"Sunlight" Beneficial

Artificial Light Baths Reduce Susceptibility to Winter Colds Among 300 Students

The use of artificial sunlight has reduced the susceptibility to colds among a large number of Cornell students, the results of experiments during the past year reveal. More than twenty-five per cent of students are especially susceptible to colds.

With 300 undergraduates participating in the experiment, the usual winter epidemic of colds was almost completely avoided. Dr. Dean F. Smiley '16, chief medical adviser, was in charge, aided by Dr. Maughan. Artificial sunlight treatments were given students.

Protective results were greatest when the treatments had been given for months, although this period of best health was the season when colds are likely to be worst. Those taking the light were students particularly susceptible to colds, an average of more than four colds a year. From November 5 to January 3, each man took one light bath a week, exposing his entire body for fifteen minutes. Susceptibility to colds was reduced 42½ per cent in that period, compared with another group equally liable to colds who took no treatments.

During the period from January 27 to May 1, those receiving treatments showed a 58 per cent reduction in susceptibility, averaging 1.01 colds each against 2.42 for those who did not take light baths. Dr. Smiley pointed out that the decrease was unusually large.

"We attempted," he said, "to give the light twice a week during this second period, but some boys did not care to spend that much time and we did not average much more than once a week. It should be understood that we do not claim the light would do equally well everywhere. Cornell is in a cloud belt, with less winter sunshine than at some places. It may be where there is more sunshine the light would not show the same percentages.

"We have not tried the light on the seventy-five per cent who represent normal cold susceptibility. But some of our studies indicate that the so-called cold epidemics are mostly confined to the twenty-five per cent of cold susceptibles, and that if we can protect them, there will be no epidemics.

"Only fifteen women took the light, not beginning until January 27. They showed a cold reduction of 19.9 per cent."

CORNELL FLAG UNFURLED IN LIBRARY AT LOUVAIN

The flag of Cornell, together with those of 64 other American educational institutions, was recently unfurled with appropriate ceremonies in the reading room of the restored University Library at Louvain. At its spring meeting the Board of Trustees of Cornell University authorized the purchase and presentation of this flag.

The rector of Louvain, Monsignor Paulin Ladeuze, presided over the massing of the colors in the reading room of the Library, attended by members of the faculty and in the presence of representatives of the municipality of Louvain and the Belgian Government. The Louvain Library, it will be recalled, is the gift of the American people to the Belgian nation in testimony of their admiration for the late Cardinal Mercier and the gallant conduct of the Belgian people during the War. It replaces, on a much larger site, the library building destroyed by the invading German troops in 1914.

The architect, Whitney Warren, in his design of the new library building combined the best element of Flemish architecture of the time of the Renaissance with Italian and Spanish features and even some Gothic details in the decoration. The ensemble has been judged by no less an expert than Cass Gilbert as "one of the finest pieces of modern architecture erected since the War."

The flags installed at the recent ceremony are college and university colors assembled by W. Francklyn Paris of New York as a tribute to the late Cardinal Mercier, whose friendship he enjoyed during that distinguished ecclesiastic's lifetime. Mr. Paris was also president of the American Committee instrumental in raising funds for the presentation to the Hall of Fame of the New York University of a memorial of Cardinal Mercier.

PROFESSOR CARL BECKER is teaching European history at Harvard this summer.

Wins Prix de Rome

Richard C. Murdock '28 Fifth Cornellian to Capture Architecture Award for Foreign Study

Richard Coolidge Murdock '28 of Ossining is the 1930 winner of the Prix de Rome for landscape architecture. The fellowship carries $1,500 a year for three years for study at the American Academy in Rome, with residence and a studio there, and an allowance of $500 for transportation at and from Rome. The total value of the prize is estimated at $8,000.

Murdock, a distant cousin of former President Calvin Coolidge, is the fifth Cornell man to win the award in the seven times the competition has been held. Murdock's winning design was a "large country estate." He will begin his studies in Rome in October.

The other four Cornellians who have previously won the Prix de Rome are Edward Lawson '13, Ralph E. Griswold '16, Norman T. Newton '19, and Michael Rapuano '27.

Murdock is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi, Gargoyle, and L'Ogive. He served on the general Spring Day committee and the Beaux Arts Ball committee during his undergraduate days.

DEVELOP "HEARING" DEVICE

The device recently developed by Professor Frederick Bedell, M.S. '91, Ph.D. '92, for "hearing" through vibrations carried from the teeth along bone structure to the auditory nerve has not yet been adapted in its present form for ordinary conversation.

Dr. Bedell, who is now in Europe, has been engaged in making the receptive qualities of the device more perfect.

PROFESSOR LINCOLN RETURNS

Professor Paul M. Lincoln, director of the School of Electrical Engineering, returned to Ithaca from a trip around the world, during which he attended the World Engineering Conference at Yokohama, Japan, and the World Power Conference at Berlin, Germany.

YEAR IS SUCCESSFUL

Winding up its athletic contests for the academic year 1929-1930 by taking a prominent part in the victory of the combined Cornell-Princeton track team over Oxford and Cambridge July 12, the wearers of the Red and White brought to a close one of their most successful athletic years. They broke even in a total of 91 athletic contests in 12 sports and by winning championships in four sports.

