GERMANS RETREAT IN AISNE SECTOR Teutons Dismantling Belgium Factories; May Withdraw

RAIDER, 10 ARMED PATROLS ARE SUNK

Auxiliary Cruiser Crocodile, Bearing Six Inch Guns, and Trawlers Are Sent to Bottom in Engagement in Cattegat; Wounded Reach Denmark

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless) LONDON, England, Nov. 3.—The German cruiser-raider which recently sank two British destroyers and nine merchant ships in the North Sea was despatched today by a British destroyer squadron. The cruiser bearing six-inch guns and ten armed patrol craft were sunk after a short engagement in the Cattegat. The prisoners are now being brought to England.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 3.—British destroyers patrolling Scandinavian waters have sunk the German commerce raider Crocodile and five trawlers. The Crocodile was of 1000 tons net and was manned by a crew of 100.

A DANISH PORT, Nov. 3.—The wounded from the German auxiliary cruiser sunk by the British destroyers in the North Sea engagement are beginning to arrive here.

Thirty Killed on Cruiser Marie

LONDON, England, Nov. 3.—Later reports from the ship that participated in the North Sea engagement off Lensburg are that thirty were killed aboard the German auxiliary cruiser Marie.

The Marie met the destroyers 12 miles north of Kullen, a sharp peninsula jutting out from Sweden into the Cattegat. As the warships sighted each other, the Marie opened fire and after a few salvos from the destroyers the Marie was seen ablaze. She sunk within ten minutes.

Fifty-one of the crew took to the life boats. Kullen is on the outermost point of the sharp peninsula that lies on the western coast of Sweden forming one side of Skelder Bay. This is about 100 miles almost directly north of Copenhagen, and between 55 and 57 degrees north latitude.

Scout Cruiser Sunk off Belgium

LONDON, England, Nov. 3.—A despatch from Copenhagen today declares that a fast, high-powered German scout cruiser of the electric-controlled type and high speed was sunk off the Belgian coast while attacking a British destroyer patrol.

SUPERVISORS DABBLE WITH GENERAL FUND Besides the matter of the payroll, for which the meeting of the board of supervisors was held today at 1:15, the most important subject considered was a communication submitted by E. A. Mott-Smith concerning the affairs of the general fund. Due to certain resolutions calling for minor appropriations having been reported out, the amount in the general fund on December 31 should be $463,75, instead of $16, as the advance estimate showed yesterday. Supervisor McClellan, at today's meeting, introduced a motion to have three other resolutions, one calling for $150 for the Nuuanu rock wall another for $100 for the Holy Ghost church wall and another for $250 for Mikiki ditch, reported out also, and the motion passed.

HART GETS THREE YEARS IN PRISON

Not less than three years at hard labor in Oahu prison was the sentence imposed by Circuit Judge Heen today on Lionel R. A. Hart, former local representative of the New York brokerage firm of Charles A. Stoneham and Co., who was convicted of embezzlement. He was found guilty of having converted funds of Honolulu clients to his own use. One other case is pending against him. The jury which convicted Hart recommended leniency. Under the indeterminate sentence the maximum time of service is 10 years. In passing sentence today Judge Heen fixed the minimum time. After sentence was pronounced, Attorney W. B. Lymer, counsel for Hart, filed a motion for a new trial, principally on the ground that the testimony of Chester A. Doyle and Detective Captain Arthur McDuffie had been admitted before the corpus delicti was established. This testimony was to the effect that Hart, while in prison in San Francisco, had confessed to Doyle and McDuffie, admitted the embezzlement and said that he would return to Honolulu and plead guilty to all charges against him. The motion for a new trial will be argued next Tuesday afternoon.

LIBEL SUIT PLEA UPHELD BY COURT

Circuit Judge Wm. H. Heen, in an oral decision today, sustained the motion of the city attorney's office to amend its sworn information charging R. O. Matheson, editor of the Advertiser, with criminal libel. This reopens the case which was formally closed some weeks ago when the court sustained the demurrer of Editor Matheson's attorneys to the original information. Editor Matheson will enter his plea next Wednesday. Attorney Lorrin Andrews, of counsel for Editor Matheson, gave notice today that he would demur to the amended information on practically the same grounds contained in the first demurrer, which was upheld. Among other things, the amended information charges that the Advertiser editorial "Under What Flag?" which was a criticism of an address delivered by Governor Pinkham to school children, insinuated by innuendo and imputation that the governor was harboring treasonable motives against the United States, that he was harboring a desire to serve the German Empire and that he was a traitor to the United States.

Shoes From Shark Skin? Sure, They're To be Made in City

HARK'S skin shoes are absolutely the very latest thing in footwear. And there's only one pair in Honolulu and so far as is known it's the only pair in the world and that pair is in the hands, or rather on the feet, of Captain W. E. Ebbins of the schooner Nychigo Maru. Kid, calf, deer, pig and goat skins and horsehide will be outclassed as shoe leather by shark skin in the opinion of Captain Ebbins who is planning to open the only shark skin shoe manufacturing plant in the world in this city. As soon as he gets the necessary permit from the authorities to go ahead he intends to send out his schooner on a shark hunting trip and then proceed to secure a plant where the shark skin can be dried, treated, cut and manufactured into shoes.

EX-GERMAN SHIP TO TAKE CARGOES

What is taken as evidence that much of the freight carrier service which will be given to the islands during the war will be under the jurisdiction of the national shipping board was the announcement this morning that another former German ship is to come here for a cargo of American-Hawaiian sugar. Authentically it is stated that the Seneca, formerly the German steamer Tubingen, is to arrive here early next month and will load about 6000 tons of sugar at Honolulu and Kahului. It is also understood she is to bring a cargo of coal for the Inter-Island. The Seneca was one of the North German Lloyd steamers which was interned in Philippine waters at the beginning of the European war. This summer she was taken to the coast and repaired and is now being operated by the shipping board. She is 5588 tons gross and 2890 tons net. The vessel was built in Newcastle, Tyne, in 1900.

More Draft Names Published Today

On pages 10 and 11, second section, are published additional names drawn in the draft last Thursday. The space which would be required in publishing 29,000 names in any single issue is so large that the Star-Bulletin has adopted the plan of publishing the lists in continued form. The Semi-Weekly Star-Bulletin next week will begin the publication of complete lists of the outside island districts. This is done in order that the outside island readers who have not followed the publication of the lists from day to day may be able to get the lists of their districts in complete form. One complete district will be given in each issue of the Semi-Weekly, this including those names which have already been published. Information as to the numbers of any of the draft names which are published from day to day will be cheerfully furnished by the Star-Bulletin, as far as it can be secured. Men wishing such information should, in writing to the Star-Bulletin, give their registered number as published, that is, the serial number in the lists printed prior to draft day; also give the approximate position of their names in the published draft lists. The approximate position may be determined by the large-type designations, (1101-1200, etc.), which appear in the columns. GET THE STAR-BULLETIN AND ALL THE DRAFT NEWS—THE ONLY PAPER FURNISHING IT

$11,050 NOT TOO MUCH FOR BABY

Attorney Carlsmith Recommends to Court That 4-Year Old Be Given That Much for His Annual Allowance

FOUR-YEAR-OLD Richard Palmer Smart, son of the late Thelma and Henry Gallard Smart and owner of the Parker ranch, is now receiving $2000 a year for his maintenance. Recently his guardian and grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Knight of San Francisco, petitioned the court to raise this amount to $11,050. In a report filed today Attorney Carl Carlsmith, master, recommends that baby Smart be allowed $11,050.

Here are the annual amounts Attorney Carlsmith finds necessary to be expended to support the youngster: One-half the upkeep of Mrs. Knight's home in San Francisco, $3900. Salary of governess, $630. Clothing, $300. Vacation trip each year, $350. Annual trip to the Hawaiian islands, $1200. Automobile upkeep, $2700. Annual war and charitable donations, $1000. Donations to Waimea Hawaiians, $1000. Total, $11,050.

Attorney Carlsmith went to San Francisco on September 19 to take the testimony of Mrs. Knight regarding her petition for the increase. While there he investigated, among other things, the modes of life and scale of expenditures, conditions of living, house rent, servant hire, automobile upkeep and the amount spent on young Smart for recreation and amusement.

"A standard of living," says the attorney in his report, "is now being maintained by all classes which could never have been contemplated 25 years ago. Luxuries such as automobiles are now considered well within the reach of people who, a generation ago, would have considered a family carriage an extravagance."

"I have kept in mind the fact that he (young Smart) has an unimpaired estate yielding an income of more than $80,000 a year, and that there is no immediate possibility of a reduction, either in principal or income."

"He inherits from both parents a disposition to be fragile and non-resistant to disease. His home surroundings are in all respects delightful. His guardian is affording him healthful recreation and companionship with good playfellows. The moral tone of the home is excellent."

As to young Smart living permanently in San Francisco, Attorney Carlsmith disagrees with Mrs. Knight on this point. "I cannot find," he says, "that the climate of California possesses any advantages over the climate of Hawaii."

The Knight home in San Francisco is an apartment of 10 rooms. The rent is $250 a month, and Attorney Carlsmith holds this amount is entirely reasonable. A Chinese cook is employed at $50 a month and maid at $40. The total household upkeep amounts to $650 a month.

Attorney Carlsmith recommends $325 a month as young Smart's share of the household expenses; $300 instead of $500 a year for clothing; an annual trip to the country to cost $350; an occasional trip to Hawaii to cost $1200; $2700 a year for the maintenance of an automobile; $435 for the purchase of a new limousine; $1000 a year toward the Red Cross, and $1000 a year as gifts to the Parker ranch Hawaiians.

FRENCH ADVANCE AS HUNS RETIRE

Berlin Admits Falling Back But Offers No Explanation; French Reach North Bank of Ailette River; 420 Big Guns Captured

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless) LONDON, Eng., Nov. 3.—From Belgian sources comes the news that the Germans are systematically dismantling and destroying factories and workshops in Belgium. Their actions suggest that they are preparing for an early retreat.

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 3.—The German army in the Loon-Soissons-Craonne-Neufchatel salient northwest of Rheims has retreated from points along the Chemin des Dames highway in the Aisne sector. No reason has been announced for the maneuver, the communication simply stating that the withdrawal had been effected Thursday night without interference by the French.

PARIS, France, Nov. 3.—The French following a retirement of the German forces are advancing along the river Oise to Corbeny and have reached the south bank of the river Ailette. The Germans retreated along the north bank destroying all bridges.

Since October 23 the French have captured 420 large guns and 720 machine guns.

FOOD RATIONING LOOMING NEARER

Will the food rationing plan have to be put into effect in Hawaii? Federal Food Administrator J. F. Child asked the question this morning. He admitted that there is a possibility that this action will have to be resorted to by him unless freight conditions between the islands and the mainland are materially bettered soon.

"It's just like this," declared Mr. Child. "If shipping conditions become worse, the people of Hawaii will have to be put on a bread ration, and perhaps a lot of other things. The food commission has been urging the people to conserve food. We have been continually telling them how to take care of themselves, how to help reduce imports and how to grow things in their backyards."

Mr. Child admitted that he would not be at all surprised if he was called upon to take control of all food stuffs in the territory.

"Things are certainly shaping toward that end now," he said. The Governor, one of the steamers that was to relieve the diverted Matson liners, has gone on the rocks. "Supposing some of the other ships go on the rocks," asked Mr. Child, "then where will Hawaii be?"

Mr. Child admitted this morning that, in the event of food rationing here, he will have the power to step in, assume control of all food supplies and fix prices.

S. P. Puts Embargo On Freight

TIGHTENING up on the embargo on shipments of freight to Hawaii from the mainland is still further indicated by an Associated Press despatch received this morning, which specifies the restrictions the Southern Pacific has placed on the shipments of carload lots of freight to these islands.

Also, the despatch is believed to indicate that the freight congestion has become so acute on the coast that with the withdrawal of the Matson steamers it is realized the normal importations to Hawaii cannot be continued during the war, or at least until many of the schooners and steamers building on the Pacific coast come from the ways.

The freight restriction imposed by the Southern Pacific on shipments to Hawaii is to go into effect on Monday, November 5th. After that date the company will not accept any carload shipments of Hawaii freight unless it is certain a definite reservation of ocean carrier space has been secured by the shipper or the consignee.

Confirmation of the securing of the ship space must be given to the Southern Pacific, but whether by the Pacific coast representative of the shipping board, steamship agents or the shipper or consignee is not stated.

The Southern Pacific, in announcing the rules for the embargo on carload freight shipments, explains that it is intended to check congestion in the railway terminals of the Pacific Coast. "It simply means the Southern Pacific is not going to accept freight which cannot be unloaded from its cars or must be stored in its yards for lack of bottoms to bring it to Hawaii," said E. J. Hardesty, Honolulu general agent for the company, when shown the despatch this morning.

He mentions the fact that ever since last July there have been shipments of automobiles in the San Francisco yards for which space on ships cannot be secured. Since then there has been a growing congestion of other material, but for not so long as the automobile congestion, he explains.

Agent Hardesty had not been officially informed of the new ruling of the Southern Pacific, and is doubtful as to just how poor will have to be given to the railway to show the shipper has made arrangements for cargo space on ships coming to this port. He rather thinks the shipper or consignee will have to get the shipping certificate of some kind to the railway company before the shipments will be accepted in the East.

P. U. WINS FIRST ROUND WITH I. I.

That the bond filed in circuit court by the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co. for the removal to federal court of the Inter-Island-public utilities commission litigation, was not in compliance with law, is the decision reached by U. S. Judge Horace W. Vaughan today. His decision sustains a motion by the utilities commission to remand the litigation back to circuit court.

It was the contention of the utilities commission that the litigation had not been rightfully removed from the circuit court. Judge Vaughan holds that the bond, such as was filed by the attorneys for the Inter-Island when the cause was removed, must be made by the parties seeking the removal, and that such parties must both make and file the bond.

Attorneys for the Inter-Island informed the court that they had filed an amended bond and had it certified to federal court. The court was of the opinion that the amended bond had not been filed within the specified time. The Inter-Island gave notice of appeal from the decision.

HACKFELDS LOSE SHIPPING AGENCY FOR A.-H. VESSELS

Belief is Percy Morse May Be Continued as Representative With Separate Office

H. Hackfeld & Co. is no longer to act as the Honolulu shipping agency of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Co., according to a cablegram sent to the local firm by its San Francisco office, which had been notified by the American-Hawaiian of its intentions to sever business relations of many years' standing. The date for the discontinuance of the Hackfeld agency for the American-Hawaiian is not given.

One reason is given and another assumed for the agency change by those interested, J. F. C. Hagens, acting head of Hackfeld & Co., explains that his company has only nominally been the agency for the American-Hawaiian, and that all the work of forwarding and dispatching sugar from the islands on steamers of that line has been attended by Percy Morse, the American-Hawaiian general agent for Hawaii.

Up to two or three years ago—the time when the American-Hawaiian stopped bringing general merchandise freight to the islands—the Hackfeld company were the active agents, and attended to the financial collections for the merchandise shipments and other affairs of ship's agents.

"Since then we have been agents for the American-Hawaiian only in a general sense, as Mr. Morse has attended to all the work of forwarding sugar shipments. Due to this, and with the taking off of the American-Hawaiian steamers, we have been expecting the American-Hawaiian would not want to continue to pay us agency fees, especially when they had a representative here," said Mr. Hagens.

Neither Mr. Hagens nor Mr. Morse has been informed as to just what the American-Hawaiian contemplates doing with its Honolulu agency, but it is believed Mr. Morse will be continued here as the company's representative and offices opened separate from those now occupied.

On the other hand there are those who believe much of the shipping agency work for any of the vessels calling at Honolulu during the war will hereafter be conducted by representatives of the national shipping board. This assumption nevertheless does not presuppose that others than those now engaged as shipping agents would not be directly or indirectly employed to represent the shipping board in Honolulu.

One thing, though, is certain—the American-Hawaiian would not be allowed by the shipping board to continue sending vessels here for sugar if its vessels did not also bring merchandise to the islands, due to the world shortage of shipping.

Booze, Luxury Child's View

That spirits, wines and malted liquors undoubtedly will be included in those "luxuries" which the federal government has held shall not be shipped to Hawaii, is the opinion of J. F. Child, federal food administrator for the territory.

"Wines and liquors are certainly luxuries, to my mind," says Mr. Child, "although there are some people who consider them necessities. I have had no information as to what these luxuries are that cannot be imported to Hawaii, but I am sure it is going to be very hard to draw the line. Everything will have to be considered solely on its merits."

HARBOR NOTES

The following sugar is waiting shipment on Hawaii: Oloa, 10,930; Hilo, Sugar Co., 4,000; Pepeekeo, 5,580; Hakalau, 19,345; Laupahoehoe, 1,700; Kaiwili, 5,983; Hamakua Mill, 5,555; Punaluu, 11,284; Honoauo, 2,224.

M. W. Mitchell, purser of the Kilaua, which is now on the Mauna Kea run while that vessel is on the drydock, makes the following report of shipping on the Big Island: Enterprise is loading cargo at Hilo; Robert R. Hind at Hilo discharging lumber; Doris at Honokaa and the Niihau and Waialeale are at Hilo.

The following freight was brought in from Hawaii ports this morning by the Inter-Island steamer Kilaua: Seven automobiles, three cows, 20 quarters of beef, 13 crates of poultry, 25 packages of fruit and vegetables, 114 bags of awa and 428 packages of sundries. The Kilaua had 81 cabin and 15 way passengers. In the stowage there were 70 Honolulu passengers and 13 way passengers.

PUBLIC TO MEET U. S. SOLONS AT LUNCHEON

The luncheon to be given next Saturday at the Young hotel in honor of the congressional visitors due to arrive the coming week has been planned with the specific object of allowing citizens a chance to meet the members of the party and present any petitions or memorials they desire.

This fact was emphasized today by Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who is a member of the committee planning for the entertainment of the solons. Plates will be 50 cents and the general public is invited.

HONOKAA RECEIVES 2 1/2 INCHES OF RAIN

Passengers arriving on the Kilaua this morning state that there is hope on Hawaii the heavy rains which fell last Thursday night in Hilo and clear out along the Hamakua coast to the worst drought affected districts of Honokaa and Kukuiahae, will help to greatly reduce losses from the long dry spell.

Two and a half inches is the amount of rain which is reported to have fallen at Honokaa by M. W. Mitchell, purser of the Kilaua. "There were heavy rains at Hilo on Thursday, which extended out along the Hamakua coast," he adds.

MORE GOOD NEWS.

By mail today came further advice from the island of Hawaii telling of the breaking up of the long and costly drought.

Castle & Cooke had mail advices from Kohala plantation that 71 inches of rain had fallen and the letter, which was written Thursday night, added:

"It looks as though we would get more. A fine steady rain and no wind." It was also stated that the big irrigation ditch was running full.

GREEN BUSY CHECKING UP ON DRAFT LISTS

Careful checking up of the three master lists on which draft numbers were tabulated in Thursday's territorial drawing is being done now by Major F. J. Green at draft headquarters.

Each of the three lists is checked separately and with the others to avoid any possible duplication of numbers or other error.

Mrs. Bernice Smith has been appointed as clerk by Chairman J. A. Balch of the district exemption board.

APPEALS TO ATTORNEYS TO GIVE ADVICE TO MEN WHO ARE DRAFTED

With a view to securing assistance for persons who expect to claim exemption from the selective draft law by aiding them in preparing their claims, Chief Justice A. G. M. Robertson of the supreme court, and vice-president for Hawaii of the American Bar association, has issued the following call to attorneys, asking for their voluntary help:

"At the request of the war department the American Bar association has called for the offer of voluntary service and assistance by attorneys to applicants for exemption under the selective draft law. I understand that the regulations do not permit the appearance of counsel before the boards of exemption, and presume that the assistance is expected to be given to such applicants as may need it in connection with the preparation of affidavits and otherwise stating in proper form their claims to exemption under the law. Further information as to just what will be expected of counsel will probably be received shortly. It is not yet known when the call to service under the draft law will be made in this territory, nor when the local boards will sit to receive and hear claims for exemption on the part of such as may be called. In the meantime any members of the bar who will be prepared to give their services when the time comes in response to the call of the war department and the Bar association are respectfully requested to notify the undersigned.

CHILDREN ARE URGED TO CONSERVE FOOD

In a public statement the woman's committee of the territorial food commission has presented to the school children of the territory the necessity of food conservation and makes the following recommendations to them and their parents:

"First—That it is patriotic to waste no bread or other kind of food. The committee realizes that probably 70 per cent of the children have no food to waste, and this advice is directed to the other 30 per cent.

"Second—That it is patriotic to eat less white bread, and to learn to like substitutes. The committee counts as 'obstructionists' those who misinterpret this teaching as taking food from children.

"Third—The committee indorses garden planting and the use of home products.

Outlined in stronger terms, the committee feels that the sooner every man, woman and child in Hawaii has a realizing sense that America is fighting, and that each has a part in the fight, the sooner the fight will be over.

"The committee believes that only German policy would hide even from children the destructive fact that America is fighting a barbarous enemy, and fights to win."

TAYLOR CHARGES CEMENT SKIMPED IN LAIMI WORK

Formal complaint was filed with the board of supervisors today by James T. Taylor, civil engineer, that construction work on Improvement District 7, Nuuanu valley, the Laimi district, is not being done by the contractor in accordance with the specifications.

Mr. Taylor declares in a letter to the board that the proper amount of cement is not being used, notwithstanding City Engineer Cantin's express orders to the city inspector that the specifications must be observed.

Other defects are also cited, the whole letter being a complaint that the contractor is skimping the work. Taylor accompanies his letter to the board with three letters previously written to Engineer Cantin. One of these is dated October 17 and the other two on October 29, all containing in some detail similar complaint that the contractor, who is John Duggan, is not observing specifications.

Particularly does Taylor charge that Duggan is not using as much cement as the specifications call for. He says that he himself personally inspected the work for the week ending October 29 and his statements are based on his own observations.

Yesterday Duggan was instrumental in the arrest of some workmen employed by Taylor in laying curbing in this district, the controversy being over the location of the curb-line.

Taylor's letter to the board follows:

"Gentlemen:

"I wish to call your attention to the matter of the construction work which is now progressing on Improvement District Number 7, Nuuanu valley.

"The work has not been carried on in accordance with the specifications. On October 17, 1917, I notified Mr. A. S. Cantin, city and county engineer, in regard to the same. I again notified Mr. Cantin in writing on October 29, setting forth in detail where the work was defective.

"Mr. Cantin in my presence instructed the engineer and inspector, Mr. Black, to the effect that the specifications would have to be carried out. Notwithstanding these verbal instructions to the inspector, the work is still being carried out not in accordance with the specifications, especially as to the lack of the proper amount of cement, which is clearly defined in the specifications. The details as to the defects which I have called the attention of the engineer to, I refer you to the letters above mentioned dated October 17 and October 29.

"I desire to say that I personally inspected the construction work which was done during the week ending October 29, 1917, and my requests are based on my personal observations. I certainly insist that the specifications shall be carried out on this work.

"In addition to the matters which I have called your attention to above, I will say that there are other defects as to line and grade on the curbing which need immediate attention, also that the catch basins which have been constructed on Park road have not been properly reinforced according to the specifications, also that a considerable amount of dirty material has been used and material which has not been deposited upon planks, which, according to the specifications, shall be condemned and not used on the job.

"Your immediate attention is called to this matter, as it is a matter of importance and the property owners are certainly entitled to have the specifications carried out in full."

"The action of Contractor Duggan yesterday in having some of my workmen arrested for relaying curbing in the Laimi improvement district is the outcome of a controversy over the location of the curbing," said Taylor this morning. "I received my boundary and curb line when George Collins was city engineer, and had the curbing laid in accordance with that line. Under Engineer Cantin, a new line has been established and my curbing was taken up. I had the curbing re-laid along the former line, and contend that this is the proper procedure.

"Mr. Taylor accepted a rather informal service of summons to appear in court with his employees who were arrested, he having gone to the police station to look after their bail. Although his name was put down among those on whom a warrant was served, he was not arrested.

The case was to come up this morning but was postponed until next Thursday by mutual consent. The men are charged with unlawfully moving a curb on a public highway.

CIVIC, GOVERNMENTAL, BUSINESS MEN DELEGATED TO RECEIVE SOLONS

Names of the official representatives of civil, governmental and business elements of the territory who will meet or entertain the congressional party due to arrive next week were announced today by the committee in charge.

The general committee consists of Governor Pinkham, Secretary Laukae, Delegate Kuhio, Senator Chillingworth, Speaker Holstein, Senator Baldwin, Senator Hinds, Senator Paschall, Representative Wilder, Representative Lora and Representative Paschall.

The county committee are as follows:

TAVERN TO HAVE MOONLIGHT DANCE AT WAIKIKI

The Saturday night special dinners and dance at Heinie's Tavern, at Waikiki, are drawing many "repeaters" and an atmosphere of gaiety and merriment reigns.

You are coming with your friends—make your table reservations by phone "5670." Our special dinners are served from 5:30 to 8. They have made Heinie's Tavern famous.—Adv.

