"FREE SUGAR" TO BE KNOCKED OUT IN QUICK ORDER

House Plans to Pass Kitchin's Repeal Bill Six Days After Introduction, Which is to Be Next Monday.

DISGRUNTLEMENT AMONG DEMOCRATS IS POSSIBLE

Louisiana Growers Want Repeal Made Permanent, While Other Bourbons Apprehend Political Boomerang

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—Representative Claude Kitchin, chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means, will introduce next Monday the Democratic sugar legislation in the form of a bill revoking the placing of sugar on the "free list" on May 1, as was provided in the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. It is intended to take the final vote in the house on this on Saturday, February 19. The sugar legislation stands alone.

C. S. ALBERT.

Supplementing Mr. Albert's cablegram today is the following correspondence on the Washington situation as it looked at the beginning of February:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1.—Sugar will take the center of the legislative stage two weeks hence, according to plans carefully worked out by the Democratic leaders. It will come along in the form of a measure repealing that feature of the Underwood-Simmons tariff act, which places sugar on the free list beginning May 1, 1917. It is desired that contemplated action shall stand alone and not be coupled with extensions of the consumption tax, or any other matters slated to come before Congress during the present session.

Democratic leaders have been working frantically regarding the best method of extending the one-cent per pound duty on refined sugar after May 1. Their original idea was to postpone the entire matter until March 15 and then come forward with a hurried and press the little bill along. The president's suggestion that everything be moved up a peg, and that Congress prepare for adjournment not later than June 20, caused a re-setting for sugar a month earlier than anticipated.

Quite a respectable sprinkling of leaders insisted that the sugar repeal clause be coupled with the consumption tax continuation. This proposition has a much better standing than the period of action was fixed for March 15. With the date advanced an even month a large proportion of those responsible for the well-being of legislation reached the conclusion that sugar should stop forward alone.

The opinion is expressed that this plan will result in creating the degree of opposition. Antagonism from the Republicans is not expected or feared. They will merely seek to go farther than is desired by the majority, and restore the Payne-Aldrich rates all the way through and across. It is Democratic disgruntlement the leaders are preparing to combat. Some of this comes straight from the cane growing state of Louisiana. It is sought down there to have the repeal made permanent so growers may resume the production of cane. Otherwise they cannot afford to make temporary investments and will derive no benefit whatever from the extension until conditions become normal.

Other Democrats also oppose the plan because of apprehension as to the possible ill effects which may fall upon many of them in a political way. Having proclaimed free sugar as a Democratic boon to the poor man's breakfast cup they dread a reversal of the lever.

FINE FOR SOLDIER WHO KNIFED CARTER

Convicted of having assaulted Henry Carter with a knife on Christmas night, John K. Stewart, an enlisted man, was fined $150 in Circuit Judge Ashford's court today, the costs being remitted. Mitis was stayed until 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon and the defendant released on his own recognizance until that time. Carter became engaged in a drunken brawl at Fort and Bereania streets and received a stab over the eye and a 15-inch slash across the abdomen.

Lorin Andrews and Fred Petersen, engaged as attorneys this morning by Joseph Quni, charged with trying to evade payment of alimony, asked a continuance of the case until Friday. Quni is out on bond pending trial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—All over the country today the birthday of Abraham Lincoln was generally observed, public business being suspended and much private business also.

In a number of cities public exercises and other ceremonies were held. In Washington today Congress adjourned after an hour's session of each house. In both houses the time was given over to speeches in eulogy of the martyred executive.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 12.—The city today was given over to public exercises in honor of Lincoln's birthday.

HUNDRED GUESTS AT BANQUET ILL; SUSPECT POISON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 12.—What is believed by the manager of the University Club to be a deliberate attempt at poisoning made a hundred guests of the club ill at a banquet on Thursday in honor of the installation of Archbishop Mundelein. The club manager announces that he believes the poison was placed in the soup by a kitchen employe. The name of the man was not divulged, but he is described as a fanatic.

The police are seeking Jean Crones, an assistant cook, who prepared the soup. A person of identical description was found in Crones' room. The man is a linguist, and appears to be well educated.

FIRST AIR MAIL SERVICE TO BE TRIED BY U. S.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—The first aerial mail service is in contemplation by the United States government between isolated points in Alaska and Massachusetts.

Bids will soon be called for on aerial services on eight routes, seven of them in Alaska. The longest is from Valdez to Fairbanks, 358 miles. In the event that the experiment is successful, gradual expansion will be made. The Alaskan mail deliveries which now take six weeks to make will be given in two days, it is believed.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 12.—Will Orput, a junior in the University of Wisconsin, was today charged with murder in connection with the poisoning of Marion Lamber, a girl of 18, whose body was recently found in the woods. Orput declares his innocence, but admitted he had a tryst with the girl near where the body was found. He told her he intended marrying another. A deaf mute has reported that he saw the man press a bottle to the girl's lips.

GIVE UP FINING GAMBLERS; WILL PUT 'EM IN JAIL

City Attorney's Office and Judge Monsarrat Adopt New Policy to Stop Evil

MAKE TEST CASE OF 34 MEN SENTENCED TODAY

Old Scheme of Fines of $5 and Costs and Low Bail Will Be Definitely Abandoned

Palm days for gamblers in Honolulu are a thing of the past, if the circuit court will sustain the decision rendered this morning by Judge J. M. Monsarrat, who sentenced 34 convicted gamblers to two days in jail each.

This morning's sentence marks the inauguration of a new policy on the part of the city and county attorney's office—a new policy concurred in by Judge Monsarrat—whereby gamblers will no longer be let out on light bail or, after conviction, be let off with a penalty of a $5 fine and $1 costs.

In future, says Deputy City Attorney Charles F. Chillingworth, ball in gambling cases will be made high, and the city attorney's office will ask for jail sentences in all gambling cases—all cases, that is, save those which might be termed "friendly," where a few acquaintances foregather to play for small stakes. These "friendly" gamblers will be merely fined.

Judge Monsarrat, in sentencing the 34 men to jail today, indicated that he would adopt the course outlined by the prosecuting attorney.

Fines found of no avail. "Fines have failed to stop Oriental gambling here," said Chillingworth, "and we will now see, with the assistance of Judge Monsarrat, whether we can put an end to it by straight jail sentences."

By the decision of Judge Monsarrat, rendered this morning, in the case of Ah Wing and 33 other Chinese charged with being in an organized gambling place, each of the 34 men will spend two days in the city jail, with out the alternative of a fine, and all gamblers arrested hereafter in an organized game, in a place thought to be devoted to gambling, or where gambling is of frequent occurrence, or in a place with barricaded doors, will be sent to jail instead of having the privilege of paying a fine.

The 34 men who were sentenced this morning in the police court to two days in jail each were taken about a week ago in a room over a Chinese drug store on Maunakea street, where the prosecution contended this morning regular gambling is carried on.

W. T. Rawlins, representing the Chinese, said there was no evidence the men were gambling, although they were in a room together late at night with gambling paraphernalia around them. After sentence he noted an appeal.

HAWAII NURSES ARE PRAISED BY SIR JOHN FRENCH

Miss Effie Louise Craig and Miss Clara Jordan, Honolulu nurses who are now serving with the Allies' lines in France, each received individual mention in despatches sent from the front by Sir John French, the British commander.

News of this signal honor for the Honolulu young women was received in a letter from Miss Craig, which reached here in yesterday's mail. "We both received special mention in Sir John French's despatches," says the letter, "in connection with our services at Receiving Station No. 3 during the very heavy fighting of last spring. We did our best at that time, but had no idea we were to be singled out for praise."

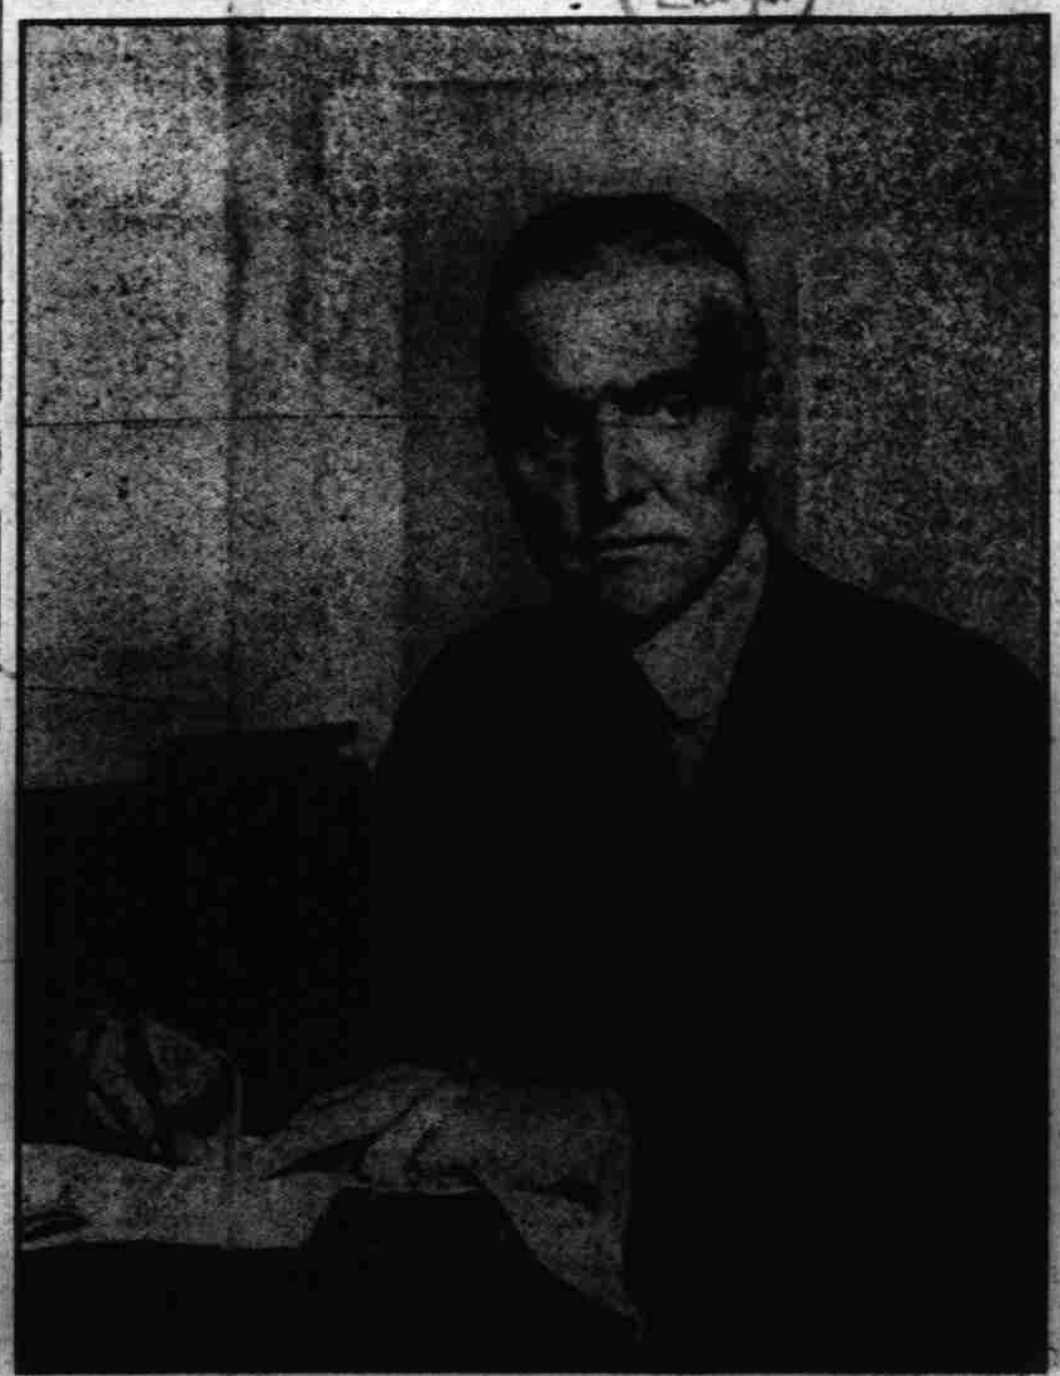

Miss Craig's letter was written on January 9, and was mailed at London.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 12.—A cablegram received today by the Chinese Republic Association says that more military successes have been gained by the revolutionists in the province of Hunan.

Yuen Chow was captured easily owing to the defection of the government troops. It is reported that the governor-general in southern Hunan, who was ordered to raise an army to resist the revolutionists, was unable to muster any material number of troops.

President On His Yacht Considers War Secretary

Frank L. Polk

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—President Wilson is today giving his attention to the matter of a selection of a successor for Secretary of War Garrison, whose sudden resignation is still the principal topic of conversation in Washington circles.

Accompanied by Postmaster-general Burleson, regarded as one of his close advisers, Mr. Wilson is taking a trip down the Potomac on the presidential yacht Mayflower and has put aside less pressing business than that of Mr. Garrison's successor.

It is believed generally in Washington that he will make his selection from Secretary of the Interior Lane, Secretary of Agriculture Houston or Frank L. Polk, who succeeded Robert Lansing as counselor of the state department when Mr. Lansing became secretary of state.

NEW HIGH LEVEL OF SUGAR STOCKS ACHIEVED TODAY

Sales Total 22,227 Shares, With General Advances All Along 'Change List

All records for the last 12 months in number of sales were broken today on change, when 22,227 shares of sugar stocks changed hands, and all at prices steadily on the rise, or showing material advances over yesterday's closing quotations.

The feeling of security as to beneficial tariff legislation, coupled with the expectation of the disbursement of some of the immense cash reserves of the plantations once the tariff question is settled, is resulting in a veritable flood of buying orders—orders to "buy at the market," which are sending prices up.

Olaa closed with the last sale at $18. Last Saturday it closed $13 bid. McBryde last Saturday closed at 10 1/2; today $13 was bid, with no offerings below $14.25.

Ewa sold today at $31; one week ago it changed hands at $23.25. Wai-aiua, today bid for at 35%, was bid at 29 1/2 last Saturday at the close. Pioneer sold today at $41.50, a gain of $5 a share in one week. Onomea, last week to be had at $47.75, sold today at $51.50. Oahu Sugar has gained $4.75 this week, closing at last sale at $35.50.

Among the higher priced stocks, Koloa registered a gain of $15 a share since last Saturday, selling at $170 today. Honokaa, a stock not widely dealt in, has jumped from $6 to $9 in the week.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH WHEN HORSE DROWNS UNDER HIM

His horse drowned under him in a raging torrent he attempted to ride through near the bottom of Moloaa Gulch, Kauai, District Magistrate William Huddy of Hanalei narrowly escaped death Wednesday, according to a letter received today by Attorney C. H. Dickey from his son, Judge Lyle A. Dickey of the fifth circuit court, Kauai.

"The district magistrate of Hanalei was almost drowned going to his home, near the bottom of Moloaa Gulch," says the letter in part. "There was a freshet and his horse was drowned, but he escaped."

ONTARIO SIDE OF NIAGARA IS ALARMED; RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE LAUNCHED ON GALICIA FRONT

ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT MOVEMENTS OF YEAR DEVELOPS—TO HOLD GERMANS ON EAST—FRENCH IN FIERCE FIGHT GAIN 200 YARDS AT MASSIGES—GERMAN STEAMSHIP INTERNED IN BRAZILIAN PORT HELD BY CANNON-FIRE

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless)
NIAGARA FALLS, New York, Feb. 12.—Despite the strict censorship exercised by the Canadian government, information has come from reliable sources that last night the Canadians across the river from Niagara Falls were stirred by an extraordinary scare regarding a supposed invasion of Germans from the American side.

According to this information, which Canadian authorities refuse to discuss in any manner, Niagara Falls, Ontario, heard a sensational report that Germans would try to cross from the American side and attack bridges and buildings.

Acting on this report, a force of 500 men, armed with three machine guns, were placed on guard around the power plants which cluster near the falls, and at the Canadian end of the international bridges. The men slept last night under arms.

The scare was apparently unfounded, as nothing happened. It had been reported that Buffalo was to be the base of operations for the Germans.

Russians By Offensive Move in Galicia Hold Germans on East

PETROGRAD, Russia, Feb. 12.—One of the most important movements of the year on the east front is the big Russian offensive maturing along the entire Galician front.

The Germans are on the defensive on the Sereth, Pruth and Dneister rivers and at Useczko, where they are firmly entrenched. The Russian movement has interrupted one of the most important lines of communication between the armies of General Pflanzer and Gen. von Bothmer.

A third important Russian advance is being made near Zale and Szecky. The Hungarian troops attempting to check the Slavs here are said to be demoralized and to have retreated four miles. It is admitted that this movement has no immediate strategic value, but it has prevented the Germans from withdrawing troops for use against other lines of the Allies.

German Steamer Interned in Brazil Fired on When Speeds for Open Sea

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Feb. 12.—What appeared to be a bold attempt at escape by an interned German steamship was foiled today only when the steamer was put under cannon-fire.

The German steamship Asuncion, which has been interned at Para for many months, requested permission to leave her moorings, approach the wharf and take on water. Under cover of a fog which drifted over the harbor, the German steamer turned and instead of going to the wharf headed for sea at speed.

The Brazilian cruiser Republica under orders to stop the speeding vessel, fired blanks from her guns but the steamer would not stop. The cruiser then fired projectiles across the Asuncion's bows and the German craft thereupon stopped and returned to the harbor. Called upon for an explanation, her captain declared that he had no intention of escaping. The Brazilian authorities are making an investigation.

Heavy Fighting on West; French Gain

PARIS, France, Feb. 12.—Further heavy fighting in the Champagne district has resulted in the capture of German trenches.

BERLIN, Germany, Feb. 12.—The war office announced today that after a violent artillery preparation carried out along the greater part of the western line in Champagne, the French had penetrated 200 yards into German positions at Massiges.

German Prince, Joachim, to Marry

LONDON, Eng., Feb. 12.—An Amsterdam despatch says that the Kaiser has announced his decision that the marriage of his sixth son, Prince Joachim, to Princess Marie Augustine shall be solemnized at Potsdam on March 11. Prince Joachim is 26 years of age.

The following cablegrams from official German sources have been received:

"GERMAN HEADQUARTERS, Feb. 11.—Northwest of Vimy the French, after several hours' artillery preparation, tried four times to take back their lost trenches but all attacks failed. Also south of the Somme the French have been unable to take back any parts of the position lost there. In the Aisne and Champagne districts there are isolated but lively artillery duels.

"A German captive balloon without inmates got lost and drifted near Vailley over the enemy's lines.

"On the east front, north of Drysvyaty lake the advance of a strong Russian detachment was repulsed."
"OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE GERMAN ADMIRALTY, Feb. 9.—German aeroplanes dropped numerous bombs on the docks and factories of Ramsgate, England."

JUDGES INSIST THEY NEED NOT SECURE ORDERS

Have Legal Right to Ignore Requisition Ruling of Supervisors, Ashford Claims

Local circuit judges are not amenable to the city ordinance which provides that all materials and supplies shall be secured through the purchasing agent of the city and county.

This decision was reached at a conference of Judges C. W. Ashford, W. L. Whitney and T. B. Stuart brought about by report No. 618, passed by the Board of Supervisors on February 4, which alleges that the method employed by the local circuit courts in the purchase of supplies is "in violation of the municipal laws."