FOOTBALL IMPROVES

Notable comebacks were staged in rowing, football, wrestling, track and lacrosse. Championships were won in crew and wrestling, and ties for first place were achieved in indoor track and lacrosse. In football Cornell lost close contests to Dartmouth and Pennsylvania and chalked up victories over Princeton, Columbia and four other opponents. Coach Dobie has a strong nucleus for his 1930 squad and the outlook for a good football team is the most promising since the days of Pfann and Kaw.

VICTORIOUS IN TRACK

In indoor track Cornell won both dual meets with Yale and Michigan and tied for first with Pennsylvania at the Intercollegiate. In outdoor track a close meet was lost to Pennsylvania, but Princeton was decisively beaten. In the Oxford-Cambridge meet held in London July 12, Cornellians captured 6 of the 7 firsts won by the combined American team.

In cross country, the Cornell harriers won all dual meets and placed second to Penn in the quadrangular meet in New York. Yale, Dartmouth and Alfred saw the heels of the Cornellians.

CREW IS WINNER

The most dramatic comeback staged by the Cornellians was in rowing. After 15 lean years Cornell came into its own again by beating the finest field of entries ever assembled at the Poughkeepsie regatta. Victories in the varsity four-mile race, in the junior varsity three-mile contest, and a second in the yearling event stamped the Cornell crews as the best in the country. In earlier regattas, Cornell lost only to Yale in a two-mile varsity contest at Carnegie Lake. The entire crew is practically intact for next year and the indications point to the fact that Cornell will be a serious contender for rowing honors for at least another year or two. Coach James Wray has struck his stride and rowing prospects are the best since the days of "the old man," Charles E. Courtney.

In basketball and baseball Cornell achieved only an average record, winning only a third of the intercollegiate contests. Interest in baseball was revived during the year with the formation of the Eastern Intercollegiate League. Despite this poor showing three Cornellians placed on the "All-star" team, tying for first place honors with Pennsylvania.

MINOR SPORTS SUCCESSFUL

In lacrosse, Cornell was one of six teams which lost only one contest during the year, and is thus tied for the unofficial championship of America. There is no league in this sport and consequently there is no accurate basis of deciding the championship. However, Cornell was one of the three teams not beaten by the Oxford-Cambridge team in its recent American invasion. The Britishers were held to a 2-2 tie by the Red and White stick wielders.

The hockey team made its best showing in years despite the handicap of poor ice. Of six games played the Cornell pucksters won four contests.

The absence of adequate swimming facilities proved the usual handicap to the swimming team, who closed their season with 2 victories won in 7 starts.

In soccer, fencing and tennis, the Cornell team made their worst showing, winning 5 out of 14 contests and tying 2.

THREE WIN LEAGUE PLACES

Three players on the baseball team won places on the all-Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League team this year. They were Captain Blin S. Cushman '30, left field, Lester M. Handleman '31, shortstop and Sidney Goodman '32, third base.

Cornell tied with Pennsylvania in having the greatest number of players on the team, each getting three. Princeton placed two, and Dartmouth one, Columbia and Yale failing to place a man.

Goodman's batting average for the league season was .360 and in seven games his fielding average was .933, for a total percentage of 1.293.

Handleman, the leading shortstop of the league in fielding, played in nine games, batted .297 and fielded .972 for a total of 1.269. Captain Cushman hit for a mark of .371, fielded perfectly, 1.000, for a total of 1.371.

The all-star team's batting average is .396 and the fielding record .960, for a total of 2.356.

GRID PRACTICE SCHEDULED

The 1930 football season will be inaugurated September 8, when the initial practice is held. A squad of more than sixty men is expected to report to Coach Gilmour Dobie at that time.

The schedule this year opens with Clarkson Tech here September 27 and continues until the annual Thanksgiving Day game with Pennsylvania at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, November 27.

The schedule:

September 27, Clarkson Tech.

October 4, Niagara; 11, Hampden-Sidney; 18, Princeton at Princeton.

November 1, Columbia at New York; 8, Hobart; 15, Dartmouth; 27, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Prospects for this year's eleven are fairly good, with only three veterans lost through graduation. They are Captain Wakeman, tackle; Johnson, quarterback, and Scott, fullback.

Returning this year are Stevens and Handleman, halfbacks; Rousseau, Young, Claggett, and Lueder, ends; Martinez, tackle; Captain-elect Hunt, Hackstaff, and Tullar, guards, and Wallace, Riekert, and Estabrook, centers.

From the freshman squad of last year there will be available Viviano, Smith, Beall, Nieman, Byers, and Lipinski, backs; George, tackle, and Penny, center.

THE SWINGING BRIDGE

CARDS AND COUPONS

It might be interesting for rule-making bodies (I mean bodies that make rules for other persons) to undergo their own rules. University authorities look with benign and patient eyes on the puzzlement of the entering freshman: the puzzlement is so obviously because of the freshman's freshmanness. Yet if an elder were to perform the many steps of the routine process by which a student enters Cornell or any other university, he might run up against a little bewilderment of his own. I have been helping a prospective freshman fill out his cards and coupons, and I have a touch of writer's cramp, and a brain a bit more be-draggled than usual.

Of course I do not challenge the necessity of each and every coupon. There are many files to be kept, and it would be a great clerical expense if the freshman filled out but one big questionnaire, and left to the clerks the task of copying the details on as many separate cards as might be needed. Every card that the lad fills out saves the University the expense of doing it; and we need the money. But I can't help being intrigued, as the intelligentsia used to say, by the respective demands of the respective cards and coupons.

