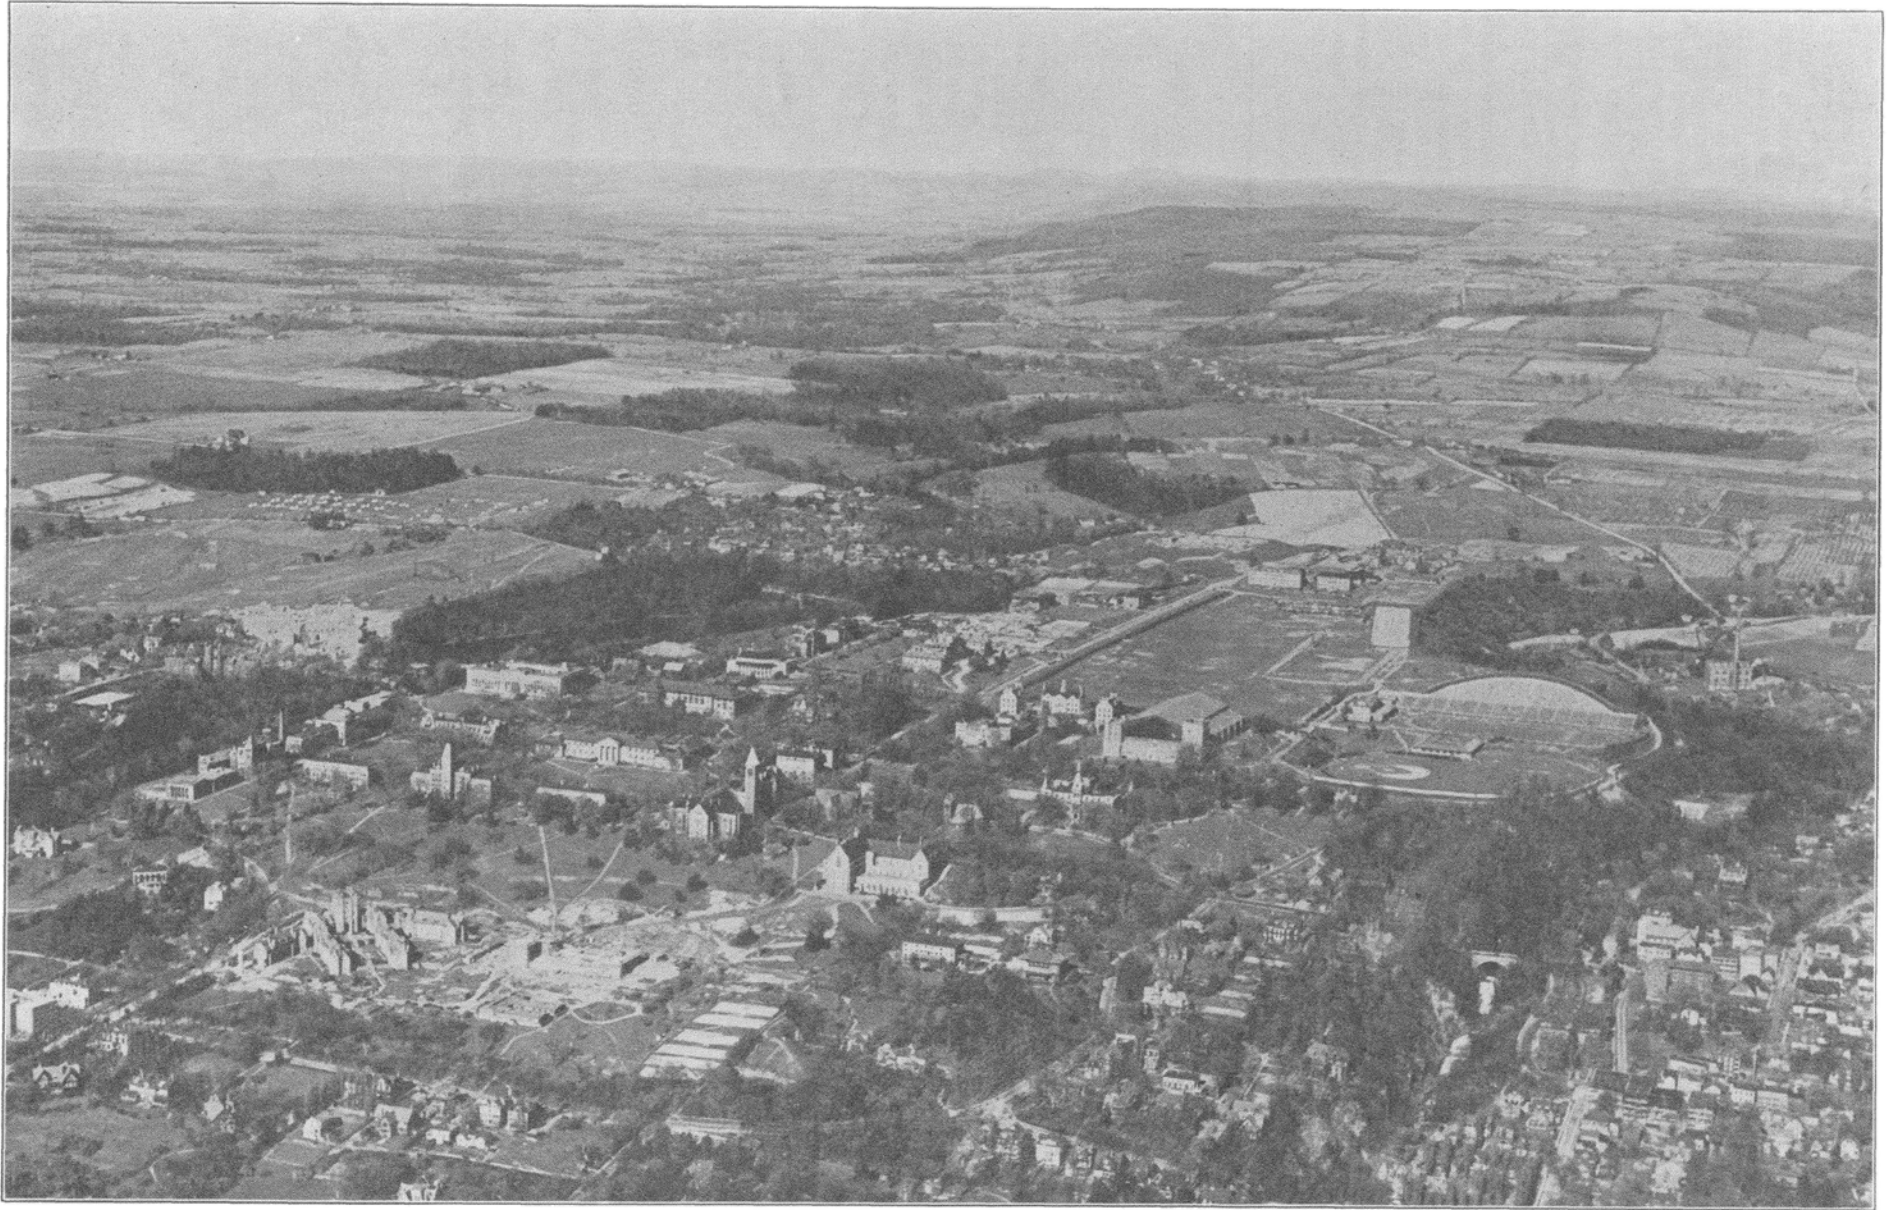

The station operates on a frequency of 1270 kilocycles and on a power of 500 watts.

MAKE FRUIT TOUR

Joseph Oskamp, extension professor of pomology in the College of Agriculture, represented the University during a week's tour, early in August, of 450 New York State fruit growers through the Shenandoah Valley fruit region. The tour was made under the auspices of the University, the New York State Horticultural Society, and the Farm Bureau.

The principal meeting of the tour was held at Charlottesville, Va., August 10. Speakers included Percival J. Parrott, '06 Grad., chief in entomology research in the Geneva Experiment Station, and Arthur J. Heinicke, Ph.D. '16, professor of pomology.

DEAN DEXTER S. KIMBALL of the College of Engineering has been elected a director of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company of New York, publishers of engineering, industrial, and business periodicals.