The report enters the complaint that purchases have been made for the circuit courts without orders having first been secured from the purchasing agent, according to ordinance, and at prices in excess of those quoted for the particular kinds of material and supplies so purchased in accepted bids on file in the office of the agent.

Want Warrants Stopped.

It further alleges that this purported practice is in violation of the municipal law, and recommends that the auditor of the city and county will "refuse to issue warrants for the payment of claims incurred on account of material, supplies or services unaccompanied by orders from the purchasing agent, until the agent has submitted such claims to the board of supervisors and obtained its judgment thereon."

Asked yesterday regarding any new developments growing out of the issuance of the order, Purchasing Agent H. E. Wescott said that everyone was paying attention to the report with the exception of Circuit Judge Ashford.

Following the conference of judges Judge Ashford wrote a letter last Thursday to Eugene Buffandeau, deputy city clerk, answering the charges made in the board's report. The following points are made in the communication:

1. The judges of the circuit court are practicing every economy in the purchase of supplies and materials. Citation is invited.
 2. The circuit judges have been cited no laws which their independent purchasing has violated and they invite a citation.
 3. The circuit courts form a territorial institution operating under territorial laws and not bound with regard to operating under municipal ordinances.
 4. The circuit court is not required to purchase its supplies and materials through the purchasing agent, and the city fathers are invited to show the judges when and whereby the latter are so obliged.
- "The supervisors might as well say that the territorial treasurer and the territorial auditor are required to purchase their supplies through the purchasing agent," Circuit Judge Ashford commented today. "However, as far as I know, there is no ill-feeling between the judges and the supervisors in the matter."
- "He adds that the judges will be glad to learn from the city fathers such facts as will enable the judges to carry their present retrenchment policies to greater lengths."
- Mayor Lane declared this afternoon immediately after the meeting of the board of supervisors at which Judge Ashford's letter was read, that a cir-

YOUNG SALESMAN ARRESTED; FACES FORGERY CHARGE

Arrested this afternoon and charged with embezzlement, L. Heilbrod may also be charged with forgery. Heilbrod has been employed by James F. Child, proprietor of the Blaisdell hotel, and was arrested on Child's complaint.

Child says Heilbrod was discharged by him, and that the man then went to a Chinese merchant with a bill for $61.19 from Child. The Chinese paid with a check, and Heilbrod is said to have forged Child's endorsement to the checks and cashed them.

Heilbrod came here six months ago from the mainland. He is about 24 years old, and a salesman. He is said to be single.

HARBOR NOTES

Mail leaving for the Orient at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Shinyo Maru was 57 sacks, of which 23 were letters. The Shinyo took 26 first-cabin, two second, and 145 steerage passengers from Honolulu; also four tons of freight, mostly coffee.

Capt. William M. Green, T. K. K. master who has been on a vacation for several months, was a through passenger on the Shinyo Maru yesterday, going to Yokohama under orders. He did not state of what vessel he is to take command.

The Mauna Kea reports the following sugar waiting shipment at Hawaii ports: Waikeke, 3500; Hawaii Mill, 1800; Wainaku, 6400; Onomea, 2174; Pepeekeo, 4050; Honoumuli, 3400; Laupahoehoe, 600; Kukaiaua, 1888; Hamakua, 4114; Paunahou, 100; Honokaa, 18,000; Punaiau, 3088; Honoupa, 5400.

SIERRA IS DELAYED; WILL BE HOUR LATE

A radio received this afternoon by the shipping department of C. Brewer & Company, Oceanic agents, from the steamer Sierra, states that she expects to arrive off port from San Francisco at 7 o'clock Monday morning. This is about an hour later than her usual time. She will probably dock by 8:30 Monday morning, and will sail at 4 o'clock that afternoon for Pago Pago and Sydney.

EXONERATE DOREGO OF SERIOUS CHARGE

The charge of manslaughter which has appeared against Frank Dorego on the police court calendar since he ran over and killed a Japanese printer on Kalakaua two weeks ago was today stricken at the request of the prosecuting attorney. Dorego was exonerated by the coroner's jury.

Circuit court judge certainly ought to know his legal rights, and that he did not think that any further steps would be taken in the matter. "We have to pay the cost of running the court, though, and I do not see why the judges are not willing to take a suggestion from us and allow us to save a little of our own money," the mayor complained.

"The court was mighty anxious to please last fall when they needed an appropriation. Now that they have some money they are more independent. This appropriation will run out though, probably before they get another, and then the supervisors will be in a position to dictate, and they may prove to be pretty hard taskmasters."

CLAIMS DENTAL BOARD TRIES TO KEEP MEN IDLE

pass the examination which they took before the board.

One other applicant, a young Chinese, took the examination with the two and was given a passing grade.

Both Dr. Steele and Dr. Goldwater were working in the office of Dr. H. Clemmens in the Blaisdell hotel this morning, though Dr. Clemmens says this is the first time they have done any work for him.

Dr. Clemmens also has a protest to file against the dental examining board on the grounds that these and other men have not received fair treatment in taking their examinations. Dr. Clemmens made the following statement this morning:

Had To Sign Promise.

"When I came here six months ago I brought with me two dentists, Dr. A. D. Perkins from Astoria, Oregon, and Dr. William Herms of Fresno, California. One of these men got through the examination, but had to sign a paper saying that he would not work for me. This was Dr. Perkins, who is now in my office at Hilo.

"Dr. Herms was told that he was undesirable in that he had come here to work for me.

"Yesterday three more men got their reports from the last examination. Two of them, Dr. Steele and Dr. Herms, were 'flunked,' while a young Chinese got through. I, too, intend to bring this case to the attention of the governor."

Claims Unfair Treatment.

Dr. Steele says: "I came here of my own accord, together with my wife and child, to enjoy the Honolulu climate and practise my profession. I am positive that I have been treated unfairly, and am willing to submit my answers to any 10 dentists of the city to prove my contention.

"I appealed to Governor Pinkham on the ground, and because I have a family to support. I have practised dentistry for 12 years and this is the first time I have been refused a license."

Dr. Goldwater, who says he is a cousin of Dr. S. S. Goldwater, health commissioner of New York City, states his case as follows:

"My examination here lasted from January 6 to February 8 at intervals, two of the examination days being on Sunday. Many of the questions were ambiguous, and seemed to be taken from a book that is not considered an authority in dental work.

"I feel that if my papers were to be compared with those of the young Chinese doctor I would receive a higher mark than he received."

Dr. Clemmens maintains that much useless delay is experienced in the manner of giving the local examination. He says that an examination which has extended over practically a month's period would have been completed in mainland cities within a week, the average being from five to six and a half days. Both Dr. Steele and Dr. Goldwater agree with Dr. Clemmens on this point.

Complaint Not Unusual.

Dr. C. B. High, the only member of the examining board whom the Star-Bulletin was able to reach today, says that the complaint which Steele and Goldwater are making against their grades is not unusual.

"It is the old story of people not passing when they think they should have passed," he says. "Both men merely failed to pass the examination, and that was all there was to it. There was no discrimination against them."

Dr. High said that the statement which Perkins had made in regard to Clemmens was not demanded of him by the board, it was made by Perkins of his own will, after which Dr. High asked him to put it in writing.

Governor Pinkham said that he had nothing to do with dentists' licenses, when questioned on the matter this morning. Asked if he had been appealed to, he replied, "I have nothing to say in the matter."

The supreme court of Panama has sustained a recent law whereby the government reserves ownership in metal mines and deposits of coal and oil.

Miss Libby Peck Will Be Oahu's Princess In Parade

Miss Libby Peck, who was Oahu's princess in the floral parade of 1910, this morning consented to ride again as the "Princess of Oahu" in the floral parade on February 22.

Miss Peck made a most favorable impression when she last represented this island and this was one of the leading reasons for requesting her to again appear in royal pa-u costume. She will have a splendid mount, and her retinue will be selected by the first of the week.

The island of Hawaii's princess will be Mrs. E. A. Campbell, formerly Miss Wilhelmina Weight, who represented the Big Island on three former occasions. She will arrive next week to prepare for her entry.

Miss Ellen Copp has been selected by the Chamber of Commerce of Miss Libby Peck of Oahu.

Mau to represent the Valley Isle and her mount will be the beautiful horse owned by Angus McPhee, and known throughout the islands as "Denervo."

Just who is to represent the island of Kauai is not yet known, but it is expected that the Garden Island's entry will be made public the early part of the next week.

The island of Molokai entry has not yet been announced, but George Cooke, who is the entire Chamber of Commerce of Molokai, Board of Supervisors and banking house, has always looked after the entry for this island, and it is understood he will see that Molokai has one of the best looking princesses in the line.

The date for the Punahou chowder supper at the Outrigger Club, plans for which have been under discussion for several days, has been definitely set for Tuesday, March 7, it was announced today.

Mrs. E. A. Campbell of Hawaii.

CAR CONDUCTOR THREATENS TO SUE PASSENGER

Injuries sustained by I. Lando, conductor on a King street car, when Rodney H. Burgess, bookkeeper for B. F. Ehlers & Company knocked him down yesterday morning, did not result in the issuance of a warrant today. It is said Lando will take action against Burgess as soon as he is out of Queen's hospital, where he is now confined with a fractured leg.

Burgess claims that Lando was impatient because he did not have exact change ready when he went to pay his fare on a car coming from Walkiki. He said today he gave Lando a 50-cent piece and the latter handed the change back in a rough manner, and that when some words passed between them the conductor hit him on the jaw with his transfer punch. Burgess says he jumped up and grappled with him and Lando fell and twisted his ankle. Burgess has a scratch on the jaw where he was hit with the punch.

Lando claims Burgess hit him before he swung with the punch. Immediately after he was knocked down, Lando got up and took the names of witnesses to the fight, Burgess says. Later the conductor found his ankle was broken and transferred to another car. R. M. Duncan took Lando from the car to Queen's hospital in an automobile.

It is understood the Rapid Transit Company's attorneys, Castle & Withington, have been instructed to proceed against Burgess as soon as Lando is well enough to testify.

COMPLAINT OF FIRST WIFE STOPS BRIDAL TOUR WITH SECOND

Even before it began the honeymoon trip of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quni ended yesterday afternoon when Quni was taken from the Chinyo Maru, on which he was prepared to sail for Japan with his new wife, and detained in Honolulu on complaint of his first wife that he was leaving Oahu to avoid paying her alimony. Quni's brother, Manuel Quni, is under arrest on the charge of forging F. M. Kiley's name to checks.

After his divorce from his first wife, Quni married again, his second mate being the possessor of $1700 insurance paid her by a Portuguese society after her husband's death. Mr. and Mrs. Quni decided to go to Japan and would have done so if Policeman Poha had not appeared just before the steamer sailed with a warrant for Quni.

$15,000 SALVAGE CLAIM FILED ON WRECKED REPEAT

That the North Pacific Steamship Company, whose steamer Roanoke towed the waterlogged American schooner Repeat into Portland after the steamer Avalon had failed in the attempt, has turned in a salvage claim of $15,000 on the schooner, was stated today by President F. J. Lowrey of Lewers & Cooke, Ltd., owners of the Repeat.

"We have placed the matter in the hands of our San Francisco representative, George H. Collins," said Mr. Lowrey this morning, "to see what he can do toward arranging a better and more reasonable claim. The original $15,000 claim is more than the Repeat and her cargo of 500,000 feet of lumber are worth, in their present condition."

At a meeting of the directors of Lewers & Cooke late yesterday, the decision was reached to place the claim in the hands of Mr. Collins for a more equitable settlement, as the company considers the claims exorbitant. Work of unloading the Repeat's cargo will probably be started next week, Mr. Lowrey stated.

SATURDAY FEBRUARY 12, 1916.

LINCOLN'S WAY.

Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth president of the United States, is without question a greater influence in the national life of his country today than when he was shot down at the height of a great career more than fifty years ago.

His homely virtues, his farseeing statesmanship, his breadth of kindness, his genius for American politics, and above all, his sterling sense of national duty, have shone the brighter as the years have passed. That he is one of the ablest men as well as one of the greatest moral figures in American history has long ago been recognized.

"What would Lincoln do?" for decades has been the public question in times of national stress. It has been asked again and again since the European war, broke out. What would Lincoln have done about Belgium? What about the Lusitania? What about the attempt to "starve Germany out?" What about Serbia? What about the slaughter of Armenians? What about the violation of American trade rights on the high seas?

We do not and cannot know exactly what the great Kentuckian would have done, but what he did do in crises is proof that his course in the European war would have been fearless, incisive and characteristically unmistakable in intent.

Bainbridge Colby, distinguished member of the New York bar today, recently revived in the public mind the memory of the following incident in Lincoln's career:

In one of the darkest hours of the Civil War our minister to London sent word to our secretary of state that he had reason to believe that proposals would be addressed to him by the English ministry looking to intervention.

Seward's letter in reply will always be a shining page in the history of our country. Although we were engaged in a struggle for the preservation of our national existence which taxed our strength, and although the menace proceeded from the greatest power in the world, the voice of our country did not falter. Our minister was told to decline all debate of the question of intervention. If the subject was persisted in, he was told to announce his mission at an end and to leave England.

Said Seward, speaking of this step, which was recognized as involving a rupture with England: "Its possible consequences have been weighed, and its solemnity is therefore felt and freely acknowledged. You will perceive that we have approached the contemplation of that crisis with the caution which great reluctance has inspired. But I trust that you will also have perceived that the crisis has not appalled us."

Right well and high did Seward carry the standard of his country, and with a firm hand.

In his courageous course, Mr. Seward had the advice and backing of President Lincoln. There was no long, tedious, diplomatic attempt to haggle over phrases or get the situation reduced to verbal terms of a mathematical nicety. America declined debate; made ready to sever relations. That was Lincoln's way and it was Seward's way.

That is why the birthday of Abraham Lincoln is commemorated today all over the land; why he is among the greatest if not the greatest of Americans.

THE PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW.

At the St. Louis Coliseum, on February 3, President Wilson said to 15,000 people:

"No man ought to say to any legislative body: 'You must take my plan or none at all.' That is arrogance and stupidity; but we have the right to insist that we will get the essential thing. That is the principle, the system by which we can get a trained citizenship, so that if it becomes necessary to defend the nation, the first line of defense on land will be more adequate and an intelligent line of defense. I say on land because America apparently has never been jealous of our men if they are only at sea."

"And America also knows that you can't send volunteers to sea unless you want to send them to the bottom too."

"You have been jealous of the armed force on land and I must say that I share with you the jealousy of a great military establishment. But I have never shared any prejudice against putting arms in the hands of trained citizens, whose interest is to defend their homes and their security and not to serve any political purpose whatever."

It was on this same day, during this same speech, that the president said the United States navy "ought to be incomparably the greatest navy in the world."

He has said again and again, and emphasized it strongly on his recent speaking tour, that he opposes a large standing army. In his Milwaukee speech he said:

"I am counselling the Congress of the United States not to take the advice of those who recommend that we should have, and have very soon, a great standing army. . . . The Constitution of the United States makes the president the commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the nation, but I do not want a big army subject to my personal command."

Unmistakably the president is giving the impression that while he favors a huge navy—the largest in the world—he is against any material army expansion.

In these excerpts from his speeches there may lie the inwardness of the situation which caused Secretary Garrison to resign. The president has not backed up Garrison's recommendations, nor the recommendations of the War College or the experts of other divisions of the service. He opposes the federalization of the militia, a plan which has the support of the majority of well-informed army officers—it was in this same Milwaukee speech that he mentioned the constitutional limitations against federalizing the militia and intimated that these obstacles are insuperable.

Now whether the president be right or wrong, the secretary of war seems justified in feeling that he has not the support of the administration in plans which are unquestionably the most important of his official career. Mr. Garrison feels the lack of support keenly enough to have resigned. If he regards the situation as serious enough to cause his resignation, he should be willing to let the American people know exactly his position. So, in fact, should the president. If the issue is between degrees of preparedness, the people should know precisely what degree the president stands for and what degree the secretary stands for.

Mr. Garrison is on record in his annual report and later statements to the military committee. His plans are known. What is not known is the president's idea, reduced to concrete terms of men, armament and equipment. We believe it would be quite proper for Mr. Garrison, if the president does not let the country know just why his secretary of war has resigned, to speak out. Ultimately it is up to the people to decide what they want to do about preparedness, and they have a right to know what their public officials believe in.

Prof. Jenks, distinguished economist, says the American businessman doesn't need to worry about trade after the war stops. Hawaii is worrying mostly while the war is on, for it's the war that has induced the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company to abandon its island service.

Belgium having nailed the yarn about Germany's peace proposals, it is time for Turkey to be reported asking the Allies for quarter.

Democratic notices for get-together meetings sound like challenges under the rules of the well-known Marquis of Queensberry.

Col. Roosevelt is off for the West Indies, but he'll come sailing home simultaneously with the psychological moment.

Mentioning candidates for secretary of war will be the favorite indoor sport of the weekend.

For a man on the verge of death, Emperor Franz Josef has had another remarkable recovery—about his fourth or fifth of the kind.

The pen is mightier than the sword, but how about the note and the submarine?

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

—DR. J. S. B. PRATT: I have received no complaints during the last few days regarding impure milk. It looks as if the situation is clearing up.

—L. R. KILLAM: The annual benefit concert in the Nuuanu Japanese church last night was well attended, and proved a big success. The Japanese Y. M. C. A. is deeply appreciative.

—MARSHAL J. J. SMIDDY: The last time they tried to ship opium to Kaula I got the opium but lost the shipper. This time I lost the opium, but I think I know who the shipper is. Next time I'll nab both.

—C. B. GAGE: Though this is Lincoln's birthday, the only flag I have seen flying in the downtown district is on the Y. W. C. A. building. This was done down until someone called the attention of the "Y" ladies to the mistake. —WILLIAM C. PETERSON, assistant postmaster: We are selling lots of stamped envelopes this month. One business firm bought 26,000 a few days ago. If this keeps up our February receipts will show a big gain over the same month a year ago.

—A. W. HANSEN: The results of the examinations which I made of milk samples have been turned over to the Board of Health, and that department will take any necessary action. The investigation of the milk supply, however, is not completed.

—A. M. HAMRICK, meteorologist, U. S. Weather Bureau: I gave an hour's lecture on the work of our bureau yesterday afternoon to a class of students from the Normal school. They seemed to be much interested in our activities and the instruments by which we record the weather.

—THOMAS J. FLAVIN, postoffice inspector: A little while ago I received a printed form notice from the San Francisco inspector's office, asking me to send my address and telephone number. They must think over there that we are sending wireless phone messages to Frisco every day.

LATEST ALARMIST STORY ABOUT JAPAN BRINGS IN HAWAII STORY

Anonymous Writer Says He is Man Who Broke Japanese Labor Strike Here

The very latest alarmist story of a Japanese invasion of America is given by the New York Sun in a remarkable article which purports to come from a former resident of Honolulu—a man who claims to have broken the Japanese plantation strike here something more than five years ago. The anonymous writer of the article is vouched for in a prefatory note by Henry A. Wise Wood, the New York inventor, author and advocate of preparedness. Wood says he deems the article of sufficient moment and credibility to be given the public.

The article begins by a purported revelation of systematic plans whereby Hawaii and mainland United States were filled as far as possible with soldiers under the guise of laborers.