Kaiua will probably be the landing place for the congressional party on the island of Hawaii instead of Napeouo, according to a letter received today by Secretary C. P. Laukae from George H. Vicars of the Hilo board of trade. The Hawaii committee has decided that the former landing will be safer and more feasible.

ENGINEERS AND CHEMISTS ADJOURN CONVENTIONS

The fifth annual convention of the Hawaiian MHI Engineers' association and the annual convention of the "Chemists and Sugar Boilers' association came to a close last night following a joint banquet at the Commercial club. Prior to the banquet the engineers held a short business meeting and elected the following officers:

Carl B. Andrews, chairman; J. A. Gibb, vice-chairman; Irwin Spalding, treasurer; Frank O. Boyer, secretary. Directors at large—R. Renton Hind, A. Gartley, E. Kopke; for Hawaii, A. C. Wheeler; for Maui, H. McCubbins; for Kauai, E. Kopke.

A resolution was passed asking the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association to consider the matter of enforced boiler inspection.

The evening's program was fitted with criteria long hands, songs and vaudeville acts. A stirring melodrama was presented, entitled "The MHI," with characters such as the manager, expert, engineer, etc., assumed by visiting delegates.

Act 2 was a near convention of engineers, where papers were read and discussed. The reports were in verse form and abounded with personal references and good humor.

URGES BIGGER NAVAL PROGRAM FOR JAPAN

(Special Cable to Nippon Jih) TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 3.—Admiral Baron M. Saito, former minister of navy of Japan, today addressed a gathering of the Selyu-kai, the majority party in the house of deputies of the Japanese diet, and made a strong appeal for naval expansion to strengthen the first line of the national defense. The agitation for a bigger navy is now daily gaining strength.

"Japan is today finding for herself that her naval forces are not adequate to maintain her status in the hall of the world's powers," declared Admiral Saito. "The eight battleships and eight cruisers basis for Japan's navy which is now maintained by Japan should be expanded without any delay to a twelve battleships and twelve cruisers basis."

Drastic limitation of traffic has begun on the German State Railways as the result of fuel shortage.

NEW REAL ESTATE TRACT THROWN OPEN

A new tract, known as the Waialae Beach lots, between Kaimuki and Diamond Head, will be offered for sale at public auction on the 17th of this month, by the Bishop Estate. The lots lie on Kahala avenue, which has been paved and curbed, with water pipes laid and sewer pipes installed. Running from the avenue down to the beach are seven curved lanes or streets, to be for the exclusive use of tenants of the beach lots.

With the work on Kahala avenue completed, residents of this particular part of the city may now drive to town either by way of Diamond Head or Kaimuki, and this adds greatly to the value of the Waialae Beach lots. At the sale the lots will go to lessees for a term of thirty years, with rents payable semi-annually in advance. Ten per cent of the first payment must be paid by successful bidders.

HAWAIIAN INVESTORS ARE WARNED TO BEWARE OF NEW STOCK ISSUES

Financial Experts Predict Continued Liquidation During Month of November—Many Stocks Reach New Low Level in Past Week—Labor Troubles Frighten Speculators

(BY TICKET R. TAPE.)

THE greater part of Hawaiian capital which is and has been seeking mainland offerings in preference to sugar stocks and securities for some time past, escaped in a measure the slump which struck the New York market during the last week. Some of the local money is in established securities which rise and fall but little; some in Liberty and foreign government bonds, and some of it in new oil, copper and silver stocks.

Financial experts warn investors to beware of stock in new concerns, especially new oil, silver and aeroplane stocks. The experts point out that it is always after a period of prosperity, when the market is slumping with the liquidation of reliable securities, new companies are promoted and their stocks widely offered. But investors should fight shy of such issues.

It must be remembered by investors that the new companies being formed while offering glowing estimates of possible profits fail to mention the high cost of materials and of operating; the increase in wages and the heavy tax on profits, if there are any profits to tax. Usually the circulars of these new companies cite some successful company in the same line of industry as evidence of the wonderful profits that can be made and in fact give more information on other properties and the industry in general than on the company in question.

The Mushrooms
Close followers of the market note that it is always after prosperity and at a period of decline that these miscellaneous companies appear in numbers. Some of course may have merit and ultimately prove successful, but most are absolutely worthless. Even the best of such issues will sell at very much lower prices when the stock market has fully discounted peace.

Therefore experts warn investors that this is not the time for new ventures because the stock of new ventures is bound to fall with the coming decline. And a further decline of the market is expected by close students of the ticker tape.

Where, two weeks ago, the drop in 12 well known stocks from the highest point this year to the mark at that time, was 13 per cent, the fall of the same 12 stocks from their highest point in 1917 to their mark on November 1 was 22 per cent, showing an increase of 9 per cent in rapidity of decline.

The table of the twelve stocks mentioned, in which Honolulu capitalists are heavily interested, is as follows:

THE TABLE.	High mark	High mark	Price on	Total drop
	1917	September	Nov. 1	for year
American Tel. & Tel. Co.	128 1/2	119 1/2	112 1/2	15 1/2

Western Electric	56	47 1/2	40	16

Reasons for Decline
Stock prices struck new low levels in the past week; the slump on the New York stock exchange on Thursday being a direct result of the threatened demand for higher wages by railroad employees. With the possibility of the nation's transportation being paralyzed, every stock on the market felt the quiver that ran through the country at large. General restlessness on the part of labor throughout the United States is being caused by, first, the high cost of living, and second, the feeling of security of its position as a vital necessity experienced by labor owing to its scarcity, a scarcity due to the vast amount of work going on and the additional government

Big Ranch Sale Brings $87,000 Deeds For Week Reach $165,549

Deeds registered for the week ending November 1 show transfers made involving $165,549.20, this high figure being due to the sale of real, personal and mixed property located at Wahiawa, Oahu, by James B. Castle and wife to the Kaneohe Ranch Company, for $87,000. Building permits for the week aggregate $32,477.

Deeds, mortgages, leases and building permits involved the following daily sums for the week:

Date	No.	Deeds	No.	Mortgages	No.	Leases	No.	Permits
Oct. 26	13	$ 27,287.00	7	$ 5,464.50	1	$ 7,800.00	8	$ 6,154.00
" 27	8	3,108.00	2	1,850.00	2	2,094.00	2	3,094.00
" 28	7	6,461.00	6	18,450.00	2	680.00	3	5,500.00
" 29	5	14,078.80	2	3,100.00	1	1,175.00	6	4,608.00
" 30	8	103,682.00	4	9,350.00	1	1,175.00	2	4,248.00
" 31	8	10,932.00	2	1,515.00	1	367.50	6	8,875.00
Nov. 1	8	10,932.00	2	1,515.00	1	367.50	6	8,875.00

The total cost of construction, shown by totals of permits issued, was $185,985.50 for the month of October.

Nevertheless it must be admitted that the report of mutiny in the German navy has had a tendency temporarily to halt the general liquidation, thus allowing a few to get from beneath before the next slump.

Each drop in the old established stocks makes them a better buy, the experts declare. They point out that for five months now the trend has been downward and therefore a temporary change is due.

The short swing will be the ideal opportunity to liquidate low-yield stocks for a further slump is expected, and when it comes there will be excellent opportunity for bargain buys in old established stocks. Let the new stocks alone and wait for these bargains.

Money Tight
The second great reason for the slump in Wall street is the money situation, which is strained to the last degree because of delays in transportation resulting in merchants and dealers asking for more and longer credits, the harvesting of the largest crop in the history of the country with double normal prices in force, and thirdly, because of the Liberty loan drawing off a considerable amount of money. The third great reason for the decline of the market is taxation. The new war revenue tax cuts deeply into the profits of all corporations and is causing the stocks to fall.

The fourth reason for the market's slump and one which was felt in almost every kind of security was the Italian defeat. The result of that defeat means an increased burden financially and otherwise on America, and students of stock situation view that burden in much the same light as does James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany. Gerard says:

"I want to tell you that the military and naval power of the German empire is unbroken. The 9,000,000 men and more, for at least 400,000 come of military age in Germany every year, because of their experience in two and a half years' war are better and more efficient fighters than at the time when they were called to the colors."

This view is held by the majority of financial experts, who do not look forward to an early peace or a peace by revolution in Germany.

GREYS WIN OUT FROM MIDDIES IN OVERTIME
It took five minutes' overtime to decide the basketball game between the Greys and the All-Intermediates at the "Y" games hall last night. But the weight and endurance of the Grey squad told and the final score was in their favor, 33 to 30. Hellingner and Eales played the star game for the winners.
In the second game of the evening the Reds slaughtered the Goodyears by a score of 41 to 16. It was a walk-over with every man of the winners scoring. The games next Wednesday will be between Fort Kamehameha and the Hospital team and the All-Intermediates and the Goodyears.

Burrough's Adding Machine

Our Adding Machine Department

This is a busy, busy world. Big business moves swiftly. Men—successful men—must make quick decisions each business-hour of the day. Even their greatest problems must be solved sometimes in a moment.

With their mind's eye thus riveted on the "big things," their perspective must be cleared of petty details. Not that these details are unimportant, but that they tend to kill the carrying out of wider and broader ideas.

Burroughs Adding Machines are made to take over most of these details. And instead of doing the merchant's former laborious work passably well, they do it even better than he could himself, accomplishing in a fraction of the time what used to require many hours.

In precision they are accuracy itself. When they have added a long column the work is done forever; no further checking is necessary.

We have many styles and sizes of Burroughs Adding Machines—one of them will meet your requirements exactly.

"Poor Man's Market"

Owing to the material depreciation of stock prices during the past few months, the man of comparatively small income is now in a position to take advantage of the many high grade investment issues available at prices showing a handsome return on the money invested.

With the investment liquidation which seems to be coming from abroad, and the speculative liquidation at home practically completed, together with the enormous Allies and American orders pending, the foundation for a more favorable investment center has been created.

The present situation appears ripe for one of those characteristic sudden upswings in the market.

Anyone investing in a substantial dividend paying stock at the present time, will not only be providing for a steady income but will also be in line to take advantage of the big upswing that is sure to come in the not too distant future.

The following Dividend Payers are particularly recommended at this time:

An advisable thing to do at the present time would be to invest in some substantial dividend payer, something that will help to tide over the present financial stringency. The stocks above mentioned have produced for years the same financial returns as they are producing at the present time, and offer enviable investment possibilities at the present quotations for both the big and little man. Opportunity is knocking at your door!

America's Debt to the Allies

Are there still remaining Americans who believe that Germany has had no evil designs on the United States?

Are there still Americans who think that our country has been secure from Teuton invasion?

Are there still Americans who feel that this great war is no concern of the United States?

If there are such in the circle of Star-Bulletin readers, here is a bit of information that may enlighten them. It is a quotation from a speech by Senator Robinson of Arkansas in Congress on October 6. He quotes a certain general thus:

Operations against the United States of North America would have to be conducted in a different manner from those against England. During the last year political friction with the states, especially friction arising from commercial causes, has not been lacking, and the difficulties that have arisen have mostly been settled by our giving way. As this obliging attitude has its limits, we have to ask ourselves what force we can possibly bring to bear in order to meet the attack of the United States against our interests and to impose our will.

Our fleet will probably be able to defeat the naval forces of the United States, which are distributed over two oceans and over long distances. But it would be a mistake to suppose that the defeat of their fleet will force the United States, with immense resources, into concluding peace.

Considering the great extent of the United States, the conquest of the country by an army of invasion is not possible. But there is every reason to believe that victorious enterprises on the Atlantic coast and the conquest of the most important arteries through which imports and exports pass, will create such an unbearable state of affairs in the whole country that the government will readily offer acceptable conditions in order to obtain peace.

If Germany begins preparing a fleet of transports and troops for landing purposes at the moment when the battle fleet steams out of our harbors, we may conclude that operations on American soil can begin after about four weeks, and it cannot be doubted that the United States will not be able to oppose to us within that time an army equivalent to our own.

The general who wrote this was Field Marshal von Edelsheim of the Prussian general staff. And it was written and published in Germany prior to the outbreak of the great European war, at a time when Germany had no material grievances, no real issues, standing in the way of supposed sincere friendship with the United States.

As Senator Robinson says, "there is nothing ambiguous or equivocal in this language. It proves conclusively that Germany was preparing to precipitate a conflict with the United States. It is seldom during peace that so offensive a purpose finds expression in such frank language as that employed by von Edelsheim."

What American can read of Germany's arrogant plan to "impose her will" on the United States without deep-seated indignation. And how brutally bold are the German plans to blockade our seaports and land armies where they can penetrate our peaceful districts and wreak the thousand cruelties perpetrated on Belgium!

Germany's ambitious plans to conquer the world, the dream of a war-mad emperor and his fatuous advisers, are now well-understood. The laws of neither God nor man were allowed to stand in their way. Only France, remembering 1870, realized that Germany was plotting, and only France was adequately prepared in a military way to meet the Prussian onslaught.

Russia was half-prepared, with huge armies but with social and economic conditions entirely too weak and wavering to answer the demands of war. Britain's fleet was splendidly ready, but it is obvious now that Britain could not have understood the extent of the German plans of conquest, just as the United States did not understand them.

Yet these European Allies dung themselves into the fray with a desperate courage and a magnificent dash which will stand out in history as a colossal sacrifice of individuals, armies and equipments before one huge and unified war-machine built up by forty years of ceaseless planning.

The war-machine has been stopped and is being slowly ground down by the Allies. Yet they themselves are showing signs of exhaustion, Russia particularly. France, losing men steadily, is held together with such a spirit as has never been excelled in ancient or modern history. Italy is recovering from one of the great war disasters but will suffer sorely for many months to come.

So these nations, which have stood the shock of German impact and have kept the United States from the fight to have its own shores from ruthless invasion, now look to this country for immediate, extensive and continuous help.

Such revelations of German plans as that above show our debt to the Allies.

Such revelations should stimulate our own sacrifices to help the Allies in their hour of need.

The United States is at the threshold of the greatest expansion of its foreign commerce. It will require broad, patriotic statesmanship to point the way. The traditions of insularism must yield to a broadened national trade policy. The passage of the law permitting the use of foreign registered vessels in the domestic trade of the United States, except Alaska, during the war should be permanently maintained after hostilities cease in so far as our insular possessions are concerned. To deprive the Hawaiian Islands, located some 2000 miles from our shores, of the benefits of foreign competition in shipping, formerly enjoyed before annexation, is an exhibition of narrowness of conception, which is against foreign trade expansion and public policy.—Portland, Ore., Timberman.

That congressional party is shrinking in numbers but probably not otherwise.

Russia is in need of about everything except orators and Socialists.

Liquor and Commercialized Vice

A powerful argument in favor of prohibition comes from the voice and pen of a distinguished American surgeon, Dr. Edward Martin, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania.

In the course of a public lecture, which is quoted in full in the university's 1917 volume of faculty lectures, Dr. Martin gives a free and frank discussion of venereal disease and suggests methods for its report to health authorities and its regulation. In that lecture he said:

Our hope in effectively dealing with these curses (sexual diseases)—not modern curses, for they run back through history—lies in the woman's vote, since it is she who suffers most grievously. The first step lies in the suppression of the liquor traffic, without which commercialized vice would cease to be financially profitable. Thereafter these contagious diseases should be treated as are treated others far less menacing to the health of the community.

What this eminent surgeon says is part of the widespread knowledge that liquor and commercialized vice go hand in hand. It is perfectly safe to say that should Hawaii go "dry," the difficult vice problem would be greatly simplified, and there would be a steady advance toward lessening crimes of violence and towards bettering public health.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM MATSON.

(From the Oakland, Cal., Tribune.)

The usefulness of Captain William Matson, head of the Matson Navigation Company, who died in San Francisco, extended to all of California; it was felt throughout the Pacific coast and in the territory of Hawaii.

Captain Matson was a successful businessman and financier; he is said to have amassed a comfortable fortune in the many years of his industry. But he was also a constructive citizen, with pronounced loyalties to the country he called home, and with high ideals of citizenship.

When other shipping companies hauled down their flag and withdrew from the Pacific under the coercive effect of the La Follette shipping law, Captain Matson remained and increased the passenger and freight facilities between Hawaii and the continent. When war prices for tonnage enticed other ships into the munition-carrying trade of the Atlantic, Captain Matson stuck to his established business. That he was making enough money in the Hawaiian line of steamships, and that maintaining the service when it was most needed was reasonably sure to redound to his advantage when normal conditions were restored may have influenced him to this course. But another and a very strong motive was the knowledge that the people of Hawaii and of California needed his help at this time. He gave it as a friend.

Furthermore, Captain Matson, beside contributing to the upbuilding and maintenance of a merchant marine in the Pacific, was always active in civic and other public affairs of this district and Honolulu, giving liberally of his time, advice and financial resources to the general welfare. The end of such a career is always a misfortune and cause for public regret.

ALASKA'S SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

The New York World recalls that "just fifty years ago Tuesday, Brigadier-General Lovell Harrison Rousseau, who had been assigned to duty in the new territory of Alaska by President Johnson, received that domain from the Russian government on behalf of the United States and assumed control of the territory, the largest addition, with the exception of the Louisiana Purchase, that has ever been made to the United States, its area being 590,884 square miles, as against the 827,987 square miles of the Louisiana Purchase, acquired in 1803, more than half a century earlier. The greatest of the previous accessions were Florida in 1819, Texas in 1845, Oregon in 1846, the Mexican cession in 1848 and the Gadsden Purchase in 1853. Since the purchase of Alaska, the Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico, Guam, the Philippines, Samoa and the Panama Canal Zone have been added, making a total added territory of 2,851,171 square miles, an empire in itself. No other country has ever so rapidly acquired vast territories and at so little cost in treasure and blood. So easy and natural did these acquisitions come about that no other single phrase so well explains the process as "manifest destiny."

The fact that recently there was a mutiny in the German fleet is of vast significance. When the patient, docile Teuton rebels he has ample reason for doing so. What occurred at Wilhelmshaven might have occurred in a British, French, Italian or Russian fleet without being of profound import, but when German sailors, willingly obedient to authority and by nature strongly disinclined to protest against exacting demands of their superiors, rise up in resentment, it means a great deal.—Brooklyn Standard-Union.

Discussion of milk prices and the various "angles" given by persons variously interested is bringing forth much comment from "the man in the street." Judging by the comments which have reached the Star-Bulletin, it is generally felt that the cost of getting milk from producer to consumer is out of all proportion to the price received by the producer. The delivery system is coming in for severe criticism.

However, this embargo on the shipment of autos from the coast will furnish some of us with very timely alibis.

The H. C. of L. also prevents pouring any oil on the troubled waters.

Summer Complaint? Not Much

Editor Star-Bulletin:
Sir: Company D, 3rd Engineers of Fort Shafter, of whom many attended the social given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Outrigger Club on their grounds at Waikiki, were so well pleased that they say it is not within their power of expression to tell of the wonderful treatment afforded the men of this command by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown, Miss Ruth Carter, Miss Evelyn Scott, Miss Letitia Morgan, Mrs. Fred Damon, Miss Florence Lee and others who contributed to the fun and amusement of the evening by their tact and judgment in making every one feel comfortable and at home.

All in all we think that the party was one grand success, viewed from the point of dancing, refreshments and the general merriment that ensued throughout the evening; it would be exceeding hard to duplicate it in all its joyous perfection, and now, for the splendid evening the men had who did not attend, but readily recognize this spirit of friendliness, we thank you.

CENSORSHIP OF NEWSPAPERS IN EFFECT MONDAY

In his new role as censor of all newspapers printed in a foreign language in Honolulu, Postmaster D. H. MacAdam has notified the publishers of all such papers that the censorship goes into effect next Monday.

According to the amended postal laws and regulations "until the end of the war it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or association to print, publish, or circulate, or cause to be printed, published or circulated in any foreign language, any news item, editorial or other printed matter, respecting the government of the United States, or of any nation engaged in the present war, its policies, international relations, the state or conduct of the war, or any matter relating thereto."

It is provided, however, that this shall not apply to any publication where the publisher has filed with the postmaster at the place of publication an affidavit with the translation of all such matter printed.

The penalty for "printing, publishing, circulating or causing to be printed, published or circulated in any foreign language" any printed matter respecting the news of the war is a fine of $500 or imprisonment for two years or both, while the same penalty is attached to the act of transporting, carrying or circulating any printed matter which is unmailable under the act.

The provisions of this censorship law are said to apply to even straight news despatches regarding the war or any of its phases. To follow out all its provisions is going to cause a great deal of expense and work to the publishers of the Japanese dailies. After the affidavit and translation are filed by the postmaster, he will issue a permit for the mailing of the foreign language publication.

The president may issue a special permit to any foreign language publication to be published without any of the restrictions of the act if he be furnished satisfactory evidence that the publication will not contain matter detrimental to the United States in the conduct of the present war.

Postmaster MacAdam has made recommendations to Washington that some federal officers here be allowed to issue these permits. For the present the Hawaiian papers published here will not have to fulfill the requirements of the act as the postmaster holds that they are not "foreign language publications" when printed in these islands. Other authority might, however, overrule this decision.

The papers in Honolulu affected by the censorship law are as follows:

- Japanese—Nippu Jiji, Hawaii Choho, Hawaii Shinpo, Hawaii Hochi, Honolulu Commercial Times, Pacific News, Hawaii Home Journal, Independent Review, Jitsugyo No Hawaii Sha, Hawaiian Commercial News, The Yoto, The Kōsanjin, The Tome.
- Chinese—Wah Hing Bo, Chee You Shin Po, Sun Chung Kwok Bo, Yau Bo and Hon Mun Bo.
- Korean—Korean National Herald, Korean Pacific Magazine and Hawaiian Korean Christian Advocate.
- Philippine—The Dobo and Ang Ayban.
- Portuguese—O Lusos.

GIRLS' CLUB OF KALIHI HOSTESS FOR HALLOWE'EEN

The Kalihi Girls' Club entertained their friends and the parents and families of their friends to the number of 300 at a Halloween party last Wednesday night.

The program consisted of drills, marches, songs and games. The proficiency of the drill work and the general excellence of the program gave evidence to consistent attendance on the part of the girls and to good training on the part of Miss Carter and Miss Agee of the Y. W. C. A. and Mrs. Olney of Kalihi.

Money thrown on the floor by visitors was turned over to the use of the club. At the close of the program refreshments were served.

In a very successful evening was spent, and the Kalihi Girls' Club is appreciative of the support and interest manifested by the community at the entertainment.

The club holds its meetings at Kalihi Union Settlement.

FEDERAL AGENT URGES FEDERAL CONTROL OF PACIFIC PHONE LINE

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.) SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 3.—Seizure and operation of the plant and lines of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. was recommended by Federal Mediator Reed in a message which he sent to Secretary of Labor Wilson last night. The message detailed the conditions he had found, the stand taken by both sides in the controversy and the results thus far obtained by his efforts at mediation. He declared that he had found the officials of the company obdurate, especially on the subject of recognition of the unions.

JUDGE COHALAN DENIES HE WAS IMPLICATED IN GERMAN CONSPIRACIES

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.) NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan yesterday issued a formal statement in answer to the charges that the newspapers of the State have for weeks past been publishing against him of having, while occupying the bench in the highest court of the State, been in communication with Berlin and having urged air raids on Great Britain to aid the cause of the Irish revolt of last spring. He declares unwavering patriotism to be a country of his adoption and makes sweeping denials of the charges that have been made against him.

LIBERTY MOTOR PROVES BIG SUCCESS IN TEST

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.—For the first time the new Liberty motor was given an official test on an airplane yesterday. The test flight was in every way the success that has been claimed for this new type of motor. The Liberty motor contains the admittedly best features to be found in motor building. It is light, strong and speedy. Its adaptation to the airship as well as the automobile is fully demonstrated.

AMERICAN WOMEN PRAISED FOR PATRIOTISM

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 3.—War work done by the women of America came in for the praise of Baron Meketa at a banquet at which he spoke last night. He said he had found the efficiency of the women of the United States wonderful and that he believed it would be of the greatest service in the winning of the war.

URGES CONSCRIPTION LAW IN CANADA

HAMILTON, Ontario, Nov. 3.—Speaking in favor of the compulsory service law upon which an election will soon be held to determine whether its operations shall go ahead or shall be halted pending a referendum, Militia Minister Newborn said yesterday that by the operation of the law Canada would be prepared to send over the seas for service ten thousand fighting men a month. Without it Canada will be unable to continue to give the effective service that has been rendered heretofore. He urged the support of the government in its conscription policies by the people at the coming election.

The Oahu Football league will turn on the gas, step on the accelerator and get going this afternoon at Schofield Barracks at 2 o'clock and in Honolulu at Moillili field at 3:30 o'clock.

Two games are scheduled today. The Town Team will meet the Fort Kamehameha eleven at Moillili while the Y. M. C. A. will journey out to Schofield to take on the 32nd Infantry team.

Both games will be good. The army teams are selected to eat up the civilians' eleven but Grandoldope never uses non-skid chains with the result that there's many a slip going around the curves.

Just Anyway. Although J. Atherton Gilman has been prohibited from playing on the Town Team by the military authorities, he will be in at the death this afternoon in the capacity of umpire. Captain Carr will referee while Sergeant Zimmerman will be head linesman.