On the extreme right, behind the Cornell Crescent is the new University heating plant. The road which starts there and runs northeast is the new main highway and shortcut to Cortland.

Cornellian Council Reports

Funds Given to University from Gifts and Bequests Total
$924,63

The total amount of cash and securities transmitted to the University by the Cornellian Council during the fiscal year ending June 30th was $924,639.00, according to the report just presented to the representatives on the Cornellian Council. This amount is the largest in the twenty-one years of the organization and compares with $569,756.00 for the preceding year. Of this sum $168,462.00 was contributed by alumni and friends of Cornell without restriction as to how it should be used.

From this unrestricted fund there has been appropriated $10,000.00 toward the further cost of construction of Boldt Hall and also from this fund the expenses of the Council for the year have been paid.

In his annual report showing the increasing effectiveness of the work of the Cornellian Council, Harold Flack '12, Executive Secretary, enumerates the following gifts which comprise the year's record-making total.

$53,090.00 has been paid in during the year on account of the subscriptions to the Cornell War Memorial Fund and interest totaling $8,853.00 has accrued on this fund during the year. It is a significant fact that more than $250,000 has already been paid in to the War Memorial Fund. (The War Memorial group, including Lyon and McFaddin Halls, is rapidly approaching completion and we anticipate that the dedication of these buildings will take place some time during the fall or winter).

$69,864.00 has been paid in during the year by Mr. Harrison D. McFaddin '04 on account of the cost of construction of McFaddin Hall.

$4,051.00 has been paid in during the year on account of subscriptions to a special fund which is being raised for the College of Architecture. A total of more than $40,000.00 has already been pledged to this fund, payable over a period of five years.

$10,000 was contributed by Mr. Henry R. Ickleheimer '88 for beautifying the campus other than the gorges. $1,000 was also contributed by Mr. Walter P. Cooke '91 for the same purpose.

$31,318.00 was contributed by Colonel Henry W. Sackett '75 on account of his gift of $200,000.00 for beautifying the gorges. (By request of Colonel Sackett this gift is being contributed to the University through the Cornellian Council).

A gift of $10,000.00 was made during the year by Mr. Lincoln K. Passmore to be added to the John Faxon Passmore '13 Memorial Fund. This fund now amounts to $20,000. (The income from this fund is unrestricted).

$7,950 was raised through the efforts of Dean V. A. Moore '87 and Dr. Frank H. Miller to be added to the Flower Library Endowment Fund for the Veterinary College. This fund now amounts to $18,950.00.

$2,000.00 was contributed by Messrs. Horace K. White '88, Ernest I. White '93 and Andrew S. White '88 to be added to the White Veterinary Prize Fund. (An original gift of $500.00 was made some years ago by Mr. Horace K. White, the income of which is awarded as a prize to meritorious students in Veterinary Science).

$1,000.00 was contributed by Richard C. Bundy to establish the Charles Gross Bundy prize in Veterinary Medicine.

An additional gift of $2,500.00 was made during the year by Mrs. Clover Boldt Johaneson toward the further cost of construction of Boldt Tower. (This building is rapidly nearing completion and will be dedicated some time this winter).

$10,206.00 was contributed during the year for permanent endowment and has been added to the Cornell Alumni Endowment Fund.

$2,741.00 was contributed by members of the class of '03 on account of a fund of $25,000, which is being raised as the 25th year Reunion Memorial of their class.

$430.00 was contributed during the year, to be added to the 25th year Reunion Memorial Fund of the class of '01. This fund now amounts to $16,121.00

$665.00 was contributed by members of the class of '00 to be added to the 25th year Reunion Memorial Fund of that class. This fund has now reached $4,410.00.

$2,000.00 was contributed by Mr. Mynderse Van Cleef '74 to be added to the Charles Edward Van Cleef Memorial Fund which Mr. Van Cleef is building up as a perpetual memorial to his brother. The income from this fund is to be used toward the purchase of books on medicine, surgery and allied subjects for the Ithaca division of the Cornell Medical College and also for the purpose of re-binding and maintaining the books in the Medical Library. This fund now amounts to $23,000.