For instance, several officials must know if the lad is married; other officials, apparently as important, ignore the point. Is this a subtle propaganda for marriage, or for celibacy? The local telephone number is frequently but not invariably required. Perhaps those who don't demand it, telephone for it to those who do. I puzzled over this request: Parent's Name? All right. But immediately following, Relationship? I suppose the answer is Parent. Or, if you put down John Smith for parent, is the answer to Relationship Father? The next matter didn't puzzle me; it worried me. Date of Birth? All right. Next question: What is your age? I hasten to add that it is not the Department of Mathematics that propounds this searching question. M.W.S.

Cornell Fourth in Pensions

University Granted Total of $886,000 by Carnegie Foundation Up to June 30, 1929

Cornell is listed in fourth place among the universities whose former teachers have benefitted to the greatest degree in the receipt of Carnegie pensions up to June 30, 1929, according to the annual report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Cornell Faculty members have received $886,000.

Harvard heads the list with Yale second and Columbia third.

New allowances and pensions to teachers and professors of annual value of $202,400 were granted by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching during 1928-29. Seventy-four former teachers and 29 widows are the beneficiaries under the new grants, which represent the highest total grant to the largest number of persons in any one year in the history of the Foundation.

The development and prospects of the teachers' pensions in the United States and suggestions for the advancement of the system are discussed in the report.

With a total expenditure of more than $18,817,000 in retiring allowances and pensions up to June 30, 1929, the allowances of the Carnegie Foundation, which have been paid without cost to their recipients, have formed the most generous non-governmental pension system ever operated for a professional group.

The report declares that the sum thus paid out from income exceeds the permanent endowment of the Foundation by more than $1,500,000.

The average amount of the 837 retiring allowances granted by the foundation from 1906 to 1929, inclusive, have reflected the rise of salary scales in American colleges. In 1906 the average of 48 allowances granted on the basis of age was only $1,246. For the first six months of 1929, when 24 allowances were granted on the basis of age, the average was $2,506. The average retiring allowance in force has risen from $2,216 to 1920 to $2,394 at present, and the annual expenditure of the Foundation for teachers and their widows to $1,445,690.

Estimates embodied in the report indicate that this sum will increase to approximately $2,241,000 in about 1944 and then begin to decrease until about 1985, when all of the approximately 3,355 teachers in 83 colleges and universities who in 1929 had expectations from the original free pension plan of the Foundation, and their widows, will have received their allowances and pensions. To take care of such increases the foundation has accumulated a reserve fund which now contains more than $12,500 to be spent, principal and interest, leaving the permanent general endowment of $17,000,000 intact after all expectations have been met.

The Foundation announces a revised scale of maximum free retiring allowances for professors, available at the age of 70 years. A teacher who became 65 years old in 1929 will receive a maximum allowance of $3,000; one who becomes 65 in 1930 will receive $2,300; in 1931, $1,600, and in 1932 and thereafter, $1,500, of which $500 will be paid under a supplementary annuity contract furnished by the Carnegie Corporation of New York through the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association. The widows pensions will be approximately one-half of the allowances and annuities.

To pay these pensions it is estimated that the total income available to the Foundation will be more than $50,000,000.

Since its inception in 1906 the Foundation has granted 1,633 allowances and pensions to teachers in 40 states, five Canadian provinces and Newfoundland. New York State heads the list with 262, Massachusetts is second with 209, and Connecticut third with 122.

Up to June 30, 1929, former teachers at Harvard had received from the Foundation allowances totaling $1,547,000, at Yale, $1,300,000 at Columbia, $1,251,000, at Cornell, $886,000, at the University of California, $534,500, and at the University of Michigan, $513,432. The total expenditure, which in 1906-07 was only $158,890 among 35 institutions, had risen to $18,817,000 among 92 institutions in 1929.

Ninety-four universities and colleges of the United States and Canada are now associated with the Foundation for the payment of retiring allowances and pensions. Of these, 73 contribute equally with their teachers toward the payment of joint contractual retiring annuities through the Teachers' Insurance Association of America, which now has 8,394 annuity contracts in force.

The report says that on June 30, 1929, the resources of the Foundation totaled $32,210,000, an increase of $615,500 over the previous fiscal year. Of this total, $17,065,800 is held as permanent general endowment, $1,270,000 as permanent resources of the Division of Educational Inquiry, $12,546,000 as a reserve for liquidating pension liabilities accruing after 1929, $792,600 to assist colleges and universities to adopt the contributory plan of retiring allowances, and $534,000 as an emergency reserve.

PROFESSOR Elizabeth P. Donnan '07 of Wellesley had an article in The New England Quarterly for April on "The New England Slave Trade After the Revolution." In The Journal of Economic and Business History for May Professor Donnan wrote on "The Early Days of the South Sea Company, 1711-1718."

THE CLUBS

MILWAUKEE

In the words of the club reporter, the Cornell picnic of the Cornell Club of Milwaukee on June 28 was a "wow." Perfect weather brought a turnout of more than fifty, and enthusiasm ran particularly high following the news of the results of the races at Poughkeepsie. Golf and baseball and other sports filled up the day. Armin C. Frank '17 was responsible for the culinary department, and his provisions were unanimously voted the best ever.

NEW YORK

As a result of the annual elections of the Club, officers for the coming year will be: president, Jansen Noyes '10; vice-presidents, Charles H. Blair '97, John T. McGovern '00, James I. Clarke '12, Foster M. Coffin '12, and Willard I. Emerson '19; secretary, Andrew E. Tuck '98; treasurer, Alexander C. Clogher '04.