The unknown author goes on as follows: "So successful were the Japanese in California as farmers, fruit growers, market gardeners, etc., that the American gradually found he could not compete with them, and this meant financial ruin.

"There was no option but to submit to the inevitable and accept the Japanese methods and terms. This occasioned bitter feeling, and the American Government took no action.

"Japan's answer to this interference was to organize a strike in Honolulu on the sugar plantations. This hit America in a vital spot.

"I personally undertook to break this strike, and with 2500 men and $1,250,000 succeeded and saved the sugar crop.

"The method of operations of the Japanese strikers was a complete and perfect system of military tactics and discipline. Outposts were established on the cordon system, pickets were posted, a complete line of communication, with investigation departments at every mile was set up, base camps in rear of supports and reserves were arranged and field kitchens supplied the strikers. Perfect order was maintained. Every man knew exactly where to receive his instructions and food. At no place was there a congestion of men.

"No Japanese was allowed through the lines without a pass from his headquarters, and when challenged this pass was examined.

"The time of his arrival was stamped upon it as well as the direction in which he was proceeding. A fresh pass and countersign were given him at his destination for his return.

"After the strike was settled (upon Japan's terms) they returned to work. "Soon after this America fortified Honolulu. It was about the time of the Emperor's birthday, and I remember on that occasion the 'laborers' on the plantation paraded to celebrate. There were few men wearing less than two medals or decorations.

"During the time occupied in fortifying Honolulu the Japanese had control of the fishing adjacent to the harbor. I have watched the fishermen carefully taking the depths of the water in the harbor and making special studies of the tides.

"The Japanese staff of the Moana hotel were especially interested in the forts and defences of Diamond Head. These may be counted upon to be useless in the event of invasion. "Furthermore, women were employed to obtain information concerning the fortifications of Honolulu. The plans were in the hands of the Japanese within three months of completion."

He goes on to charge that Honolulu's defenses "sadly need reconstruction," and to prove—to his own satisfaction—that Oahu is very poorly prepared to resist invasion. He then discusses Japan's future strategy: in the main the article would seem to show familiarity with Oahu, if not with military affairs, but some peculiar inaccuracies are noticed. For instance he speaks of Japan being able to send an army from Japan and land it in Honolulu "in six days" and says that in six days the present Japanese army can be landed from Honolulu "at any point on the Pacific Coast."

The identity of the writer is not even remotely hinted at in the article. The reference to his personal leadership in breaking the Japanese strike is about the only possible clue. The man who was generally credited with breaking the Japanese labor strike is Attorney W. A. Kinney, now and for many years past a resident on the mainland, but who at the time of the strike was the chief counsel for the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association and who was active in handling the strike situation.

And yet a local attorney who is personally familiar with Mr. Kinney's style of writing says he doubts very much if this article was written by Kinney.

"It doesn't sound like Kinney," was his comment.

CITY ENGINEER TO INVESTIGATE CITY'S QUARRY

City Engineer Collins is to make an investigation of the conduct of the municipal quarry next week, he said today. "The plant is antiquated, I know," he declared. "But even with a new plant we can't produce stone as cheaply as a quarry that pays $1.25 for a 10-hour day while we continue to pay $2 for an eight-hour day."

Collins says that he is not making the investigation at the behest of the road committee or the mayor, but entirely on his own initiative, as he believes that the quarry charges brought by Supervisor Larsen should be disposed of.

In the meantime the mayor and the road committee are still too busy to take up the charges of inefficiency in the conduct of the quarry.

LARGE LAUNDRY FOR GIRLS AND ICE FOR BOYS ARE PROVIDED

Curtis, publisher of the Saturday Evening Post, Country Gentleman, and Ladies' Home Journal, is coming to Honolulu accompanied by his wife and daughter and son-in-law, according to a letter received by C. FILE OBJECTION TO MAKING OZAWA CITIZEN MONDAY

The federal government's contentions as to why Takao Ozawa, a local Japanese, should not be admitted to American citizenship, will be set forth in a brief which District Attorney Horace W. Vaughan will file in court soon, probably next Monday morning.

According to Mr. Vaughan, the understanding in Washington, D. C., was that Ozawa already had been admitted, which resulted in the receipt of instructions authorizing Mr. Vaughan to bring action to have Ozawa's naturalization canceled. This step would throw the entire matter before the supreme court of the United States for a final decision as to the eligibility of Japanese.

Ozawa, however, has not been admitted. In case he is, Mr. Vaughan says he will move to cancel the order. The same action will be taken in case Phillips or any other aliens who are not "free white persons or persons of African descent or nativity," are admitted.

Honolulu Girl Gives Up Opera At Cupid's Call

Miss Dorothy Plummer Quietly Wedded to Los Angeles Man; Both Students at University of California

Miss Dorothy Plummer of Honolulu and Byron Andrew Steen of Los Angeles are the principals in a romance told in the San Francisco Examiner of recent date.

They were married a month ago at San Rafael, the Examiner says, but the story of the quiet wedding was not learned by their friends on the coast until formal announcements were received a few days ago from Mr. and Mrs. Plummer in Honolulu.

Miss Plummer, special student at the University of California, and Steen, who is a son of Manager Steen of the Pacific Pipe Line Company of Los Angeles, slipped away to San Rafael and were married on January 5, says the Examiner, which adds that an operatic and a college career went glimmering.

The Examiner continues: "Mr. and Mrs. Steen are now in Los Angeles, but plan to remove to San Francisco soon, when young Steen will assume charge of the northern branch of his father's business.

"The couple met while both were enrolled in the Berkeley colleges two years ago. Mrs. Steen, up to the time of her marriage, had lived with her grandmother, Mrs. Smith, Chabot road, Oakland. She is a talented musician and was considered one of the most promising pupils of the late Herman Perlet. She had planned to make her debut in the Philharmonic Orchestra this spring as the first step in entering on an operatic career.

"Henry G. Plummer, father of the young bride, is manager of the Hawaiian Dredging Company, which did all of the dredging of Pearl Harbor, including the construction of the dry-docks in the islands. Her mother is active in the social life of the island.

"As the result of the wedding Steen has cut college and settled down to the more serious concern of a business career. He was well-known on the

When the army transport Thomas docks tomorrow from San Francisco, there will be aboard an army officer whose heart is left in San Francisco with the girl he married a day or two before the transport sailed.

The officer is Capt. Warren Dean of the 9th Cavalry, the girl who is now Mrs. Dean was Miss Verona Zimmerman, daughter of Emil Zimmerman, Minneapolis millionaire, and the story is in the San Francisco Examiner of February 5 as follows:

Miss Verona Zimmerman, daughter of Emil Zimmerman, millionaire manufacturer of Minneapolis, and Capt. Warren Dean of the 9th Cavalry, U. S. A., were married at St. Paul's Episcopal church yesterday in an extremely quiet manner.

The only persons present, beside the officiating clergyman, the Rev. W. E. Couper, were Mrs. Teresa Dean, mother of the groom, and Maj. Willard D. Newbill. In New York Mrs. Dean is known as the writer of social gossip in "Town Topics" under the name of "The Widow." Maj. Newbill acted as major domo of the hastily staged wedding, searching the city during the afternoon for a minister, to sail without bride.

"Capt. Dean will sail this morning for the Philippines without his bride. She will be left to face a parental storm which began to break in Minneapolis last night, and which she was extremely concerned about last night.

"The parents of the young bride, who is an unusually beautiful girl, had no idea that she was to be married. They do not know Capt. Dean. Until last night, when a message of inquiry was sent to them in Minneapolis, they had supposed that their only daughter was at the home of a friend in Pasadena.

"Capt. Dean has been on the Mexican border, stationed at Fort Bliss, Tex. He arrived in San Francisco with his mother.

Major Newbill Assists.

"Mrs. Dean gave the bride in marriage, and Maj. Newbill of this city was the best man.

"The bride came west alone. She said that she did not want her marriage to become known because she wanted to explain to her parents personally how she came to be married so hurriedly before her husband's sailing."

CHARGED WITH TWO FORGERIES, M. QUINI SAYS HE IS GUILTY

Manuel Quini, charged with forging the name of Fred Kiley, proprietor of the Graystone hotel, to two checks, pleaded guilty in Circuit Judge Ashford's court today to both counts of the indictment found by the grand jury. One of the checks was for $200 and the other for $150. No action was taken on a third check for $130.

Judge Ashford suggested that the case go over until 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon for sentence, but Quini stated he wanted to be sentenced right away. The court demurred, however, and said that Quini would not lose anything by waiting until Tuesday. In his statement, Judge Ashford hinted that the penalty would be a lenient one, although it will be a prison sentence.

WEEK'S TOTAL FOR BUILDING PERMITS CLOSE TO $100,000

Building permits issued this week by Building Inspector Henry Freitas total $99,616, against permits last week of $12,251. Permits for the week previous amount to $28,253, which makes the three-week total approximately $140,000.

THREE I-I. BOATS BRING BIG CARGOES FROM ISLAND PORTS

Three Inter-island steamers arrived this morning, the Mauna Kea from Hilo, the Maui from Kaula, and the Likelike, also from Kaula.

The Inter-island flagship brought 69 cabin, 42 deck and eight way deck passengers from Hilo and way ports.

Purser "Pete" Phillips reported Kilauea volcano to be very active now, and the weather there to be finer than in many months.

The Maui brought over 14 cabin and 13 deck passengers from Kaula ports, and 5070 bags of Lihue sugar. Only one passenger arrived in the Likelike from Kaula, but her freight was large, consisting of 3220 bags of Kilauea sugar, 941 cases of pineapples and sundries. Purser E. J. Malaniff reported variable winds and moderate seas inward.

There are 1094 boxes of butter exported from the port of Sydney during the week ended January 1, as compared with 389 in the previous week.

The steamer Geelong, a P. and O. branch liner, doing service as a transport has been sunk in the Mediterranean through collision with an Admiralty store ship.

E. J. LORD IS HALED TO POLICE COURT FOR 5TH TIME FOR SPEEDING

For the fifth time, E. J. Lord was in the police court this morning on a charge of violating the traffic ordinances. He was arrested last night on Nuuanu road, between Judd and Wylie streets, and W. R. Chilton, one of the arresting officers, says he was driving his auto 32 miles an hour when overtaken. Lord engaged W. T. Rawlins and R. W. Breckons as his attorneys and the case was continued until 10:30 a. m. February 16.

SIGNAL CORPS SOCIAL CLUB AT SHAFTER GIVES NOTABLE DANCE

One of the most successful social events of the week was the dance given by the Signal Corps Social Club at Fort Shafter last Wednesday evening, which was attended by a crowd that taxed the capacity of the post hall, many going out from the city and a number coming from the other garrisons. It was voted by all present a huge success. An excellent lunch was served at 10 o'clock and punch was enjoyed throughout the evening. John Wurz had charge of the refreshments and is to be complimented on his work. Among the guests present were: Elect-sgt. and Mrs. H. R. Caid, C. A. C.; 1st Sgt. and Mrs. Frank Fraser, 2d Cav.; Cpl. and Mrs. D. Hanson, 2nd Inf.; Cpl. and Mrs. Alford Price, 4th Cav. band; Sgt. and Mrs.

Wood, Hospital Corps; Elect-Sgt. and Mrs. Bridgens, C. A. C.; Elect-Sgt. and Mrs. J. P. Flood, Q. M. C.; Sgt. and Mrs. Whitlock, Q. M. C.; Sgt.-maj. and Mrs. Burns, 2nd Inf.; Electrician and Mrs. Zierman, S. C.; Sgt. Phil Compton, 4th Cav.; Sgt. and Mrs. Compton, 4th Cav.; Sgt. and Mrs. 1st Sgt. and Mrs. O. Rigley, 2nd Inf.; Messdames W. V. Kola, Harlan Walty, C. W. Derry, E. H. Fuller, J. T. McAniff, Arndt, W. P. Jelf, T. F. Kennedy, G. B. Coleman, I. Scharin, H. Cramer, G. B. Sherman, W. Ellerback, D. S. Nicholson, Geo. Stutzman, Kolb, Misses Virginia Ranson, Vera Schimmer, E. Patzig, C. Patzig, Dorothy Ellerback, Gladys Ellerback, Juanita Tillender, Laura Fagorro, L. Condon, M. Condon, Hattie Blackburn, Marion Kennedy, Charlotte Betts, Caroline Brown, Lillie Williams, Ivy Beasley, Messrs. L. B. Huston, R. W. Hinsel, R. D. Marshall, J. B. Kolb.

The Signal Corps Social Club was recently organized in accordance with the practice of the Signal Corps wherever a company is stationed. "Pro Patria Vigilians" is the motto of the corps and, in times of peace, they consider it to include the welfare and pleasure of their neighbors, and while they have been tardy in organizing over here they have been considering it for over a year and now that they have actually organized they will work all the harder to make their club a success and their ball last Wednesday proved that they know how to entertain. The success of this dance is characteristic of their affairs throughout the service from Nome to San Antonio and from Manila to Fort Wood, New York, because they are hard workers, are impartial, and spare neither time nor expense to make them successful. The local club plans to give at least one dance each month and perhaps other entertainments, admission will be by invitation only to any of their affairs. The following officers have been elected in the local club: President, Master Signal Electrician John T. McAniff; vice-president, 1st Class Sgt. Erie H. Fuller; secretary-treasurer, John T. Sullivan; executive committee, Sgts. Walter L. Thomas, Ira A. Kilbury and Fletcher G. Forney. The club has about 50 active members.

Federal trial jurors will be wanted in court at 8:30 o'clock next Monday morning.

"Cadillac---Standard of the World"

---a phrase or a fact?

IS THE Cadillac, in fact, the Standard of the World?

Is it the one car which is accepted as a pattern of excellence and efficiency?

Look back over the past twelve years and ask yourself what other car has wielded so wide an influence over the industry?

Ask yourself if motor cars, as a whole, are not better cars today because of Cadillac progressiveness and Cadillac initiative.

You recall that the first Cadillac was also the first practical, enduring motor car.

You remember the period in which the Cadillac inaugurated the thorough standardization of parts.

You remember that the Cadillac accomplished also the first production in large quantities of a really high grade car at a moderate price.

The introduction by the Cadillac of electric starting and lighting is still fresh in your memory.

And you know finally, that the Cadillac as a climax to its other constructive contributions to the industry, brought forth the high-speed, high-efficiency V-type engine.

Around the world that V-type multi-cylinder engine is admittedly at the zenith of design and of efficiency.

And the Cadillac has pushed the process of perfecting the V-type engine to the highest point yet attained.

Upon its first appearance, the Cadillac Eight received the unique tribute of a larger purchase on the part of other makers than any other car has probably ever known.

Its scientific design and superb workmanship compelled their most intense admiration—its performance was pronounced nothing short of marvelous.

If the Cadillac had not been the standard of the world before, the V-type multi-cylinder Cadillac would have made it so.

It has become the standard of the world in smoothness and in swift acceleration, in flexibility and in hill climbing power.

It is the world's standard in its incomparable roadability, its luxury, its ease of operation and control, and in absence of fatigue after long journeys.

These characteristics, added to its world-wide reputation for dependable and enduring service, have furnished for the industry, new inspirations—new incentives—new goals for ambitions.

Is not the Cadillac deserving of the title it has so long and so honorably held?

Is not the Cadillac, in fact, the Standard of the World?

LACKAYE DOES SVENGALI FOR 'TRILBY' FILM

Clara Kimball Young, the queenly screen star, and Wilton Lackaye, the celebrated dramatic artist, are scoring at the Hawaii theater in "Trilby," the initial offering of the cozy little rejuvenated Hotel street theater.

The recently formed Equitable Motion Picture Corporation promises to send to Honolulu some of the finest photo-plays ever filmed, and with "Trilby" as a sample it is reasonable to suppose that the company will make good on the promise.

Wilton Lackaye has the distinction of having created the role of Svengali in the original stage production of "Trilby," also of having scored one of his greatest stage triumphs in this role.

Charlie Chaplin is always good for a bundle of laughs. His work was never better than in "The Woman."

DE FOLCO OPERA COMPANY CLOSES SEASON IN CITY

Artistes May Leave For Hilo on Wednesday for Brief Engagement

Definite announcement was made by the De Folco Grand Opera Company management today that tonight it will close its Honolulu season.

Tonight the program will be selections from various popular operas, details of which may be changed late today, so no definite announcement is made.

Last night "Lohengrin" was given, the performance beginning half an hour earlier. The strain of an unfortunate season and the difficulty of putting on this opera without adequate time for rehearsal were evident.

The company will probably go to Hilo on Wednesday for a brief engagement, and as operas will be put on there with which the company is thoroughly familiar, it should have a distinct success.

'TELL' WILL BE SUCCEEDED BY MARY PICKFORD

"William Tell," one of the few imported photo-plays to be shown in Honolulu, is still being shown at the Liberty theater and will close with the performance of this evening.

Beautiful Alpine scenery is brought into constant play by the cameraman in the filming of this picture.

Mary Pickford returns to the Liberty tomorrow evening in "Esmeralda," a picture of the celebrated stage success of the same name by Francis Hodgson Burnett.

FILM PORTRAYS IGNORANCE AS REAL DANGER

The danger of virtue which depends upon ignorance, or blindness is portrayed vividly in the six-reel feature picture offered for the first time at today's matinee at the National theater.

The sum and substance of the lesson is in the final reel, when a minister and his wife awaken to the truth that innocence is no certain guard for a young girl.

In direct contrast to the big screen offering are the laughable vaudeville acts, more particularly those of Nolan & Nolan, the jugglers, and Herbert Winter, eccentric English entertainer.

A net profit of $437,000.81 is the record of the San Francisco Municipal Railway system to the end of last year.

A message that a package of gems valued at more than $100,000 reposes in an express safe causes a bandit leader and his men to plot to gain possession of the valuables.

How to avoid the injurious rays of the sun has been troubling for many years the specialists of lens manufacturers.

NEW INSPECTOR WILL HAVE PART IN RIOT PROBE

Investigation of Disturbance in Iwilei Still Being Carried On

Immediately on his arrival here yesterday, Major H. O. Williams, who is to succeed Major Ernest B. Gose as inspector, Hawaiian department, reported to headquarters and began going over the affairs now in the hands of the department inspector to familiarize himself with the situation.

Major Williams, among other things, will have a part in the conclusion of the investigation of the riot in the Iwilei district the night of January 13, when the Sheridan was in port with colored soldiers of the 9th Cavalry, who were entertained by men from the 25th Infantry and later wrecked the Iwilei district.

The purpose of the investigation, which is still in progress, is to find out which of the regiments was mainly to blame, and if possible to ascertain whether the attack on the women's homes was the outcome of a conspiracy.

May Call Court Martial.

Major Michael J. Lenihan, 2nd Infantry, Fort Shafter, has charge of the detail work of the investigation, and with other officers in collecting all possible evidence. This will be passed on at headquarters after being carefully scanned by Capt. Edward K. Massey, and if it is warranted, a court martial may be called.

The Honolulu detective department is continuing the investigation of the case and in one instance recovered some goods stolen from the cottage of one of the women, but has not been able to fix the theft on the man suspected of taking the property. The woman who had the property when the police discovered it claimed she got it from a colored soldier.