The mystery surrounding the playing of Davis Pammel and Albrecht had not been cleared up this morning. College of Hawaii still claimed the three would play; with them against Kamehameha cadets while he Y. M. C. A. are confident the lads will go to Schofield against the soldiers. Football experts agree that the three men cannot play in two places at once which is about all the information that can be obtained on the subject.

The stage is set for the opening of the Oahu Football league in style. Up guards and at 'em. Let 'er go!

10,000 CHICKS BURN IN MYSTERY FIRE

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal.—Ten thousand chickens, 12 weeks old, were cooked by one fire when flames destroyed the brood house of the Fontana Brooding Co. at Fontana. Origin of the fire is being investigated. The loss will interfere with the plans to establish the largest laying hen farm in Southern California, projected for next spring.

DOUBLEHEADER BILLED SUNDAY

Wreckers Will Meet 1st-32nd in Final Game While Asahi Club Plays Company K

With one victory hanging to their belts the Wreckers and the 1st-32nd baseball teams will come together with a crash tomorrow afternoon in the final and deciding game of their series. The "No Man's Land" selected for the bloody encounter is Moillili Field and the hour for the execution is 3 p. m.

The other game of the doubleheader will be a battle between the Japanese Asahis and Company K of the 2nd Infantry of Fort Shafter. This game will commence at 1:30 o'clock.

The Big Card But it is the second game of the day that will draw the big crowd. The dopsters are picking the 1st-32nd team to win and pointing to the fact that it was only a ninth inning rally that saved the Wreckers from defeat in the second game of the series last Sunday.

"Manly" Mashay will be on the mound for the 1st-32nd nine, while Wilbur Rogan is slated to twirl for the Wreckers. Both teams are on their toes, and ready to fight to the last ditch for victory.

Sam Nott and Will T. Miles are going to help out the Bat and Ball fund for soldiers at the doubleheader and also at the football game this afternoon. A little box will be passed around to collect the kale.

BIJOU STAGES 2 SHOWS TONIGHT

If you like music, the Bijou's the place tonight, the time is 7 and 8:45 p. m. and the girls—Ethel Davis, Betty Butterick, Jessie Perry and the chicks—will be there in full force to dispense tuneful melodies. If anything the current Bijou offering is one of par excellence in the matter of musical hits.

Buster Lorenzo can claim a large portion of the spotlight for his entertaining rendition of "La Paloma," while Ethel Davis when she sings "Good Old Days Back Home" with chorus-ensemble brings down the house. Other numbers that won applause are Betty Butterick's "I'll Come Sailing Home to You" and the latest patriotic song craze of Gotham, "Goodbye Broadway. Hello France."

It simply won't do to overlook "Izzy" for the principal is right in the foreground when it comes to handing out generous measures of fun and comedy. He sustains his reputation as a laughmaker and will be on hand twice tonight to send out the rippling waves of humor.

SACKS AFTER BEAVER BERTH

Application Made By Sacramento for Portland Franchise in Pacific Coast League

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The fight to oust Walter M. McCredie's Portland Beavers from the Pacific Coast league crystallized here yesterday when Sacramento formally applied to purchase the franchise of the Portland team in the Coast league.

The Reason Portland finished second in the second division of the Coast league, after having held the leadership of this division for some time and once or twice having got into the tail-end of the first division. It had been claimed that the Beavers were a losing proposition to the league owing to the traveling expenses of the teams required to visit the Rose City.

The close and hard victory of San Francisco over Los Angeles, last year's champions, has given San Franciscans great satisfaction. The Seals have been strong against Portland continuing in the league.

Members of the newly-organized Makapuu Point Fishing club will leave early tomorrow morning for a trip to their favorite spot. Among those going out will be Jimmy Williams, Tom Honan, Harry Whitcomb, Johnny Enos, Johnny Schlieff, Gladstone S. Leithard and a number of others.

OFF FOR TRIP The McKinley Thirds nosed out the Healin' Midgets yesterday afternoon in a tight game on Punahou lower field. The final score was 7 to 6. Chung was the big star for the winners. This puts the Punahou Buffs in first place in the league standing and the McKinley eleven in second place, with Punahou Blues in third station.

MCKINLEYS WIN The McKinley Thirds nosed out the Healin' Midgets yesterday afternoon in a tight game on Punahou lower field. The final score was 7 to 6. Chung was the big star for the winners. This puts the Punahou Buffs in first place in the league standing and the McKinley eleven in second place, with Punahou Blues in third station.

RAH RAH LADS READY TO EAT UP KAM SQUAD

Only one game in the Interscholastic Football League will be served up this afternoon, but it will be a humdinger at that. It will be played on the Kam field at 3:30 o'clock between the College of Hawaii and the Kamehameha Cadets and it's a safe bet that these will be more Punahou men there rooting for the cadets than either college or Kam fans.

A defeat for the college would tickle Punahou more than a championship banquet. A great deal depends on whether the college has Bill Davis, Pammel and Albrecht in their line-up. The college football authorities are positive that the three men will play, while Punahou folks are just as positive that the three will not.

The Outlook Rabid grid dopsters are figuring it that the Kam cadets won't find any clams in their clam chowder this afternoon and that if the three men in question play for the college the Kam score will sound like vacuum.

The college team, while not working too hard, has had a number of practices during the week and is not in the shattered condition that the majority of fans would believe.

PACIFICS TO PLAY. The Pacifics will play Company M, 25th Infantry, tomorrow afternoon at Makiki Field at 2 o'clock. Either A. Medeiros or M. Cambra will twirl for the Pacifics, while F. Martin will work behind the rubber.

Frederick Makes Great Run for Honolulu Military Academy; Punahou Wins 41 to 14

By a score of 41 to 14 the Punahou team walked all over the Honolulu Military academy squad yesterday afternoon on Alexander field but while the game was a runaway there were plenty of exciting moments and clever football.

During the first half the Military academy played behind the scenes and failed to get into the limelight while the Punahou men scored five touchdowns and kicked four goals.

In the second half the Academy came back and Fredericks pulled the big play of the day by making a seventy-five yard run around end for a touchdown. It was spectacular football.

The other touch was made by Searle. He notched his after a fifty-yard run. On both occasions Punahou was emulating the Sleazebag Beauty act.

Line Ups The line up was as follows: H. M. A. Position Punahou L. E. L. E. Fassoeh L. T. L. T. Lydgata L. G. L. G. Zane Hansen C. C. Pratt Deverill R. C. Robinson Hoog R. T. Widemann R. E. Alexander D. Dunn Q. Gray T. Searle L. H. Mahikos C. Searle R. H. Pogue Fredericks R. H. Baldwin

Fredericks F. Peterson Breckinridge P. Peterson Scoring: Touchdowns, Gray 2; Pogue 2; Baldwin, Mahikos, T. Searle, Fredericks. Goal from touchdowns: Peterson Fredericks 2.

TRADING WITH ENEMY LAW IS NOW ENFORCED

Judge J. J. Banks Holds Hackfeld & Co. Does Not Come Within Regulations

Judge J. J. Banks, assistant U. S. attorney, who has made an exhaustive study of the new trading with the enemy act, holds that it is not going to affect the firm of H. Hackfeld & Co., for the reason that it is a corporation incorporated under the laws of the territory of Hawaii. It would be affected, he says, were it a partnership.

Alien enemies holding stock in H. Hackfeld & Co., and who are now residing in Germany, the only country with which the United States is at war, will have their local interests taken over by an agent of the federal government, who will collect all monies and retain them until the termination of the war.

The new law puts a strict ban on trading with the enemy and controls every phase of U. S. commerce with the world. It is not necessary for German subjects and subjects of Germany's allies to apply for licenses to do business within the United States. This provision applies only to the branches of firms and the agents of persons who are in Germany or her allied countries.

Once licenses have been granted with these firms business may be done lawfully within the United States, but they cannot transmit without the United States any money or the basis of any credit for the benefit of their German home principals.

In addition to the war trade board the President creates a war trade council consisting of the secretaries of state, treasury, agriculture and commerce, the food administrator and the chairman of the shipping board. This council will act as an adviser to the board, and to it will be referred questions by the President or by the board.

The provisions of the law with regard to the custodian of enemy property are among the most important in the legislation. Under them all property of an enemy, an ally of an enemy, or property suspected to belong to or be for the benefit of either must be reported to the custodian within thirty days.

German residents in the United States need not make these reports. The requirement applies to those defined as "enemies" or "allies of the enemy" only.

Corporations Affected
All stock corporations in the United States must within sixty days of the passage of the act report all stockholders who are or whom it suspects to be enemies or allies of the enemy, and the amount of stock held by each.

Several penalties are provided for all persons who fail to report property held for or indebtedness owed to enemies or allies of the enemy.

The alien property custodian may in his discretion require all enemy property to be transferred to him to be held for the term of the war.

He administers such property in a fiduciary capacity. He may invest all money so transferred in Liberty Bonds. At the end of the war this money and property will be disposed of as congress determines. The attorney general will supervise the payment of all claims against property thus held.

Letters on TIMELY TOPICS

HE NEEDS ANOTHER CLIMATE

Dear Sir: Your correspondent signing himself Henry P. Johnstone evidently needs a change of climate. He's run down. His blood is bad. His elimination is poor, and in his system waste has got ahead of repair. If he came to Hawaii for a rest he has not picked out the best place for his disease. Perhaps he is growing old and feels like an acquaintance of mine, who says he is "too damn near 60 to feel comfortable."

The only remedy is mental therapeutics. Orientation; sit for half a day on an empty garbage box with bare feet and one's face toward Waikiki; or try chiropractics, osteopathy, gestosthalmabus and Christian Science, of each one part for a week or so. I never tried it, but I never had a grouch like Mr. Johnstone's. Sometimes when one remedy doesn't work several mixed will.

However, getting old is a normal process and just as fine and dandy as sliding down hill in winter if you know how to go about it. Of course, Mr. Johnstone may not be old. You can't tell from his name very well. He may have chronic dyspepsia or partial congestion of the liver, or even corns. For dyspepsia, less food and pleasure seeking with doses of patriotism are indicated.

A man who calls the fine heat and fervor of the time "jingoism," who growls at flag-waving, songs of one's country and war enthusiasm, has something bad the matter with his "finners." He's on the road to the doctor or the devil, and the sooner he gets to one or the other the better will it be for him and his neighbors.

For liver trouble, well, the tropics are not the best for that. If Mr. Johnstone is not too old to fight the exercise he would get in the trenches might cure him. Gardening is good, or even milder forms of exercise like waving an American flag or singing "Over There."

Writing grouchy letters is very bad for a man's liver, his own and other livers. Any doctor will acknowledge this.

Why, a man who wouldn't clap his hands over our awakening on food conservation, general economy, liquor selling and drinking, indecency, disloyalty, want of respect for the flag, is half dead already.

He's a leper. He's sicker than Turkey ever was. A man who calls patriotism jingoism; who terms common decency ritualistic; who talks about "diatribes on prohibition," sees yellow. His bile duct is blocked by gallstones or worse.

Writing letters like these for the Star-Bulletin and the Advertiser is almost as bad as sending a message to the Honolulu women on "Business as Usual," not quite, but almost.

ABOUT THE WOMEN'S SWIMMING

Honolulu, Oct. 31, 1917. Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin. Dear Sir: Kindly permit us through the medium of your sporting page to thank the ladies of Honolulu who attended our first Hawaiian swimming meet for women for their interest; the competitors, amongst whom are the gamest little girls in the islands; the Y. M. C. A., who kindly gave free of charge their tank on the 26th and 27th inst.; Messrs. Wichman & Co. for the silver cup presented to the winner of the 50-yards novice race, and the manager of the Star-Bulletin for his cup to the winning team of the relay race, and last but not least the gentleman officials recommended by the A. A. U. to coach us and see us through for their great assistance and personal interest. Without any one of these factors we would not have attained the success to our credit. As advertised, the net proceeds of the meeting will be donated to the American Red Cross Association, and the committee feel called upon to express their regret at the small amount netter, $33.45, which could only be accounted for by the poor attendance owing to lack of newspaper publicity. Unfortunately the Advertiser took the stand that as no men were admitted and their sporting editor had not been invited (their lady correspondent received a ticket) they would refuse to publish any matter in connection with the meet, a notice of which did not even appear in their sporting calendar that day, consequently many women were mistaken as to the date. Particularly did it affect the attendance of the competitors in the 50-yard nov-

STAR-BULLETIN 75 CENTS PER MONTH

SOCIETY

ONE thousand voices are already promised for the mammoth Yuletide chorus which is to be the feature of the community Christmas tree which the Outdoor Circle is planning for the Christmas-eve celebration in the grounds of the capitol, and it is hoped that even more may be obtained. Much interest is being taken in the plans and the committees in charge are all hard at work working out the various details of the program. It is probable that the music will commence about 8 o'clock and it is hoped that the crowds that throng the streets in foolish merriment each year, will this year be found swelling the crowd in the capitol grounds, for this celebration is for all. Men, women and children of every race will gather there to do homage through a beautiful service of song, to the birthday of the Christ Child. Five carols are to be sung by the chorus—"Holy Night," "First Noel," "I Saw Three Ships," "What Child is This?" and "When the Sun Has Sunk to Rest." Miss Jane Winne has kindly consented to add to her many duties the new one of training the chorus and already the various school groups are beginning to work upon the music in their respective schools. Later it is hoped for one ensemble rehearsal.

In addition to the singing of the choruses there will be four old songs to be sung by the entire crowd, led by the choruses, these four songs being, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," to be sung in parts; "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," to be sung in unison; "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," to be sung in unison; and "O Come All Ye Faithful," to be sung in parts.

Each week the words of one song will be printed in the daily papers, and it is requested that all school children and as many more persons who can sing, cut these stanzas out and paste them in a note book and that they commit the words. Those in charge wish that the entire audience should participate in this beautiful yuletide service of song, and the participation will be much more spontaneous and inspiring if the words are perfectly memorized. Stanzas one and two, which have been selected from the first song for universal singing, are here given. The committee in charge request that every one who reads this notice clip out these words and learn them.

"O Little Town of Bethlehem"

O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie,
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting light,
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight.

For Christ is born of Mary,
And gathered all above,
While mortals sleep, the angels keep
Their watch of wondering love.
O morning stars, together
Proclaim the holy birth,
And praising sing to God the King
And peace to men on earth.

STRIBLING-STACKER WEDDING

This afternoon at four-thirty, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. John P. Erdman, will occur the wedding of Miss Miriam Stacker and Mr. Howard Stribling of Ewa plantation. Miss Ruth Stacker will be her sister's only attendant, and Mr. J. Brooks Brown will support the groom. Miss Stacker will wear a simple white Chinese embroidered crepe frock made in the style of an afternoon frock. A white picture hat will be worn and a corsage bouquet of white orchids will finish this attire.

Miss Ruth Stacker will wear a simple coat suit of white silk and a smart, close-fitting hat.

None but the immediate relatives will be in attendance.

After a short honeymoon they will be at home to their friends at Ewa plantation, where they will make their future home.

THE WONDER HAT

Miss Mary von Holt, whose picture appears in this issue, is developing into a very versatile actress. She has been lately taking a keen interest in local theatrical affairs, being secretary of The Footlights, and also a popular member of the Lanai Players. Several years ago she appeared as the Queen in the Peacock Ballet and since then has made rapid advances. Her work in the "Perplexed Husband" was a revelation to all as she played an unpopular part in a very interesting manner. Miss von Holt plays the part of Margaret, the maid, in "The Wonder Hat," one of the three plays to be presented soon by the Lanai Players.

Mrs. Burnham, who plays the leading part in "Joint Owners in Spain" and the title role in "Rosalind," the two other plays which are to be presented, together with "The Wonder Hat," is very versatile, as will be seen during the action of these plays. After returning from several years' study in Paris, she graduated at the Academy of Dramatic Art in New York, and was on the stage where she was associated with some of our most famous American actors. Mrs. Joseph E. Rogers (nee Ethel Spalding) was the motif for one of the prettiest teas given this season and over which Miss Florence Hoffman presided as hostess. The lovely Hocking home was a bloom with American Beauty roses and lemon-tinted chrysanthemums. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was listening to the charming voices of Mrs. Walter Kendall and Mrs. Alexander G. M. Robertson. Mrs. Guy Milnor served iced coffee and Mrs. Harry Hoffman served at the fruit punch bowl. Miss Sara Lucas and Miss Ruth McChesney assisted Miss Hoffman in caring for the comfort and pleasure of the assembled guests. Mrs. Rogers has not been here since she left as a bride and it was a great pleasure to have so many old friends welcome her home.

The following friends called during the afternoon to greet Mrs. Rogers: Mrs. Guy Milnor, Mrs. Purcell, Mrs. L. E. Hooper, Mrs. J. Rogers, Mrs. F. E. Carter, Miss Sara Lucas, Mrs. A. N. Campbell, Mrs. Walter Kendall, Mrs. Harry Hoffman, Miss Sibyl Robertson, Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson, Mrs. Harry Cobb, Mrs. Nelson Lansing, Mrs. M. E. Grossman, E. B. Loomis, Miss Ruth McChesney, Mrs. Arnett F. Matthews, Mrs. E. E. Bodge, Mrs. Morris Carson, Miss Marie Ballentyne, Miss Bernice Halstead, Mrs. George Ahlborn, Miss Dorothy Guild, Miss Genevieve Hocking, Miss Pauline Schaefer, Miss Geraldine Berg, Miss Thelma K. Murphy, Mrs. Thomas E. Wall, Miss Jane Oliver, Mrs. William B. Lymer, Miss Alice Hopper, Mrs. Frances Reed, Mrs. E. M. Watson, Mrs. E. I. Spalding, Mrs. Howard Bode, Mrs. A. Hocking and Miss Sibyl Hocking.

On the lanais stood great baskets artistically filled with daintily tinted hibiscus. After the simple refreshments a pleasant hour was enjoyed in social chat.

A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Madam Loveland, longingly known to all of Maui as "Aunt Colie," held a reception, on Tuesday, October 30, to celebrate her eighty-third birthday. It was a notable event and many Maui residents came to honor this lovely old lady and congratulate her. She is one of the D. C. Lindsay family and with her bright, cheery face it is not possible to think of her age and she is interested in all of the day's doings. She received her guests in her usual gracious manner, not seated but going to meet and escort her friends and showing the flower display sent her, with the activity of a girl. Maui sent flowers galore, the rooms were like a flower shop. Kula, violets, which surpass California violets, were there in profusion, chrysanthemums, roses, gladioli and all sorts of garden blooms, making an exquisite setting for this notable occasion. Many other gifts were sent.

Miss Louise Jones sang "Mother Machree" and then several Scotch songs were enjoyed. Miss Ruth Lindsay, Miss Betty Lindsay and Miss Gladys Meincke served ice cream and punch in the dining room, which was decorated in yellow chrysanthemums. In the library was a huge birthday cake, iced and daintily ornamented and surmounted by 83 candles. The cake cut, all enjoyed a bit of the birthday edible, wishing Aunt Colie many future years of happiness.

Some of those present were Madam Aiken, Mrs. W. O. Aiken, Mrs. H. A. Baldwin, Mrs. W. A. Baldwin, Mrs. D. D. Baldwin, Mrs. W. D. Baldwin, Mrs. H. W. Baldwin, Mrs. S. A. Baldwin, Mrs. Bevin, Madam Bevin, Mrs. R. MR. AND MRS. REYNOLD B. MCGREW ENTERTAIN

A very pretty dinner was given on Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds B. McGrew. A quaint old-fashioned bouquet with a lace frill composed of sweet peas, violets, English field daisies, forget-me-nots and Cecil Bruner roses, was charming. Those enjoying Mr. and Mrs. McGrew's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed after dinner.

Miss Miriam Stacker, who, at four-thirty this afternoon, will become Mrs. Howard Stribling and who will make her home at Ewa plantation.

MR. BREWSTER RETURNS TO NEW ZEALAND HOME

Douglas F. Brewster, who has made many friends in Honolulu since his arrival last spring, will leave next week for Gisborne, New Zealand, his present home.

Mr. Brewster, who was an English man before he became a New Zealander, has three brothers who are officers in the British army, the youngest being still under twenty. Two of his brothers have been disabled from wounds, but his father, who is also an English army officer in active service, and his youngest brother have so far escaped without a wound. His mother is serving as sentry at one of the great munition plants in London. His two youngest sisters, who were at school in Brussels when the German army invaded Belgium, were made prisoners and held for nearly a year.

It is Mr. Brewster's intention to return to Honolulu in April or May of next year and make this city his home. He is at present staying at the Hotel Davenport.

MISS BERNICE HALSTEAD ENTERTAINS VISITORS

Miss Bernice Halstead entertained most informally on Wednesday afternoon for Miss Dorothy Sachs, Miss Frances Brown and Miss Madeline Sachs, all the girls being friends of Miss Eleanor Bissel, who formerly lived here. The three young ladies plan to be here for the winter months.

Those invited by Miss Halstead to meet the visitors were: Miss Pauline Schaefer, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Eleanor Gartley, Miss Ruth Gartley, Miss Marie Ballentyne, Miss Katherine Blake, Miss Letitia Morgan, Mrs. Frank Midkiff, Mrs. L. E. Hooper and Mrs. Charles Littlejohn.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK J. LOWREY HONOR MR. AND MRS. DWIGHT LEFFERTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jewett Lowrey presided at a very informal dinner on Friday evening in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. C. Dwight Lefferts, who are here as the house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Jr. A basket filled with bachelor buttons and pink and white daisies made a charming and unique centerpiece. After dinner social conversation filled the hour. Mr. and Mrs. Lowrey's guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. Dwight Lefferts, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Lowrey.

AN INFORMAL LUNCHEON.

Mrs. William B. Lymer had as her luncheon guests on Thursday Mrs. Frederick Schaefer, Mrs. Walter Kendall, and Mrs. George Ahlborn.

ATTRACTIVE GIRL IN NAVY SET ANNOUNCES HER ENGAGEMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Engagements in army and navy circles are following one upon another with such startling rapidity that one can scarcely keep account of the numerous betrothals that have been announced in the last few weeks among the ranks of those whose place will shortly be at the front.

One of the most recent engagements which has occasioned much pleasurable comment, both in San Francisco and in Vallejo, is that of Miss Louise Richards and Lieutenant William Eggar Baughman, U. S. N., which was told to nearly 200 friends at the bride-elect last Monday afternoon at a handsomely appointed tea given at her home in Vallejo.

Miss Richards is one of the most attractive belles in the navy set, and numbers her friends in San Francisco as well by the score, many matrons and maids of the smart set having gone to Vallejo to be present at Monday's affair. The bride-to-be is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mathews Richards of Vallejo and the granddaughter of Mrs. Mary A. Richards of San Francisco. She is a cousin of Mrs. Francis Vincent Curtis.

Lieutenant Baughman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. J. Baughman of Sacramento, who take a prominent part in the social life of the capital.

MRS. GEORGE A. MARSHALL HONORS MRS. W. H. SHIPMAN.

Mrs. George A. Marshall was hostess at a delightful and informal tea on Tuesday afternoon complimenting Mrs. W. H. Shipman of Hilo. During the afternoon a couple of clever guessing games were enjoyed, then simple "war time" refreshments were served. During the afternoon Mrs. Elizabeth Mackall gave the assembled guests the pleasure of listening to several songs.

Some among those present were: Mrs. Elizabeth Mackall, Mrs. W. H. Shipman, Mrs. A. E. Murphy, Mrs. Harry Irwin, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Herbert Cohen, Mrs. Woodford, Miss Woodford, Mrs. Spitzer, Miss Edna Curtis, Miss Florence Shipman, Miss Thelma Murphy, Miss Helen Pratt, Mrs. Guy Milnor, Mrs. W. H. Hisstrman, Miss Harriot Hapel, Miss Edna Crozier, Mrs. C. H. Bonesteel, Miss Nellie Marshall, Miss May Marshall and others.

AN ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Jensen of Kauai announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Albert Sparow Bush of Honolulu. No date has been set for the wedding, as Mr. Bush is on his way to the front to "do his bit" for America.

Attractive Suits for Women

Smartly tailored suits are very much in favor by women in every walk of life, chiefly because there is more good service in a trim tailored suit than in almost any other outer garment.

These new arrivals will appeal to women of this city for their fabrics are of good quality, and they are completely well tailored in the favored simple straight line effects. They will be used both for business and dressy wear. Their prices, too, are surprisingly reasonable.

SOCIETY

MRS. G. FRED BUSH'S LUNCHEON

Mrs. G. Fred Bush entertained on Tuesday with a "Hoover lunch," complimenting Madam L. B. de Laitte of Paris and San Francisco, a visitor here for a few days. Everything served at the luncheon was grown at either the Aiea home of the Bush's or at their town place, the food served all being simple and in accord with the request of Mr. Hoover and the local food commission. Many people feel they should not entertain, but if women were to follow the example set by Mrs. F. J. Lowrey, Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Jr., and Mrs. G. Fred Bush entertaining would be a simple matter. It is not necessary to offer a large spread to induce our friends to come. The luncheon, tea or dinner that is served with common sense is the one most appreciated.