WASHINGTON, BALTIMORE

The annual part of the Cornell Clubs of Washington and Baltimore was held on June 18 at the Annapolis Roads Beach and Country Club. When the institution was inaugurated a year ago Washington played host. This year the Baltimore Club gave the party, which consisted of a golf tournament followed by a swim and a dinner in the Club House. Baltimore won the golfing honors, although the prize for low score went to Carl H. Butman '10, of Washington.

TELLURIDE APPOINTS HEAD

Elmer M. Johnson, instructor in English since 1922, was appointed chancellor of the Telluride Association at its convention held in Ithaca in June. The position is comparable to the presidency of a small college. The Association is an endowed scholarship organization providing education for young men who show unusual aptitude in some field. Members are chosen by the chancellor, about fifteen being picked each year.

The Association was founded in 1890 by L. L. Nunn, a Western philanthropist, and was formally organized in 1910. The Telluride House at Cornell was the first owned by the Association and is still its finest. Students chosen may select any college, a large number coming to Cornell.

Mr. Johnson will maintain his home in Ithaca, though he will travel all over the country interviewing prospects recommended by local educators. He received the degree of A.B. in '22 and was for some time a graduate student in English.

PROFESSOR ALBAN G. WIDGERY of the Department of Philosophy goes to Duke University this fall.

Reunion Stories

The '25 women never had a better time in all the four years that they were at Cornell than they had in the fourth floor annex of Sage, June 13, 14, 15. Ask them why they never got to bed before three a. m. and you will be reassured that reunions are the best things ever and the fifty women who were there cannot wait until next June to come back under the Dix plan.

At the banquet Louisa Ridgway acted as toastmistress although there was only one apology for a speech at which time the silver cup was presented to Mary Brown MacDonald on behalf of the housewives who won the marathon entitled "The School Room vs. the Home." A rising vote of thanks was given to Pauline Schmid and Bessy Tuttle for their excellent choice of the polka dot cape for a class costume, and Florence Dahme and Imogen Noyes Stone for their work on the class paper.

Telegrams were received from Pauline Schmid and Eleanor Gage Beeler who were both unavoidably absent.

Charlotte Hopkins, Ellen Watson, and Florence C. Crofoot of Ithaca were elected to appoint a chairman of reunion and an Ithaca chairman to act as class treasurer.

There was much singing and cheering, everybody was happy, it was a great reunion, no plans, no speeches, everything impromptu, and a good time was had by all.

FRUIT GROWERS MEET

With 250 fruit growers attending, the New York State Horticultural Society held its summer meeting at Cornell August 7. Dean Albert R. Mann '04 of the College of Agriculture welcomed the group.

Dean Mann spoke of the importance of the University's work and of the increasing demand for similar effort. He said that farmers all over the state are now sending their sons to Cornell while they themselves obtain aid in their farming work from experts at the college.

During their visit the fruit growers inspected the university orchards and other exhibits.

IN The Manchester Guardian Weekly for June 20 Professor Charles H. Herford of the University of Manchester reviews Elizabeth Gaskell by Professor G. DeWitt Sanders, Ph.D. '22, of the Michigan State Normal College.

CORNELLIAN IS ELECTED TO DIRECT DEPARTMENT

The Appointment of Dr. Leonard Franklin Fuller '12 as head of the electrical engineering department at the University of California has been announced.

The selection of Dr. Fuller for this position was one of the last acts of Dr. William Wallace Campbell as president of the State University before his retirement a few days ago.

Dr. Fuller is vice-president of the Federal Telegraph Company, and in that position of late years has been directing the development of technical and economic features of improved plans for conducting short-wave radio communication between stations separated by great distance.

A statement from the University of California regarding Dr. Fuller's selection says: "His appointment is one of several steps recently taken by the University to carry out the plan of reorganizing the administration of the engineering colleges, as approved by the Regents of the University at their meeting in May, 1930.

"A search for an electrical engineer with credentials corresponding to the requirements of the high position to be filled has been conducted by the administration of the university during the past nine months, and the choice of Professor Fuller is the gratifying result."

MEMORIAL MEETING OF DOCTORS HONORS CHARLES M. MIX '98

Doctors of the Ball Memorial Hospital staff of Muncie, Indiana met to pay respect to the memory of Dr. Charles M. Mix '98 and Dr. Carl S. Oakman, members of the staff who died recently. Several of the doctors delivered eulogies and all spoke of the universal respect and affection in which Dr. Mix was held.

Dr. Trent said in part:

"It was in school where young Mix first showed with particular brilliancy... taking prizes, scholarships and fellowships." Later in life when "by accident or forethought he came to Muncie and found an opening for a surgeon, he at once accepted and entered into the life of this city as one of us. His good mind and excellent training soon put him in the lead in his profession and his fondness for his family marked him as a model husband and father as well as citizen."

Dr. Cowing, also speaking of Dr. Mix, said, "Skillful though he was in an extreme degree, we would speak first of his high character without which no doctor, no surgeon can become great. Years of study and toil marked his rise to eminence. He gave to the poor as freely as to the rich. His salesmanship was his honesty, his ability, and the final result of his skill. . . Above all he was dauntless in operative difficulties. With the assurance born of knowledge and preparation, and the strength of time-tested and time-tempered technique he faced formidable surgery with the heart of a lion and the patience of a Job. These were qualities that were a part of his character—the outgrowth of a life aiming at a high ideal."