ALASTAIR ROSS, EX-HONOLULAN, KILLED BY FALL

Investigation of Disturbance in Iwilei Still Being Carried On

Alastair Ross, one-time foreman of draughtsmen for Catton, Neill & Co., later a lieutenant in the British Royal Flying Corps, fell from the sky in a burning aeroplane and met his death at Caterick Park, Yorkshire, on January 17, according to the Aberdeen (Scotland) Evening Express of January 18.

Ross, who was 27 years old, came to Honolulu from Aberdeen about four years ago, and took the position in Catton, Neill's office, where he stayed for about two years. Then he left for the Philippines, where he spent six months before landing a place as engineer for a Cuban manufacturing firm.

He hardly left the ship at Havana before news of the war came. He stayed with his new employers until the end of the season and then left for Canada, where he got his training as an aviator.

Then came orders to leave for England. His last flight is said to have been the first he had ever made alone. His machine caught fire when at a great height and fell straight to the earth, striking nose first.

LODGE WILL CONDUCT FUNERAL OF W. KAPO

The deceased, who was 27 years of age, was employed by the Mutual Telephone Company. His widow survives, but there are no children.

If the unofficial estimates which have been made in the office of the adjutant-general prove to be correct, there will probably be 1200 men of the National Guard of Hawaii in line in the military parade, February 22. It is hoped almost every member of the guard will turn out for the military spectacle.

Brig-gen. Samuel I. Johnson and his staff will lead the National Guard with the 1st Infantry band ahead of them. The Engineer Corps, Signal Corps and Hospital Corps will be in line with the 1st Infantry composing the mass of the troops.

PATHOS MIXED WITH HUMOR IN IRISH SKETCH

'Workhouse Ward' Part of Kindergarten Entertainment for Carnival Week

Humor and pathos are gently mixed in the Irish character sketch, "The Workhouse Ward," which is the presented as one feature of the kindergarten entertainment under the auspices of the Free Kindergarten and Children's Aid Association during Carnival week. The entertainment will be given twice, Wednesday and Thursday, at the Opera House.

Parts in the sketch have been assigned as follows: Mike McHenry, by E. H. Lambert; Michael Miskell, by E. H. Steel; Mrs. Donohoe, by Miss Anna Danford. The scene is laid in a ward in a workhouse of Cloon.

The two old men are discovered in bed when the curtain goes up. They are quite helpless, being cared for by nuns. Mike's sister, Honor Donohoe, enters now. She is a widow and as life is lonely to her she proposes to take Mike home with her.

Mike refuses to go without his old chum, however, and Honor will not have two old men along with her, so leaves a Mull, taking with her the suit of buttoned which she brought along for Mike. After she has gone, the two old fellows get into an argument which finally leads to one of their favorite fights, and the curtain rings down with them in the heat of it.

Forest in Second Part.

Madame Auguste Forest will appear on the second part of the entertainment, wearing the costumes of olden days, and will sing arias, berceuses, chanson d'amour, songs of Brittany, and old English songs. Mrs. A. Tansy Peck, pianist, will accompany Madame Forest.

Many of those who heard Madame Forest on a former visit to Honolulu will recall with delight the unusual quality and daintiness of her performance.

Madame Forest's manner changes with the costume of the period to which each separate song belongs, and these wild flowers of musical literature become loving, gay, pathetic, or momentarily tragic with the changing mood of the melody and verse.

OLDSMOBILE EIGHT

The Car that Compels Admiration

Oldsmobile Model 44, Eight Cylinders.....$1400 Honolulu
Oldsmobile Model 43, Four Cylinders.....$1300 Honolulu

For sixteen years the Oldsmobile has established a standard of value, and maintained a leadership in design—not only as the last word in beauty of lines, but as a representative motor car containing all of the advanced ideas of improvement and refinement.

The 1916 Oldsmobile models exhibit the fine art of motor car making at its best with the production and application of power reduced to a nicety.

The power is steady, smooth and strong, that takes hills on high that many cars would hesitate to ascend on intermediate.

In every detail the Oldsmobile compels admiration—solid cast aluminum running boards, natural finish wheels, Circassian Walnut interior wood work.

PLAN UNCEASING ROUND OF GAITY ON FIRST NIGHT

"Keep to the Right" Will Be Ad Club Slogan to Insure Orderly Handling of Crowd Evening Big Carnival Opens

TWO BANDS SECURED FOR DANCERS IN OPEN PARK

"Keep to the Right" will be the slogan for the evening of February 21. Ad Club night, and the first night of the Carnival. Beginning with the Parade of Nations there will be one long and unceasing round of jollity that may not end until dawn walks o'er the dew on Roundtop.

Between 2000 and 3000 people are expected to take part in the big parade which will enter the palace grounds from the King street entrance.

The entrance to the public will be from the Richards street gate, the King street gate being closed to the public until after 10:30. The parade will pass out at the Hotel street gate, while the public will go out by the Likelike street porch.

Two bands have been secured, one to play on the makai side of the building and the other on the mauka side. Dancing will be indulged in on the roadway immediately after the parade has passed.

Among the features will be the release of King Carnival, the Ball of All Nations, and the Masked Ball in the armory.

Plan Folk Dances. Alternating with the public dancing, folk dances will be held under the direction of Jack D. Cleary. Representatives of many nations will take part in this event.

Automobile owners will not rent space on King street owing to the fact that the police will not permit it. Automobiles may be parked along the mauka side of King street, however, under the direction of the police.

At the Likelike street entrance a free moving picture show will be in progress, this feature beginning at 7:30.

Blenders for persons holding tickets will be erected sufficient to accommodate 1500 people, and competent ushers will have charge of seating the crowd.

Persons appearing in the parade may park their automobiles outside the grounds if desired, Miller and Berriman streets having been chosen for this. These two streets will be marked off, and cards with numbers will be given to owners of machines.

FLORAL PARADE OF THIRTY AUTOS BEGINNING OF CITY'S CARNIVALS

Mid-Winter Celebration is Out-growth of Old Fete Days of Hawaiian Royalty

Hawaii's annual Mid-Pacific Carnival is an echo of old time—an out-growth of the great annual fete days of Hawaiian royalty, but the actual Carnival spirit began in August, 1898, when the United States flag was raised to float over the royal palace, and American holidays commenced to take the place of old-time feasts.

In the year 1906 the citizens of Honolulu proposed a floral parade, and February 22, Washington's Birthday, was chosen as the date for the occasion. So successful was this first parade that the custom was established and the parades became annual, gradually growing in importance.

Finally they began to enlarge from one day's celebration to periods of several days. In 1912 the lights for dances have been arranged as follows:

Prelude.....Escape of the Peacocks Ensemble.....Sunbeams, Flowers and Fruits, Slaves, Queen and Attendants. Solo.....By Flowers and Fruits Scene d'Action.....Queen and Slaves Valse lente.....Sunbeams, Slaves and Peacocks. Finale.

Orchestra members are: First violins, Edwin Ideler, John Gifford, John Pettit; second violins, Francis Farrington, Dudley French and Francis Baur. Miss Alice Hopper, cellist, will direct the orchestra.

Light refreshments will be served after the matinee on Wednesday, February 23, and also after the night performance on Thursday, the refreshment booths being on the grounds adjoining the Opera House. Candy and flowers will also be offered.

The Hawaiian band will be in attendance on Wednesday afternoon, and on Thursday evening a musical program will be given during the refreshments period.

the Elks' Carnival, which was a large part of the celebration, were switched on by President Taft, who pressed a button at the White House, since which time the folk of Honolulu have felt that their Carnival has the official indorsement of the nation's 30 Cars "Grand Success."

Honolulu's first floral parade was held on Washington's birthday, in the year 1906. Gerrit P. Wilder was the chairman of the parade committee, and a string of 30 automobiles participated, making the affair "a grand success," according to old-timers who recall the event.

In 1907 a similar parade was held, Walter F. Dillingham being chairman of the committee. H. F. Wichman received first prize that year for a car decorated as "Winter," the occupants sitting fur-clad in a snow covered car and throwing white confetti snowballs.

A. Gartley was chairman of the committee in 1908, and by this time the parade was coming to be one of the biggest features of the year. Old and young, rich and poor, old timer and newcomer, took part in the celebration.

The following year a street carnival was introduced along with the parade and adding much to the enjoyment of those attending. T. H. Peirce was chairman in 1909. Automobiles entered the parade by scores, "Pilikia" in Trouble.

In 1910 under the direction of Harold G. Dillingham one of the features of the Carnival was the "Doom of Pilikia," enacted at the capitol grounds. Pilikia was tried, convicted, and delivered to Madame Pele, the mythical volcano goddess, from whose abode belched forth flames and smoke. Arthur P. Wall was chosen director for 1912, and filled the position so ably that he was again elected for 1913. By this time school children were taking part in the parades, as were also the army and navy representatives.

It was in 1912 that the first Japanese lantern parade was held, and this came as a pleasant surprise to most of the people of the city. Hundreds of Japanese from the Oriental dis-

PERFECT PLANS FOR GREAT ARMY REVIEW IN CITY

One of Biggest Spectacles of Carnival Week Will Begin Tuesday at 9:30 a. m.

Starting at 9:30 o'clock on Washington's Birthday, the military parade which will be one of the big spectacles of Carnival week, will pass along King street to Victoria, up Victoria to Beretania and along Beretania to Punahou street, which is the end of the line of march.

Brig-gen. John P. Wisser and his staff will head the parade. Behind them will come the 4th Cavalry, and behind this the infantry. The field artillery probably will be placed at the rear, and the companies of signal corps, engineers and hospital corps will be placed somewhere near the head of the parade.

Bands will be placed at the head of the parade and in between the regiments at appropriate intervals. There will be at least three and possibly four army bands in the line, and the Hawaiian band will also take a place in the parade.

With the National Guard of Hawaii the 1st Regiment band, N. G. H., will march. Brig-gen. Johnson will head the guard, and the 1st regiment is expected to have 1000 men in line at the lowest estimate. Behind the guard will come the Kamehameha Cadet Corps.

DOG IS OPERATED ON AND HATPIN REMOVED

PITTSBURG, Pa.—A hatpin seven inches long was removed from the stomach of Kink, a valuable Boston bull terrier, by a surgeon. The dog had been ill for several days when the operation was decided on. The pin lay lengthwise in the dog's stomach.

WHAT TO DO TO GET FAT AND INCREASE WEIGHT

The Real Cause of Thinness

Most people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folk eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bound to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Most thin people stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay there in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition it is well to recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is simply a careful combination of six of the most effective and powerful assimilative and flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet has been wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often, according to reports of users, has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Benson, Smith & Co., Holister Drug Co., Chambers Drug Co. and other good druggists everywhere.—Adv.

PATHOS MIXED WITH HUMOR IN IRISH SKETCH

'Workhouse Ward' Part of Kindergarten Entertainment for Carnival Week

Humor and pathos are gently mixed in the Irish character sketch, "The Workhouse Ward," which is to be presented as one feature of the three-part entertainment under the auspices of the Free Kindergarten and Children's Aid Association during Carnival week. The entertainment will be given twice, Wednesday and Thursday, at the Opera House.

Parts in the sketch have been assigned as follows: Mike McInerney, by E. H. Lambert; Michael Miskell, by E. H. Steel; Mrs. Donohoe, by Miss Agnes Danford. The scene is laid in a ward in a workhouse of Clonon.

The two old men are discovered in bed when the curtain goes up. They are quite helpless, being cared for by nuns. Mike's sister, Honor Donohoe, enters now. She is a widow and as life is lonely to her she proposes to take Mike home with her.

Mike refuses to go without his old chum, however, and Honor will not have two old men along with her, so leaves Mike a note, taking with her the suit of clothes which she brought along for Mike. After she has gone, the two old fellows get into an argument which finally leads to one of their favorite fights, and the curtain rings down with them in the heat of it.

Forest in Second Part.

Madame Auguste Forest will appear on the second part of the entertainment, wearing the costumes of olden days, and will sing ariettes, berceuses, chanson d'amour, songs of Brittany, and old English songs.

Mrs. L. Tansley Peck, pianist, will accompany Madame Forest.

Many of those who heard Madame Forest on a former visit to Honolulu will recall with delight the unusual quality and distinctness of her performance.

Madame Forest's manner changes with the costume of the period to which each separate song belongs, and these wild flowers of musical literature become loving, gay, pathetic, or momentarily tragic with the changing mood of the melody and verse.