Mrs. Bush's guests were: Madam de Laitte, the honor guest; Mrs. Zeno K. Myers, Mrs. William A. Purdy, Mrs. Theodore Lansing, Mrs. Charles Atherton and Mrs. Jules M. Levy.

FOR SOLDIER BOYS

Owing to the dinner of the educational council which is to take place this week Thursday, the November social, scheduled for that evening, has been postponed until Thursday evening, November 15. This is to be an enlisted men's social, and it is hoped that the members of the church and congregation will be as loyal in their support of this affair as they were of the first affair for the soldier boys. Mrs. George Brown is chairman of the general committee of arrangements, while Mrs. J. Oscar Phillips has the program in charge. Details of the affair will be announced next Sunday.

The change in date of the social necessitates also a change in the date of the circle meetings, and this monthly union meeting of the sewing groups will be held on the fourth Thursday of November the 22nd, at the parish house.

IOWA CLUB PLANS ACTIVITY

The officers and committees of the Iowa Club held a meeting at the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening. Plans were discussed regarding the nature of the next social, which will be held in the early part of December.

The club has created an enthusiastic membership among the enlisted men from the Hawkeye State. But there are a few citizens about town eligible to membership that have not enrolled yet. The officers of the club would appreciate it if such parties would leave their names with Mr. Gibson, phone 3304.

MR. AND MRS. HAMILTON P. AGE'S BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton P. Agee gave a simple, informal dinner, celebrating Mrs. Agee's birthday on Wednesday evening at their Manoa home. The idea of Hallowe'en was carried out in the decorations, and the highly-polished table was further enhanced with lace doilies instead of the usual damask cover. Yellow chrysanthemums gave a glow to the table while the rest of the home was attractively decorated with flowers, the gifts of friends. After dinner an hour on the roof garden was an added pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Agee's guests were Mrs. Ernest Waterhouse, Mrs. Denise Mahan Beall, Miss Florence Butler, Major Gallogly, Captain John Brooks, Capt. Raymond E. McQuillan and Mr. Frank Muir. The last named left this week for England to join the British colors and do his bit.

BONESTEEL-HEATH NUPTIALS

Word comes to Capt. and Mrs. C. H. Bonesteel of the wedding of their sister, Miss Mary Bonesteel, to Mr. Heath in Nagasaki last month. Mrs. Heath left here to visit her sister in Japan and there met her fate in the person of Mr. Heath, and then came the cable announcing the wedding. Mrs. Heath is well known here, for she made her home with Capt. and Mrs. Bonesteel, both in Hilo and Honolulu, and has a pleasant circle of friends in and out of the service. Mr. Heath is manager of the British-American Tobacco Co. in Japan. They will make their home in the Orient.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK HALSTEAD HONOR DR. AND MRS. ALFRED WALL

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halstead presided at a very informal and pretty dinner on Friday evening in compliment to Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Wall, who have so recently arrived from their honeymoon trip. After dinner a rubber of bridge was interesting and enjoyable.

A TEA AT HALEKULANI

Mrs. Clifford Kimball was hostess at a very informal tea at Halekulani on Friday for the guests at this hostelry. The guests were comfortably seated under the large old hau trees that have always made Halekulani a pleasure.

Mrs. Kimball's guests were: Mrs. A. H. Walker, Mrs. A. W. Akers, Miss Akers, Miss Nicols, Miss Woodward, Miss Nicholls, Mrs. Carr of Schofield, Mrs. E. J. Cowing and Mrs. C. M. V. Forster. Social chat and knitting made a very pleasant and enjoyable afternoon.

MISS MARGARET AYER'S HALLOWE'EN DINNER

Miss Margaret Ayer was hostess at a very pretty dinner on Wednesday evening at the Young Cafe. A huge pumpkin lantern was in the center of the table surrounded by tiny Jack o'Lanterns filled with sweet meats. Crowning the pumpkin were island fruits nicely arranged.

Miss Ayer's guests were Miss Marjorie Capps, Miss Ruth Law, Mr. Robert McCriston, Capt. William Britton and others.

ENGAGEMENT OF POPULAR SERVICE GIRL

Col. and Mrs. Robert R. Raymond announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine, to Captain Cris Miles Burlingame. The wedding is to take place some time in January.

Miss Mary von Holt, who will play the leading part in the Little Players' production next week.

MRS. HENRY DAMON TALKS TO THE D. A. R.'S

Mrs. Frank Batchelor and Mrs. Salie H. Douglas were joint hostesses on Monday afternoon to the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Henry Damon gave a very interesting talk which was listened to with keen interest.

MRS. M. E. GROSSMAN GIVES A LUNCHEON

Mrs. M. E. Grossman entertained at a charming informal luncheon on Thursday at her Nuuanu home. The table was most attractive. A woody brown basket was filled with lovely deep yellow chrysanthemums. Bridge was the pleasure of the guests after luncheon.

Some among those enjoying Mrs. Grossman's hospitality were: Mrs. Alford Wall, for whom the luncheon was given; Mrs. Thomas Wall, Mrs. A. Hocking, Mrs. Phillip Peck, Miss Annie Lackland, Mrs. A. Gartenberg and Miss Stella Peck.

A DELIGHTFUL POI LUNCHEON

With her guests seated about a table simply and yet artistically decorated with golden coreopsis, Mrs. Charles Chillingworth entertained on Thursday with a poi luncheon.

After luncheon, knitting and bridge made a pleasant program for a charming day. The affair was given in compliment to Mrs. Emmet May and those invited to meet her were Mrs. Harold Giffard, Mrs. Walter Macfarlane, Mrs. Alexander G. M. Robertson, Mrs. Harry Gray, Mrs. Mark Robinson, Mrs. Harry Murray, Miss Margaret McIntyre, Mrs. Clarence Cunha, and Mrs. Ferdinand Hons.

A HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Mrs. B. von Damm gave a children's Hallowe'en dinner party on Wednesday evening at Halekulani. Lighted pumpkins on the table with only candle light gave the "spooky" effect. Needless to say the little folk had a jolly time. Covers were laid for six youngsters.

MRS. JARED SMITH HONORED.

Mrs. Jared Smith was the guest of honor at a very informal tea on Thursday when Mrs. B. E. Noble entertained. Hospital handkerchiefs were hemmed by the guests and not only a pleasant but a profitable afternoon enjoyed.

Some among those invited by Mrs. Noble to meet Mrs. Smith were Mrs. Fred Waldron, Mrs. Frank Barriere, Mrs. Charles Heiser, Mrs. John Fleming, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Richard Quinn, Mrs. Thomas Sharp, Miss Keefer, Mrs. I. Beadle, Mrs. John Lennox, Mrs. Laver and others.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD HAYSLENDEN'S DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayselden gave informal farewell dinner on Saturday in honor of Miss Dorothy Van Way, who left this week for the mainland. After dinner dancing was enjoyed.

VISITORS AT THE TRAINING CAMP

Friday afternoon Colonel and Mrs. Frank Keeler, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kendall, Mrs. James Dougherty, Mrs. Emmet May, Major Merriam and Mr. Cornell Franklin visited the officers' training camp at Schofield, visiting the trench work. Later all motored to Haleiwa and enjoyed a swim. Dinner was partaken of and later the party motored to town in the moonlight.

MR. AND MRS. REYNOLD B. MCGREW'S DINNER

With their guests seated about a table daintily pretty with pale-tinted hibiscus Mr. and Mrs. Reynold B. McGrew entertained on Thursday evening. After dinner music was enjoyed.

Their guests were: Mr. and Mrs. William Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Schaefer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Giffard, Mrs. Ayer and Mr. Robert Menary.

Miss Florence Butler has moved her studio to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mackintosh's at Waikiki.

MID-PACIFIC INSTITUTE RECEPTION.

The reception given by President and Mrs. Williams, the Board of Managers of Mid-Pacific Institute, and the teachers of Kawaiahao Seminary and Mills School, in honor of Miss Mattie M. Paine, the principal of Kawaiahao Seminary, was held at the home of the president on Monday evening, October 29.

The grounds and the home had been beautifully decorated by the teachers and pupils of the schools, and the full moon added greatly to the beauty of the outdoor scene.

The guests were met at the door by girls from Kawaiahao Seminary in their native Japanese and Chinese costumes. In the President's home was the receiving line in which were President and Mrs. Williams, Miss Mattie M. Paine, the guest of honor, Mr. M. Blowers, assistant principal of Mills School, and Mr. and Mrs. George Waterhouse, Mr. Waterhouse being a new member of the board of managers.

After the greetings in the house the guests passed out onto the lanais and down into the outdoor pergola and about the grounds. The pergola was a center of attraction during the evening, for here the Glee club from Kawaiahao Seminary sang Hawaiian selections and light refreshments consisting of punch and wafers were served under the direction of Mrs. Phillip Frear.

About two hundred guests availed themselves of this opportunity of meeting the board of managers and the teachers and friends of Mid-Pacific Institute.

Those in charge of the various parts of the reception were Miss Mary P. Campbell, chairman of the committee on general arrangements and chairman of the refreshment committee; Mr. A. E. Wyman, chairman of the hospital committee and general master of ceremonies; Miss Ruth S. Tubbs, in charge of the music; and Miss Ruth A. Yeomans in charge of the decorations.

Such social gatherings early in the year have always proved most popular and helpful in bringing together the teachers from the various institutions in the community and the friends of all of the schools.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Boyd of Schofield Barracks celebrated their wedding anniversary by giving a dinner party at the Pleasanton hotel on Saturday evening and later taking their guests to the Young roof garden. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gertz, Mrs. L. R. Emmans, Mr. Walter G. Robinson, all of Honolulu, and Dr. and Mrs. Brigham of Schofield.

Mrs. Nick Longworth (Alice Roosevelt) told Mrs. Edward C. Carpenter, who is delightfully remembered by the local society folk, that she (Mrs. Longworth) was planning on coming here for the winter months. She visited here before her marriage and was greatly feted.

SOCIETY

Society here seems to be awakening from long and peaceful slumber, for as the days grow a bit cooler and women begin to realize that to be patriotic does not necessarily mean to give up all entertaining, they are reviving social affairs, though simply.

Milady will not feel that she is being a wicked, wasteful creature. The tea of today is a "refreshmentless" one and the cooling glass of punch, iced tea, or iced coffee is as much as any of us really cares for. A car party could be given with equal ease. Serve punch during the afternoon and during the time formerly given over to elaborate refreshments make a social half hour and visit at different tables, thus really doing a little more than nodding to those at the party.

For prizes give some simple or moderately expensive thing for we are not asked to especially Hooverize on gifts, so make your prizes as pretty as you wish or pocketbook dictates. Or invite friends in for a knitting afternoon. Always, however, be sure to stipulate that it is a refreshmentless party. One feels sure that no guest will remain home on that account and if a guest does, you are infinitely better off without such a friend. The food commission is urging strongly conservation of the supplies necessary for our men and our Allies. It urges doing away with the extra meal, that is, the serving of food for refreshments either between luncheon and dinner or between that meal and bedtime, so, milady, it's up to you! If you fall in doing your part the shame and humiliation is yours.

The Woman's War Council is trying and succeeding in doing as the food commission asks and while the War Council is anxious to give our boys a delicious after-luncheon or after-dinner spread, yet it feels that the food commission has gone so deeply into this subject that its word should be law.

The question of the soldiers' entertainment is one much discussed today and it is a huge question, for the soldier, entertained, feels that he wants to return the kindness extended and his first thought will be either a dance or the movies. Of course few of the soldier lads are sufficiently well known to the girls for them to go out with them. It is reasonable to suppose and the soldier lads will all understand that a girl must know something of the man she is going out with, no matter how well chaperoned how large the group going. Let the soldier come to the homes of the different women who invite him and there he will receive that which all of the soldiers say they have longed for, a touch of home life and home surroundings. One society woman plans to ask a dozen soldier lads and an equal number of girls out to movies and she will see the girls home.

Miss Katherine Raymond, whose engagement to Capt. Cris M. Burlingame was announced this week by her parents, Colonel and Mrs. Robert R. Raymond.

TWO OUTRIGGER DANCES FOR ENLISTED MEN

The dance given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Outrigger club on Wednesday evening was a great success. About three hundred soldiers were in attendance and a very happy evening resulted. The dance hall was very prettily decorated with such things as go with Halloween night and to give it a touch of the special occasion, service flags adorned the building. The Halloween games and the "fortune telling" booth were very popular. Mr. Raymond Brown added a couple of very nice features, for after much persuasion he sang "Over There," every one joining in the chorus until the hall was filled with the voices of our soldiers and the women at the dance. Later "Tipperary" was done equally effectively, both songs being very pleasing.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Miss Eva Kinney celebrated her birthday with a dinner at the Seaside hotel Saturday, October 27. Dancing was indulged in later in the evening. The decorations were roses. The guests were Mrs. Frank King, Miss Lillian Anderson, Miss Hazel Maxwell, Miss Ruth Parr, Miss Margaret Sullivan, Miss Glenna Thomas, Miss Eva Kinney and Major Robert H. Duenner, Lieutenant Frank Tuohy, Edgar Anderson, Charles J. Birney, William Oakley, G. Floyd Perkins and Walter Hancy.

RECEPTION AT JAPANESE CONSULATE

The reception at the Japanese consulate on Wednesday afternoon, honoring the emperor's birthday, was a very charming affair very elaborately carried out. The Hawaiian band played in the garden. The rooms were abloom with gorgeous flowers, American Beauty roses, chrysanthemums and cut flowers. Elaborate refreshments were served and delicious Japanese delicacies also pleased the guests. The pretty gowns of the women, the flowers and the sprinkling of service uniforms all tended to make a charming picture. About three hundred guests called during the afternoon.

MISS PAULINE SCHAEFER HONORED

Miss Pauline Schaefer was the honor guest at a small informal tea on Friday afternoon, over which Miss Genevieve Young presided as hostess. Knitting was enjoyed and simple refreshments served.

MR. AND MRS. G. K. TACKABURY'S DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Tackabury are entertaining very informally at dinner this evening at the Courtland hotel.

RYCROFT-SOPER WEDDING

This evening at 8 o'clock will occur the wedding of Miss Blanche Soper and Mr. Walter Rycroft, thus uniting members of two of Honolulu's oldest families. Miss Soper is one of Hawaii's most charming daughters, a tall, slender blonde. She will make a lovely picture in her bridal robes. She will be given away by her father, Col. John H. Soper, and her sister, Miss Ruth Soper, will be her only attendant. Mr. Robert White will support Mr. Rycroft. The wedding will be witnessed by a large number of friends of the two families. All Honolulu extends good wishes for their future happiness.

MR. H. O. WITHERS' DINNER

Mr. H. O. Withers was a dinner host on Tuesday evening at his Kaimuki home. Covers were laid for ten guests.

SOPHIE JANET JUDD'S BIRTHDAY

Little Sophie Janet Judd celebrated her fourth birthday on Thursday by having the following little girls in to help eat the birthday cake: Anna Purdy, Amelia Purdy, Reynolds McGrew, Peggy Marie McGrew, Katherine Afong, Elizabeth Afong, Mary Aford, Emma Judd, Betty Judd, Helen Judd, and little Joffre Judd. A happy time was enjoyed.

LANAI PLAYERS' CHANGE DATE OF FRIDAY PLAY

Owing to the fact that Governor Pinkham's reception for the congressmen takes place on Friday evening, Mrs. R. N. Burnham announces that the play for that evening has been postponed from Friday until Monday evening. Any one who has not been reached by Mrs. Burnham may either hold the tickets for the Monday performance or exchange them for either the Thursday or Saturday performance. Mrs. Burnham will be glad to answer any questions about the play, "The Wonder Hat," that any one may wish to ask.

5. Dance—"Highland Fling".....Misses Robinson and Ross
6. Folk Songs.....Mrs. Louise Jones
7. Piano Solo.....Vidar Waller
8. Minuet.....Misses Vetselsen and Ross
9. The Marionettes....."Star-Spangled Banner."

FAIR AT BISHOP'S PARK TODAY.

The fair that is being held today at Bishop Park is to raise funds to construct a new Catholic church at Kaimuki. The present chapel at the Academy of the Sacred Hearts is inadequate to hold the congregation, for it never was intended as a house of public worship, but only to be used by the Academy students and teachers. Yet when the Kaimuki folk came to service they were cheerfully welcomed until they packed the little chapel, the overflow remaining on the broad lanai facing the chapel. Hence the need of a church. A large piece of ground has been secured and from this the rock will be quarried and the church erected. Father Patrick St. Leger will be the pastor.

With the assistance of many women the fair today will go a long way toward helping to finish this much needed house of worship.

THE NEW YORK STATE CLUB.

The New York State Club has called a meeting for Monday afternoon at four-thirty at the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. A full attendance of New Yorkers is expected and if there are any visiting New York State people here they are also welcome. His club is formed for the purpose of meeting enlisted men from New York State. There are about a thousand New York men in the army here and the letters received by the committee tell their own story. The men's anxiety to be long and their wish to be helpful is indeed a pleasure to note. An enlisted man from each post is to be asked to serve on the executive committee.

MRS. SUMNER S. PAXSON GIVES A LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Sumner S. Paxson was a luncheon hostess on Friday at the Country Club. The table was exquisite, covered with an embroidered tablecloth, and in the center stood a silver basket filled with long stemmed American Beauty roses. Ivory-tinted name cards marked each cover. After luncheon masquerade dance at their beautiful quarters in the nurses' home on Monday evening. The dance was in the nature of a Halloween party and was the scene of much merriment and enjoyment.

Mrs. Julia E. Lohman entertained at a large card party on the Monday before she left for the coast, which was a very enjoyable affair. The house was prettily decorated with many shaded hibiscus, while the card tables were arranged on the lanai and in the rooms.

Mrs. Edward Sweeney, who was a constant visitor on the spot during her stay in Honolulu, left on the Columbia this week for her home in San Francisco. Mrs. Sweeney made many friends while here and all good wishes follow her.

Mrs. Edward Fuller Witsell and Capt. Edward F. Witsell were the guests of Dr. Harry M. Dieber for dinner at the Young's cafe on Wednesday evening.

Quite a number of parties were gotten up for Halloween, among which was one composed of Miss Kathleen Law, Miss Marjory Capps, Miss Margaret Ayers, Capt. William H. Britton, Mr. Bob McCorriston and Capt. Robert A. Sharrar. The party had dinner at Young's hotel and then went up to the roof to enjoy the Halloween festivities there.

Mrs. James M. T. Pearson was hostess at luncheon on Friday for Mrs. James M. Johnson, Mrs. Drinkwater and Mrs. Sims T. Hoyt.

Maj. and Mrs. Frederick Hadra entertained on Sunday at noon dinner for Capt. Ludy, Capt. Baldwin and Capt. Alexander.

Lieut. and Mrs. Ralph R. Vogel had as their house guest for the week end Mr. Charles Emmlinger of San Francisco.

Lieut. William T. Mathias was host at a dinner given at the 25th Infantry club on Friday evening, when he entertained for Capt. and Mrs. Keene, Miss Silburn Purvis, Miss Isabel Baker, Mrs. James M. T. Pearson and Mrs. James M. Johnson.

Mr. Herbert G. Moody, who has been visiting his uncle and aunt, Maj. and Mrs. Daniel E. Gienty, for the past two months, received a cable on Tuesday which made his immediate return to his home necessary, and he was a passenger on the Maui, which was scheduled to leave for San Francisco this week.

The Tuesday Night Card club met at the Administration building this week with Mrs. Julia E. Lohman as hostess. Mrs. Lohman also won the prize. Those present were Maj. and Miss Ruth Stacker, Who Will Attend Her Sister, Miriam, at the Wedding of the Latter.

Mrs. Frank C. Bolles, Mrs. Edward Fuller Witsell, Lieut. and Mrs. James M. Johnson, Lieut. and Mrs. James M. T. Pearson, Capt. Ernest Ely, Capt. Eugene A. Lohman and Mrs. Julia Lohman.

Capt. and Mrs. Claire R. Bennett were the guests of the Kamehameha cadets for dinner on Sunday evening at the mess hall at the Kamehameha school.

Capt. Lester Baker, Dr. Harry M. Deiber, Capt. Lohman, Sharrar, Britton, Witsell and Mrs. Edward Fuller Witsell were among those from this post who were enjoying the Halloween festivities at Young's roof garden on Wednesday evening.

Maj. and Mrs. Frederick Hadra entertained informally at supper on Sunday night for Mrs. Moore, Dr. Harry M. Deiber and Lieut. William E. Kramer.

Mrs. Edward Sweeney was the house guest of Maj. and Mrs. Daniel E. Gienty on Monday night.

Mrs. Horace D. Bloombergh had one table of bridge on Friday afternoon for Mrs. Edward Fuller Witsell, Mrs. George M. Callender and Mrs. William H. Brown. The game was played out under the beautiful hau tree at the water's edge and later tea was served on the same beautiful spot.

Lieut. and Mrs. Seth W. Webb entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening for Capt. and Mrs. Sims T. Hoyt and Mrs. Peterson.

Lieut. and Mrs. Carlyle Haines will entertain at dinner at Young's hotel on Saturday evening for Maj. and Mrs. Frederick Hadra, Mrs. Moore and Capt. Eugene A. Lohman.

During the absence of Mrs. Lohman on the coast Capt. Eugene A. Lohman is taking his meals at the bachelors' mess on the main post.

Several people motored out to Schofield Barracks on Friday evening in response to an invitation received during the week from the 25th Infantry to a dance they were giving at their clubhouse that evening.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Charles W. Van Way, wife of Captain Van Way, left on Thursday for the mainland. Capt. Van Way is some place on "the other side."

A large delegation of young folk were on the wharf to bid aloha to Miss Dorothy Van Way on Thursday. She was laden with leis and gifts from her many friends here.

Word comes from Mrs. George Davies, who is at present in England, that her husband, Capt. George Davies, is in France and is one of the instructors in a training camp.

Mrs. C. J. Billson and her mother, Mrs. Julia Macfarlane, left for San Francisco this week. Mrs. Macfarlane will visit with her daughter and with her sister, Mrs. Helen Noonan.

Miss Lucy Ward left this week for the mainland. After a short California visit she will go to Arizona and visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong.

Mrs. A. H. Walker Mrs. A. W. Akers, Mrs. Akers, Miss Nichols and Miss Nicols are visitors from New Zealand and during their visit here will make their home at Halekulani.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kendall are planning to leave next week for their northern home after two months spent in renewing old friendships and adding new friends to their already large circle.

Mrs. Katherine Yates left for Japan this week to remain for an indefinite time. At the wharf were a large company of friends to bid her bon voyage and a happy stay in the land of the cherry blossom.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Loomis are in town again and at their various homes after spending a delightful month at the John Guild place at Kaalawai.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Corving of Oakland, California, have arrived in Honolulu and during their sojourn through this winter will make their home at Halekulani. This is their third winter and needless to say they are enjoying Honolulu as much as ever, especially the swimming.

Mrs. Gideon Van Poole is very comfortably situated in an apartment in San Francisco, where she will remain until Major Van Poole leaves for France. He is now in Washington. After his departure Mrs. Van Poole hopes to return to Honolulu, where she has a host of friends.

The legions of friends of Mr. Frederick Schaefer are delighted at the news of his continual improvement in health. It is hoped that he will be able to go home very shortly. Mr. Schaefer is dearly loved by young and old and his sick room is lovely with many gifts of flowers.

Social Annoyance

From a hygienic standpoint social annoyance is getting serious, since the strain on both the body and the mind requires constant physical attention. Certainly nothing is more annoying to a refined person than offensive perspiration or body odors. Those who have used Tyree's Antiseptic Powder know it to be the one remedy which never disappoints. For general use—dependable in all cases—it should be in every household.

Dr. M. E. Chartier, of the Faculté de Paris, France, said "If there is a very unpleasant affection and hard to cure at that, it is surely these conditions." He also says, "there are to be found in the drug stores many preparations containing boric acid and talcum. These preparations, generally used in a dried state, have the great inconvenience of clogging the pores of the skin. This is not the case with Tyree's Antiseptic Powder, as it acts as a deodorizing, stimulating agent. My attention was called to this fact while attending several cases of severe inflammation produced by Poison Oak. While no other remedy would give relief, Tyree's Antiseptic in the proportion of two teaspoonsful to a pint of water allayed the intense pain in a comparatively short space of time."

This preparation is sold in boxes at twenty-five cents and one dollar, by the manufacturer, J. S. Tyree, Chemist, Inc., Washington, D. C.

Are Told How to Find Relief from Pain.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I used to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELINA MARTIN, 29 Bowers Street, Nashua, N. H.

Schofield Barracks Society

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Nov. 3.—Mrs. William McLauren added largely to the social calendar of functions planned for the ladies of the Post when she entertained with an enjoyable tennis tea on Tuesday afternoon. Doubles were the chosen way to try one's luck, partners being found by the matching of numbers written on slips and drawn from an envelope. The tennis players were: Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mrs. Englebert Owenshine, Mrs. Charles Watson, Mrs. John Hauser, Mrs. William McLauren, Mrs. Effie Keasley, Miss Millie Cotchett, Miss Marybelle White, Miss Katherine Anderson, and Miss Lenore Tyler. Prizes for the fortunate winners were awarded to Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Watson. Most inviting was the shade of the tent which was placed at the side of the court and where cooling feed tea, delicious cake and sandwiches were served. A number of additional ladies were invited for tea, among them Mrs. Brigham, Mrs. Archibald Arnold, Mrs. Philip Thurbur, Mrs. Harold Vandaveer, Mrs. Philip Kiehl, Mrs. Cuthbert Stearns, Mrs. Tyler and Miss Marguerite White.

