BISHOP ROBERT ATKINSON GIBSON DECEASED

Age 73. Prelate, Beloved by All, Continues Successful Activities Until Stricken.

The death and quietness of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the diocese of Virginia, as well as many other friends in Virginia and elsewhere will learn with much regret of the death of Bishop Gibson at the Episcopal residence in Richmond Sunday night. The bishop had been in failing health owing to a serious complication of diseases for a number of years past, though owing to his optimism and strength of will he attended to the duties he reserved to himself almost to the end. He spent several days at the Seminary near this city, week before last, only returning to his home in Richmond last Monday morning. But towards the end of the week he failed rapidly and on Saturday Dr. Green, the dean of the Seminary, received a telegram requesting him to come to Richmond at once as the bishop was very ill. He left on the first train and remained with him to the end.

The Right Reverend Robert Atkinson Gibson, D. D., was the son of the late Rev. Churchill J. Gibson, D. D., rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Petersburg, Va., for the long period of fifty-two years. He was born in that city on the ninth of July, 1846, and was consequently in the 73rd year of his age at the time of his death. He received his college education at Hampden-Sydney (Va.) and was graduated from the Episcopal Divinity School, Cambridge, Mass., in 1867. He served in the Confederate cause with honor and distinction and in the year 1867 he entered the Theological Seminary where he graduated in the year 1870. After his ordination to the diaconate in 1870 he was appointed a missionary of the Southeastern Convocation of the Episcopal diocese of Virginia, became an assistant minister of St. James' Church, Richmond, in 1872, then rector of Trinity Church, Parkersburg, West Virginia, in 1878, where he remained until 1887, when he accepted the rectorship of Christ Church, Cincinnati, Ohio. He left this church in 1897 on his election as Coadjutor Bishop of Virginia, to Bishop Whittle. He was consecrated to this office in Holy Trinity Church, Richmond, on the third of November, 1897.

On the death of Bishop Whittle, June 18, 1902, he became automatically the Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Virginia. Bishop Gibson was a man of the highest character, a clergyman and Bishop, a Christian gentleman in the truest sense of the word. He ruled his diocese with wisdom, faithful devotion to duty, and kindly consideration for his clergy and people alike. His missionary interests were among the chief objects of his care. He was regarded as the years passed on with the loving service of his attached people. His relations with other churches promoted the spirit of unity and fellowship following the old traditions of the diocese of Virginia. He was President of the Theological Seminary, to which he was elected by the board of trustees on the death of Bishop Whittle. He sought and worked for its most efficient administration. His wisdom and energy were the guiding lights of the Seminary and the diocese.

MR. FRANZ PETERS DEAD

German Subject, But Had Two Sons in American Army.

Mr. Franz Peters, of Haymarket, died Monday night at eight o'clock, of typhoid pneumonia, following influenza. He was 66 years of age.

Mr. Peters came to this country from Germany, when a young man, but he always remained a German subject, although he had two sons in the American army in the recent war.

He married Miss Ella Johanna Heinke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Heinke, who lived on the Mill Park Farm, of Haymarket.

The funeral occurred on Wednesday at 10 o'clock, the Rev. Thomas M. Brown of the Haymarket Episcopal Church, officiating. The interment was in the Episcopal cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his widow; six daughters, Misses Marie, Emma, Josephine, Catherine, Edmondia and Parker, all at home; and two sons, Privates Heinrich and Gustav Peters, both with the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

HOLD LIBERTY BONDS

Beware of Swindlers Offering Worthless Stock in Exchange.

As mentioned in last week's issue of The Journal, the federal government has warned the people of the nation to beware of unscrupulous persons, who are persuading persons with means, especially owners of Liberty Bonds, to sell their bonds below par.

Some swindlers offer certain stock in exchange for the bonds. No one should dispose of their bonds without first satisfying themselves that the stock offered for sale is all right.

When you wish to buy stock or have need to sell your Liberty Bonds, do so through some local bank or other reliable financial institution.

Some reputable newspapers have been victimized into advertising the business of these swindlers, but The Journal has studiously avoided inserting any matter of this nature.

Miss Ollie Gill, of Haymarket, and Mrs. Jasper Whetzel, of Manassas, are spending a few days with Mrs. Whetzel's mother, Mrs. Daniel Butler, of near Manassas.

of the age, while respecting the traditions of the past.