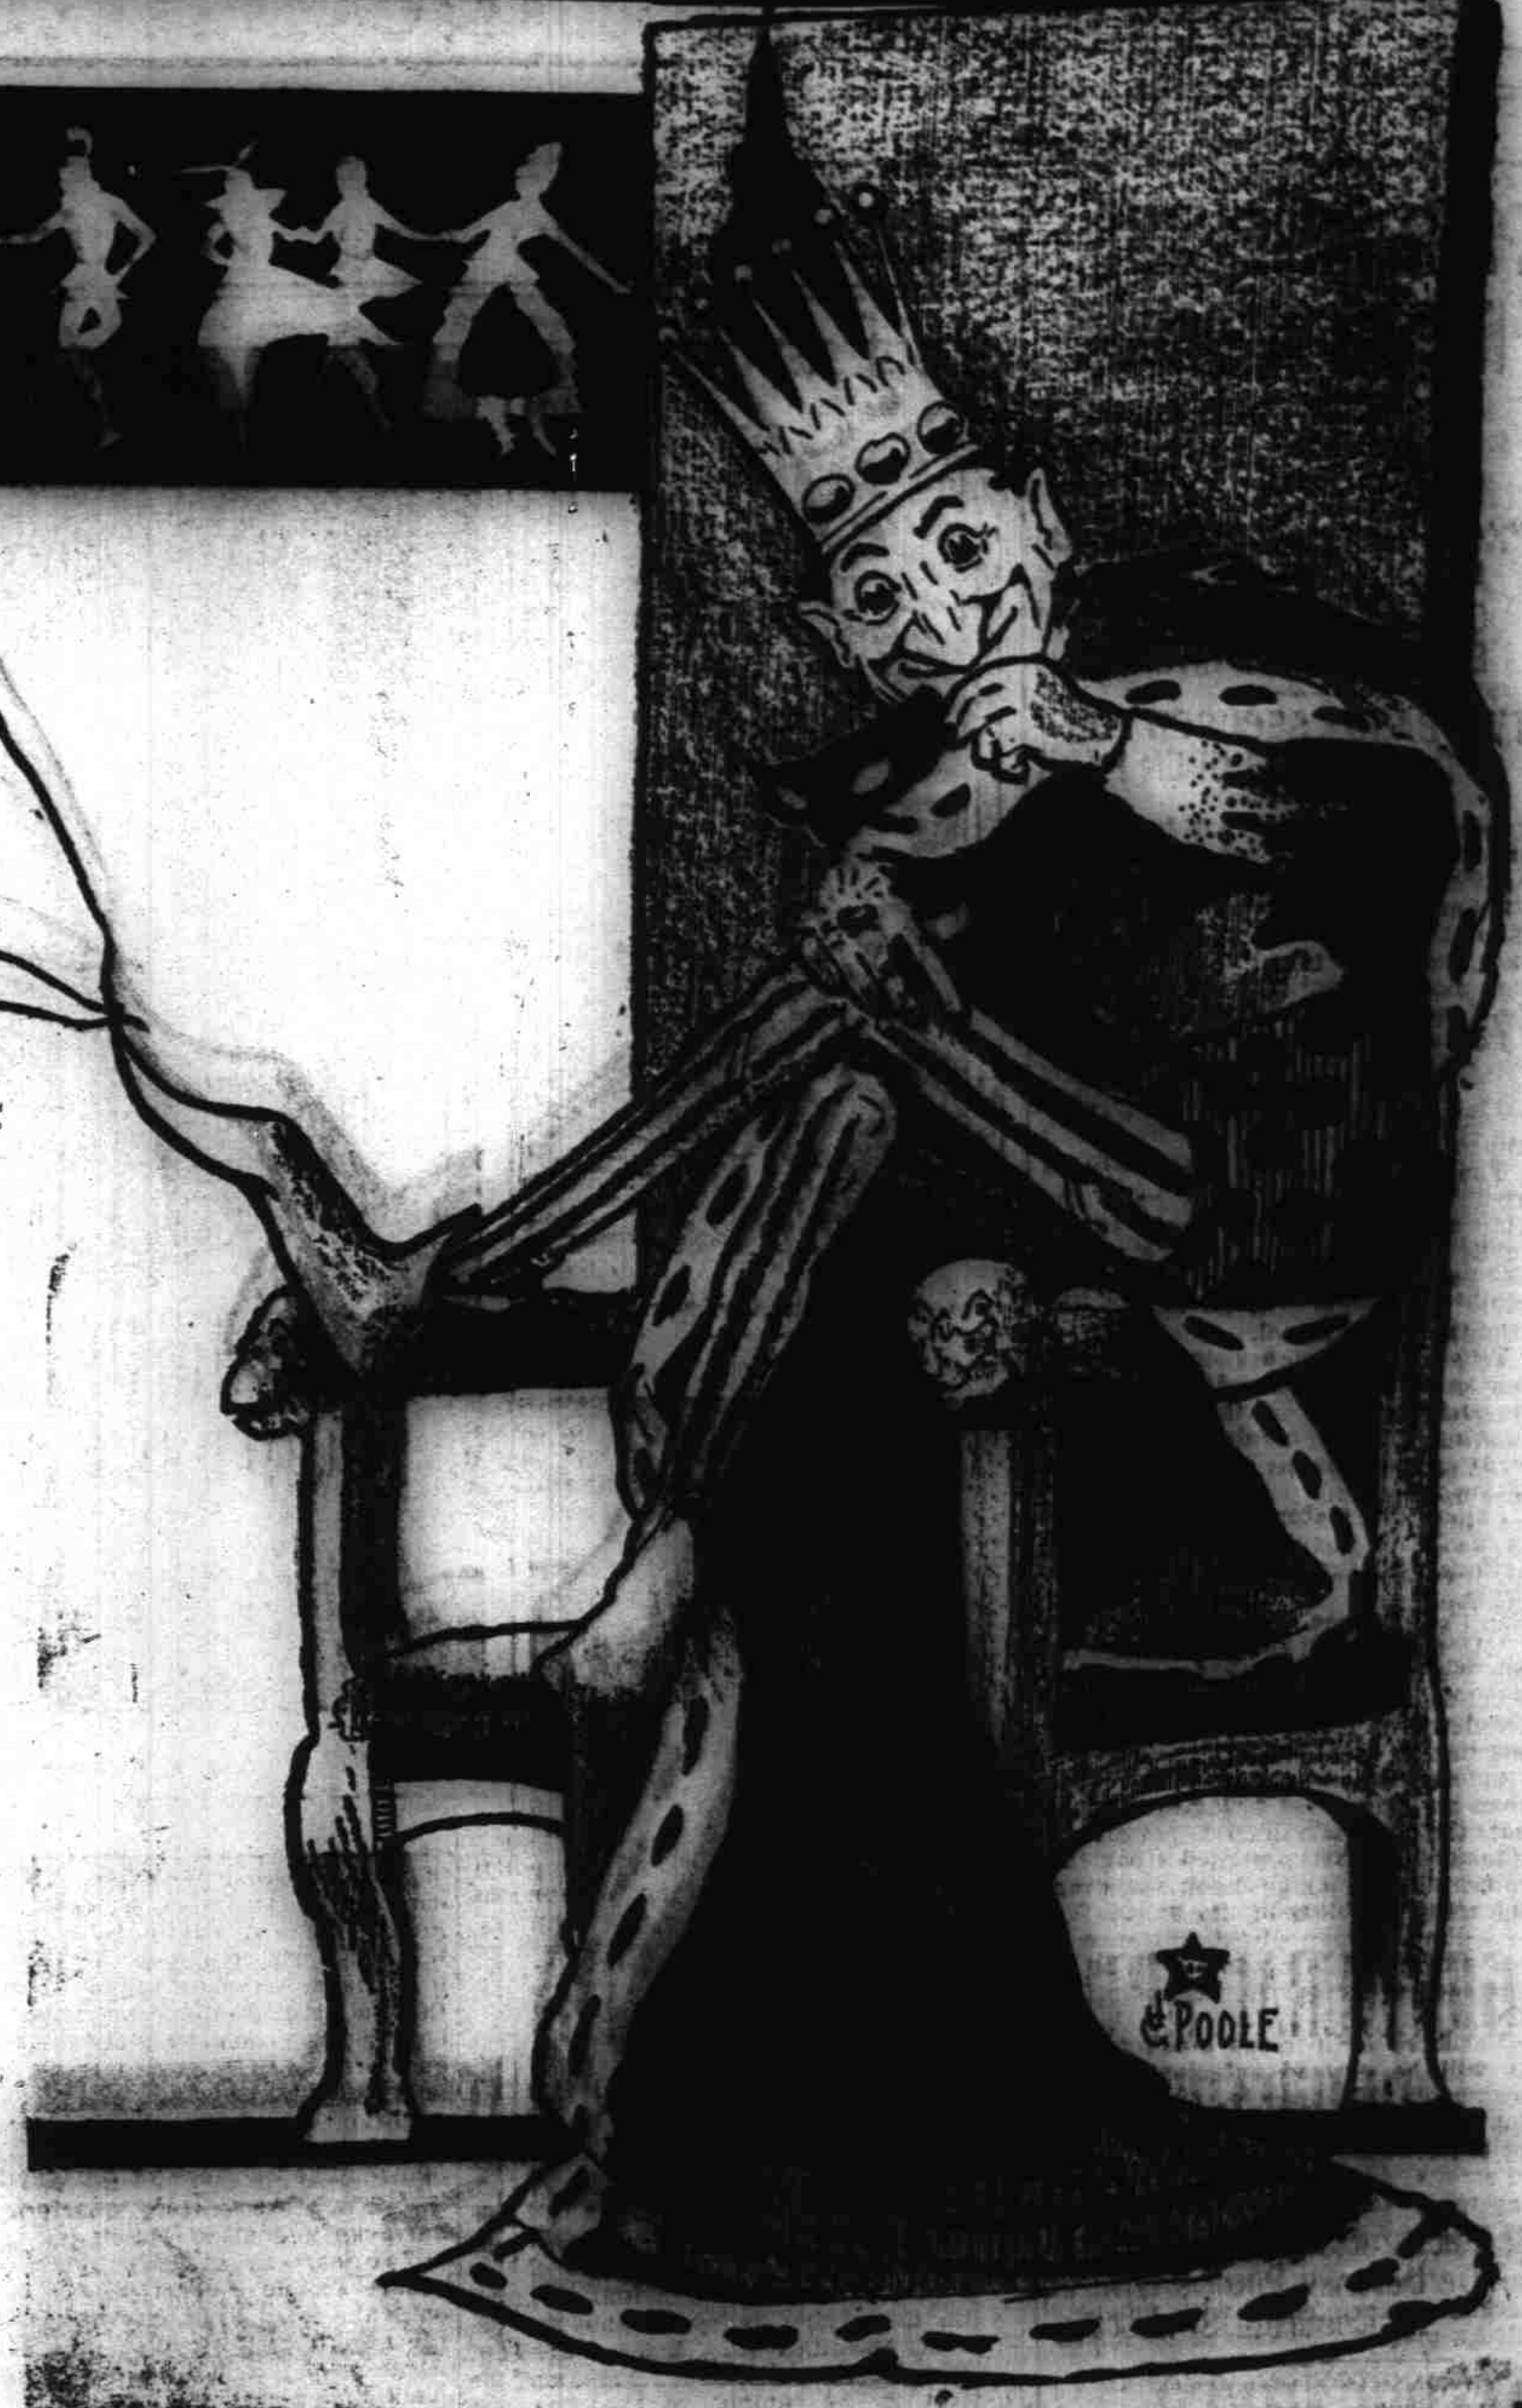

Part three of the entertainment, "The Peacocks," is a one-act ballet. The book of which is written by L. Young Corrothers, assistant principal of the Honolulu School for Boys. Sunbeams, flowers, fruits, peacocks, queens and slaves make up the parts of the ballet. The music is from "Sylvia," by Leo Delibes. Mirrors Lure Them Back. How the peacocks of Queen Vanite escape from the garden through the negligence of the Nubian slaves, and how the birds are finally lured back with mirrors which attract them because of their own vanity is the theme of this third part of the entertainment.

Following are the names of those who will take part in it: Vanite, the Queen.....Miss Mary von Holt Miss Beatrice Castle, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Gene Mead, Miss Eleanor Castle and Miss Kathryn Blake.....Ladies-in-Waiting Miss Sarah Lucas, Miss Mary Lucas, Miss Helen McLean and Miss Dorothy Wood.....Peacocks Mrs. H. ARMY ON OAHU NEEDS VAST SUMS TO PROPERLY HOUSE MANY TROOPS

Force Likely to Be More Than Doubled, and Those Here Not Decently Taken Care of

Oahu will have a permanent garrison of 25,000 soldiers making this island as their home in two years at the utmost, and unless steps are taken to house them and provide for their comfort, conditions will soon be far worse at army posts than they are now. This is the general opinion of army men and civilians who are familiar with the posts. Hoping for a solution of the problem which must be met, residents of Honolulu have been asked to co-operate with the army people in making known the need of further expenditures for cantonments and improvements at army posts.

A casual trip through the posts here reveals how woefully ill provided for is the army. At Fort Shafter, perched on the side of a small ravine with a field of lava rock behind them, stand little green buildings of cheap lumber in which hundreds of men live. Some of them have not even been painted green. At Schofield Barracks thousands of men are living in barracks of rough board, dressed only on one side, unpainted and with tarred-paper roofs. Most of these buildings, built hurriedly and dubbed "temporary structures" have been in use for more than five years, and some at Schofield Barracks showed they were entering into the senile period by collapsing in a recent Kona storm. Spend Night Dodging Rain.

When it rains at night at Shafter or Schofield the men begin to crawl out of their beds as the rain drips through on them. Clad in their sleeping clothes they drag the mattresses from the bunks and seek to place them under spots which have developed no leaks. Those who get a location beneath the good part of the roof first may sleep. The others spend the night dodging the rain. Some of them even crawl under their bunks for shelter. That this condition is actual is vouched for by army officers. Army officers say they can do nothing more than recommend. This they have done over and over, and the items appropriating money for the army here are cut out for economy's sake, or so the money can be used elsewhere.

At Corregidor Island, at the mouth of Manila bay, which is said by many authorities to be almost useless, millions and millions are being spent for improvements and fortifications. On Oahu the army posts are so unsightly that it is the custom to steer tourists away from them, or to show them only the favored posts where there are new buildings. No Sewers at Schofield.

As important as the buildings are the sewage systems of which there are now none at Schofield Barracks. Thousands of people are living there with the same conditions for disposal of refuse which were used in small towns a century ago. Last year Congress was asked for money to put in sewers but the item was stricken from the bill. This year the same request has been made, no action having been taken yet.

At Fort Shafter more than 5,000 additional troops are to be stationed, and money has been asked for decent buildings to quarter them in. But if Congress cuts the appropriation as has been done heretofore, more wooden shacks will have to be built.

Not only are the barracks crude and uncomfortable, but the officers' quarters are the same. "It is humiliating to a man to have to live in a place like this," one officer said recently, speaking of the cottage occupied by himself and his wife.

Army officers cannot be too insistent, and unless they are backed in the demands by citizens and officials of the territory, they do not think a change will be made in the policy adopted of doing everything on the cheapest possible scale on Oahu.

Kamehameha Buildings, Type For Army Post on Oahu

SHORTAGE OF LUMBER DELAYS DE RUSSY WORK

Quarters for Non-Coms Under Way, Main Work Will Begin in Two Months

Under the supervision of Jack Lucas of the Honolulu Planning Mill Co., contractors, the work of erecting at Fort De Russy cantonments similar to those just completed at Fort Kamehameha has been begun. First of the buildings to be constructed will be the non-commissioned officers' quarters, and in a small way the work on these has been started. Lack of material will delay the progress of construction somewhat, and it may be two months or more before anything is done on the officers' quarters, the barracks and other buildings.

Two barrack buildings built in a square around a court will be placed on Kalia road, with driveways from the road into the court. The administration building will also front on Kalia road. The commissioned officers' quarters will be built on a line paralleling the line of the barracks, and in the rear of them, with an "L" in the line, turning seaward at the Ewa edge of the reservation and running to the beach. The non-commissioned officers' quarters will be lined along the Ewa edge of the reservation, from the rear line of the barracks to Kalia road.

Cantonments of an entirely new type, designed in the office of Capt. David L. Stone, constructing quartermaster, have been completed at Fort Kamehameha. They are suited to this climate, built for comfort at the lowest possible cost, and are finished to present a neat appearance.

Except at Fort Shafter, where lack of ground for building purposes makes it impracticable, this type of cantonment will be constructed at all the army posts on Oahu as fast as money can be secured to build them. Congress will be asked to make an appropriation for constructing similar buildings at Fort Ruger, Schofield Barracks and Fort Armstrong, and for additional cantonments at Fort De Russy, when more troops are ordered there.

The barracks are built in the Spanish style, with an open court in the center, and the dormitories have windows on both sides, giving plenty of air.

MILITARY ROAD NECESSARY FOR SAFETY OF OAHU

The possibility that this year an appropriation for a military road around Oahu may pass Congress has awakened discussion of the road among civilians and army people.

Officers believe the road to be a military necessity and indispensable to the defense of the island in case of war. They expect, if war comes, the attack to be made through parties landed in small boats on some remote part of the island, and in order to meet and repel such an attack they say a road over which troops could be quickly moved in automobiles must be built and hidden with trees planted along the edge toward the sea. They also think a railroad around the island is badly needed.

Oahu, if the Philippines are allowed their own government, will be the western outpost of the United States. Twenty-five thousand troops will be quartered here, but they will be almost useless unless there are means for transporting masses of men rapidly from one point to another if war ever comes.

Observations Private Kelley

"But fr wan thing, this post would make me homesick." Pvt. Kelley remarked sadly to the Rookie. "Tis a fine place, savin' th' wan facture that it kapes me thinkin' av home too much."

"It don't look much like home to me," answered the Rookie in an offended manner. "If this place is like home I'm glad I left."

"Natchully th' post don't bring ye anny fond rimembrances av ye youth, which was on'y four or five years ago, annyway." Kelley continued. "From all I oig gather av ye past, ye was brung up in th' country, where th' air is pure an' sweet, an' th' vilet's an' daisies is growin', on'y no wan in th' country knows they ar'e because av bein' too busy growin' 'n corn, whiskers, wheat, childer an' other marketable an' onmarketable products 't spin time watchin' th' daisies and vilet's, excep' in such cases as th' daisies an' vilet's is th' kind that wears dhrresses—an' other clothes."

"Natchully an' army post would not remind ye av home, unless ye could get ye brain in that condishun 'twould think reveille was a rooster crowin'; roosters, I understand, bein' th' big ben av thim sechuns av th' middle wes' which is famous fr their corn crops an' ginrlr disregard av th' rules av English grammar. An' on account av me own masteery av th' rules av English I am prejodiced against ye home counthry be the latter offense."

Raised in Shanty Town. "Tis th' circumstances av me birn' an' bringin' up that makes me think av home when I look over this post. I was raised in th' aristocratic neighborhood known as Shantytown, where th' houses was set on th' edge av th' hill, projectin over like a small where th' back door opened into the atmosphere av cabbage an' fried onions floatin up from th' neighbors, an' was elevated from twinty t' fifty feet above th' groun'."

"Tis th' hillside here an' th' rustic structures built in rustic style—man'n' atter th' same design av a Pinnsylvania barn—that makes me think av home. An' th' wan thing lackin', which I remarked about, is goats. Av there was jist goats climbin' over thim rocks below an' huntin' out th' chiest tin cans in th' pasture, 'twould be so much like old Shantytown I'd fertit I'm in a post, probably, an' be passin' th' colonel's house."

How Coets Are Trimmed. "Wit' a can in me han', chasin' th' growler. Mad Umbrellas at Home. "There is manyy points av difference betwene th' post an' th' neighborhood I was raised in, wan of the leadin' wans bein' that in me byehood's home we was all provided wit' an umbrella 't put over us on rainy nights, which th' gov'ment fr some reason has forgot t' send out when they built these barracks."

"Tis me opinion th' architect that designed this was also engaged at odd times in dhravin' patterns fr some ladies' clothing manufactures, an' got th' barracks mixed wit' the peek-a-boo waists wit' which women was onclothin' themselves about th' time th' barracks was built, or else th' contractor thought these was t' be open work summer houses."

BOWL IS TO BE READY FOR USE LATE IN SPRING

Target Range, Drill and Camping Grounds Being Made; Office Building Planned

Punchbowl will be ready for use as a target range, drill and camping grounds and a place for maneuvers late in the spring, and the National Guard of Hawaii will then have one of the best ranges possessed by any American militia organization. Prisoners from Oahu prison, are camped in Punchbowl and have cleared the grounds and dug two of four target pits. The pits are located at the foot of the slope of the crater rim on the makai side of the bowl, and the riflemen will shoot from two, three, five and six hundred yards across the level ground and toward the mountains.

Outside the crater, on the Ewa slope of Punchbowl hill, there is to be constructed an administration building in which will be quarters for officers and several offices. Walkin' of this, inside the rim, will be the camping grounds, where space for an encampment of a regiment or even a larger body of men is available, and toward the center of the bowl a level parade ground will be made.

Engineers from the United States army have made a survey of the crater and have given their opinion on the arrangement. After considering this opinion United States army officers and officers of the National Guard of Hawaii laid out the plan of the grounds.

Work will now proceed at a rapid pace as the brush has been cleared away. After the next two rifle pits are finished, leveling work will begin and the camping and parade grounds will be made ready for use.

"When th' gov'ment is goin' t' build some new buildin's at a post after carefully considerin' th' matter since th' early part av eighty-nine, th' assistant scitirity av th' bureau av buildin's av th' western division considers th' estimates sint be th' min on th' groun' furst, and atter goin' over th' recommendashun fr a appropriashun av tin million dollars, he begins t' thrim it down be lavin' out such unnecessary parts as th' floor, some av th' roof, and av 'tis necessary was or two av th' sides."

"Dear sir," he writes th' man that sint in th' estimate, "atther studyin' your estimate, assisted by a experienced architect that graduated from th' Phony School av Architecture las' week atter a two months' course and was appointed t' his position here because av his vas' knowledge, an' th' fac' th' congressman from his district owes his father a bar bill av two years' standin', we have concluded ye have overestimated an' 'twill be necessary t' cut th' appropriashun, as 'tis ginrlly understood Congress will not allow anny big appropriashun this year, be reason av th' fac' they ar'e goin' t' have t' expend all th' money on han' diggin' out cricks in th' doubtful states, as 'tis near eleacshun time."

Keep Windward Walls. "It appears t' this office th' buildin's ye ar'e t' build would be jist as comfortable wit'out th' roof, an' we would suggest th' sides be left out, except on th' win'ward. Ye ar'e in a war'n climate, an' th' rain natchully can't come in from th' side th' win' is not blowin' from, which indicates ye have at least two more sides in th' buildin' than ye need."

"We would also sugges' ye try to pick up some cheaper board, th' kind ye recommen' bein' high grade lumber such as is valuable fr hen coops an' pig pens, which is now in grate demand. Ye can also do wit'out door-knobs, keyholes, hinges and doors, and possibly ye could space th' boards av th' floor. Atter figurin' on this basis

Company Judged Best Drilled to Get Silver Cup

Falling in with the movement of citizens and civic bodies on Hawaii to encourage the National Guard, the Hilo Board of Trade has offered a silver cup to the company declared to be the best drilled unit of the 2nd Regiment, the cup to become the property of the company winning it two years in succession.

Eugene N. Deyo, secretary of the board, in a letter to Col. J. D. Easton, commanding the 2nd Regiment, suggested that the commander of the regiment should set dates for the competitive drill, the first drill not to be later than March 31, 1916, and subsequent drills on which the companies are to be judged at six months' intervals.

A committee was appointed at the last meeting of the Hilo Board of Trade to select a suitable cup. Those on the committee are E. N. Holmes, D. S. Bowman and John T. Moir.

As a counter suggestion, Col. Easton wrote to the Board of Trade as follows: "Regarding the competitive drills for the cup offered by the Board of Trade for the best drilled company—I would suggest that the regular army officer detailed to inspect the regiment each year be requested to decide which is the best drilled company in the regiment. This he can do as the regulations require that he have each company drill as part of the inspection."

"The annual inspection is as a rule held during the months of February and March and other competitive drills could be held when the regiment goes into camp, which will be about six months later."

If Col. Easton's plan meets with the approval of the Board of Trade, Col. C. S. Lincoln, inspector-instructor, will be asked to judge which is the best company in the regiment.

NATION HAS ARMS FOR 250,000 MEN IN CASE OF WAR

But Gen. Crozier Says This Gives No Security; Need Munitions Plants

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Estimates were given the Senate Military Committee by Brig.-Gen. Crozier, chief of ordnance, showing that a plant costing $400,000,000, operated by a force of 750,000,000 workmen, would be required to manufacture ammunition and war materials necessary to keep an army of 1,000,000 men in the field and equip an additional million recruits.

Gen. Crozier strongly disapproved any proposal for government monopoly of the manufacture of war supplies, insisting that best results could be accomplished by relying upon private establishments to supplement the output of government plants in time of war.

Gen. Crozier amplified testimony already presented before the House committee to show the inadequacy of present reserve stores for the army.

Ordinance equipment for an army of 250,000 has been assembled, and the country is in better position in this respect than at any time since the close of the Civil War, he said, but even this gives no security, in view of the time required to produce guns and ammunition in the quantities the European war had shown to be necessary.

Only powder has been delivered to the European belligerents in any considerable quantities up to this time by American plants, Gen. Crozier explained, although orders for many kinds of weapons and ammunition were placed more than a year ago.

The largest orders, he said, were for military rifles, and while 100,000 or so old pattern weapons already had been sent abroad, none of the many hundreds of thousands of modern rifles ordered had yet been delivered. Artillery ammunition, he added, would not start abroad in bulk for some time, and the number of small caliber field batteries already delivered had not been large.

Before the military and naval committees of the House the condition of the country as to drugs which would be necessary in great quantities in war was brought out by the surgeon generals of the army and navy. Both agreed that supplies of quinine and opium might be completely shut off if the United States became involved in war, and that great stores of these drugs should be accumulated in times of peace.

Surgeon General Gorgas of the army said certain drug supplies were being obtained from Germany and Austria "sub rosa," but he did not go into details. He said the army was equipped with reserve medical stores to last a force of 250,000 men a year only.