Capt. and Mrs. Walter Greacen and small daughter, Katherine, returned to the post on Monday after an absence of two weeks. The 4th Cavalry officers and ladies were responsible for a very delightful hop on last Friday evening. Decorations of guidons, regimental trophies, flags and crossed sabers made the dancing pavilion most attractive. Japanese lanterns festooned from the beam ceiling to the side posts were used for lighting. Twelve straight dances recorded on the attractive but simple programs were danced with much enjoyment as all were very well played by the regimental band. In the clubrooms the cavalry motto was still further carried out in the lights and in the various species of yellow flowers clustered in vases and jars. A delicious punch was served during the evening and after dancing was discontinued the guests were tempted by a most appetizing supper before saying "Good-night." Among the dancers were: Col. Lucius Durfee, Maj. Stephen Smith, Maj. and Mrs. Frederick Arnold, Capt. and Mrs. Philip Kiehl, Capt. and Mrs. Cuthbert Stearns, Capt. and Mrs. William McLauren, Capt. and Mrs. Byard Sneed, Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Lowe, Capt. and Mrs. Charles Rice, Capt. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, Capt. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Capt. and Mrs. Markley, Capt. and Mrs. Albert Hennessy, Capt. and Mrs. John Richardson, Capt. and Mrs. Archibald Arnold, Capt. and Mrs. Philip Thurbur, Capt. and Mrs. Clarence Danielson, Capt. and Mrs. Paul Manchester, Lieut. and Mrs. Albert White, Lieut. and Mrs. Lloyd Clary, Mrs. Charles Van Way, Mrs. De Russy Hoyle, Mrs. Helen MacAdam, Miss Lenore Tyler, Miss Katherine Anderson, Miss Ruth McChesney of Honolulu, Miss Mellie Cotchett, Miss Dorothy Van Way, Miss Martha McChesney of Honolulu, Miss Effie Keasley, Capt. Karl Greenwald, Capt. Daniel Murphy, Capt. Raymond McQuillan, Capt. Leonard Herwig, Capt. Clyde Selleck, Capt. Chas Bankhead, Capt. John Smith, Lieut. Marcus Monsarrat, Lieut. Amory Cotchett, Lieut. Owen Fowler, Lieut. William Barott, Lieut. Arthur White, Lieut. John Hoskins and Lieut. Maury Mann.

Mrs. Frederick Hadra of Fort Shafter was a guest in the post last Thursday, being entertained in the home of Mrs. Charles Van Way. Miss Millie Cotchett left the post for Honolulu on Wednesday, staying in the city for the remainder of the week as guest of friends. Dr. and Mrs. Hubert Wood of Wailua were host and hostess at a delightful affair on Sunday when they entertained with a dinner party and swim. Those to enjoy Dr. and Mrs. Wood's hospitality were Dr. and Mrs. Pratt, Miss Juca of Honolulu, Dr. Buffett of Kahu, Mrs. Minnie Churchill of Wailua and Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Pratt of Schofield Barracks. Capt. and Mrs. Jacob Devers presided at an attractive dinner party on Saturday evening. Gorgeous red hibiscus clustered in a large wicker basket formed a beautiful centerpiece for the table. Covers were laid for Capt. and Mrs. John Wyeth, Capt. Clyde Selleck, Capt. Bertram Frankenberg, Lieut. Arthur Davis and Lieut. Fruquette. Mrs. Charles Watson entertained a dozen or more of her friends on Friday with a pretty bridge tea complementing Mrs. Charles Meals. Cut flowers and ferns were placed on tables and stands in her attractive quarters, to add their beauty to the scene. Interesting games of bridge made the afternoon pass most pleasantly for all. At 5 o'clock Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mrs. Winters, Mrs. Paul Manchester, and Mrs. Markley added to the guests who enjoyed the excellent tea and refreshments. Mrs. Watson's guests for bridge were Mrs. Englebert Owenshine, Mrs. Byard Sneed, Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mrs. Chas. Meals, Mrs. Chas. Rice, Mrs. Robert Houston Anderson, Mrs. Corbitt Hoffman, Mrs. Thomas Lowe, Mrs. John Richardson, Mrs. Albert Hennessy, Mrs. Donald Forbes, Mrs. Lloyd Clary, Mrs. Philip Rossiter, Miss Katherine Anderson, and Miss Lenore Tyler.

On Friday evening Capt. and Mrs. Byard Sneed were host and hostess at a beautiful dinner party before the 4th Cavalry band. Delicate hued cosmos formed an exquisite floral offering for the oval dining table. Artistic place cards marked covers for the guests, who were Capt. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mrs. Charles Meals, Capt. Charles Bankhead, Capt. John Smith, and Capt. William Russell. The affair was given as a farewell compliment to Mrs. Meals, who left the following Wednesday for the States. Mrs. John Richardson was the charming hostess in an informal table of bridge on Thursday afternoon, entertaining Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mrs. Charles Watson, Mrs. Corbitt Hoffman, and Mrs. Philip Rossiter. After several enjoyable games Mrs. Markley and Mrs. Sneed joined the party and chatting over fast-flying knitting needles became the amusement of the hour. Tea was served at 5 o'clock. The 1st Infantry Bridge Club met in pleasant session on last Wednesday with Mrs. Charles Rice as the entertaining hostess. An enjoyable afternoon at cards passed until tea time when a light repast was served. Mrs. Rice's guests were Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mrs. Englebert Owenshine, Mrs. Corbitt Hoffman, Mrs. Philip Rossiter, Mrs. Robert Houston Anderson, Mrs. Charles Watson, and Mrs. Walter Greacen. Capt. and Mrs. John Hauser contributed to the social events of the week by entertaining with a dinner party followed by bridge. The affair took place on Wednesday evening and being Halloween the decorations were all in accordance. Yellow flowers in a cut-glass vase formed a pretty centerpiece and offset most effectively the blacks, reds, and browns of the Halloween motif. Capt. and Mrs. Hauser's guests were Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Pratt, Capt. and Mrs. Jacob Dever and Capt. and Mrs. Harold Vandaveer. At bridge Mrs. Pratt and Capt. Vandaveer, being the most fortunate players, were awarded the much-sought-after prize. Capt. John Burnett, who has been fortunate enough to receive a ten-day leave, has joined Mrs. Burnett at the Haleiwa Hotel, where they will spend a pleasant vacation. Capt. and Mrs. Charles Rice entertained with a jolly chafing dish party after the "movies" on Wednesday evening at their guests Capt. and Mrs. Corbitt Hoffman, Mrs. Philip Rossiter, and Mrs. John Richardson, and Capt. John Simons. On Sunday Lieut. and Mrs. Lloyd Clary, Mrs. Lillie Noble White, Miss Marybelle White, Miss Marguerite White, Lieut. William Mathias, and Lieut. Williston Warren composed a swimming party who enjoyed the afternoon at the beautiful bay of Waimea. Returning later in the evening a movie party featuring "Some where in France" was enjoyed as guests of Lieut. and Mrs. Clary. Mrs. Charles Meals and small son Robert were the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Henry Lewis for dinner on Saturday. Miss Martha McChesney, Miss Ruth Soper, and Miss Ruth McChesney, attractive society girls of Honolulu were the guests of Miss Millie Cotchett for Friday and Saturday of last week. As guests of the 4th Cavalry the young ladies attended the cavalry hop. Lieut. Jack Bullene was dinner host at the Young Hotel on last Friday evening. American Beauty roses adorned the table as an exquisite centerpiece. Lieut. Bullene's guests were Misses Marybelle and Marguerite White and Lieut. Forrest Pinkerton. Dancing on the Roof Garden completed the evening's pleasure. Mrs. Charles Meals and children were the guests of Mrs. Paul Manchester of Honolulu on Tuesday and Wednesday they were guests at the Young Hotel until the liner Maui sailed on Wednesday at noon. On Thursday morning at 12 o'clock the Sherman sailed for the United States. Schofield Barracks was again a loser of several of its most attractive personnel. Mrs. DeRussy Hoyle and three small children left for Maui, Hoyle, who left over a month ago for station in the United States. Capt. and Mrs. Cuthbert Stearns and small daughter, Frances, received orders at the last moment much to the regret of their many friends. Mrs. Charles Van Way and family of four will be greatly missed, as Mrs. Van Way has a very charming personality. Her eldest daughter, Miss Dorothy, has been quite popular in both post and city society and is leaving quite a host of warm friends and admirers who wish her every happiness in life. Mrs. William Banister entertained on Tuesday with an informal farewell bridge party honoring Mrs. De Russy Hoyle. Mrs. Banister's guests were the honoree, Mrs. John Richardson, Mrs. Albert Hennessy and Mrs. Lloyd Clary. A handsome Japanese wicker basket was presented to Mrs. Hoyle as a guest's prize. Typically Halloween in every detail was the party given on Halloween night by Capt. and Mrs. John Wyeth. Around the quarters black cats, witches and goblins were decorations suggestive of the evening. All the guests were in costume and put through every manner of stunts. Capt. and Mrs. Wyeth's guests were Capt. and Mrs. Archibald Arnold, Capt. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, Miss Katherine Anderson, Mrs. De Russy Hoyle, Capt. Clyde Selleck, and Capt. Karl Greenwald. Capt. and Mrs. Archibald Arnold were host and hostess at a Halloween dinner party on Wednesday evening. Mrs. De Russy Hoyle, Capt. Clyde Selleck, Capt. Karl Greenwald were the guests. After dinner the party were guests of Capt. and Mrs. John Wyeth for the remainder of the evening. Miss Dorothy Van Way spent the first part of the week in Honolulu as the house guest of Miss Jessie Baldwin. A number of pretty social events were planned as a farewell compliment to Miss Van Way prior to her departure on the transport Thomas. Among these was a beautiful dinner party for 18 guests given on Monday evening by Mr. Howard Ballentyne. Capt. and Mrs. Clarence Danielson motored into Honolulu on Wednesday, having as their guests Lieut. and Mrs. Lloyd Clary. After attending the reception given by the Japanese embassy the party took dinner at the Young Hotel and later were guests for "Halloween-night" on the Roof Garden. Lieut. Arthur White was movie host on Monday evening with Capt. and Mrs. Albert Hennessy, Mrs. Lillie Noble White, Miss Marguerite White, Miss Marybelle White, Lieut. Joseph Cleary, and Lieut. William Barott as his congenial guests. John Richardson, Jr. was host to a number of his small friends at a real Halloween party on Wednesday evening at the quarters of his parents. Capt. and Mrs. John Richardson, in Cartier. Story-telling, bobbing for apples and venturing into "ghost realm" were planned to amuse the little folks. Master Richardson's guests were Marion Halstead, Jane Rice, Barbara Lowe, Lydia Schaefer, Alexander Rossiter, Dicky Smoot and Charles Rice. Every child was in costume and each went home having had a most wonderful time all during the party. On Wednesday afternoon the Japanese embassy in Honolulu was the scene of a beautiful reception in honor of the Japanese Emperor's birthday. A large number of army officers and ladies were present, the white uniform showing off to much advantage against the lovely background of the oriental and antique furnishings of the house. American Beauty roses, Japanese yellow chrysanthemums and the royal flowers of Hawaii, made the reception suite a bower of fragrance and beauty. The guests were welcomed by the Japanese consul general and his staff before passing on into the dance hall or to the attractive luncheon tables placed under a large awning on the lawn. A Hawaiian stringed orchestra and a military band from the United States army furnished music for dancing and for the benefit of the guests. American and Japanese flags were everywhere to be seen crossing staffs in the perfect friendship of two nations. Many army men from Schofield Barracks motored in to pay their respects during the afternoon. Miss Marguerite White, Miss Lenore Tyler, Miss Marybelle White, Lieut. Jack Bullene, Lieut. Arthur White, and Lieut. William Barott formed a party which dined informally at the Young Hotel on Wednesday evening. Earlier in the afternoon the party had been guests at the Japanese embassy. Dancing on the Roof Garden was enjoyed before motoring back to the post. Among the army people who made the trip into Honolulu on Thursday for the purpose of bidding "Good-bye" to those leaving on the transport Thomas were: Capt. and Mrs. Philip Keihl, Lieut. and Mrs. William Saportas, Lieut. Lewis Dorn, Lieut. Corey, Capt. John Eager, Capt. Vincent Erwin, Capt. Karl Greenwald, Lieut. Richard Clark, and Lieut. Owen Fowler. Batteries A, B, C, D of the 9th Field Artillery spent four days last week encamped on the sands of Haleiwa. They returned to the post on Monday morning. On Wednesday morning every organization in Schofield Barracks turned out to pass in review before Col. Lucius Durfee, the commanding officer of the post. The sight was well worth seeing and many people took advantage of the opportunity to praise the "ranks of khaki" and to show their interest by being onlookers. Brig. Gen. John Wisser accompanied by his staff was a visitor in Schofield Barracks on Thursday. Capt. and Mrs. George Stallman and two small children, Josephine and George, Jr., spent Saturday in Honolulu as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chandler. On Friday evening Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Pratt were host and hostess at an attractive dinner party celebrating their anniversary. A centerpiece of gorgeous long-stemmed American Beauty roses made a beautiful setting for the handsome appointment of the table. Maj. and Mrs. Pratt's guests were Capt. and Mrs. Harold Vandaveer, Capt. and Mrs. John Hauser, Mrs. Jacob Devers and Miss Jane Oliver. Among the recent promotions received in Schofield Barracks was the promotion of Dr. Charles Jewel, who has received the rank of captain in the national army. Capt. and Mrs. Tyler, Miss Lenore Tyler and Lieut. Arthur White, formed a bathing party who spent Thursday afternoon at Haleiwa. Capt. and Mrs. Charles Jewel and Miss Effie Keasley were dinner guests at the Haleiwa Hotel on Saturday, being entertained by Mr. Pittam. Mr. Hocking of Honolulu was a visitor in the post on Friday morning, being the guest of Miss Jane Oliver and Lieut. John Hoskins for luncheon. Col. and Mrs. Wm. Banister dined informally with Dr. and Mrs. Boyd on Tuesday. Dr. and Mrs. Boyd were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Brigham on a very enjoyable "around-the-island" trip on Sunday. Dr. and Mrs. Philip Rossiter and Master Alexander were dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Boyd on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Frederick Hadra of Fort Shafter was a guest in the post last Thursday, being entertained in the home of Mrs. Charles Van Way. Miss Millie Cotchett left the post for Honolulu on Wednesday, staying in the city for the remainder of the week as guest of friends. Dr. and Mrs. Hubert Wood of Wailua were host and hostess at a delightful affair on Sunday when they entertained with a dinner party and swim. Those to enjoy Dr. and Mrs. Wood's hospitality were Dr. and Mrs. Pratt, Miss Juca of Honolulu, Dr. Buffett of Kahu, Mrs. Minnie Churchill of Wailua and Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Pratt of Schofield Barracks. Capt. and Mrs. Jacob Devers presided at an attractive dinner party on Saturday evening. Gorgeous red hibiscus clustered in a large wicker basket formed a beautiful centerpiece for the table. Covers were laid for Capt. and Mrs. John Wyeth, Capt. Clyde Selleck, Capt. Bertram Frankenberg, Lieut. Arthur Davis and Lieut. Fruquette. Mrs. Charles Watson entertained a dozen or more of her friends on Friday with a pretty bridge tea complementing Mrs. Charles Meals. Cut flowers and ferns were placed on tables and stands in her attractive quarters, to add their beauty to the scene. Interesting games of bridge made the afternoon pass most pleasantly for all. At 5 o'clock Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mrs. Winters, Mrs. Paul Manchester, and Mrs. Markley added to the guests who enjoyed the excellent tea and refreshments. Mrs. Watson's guests for bridge were Mrs. Englebert Owenshine, Mrs. Byard Sneed, Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mrs. Chas. Meals, Mrs. Chas. Rice, Mrs. Robert Houston Anderson, Mrs. Corbitt Hoffman, Mrs. Thomas Lowe, Mrs. John Richardson, Mrs. Albert Hennessy, Mrs. Donald Forbes, Mrs. Lloyd Clary, Mrs. Philip Rossiter, Miss Katherine Anderson, and Miss Lenore Tyler.

On Thursday morning at 12 o'clock the Sherman sailed for the United States. Schofield Barracks was again a loser of several of its most attractive personnel. Mrs. DeRussy Hoyle and three small children left for Maui, Hoyle, who left over a month ago for station in the United States. Capt. and Mrs. Cuthbert Stearns and small daughter, Frances, received orders at the last moment much to the regret of their many friends. Mrs. Charles Van Way and family of four will be greatly missed, as Mrs. Van Way has a very charming personality. Her eldest daughter, Miss Dorothy, has been quite popular in both post and city society and is leaving quite a host of warm friends and admirers who wish her every happiness in life. Mrs. William Banister entertained on Tuesday with an informal farewell bridge party honoring Mrs. De Russy Hoyle. Mrs. Banister's guests were the honoree, Mrs. John Richardson, Mrs. Albert Hennessy and Mrs. Lloyd Clary. A handsome Japanese wicker basket was presented to Mrs. Hoyle as a guest's prize. Typically Halloween in every detail was the party given on Halloween night by Capt. and Mrs. John Wyeth. Around the quarters black cats, witches and goblins were decorations suggestive of the evening. All the guests were in costume and put through every manner of stunts. Capt. and Mrs. Wyeth's guests were Capt. and Mrs. Archibald Arnold, Capt. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, Miss Katherine Anderson, Mrs. De Russy Hoyle, Capt. Clyde Selleck, and Capt. Karl Greenwald. Capt. and Mrs. Archibald Arnold were host and hostess at a Halloween dinner party on Wednesday evening. Mrs. De Russy Hoyle, Capt. Clyde Selleck, Capt. Karl Greenwald were the guests. After dinner the party were guests of Capt. and Mrs. John Wyeth for the remainder of the evening. Miss Dorothy Van Way spent the first part of the week in Honolulu as the house guest of Miss Jessie Baldwin. A number of pretty social events were planned as a farewell compliment to Miss Van Way prior to her departure on the transport Thomas. Among these was a beautiful dinner party for 18 guests given on Monday evening by Mr. Howard Ballentyne. Capt. and Mrs. Clarence Danielson motored into Honolulu on Wednesday, having as their guests Lieut. and Mrs. Lloyd Clary. After attending the reception given by the Japanese embassy the party took dinner at the Young Hotel and later were guests for "Halloween-night" on the Roof Garden. Lieut. Arthur White was movie host on Monday evening with Capt. and Mrs. Albert Hennessy, Mrs. Lillie Noble White, Miss Marguerite White, Miss Marybelle White, Lieut. Joseph Cleary, and Lieut. William Barott as his congenial guests. John Richardson, Jr. was host to a number of his small friends at a

Mrs. John Richardson was the charming hostess in an informal table of bridge on Thursday afternoon, entertaining Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mrs. Charles Watson, Mrs. Corbitt Hoffman, and Mrs. Philip Rossiter. After several enjoyable games Mrs. Markley and Mrs. Sneed joined the party and chatting over fast-flying knitting needles became the amusement of the hour. Tea was served at 5 o'clock. The 1st Infantry Bridge Club met in pleasant session on last Wednesday with Mrs. Charles Rice as the entertaining hostess. An enjoyable afternoon at cards passed until tea time when a light repast was served. Mrs. Rice's guests were Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mrs. Englebert Owenshine, Mrs. Corbitt Hoffman, Mrs. Philip Rossiter, Mrs. Robert Houston Anderson, Mrs. Charles Watson, and Mrs. Walter Greacen. Capt. and Mrs. John Hauser contributed to the social events of the week by entertaining with a dinner party followed by bridge. The affair took place on Wednesday evening and being Halloween the decorations were all in accordance. Yellow flowers in a cut-glass vase formed a pretty centerpiece and offset most effectively the blacks, reds, and browns of the Halloween motif. Capt. and Mrs. Hauser's guests were Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Pratt, Capt. and Mrs. Jacob Dever and Capt. and Mrs. Harold Vandaveer. At bridge Mrs. Pratt and Capt. Vandaveer, being the most fortunate players, were awarded the much-sought-after prize. Capt. John Burnett, who has been fortunate enough to receive a ten-day leave, has joined Mrs. Burnett at the Haleiwa Hotel, where they will spend a pleasant vacation. Capt. and Mrs. Charles Rice entertained with a jolly chafing dish party after the "movies" on Wednesday evening at their guests Capt. and Mrs. Corbitt Hoffman, Mrs. Philip Rossiter, and Mrs. John Richardson, and Capt. John Simons. On Sunday Lieut. and Mrs. Lloyd Clary, Mrs. Lillie Noble White, Miss Marybelle White, Miss Marguerite White, Lieut. William Mathias, and Lieut. Williston Warren composed a swimming party who enjoyed the afternoon at the beautiful bay of Waimea. Returning later in the evening a movie party featuring "Some where in France" was enjoyed as guests of Lieut. and Mrs. Clary. Mrs. Charles Meals and small son Robert were the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Henry Lewis for dinner on Saturday. Miss Martha McChesney, Miss Ruth Soper, and Miss Ruth McChesney, attractive society girls of Honolulu were the guests of Miss Millie Cotchett for Friday and Saturday of last week. As guests of the 4th Cavalry the young ladies attended the cavalry hop. Lieut. Jack Bullene was dinner host at the Young Hotel on last Friday evening. American Beauty roses adorned the table as an exquisite centerpiece. Lieut. Bullene's guests were Misses Marybelle and Marguerite White and Lieut. Forrest Pinkerton. Dancing on the Roof Garden completed the evening's pleasure. Mrs. Charles Meals and children were the guests of Mrs. Paul Manchester of Honolulu on Tuesday and Wednesday they were guests at the Young Hotel until the liner Maui sailed on Wednesday at noon. MOTOR CAR MAKERS TO SET RECORD NEXT YEAR

General Manager of National Automobile Chamber of Commerce Predicts Huge Production Demands in 1918—Present Year Has 18 Per Cent Increase in First Six Months Over Same Period in 1916

THE coming year, 1918, will prove to be the banner year for the Automobile industry. While hundreds of automobile manufacturers, dealers, and salesmen have been predicting for some months past that 1918 would be the biggest year in the motor car production and motor car sales, their forecast has now been officially indorsed by a statement from that solid and conservative body known as the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce which declares that there is every indication for continued large sales and increased manufacturing of motordriven vehicles next year.

Despite the entrance of the United States into the world war, the flotation of two Liberty loans and the enactment of heavy war taxes, the automobile industry continues to thrive, grow and expand, as it never did before. Optimistic Now

The prosperity which is today sweeping the length and breadth of the United States and its territories has carried the motor-car on its uppermost crest. Back in the spring this year there were some who predicted a financial setback for the motortrade but even the most pessimistic are optimistic now. An expression of opinion on the general condition of affairs in the motor car industry issued by Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is as follows: "Production and sales for the first six months of this year 18 per cent ahead of same period last year. The prospects are that this year's production will reach about 2,000,000 passenger cars and trucks."

Mechanics Will Study Music To Aid Their Work

THE study of music as an aid toward greater efficiency in a mechanic's work in tuning up a motor car is something entirely new in the automobile game under the American flag, and the credit for this innovation goes to Frank Coombs of this city. He is urging his force of mechanics to study music. During the lunch hour at the Coombs shop it is a common sight to see "the boys" picking on a steel guitar or an ukulele between bites of ham sandwiches. And while the idea is new here and on the mainland, France, the home of the finest automobile mechanics in the world, has had it in effect for some years.

FLAG MARKS END OF LONG LINCOLN TRAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—A huge American flag has been raised in Lincoln Park overlooking the Golden Gate, marking the western terminus of the transcontinental Lincoln highway. The flag is a memorial to Betty Ross, who made the first American banner. It was hoisted to the breeze by a committee of the Native daughters of the Golden West. Heretofore a bare tin sign marked the end of the trail.

'BAWLING OUT' THEN FINE; WOMEN VOICE OBJECTIONS

A village deputy marshal as defendant in the automobile club on the side of the prosecution was the unusual status presented by a case before a justice of the peace at Hudson, Ohio. John Larkin, acting special deputy marshal at a recent celebration, was fined for using indecent language to a party of motorists including women. Complaint was made by a member of the Cleveland Automobile club. After testimony had been introduced as to the nature of the language used by the officer in "bawling out" the motorists, Larkin entered a plea of guilty, and the justice suspended a fine of $10 and costs.

BOY SEES FIRST AUTO, HORSE AND ELEVATOR

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 16.—A sixteen-year-old boy of good education saw his first horse, his first automobile, his first street car and enjoyed his first ride in an elevator in this city a few days ago. He is Tony Joule, a full-blooded Eskimo who arrived here with A. R. Hoare, a missionary, from his home at Point Hepe, Alaska, 1,500 miles north of Nome. Tony was on his way to New Hampshire to attend an Indian school.