MINISTERS ATTEND SCHOOL

Sixty ministers were enrolled in the seventh Summer School of Town and Country Ministers at Cornell this year. Commencement exercises were held August 1, with ten ministers receiving certificates for completing three terms in the school.

The Department of Rural Social Organization of the College of Agriculture cooperated with the United Religious Work and other ministerial and religious groups in the State in sponsoring the school. Professor Dwight Sanderson was acting head.

JUDGE POUND IS ENDORSED

Cuthbert W. Pound '87, Trustee and associate judge of the New York State Court of Appeals, has been endorsed for re-election this year by the New York City Bar Association and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Judge Pound, a member of the Law School Faculty from 1895 to 1904, was first appointed justice of the Supreme Court in 1906. He has been a Trustee since 1913.

HOTEL EMPLOYEES STUDY

One of the features of this year's Summer Session has been a special course in the Summer School of Hotel Administration in which the registrants are principally hotel employes, owners, and executives. Twenty-nine were registered for the first half of the term, and forty during the second half.

APPOINT JUSTICE GOLDSMITH

Irving Goldsmith '03, former Supreme Court judge, has been appointed a member of the new New York State Parole Commission by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. In appointing him, the governor said:

"His interest in penology and social work and his experience on the Supreme Court bench give him a breadth of view and depth of knowledge few others possess."

PROVIDES SCHOLARSHIP

The will of the late Mary Isabella Sherman, for many years a teacher in the Ithaca Public Schools and for whom the Belle Sherman school is named, provides $4,000 for the establishment of a scholarship in Cornell for Ithaca High School graduates.

More Schools Needed

Education is Factor in the Control of Crime, According to Dr. Frank L. Christian '99

More money for schools and less for prisons will bring about some progress in the control of crime, in the opinion of Dr. Frank L. Christian '99, superintendent of the New York State Reformatory at Elmira.

Dr. Christian spoke August 7 in Roberts Hall as one of a group of special lecturers giving a series of addresses on public welfare during the Summer Session.

Dr. Christian advocated the inclusion in every public school budget of a salary for a trained psychiatrist. He would also develop a vocational education system for boys and girls who are unable to cope with extensive academic education and who, without an interest, are likely to become truants, then delinquents, and finally grist for the prison mill.

The average criminal, in his view, is sadly lacking in education. Among 1,500 men averaging twenty years of age in the Elmira Reformatory there is only one high school graduate and one is a college graduate.

The lecture series has been a popular one, the speakers including Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., New York State commissioner of health; State Senator Seabury C. Mastick; Dr. Charles H. Johnson, director of the state department of social welfare, and Charles H. Warner, superintendent of the Brooklyn Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

FOREIGN SERVICE PROMOTIONS

Ransford S. Miller '88 has been promoted to Class 1 in the United States Foreign Service, and Harvey T. Goodier '18 to Class 7. Miller, who graduated with the degree of A.B., served as an interpreter from the American legation at Tokyo from 1895 to 1906, when he became secretary to the American embassy there. Three years later he was made chief of the division of Far Eastern Affairs of the Department of State in Washington. In 1913 he became consul general at Korea. He was recently detailed to the State Department on duty in the Far Eastern Division.

Goodier, who took a year of agriculture, has been connected with the American consulate at Yokohama, Japan.

PLAN NEW SCHOLARSHIPS

Two new undergraduate scholarships in economics will be given beginning with the Fall term. The scholarships, which have a value of $250 each, were established by the American Bankers' Association's Foundation for Education in Economics. The scholarships will be awarded on a basis to be worked out by representatives of the Association and of the University.

THE WEEK ON THE CAMPUS

THE GREAT drought has caused considerable distress hereabouts. The fairways are dry, brown, and slippery, and the greens so fast that the lore of experience avails the old inhabitant nothing.

THE CAMPUS too has suffered, wiry brown patches appearing on the lawn where there are no trees to be a shield from the sun. The Summer School students have with one accord taken refuge in the new swimming pool in Beebe Lake. There they sport in their thousands, then withdrawing to the little island, where they cluster thick as penguins on the Ross Barrier. The pool adds vastly to the charm of summer scholarship. Why, you ask, were the possibilities of Beebe Lake never so utilized before? Why, because until this year the lake was the source of the University water supply. Now the drinking water is drawn off near Varna.

A PIQUANT PLEASURE is afforded the swimmers, through the University's kindness. Immersed in the world of water, one may dreamily observe a gang of carpenters and masons, earnestly at labor in the hot upper world of air. They are building a high stone bridge across the little gorge, where it opens into the lake. This will connect the footpaths along the two sides of the lake. It should be finished before the end of the summer, says Charles R. Cooley '22, the landscape architect in charge. The little island now usually covered with inert bodies is to be landscaped, sown with grass, and provided with a beach of form-fitting sand.

THESE most praiseworthy improvements are being financed from the fund left by Col. Henry W. Sackett '75, for the preservation of the gorges. Two more enterprises are under way. A trail, to be a memorial to Mrs. Sackett, is to lead from Rand Hall down the face of the cliff to the bed of Fall Creek; it will then wind down the streamside, through the wildest and least spoiled section of the University grounds. Its location was selected by Colonel Sackett before his death. The old pipe line along Fall Creek to the abandoned power house near the Stewart Avenue Bridge is also being removed. It is old and ruinous but somehow it is never contrived to look romantic. Eventually there will be a trail along the north side of the glen.