Material enlargement of the navy's hospital facilities was urged as imperative by Surgeon General Braisted. He said an increase of about 1000 men in the hospital corps was needed, and that a new modern hospital ship and improvements in existing land hospitals should be authorized.

South of Norfolk and San Francisco, the surgeon general explained, the navy at present has virtually no hospital facilities. He said the hospital corps should be enlarged from the present 1870 men to 2700, and that 24 more surgeons were needed.

He said his estimate av tin million dollars fr buildin's is too high, and have concluded th' structures ought t' be erected fr wan hunder, ninety-eight dollars and sixty-six cents."

"Atter these han'som structures is built, th' war department sinds over twice as many min, bein' onder th' impression that a large sum of money was spent fr barracks an' more min ought t' be put in thim, an' when they ar'e full av min an' it begins t' leak on thim, th' architects at the department jist mad av money is asked fr repairs and wants t' know why th' buildin' was not made right in th' first place."

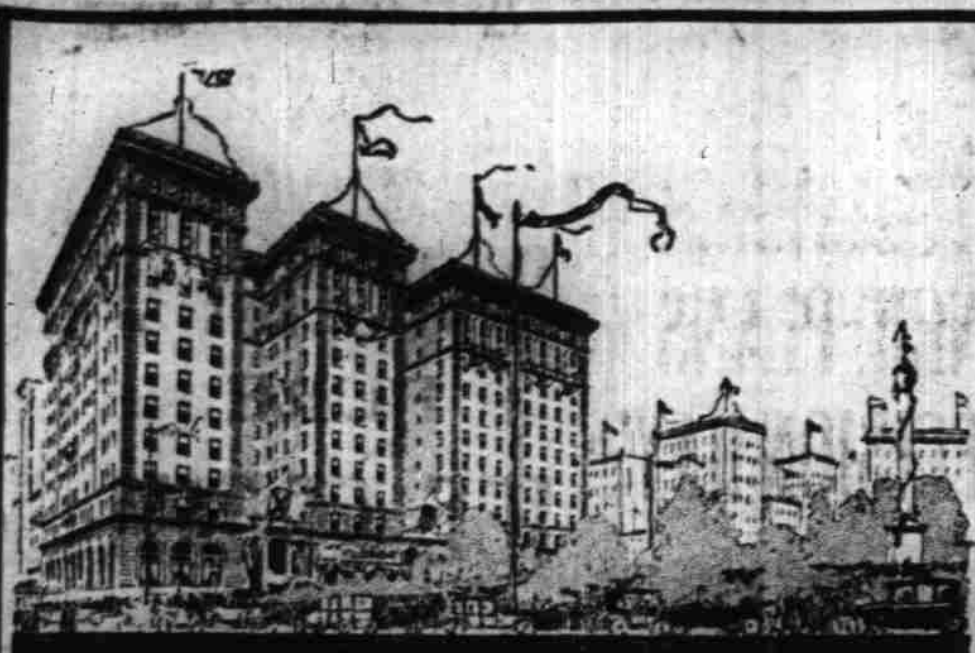

"Don't you suppose the war department would try to do something if they knew the roofs of the barracks out here were leaking and the barracks blew away when a heavy wind came up?" the Rookie inquired.

"Mos' asshuridly I do," said Kelley. "Th' war department would gladly thry to do somethin', thryin' bein' wan av its specialties."

WILSON'S ACTION ON RESIGNATIONS PLEASES SOLONS

President is Satisfied to Allow Congress to Shape Course of Defense Plans

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—An entirely new note of harmony and cooperation in the halls of Congress was struck yesterday, following the resignation of Secretary of War Garrison and Assistant Secretary Breckenridge. There seemed to have been a preconcerted agreement between the solons not to make any move so long as Mr. Garrison was in office, and Congress appears to have taken his retirement as a signal to get busy on the preparedness program.

This was most apparent at the hearings and in the committee room of the house military affairs committee, where a resolution was adopted thanking President Wilson for his evident confidence in the house and senate committees. It was this confidence, rather than in his cabinet officials, it is said, that led to Mr. Garrison's retirement.

Members of the military affairs committee were not slow to express their belief that the resignations in the cabinet were proof positive that the President's fight had been to permit Congress to solve the army and navy defense problems without any interference on his part.

"He trusted in the judgment of Congress rather than in the judgment of his cabinet advisers," is the way a member of the house committee put it last night.

This attitude on the part of the President is regarded as the most significant, because of his own well known preference for some of the plans for national defense which have been under consideration.

CANADA AND U. S. TO WATCH BORDER FOR PLOTTERS

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] OTTAWA, Canada, February 12.—It was officially announced in parliament, yesterday that the administration at Washington has communicated with the Canadian government making assurances that the United States shall not be made a base of German operations against Canada in future. It was also stated that all strategic points have been guarded by both governments, and that conspirators will be arrested wherever found.

BRITISH ADMIRALTY DENIES WARSHIPS SUNK BY ZEPPELIN BOMBS

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] LONDON, Eng., Feb. 12.—The Russian navy has been busy with the property of the Turks along the shores of the Black Sea. Reports from Petrograd yesterday confirmed earlier despatches to the effect that the Black Sea fleet of the czar had bombarded several Turkish positions along the coast.

The British expedition on the left bank of the Tigris river is said, in despatches from Constantinople, to have been defeated in an attempted advance toward Kut-el-Amara.

The admiralty last night issued a formal denial of the statement coming from Berlin the other day that during the last Zeppelin raid on England the bombs dropped by the airship had destroyed a British cruiser of the Caroline class, and a couple of torpedo-boat destroyers. An official denial is also given to the Teutonic claim that a British cruiser was torpedoed off the Dogger Bank in the North Sea.

Commenting upon the last German frightfulness pronouncement, declaring that in future German submarines will treat British merchantmen found armed exactly as if they were warships, British papers characterize the memorandum as another instance of the "piracy" indulged in by the German admiralty. Some of them, however, are inclined to regard the document as a "huge bluff."

POWDER EXPLOSION WRECKS BUILDING; TWO MEN INJURED

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] NEWCASTLE, Del., Feb. 12.—Five hundred pounds of giant powder exploded at the projectile plant of the Bethlehem Iron Works near here last night. The building was wrecked and two of the workmen severely injured. No clue to the cause of the explosion has been discovered as yet, although the authorities are said to be working upon a theory which they decline to divulge.

MINE EXPLOSION KILLS ONE, AND TRAPS SCORE

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] ERNEST, Pa., Feb. 12.—An explosion of back damp in the mine of the Jefferson Clearfield Company, near here last night, resulted in the killing of one miner, the injury of three others, and the entombing of nearly a score of workers. Hundreds of volunteers have been rushed to the pit mouth and are at work in the mine under the leadership of government mine experts, attempting to rescue the entombed miners.

They have been ordered to appear Monday.

'FRISCO TONGS HAVE GUNFIGHT IN PLAYHOUSE

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., February 12.—A tong war broke out last night in the local Chinatown, and claimed for its first victims, two Chinese and two whites. The whites are not seriously injured, but one of the Chinese, it is believed will die.

The fighting started when members of the Suey Ong tong took the seats in the local Chinese theater apportioned to the members of the Suey Sing tong, after a spirited fight. The Suey Sing men left the playhouse but returned with augmented numbers and with revolvers. They opened fire on the Suey Ongs, as the latter were leaving the theater.

The police reserves were rushed to Chinatown, and it is believed succeeded, temporarily at least, in suppressing the outbreak. Reserves from the central station are patrolling the district.

There's more money in chickens

when they are properly fed and cared for from the very beginning than when they are left for the most part to "raise themselves" until they are old enough for fattening for market or to begin laying.

Baby Chick Food

insures the proper start if fed according to directions which are very simple. It contains the elements in such proportions as to make a perfectly balanced ration for the young chick.

CONGREGATION FOR CHILDREN IS ORGANIZED

New Feature in Work of Local Christian Church Promises to Be Successful

David Cary Peters, pastor of the Christian church, is sending out the following notice to parents of children under 16 years of age:

"The Christian church, recognizing the difficulty of making a church service suitable to adults and also interesting to children, and also realizing the need of the children and the desire of parents for a church service adapted to children—has organized a junior congregation.

"This service for the children will be held simultaneously with the morning service in the church at 11 o'clock, but in another part of the building, under the leadership of a corps of trained and efficient junior workers. It will consist of three periods, affording sufficient variety to prevent tiring the smaller children. The first period will be a stated church service with songs the children love and can sing, and a communion service for those who are members of the church.

"The communion will be administered by one of the elders of the church. The second period will be one for definite religious instruction, followed by a junior Christian Endeavor period in which the children will be taught the use of the things they have learned. Kindergarten methods will be used for the smaller children.

"The aim is twofold. First, to furnish a church service so adapted that the children can find pleasurable interest in it, and to avoid the danger of them growing up with an antipathy to the church because it was not interesting to them in their younger years. Second, to afford parents the privilege of a church service for themselves uninterrupted by the necessity of giving attention to restless little children.

"There will be a nursery for the children too small to take part in the junior service. Mothers can bring their little ones to church with them, place them in the care of the nurse and go into the adult service with the assurance that each child will be carefully attended to, and that the mother will be called if she is needed.

"This new phase of church activity is being opened under the auspices of the Women's Christian Missionary Society of the church."

The Chinese class is taking a course in household management, and this evening Mrs. C. B. Gage will give a talk on how to serve a meal. At the conclusion of the lesson the girls will serve tea. Miss Leonora Andersen, physical director, is conducting a private gymnasium class for teachers and other women and girls interested. A course in citizenship for women is being given in connection with the class. Mrs. L. L. The Girls' Guardian Society, for Chinese girls, from 10 to 16 years of age, has been organized with Miss Mae Fraser in charge. They will study the lives and work of Frances Willard, Jane Addams and other noted women; will learn the meaning of the national hymn and the history of the American flag. Two of the regular girls' clubs have decided to take up Bible study. One of these is the Tee Mui, or sisterhood, club composed of Chinese girls from 16 to 25 years of age. The girls now are studying "Lives Worth Living," which deals with the histories of women of both Biblical and modern fame. There is now in process of organization a club for Japanese girls who

On January 17, representatives of the various dry interests in Michigan met in the Y. M. C. A. rooms in Lansing and formally organized for the dry statewide campaign in this state. Many of the foremost businessmen of the state were present and took a leading part in the plans to free Michigan from the burden of the saloon oligarchy. The campaign committee was headed by Hon. R. H. Scott, one of Michigan's leading manufacturers, as chairman, and Major A. P. Loomis as secretary. Despite very strenuous opposition on the part of the liquor interests, Congress, it is ascertained, is almost certain to appropriate $150,000 for the purpose of the suppression of the liquor traffic in the Indian country of the United States during the ensuing year.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PAST

CHAPTER XXI.

Grape Juice.
Of course the unexpected naval-service raid on the Crooked Crag hotel created some sensation—as well as did the rescue of two beautiful young women, Miss Irene Courtier and her friend, Miss Ilington. But Newport is a place of many happenings—sensational and otherwise—and after all the Crooked Crag had been raided many times before.
In its halcyon days it had been cleverly constructed and maintained as a secluded gambling place for New York millionaires, a place full of cubby holes and uncanny get-aways. For the 13th time in its history it was closed up and its proprietor jailed.
But the three weird characters who had been the cause of all the violence still remained in hiding—Hernandez, the Portuguese adventurer; Ponto, his Mexican side partner, and their strange and unusual companion, the brute.
Annette, for her part, gave full descriptions of these three to the authorities and accompanied secret service men on many fruitless trips.
"Any rate," she said to her friend, Irene Courtier, "I know now where I stand. I was warned to look out for a man with a saber cut across his face." Her face grew wistful. "I thought—feared," she went on, "at first, that that man might be my father; but my father would never treat a girl as this scar-face treated me."
Annette touched her neck. A tiny little gold chain fell into the bosom of her waist.
"Has he laid bare his teeth, this scar-face," said Annette. "He knows something of my father—I'm sure of it."

CHAPTER XXII.

Incognito.

In a dingy little hotel room in Providence, Rhode Island, there sat a man at a dressing table gazing into a mirror and doing unusually queer things with his face. Hernandez was past-master at a certain art—disguise.
Ten minutes later a stranger stood erect within that room—a full-bearded stranger, clad in an evening coat of foreign cut, with well padded pounce and shoulders, eyeing himself still critically in the looking glass. He raised his high hat and bowed pompously to Ponto.
"Really, friend Ponto," he remarked, "I am M. Romanoff—a Russian nobleman."
"My friends and I are invited to the dance on board the Alabama," he said. "My friends and I shall go. Call in that beast. Now for the final test."
Ponto disappeared and a moment later the brute crept into the room. He glanced fearfully toward the chair where Hernandez had been sitting; then he glanced about the room. A puzzled expression overspread his countenance and then with a deep guttural cry he sprang for the apparition's throat.
Hernandez twitched himself to one side just in time and then tapped the brute smartly on the arm.
"I am satisfied," he said, in tones that the brute immediately recognized. "Even he did not know me—he, with all the instincts of a savage but faithful dog. Let us be off."
An hour later he was standing expectantly in front of the huge punch bowl on the dancing deck of the Alabama. Clustered around this punch bowl were a group of officers and pretty women—and among them Inez Castro and her friend, Annette Ilington.
Romanoff stared boldly at them both, then he turned to Neal Hardin.
"A glass of punch, if you please," he said in foreign accents.
Neal Hardin did not answer. He was otherwise engaged. Annette Ilington was standing at the table with a young ensign at her side. They were both drinking from the punch bowl. The ensign drank with his right hand; so did Annette, but Annette's left hand was firmly clutched in the hand of Neal Hardin of the punch bowl. It was the only chance the evening could afford them.
"Easy," he exclaimed, as he walked away in disgust.
There was a gentle titter from the picturesque little group around the punch bowl. Inez touched Romanoff upon the arm.
"Is it perfect," she whispered, "no one could ever tell."

The pseudo Romanoff glanced at her significantly, paced across the dancing deck and passed over the moonlit deck beyond. Inez, flirting with an officer, excused herself, beckoned to Joe Welcher, who came swiftly at her beck and call, and with her hand upon his arm she followed in the wake of Romanoff. As they reached the low Romanoff turned suddenly and confronted them. He seized Welcher by the arm.
"Friend Welcher," he said, his grip tightening, "on the canvas curtains aft, on the port side, you will find one black cross mark upon the curtain and one black cross mark upon the deck. They are my marks. You will dance with Annette Ilington—"

Welcher hurried off and Romanoff with the beautiful Miss Irene Courtier upon his arm, strode slowly toward the lights.
With her escort she stood glancing out between the curtains at the moonlight upon the sea. Her escort, however, was not watching the moonlight—his eyes were fixed upon a motor boat that sported itself like some huge shark in the waters just beyond. He drew forth a white handkerchief. He stepped into the aperture between the canvas curtains, grasped the rail with one hand and shook the handkerchief.
Inez noted that a small black cross had been placed upon the canvas curtain. She looked at her feet. There was another cross upon the deck. Then she turned and faced the crowd watching with keen eyes.
Joe Welcher from far across the deck caught the glint of those same eyes—he had been watching for them. He bent over Annette.
"Look at the freak," he said, "that's tied up to Inez—I mean Irene Courtier. I always call her Inez somehow. Let's go and see the freak."
"The freak," said Annette, "has disappeared."
She was not the only person on the deck who noticed that. Some half dozen naval officers in spick and span uniforms noted it also and started double quick toward Inez Castro. Half way they stopped, for her escort chamois bag and took from it a very damp old piece of paper parchment.

"This is what he was after—you can't tell me," she said. She spread it out and exhibited it to Inez Castro.
"Who? It is a blank piece of paper," said Inez Castro.
"Look at it closely," said Annette.
"Oh, yes," said Inez. "It has one word upon it—longitude."
"It has more than that upon it," said Annette. "Watch and see."
She spread it out upon the hearth to dry. "It is a piece of the map—of my map, Irene," she went on, "the map of the lost Isle of Cinnabar. Scar-face got a portion of it—don't you remember, at Crooked Crag—but a harmless portion. I got a part and so did Neal. Wait. Look. The piece is dry—see what the heat has done."
Inez Castro bent over her. "Where did the writing come from?" she demanded.
"The heat brought the writing out," said Annette. "See. Look now at the longitude. What does it say?"
Inez looked eagerly. "One hundred and twenty-three degrees," she exclaimed slowly, "and 40 minutes west."
"That isn't all," went on Annette. "There's a message—a message from the past upon our pieces, Neal's and mine—a message that I've got by heart."
"Wait," queried Inez, yawning, "is the message from the past?"
Annette nodded proudly. "This is the message," she returned. "Granted to Ilington, Spanish-American explorer, for distinguished services, by Joseph Bonaparte, king of Spain, in the year 1809, the original grant, being in the possession of the fathers—"

She stopped. "What was the rest of that?" she mused. "I can't remember."
"Think," persisted Inez, with curious insistence.
Annette laughed. "It has escaped me. I will have to ask Neal about that the next time I see him."
CHAPTER XXIV.
The Trickle of White Powder.
Hernandez motioned toward the door. Ponto, the Mexican, closed it noiselessly and swiftly and shot the bolt. "You understand the terms," Hernandez said. "This stuff has just come in to us tonight. We have it loaded in our launch outside."
"You understand then," said Hernandez, "that when this cargo of cocaine is sold, your share will be many hundred dollars—a thousand—over a thousand."
Two mornings later, a sailor lying in his bunk against a bulkhead in the hold—kept awake by his battered face a gift from Bill. On this particular morning, however, the unusual thing that attracted his attention was a quantity of fine white powder that sifted through the knot hole.
"Holy smoke," he exclaimed joyfully within himself, "this ain't no fat thing, ain't it? This here's cocaine."
By noon the whole forecastle knew about the rat hole and what is more had sampled it—or rather the strange white powder that came trickling through.
Next day something happened. Bill, the mate, gave Snooks an order that Snooks declined to fill. Bill was accustomed to being disobeyed, and for every ill he had a remedy. He seized a capstan bar and aimed it at Snooks' head; but there was a glitter in Snooks' eye that Bill did not understand. Snooks leaped for him and sea-turned east and strode on rapidly for a quarter of a mile. He darted into a narrow alleyway, reached a dimly lighted window in an old board house on the shore and rapped sharply on the window pane. A door was opened stealthily and he shambled in.

Huddled at tables and flung carelessly in corners were the forms of sailors, supine, drunk, drugged. Bill took an electric flash light from his pocket and examined carefully each of these slumbering objects of humanity.
"I'll take him," said Bill, "and him there with the broken face; and him—and that chap over there."
Ten minutes later he nodded in a self-satisfied way and jerked his thumb over his shoulder toward another door.
"Is he inside?" he queried.
"O'h," said the proprietor, "the three of 'em is there."
There were three men in that small room, a strangely assorted trio. One was a huge individual, bigger and stronger than Bill himself; another was an uncanny, fat, little Mexican with dangerous eyes; the third was a Portuguese with a saber cut across his face.
Bill grinned. "Huh," he said, "we're all here, mates. Outside I picked up enough men to fill up the Coronado's crew and here I run against three of her passengers."
Hernandez smiled and showed his teeth. "Three unbooked passengers," he said.

The Trickle of White Powder.