SCHUMAN CO. SALESMAN SETS NEW SALES MARK

Setting a new record for automobile sales in one week, J. A. M. Johnson, salesman of the Schuman Carriage Co., who returned from the island of Maui early this week and left during the latter part of it for the coast. He sold five Hudson super-sixes in seven days, and besides that had an unusual amount of success in distributing other models handled by the concern he represented. He will remain in San Francisco for one month, his trip being both a combined business and a vacation tour. While on the coast he will endeavor to hurry along the huge shipment of cars for the Schuman Carriage Co. of all models now in San Francisco.

Exemption Claim Of Edsell Ford Proves Flippant

DETROIT, Oct. 20.—The occupational exemption claim made by Edsell Ford, Secretary of the Ford Motor Company, has been denied by the District Draft Appeal Board. The board held his relation with the Ford tractor holdings through which he asked exemption were not sufficient to uphold his contention. Mr. Ford felt he should have been exempted because, as the only son of Henry Ford, he has been taking over his share of the burden of the great Ford industry and aiding in direction of the work. In his affidavit he declared he is engaged in the manufacture of farm tractors and army field ambulances and trucks, aircraft engines and parts used in signal corps work of the United States army. Unless he appeals to the President—the only course left—he will be called in the second draft. Three pounds of dynamite were found in an area of the Philadelphia City Hall. Ready to be sent here, but delayed on account of the lack of space on the ships.

Trip To Beautiful Suburban Section Overlooking Pearl Harbor--a Fine Lewis Tour

Visit to the Peninsula on Greatest Neutral Harbor in World Proves Excellent Sunday Outing—Sights Seen Include Pearl City, the Shortest Free Railroad in Existence and a Wonderful View of Salt Lake and Drive Through Moanalua

By MIKE JAY
SOME one told us that we ought to visit Pearl Harbor, the greatest natural harbor in the world! "Pay a visit to the Peninsula. That's the best way to get a glimpse of it because the naval authorities won't let you near it at other points," they told us. No sooner said than done! Yes, just like that! For it is included in the Lewis Tours and is one of the best on the list because it contains so many different sights in its brief route. So we made it in a Pierce-Arrow car of the Lewis Tours Co., and we want to say right now that no tourist who is a stranger to Honolulu should fail to visit the Peninsula and see Pearl Harbor via the Lewis Tours system. When Mother Nature came to consider the various parts of the world and its construction, to some she gave mountain scenery, to others ocean beaches, to others magnificent sunsets, to others wonderful moonlight nights and to others rugged cliffs and alluring inlets. Thus she distributed her blessings and when she finished, she decided to choose some spot from all the world in which to place something of each piece of scenery in order that the nature-lover need not roam over the entire world to see all of Nature at her best. Paradise of the Pacific For that spot she selected the Hawaiian islands and then outlived her work by putting her best into her greatest triumph. In these islands may be found towering mountains, snowcapped peaks, sweeping ocean beaches, rugged cliffs, active and extinct volcanoes, magnificent sunsets, glorious moonlight nights, and days of everlasting sunshine. And when they called it "Paradise" they misnamed it for truly Paradise could never match, much less excel, the wonders and the beauty of these enchanting isles, "the loveliest fleet that lies anchored in any ocean." And each and every one of these unsurpassable scenic spots may be seen from points of vantage on a Lewis Tour, for the Lewis Tours are personally conducted by drivers who know every inch of the islands and who know when and from just what point to see each work of Mother Nature at her best. Try It Sunday! So when we expressed a desire to see Pearl Harbor, they told us to try the Lewis Tours who would provide a competent driver and select an opportune moment for the visit. And what is more, they did. Sunday afternoon, we were told, would be the best time to view the harbor and the point of vantage would be the Peninsula that extends into the almost landlocked inlet. And then they provided a driver who, if he failed to show us all that was to be seen, must have done it through no fault of his own, for we saw Pearl City, the Great Salt Lake, Moanalua Park, the deserted cemetery by the wayside, the shortest free railroad in the world, and then the greatest harbor of them all. Truly we believe it to be the ideal Sunday outing short trip, and if other Lewis Tours but match this one, they are indeed worth undertaking. We're Off It was early afternoon when the Lewis Tour Pierce-Arrow slid down Beretania street to King street and bowled along the road toward Moanalua Park. Scores of cars were passed bound in the same direction. Flitting by Fort Shafter and by dint of careful driving avoiding the ruts in the street left by the road gang for "Thank you, mum" bumps, the car purred and wound down the incline at hairpin curve to the beautiful Moanalua Park. The first stop was made on the bridge that crosses the lazy stream, dotted with water lilies and waving reeds. The green grass of the park runs down to the water's edge of the brook and with the broad spreading trees about gives the scene the aspect of an old English country home grounds. The sunlight through the trees danced upon the ripples in the stream like a flickering motion picture. The Sugar Cane Fields We turned away with regret when the driver hustled us back into the car, saying that there was much to see in the trip ahead. The automobile spun along, now turning a sharp curve and giving us a view of the valley beyond and again twisting on the winding road and holding through cool-like cuts in the embankment. Suddenly we topped the rise and there on either side of the road lay

NO SHORTAGE OF METAL FOR WORK IN STUTZ PLANT

Despite the fact that metal supplies in the nation are running below normal, the von Hamm-Young Company, distributors of the Stutz car, are gaining much comfort from the fact that their factory has been foresighted enough to anticipate an entire season's business ahead of 1918.

Word to this effect has been received from the Stutz factory by the local dealers who, during the past week, have been informed that their order for a big per cent increase over that of last year would be recognized.

We asked the Stutz factory if they could take care of three times the business we did last season, said one of the managers of the local concern yesterday, "and they told us that we could safely figure on twice the number of cars, and that, unless the unusual demand exceeded in other parts of the country, we might figure on three times our last season's allotment."

Expect Big Year
"It is almost impossible to be truthful," he continued, "and still not appear to impose upon the credulity of the automobile buying public, but we never have seen a season start off with such wonderful enthusiasm as the season that is before us."

"Don't worry about our getting materials," is the word they sent us. "We have made every arrangement for materials. Proceed taking orders. We will do our best to take care of them all."

LIFE OF SUPPLY MAN A SAD ONE

The next time you drive up to a supply station to buy five gallons of gasoline do not go away feeling that the life of the man in charge is all one of roses. He has his troubles, too, and here are a few of them, as told to the automobile editor of the Star-Bulletin.

Women, whose husbands buy gasoline in fifty gallon lots, and save 2 cents a gallon thereby, think nothing of asking the supply man to see that "all of the tires have plenty of air, and the radiator is filled with water." The supply man obligingly does as requested, but he is so hot under the collar that he doesn't dare to go near the gas tank until he cools off.

A young woman, just learning to drive, asks if she will have to put any more air in the tires before she gets home. She is told that barring punctures and blowouts, the supply will not have to be replenished for at least a day or two.

Such Is Life
Some motorists ask the advice of the supply man, and after getting it they proceed to ignore his judgment. Then there's the fellow who comes into the station at thirty miles an hour, fails to stop his machine, and takes out a corner of the building. He expects the station man to pay for the damage to his car.

Also the man who tells you that he only gets fifteen miles to the gallon on the kind of gasoline you sell, but another brand gives him twenty. He merely trades with you because he hasn't got enough on hand to take him to his favorite station.

NOW'S THE TIME

Here's the answer to a question put to the automobile editor of the Star-Bulletin the other day by a man who wanted to know "Why be a member?" of the Honolulu Auto Club when he couldn't see that it got him anything:

Because you want good roads.

Because touring information is available.

Because you don't want to pay higher license fees.

Because you may appreciate legal advice in the future.

Because you want fair and just laws.

Because you like good city motor ordinances.

Because you believe in abolishing death traps.

Because the club emblem brings good luck.

Because every motorist is doing it now.

Automobile Is Not a Luxury But Necessity, Claim Local Dealers

HONOLULU'S automobile row is up in arms! Following the publication of an article Wednesday in which J. F. Child, federal food commissioner, expressed his belief that "Automobiles which are used solely as pleasure cars may be included in the commodities which the federal government considers not essential to the war's conduct, or to the necessities of the people, and after November 1 may not be transported in freight cars," there was much heated discussion along the row on the possibility of the stoppage of further shipments of motor-cars to these islands. The dealers were unanimous in the opinion that the passenger-carrying motor-car is not a luxury, but an absolute necessity, and that it would be a mistake on the part of the government to withhold this necessity from the public.

Further consternation among the automobile dealers in the city was prevalent last night when the rumor spread that an embargo had actually been declared by the federal shipping board on automobiles to Honolulu.

Salesmen of the four leading motor dealers' concerns in Honolulu were interviewed on the subject and their remarks follow:

PURELY PLEASURE AUTO DOES NOT EVEN EXIST

By J. K. McALPINE of the Schuman Carriage Co.
NOWADAYS there is no such animal as a pleasure car! "Referring to the article which appeared in the Star-Bulletin a few days ago in which J. F. Child, federal food commissioner, remarked that he believed the government would prohibit the shipment of automobiles used for pleasure so that the space occupied could be filled by more essential commodities, I want to say that it is impossible to class the automobile in the list of commodities 'not needed,' inasmuch as the very fiber of our national existence depends upon rapid transportation."

"The term 'pleasure car' was abandoned by manufacturers and dealers more than a year ago, and 'passenger-carrying cars,' to which Mr. Child evidently refers, are no longer considered luxuries, but absolute necessities.

"I believe that it will be impossible to draw a line between an automobile for business and the automobile for pleasure if the government is to stop shipment on so-called 'pleasure cars.' The automobile owner uses his car six days a week either in direct pursuit of his business or as a means of quickly transporting himself and others to and from that place of business. The fact that he may take his family out on a Sunday is not a pleasure trip, but a necessary recreation in order to 'keep fit' for his work. At this time of national economy it might be well to curtail joy-riding, but the idea of classing all passenger-carrying cars as 'pleasure cars' is antediluvian. One might as well say that it is a pleasure to have telephones or telegraph as to say that a passenger automobile is a pleasure car."

MOTOR CARS POSITIVE NECESSITY NOWADAYS

By E. E. BODGE of the von Hamm-Young Co.
YEARS ago when motor cars were first invented they were great curiosities, and a ride in one of the horseless carriages was indeed considered a pleasure, even if the passengers did have to finish their journey by walking after the machine had gone its limit or had broken down before its real limit had been reached.

"Today the highly perfected motor car is the most reliable means of transportation and is now classed as an absolute necessity. This classification has become so general that automobiles are now termed 'passenger cars.'"

"For the manufacturers of today are striving to make their machines so reliable and efficient that even the most skeptical prospective purchaser must be convinced by practical demonstrations that the traveler of today cannot cover the desired amount of territory in a satisfactory manner unless he makes use of the motor car."

"Every motor car today, exclusive of the racing cars, is a bona fide commercial vehicle manufactured exclusively to carry passengers and freight, and any restriction as to their manufacture or delivery would be a serious menace to our country and a very great setback to the gigantic war preparations which our country is now undertaking."

FIRST HUDSON SOLD

The first Hudson Sedan car to appear on the island of Oahu was sold this week by the sales force of the Schuman Carriage Co. It is a handsome car and ideal for winter use. It was purchased by a local motorist.

Retiring directors were re-elected at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad, held in Salt Lake.

MOTOR CAR MEN LOOK FOR NEW MARK IN 1918

cent greater than last year. The war department is about to order 15,000 army trucks in addition to several thousand already under contract. Business houses all over the country are now rushing orders for vehicles so as to protect themselves against freight and express embargoes and delays.

"It is a fact that the automobile industry will be called upon to manufacture the Liberty war motor and the various parts for aeroplanes. This will be in addition to the heavy demand from the government for utility automobiles and trucks."

Order Now
Intending purchasers of motor cars, both passenger and utility, on these islands may experience considerable difficulty during the next few months in securing delivery unless their orders are placed immediately, is the prevailing opinion in local automobile circles.

The shortage of machines at the factories and the possible freight embargo owing to the war necessity will no doubt cause a delay in delivery. These two facts coupled with the big demand for motor cars in every part of the world is prompting many Hawaiians to order their automobiles now.

MECHANICS TO STUDY MUSIC

"Besides that it's a diversion for the boys," said Mr. Coombs, "and they enjoy it. Who doesn't like a little music with a meal? The average motorist who has an ear for music will also find that it helps him to tell when his car is running smooth and when the hum is broken. For you know a lot of growing engine troubles escape the ear of a man who is not musical. Were he trained to music he would never fail to catch the small jarring note in the purr which means that something is out of key. Of course there are some mechanics who can never learn to be engine testers, and as a rule you'll find that they have little or no ear for music, and by music I don't mean only ragtime, but classical music."

At any rate Mr. Coombs' idea is aiding his staff to enjoy themselves during their lunch hour, and since he himself has had years of experience in the automobile repair game he should know whereof he speaks.

EMBARGO WOULD HURT BUSINESS PROGRESS

By FRANK COOMBS of Coombs Auto Shop
J. F. CHILD, federal food commissioner, has declared that he believes automobiles used solely as pleasure cars will be included in the list of commodities which the federal government considers not essential to war's conduct or the necessities of the people. These commodities will be denied shipment on freight cars and ships, as I understand it.

"Could Mr. Child have been referring to all automobiles, except trucks and freight carriers, when he made the statement? From the wording of it, the inference is that only freight carriers and trucks will be exempt from the embargo. The pleasure car, referred to by Mr. Child, must mean the touring car and runabout."

"If that is the case, and the government is about to stop shipment of touring cars and runabouts, the government is going to incapacitate business. For the so-called pleasure car is not a pleasure car at all but a real business car and as necessary and essential to the average businessman as pencils, blotters, typewriters and dictaphones."

"Five years ago or even three years ago, a businessman could carry on his work without an automobile, and if he had an automobile he used it for outings on the week-ends and evening drives. But since then business of all kinds has speeded up, due to the war, and everybody is going at top speed. The average businessman does two days' work in one now, because he has to in order to keep up with the pace. And how does he do it? By using every modern convenience possible for rapid transactions and the convenience which has become a necessity to business is the automobile. The pleasure car of three years ago has now become a business car. In fact the car used

RAINFOATS are more like smart topcoats than ever this autumn and are quite as varied in color and mode. Perhaps a shade newer than any others are those of Zambrene. The material is a diagonal wale cloth, waterproofed and trimmed with contrasting satin, also waterproofed. The tans of different shades are particularly pretty. One with navy blue trimming, piped with white, has deep cuffs, collars and a trimming at the bottom of piped wide folds. The lining matches the trimming. Stitched hats to match are made to order. Scotch plaid silk coats are very good looking and effective for the purpose, as are the other waterproofed silk and satin materials. All follow the full raglan models with and without belts.

FULL length suede raglans lined with foulard silks are self trimmed and the buttons are covered to match. Those in green, blue, tan, mulberry and brown are the prettiest. Hats to match are trimmed with bands solely as pleasure has vanished from the earth.

"If the government stops shipments on passenger-carrying cars, and that's what Mr. Child must mean because there are no pleasure cars now, then business will be seriously hampered including vital and necessary war business which the placing of this embargo is supposed to aid."

one and one-half inches wide, of grosgrain ribbon with stiff tailored bows in front. Short leather Norfolk jackets without pleats are to be worn extensively for touring, also with hats to match, and come in the tans, gray and a good shade of deep maroon.

FURS obtrude themselves upon the shoppers' notice even though it is early in the season to consider their possibilities. A full length, belted coat of Nutria fur has deep cuffs on the bell sleeves, and a high convertible collar of skunk. The sleeves have windshields of the silk, and do nicely for a muff. The lining is of brown, pussywillow silk with a pink floral design over it and is finished with a soft puff all around the edge. The new fur capes fall below the waist line and have loops to button over so that they form a semi-sleeve which makes them more practical for motor wear. The large saddle muffs and wide stoles are best for touring.

JOYS OF MOTORING

TRIP TO BEAUTIFUL SUBURBAN SECTION OVERLOOKING HARBOR

rowing up hill and down lay the broad fields of the sugar plantation; the waving cane silencing in the sunlight. In one of the valleys stood the sugar mill with its black smokestacks, a jarring note of civilization to the wilderness of growing vegetation. Hidden at times and at times stretching out in a thin crooked line lay the road to the west seeking its way through the jungle of cane below like a lost soul.

A Bygone Grave Yard
We swept the hill, rounded several turns and shot around and up another hill. Then down again and around and up another. Ripening cane nodded to us from both sides of the road singing a hoarse song of coming sweetness as the wind kissed the green leaves. Two miles or so and we left the cane behind. Thundering up a steep incline we viewed a deserted cemetery that was now in the last stages of abandonment. The crosses at the heads of the graves leaned like drunken men and the wild weeds grew high and thick. Here and there a stone tablet lay toppled over the mound as if its message of death had proved too great a sorrow to bear. The speeding car soon left the sad scene behind and once more we gave our attention to the road ahead.

Pearl City
The driver warned us suddenly and the car slowed down and turned to the left, bowled down a short road and halted at a railroad track, where an engine and one coach lay as if in waiting for passengers.
"This is Pearl City," announced the driver, "and that restaurant you see over there is famous for its dish of rice and eggs."

We looked again. Pearl City! Where was it?
Four small buildings, a water tank, the puffing engine and the lone coach was all we could see.

"Where's Pearl City?" we asked in surprise.
"You're now in the heart of the business section," laughed the driver, "and that engine and car you see is Pearl City's street car system and it is also the shortest free railroad in the world."

So this was Pearl City. Well, well! And our idea of it had been that of a town of at least 20,000 people. There may have been twenty people on the street, but even that would be overestimating it unless one counted the dogs and cats present.

A Worthy Personage
We drove over and introduced ourselves to the engineer, conductor, brakeman, steward, parlor car conductor, switchman, fireman, round-house man, wiper and the wrecking crew of the shortest free railroad in the world and he greeted us with a pleasant smile. Considering the number of important positions he held we expected him to balk at being photographed, but he was a genial dignitary was Frank Ornelles. He seated himself in the cab of his train and smiled directly into the camera.

Never a Wreck
"You might put this in, too, that while I have been operating this road for over eight years I have never had a collision with another train on this track, which is some record, he smiled. He forgot at the time to mention that his was the only train on the mile and a quarter of track, but we forgave him because of his smile.
We had in mind to ask him if he had also made a record by being the only conductor in the world who had failed to "knock down" fares, but as no fares are collected perhaps it would have been out of place. The line was built from Pearl City to the end of the peninsula when a suburban lot selling scheme was begun many years ago, and a free service was contracted for between those buying property and the Oahu railroad. And the shortest free railroad has been running since that time without income and will continue to run so long as folks continue living on the peninsula. And they cannot be blamed for residing there, for it is a little paradise in itself.

At Parais' End
The automobile traveled down the peninsula to Parais' end—where the free railway tracks run out on a floating pier and drop into the waters of Pearl Harbor.

On this landing is the vantage point for a view of Pearl Harbor. To the left across the blue water rose the great wireless towers of the naval station, and here and there on the water itself swayed idle yachts, among them being the famous transpacific racer, the yacht Hawaii.

It was an ideal moment to glimpse this enchanted inlet. The harbor, like one immense sheet of glass, a mirror plate of Parais' end, reflected the rosy light of the dying sun as it shot its last shrapnel of sunbeams over the mountains to the west. Black and blue these rolling hills lay against the bright yellow blast, and then as the great round shimmering globe dipped slowly into the far reaches of the Orient the blue haze about their base vanished and the green verdure stood out in bright contrast to the darkening blue of the waters of the harbor.

The Return Trip
Too soon it was time to leave. We bundled into the car and by means of another road circled the peninsula and viewed the beautiful mansions of this secluded spot in the dusk of the twilight. Children ran from the gates to greet us at every turn, shouting "Hello!" and "Goodbye!" as the car glided past. A dog chased the machine, yapping at the front wheel until the honk of the motor horn frightened him and he scuttled away with his tail between his legs, howling his horror at the monster that dared to invade this sacred Peninsula of Peace.

Driving fast but carefully, the man at the wheel promised us one more sight worth seeing. In Moanaiwa Park he pointed out the Japanese park and then the car began to climb. The gears shifted, and up, up, up we went till—
Salt Lake
"Here's Salt lake, in which, though there is no known outlet, the water rises and falls with the tide," he said as the car bounded to the crest overlooking the huge expanse of water to the west. To the east lay Honolulu, its white houses like little fairy lamps sprinkled among the green of the trees, and far, far in the distance, framed against the blue sky and the blue water, sat old Diamond Head, its uncured rim tipped with the luster of the sinking sun. It was truly a magnificent sight, and one that really climaxed a trip that had disclosed scores of wondrous scenic marvels. Long we gazed upon it, drinking in the changing colors of the sea, sky and land, until the last tiny sunbeam had twinkled its way across the sky and died. Then

HELPFUL HINT TO MOTORISTS OF HONOLULU

Tracing Wire Trouble
Repair men will find the use of an old electric doorbell, wired as shown in illustration No 3, very handy in locating short circuits, ground wires, open circuits, blow fuses, worn out sockets, broken wires and other difficulties.

Bind the bell to a dry cell with tape or cord and wire in series, leaving the outside wires six or eight feet long. Secure a slip on the end of each of these wires and in making the test fasten these wires to the different parts of the wiring system of the car where trouble is suspected. If the bell rings, the wire is in good condition; if not, the trouble can be easily located.

Self-Starter Tip
When using the self-starter be sure that the spark is retarded, as a back kick may wreck the mechanism. This is not necessary if the car is equipped with magneto, as the engine starts best when magneto spark is advanced.

Following Other Cars
When following other cars on a crowded country road watch out for a sudden stop. Get in the habit of running the car slightly off the road if there is room so that if the brakes do not hold you will be in no danger of hitting the car ahead.

Don't Hide Number Plate
Be careful that the spare tire on the rear of the car does not hide part of the number plate, and that the plate is properly lighted at night. The police in many sections are enforcing the law very strictly and you will find that paying a fine is a very expensive way to learn of such mistakes.

Spare Tire Valve
Among the necessities when touring should be a supply of tire valves and caps. A slight leak in the valve will cause as much delay as a blow-out. A good valve is often hard to obtain when on the road and considerable annoyance can be avoided by carrying these accessories. A valve tap and die should also be added.

TRAFFIC HEAVY ON LINCOLN WAY

PITTSBURG, October 20.—Reports from each locality along the Lincoln Highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific indicate that a tremendous increase in traffic has been noted during the present year. Some idea of the extent of this cross-country automobile travel is gained from the statement of R. S. Sommerfeld, a tourist stopping here on his way East. He said:

I am firmly of the belief that I passed a machine from Valparaiso to Pittsburg every three or four hundred yards.
As the distance from Valparaiso to Pittsburg over the Lincoln Highway is 453 miles it is apparent that about 2,000 tourist automobiles were passed on the trip. Four hundred and fifty-three miles is but a little better than 13 per cent of the total mileage of the Lincoln Highway from New York to San Francisco, which is longed at 3,300 miles, and if traffic is even in proportion all across the country it is evident that more than 15,000 tourist cars are on this one road at one and the same time.

BIG DEMAND FOR REBUILTS
The iron fence that surrounds the rebuilt car department of the Von Hamm-Young Co. at the corner of Alakea and Hotel streets will be taken down this week. The reason for this move, as given out by one of the managers, is "so that people can get in and buy rebuilt cars." There is an unusual demand for rebuilt cars at present and then only did we have the car turned for home, heaving a sigh of mingled satisfaction and regret—satisfaction with what we had seen and regret that we could not have stayed longer to see it.

AUTORIALS

Being a Review of Items of Interest in the Automobile World

HONK! Honk! Br-r-r-r! Honk! Toot! Yawp-yawp-yawp! It's the busy little tooter at his play trying to hog the road and cut across the street intersection before the traffic officer gives him the right of way. It's the impatient little auto honking to its mate.
And you'll hear that noise festival at any corner of the downtown section especially when the little auto seems to think that the traffic is not moving fast enough to suit its nibs—the type of motorist who knows more about handling traffic than an officer who has spent two or three years at it.

Thus does the officious motorist take it out of the city that curbs his speed and prevents him from running down women and children and male pedestrians. Thus does he vent his spite.

But it doesn't get him anywhere. A number of such motorists honking at a traffic officer to hurry up, only delays the procession, for traffic policemen are human and they resent an overdose of honking.

Remember, honk artists, the next time you come to a busy corner that the traffic officer is not asleep and he will let you across just as soon as he can. Remember that his very life depends on keeping awake and out of the road of such motorists as yourselves. So, go easy on the horn. Save that extra toot and do that much at least towards economizing in these days of war.