Bishop Gibson's wife, who was a daughter of the late Hon. A. H. H. Stuart, of Staunton, Va., died some years ago. He is survived by two sons, the Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Manassas, and Churchill J. Gibson, now U. S. A. Chaplain in France, and rector of Lee Memorial Church, Lexington, Va., and by three daughters, Misses Lucy P. and Mary Gibson, who with him formed the family at home, and Mrs. Fanny Gibson Woodward, wife of the Rev. Edmund Lee Woodward, M. D., rector of Grace Church, The Plains, Va.

By Bishop Gibson's death, the present Coadjutor Bishop, the Right Reverend William Cabell Brown, D. D., succeeds without any ceremony to the full office of Bishop of Virginia.

The funeral was held at noon on Wednesday at Holy Trinity Church, Richmond. Burial was in the Hollywood cemetery in that city.—Alexandria Gazette.

COUNTY HEALTH WORK

Campaign to Be Launched First Week in March.

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)

Dr. Hough offers a gold medal to the county girl or boy in the grades making the highest score.

A medal also is offered to the high school student making the highest score—name to be given later.

Parents, teachers, girls and boys—without your co-operation this campaign will be a failure.

During the months of February and March the state health commission and the Red Cross in connection with the extension forces have planned a health campaign for every county in the state.

It is desired that in each community a day be set apart as "clean-up day." A day to beautify church, home and school grounds. This is good work for our community leagues.

Through the co-operation of home, school and community let us see what good work can be done in each community. We want Prince William county to have the banner report on health work this year.

We do not, as many of our sister counties do, have county nurse and county health officer to direct this work; so we must look to the school and community to fall in line together and accomplish just as much as those counties lined up with nurse and health officer. We can do it if we all pull together.

The county agent is always glad to help in any way possible, and if something can be planned throughout the county, we shall be glad to try to get some one from the health department to come to those meetings. At least, remember, that the county agents are here to serve you when called upon.

The state board of health is calling special attention to (in country localities where sanitary water works have not been installed) the sanitary privy on the premises of every one. The simplest, cheapest and most convenient form of privy for use in most parts of Virginia is what is known as the pit privy. This can be made by any one with very little expense, say not more than ten dollars. Plans can be gotten from the office of the county agent, or by writing to the state board of health, Richmond, Va., for Virginia Health Bulletin, Vol. 3, No. 3. May we not see to it that before time for the files to come again every home may have this simple convenience. It means much to the health of the family.

In conference with the county superintendent of schools, after discussing thoroughly the health work, the plan is for the schools to take up the study of the state health catechism during the month of March. Catechisms will be sent to each teacher to be used with the pupils. At the end of the named time, teachers are requested to give pupils an oral test covering the catechism. The girl or boy receiving the highest score in each school will come to the county seat for a final test. The winner there will be awarded a gold medal. Should there be a tie a written test will be given. This contest applies to the grades. It is thought wise not to attempt this below the fifth grade. For the pupils below the fifth grade, health cards and questions will be issued.

CONNER'S HALL—TONIGHT!

Governor Patterson speaks tonight in Conner's Hall at 7:30 o'clock. Come and bring your friends. No tickets needed—admission free.

HON. M. E. PATTERSON
Ex-Governor of Tennessee.

Until five years ago he was one of the foremost champions of the liquor traffic in America—now is one of the leading advocates of national prohibition.

VICTORY THE SLOGAN

Call to the Women of Prince William County.

The last loan was "The Fighting Fourth." The ready response of America that time undoubtedly hastened the signing of the armistice.

The Fifth Loan is for "Victory." The state chairman of the National Woman's Liberty Loan Committee sends this message to us:

At the close of the Fourth Loan campaign I saw the response of our city and county chairmen that they consider themselves appointed for the duration of the war and hold their organizations ready to serve in the next loan. Many of you responded loyally and the rest, I feel sure, have been no less ready to make the sacrifice and stand by our country until we are out of service.

Secretary Glass has announced that the Fifth or Victory campaign for the sale of bonds will be the last. Do you not feel with me that it should be a point of honor with the Woman's Committee to maintain our standard of success and render faithful service to the government until we are disbanded?

To do this we must resist the demoralizing influence of peace, the relaxation that came stealing over us with the signing of the armistice. It is a temptation to feel that the war is over and we are no longer needed. Such is far from the truth. The fact is that we are at the very crux of our national expenditure. Right now something like $2,000,000 a month is required to finance the government, supply our soldiers, bring them home, maintain the demobilization camps and care for the wounded. We would be, indeed, unworthy of our men across the sea if we deserted our branch of service before our work was done. And that we have no intention of doing.

Sincerely yours,
JANIE GRAY HAGAN.

ROBBERIES RENEWED

Tailor and Jeweler Help, Unintentionally to Adorn Thief.