By noon the whole forecastle knew about the rat hole and what is more had sampled it—or rather the strange white powder that came trickling through.
Next day something happened. Bill, the mate, gave Snooks an order that Snooks declined to fill. Bill was accustomed to being disobeyed, and for every ill he had a remedy. He seized a capstan bar and aimed it at Snooks' head; but there was a glitter in Snooks' eye that Bill did not understand. Snooks leaped for him and seawrestled with him like a wildcat. He forced Bill, panting, up against the rail, bellowing meanwhile like a mad bull. Bill felt for a belaying pin, found it, clutched it, raised it high in the air and brought it crashing down upon Snooks' shoulder. It broke a collarbone, but it might have been a feather for all Snooks cared.

"Damn," cried Snooks, "you ain't going to see me faked. Come one and all."
They came. Some sprang down from the shrouds; some appeared from companionways; some came hurrying along the decks. They were men battered and broken—but all had one uncanny characteristic—their eyes glittered, glittered fearfully and fearlessly.
Bill sprang away from the clutching grasp of Snooks and drew his gun.
"Captain Peter Handy," he roared, "Mutiny!"
And mutiny there was—a mutiny based not so much upon the ill treatment of Bill, the mate, as upon the effect of the trickling white powder.
The captain responded to the call; so did one or two others of the un-drugged crew.
The four booked passengers heard the riot—it could have been heard half a mile away. They rushed on deck and watched. Annette, who had inherited quickness of mind, saw what was happening and turned to Mrs. Hardin.
"Captain Peter Handy," she said, "go into the wireless room. Let us all go—even Joe."

Just as she said it a mutineer rushed past her, stopped, leered into her face and grasped her by the hand. With a sudden wrench he closed the door of the wireless, shutting the three people inside—Welcher and the two other women—and then with a glare into Annette's eyes, he drew her toward him and crushed her struggling form against his breast.
Below there were other passengers who watched the fight—Hernandez and his two companions. The brute watched stupidly—Ponto and Hernandez with polite interest. But suddenly the brute looked up toward the deck. He growled deep in his throat.
"Hold him," said Hernandez to Ponto.
But it was too late. With one bound the brute dashed up the companionway and reached the deck. With another bound he was upon the sailor who had caught Annette. In an instant Annette found herself released, hardly knowing how it had happened.
She wrenched open the wireless door, sprang in, slammed it shut and shot the bolt.
"Where is the operator?" she inquired.
There was no answer. The operator was not here.
Annette seized the wireless apparatus, donned the headgear and sent out the S. O. S.—that long wall of terror that is heard far out across the stand. Snooks leaped for him and sea-

On the deck of the destroyer Jackson, a naval vessel which had left Newport a day or two before on a practice cruise, the wireless operator reported to his lieutenant. He saluted.
"Sir," he said, "I have an S. O. S. from a steamer Coronado, five miles south. Mutiny on board."
A seaman standing near started forward. "Godfrey," he exclaimed under his breath, "the Coronado—Annette's ship."
The lieutenant gave an order. "Put her about," he said. "Forced draft ahead."
When the destroyer reached the Coronado, the Coronado was in dire straits. The mutineers, maddened and emboldened, and strengthened with renewed doses of the white powder, were in possession of the ship. The mate and Capt. Peter Handy lay unconscious on the deck. Every sailor had a bottle in his hand—a bottle full of strong drink.
In less than a quarter of an hour the Jackson was upon them—she had hauled a boat and her boat had reached the Coronado's side. With the agility of perfect training the Jackson's men swarmed over the rail, boarded the Coronado and without an instant's hesitation attacked the mutineers, their lieutenant at their head. Neal drew a deep breath and nudged the man next to him.
"This is war," he said, "it is what we're looking for. Come on."
There was a fight—no arms-length fight at that. It was man to man. It was a melee—it was a riot—it was pandemonium. In the midst of it there was a resounding crack. Neal's lieutenant, off his guard for once, received a well-aimed blow upon his head—a blow from a capstan bar. He fell like a log and three brutes leaped for his head—seeking to batter him into a shapeless mass.
Neal saw his peril and sprang into the midst. Never in his life had he fought as then he fought.

The blood rushed into his brain; unwonted strength flowed into his chest; his eyes were everywhere—his voice strong and fearless.
There was a mighty superhuman rush, a ringing shout—then it was all over. The mutiny was quelled. Neal leaped upon a bridge and waved a cutlass. He said the first thing that occurred to him—the thing he felt he had to say.
"I am in command," he shouted. "The first man who disobeys me will be shot."
There was a clutch upon his arm. He looked down. He found that his right arm was bleeding from a cut, but he found something else. A small hand was grasping it quite tenderly. He turned. Annette laughed hysterically.
"Whatever about any woman who disobeys?" she said.

that—and I'm sure of something else. He is seeking my lost Isle of Cinnabar—he wants it for his own. Well, I, too, can bare my teeth. Let him come on."
"You are so strong," murmured Irene Courtier, "so strong."
A Japanese servant stole into the room—the living room at Miss Courtier's summer villa at Newport. She had rented this villa for the season and had paid one month's rent—no more. She had paid the Japanese but one month's wages—no more. The Japanese presented a note upon a salver. Inez Castro glanced at it and waved her hand. Mrs. Hardin was just entering from the veranda.
"Is it for you, grandam," said Inez, "and from some old sweetheart, eh?" Mrs. Hardin opened the missive—her eyes brightened.
"It's from our congressman at Seaport," she exclaimed.

Annette bent out the "S. O. S."
M. Romanoff, had reappeared. He smiled as Joe came up with Annette and waved his hand.
"I've been looking at the moon," he said.
Annette, already bored—chiefly by the close proximity of Joe Welcher—glanced off toward Neal.
"Let's go and get some grape juice," she said.
Joe drew her out to the railing through the same aperture from which Romanoff had watched the circling motor boat.
"I'll get the grape juice," said Joe aloud. "Wait here until I return."
Annette started after him, but the aperture was closed now by the broad back of Romanoff, who talked vivaciously with Irene Courtier. Annette was not averse to looking at the moon, and she looked. But—all she saw was the moon itself. She did not see and could not know that a motor launch, silent as the night, had fetched up alongside of the anchor chain. She did not know and could not see a black shadow that stole along the railing behind the canvas curtains that hid the dancing deck.
Suddenly she gave a choking cry. The black shadow like some black panther had sprung upon her from the night and clutched her in its grasp. She cried out once more, or tried to. She found she could not. A strong wiry hand closed across her mouth and a wiry form forced her back across the rail.
With a superhuman twist of her lithe young body—and she was strong, was Annette Ilington—for one instant she wrenched herself away and gave vent to a piercing scream. Neal Hardin at the punch bowl heard it. Forgetting all discipline—and all grape juice—he bounded across the dancing deck and with one sweep of his arm brushed the nonplussed Romanoff and his charming escort to one side. His eyes were blinded by the deck lights and as he rushed through the curtains he could only see that some terrific struggle was at hand.
In another instant it was all over. Two figures clutched at each other frantically darted suddenly over the rail. There was a splash below.
"Man overboard," yelled Neal.
He sprang to the rail and dove into the moonlit water—taking good care not to foul the other two.
Two minutes later it was all over. Annette was on deck half fainting in Neal's arm—but with a smile upon her face.
"Don't worry," she said to the crowd about her. "I haven't swallowed a drop of water, I assure you. I'm a regular little water rat—Neal knows that, don't you Neal?"
Half an hour later in the Courtier villa in Newport, Annette nestled in a huge arm chair in a kimono before a blazing fire. She laughed triumphantly. She seized a dripping little

WOMEN

SOME bachelors persist in the belief that women, with their marvelous attention to detail, their infinite capacity for taking pains—which Dr. Johnson thought the final and authentic mark of genius—are of inconstant mind. But once he is a husband, the one-time bachelor wakes up to the fact that woman, at least as typified by his wife, knows how to "stay put." Sometimes, indeed, he so far changes the state of mind of his bachelorhood that he thinks it her fault that she does not know when to cease "staying put."

The husband, having taken his wife's latitude and longitude upon a particular day, is astonished to find that she has not varied a second north, south, east or west, a week or a month later. She is always, so to speak, Johanna on the spot. It takes him sometimes half of his married life to get accustomed to her static habits. Naturally, since as a bachelor he conceived of a woman as a butterfly, and she has turned out to be a monolith, he finds it difficult to readjust his thoughts and habits to this surprising discovery. Sir Walter Scott had known hundreds of Scotch women, among the most vigorous, stable and conservative of their sex, yet with masculine blindness he wrote:

"O woman! In our hours of ease Uncertain, coy and hard to please." Good Sir Walter made characteristic amends for this sentiment in the next couplet, but Byron, who died full of accomplishment at about the age when Scott began to publish original verse, showed a far deeper knowledge of women when he said: "Man's love is of man's life a thing apart, 'Tis woman's whole existence."

Perhaps bachelors and husbands can find some common ground for their apparently contradictory opinions of woman in the fact that she is half constant and half inconstant, steadfast in matters which her heart dictates, and inconstant where her mind, or logic alone, is appealed to. The women of the South were reproached with Bourbonism because, longer than the men, they remembered with bitterness the wounds of the Civil War—but their injuries had been personal as well as political, and they were therefore constant to the last cause.

All history is thickly written with tales of the loyalty of women to such causes, their readiness to give all for a lost king or a lost country, long after the men have accustomed themselves to the idea of the new regime. Human history would seem dead enough but for the inextinguishable light of woman's devotion to persons and ideals that have stirred their affections, and, thanks to this high and persistent loyalty of women, history is never long without the flavor of such romance.

But for the constancy of woman to social ideals the men would let the social world fall into slovenly disorder, doubtless pervaded by a mingled odor of stale tobacco and recently consumed spirits. No matter what satirical opinions bachelors may hold, husbands know that they have placed the women in the social trenches because their constancy could be depended upon to hold the fort. The social world is woman's place of business, her forum, her senate, her stock exchange. Can man point to institutions of his own making that have half the stability and unchangeableness of the social system? To uphold the social system women submit to uncounted tests of their constancy. They endure physical discomfort, ennui, the peril of cold drafts and damp places, hours of weariness, and moments of acute annoyance for the sake of it, to a man, is an unimportant social matter. And even though at times she feels that it would matter little if the whole social scheme of things should perish—and that if need be—rather than requires so much of her, she stands in her colors. In the face of triumph over such anarchic moments, dare even an untired bachelor prate of the inconstancy of woman?

Justice and Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson's Dinner. Chief Justice and Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson entertained at dinner on Wednesday evening of this week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chillingworth and Mr. Cornell Franklin. The table was aglow with the charming Hawaiian rose. After dinner an hour at Heine's was the pleasure of the Robertsons' guests.

Mrs. Gerrit Wilder's At Home. The first Monday of this month was Mrs. Gerrit Wilder's day at home. She invited Miss Kimball to assist her in the reception of her friends, of whom about 30 called during the afternoon. The house and lanai were made beautiful, for they were generously decorated with the hibiscus with which Mr. Wilder has made Hawaii famous, dozens of beautiful blossoms being arranged so gracefully as to make them conspicuous. The interior of the home was done in pale pink roses. Among those who called on Mrs. Wilder and Miss Kimball were Mrs. Walter Dillingham, Mrs.

Mrs. S. W. Ehrman, prominent society woman of San Francisco, who has just concluded a visit to Honolulu, where she was extensively entertained.—Perkins Photo.

Ehrman, who left on the Wednesday steamer, and whose picture appears in this issue, was the center of entertainment from the hour she arrived in Honolulu until the morning she left, being invited into the mysteries of a poi luncheon on Saturday last. She was a "good sport" and tried everything at a feat. The sea-bathing at Waikiki, she thought most enchanting; sun-riding was another of our island pleasures that she thoroughly enjoyed. The volcano came in for the greatest of her admiration. Having seen the different active craters in the world, naturally she is a fair judge, and Halemaunau is the finest it has been Mrs. Ehrman's pleasure to see.

"No matter how it may rain, or the mosquitoes may sting," she commented, "Honolulu is the most heavenly place in the world, with its wonderful tropical foliage, its majestic coconut trees and the great splashes of Oriental interests—it is all too wonderful, and we are coming again, be assured." Mrs. Ehrman is a woman of very striking personality and magnetism, with a wonderfully crowned head of beautiful hair. Mr. and Mrs. Ehrman will always be great boosters for Hawaii.

Mrs. Reynold Brodie McGrew's Tea.

Mrs. Paul Withington was the honored guest of her sister, Mrs. Reynold Brodie McGrew, at a tea given on Friday afternoon. About 125 friends were asked to come and do honor to this daughter of Hawaii. The house was abloom with beautiful pink roses, pink begonias, pink hibiscus and lacy maidenhair fern. Friends sent such masses of bloom that every nook and corner in the reception room was a garden bower. Mrs. McGrew was assisted in decorating by Mrs. Petrie, Miss Myrtle Schuman and Miss Gertrude Benz. Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper poured coffee. Mrs. Myrtle Schuman and Miss Geraldine Berg served punch. It was indeed a delightful afternoon. The pretty gowns of the guests, the dainty blossoms and the coolness of greenery and the whole house, all were truly beautiful and very thoroughly enjoyable. Mrs. McGrew is such a natural and charming hostess that her guests leave very reluctantly.

SOCIETY

Footlights Evening at the University Club.

An innovation in the entertainment of the University Club and its members is taking the form tonight of tableaux and a dance afterwards. The tableaux are arranged from the verses of the "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam." It has all been done under the direct supervision of Mrs. F. T. P. Waterhouse, with assistance from Mr. William Lewers. It is going to be truly lovely.

Mrs. Bruce Cartwright has the tableau after—
"Yon rising Moon that looks for us again
How oft hereafter will she wax and wane
How oft hereafter rising look for us
Through this same garden—and for one in vain!
"And when like her, O Saki, you shall pass
Among the Guests star-scattered on the grass
And in your joyous errand reach
Where I made One—turn down an empty Glass!"

Those in Mrs. Cartwright's tableau are Mrs. William Lymer, Miss Edith Williams, Miss Laura Low, Miss Marjorie Chapin, Miss Abbie Buchanan, Mr. Watson Baleatyne, Mr. Vivian Dyer, Mr. Fred Ohrt and Mr. Robert Purvis. The next tableau is that of Mrs. C. B. High and Mrs. Frank Armstrong, and the verse is:

"A book of verses underneath the Bough,
A Jug of Wine, a Loaf of Bread—and Thou

Beside me singing in the Wilderness—
Oh, Wilderness were Paradise enow!"

Mrs. Ingram Stalnach and Mr. Bob Purvis represent this tableau. Miss Louise Churchill is going to sing selections from "The Persian Garden."

The third tableau is being done by Mrs. E. D. Kilbourne and Mrs. Francis R. Day, the verse to be represented is that of the Potter and the Potter's Wheel.

Mr. Percy Deverill is the Potter and the boy is Alexander Perkins.

His music is to be a "cello solo by Mr. Demetrio of the De Folco opera company, and the verse is:

"For I remember stopping by the way
To watch a Potter thumping his wet clay
And with its all-obiterated Tongue
It murmured—'Gently, Brother, gently, pray!"

The next tableau is the one of which Miss Marian Dean has charge. The verse is—

"Look to the blowing-Rose about us,
'Lo,
'Laughing,' she says, 'into the world I blow.
At once the silken tassel of my Purse,
'Tear, and its Treasure on the Garden throw."

The tableaux to be a court scene with a central fountain and a high wall for a background. Miss Rhoda Ballentyne is the figure in the tableau and is reclining near the fountain. Too much cannot be said in praise of Mrs. Waterhouse for her untiring work to insure that the tableaux will be the success she hopes for. A large company is expected to view the unusual performance.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson's Dinner.

On Tuesday evening of this week Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson entertained at one of the handsomest dinners given this winter. The table was covered with a handsome pina cloth over old gold with an elegant gold runner across the center. The central ornament was a fine old silver bowl of wonderful workmanship. It held an old fashioned conventional bouquet, the top of which was American Beauty roses for several rows down, when a row of violets completed this beautiful piece. It had the old fashioned lace to finish and was altogether charming. Candle shades were in the American Beauty colors and were exquisite. The women's corsage bouquets consisted of one glorious American Beauty with a circle of fragrant violets. The men's boutonnières were of violets. The dining room was hung with cool feathery baskets of mountain fern. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Burnham of Martinez, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Miss Dorothy Luckenbach, Mrs. Alice Schultz, Mr. Frederick Wichman and Mr. Alan Lowrey.

Miss Louise Churchill, Honolulu girl who possesses a promising soprano voice. She is to be a soloist at the University Club tableaux.

Miss Beatrice Castle's Dance.

Miss Beatrice Castle was the honor guest last night at one of the delectable dances given this winter. Miss Beatrice Castle asked about 140 friends to come and meet Miss Eleanor Castle, who is here with her mother, Mrs. Mabel Wing Castle, for a visit, and to be here during Carnival week.

The Country Club was very beautifully decorated with feathery bamboo from Nihoko; the pillars and door-casings were outlined, and the mustle room was banked with this same woody bamboo. Several graceful vases contained blazing red gladiolas and against the soft green of the bamboo it was especially pretty. The dancing room was hung entirely with baskets of glorious maidenhair fern from the Castle fernery. Quantities of beautiful flowers, the gifts of friends, lent their beauty to the setting. Miss Castle's parties are always looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure. She is untiring in looking after the comfort of her guests and each feels the personal thought and kindness of this charming hostess. Several matrons assisted in the reception of her friends.

Among some of especially noticed gowns at Miss Castle's dance were: The gown worn by Miss Eleanor Castle was a wonderful flame color of chiffon and net, with gold slippers and hosiery to match. Miss Beatrice Castle was especially attractive in a flame-colored velvet with basque effect in the waist and a handsome full white skirt in net. Miss White was very sweet in pale green and white, and Miss Mary White was attractive in white and silver. Miss Mead was very sweet in a dark green chiffon, with golden wing effects. Mrs. Harold Castle was considered one of the handsomest women at the party; looked like an exquisite picture from Vogue. Her gown was of white chiffon and the skirt was very full, short and fluffy with a very smart high waist. About the hips of the skirt was a hoop which was very fascinating.

Miss Ruth Soper was very sweet and girlish in a modish yellow taffeta. Miss Jessie Kennedy was very striking in a purple chiffon with violets, her complexion showing its purity against the purple of her gown.

Miss Myrtle Schuman looked very attractive in a turquoise blue, accordion-plated, high-waisted dress. Mrs. William Whitney was charmingly gowned in a perfect shade of pink taffeta.

Miss Betty Case was very attractive in black.

Miss Clare Goodlove was modishly attired in one of the new shades of green.

Miss Alice Cooke was dainty in white, as was Miss Nora Sturgeon.

Miss Mary Lucas' gown was of white net made a la mode.

Mrs. William R. Castle, the mother of the hostess, looked as if she stepped from a dainty miniature.

Mrs. Albert Horner's Luncheon.

Mrs. Albert Horner entertained at luncheon on Thursday of this week, complimentary to Mrs. Dora Ahlborn, who is a short time home from the mainland. The table center was adorned with a basket of spring blossoms. Mrs. Horner's guests were Mrs. Dora Ahlborn, the honor guest, Mrs. Arthur Rice, Mrs. James McCandless, Mrs. James D. Dougherty, Mrs. Bertram von Damm, Mrs. George Collins, Mrs. C. M. V. Forster and Mrs. Arthur Wall.