OF COURSE, the most striking change in the aspect of the Campus is the cloud of dust that hangs over the thunderous activities on the site of the Psi Upsilon and Sigma Phi houses. The builders of the new Taylor Hall seem to be digging a mine. On the Agricultural Campus, a new calf barn is being built. The second floor of the barn will be heated. This will no doubt provoke sarcasm on the part of farmers in the old Roman tradition. New greenhouses are likewise to be built, next to the new Plant Industries Building on Tower Road.

THE OLD BOUL MILL by the Forest Home dam is being torn down, partly for looks and partly because it can no longer render a profit. The furniture made there, especially school and college equipment, enjoyed a more than local fame. The Baker Chemical Laboratory was completely equipped from this mill. Now it disappears, the last of the busy little factories that lined the banks of Fall Creek when Forest Home was Free Hollow. For Forest Home the Industrial Revolution has had its brief fury and has passed away. The Age of Machinery is dead, the old weeds grow upon its grave.

THE JOHNNY PARSON CLUB suffered about $1000 damage from a small fire, discovered after the building was closed for the summer.

A SCENIC ROAD along the west shore of Cayuga Lake has been surveyed; a part of it at least should be built next year.

OVERSHADOWED by the regular Summer Session, the seventh Summer Session for Town and Country Ministers has been conducted by the Department of Rural Social Organization. Sixty ministers were in attendance. Certificates were awarded to ten ministers who have completed three summer sessions.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB has enlivened the Summer Session by putting on productions every Friday and Saturday evening. Some of the bills were groups of one-act plays; others were repetitions of successful full-length plays which had their premieres during the college year. Such were Pirandello's "Six Characters in Search of an Author" and Martinez Sierra's "Cradle Song." The only entirely new venture is A. A. Milne's "The Dover Road," scheduled for August 12 and 13. There is also, to be sure, the one-act burlesque, "The Cocklpfeifer Case," by Judson W. Genung '26 of Ithaca and Bernard W. Hewitt '28 of North Tonawanda.

THE SUMMER SESSION provided two musical evenings of first importance; a piano recital by Naegelé and a program of songs by John Goss. Unfortunately, the wilting heat kept the audiences away.

A GLIDER CLUB has been formed which includes a number of undergraduates and recent graduates. They have bought a Waco glider, with which they are, no doubt, proficient. At any rate, no member has as yet been discovered gliding into a citizen's back yard.

PERHAPS you have noticed that Armstrong Perry, educational radio expert with the Federal Bureau of Education, warned the educational stations to finance their broadcasts properly or get off the air. During the past six months 14 of the 77 educational stations have ceased operating. We have not been informed how WEAI is affected by this statement.

THE PRIX DE ROME for landscape architecture was awarded to Richard C. Murdock '28 of Ossining. This award will give him three years of study in Rome with a studio in the American Academy, $1500 a year for his expenses, and an allowance of $500 for transportation to Rome and back. Cornell's record in this competition has been very remarkable. Murdock is the fifth Cornell man to win the prize in the seven years it has been awarded. The other four winners were Edward G. Lawson '13, now on the Faculty of the College of Architecture, Ralph E. Griswold '16, Norman T. Newton '19, and Michael Rapuano '27. In the present competition Neil H. Park '27 was awarded honorable mention.

RYM'S TRAVEL NOTES: "On a moonlight night in the Gulf Stream young people do not want to go to bed at 10.30. Athletes in preparation for a contest furnish no exception to this rule. It became, therefore, the grim duty of Captain Hedges of Princeton and Captain Treman of Cornell to go about the ship each night to round up the sentimental and the recalcitrant. On one particularly alluring night the horrid rumor spread that one of the Ithacans was not in his bed at the hour appointed. With a look in his eye which boded no good to the erring one, Captain Treman girded up his loins and started out to beat the covers. Nothing rewarded his efforts until he reached life boat No. 6. Here a few vigorous prods flushed the ship's doctor.

"Henley—The Red Lion Inn overlooks the river, the Leander Boat Club, and a score of effortless swans. On the other side one sees the ancient courtyard of stage coach days and beyond that a jumble of tiled chimney-potted roofs on which the dampness of the Thames has spread a softening filament of green moss. In this setting of peace and antiquity we were awakened in the early morning by Boots in the court-yard. As he cleaned the visitors' shoes he whistled with singular sweetness and accuracy the University of Maine's Stein Song."—Romeyn Berry '04 in the Ithaca Journal-News.

WHAT IS RELIGION

The Religious Response: an Introduction to the Philosophy of Religion. By Henry Wilkes Wright '99, Ph.D. '02, Professor of Philosophy in the University of Manitoba. New York. Harper. 1930. 19.5 cm., pp. viii, 256.

Professor Wright has produced a good book, clear, sane, well reasoned, sensible. He never goes to extremes; he is always well poised.

His book should be widely read. These are days of trial for the church and all similar institutions. We are passing through an era of change; it may be that we are hovering between two worlds, the one dead, the other as yet powerless to be born. Yet because human nature does not radically change, those two worlds will not radically differ. Many of our great churches are built on the sites of pagan temples. So, although the religion of the future may not seem to be like that of our fathers, it will nevertheless be a religion, with all the earmarks of that idea.