$2,000.00 was contributed by Mr. F. N. Sanderson '87 for a walk with curb and gutter extending between the library and Willard Straight Hall.

$1,000.00 was contributed anonymously toward the cost maintenance of the summer school for rural ministers at Cornell.

$2,500.00 was contributed by friends and relatives of the late Henry Shaler Williams on account of a fund of $25,000.00 which is being raised to establish the Henry Shaler Williams Memorial Fund for the use of the Department of Geology.

THE CLUBS

Cleveland Women

The Cornell Women of Cleveland are to be entertained at a dessert bridge on August 24 at 1:30 p. m. by Mrs. J. Hearst Coleman, at her home, 10304 Lake Avenue, in honor of her sister, Miss Hunter, and Mrs. Powell, who is to be one of the heads of the new women's dormitories.

New England

Between forty and fifty Cornell men from New England foregathered at the Lake Quinsigamond Boat Club in Worcester on the afternoon and evening of July 27. The occasion was the annual "Wash" of the Club, an institution which has been celebrated with success for many years. The "Wash" was formerly held on the Massachusetts shore near Boston but of late years Lake Quinsigamond has been the locale.

Following an afternoon of golf, tennis, swimming, canoe tilting, and aquaplaning, the crowd thoroughly enjoyed the novelty of a German dinner served in cafeteria style. Howard W. Nester '13, chairman of the committee on arrangements, introduced Roland F. Andrews '00 as toastmaster. The three speakers, in order, were Coach James Wray, Foster M. Coffin '12, and Professor C. L. Durham '99.

New York

Volume one, number one, of The Cornell Yell has just been mailed to all the members of the Club. It is an ambitious eight-page sheet, filled with items of particular interest to the members of the Club, and generously supported with advertisements. With its regular paper the Club joins with the Cornell Clubs of Chicago and Southern California, which periodically issue Cornell Clippings and The Cornell Chimes.

APPOINTMENTS DELEGATES

Cornell will be represented at the centenary of two universities this fall. Dr. Halldor Hermannsson, professor of Scandinavian languages and literature at Cornell, who is travelling abroad this year, will attend the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Royal Technical College at Copenhagen, Denmark.

For the celebration of the centenary of the South African College to be held at Cape Town October 1-5, President Farand has appointed as official delegate Professor Johannes Honoch Neethling '11. His father was graduated from the South African College and this fact furnishes additional interest to the appointment of Professor Neethling.

DAY SCHOOL

"Student Activities Should be Studious Activities"

The above, like all epigrams, is probably only half a truth. However, four years trial of it as a central idea in our school has shown that there are many students (both in and out of Ithaca) for whom it is valid. With us, scholastic work holds the entire stage. Other activities are individual and incidental.

With the stage thus set, hard work, high standards, scholastic success and real preparedness for college, become the usual rather than the exceptional.

The school has several unusual features suited to the type of student it aims to serve. Of special interest is our intensive program whereby year courses are covered in a single semester. How this is done, and well done, is told in our catalogue, which will be sent upon request.

Fall Semester opens September 24th.

At this time of year many students are availing themselves of the tutoring offered at Cascadilla in preparation for the Cornell Entrance Examinations. This work is given to individuals or to groups by instructors of training and skill. Information upon request.

Accurate Control of Materials

INDUSTRY today demands closer and closer control of every operation and every material employed in manufacturing. The specially developed Bausch and Lomb Metallographic Equipment illustrated above affords microscopic precision in the observation and photography of metal or other opaque specimens. It gives finer, more accurate results than were ever possible before.

In developing such special optical equipment to speed production and increase precision in many different fields, Bausch and Lomb have contributed largely to modern industrial progress.

Your own production problems may be open to solution through some special optical instrument. Bausch and Lomb scientists will gladly cooperate in developing it.

Visitors to the campus wish to send a description to their friends. Postcards can now be mailed with one cent stamps. More postcards are being used. Viewbooks cost a little more but the description is better. The "Book of Views" leads when a good description of the campus is wanted.

The Campus Map $1.50

The campus map was the biggest item at Christmas time. Some did not buy because they had not seen one. Here is your opportunity while you are in Ithaca. The Co-op is conveniently located on the campus.