On the ground that muffler cut-outs are becoming a nuisance, the members of the National Automobile chamber of commerce have voted unanimously for their elimination on the cars they build in future, that is, so far as mufflers can be operated from the driver's seat. The reasons given for the action are:
"With more than 4,000,000 cars in use and supplying a great service in the transportation of the individual and of materials, the use of muffler cut-outs is unfair to the public and adds an unnecessary noise to American life. Cars have ample power so that the slight increase in speed which may come from the use of cut-outs is of no importance. There may be times in adjusting motors where

LEWIS PARTY SEES MANY QUEER SIGHTS ON YELLOWSTONE TRAIL

Red, Purple and Blue Hills of Montana. Women Working in the Fields in Place of Men and Other Peculiar Things Viewed By Hawaii Auto Party That Toured Mainland—Streets of St. Paul About as Wide as Fort Street in Honolulu—Milwaukee Reached

WE were on our way again at 2:20 p. m., August 14, leaving the Olive hotel in Miles City, Montana, and passing some of the most wonderful freaks of nature. The hills around us were red, purple, blue, and the combination of the three colors. The shapes of the hills were all different—steeples, pyramids, triangle and every other shape you can think of, and were of a granite nature for nearly fifty miles. The ranches and farms were very poor, and the cattle were Herefords. The farming, if you would call it farming, was very much on the dry upland order. For the next forty-eight or fifty miles the country was somewhat greener with larger stock farms, but we did not see any high class stock such as we had expected to see throughout these states.

We arrived at Ismay, a town in Montana, at 7:10 p. m., where we spent the night at a small hotel run by a family of three—father, mother and daughter. The hotel had sleeping accommodations only, and we were compelled to go next door to a cafe for our meals. Never Again

There had been a cyclone in this town some two years ago, which destroyed several buildings, and carried away the only garage that was in the place at the time. This was the first and only cyclone that ever visited this locality, and they say "as lightning never strikes the same place twice" a cyclone will never come this way again.

Along This Route

Whenever we got in sight of the railroad track, we saw wooden racks, and fences, built of miles along the track to prevent the snow from drifting on the rails.

Little Russia

We passed through a town named Plevna, whose entire population is Russian, and a little later we passed the Montana-North Dakota line, at 11:02 o'clock a. m., August 15, and almost immediately we ran into grasshoppers. Lightning rods on all the buildings were noticeable. Some of the barns had as many as six and seven, giving one the impression that lightning is always expected in North Dakota. For the first one hundred miles after leaving Ismay, farms were very few and far between, and poor. Another thing that was very noticeable, was the absence of the little old wooden school-house. There are fine brick and stone schools everywhere. What little farming there is, is dry upland, and the hay being stacked was the natural grasses, and it looked like very poor stuff, but we were told that it is very fine hay. The next twenty or thirty miles was little improvement over what we had seen. The country was a little greener but still dry land farming. Then we came to the North and South Dakota divide line, and this is directly in the main road for twenty to thirty miles; cement roads marking the line. One minute we were in North Dakota and the next in South Dakota, depending upon the condition of the road.

We arrived at the Palace hotel in the town of Lemmon, in South Dakota, about 6 p. m. Lemmon is situated on an old Indian reservation that was taken over by the government and opened up as a homestead proposition at 25 cents per acre, some eight years ago. The land was taken up by clerks and school teachers (any one can farm, you know) that knew nothing of farming, and had very little money. They mortgaged the place for anything they could borrow, say from $200 to $500, and after a few years the trust company and bankers took over the land, and holding it for years, until some real farmer came along and bought the land at a price anywhere from 75 cent to $1.25 per acre. They are occupying the places at present and just about making a living rather than making any money. Land can be rented around here for $25.00 a section of 1100 acres, for a year. The main reason that land is so cheap is that the winters are long and cold. The temperature falls as low as 54 below zero, and it is very hard to get labor—women and girls were seen running the mower and stacking the hay.

Passing on, we came to another ferry, which cost Mr. Lewis $1.50, and in crossing the river we passed under a two million dollar railroad bridge, with soldiers guarding both ends. They said it was a lazy job. We were still traveling on the Yellowstone trail and wherever a stone could be found, the authorities have painted it yellow, so that travelers would know they were on the right trail. (Quite appropriate, don't you know?) Of course a convenient post would have answered, but they apparently preferred a stone.

After leaving Lemmon, the country was very much as it was before; what haying was done was the natural or prairie hay, but after we had traveled from seventy-five to one hundred miles, we struck a very much richer country. We passed miles and miles of fine pasture land untouched by stock. We arrived at the hotel Dumont, in the town of Bowdle, about 6 p. m. The next morning we were on our way at 8:10 o'clock. Snakes everywhere. We saw more snakes in South Dakota than in all our other travels. We passed a woman taking her two tins of milk to market, and she looked as though that was her only source of income.

We reached a town by the name of Aberdeen, which has a population of between 15,000 to 17,000, and seemed to be a very hustling town; fine street car service, block paved streets; and five globe lights every 100 feet along the streets. Soldiers everywhere. After leaving Aberdeen, we found very much better farms, a fine stand of grain and hay, some fine stock, and several flocks of sheep.

Cross into Minnesota

We passed the South Dakota and Minnesota line at 5 p. m., and reached the Columbian hotel a little later, in the first town in Minnesota, named Ortonville, where we stayed all night. After dinner we strolled around the town and saw Big Stone Lake which divides South Dakota from Minnesota. The lake is forty miles wide and ice from it is cut in winter and stored, and supplied to most of the large cities in the East during the summer months. Across the lake from Ortonville there is a pleasure resort reached by excursion steamers. A few months ago, as a steamer was crossing, it blew up and seven people lost their lives. Among the drowned was the owner of the steamer.

The government restocks the lake every year, with good eatable fish, and turns them loose by the carload. To protect the good fish they use nets to catch the worthless fish and destroy them.

One very noticeable thing about South Dakota is the absence of trees. Not a tree in sight anywhere in South Dakota. The people have to use oil for cooking purposes. All have heard of buffalo chips being used as fuel. Well, we saw an old woman and two girls out in the corral piling and carrying away chips for fuel.

Many Flies

There is a fly around this part of the world that annoys the live stock, and all the work animals have little head protectors. This fly bothers the animals around the nose probably more than any other part of the body. Ortonville, Minnesota, August 18.—We were on our way again this morning, about 8:10, and the country proved to be much as it was the day before, for fifty or sixty miles, and then conditions changed for the better.

There were fine groves of trees around all the houses we passed, with houses every half mile or so, and the grain, and conditions generally, were much better, and continued so until we got to Minneapolis. The country was somewhat swampy and covered with timber, and there were lakes everywhere. Lake Harriet seems to be a great swimming place; hundreds of people were in bathing when we passed. Minneapolis has a population of 350,000, and everything is on the go. Women At Work

On our journey we saw several women cutting and stacking hay, as it is impossible to get men to work on the farms in this country. Sunday we visited the places of interest around the city of Minneapolis, the parks and residential and business districts. The city has many beautiful homes. One home was pointed out to us as costing two million dollars, and its furniture $500,000. There are five lakes within the city limits, all improved, and there were many people out enjoying the water. All the lakes are connected by canals so that a motor boat can go to each and every lake at will, and there are hundreds of boats, both private and for hire.

If the people of Honolulu would only clean the mud canals that are in the park at Waikiki, and make them suitable for pleasure, could you imagine anything more beautiful in scenery than winding around through the 200 acres of waste we have in Kapiolani park today. If our legislature would get busy with the appropriation that the citizens' committee wanted, at the last session, to raise to keep the flood waters from getting into the park and around the beach, Kapiolani park could be made as picturesque and beautiful as any spot in the world. At present the only thing we have is climate.

Longfellow park in Minneapolis is where the animals and birds are kept. There is an animal which is a cross between a dog and a coyote, and the gray timber wolf. We had seen several brown wolves, but had not seen any gray ones before. Beautiful white peacocks were also something new to us. We saw Russian wolf hounds, twenty of them, and the white wood chucks, some of the very few that have ever been captured.

Longfellow Park

There was a band of twenty pieces playing at the entrance to Longfellow park when we arrived, but later they moved over to the dancing pavilion, and a small charge was made for those who wished to dance. After leaving this park we drove over to where they were opening up a new dancing pavilion near the Mississippi river, and this was our first view of the great stream. Minneapolis is the head of shipping on the Mississippi. The government some years ago built a concrete wall or dyke across the river, thinking it would help shipping, but a great flood came along just before it was finished and washed the whole thing away, and nothing further was done about it at that place, but a smaller one was built a little lower down the river. Minneapolis proper has a population of five hundred thousand, but St. Paul in reality joins Minneapolis, and the combined population is 750,000. The main parts of the two cities are only fourteen miles apart and are joined by street car lines.

The beautiful climate we find in Minneapolis is of short duration lasting only three or four months, and for the rest of the year the ground is covered with snow. They say that up to ten years ago there was nothing but stumps, swamps and Swedes around Minneapolis; but conditions have changed since then. The emeteries all over the states are kept up in the very best condition; the grass is green and free of weeds.

Like Fort Street

The streets in St. Paul are very narrow, not much wider than Fort street in Honolulu, and all the main streets have double street-car tracks, which makes traffic very congested. The street from Minneapolis to St. Paul is 125 feet wide and is paved with blocks and has a double track the entire distance. After leaving St. Paul, we passed through farming districts. The road, or rather the road line, is fine and will be the motorists' delight in the very near future. There are great long stretches of straight road—a real pleasure for the auto-traveler—but at present it is rough and dusty. We were still traveling on the Yellowstone trail, which goes to New York City. The auto clubs of the state are responsible for the trail.

We passed the Minnesota-Wisconsin state line about 7 p. m., into a little town by the name of Hudson, and we reached Stratton hotel in the town of Baldwin, in Wisconsin, about 7:30 p. m., where we stopped over night.

On Tuesday, August 21, we were again on our way. Leaving Baldwin the roads were rough and dusty, and the valleys were narrow but seemed fertile. Shallow streams and small lakes were everywhere for nearly thirty miles. Then we came to the widest part of the valley, and while the land was rolling, it was much better than earlier in the day, and there were very heavy yields of oats and wheat and a great part of the grain had fallen over, which made harvesting very difficult.

Pass Tobacco Fields

We passed our first tobacco fields today. There were fine large leaves and a good growth and some great barns for curing the tobacco showing. All the houses and barns we saw had several lightning rods, showing that they have heavy lightning storms here as well as in the Dakotas. And we saw as many women in the fields as men, cutting and stacking hay. At one farm, the father and mother were pitching the hay up on the wagon, and their two grown daughters were placing it. At another place the women were on the wagon forking the hay up to the men on the hay stacks. An old grandma was trying to straighten up the fallen grain so that the mower could get at it. We passed the State Industrial School, an immense brick building at the left of the road. Arriving at the town of Marshfield, in Wisconsin, we stopped at the Hotel Biogot for the night. We were on our way again the next morning at 8:30 o'clock, and passed many farms with "help signs" posted on the fences or posts reading "set your own wages." There was a county fair in Marshfield where prizes were offered for the best corn. The prizes ranged from $10.00 to $25.00.

Many Pennants

Mr. Lewis started from Honolulu with several pennants on his machine, and for a time people took notice. But pennants are very plentiful over here. Some people place a new pennant on their machine at every little town they pass through.

After leaving Marshfield, we realized that the town had been very appropriately named, as the valley at some time had been covered with water and timber and there was water and timber just under the surface everywhere. The place is the center of a rich dairy business.

The nearer we got to Milwaukee, the poorer we found the roads. The farms are very small, but yield rich heavy oats and wheat. We passed two lumber mills where they were making wooden buckets and shingles. We reached Milwaukee about 9 o'clock p. m., where we spent the night.

HEAD OF LOCAL AUTO SUPPLY FIRM SAYS BILLY SUNDAY MAY COME HERE

Jack Milton, President of Auto Service & Supply Company, Visits Akron, Ohio, Factory of Goodyear Tires While on Tour of Mainland and Also Hears Famous Preacher in Los Angeles

B RIM-full of Billy Sunday's remarks, Goodyear Tire talk and mainland news of all kinds, Jack Milton, president of the Auto Service and Supply Company, Ltd., returned to Honolulu recently after an extensive tour of the United States. Interviewed at his office in the Trent Trust Co. yesterday Mr. Milton persisted in telling about Billy Sunday when the interviewer wanted tire news and then giving a graphic description of the interior of the Akron Ohio factory of the Goodyear tires when Billy Sunday plans were inquired into.

"I just had a few moments' talk with Billy Sunday, but I heard him preach several times in Los Angeles," said Mr. Milton, "and do you know, he wants to come out here, say next July.

Sunday 'Gets You'

"He wants to come out here and talk to the soldiers and I think he'd do a lot of good for the folks that reside here. Billy isn't like the ordinary preacher and somehow he just 'gets you.' I've spoken to several people since I got back and they all seem to think that a visit from Sunday would be welcome and would do us good. 'Cause Billy don't preach like other preachers. He comes right out and tells you from the shoulder what he thinks of you.

"And as for him doing it to make money, why, money don't mean any thing to him. If he was after money only he could preach once a week and make enough, but he's sincere and he is doing a lot of good.

"I'd like to see him come, and I think he will if the folks here get together and act quick. I think it would be the best thing in the world to get him here for a week or two.

Now About Tires

"And now you want to know about tires. Well—' and Mr. Milton drawled it out in good old Southern style. "Well, I saw the Akron factory and it's certainly wonderful what they're doing there. They've got three shifts working eight hours each, day and night, to supply the demand for Goodyear tires and they can't do it then.

"The employees, of which there are 20,000, work on a profit sharing basis and whenever they pass a million mark of profits they blow the whistle and make a great racket.

"When I was here they blew the whistle when the profits for that month passed the $12,000 mark.

"And that reminds me. The management of the factory spoke very highly of the increase of our business during the last few months. They are real interested in Hawaii."

Asked if he had paid a visit to his home, Oh, yes; I went home to Kentucky and then we went on to New York, then came back to California. We took the car out and toured that state and the roads are wonderful.

"But, do you know, I'm glad to get back to Honolulu and so is Mrs. Milton." Mrs. Milton accompanied Mr. Milton on the tour. While in San Francisco Mr. Milton, together with

R. H. Reed, manager of the Auto Service & Supply Co., attended the Pacific coast conference of Goodyear tire distributors.

Mr. Reed will return to Honolulu shortly. During his absence Aleck Lyle, treasurer of the company, has been handling the business.

POET'S CORNER

'T WAS EVER THUS

My car is a pip; it'll step along,
I can climb any hill there is on high;
The gas to run it costs but a song,
And the motor purrs like a lullaby.
But just let me take a friend for a jog
And venture some loud, vainglorious crack:
The back wheels stick in a crossing bog
Or the engine dies on a street car track.

It's only a little old modest bus,
But it slips right out with a whiz and zip;
When by myself, without a fuss
Often I hit a flitty clip.
But if I indulge a chance to brag—
Then the carburetor gets a cramp,
All the cab does is choke and drag,
All I can do is cuss and champ.

Trouble in getting away? Not me.
Bingo! jam in the clutch, and go.
Warmth in a minute, speed in three—
That is, if I've lots of time. But lo,
If in a hurry to beat it home,
Good night! the battery's on the blink.
And even the crank won't make 'er room.
Mine is a swell boat—I don't think!
—Guy F. Lee.

Only one new model car is left for sale in the shops of the Schuman Carriage Co., and this car is the 1918 series Hudson super-six. All the Chalmers have been sold, but prospective buyers can still obtain this model at the old price by ordering now, as there is a shipment of them in San Francisco awaiting space on the boats plying between the coast and Hawaii, for delivery. An increase of $60 per car of this make will be made after the coming shipment has been disposed of. More Hudson super-six cars are coming and the big demand for Overland Country Club cars all over the country is causing the delay in the delivery of this make here. The local concern is unable to make deliveries in the Oakland, Oldsmobile and Franklin makes at present, but as there are a large number of all these models coming prospective buyers can save considerable money by ordering now. After the shipment now in San Francisco is delivered here a raise in the price of all these makes is expected.

22,000 Miles and Engine Untouched

HUDSON SUPER-SIX.
In the window of the Schuman Carriage Co.'s plant this week, lying on its side so that the passing public could more easily inspect it, was a Hudson-Super-Six which ran 22,000 miles as a rent-service car without experiencing engine trouble. The engine parts, and transmission gears are in the same excellent condition as they came from the factory, and the motor is good for at least another 25,000 miles, it is claimed, before attention will be necessary. The car was handled by five different drivers and not one of the engine parts had to be replaced throughout its entire service of a year and a half.

AUTO SALESROOM SOLD BOND TO PESSIMIST

DETROIT, Oct. 13.—They certainly bill this Liberty Loan like a circus, said the conductor of a Woodward line car this morning as he glanced out at the lithographs on a fence.

"Well, I'm tied up with coal bills and a lot of new furniture," said a passenger who was riding in the rear of the car. "It would have to be a sign as big as a house to jar any bond money out of me just now."

The car had just left Forest Avenue going south when he made this statement. "It would, eh?" broke in another passenger.

"Well you just look at that." The car was passing the salesrooms of Thomas J. Doyle, dealer in Dodge Brothers motor cars, from the roof to the ground, 20 feet, and covering the entire front of the 111-foot building was a sign, "BUY A BOND." It was as big as two houses.

"You win," said the first passenger. "I'll buy."

DARK ROOM MOUNTED ON GRANT SIX AUTO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—Visitors to recent county fairs in Orland, Fresno, Sacramento and other places evidenced much interest in a field dark room used by M. H. McCarty, photographer with the Frank O. Renstrom company, Northern California and Nevada distributors of the Grant Six. The dark room was rigged up in a Grant car and was used by McCarty in developing pictures.

STEEL LACK MAY DELAY WORK ON NEW GARAGE

Work on the construction of the new von Hamm-Young garage on Alakea street is scheduled to start next week, but may be delayed on account of lack of steel. The contractors, however, expect to get the preliminary work started and the building under way shortly.

The work of rolling the ground was completed this week. The big trees in the lot were cut down and sawed up for firewood and a big steam roller was called in to flatten the surface of the place.

SELF-STARTER TIPS

When using the self-starter be sure that the spark is retarded, as a back kick may wreck the mechanism. This is not necessary if the car is equipped with a magneto, as the spark is advanced.

FOLLOWING OTHER CARS

When following other cars on a crowded country road watch out for a sudden stop. Get in the habit of running the car slightly off the road, if there is room, so that if the brakes do not hold you will be in no danger of hitting the car ahead.

PIERCE-ARROW PREXY PUTS ALL HIS INCOME INTO LIBERTY BONDS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Walter Coke, local bond committee chairman, received a letter from President Charles Prexy of the Pierce-Arrow company this morning, in which the latter stated that he proposed to invest his entire income, exclusive of actual living expenses, in the second issue of liberty bonds. He said he would pay them on the installment plan after deducting from his salary and other sources of income his actual expenses. The company of which Mr. Prexy is the head, has sent thousands of trucks to the various war fronts of Europe.

Harry Holt, general cashier of the Schuman Carriage Co., left this week on a trip to the coast. While there he has no definite information on hand, it is rumored that he will return with a bride.

TIRE PICKS UP GOLD PAY DIRT IN ITS TRAVEL

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 16.—Prospectors are hitting the trail of an automobile tire today out in the Northwest as the result of an odd discovery by W. B. Stewart, manager of service at the Goodrich branch in this city. Mr. Stewart was inspecting a few days ago an old tire received from Kallispell, Mont., and noticed that a neglected cut had admitted a small quantity of black sand to the interior of the casing. As he examined this sand his eyes fell upon some gleaming yellow grains. An expert was consulted. He pronounced the grains to be pure gold—declared, furthermore, that the proportion of yellow metal made the sand especially good pay dirt.

It is his surmise that the sand worked into the cut in the casing while the tires were plowing across some stream or through lake or river sands in Montana.

LIBERTY MOTOR TO BE BIG WAR FACTOR SOON

DETROIT, Oct. 15.—The Liberty Motor and America's new merchant marine will prove tremendous factors in crushing German militarism, said Lord Northcliffe, head of the British war mission, in an informal talk here today. The British publisher made this statement before he left his hotel to visit several automobile factories.

"The Liberty motor, if perfected, will help inconceivably in carrying our forces beyond the German lines, but the motor must be perfect," Lord Northcliffe said. He urged that Detroit factories and Detroit workmen continue to vigorously assist the government in providing war materials, and he ridiculed reports that Germany was facing an economic collapse.

AUTOS LISTED FOR WAR, ARIZONA MAKES CENSUS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 16.—A comprehensive motor car census, covering the entire state of Arizona, has been completed for the Arizona council of defense. The census gives the make, capacity and name of owner of every motor truck and touring car in Arizona, all cars of five-passenger capacity and up being listed.

With the data included in the census, there is now on file with the defense council complete information as to what cars are available in every section of the state for volunteer service of any sort that may be required. Dealers played no small part in compiling the census.

Ever thought seriously about a used car?

Has it ever occurred to you that you could secure a car of a higher class than you perhaps thought you could afford—and a thoroughly dependable car, too—at the cost of a car of much lower class? Cars that were built last year or before, cost less to produce—for material and labor than cost less. And in many instances they are better cars than those turned out today. Also new car prices have advanced. So there is the triple saving of (1) the used car price (2) based upon the lower first price and (3) the chances of better material and workmanship.

Save money now---and get a better car

The selling of new high priced cars often involves the disposal of cars of another make. We would not consider a car that was not in excellent condition. We would not dispose of a car that was not exactly as it is represented. Our reputation is at stake in all these transactions. And that is the buyer's guarantee—which makes our Rebuilt Car Department "the safest used car market in the world."

Why not one of these big used car values, rather than a new car of a lower grade?

COLLEGE OF HAWAII MAN CITES WIDE INVESTIGATION OF MAINLAND PLANS

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER CABLES AND TELEPHONE LINES FORCED UNDERGROUND—BEAUTY OF TROPICAL FOLIAGE HERE WOULD BE GREATLY ENHANCED—HOW MUNICIPALITIES ELSEWHERE ARE MOVING

(BY VAUGHAN MACCAUGHEY, College of Hawaii.)

At a recent meeting of the Manoa Improvement club the writer stated that many progressive cities upon the mainland were introducing conduit systems throughout the residential districts. This statement was received with incredulity by a number of those present. The writer, to corroborate his statement and to indicate the wide use of conduits, sent to the mainland for accurate and detailed information, which is presented herewith in full.

Honolulu is behind the times in her overhead wiring and lack of conduits. The tropical beauty of the city would be enhanced many fold if street poles and wires were largely eliminated. Under ground conduits: Although a quarter of a century ago the scheme of placing electric light and power cables underground was considered commercially impracticable, today, according to Professor Charles Zueblin, "the number of cities in which there are private conduits is legion." Many cities also possess municipal conduits, among which number are Detroit, Milwaukee, Chicago and Philadelphia, each with over 100 miles of municipal conduits, and Seattle, New York and Boston, each possessing over 50 miles of municipal conduit.

Movement to Eliminate Poles and Overhead Wires: The following cities are among those which have made definite progress towards the total elimination of overhead wires:

1. New York City: The city government is today negotiating for the removal of existing wires and poles, but it has the right to order removal at any time. No new wires or poles are to be erected without permission. None allowed in the conduit district. Thus far all wires in Manhattan have been removed and much wire has been moved from the other boroughs. In addition to the 50 miles of city conduit above mentioned it is estimated that there are 18,000 miles of privately owned electrical conduits and subways.

2. Chicago: Present wires and poles may be removed from paved streets by order of the city government. There is no general law in regard to the erection of new wires and poles but the matter is handled in franchises and by cooperation with the companies. Thus far it is said that wires have been removed from all places where they would be objectionable. Professor Zueblin says of the Chicago conduits: "Chicago has found the conduit system so great a protection against storms, fires and other interferences with overhead wires that the telephone company has voluntarily put wires in subways in the residence districts."

3. Philadelphia: This city has no law in regard to the removal of present wires or poles or regulating the erection of new wires or poles. However, all overhead wires have been removed from the business district. As stated above the city at present possesses over 100 miles of municipal conduit.

4. Boston: Public utility companies are required by law to clear existing wires and poles from 5 miles of streets each year; no new wires or poles are tolerated in the underground district, but in other places permission may be obtained when justified by sufficient reasons. Wires and poles throughout the city to a large extent have been eliminated.

5. Cleveland: Each company, choosing the district, must remove 14 miles per year of wires and poles. There is no law to prohibit the erection of new poles and wires, except in the conduit district. This department has no data easily accessible in regard to the extent of the conduit system.

6. Baltimore: The Electric Commission has the power to order the removal of poles and wires; new poles or wires are subject to permit—they usually are allowed if outside conduit district. A large area in the built-up district of the city has been cleared entirely of overhead wires. Baltimore "not only has a larger municipal conduit system than any other city, but probably has done more than all of the cities in America in municipal provision for buried wires." (Zueblin) $2,000,000 has been appropriated for a conduit or subway system in which to put wires, etc. A half million dollars was spent in 1913 and by January, 1914, the city had built 175 miles of conduit. A separate system of 26 1/2 miles of conduit is for police and fire telegraph; the telephone company owns over 50 miles of conduit. Nearly 3,000,000 feet of cable are run from which the city derives a revenue of $125,000, not including the $15,000 municipal service which should be credited to the city. The "American City," in its issue of June, 1916, has published an article by Mayor Preston of Baltimore which illustrates and describes the city's conduit system.