Does science invalidate religion? Wright does not think so. Science "explains the existing world as a mechanical system, an order of physical events." But mechanism is only a part of the business. My motor is not only a machine but a hobby, a source of delight, a joy. The voice is not only sound mechanically produced, a physical phenomenon, but also the expression of personality abysmal in its depths, unfathomable, spiritual. The law is a system of restraints to keep unruly persons quiet; it is also the expression of an invisible sense of justice which is likewise spiritual. The invisible world of thought, aspiration, desire is no less real than the mechanical world.

But admitting this reality, can we postulate Universal Intelligence or only go so far as to postulate universally human (or animal or living) intelligence? All we can do is to formulate a hypothesis which seems to fit the facts. Whence, then, comes human intelligence? Ex nihilo nihil fit. And by contraries, something always comes of something. The best explanation is to regard our intelligence as a (once latent) part of a larger World Intelligence. On any other basis the world is chaos.

And this Intelligence men have variously called God, Yahve, Odin, Zeus, Minerva, Isis, Moloch. It does not matter. What does matter most is that in every age men shall not be bound by the crass ideas of their fathers but shall strive to realize in their own age the noblest conceptions which that age can produce. The church that unreservedly does this will live and thrive; and every other will go to the wall.

BEGGARMAN

Beggarman: a Novel. By Jane Abbott '03. Philadelphia. Lippincott. 1930. 19.9 cm., pp. 314. Price, $2.

Alice St. John had been adopted in infancy by a wealthy widow, under peculiar circumstances. A long-standing family feud over property had so embittered Mrs. St. John that she desired above all to have some one to carry on her side of the controversy in the next generation.

With this in mind, but with no desire for, or love of, the child, she had taken Alice from a children's home and given her everything that money could buy, education, travel, and luxurious living.

She dies leaving everything to Alice, including the acknowledgment of her life purpose. There has been no love between them, and the girl is left lonely and resentful of this legacy of hate. Through her lawyer she finds out who her own parents are, and poor and common though they are, she decides to give up all her money and go to her people, because to them she belongs. She finds that she cannot so easily dispose of her wealth, but she does go to her own people. She is brave and devoted, and withal somewhat stupid; but her natural longing for kin, and her fineness and understanding enlist the sympathy and interest of the reader. The contrast is sharp between the life to which she has been accustomed in the big house on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, and the sordid existence at the Harts, with the faithful, weary stepmother, the shiftless, dishonest father, the brothers and sister. Further contrast is marked between the young lawyer, Sidney Carter, efficient, sophisticated, conventional, and Jude Farrand, the Beggarman.

How the obscure and tangled at last becomes clear and how the Beggarman comes into his own makes a story which will be heartily enjoyed by older as well as by the younger readers for whom it was written.

THE ALUMNI

'77 AB—Henry W. Foster has sold his home in South Orange, N. J., and built a cottage at Pluckemin, N. J. His address there is Sunset Lake Club. He retired from business in 1927.

'78 BCE, '90 CE—Frank Buren is an estimator for the Sessions Foundry Company. He lives at Apartment A 4, 22 High Street, Bristol, Conn.

'81—Edward N. Trump has resigned from the Solvay Process Company, with which he has been connected for forty-eight years in engineering, managerial, and executive capacities, and will become associated with his son, Charles C. Trump '11, as a consulting engineer in the C. C. Trump Corporation. Mr. Trump is the last of the Solvay executives to resign who were associated with the Company from its founding. He has served as chief engineer, chief engineer, and general manager, and chief engineer and vice-president. Since the Company became a subsidiary of the Allied Chemical and Lye Corporation he has been consulting advisory engineer. Mr. Trump is the designer of the first successful rotary furnace used in this country in the manufacture of cement, and which is now universally used. He was the delegate of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers to the World Engineering Congress held in Berlin in June.

'88 ME—George W. Bissell, recently retired dean of engineering at Michigan State College, received the honorary degree of doctor of engineering from the College this June. His address is now Box 116, Monrovia, Calif.

'88 ME—Henry W. Fisher retired from business on June 30. He and his wife expect to spend the summer in and around New York and most of the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla. Mr. Fisher is the representative in this country for the Rotary Esperanto Fellowship, an organization started abroad two years ago to help promote the sixth object of Rotary, international peace and harmony among nations, by means of Esperanto used as a common medium in the countries where Rotary Clubs exist. He speaks and writes Esperanto fluently. His permanent address is care of the General Cable Corporation, Perth Amboy, N. J.

'91—Maurice Hoopes, president of Finch, Pruyn and Company, has been elected president of the First National Bank of Glens Falls, N. Y.

'92 AB, '94 LLB—Elmer E. Studley, a lawyer in Flushing, N. Y., and former deputy attorney general of New York State, was elected New York State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the convention held in Utica in June. He served as a lieutenant in the 202nd Volunteer Infantry during the Spanish-American War.

'94 AM—Wendell M. Strong, associate actuary of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, is president for next year of the Actuarial Society of America, and represented the Society at the International Congress of Actuaries held in Stockholm in June. Mr. Strong received his Ph.D. at Yale and is the author of a number of works on mathematics.

'94 ME—Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Robbins have announced the marriage of their son, James, to Muriel I. B. Onsrud, at Evanston, Ill., on June 28.

'95 PhB—Roger H. Williams was recently elected a trustee and a member of the executive committee of the Leopold Schepp Foundation. In June he sailed his thirty-eight foot yawl to Bermuda in a race with forty-two other craft.