Judge Lymer's Dinner.

Judge W. E. Lymer is dinner host at the University Club on this evening. Mrs. Lymer is in one of the tableaux that is to be presented.

His dinner guests are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Olson, Lieut. and Mrs. Holliday, Brig.-gen. and Mrs. Samuel I. Joanson, N. G. H., Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Helen Durbin, Mr. Corneil Franklin and Mr. Harry Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cartwright's Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., are entertaining tonight complimentary to the members of the tableaux that Mrs. Cartwright has arranged to be presented this evening at the University Club. No one in Honolulu has greater ability than Mrs. Cartwright at this sort of thing. She is such a clever woman and her advice is always greatly sought.

Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright's guests are Mrs. William B. Lymer, Miss Edith Williams, Miss Laura Low, Miss Marjorie Chapin, Miss Abbie Buchanan, Mr. Bob Purvis, Mr. Watson Ballentyne, Mr. Vivian Dyer and Mr. Fred Ohrt. After the dinner the guests will motor to the clubhouse to take part in the tableaux from Omar Khayyam.

Many of the army folk have accepted the invitation of town friends to come in and spend Carnival week in town. The officers will be here with their companies, so Honolulu promises to be very gay.

The posters that are being displayed about town depicting the different scenes from the Peacock Ballet are beautiful and most artistic, showing how very clever Mrs. Arthur Macintosh is, as they are all from her brush.

The ladies of the Outdoor Circle ask every woman in Honolulu who owns a double pink hibiscus bush to kindly donate the blossoms for the decoration of an Outdoor Circle car. A phone message to Mrs. W. L. Moore or to Mrs. A. E. Murphy will give any information desired.

Mrs. William Alanson Bryan will issue cards shortly for a large tea in honor of three eastern friends who are spending some time in Honolulu: Mrs. George A. Plimpton of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Isaac Richardson and Mrs. W. D. Richardson of Davenport, Iowa. The affair will take place Friday, February 18, at 4 o'clock at Mrs. Bryan's home on Punahou street.

Miss Muriel Tilden, who was one of the most graceful dancers in the Peacock ballet, left in the Matsonia. It was such a pity as she is a beautiful dancer. She was the house-guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Fred Bush and they had to leave hurriedly on business and Miss Tilden decided to go with them. Her place has been taken by another young woman.

Wednesday noon of Carnival week, February 23, the Ad Club will hold its weekly luncheon at the Hawaiian village Iulu headquarters. The program will be appropriate to Berger Day.

Captain Berger, the old standby of so many Carnivals, will be on hand, and the usual informal Ad Club program will be shaped to give timely recognition to Capt. Berger. Mayor Lane will be asked to allow the Hawaiian band to be there, and it should be a real nice Ad Club time. It will also be Ladies' Day.

FT. SHAFTER SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

PORT SHAFTER, Feb. 12.—Fort Shafter was quite gay this week, several dinners, card parties and a hop ending a week of gaiety at the post.

One of the largest as well as one of the most enjoyable affairs of the past week was the bridge-tee at which Mrs. Charles S. Lincoln entertained on Thursday afternoon in Manoa valley. The house was most artistically decorated with pink hibiscus, begonia and bowls of violets. In the dining-room Mrs. Lincoln used violet and pink for her color scheme for in the center of the table was placed a large basket of begonias and violets, while from the electrolite hung streamers of pink and lavender tulle which were caught at the four corners of the table by bunches of violets, the whole effect most artistic and dainty. Mrs. B. W. Atkinson and Mrs. William R. Dashiell, Mrs. M. J. Lenihan, Miss Dorothy Harker and Miss Catherine Lenihan assisted Mrs. Lincoln in receiving. MORAN RECEIVE FAT MOVING PICTURE OFFER

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Frank Moran was offered $12,500, with 30 per cent of the moving pictures, or $15,000 with 20 per cent of the movies, to fight Jess Willard 10 rounds here. The proffers came from Jack Curley, who has Willard's signature to a contract calling for a fight for the championship.

Ike Dorgan, manager of Moran, turned down both offers as not being liberal enough, though informed it was his last opportunity to get the match. Dorgan's refusal practically eliminates Moran from boxing the champion.

OF 'Y' BOWLERS

Frank Benson is once more in first place among the Y. M. C. A. bowlers. George Reed suffered a slump last week and Benson passed him. Walter Haney dropped from second to third place during the week.

Winn's advance to sixth place has been one of the most notable changes of the week. Basecan and Chamberlin both slumped as the result of the low bowling by the Colts Thursday. The latter is in fifth place in the standings while Basecan is barely over the 170. Mosley gained a point during the week and stands seventh in the averages.

Official scorer W. A. Roseman submits the following averages to date:

MANY NEW PLANS FOR OPEN HOUSE AT Y NEXT WEEK

Many new plans are being created for the big open house night at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday. On that date the Olympic basketball players will oppose the Tigers, and a musical concert will be given by the Y. M. C. A. as a feature. Edwin Ideler, the violin instructor at Punahou, will play a solo, and the Y. M. C. A. orchestra will render a number of popular selections.

Ladies are especially invited on that evening and they will be given permission to use the billiard tables, and the bowling alleys. At the last ladies' night a number of the fair sex proved that they were excellent bowlers by running up scores of more than 100. In addition to this many are experienced billiard players, and it is expected that many will enter into an impromptu tournament on Tuesday evening.

"Speed" Martin will have charge of the Olympic club team which will oppose the Tiger five, and the visitors should put up a good exhibition against the locals, Riordan, Howedge, Traumaola, Martin and Wallfish are excellent players, and many of the other Olympics have had much experience on the floor. Capt. Meinecke will have a strong team lined up for the Tigers and every seat is expected to be filled on that evening.

SAM LANGFORD DROPS WILLS IN NINETEENTH

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 12.—Harry Wills, the California heavyweight, was given an awful lacing here last night by "Tham" Langford, the Boston brawler, finally taking the count when Langford caught him a right-hander on the point of the jaw. Both men are colored.

'PECK' GRIFFIN AND DAWSON TO ARRIVE TUESDAY

Two of the leading tennis players of the year will arrive in Honolulu on Tuesday on the Chiyu Maru from the Philippines. They are Clarence "Peck" Griffin and Ward Dawson. During their recent trip to the Far East the two racqueters made an excellent showing, winning the doubles from the best in the Orient.

Clarence Griffin, with William Johnston, is the present champion of America in the doubles, and Griffin was ranked in the first ten this year in the singles, which speaks well for the play of the Californian. Dawson is a star in both singles and doubles play, and these two men are expected to win in the doubles matches which will be held on the Pacific courts beginning February 17.

With Beals Wright already in the city the arrivals of the stars from the Orient will give the local colony three mainland stars to compete in the coming tennis tournament. Wright has been working out on the Moana courts for some time, and is expected to play an important part in the games of the tourney.

SAINTS DEFEAT PUNS IN FAST BASKET-BALL

Punahou went down to defeat to the tune of 9 to 8 at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon in a spirited game of basket-ball with the St. Louis five. At the end of the first half Punahou had things her own way, but in the last period Paul Fernandez and Pete Christian pulled their team out of a bad hole and, by brilliant playing, shot the score a point ahead in its favor. The line-ups follow:

St. Louis College—Baptista and Carvalho, forwards; Kuhlman and Christian, center; McGittigan and Fernandez, guards.

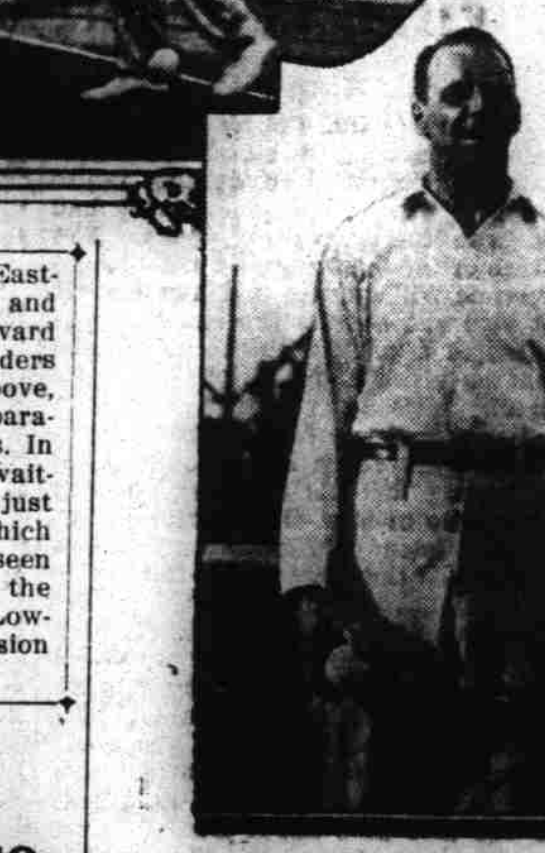

Punahou—Pekelo and Gifford, forwards; Ebersole, center; Petersen and Othschild, guards.

SOCCER AT AALA PARK

Soccer seems to be coming into its own again as an outdoor sport, and this afternoon the eleven of the St. Louis College was to meet the Port Shafter booters in a contest at Aala Park, the game being set for 3 o'clock. The St. Louis aggregation is undoubtedly the local soccer champion, having played for the last four years without being defeated by teams in the interscholastic league. It has defeated the soldiers twice.

CARL MORRIS KNOCKS OUT ART PELKY IN FIFTH ROUND

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) MUSKOGEE, Okla., Feb. 12.—Carl Morris, one time champion for the heavy-weight crown, easily disposed of Arthur Pelky here last night, landing a knockout in the fifth round. The bout was scheduled to go 15 rounds.

VISITORS WILL TAKE ON TIGERS AT BASKET-BALL

Whether the Olympic Club men are as good at basket-ball as at baseball will be demonstrated in the Y. M. C. A. games held next Tuesday night when a piked team from the visitors will go up against a strong aggregation practicing under the direction of Captain Meinecke, known as the Y. M. C. A. Tigers.

Otto Wallfish was on the "Y" gymnasium floor yesterday afternoon with eight of the visitors in basket-ball uniform, who went through a warm practise and showed considerable skill in the interesting indoor sport. Captain Wallfish has decided to play center for the Olympic team, and his work yesterday will be well worth seeing when it is repeated Tuesday.

"Speed" Martin and Schammel probably will play the forward positions for the visitors. Other selections will be made from Benn, Ebner, Andrade, Riordan, Barker, Kennedy and Howedge.

The Tigers will practise at 7 o'clock this evening. John Gomes, R. E. Doty, Dick Whitcomb and Captain Meinecke are out for guards, and Ed. Cannon and W. E. Harrison are the choice for centers. The forwards will be "Red" Brown and William Dreier.

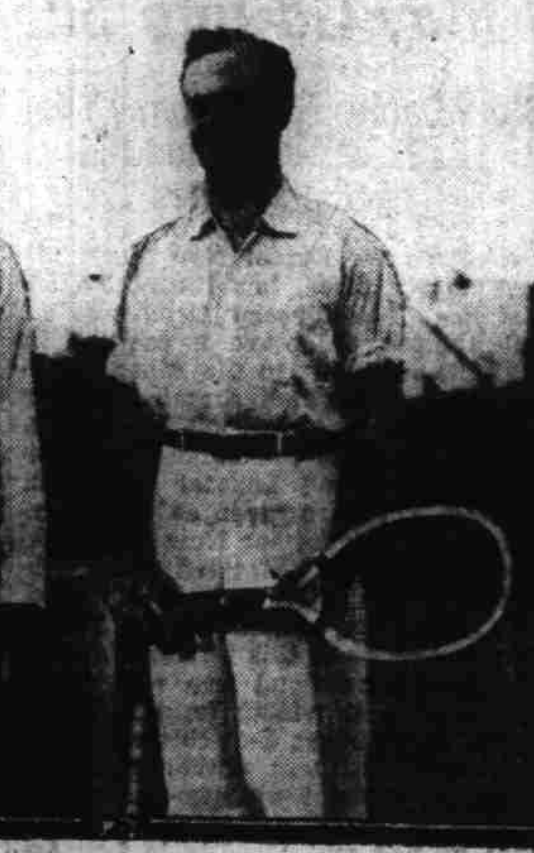

The initial game between the Tigers and the Olympics will be a feature of an "open house" at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening, when the members will be invited to bring their lads.

MORE CARS COMING FOR RACING EVENT

Word was received from San Francisco last night by Eddie Waterman, who is arranging for the automobile and motorcycle races at Kapiolani park on the afternoon of February 26, that a 120 horsepower Fiat and a second Duesenberg are aboard the Wilhelmnia which is due at Honolulu next Tuesday morning. Two Harley-Davidson racing motorcycles are also aboard, he was advised. Joe Wolters of Chicago is on his way to Honolulu with two Excelsiors.

ILLINOIS ATHLETIC CLUB WANTS DUKE

CHICAGO, Ill.—Athletic officials of the Illinois Athletic Club are backing a move to bring Duke Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian swimming craze, to the United States in April. The Sandwich Islands star is the holder of various world's and American records, but seldom gets the chance to show what he can do in competition with the eastern and middle western cranks of the United States, as the cost of coming from mid-Pacific to compete in games in this country is almost prohibitive.—Chicago Tribune.

WINS TWO GAMES, IS DEFEATED IN TOTAL PINFALL

Honolulu won two out of three games from San Jose in the California Y. M. C. A. bowling league last evening, but lost total pinfal by 12 pins. This gives the two teams an even break in the match.

The first game went to Honolulu by 16 pins. Then the locals cut loose with a 938 score against San Jose's 855. The Garden City men outdid Honolulu in the last game and bowled 942, which gave them the game and total pinfal, 2633 to 2621.

Chamberlin, Wikander and Mills did great work for the Honolulu "Y." Chamberlin was high average man, and Wikander took high score. Mills handled the team well in Stayton's absence.

Benson and Haney of the second team qualified for next week's match against Fort McDowell. The scores:

Honolulu	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Goebig	178	169	156	503
Treptow	159	161	132	452
Mills	137	196	221	554

Former Governor Dix of New York May Go Into Sugar Firm, Is Report

Story Comes From Albany That His Friends Enlisted Aid of Supt. Forbes

Ex-Governor Dix of New York, his fortune shattered, has the active assistance of influential Democrats in endeavoring to secure a position in Hawaii, according to the Albany Evening Journal, which contains a long article detailing the circumstances.
 In this article the names of President Wilson and Senator O'Gorman of New York are given as those trying to aid the former New York executive. Also, it is stated, in a despatch to the Journal from El Paso, Tex., that Superintendent of Public Works Forbes of this territory during his recent mainland trip was asked to assist in providing for Mr. Dix.
 Mr. Forbes says that this reference is entirely without authorization by him. He did not wish to discuss the matter in detail yesterday, but said that he had met Mr. Dix in Los Angeles and had heard he wished to come to Hawaii, but that he himself was naturally unable to make a promise as to what could be done.
 As to the El Paso despatch Forbes is at a complete loss to know its origin. He talked with no one there and certainly, he says, never promised to place Dix with "sugar interests" here, as he was quoted as assuring could be done.
 Here is the story from Albany, together with further details telegraphed from Washington by the Journal's correspondent there:
 "A despatch from El Paso, Tex., says that John A. Dix, former governor of New York state, is planning to make his future home in Hawaii. The necessity of earning a livelihood is given as the cause of the ex-governor's change of residence. Dix, who was until a short time ago considered wealthy, is said to have lost every dollar of his money while he was in the governor's chair. It was only shortly after the inauguration of William Sulzer, his successor, that the Moose River Lumber Company went into bankruptcy. Dix was the principal stockholder in this company.
 "The despatch says that Senator James A. O'Gorman, with the assistance of President Wilson, has undertaken to find a position for Dix. The place for which tentative arrangements have been made will pay about $3500, it was stated. Charles R. Forbes, chairman of the public utility commission of Hawaii, made known the facts while en route from Washington to San Francisco, from where he will sail for Honolulu. Entire Fortune Gone.
 "According to the despatch, Mr. Forbes said he had been given to understand that the entire fortune inherited from Mrs. Dix's father had been lost largely through her husband's political ambition. Mr. Forbes said he would meet Mr. Dix in Los Angeles to discuss the position that is to be offered. He declared he had been informed by President Wilson and Senator O'Gorman that it was absolutely necessary to place the ex-governor. Mr. Forbes said, according to the despatch, that he was asked to give Mr. Dix a position that would pay $5000 or $6000 a year. He told the president and the senator that he had no such position. Mr. Forbes said, but promised to place him with certain sugar interests at a smaller salary. Mr. Forbes said he understood Mr. Dix wanted to get as far away from old associations as possible while endeavoring to regain his lost fortune.
 Despatch From Washington.
 "The Evening Journal's correspondent in Washington investigated the El Paso report and sent the following despatch today:
 "Former Governor Dix will enter business in Hawaii. A report from Albany that Senator O'Gorman was seeking a position for Mr. Dix, who recently went through bankruptcy and lost his fortune, developed that the former governor would venture into business beyond the borders of the United States. When the matter was brought to the attention of Senator O'Gorman this afternoon the senator stated that Mr. Dix would be in Hawaii in the course of the next year or so and would associate himself with business interests. 'That's all there is to it,' he said. When asked if Mr. Dix would seek an appointive government position, the senator replied that he did not think so. In other quarters there is no information that Governor Dix is slated for a government position, and at the White House it was stated the senator had not been there for two weeks. The nature of the business in which the ex-governor will engage in Hawaii could not be learned from the senator, who contented himself with the bare statement as given above.

 Fortune Is Gone.
 "Friends of the former governor in this city say there is no doubt about his having lost his fortune, but they know little of Mrs. Dix's fortune. Mr. Dix has been in Albany only a few times since the news of his failure became public. At the time the Moose River Company went into bankruptcy the former governor and his wife were living in a small house at Manchester, Mass., where it was said that Mr. Dix was in poor health. At times his condition was reported to have been very serious. He was in Albany for the last time about Dec. 4, shortly after that leaving for the coast to attend a meeting of the former governors.
 "The former home of the Dix's, 491 State street, is now occupied by Frederick W. Rockwell, the hotel man, who leased it from the ex-governor and his wife. Besides this house Mr. and Mrs. Dix are said to own considerable real estate in Thomson and McKeever. This property alone is worth considerable money, it is said. Entertained Lavishly.
 "No occupants of the executive mansion ever entertained so elaborately as Governor Dix and his wife. Their entertainments became famous in every section of the state. Their week-end entertainments at Thomson and McKeever were also noted. At the latter place the governor and his wife had installed a marble swimming pool. This cost several thousand dollars. Then followed many entertainments in which swimming and indoor athletic sports played a large part in the program.
 "At times, it is said, the governor and his wife would charter a trolley car to take their guests to one of the above named places. These parties would sometimes consist of 30 and 40 friends. On the car refreshments would be served, two servants being on board to take care of the needs of the guests. At the journey's end an elaborate collation would be served.
 "Mrs. Dix was also a great lover of the Bagby musicals at the Waldorf hotel, New York. When she attended these concerts, it is said, she would always give a dinner to her friends. These affairs cost hundreds of dollars."

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist.
 "Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause greatest distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and should always be kept handy.