Four years ago it was said, truthfully, that Manassas was a town where everybody was honest. People seldom locked their doors at night or even closed them during the day. Possibly this was putting temptation in the way of the weak, or this confidence in humanity brought dishonest people from a distance. Whatever the cause, Manassas experienced a change that shocked the optimism of its citizens when, about one year ago we had an epidemic of midnight robberies, that continued over several months. A number of the robbers were caught and others were scared by the successful activity of the town officers. Recently this crime epidemic, like the "flu," has taken a second start.

On Monday night thieves broke into the tailor shop of Stewart Robinson and stole a suit of clothes belonging to Carl Kinchelee. The next place visited was the jewelry place of Mr. Charles H. Adams, located in the Democrat office. Here they secured only three metal watch cases worth about $1.00 each. Other jewelry was within reach, including a case full of gold chains, clocks and other valuable articles. No clue to the thieves has yet been found.

VALENTINE PARTY

Birthday Anniversary Falls on Valentine Day.

Master Edwin Pannell, of Manassas, celebrated his eleventh birthday at his home, the New Prince William Hotel, on Friday, Feb. 14, the hours being from 3:30 to 6 p. m.

The table and dining room were decorated for the occasion. In the center was a huge birthday cake, with candles to represent his age.

The menu consisted of oranges, apples, bananas, and assorted candies, pine apple ice cream, lemonade and cake.

Various games were played and the little host received many useful gifts.

Those present were Misses Anne, Laura and Louise Marchant, Edith Gregory, Ruth Babb, Anna Fately, Cora Fisher, and Mesars. Bobbie Sprinkel, Gleam O'Neil, Oscar Taylor, Elmer Fisher, Ralph Babb and Paul O'Neil.

MRS. EDWARD BEACH DEAD

Victim of Influenza, Aggravated by Complications.

Mrs. Mildred Elizabeth Beach, wife of Mr. Edward Beach, of near Cabin John, Md., died on Tuesday at her home, of influenza, with other complications, in her 38th year.

Mrs. Beach was born and raised near Gainesville, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rollins. She spent most of her life near her early home.

She was buried yesterday at 2 p. m., in the family burying ground on the place of her uncle, Mr. James Rollins, Rev. Jesse M. Bell officiating.

Mrs. Beach is survived by her husband, four daughters and two sons; also by her aged father, two sisters, Mrs. Edward Mock, of Fairfax, and Mrs. Alice Bott, and three brothers, Messrs. Fred, Wesley and Edward Rollins.

SERGEANT A. CLARENCE BEAVERS' FINE RECORD

Wounded in Three Places—Has French Decoration—Will Go to Government School.

Sergeant A. Clarence Beavers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Beavers, who has worked in Washington for the R. F. & P. this was putting temptation in the way of the weak, or this confidence in humanity brought dishonest people from a distance. Whatever the cause, Manassas experienced a change that shocked the optimism of its citizens when, about one year ago we had an epidemic of midnight robberies, that continued over several months. A number of the robbers were caught and others were scared by the successful activity of the town officers. Recently this crime epidemic, like the "flu," has taken a second start.

At times he went 25 or 30 days without water to wash his face, but he was never without "goats." He thinks that, at one period, he had a quart of him at one time. The cold weather was severe, so that his toes froze and the nails dropped off. They are only now forming fully and his feet are yet tender. He had the typical "French feet."

Sergt. Beavers praises the Salvation army, which furnished coffee, doughnuts and black molasses, which was a decided addition to the two boxes of hard tack and one can of "corn willy," allowed by the government, and which must not be eaten—even if desired—in less than three days, under penalty of general court martial.

Sergt. Beavers was in the battles of Verdun, Cantigny and Soisson, badges for which he wears on his coat. He was wounded between Soisson and Chateau Thierry, being struck in both knees and the left foot.

He was also gassed and is slightly deaf, from shell shock. His left knee is stiff. He spent six months in various hospitals and came out, not 99 per cent physically, as he enlisted, but only 55 per cent.

He sailed for America on Oct. 19, and landed at Boston on the 26th, going to Fort Banks Hospital, from which he was transferred Nov. 1st to Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, for electric and massage treatment.

On Dec. 23rd he went to Camp Lee and was discharged Jan. 26. He has the French decoration, a gold wound chevron on his right arm and two service chevrons on his left arm, together with a silver star, indicating that he was among the first 50,000 of the regular army arriving in France.

He will be sent by the government to a school in Wisconsin where he will be examined, then directed to what he can best enter.