'99—Thomas H. McGraw is president of the Braeburn Steel Company in Braeburn, Pa. He lives in Oakmont, Pa. He has three sons, of whom the eldest, David, will soon enter Cornell.

'03 CE—Charles R. Vanneman has been appointed grand marshal of the Grand Lodge of Masons in the State of New York.

'04 ME—Rudolph E. Prussing since May 1 has been in charge of sales in the Chicago district for the Whiting Corporation, of which he is a vice-president. His office is in the Civic Opera Building, 20 North Wacker Drive. He lives at 1247 North State Street.

'05 ME—Ralph N. Robertson has recently been promoted to chief mechanical engineer for the Blaw Knox Company in Pittsburgh. He was with the American Smelting and Refining Company from 1906 to 1926, when he became chief engineer with the Andrews Bradshaw Company, which in 1928 consolidated with the Blaw Knox Company. He lives at 1100 Lancaster Avenue, Pittsburgh-18.

'06 ME—Christopher J. Walbran has resigned from the Western Union Telegraph Company after seventeen years of service to become central office layout engineer with the Postal Telegraph Cable Company at 67 Broad Street, New York. He lives at 84 Montclair Avenue, Montclair, N. J.

'11 AB—Edwin E. Sheridan is president of Sheridan and Company, in the investment, counsel, research, and management business at 77 West Washington Street, Chicago.

'11—Willis G. Hickman and three others have formed the law partnership of Merwin, Paul, Lesswing and Hickman, with offices at 1023-1032 White Building, Buffalo.

'11—DeLancy Bentley is a vice-president of the Abstract Title and Mortgage Corporation at 47 South Fitzhugh Street, Rochester. His home is on Allen's Creek Road, Brighton Station, Rochester.

'12 AB—Professor Millar Burrows of the Department of Biblical Literature at Brown, and his family are traveling in England and France. From the latter country they will proceed to Beirut, Syria, where Burrows is to be a visiting professor at the American University during the coming year.

'12—Ralph H. Isham is a prominent banker in New York and is president of the Indiana Properties Corporation, the Trumbull Land Company, and the East Fifty-ninth Street Securities Company. He is the owner of a large collection of books and manuscripts, and acquired in 1927 the famous Boswell Papers. ## Combination book offer $5.00

The Publishers of three books have combined to make you a very attractive offer. You can hardly afford to miss this. "Courtney and Cornell Rowing," "Sport Stuff," and "Concerning Cornell" (leather edition)—all for $5.00 postage paid. These are all good books for your library.

Bronze Cornell Shield mounted on an oak board $3.75

Last week we told you how we came to make this low offer. You save two dollars. The price is f. o. b. Ithaca. The five inch shield is the correct size for the average room.

Cornell Bookplates

Bookplates are selling fast. The drawings on the bookplates are of familiar places about the Campus. You identify your books and also have a pleasant reminder of Cornell. The bookplates are $1.50 per hundred. We print your name on them for $1.50 extra per hundred. The printing costs $2.00 for two hundred.

Banners $3.75 to $7.50

Pennants $1.25 to $1.75

Pillow covers $5.00

Send for a copy of the "Gift" folder. The designs are shown and the various sizes given in the folder. The CO-OP has always sold high grade felt goods. Graduates should continue to trade at the CO-OP.

A Life Subscription
for $50

*T*HESE SUBSCRIPTIONS may be made out to an individual or they may be issued jointly in the names of husband and wife. Obviously they cannot be made in the name of an organization.

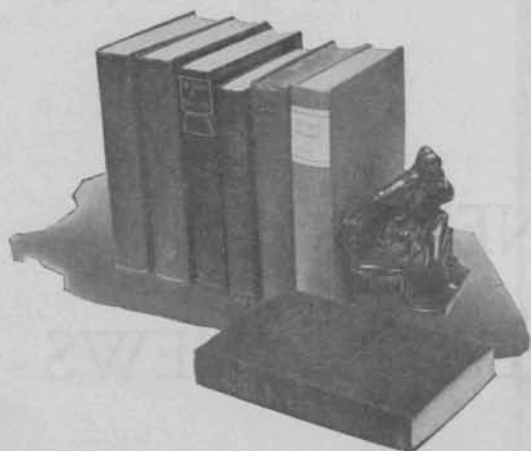

The balance on your present annual subscription will of course be refunded on receipt of the life subscription payment.

A life subscription will eliminate the bother of the annual bill of four dollars.

Combination book offer $5.00

The Publishers of three books have combined to make you a very attractive offer. You can hardly afford to miss this. "Courtney and Cornell Rowing," "Sport Stuff," and "Concerning Cornell" (leather edition)—all for $5.00 postage paid. These are all good books for your library.

Bronze Cornell Shield mounted on an oak board $3.75

Last week we told you how we came to make this low offer. You save two dollars. The price is f. o. b. Ithaca. The five inch shield is the correct size for the average room.

Cornell Bookplates

Bookplates are selling fast. The drawings on the bookplates are of familiar places about the Campus. You identify your books and also have a pleasant reminder of Cornell. The bookplates are $1.50 per hundred. We print your name on them for $1.50 extra per hundred. The printing costs $2.00 for two hundred.

Banners $3.75 to $7.50

Pennants $1.25 to $1.75

Pillow covers $5.00

Send for a copy of the "Gift" folder. The designs are shown and the various sizes given in the folder. The CO-OP has always sold high grade felt goods. Graduates should continue to trade at the CO-OP.