Our attention has been called to the activities of unscrupulous persons who are operating extensively throughout the country and who are swindling the owners of Liberty Loan Bonds by offering worthless articles or securities in part or full payment thereof.

We advise the people of this community to scrutinize very carefully, the character of individuals who are offering these worthless securities either for cash or their Liberty Loan Bonds.

COUNTY DAIRYMEN'S ASSOCIATION MEETS

Officers Elected—District Milk Producers. (R. G. Koerner, Secretary)

About thirty members of the Prince William County Dairymen's Association met in the courthouse at Manassas on Saturday, February 15, at 1:30. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. J. J. Conner, who stated that the object of the meeting was to attend to some routine business, including the election of officers, and to hear an address from Dr. Fowler, the health officer of the District of Columbia.

After considerable informal discussion about increasing the membership, advertising milk and purebred stock, etc., the following were elected officers for the coming year: J. J. Conner, president; S. C. Harley, vice-president; R. G. Koerner, secretary.

The health officer of Washington city, Dr. Fowler, was then introduced and he gave the milk men a plain, straightforward talk about their business and his relation to it. He said he was glad to have the opportunity to speak to the milk producers, because he is interested in seeing Washington get clean milk, because the responsibilities of the health officer of a large city are very great.

He believes the best advertisement for milk and the best means to increase its consumption is for each dairyman to send in such clean milk that his department could encourage its unadorned use. A bacteriological record is made on the milk of each farmer from samples drawn from his cans before they are poured into the general vat.

The doctor said he had visited several local dairies in the forenoon and found some clean ones and some inexcusably dirty. He warned the farmers that their milk must be clean, but assured them that he could and would help them to sell a clean product.

While he has been connected with the health department of the city many years he has been chief health officer for only six months, and is anxious to have a complete understanding with the farmers from the very start, inviting them to come to his office at any time and talk things over.

He said he is the executive officer of the health laws and that they must be complied with. While the city plants are equipped to pasteurize, they don't always do so, as tests showed the milk sometimes had more bacteria when it left the pasteurizer than when it entered it.

When one of the men complained that the cans were sent out sometimes to the farmers very unclean, he said he would do all he could to see that they were cleaned properly before returning.

He said the pure food laws permit the sale of milk made from milk powder when labeled as such, but that the people would not buy it as fresh milk if they knew it, although it is practically impossible to distinguish.

BASKET BALL GAMES

Both Local Teams Lost for Night Last. The local girls met their first defeat on Friday night, the 14th. The game was one of the best that we have had in Manassas, the teams being so closely matched that the final score was 17-18.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear aunt, Catherine E. Langyher, who died Feb. 5, 1919, of pneumonia, and was laid to rest at Bristow Feb. 7. She was born Oct. 24, 1851, age 67 years. She leaves to mourn her loss ten children—four boys and six girls, and four brothers—one whole brother and three half brothers, and a sister, also a large number of kindred and friends left behind.

In the graveyard, softly sleeping, Where the trees so gently wave, Lies the one we loved so dearly, In the lonely, silent grave.

Often we think of the graveyard, Where we placed the flowers with gentle care,

On the grave of my dear aunt, Who is resting sweetly there.

She has gone and gone forever, From this world of sin and woe, But her memory will not be forgotten By those who loved her so.

A beautiful life is ended, My dear aunt laid to rest, Safe in the arms of Jesus, Safe on His gentle breast.

Gone but not forgotten. By her niece, GANNIE M. ROBERTSON.

THE HARP OF THE SOUL

When God in His image and wisdom made man, And breathed in his nostrils the breath of His beam a wonderful heart, And He made it the harp of the soul.

In this harp of the soul are beautiful strains, Which forever in silence may sleep, Lest the fingers of love o'er the an-sweeing chords,

Inrich beauty and harmony sweep. Love wakes the tenderest chords of this harp,

When with mystical fingers unseen, She brings from the bosom an echo of heaven, Like soft music that's head in a dream.

When sorrow sweeps over the strings of this harp, Every feeling with anguish is thrilled, Like the deep undertone of the storm toss'd sea,

When the winds that have swept it are stilled. But music celestial is breathed from this harp,

When the fingers of Infinite love, Wake the song of redemption the song of the soul, And 'tis echoed in heaven above.

The music that dwells in this harp of the soul Cannot die like the song of the seas, Nor fade like the beauty of flowers when toss'd By the withering breath of the breeze.

This music celestial divine will endure While the songs of eternity roll, God made it eternal this wonderful heart, And He made it the harp of the soul.