7. Pittsburg: No new poles or wires allowed in the conduit zone—elsewhere by permission. Two ordinances aiming at the elimination of overhead wires and poles from all streets were introduced in the city council in the months of January and February, 1916. The first of these two ordinances has been passed and approved. It provides for the placing underground of all overhead telephone and telegraph lines on Grant Boulevard between Seventh avenue and Center avenue—the work to be completed by October, 1916. The second ordinance provides for the removal of all overhead wires and their supporting poles, except trolley wires and their supports, from all Pittsburg streets and alleys. At present it is being advocated that arrangement be made so that the second ordinance, if passed, be put in force very gradually. (Monthly Bulletin, Civic Club of Allegheny County, March, 1916.)

8. Detroit: No new wires or poles are allowed to be erected within half a mile of the city hall; elsewhere by permit. It is stated that the companies themselves have taken the initiative in the removal of existing poles and wires and that thus far legislation has not been necessary. The district within half a mile of the city hall has been cleared and some districts elsewhere. As mentioned above Detroit possesses over 100 miles of municipally-owned conduit.

9. San Francisco: Companies operating before 1911 may erect new wires and poles without permit; companies operating since 1911 must first obtain permission; no poles or wires allowed in underground district. Present wires and poles must be removed at the rate of 2 1/2 miles of street per year. Twenty-two and one half miles of streets have thus far been cleared.

10. Milwaukee: New wires and poles are allowed except in the downtown district. Existing wires and poles are removed as streets are repaved. The city, as stated above, possesses over 100 miles of municipal conduit.

11. Cincinnati: There is no law in this city prohibiting the erection of new wires or poles. When found necessary the city may order the removal of existing wires and poles. No specific law has been passed.

12. Washington: The erection of electric light and power wires is prohibited in fire limits. Generally speaking, existing poles and wires must be removed from within fire limits. Progress of wires' removal: All telegraph wires in fire limits; almost all lighting wires in fire limits; almost all lighting wires in fire limits; almost all lighting wires in fire limits. Up to June 30, 1915, the street railways had nearly 1,000,000 feet of conduit, the telephone company nearly 700,000 feet and the telegraph companies nearly 100,000, making a total of 1,800,000 feet, not including over two miles of Federal conduit and pipe lines. According to Charles Zueblin: "In the disposal of overhead wires Washington excels in civic art, Baltimore in municipal science."

13. Minneapolis: Has no specific law in regard to the erection of new poles and wires but certain blocks, each year, must be cleared of existing wires and poles in accordance with orders of city council. Fifty-four miles of streets thus far have been cleared.

14. Jersey City: Erection of new poles and wires must be authorized by the commissioners. Commissioners may also order the removal of existing wires or poles.

15. Kansas City, Mo.: New wires and poles may be allowed by ordinance; others by permit from board of public works; none allowed in underground section. Existing poles and wires must be removed from certain downtown area. The downtown section has been about cleared from these obstructions.

16. Seattle: No new poles may be erected in the underground district; removal of existing poles and wires from business district must be completed in 3 years. Downtown section now about cleared. This city, as mentioned above, has over 50 miles of municipal conduit.

17. Los Angeles: New poles and wires are prohibited in the conduit district; elsewhere by permit. Two miles or more of streets must be cleared of overhead wires each year in accordance with the direction of council.

18. Utica, N. Y.: This city has constructed 96.69 duct lines at an approximate cost of $1,056, per duct mile. The type of construction is: They are fibre conduit encased in concrete with concrete or brick manholes and distributor boxes. The public service corporations pay the city 4 cents per duct foot for use of conduit. Revenue is sufficient to pay cost of maintenance and interest on investment. City is contemplating additional construction. Revenue receipts, 1911—$1,674.

19. Auburn, N. Y.: 464,885 duct feet of conduit has been installed at a cost of 237 1/2 cents per duct foot. Type of construction: Tile and fibre duct, in concrete. Public service corporations pay the city 5 cents per duct foot per year for use of conduit. City reports only 22 per cent of ducts are leased hence revenue is not sufficient to pay maintenance cost and interest on investment. The approximate cost to the city was $1,000 per year. Revenue receipts, 1911—$4,767.

20. Binghamton, N. Y.: Has built 4,228 linear feet of conduit, as follows: 1,310 of 15 duct; 1,434 of 19 duct; 236 of 8 duct; 1,156 of 6 duct; and 84 of 4 duct. Average cost of installation, $15 per linear foot. Type of construction: Vitriolized tile ducts, 3 1/2 inches square, bore, encased in concrete shell, single ducts laid with alternate joints, double manholes with compartment for high tension and one for low tension wires. Further construction contemplated. City reports that a rental of about 6 cents per duct foot per year is charged against the several public service corporations which amount pays all interest on bonds.

21. Oswego, N. Y.: 1,761 feet of conduit have been laid at a cost of $3.00 per foot. Types of construction 6-12 and 18 duct, vitriolized tile encased in 5 inches of concrete. Conduit not now in use. City contemplates additional construction.

22. Port Jervis, N. Y.: This city has laid 1 1/2 miles of safety cables in the ground for electric light.

23. Geneva, N. Y.: Owns municipal conduits, which it rents to public service corporations at 5 cents per linear duct foot.

24. Buffalo, N. Y.: City owns only a small amount of main and lateral conduits for its police and fire departments. The two telephons and electric light companies are required, under their franchises, to furnish space in their conduits free for the use of the city's fire and police wires. Two miles of streets annually must be cleared of overhead wires; the streets to be cleared are decided upon by the department of public works. This department has just recommended that this figure be increased to 4 instead of 2 miles of streets per year. About 24 miles of streets have thus far been cleared. The utility companies use multiple tile duct conduits generally in their construction and recently the electric light company has been using fibre duct encased in Portland cement concrete (in most of the smaller New York state cities the conduits have been laid by private corporations under franchise created by the city.)

25. Erie, Pa.: The United States Bureau of the Census in 1909 reported this city as having a total conduit mileage of 44.60 miles. City rental receipts, 1911; $3003.

26. Davenport, Ia.: The United States Bureau of the Census in 1909 reported this city as having a total conduit mileage of 17.02 miles, of which 6 were used exclusively by the city.

27. Des Moines, Ia.: 1909 Census Report: 14.75 total mileage, of which 5 is used exclusively by city.

28. Grand Rapids, Mich.: 1909 Census: 5.83 total mileage; 2.16 used by city.

29. Fall River, Mass.: 1909 Census: 4.00 total mileage; 4.00 used by city.

30. New Castle, Pa.: 1909 Census: 3.50 total mileage; 1. used by city.

31. Portland, Me.: 1909 Census: 2.50 total mileage; 2.50 used by city.

32. Portland, Ore.: 1909 Census: 1.60 total mileage.

33. New Britain, Conn.: 1909 Census: 1.50 total mileage. 1911 Census gives revenue receipts as $3,270.

34. Salem, Mass.: 1909 Census: 1.00 total mileage.

35. St. Joseph, Mo.: 1909 Census: 6.2 total mileage.

36. St. Louis, Mo.: 1909 Census: .60 used by city.

37. Oakland, Cal.: 1909 Census: .20 total mileage; .20 used by city.

38. Lancaster, Pa.: 1909 Census: .20 total mileage.

39. Pueblo, Cal.: 1909 Census: .06 total mileage; .06 used by city.

According to the 1911 Census (See Reference No. 7, below), page 183, only 5 cities of all those having conduits in that year obtained revenue from them. NICK PLAYS WITH MUCH CHEAPER DECK NOWADAYS

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 15.—According to a Petrograd despatch, Nicholas Romanoff, the deposed Russian emperor, passes a great deal of his time playing whist, of which he is very fond. In pre-war times whist was one of the most popular court diversions in Russia, and the emperor had a special de luxe card which was made for his exclusive use. One thousand two hundred packs of these imperial cards were used every year, and they cost the Russian government about $7 a pack, being made of the finest linen rags, with a watermark of the imperial crown and eagle.

IOWA MAN CREATES SELF-POPPING CORN

ARTHUR, Ia.—Jerry Fiske has made his fortune by out-banking Burbank with the creation of self-popping popcorn. He developed it by crossing common popcorn with red peppers, producing a latent heat. The corn, immediately upon being harvested, must be stored in a cellar or other cool place. When it is dry it will automatically pop in any average warm room.

LONDON WOMEN EAGER TO ACCEPT DRESS STANDARD

[By Associated Press] LONDON, England.—There has never been a time when women were more willing to accept standard dress or uniforms than they are at present.

That is the most marked effect of the war upon women's dress. All uniforms have acquired dignity in women's eyes. The housemaid does not object to the cap and apron badge of servitude, the worker in the bank dons an overall cheerfully, women in various organizations wear their khaki, the Red Cross and volunteer aid workers are proud of their uniforms.

An expert French designer, discussing these changes, says: "There always will be the women who want to be frigidities, the women who try to insist upon something quite different from the style of the moment, but nowadays their number is greatly diminished. The uniform idea has arrived. It may mean the total extinction of dressmaking as a creative art, but there will be developments on other lines."

"There has never been a great war which has not influenced fashion in a picturesque or even gruesome fashion, and this world war has done its share. We had a fashion adopted as a compliment to each ally, the Russian caps and tunics, the Bersaglieri hats of the Italian soldiers, and the Serbian colors. Scotch plaids have given the Parisiennes great joy.

"Khaki shades are in vogue for spring and summer costumes, and the blue-gray, with touches of crimson, of the French uniforms, is seen here and there."

TRUCK SOLD

The von Hamm-Young Co. reported the sale of a Federal truck to the Gress Express Co. this week. The express company now has five trucks in service and has been forced to hire an extra one this week to take care of unexpected business.

Most of us are dependent on a milk supply which is far from satisfactory!

The cows may be unhealthy—the supply may take too long to reach us, it may be poor in quality, the milk is subject to contamination by disease germs, it may be watered and by not too clean water at that.

And yet there's a remedy at hand.

In thousands of homes throughout Australasia and the Pacific the milkman has been superseded by a tin bearing the famous Highlander Brand.

Highlander Condensed milk (full cream) is absolutely germ free—the milk is drawn from healthy cows subject to Government inspection on the rich pastures of Southland, New Zealand, while the processes of filtration and evaporation remove all dirt and destroy all disease germs. The milk is condensed within a few hours of leaving the cows.

Highlander quality is the highest in the world—full cream. Why not prove it for yourself? It costs but little to buy a can, and you'll find that it helps to solve the milk problem simply and economically.

U. S. ARMY IS IN URGENT NEED OF MORE OFFICERS

Training Camp Graduates Fall Under Stress of Commanding Troops

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—More officers are urgently needed for the army. Many officers, graduates of the various training camps, are beginning to fall under the stress of command of troops in the National Guard and the National Army. The War Department is now confronted, according to information obtained today, with the necessity of immediately weeding out officers who are not up to the mark.

Estimates made by the general staff, from reports received from General Pershing, show that about 70 per cent of the training camp and "Plattsburg graduates" are efficient enough to stand the test of the coming campaign in France; 50 per cent of these men now in France will be sent back to the United States and their places filled with others.

Of the training camp officers with the National Army in this country, the general staff believes that about 22 per cent are inefficient. A large percentage of the National Guard officers are not worth keeping. Many Fall Down

Responsibility of leadership in the cantonment training has caused many training camp officers and National Guard officers to go to pieces and demonstrate conclusively that they cannot stand the stress of Army life. At one camp recently an officer committed suicide under the pressure of his duties and this had a bad effect on other officers who were straining every nerve to hold their places.

All incompetents are to be ruthlessly "scrapped" and the process has already begun. This is shown in the daily army orders in which are now appearing the names of many officers who are "honorably discharged, their services no longer being required."

The weeding out process will reach large proportions when officers begin to be selected in the National Guard divisions that will soon be sent to France. It is no secret at the War Department that many National Guard brigadier-general and a few major-generals are considered by the general staff as totally unfit to command large bodies of men, some because of inexperience, but many from lack of natural military ability.

GOETHALS WILL BUILD PLANES FOR U. S. ARMY

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, has been elected president of the Wright-Martin Aircraft corporation, which has received a $28,000,000 contract to build airplanes for the United States government. The contract calls for 4,000 Hispano-Suiza motors of 200 horse-power each and 1,000 motors of 150 horse-power each, with spare parts, as well as complete airplanes built under the Wright-Martin patent.

General Goethals' statement of acceptance of the presidency to the directors of the corporation included the following:

Accepts for War Time
"I have also seriously considered and disclosed my acceptance of the position to which you have elected me, and I have accepted it with the view of doing some work that will be useful and assist in the prosecution of the war. My acceptance is from a sense of duty, and for such time as I can be helpful, or during the period of the war."

At a meeting recently the Wright-Martin directors authorized General Goethals to go ahead on the enormous building program at its plants of which the chief one is at New Brunswick, N. J. At this plant ten motors are now being turned out every day, but the capacity is to be increased to fifty motors a day.

Only Two Motors
The government has practically decided to confine itself to the new Liberty motor and the Hispano-Suiza motor, with which all the French battleplanes are equipped. One of these motors drove the plane that recently made the American record of 23,000 feet altitude.

J. F. Alvord became president of the Wright-Martin corporation about six months ago to reorganize its finances. These have since been placed on a strong basis, so recently Mr. Alvord resigned and General Goethals succeeded him.

The announcement of the change caused much interest in financial circles.

successfully passed the examinations. Five hundred of them, who made an average in their examinations of more than 75 per cent, are to be commissioned in a few days. These men, after a brief training at Fort Leavenworth, will be used to replace officers who are leaving the service because of inefficiency. The remaining 2100 candidates, all of whom made not less than 70 per cent in their examinations, will be commissioned later as fast as vacancies occur in the Guard, the National Army and the regulars.

MAKING LIBRARIES FOR SOLDIERS

SECRETARY BAKER, WHO APPOINTED THE LIBRARY WAR COUNCIL

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15.—The need for something to fill in the soldiers' time after their day's routine has been met by a national movement just started in Washington to provide libraries for every cantonment and soldiers' camp in the United States and perhaps even for the American troops in France.

The idea originated with the Commission on Training Camp Activities, appointed by President Wilson. His commission has found that even with the rigorous pace which the men in training are put through, they have some time which hangs heavily on their hands. To meet this condition, Raymond B. Fosdick, chairman of the commission on training camp activities, suggested that central libraries be established for the soldiers' camps and cantonments.

The Secretary of War, whose advice was asked, responded by appointing ten nationally known men and women to constitute a Library War Council to assist in providing soldiers with libraries. Frank A. Vanderbilt, President of the National City Bank of New York City, accepted the chairmanship offered him by Secretary Baker.

The War Council selected Harold Braddock, of Montclair, N. J., as its executive director under whom the work of organizing the movement is going on rapidly all over the country. It is estimated that $1,000,000 will do the work of erecting the buildings, equipping the libraries and keeping them in shape for at least three years. One reason that this comparatively small sum may be enough—although it may take more than that—is that the expense of the campaign has been met privately and every cent of the $1,000,000 will be used for the actual establishment of the libraries.

The response to the Library War Council appeal shows that those who are staying at home are not only responding but insisting on helping the Library War fund. Contributions are being received by the Library War Council in amounts from $1 up into the thousands.

'Hell Fire In Your Eyes And Jab Huns To Death,' Teacher Tells Troops

CAMP DEVENS, Ayer, Mass., Oct. 13.—First lessons in how to kill were given recruits at the training camp here today. Major Reginald Barlow, chief bayonet instructor of the camp, stood on the steps of his office at the headquarters of the Three Hundred and Second Infantry. In the semi-circle before him rose the blades of bayonets—cruel and vicious looking. The bayonets were held by the officers, one from each company and battery of the camp, who were taking their first lesson in the bayonet instruction, which next week they begin passing on to the men.

Here is what Major Barlow told the group in his gruesome lecture: "We are here to learn to kill. This is war. It is no lark. We've got to fight, fight like devils when we get over there. We've got to have hell fire in our eyes and carry that battle right to hand-to-hand struggle with the enemy."

"Don't try to drive the bayonet right through your adversary. Just a little jab will do. This will send it far enough to kill if you hit him on the right spot, and getting your bayonet out of his body is the trouble."

"Don't plunge the blade into the bony parts of the chest. Jab your man in the stomach or the throat. The blade comes out easy then and your man doesn't get to a hospital. He just crumples up dead."

You officers have got to instill in your men the fighting spirit. They've got to be full of fight at the time. They must be a fighting division. Get boxing gloves for your men if you don't get anything else. I'd like to see this camp full of black eyes and bloody noses."

AMERICAN WINS BATTLE 15,000 FEET IN THE AIR

Lufbery Brings Down German Flyer, His Thirteenth, in Spectacular Fight

HEADQUARTERS OF THE LAFAYETTE ESCADRILLE ON THE FRENCH FRONT, October 19.—Lieutenant Raoul Lufbery of Wellington, Conn., a member of the Lafayette escadrille, fought the latest fight in which he brought down a German machine (reported yesterday as his thirteenth) at an altitude of 5000 yards and directly over the trenches. When it was first seen by Lieutenant Lufbery, the German airplane was several hundred yards above him, but making a wide detour and climbing at a sharp angle, the American was able to make a near approach to the German plane before being discovered. The German pilot was killed at the first burst of fire from Lufbery's machine-gun, and the enemy returned the fire despite the fact that his pilot had been killed and that his own death was imminent. One bullet from the German machine-gun punctured the radiator of Lufbery's monoplane and lodged in the carburetor, so that he was compelled to land immediately.

Except for the fact that a strong wind had been blowing in the direction of the German lines, the weather of the past few days has been ideal for flying, and the members of the Lafayette squadron have been busily engaged. While on a low patrol protecting a photographic machine, Sergeant Walter Lovell of Boston was attacked three times and his machine badly shot up by machine-gun bullets.

BRITISH ADMIRAL FAMED FOR EXPLOITS IS DEAD

LONDON, Eng.—The death is announced of Rear-Admiral Leicester Chantrey Keppel, retired. Admiral Keppel commanded many British warships since he served as midshipman in 1854. He was engaged in many campaigns and accompanied Dr. Livingstone on an expedition up the Zambesi. As commander of the British ship Aveo, up the Congo, he was in charge of an expedition for the punishment of pirates who had attacked and pillaged the American vessel Joseph Nickerson, and received high commendation for the skill and gallantry with which the operations were conducted.

THE GRENADIERS OF THE LINE

By Capt. W. S. Mapes, U. S. Army, Chief of Grenadiers, School of Arms, Fort Sill, Okla.

We come from all states and countries. From Alaska and the great East, Selected the big and the brawny, From the South and the rugged West, We are picked from the most energetic, And our muscles are hardened by time, With the baseball, the hammer and war club,— The Grenadiers of the Line.

For some of us came from the factories, Some from the cattle ranch came, Some of us, owned large studios, But now we're in war's bloody game. We have studied the arts and the classics, Mechanics, statistics and law, We have tackled the highest mountains, When hardships taxed brain and brawn, We have climbed to the rockiest fastness, For the grizzly bear, when he was prime, And we'll wrestle with Fritz just as willingly,— We Grenadiers of the Line.

Some of us come from the mountains, Some of us fought in France, Some came from the rolling prairies, One carried the Kaiser's lance.

Just follow us once when in action, We'll show what the word "action" means, A wild, mad rush from the trenches, Quick fliers play on us in streams, A pause at the tangles of wire, Let the pliers and hobs have time, While we bomb from that place, their trenches,— We Grenadiers of the Line.

For some of us came from the pulpit, And are here for the good of the cause, Some came from the Northern forests, Some served in Indian Wars, Then on to the depths of the trenches, Let bayonet take bloody toll, Just put it in low near the belt line, Of Fritz, for the good of his soul, Then toss him aside, he is worthless, Don't wipe off the blood or the grime, But rush the next traverse with grenades in hand,— You Grenadiers of the Line.

For some of us played at football, Some worked the great oil line, Some of us worked in machine shops, But we are now throwing bombs, all the time, Then on with our work as "wipers", Don't give the devils a rest, Push on to their dugouts with vigor, But peer gently over the crest, For Fritz is full of deception,

Should you a dugout full find, Throw in a grenade, yell, "Sauer-craut, from, The Grenadiers of the Line!"

Some of use come from the Army, Some of us followed the sea, Some of us came from the National Guard, Some from the R. O. C.

To join our force is apparent, You must quit versatile be, Be expert, with rifle and bayonet, And throw grenades accurately, With your heart filled with blood-thirsty hatred, Our foe we must kill every time, It's damn your own life in the heat of the strife,— For Grenadiers of the Line.

For all of us brought up to fear God, Have no fear of devil or man, We'll go on with our work, its dangers and shirk, We're proud of our Corps and our clan. *Officers Reserve Corps.

THE KID HAS GONE TO THE COLORS

The Kid has gone to the Colors And we don't know what to say; The Kid we have loved and cuddled Stepped out for the Flag today. We thought him a child, a baby, With never a care at all, But this country called him man-size, And the Kid has heard the call. He paused to watch the recruiting Where, fired by the fife and drum, He bowed his head to Old Glory, And thought that it whispered: "Come!" The Kid, not being a slacker, Stood forth with patriot-joy To add his name to the roster— And, God, we're proud of the boy!

"AFTER TAPS"

In the coolness of the evening, After all the lights are out, And throughout the camp is silence, Save the sentry's hailing shout, Comes the hour of deep reflection For the resting soldier chaps, And the weary old finds comfort In the stillness—after taps. In the darkness gleam the faces Of the folks we've left behind; There are mother, wife and sweet heart, And our friends so true and kind; Once again there comes the visions Of that home land, and, perhaps, One can even hear the voices Of those loved ones—after taps. Off the aching heart grows weary, Off it almost seems to break, Midst war's mad and hellish turmoil And the sufferings they make; How we bless the starlit gloaming As the busy day it caps, And there come, sescape from torment In our dreaming—after taps. To the soul there comes assurance That the cause is good and just, That we can't be doomed to failure While in God we put our trust; And should death's cold arms enfold us, There'll be peace as life's cord snaps, For we know we'll find our loved ones Over yonder—after taps.

IN THE BROAD FIELD OF RELIGION

TEMPERANCE SUNDAY WILL BE OBSERVED

Judge J. J. Banks Speaks to C. U. Bible School Members Tomorrow

Judge J. J. Banks, assistant United States district attorney for the territory of Hawaii, will address the Central Union Bible school Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock. Temperance Sunday will be observed, and Judge Banks will speak with special reference to this theme.

Temperance Sunday is generally observed in the schools throughout the country tomorrow. The strength of the prohibition movement is thought to lie in the rising generation. Special emphasis is therefore being placed in developing temperance advocates in local day schools and Sabbath schools.

4TH EDUCATIONAL COUNCIL WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY

The fourth educational council of the religious education committee of Central Union church will be held on Wednesday evening, beginning with a supper at 6 o'clock, which will be followed by a dramatic program of great interest. The supper will be served at 35 cents a plate, and in order to make possible this low price it will be absolutely necessary to know in advance how many plates will be required.

The menu follows the best thought along food conservation and has been approved by the local woman's committee, but it will be necessary for all those desiring to attend the supper to cooperate and send in acceptances early. All interested in religious education will be welcome. Send in acceptance by Monday morning to the church office, telephone 2973.

PROTESTANT CHURCH 400 YEARS OLD WEDNESDAY

Wednesday marked the 400th anniversary of the founding of the Protestant church, remarked Arthur E. Larimer, executive secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, today. "On October 31, 1517, Martin Luther tacked his thesis, protesting against the practices in the then established church on the door of the University of Wittenburg. Out of this act grew the separation from the Roman Catholic church a certain group which followed the teachings of Christ as interpreted by Luther, a group that has since been separated into something like 20 distinct sects, all calling themselves Protestants."

The term "Protestant" had its first application made to any group or body of men on April 19, 1529, when, at the second council of Spire, it was applied to the adherents of Luther who had protested against the Roman Catholic church.

DR. WILLIAMS' LECTURES ARE VERY POPULAR

At his lecture to the Woman's Society of Central Union church on "The Elements in the Character of Jesus"

Dr. J. H. Williams took up Thursday morning "The Tenderness of Jesus." The speaker defined tenderness as "strength and power bending to the needs of the weak and helpless."

In further illustration Doctor Williams said, in part:

"The most perfect example of tenderness is God bending to the needs of humanity. 'Like as a father pitieth his children.' If we were asked to select an animal which would exhibit the quality of tenderness we would not choose a kitten or the cooling dove, but rather such an animal as the lion, mighty in strength as well as kindness. In the same way, asked to find an individual exemplifying this trait it would not be a weak man chosen, but some one like Robert Browning in his devotion to Elizabeth Barrett, Gladstone in his love for Catherine Glynn. One of the pictures we have of Walt Whitman is his sitting by the bedside of wounded soldiers during the civil war, feeding them from a spoon. So Jesus, whose majesty is often spoken of, gives us the supreme example of human tenderness. He calls himself the Good Shepherd, a shepherd who does not flee when the wolves attack the flock. What a contrast between the philosophy of Nietzsche and Jesus! Jesus shows his tenderness in his attitude toward life in general, toward children, women, the sick and to his mother."

By special request the subject of next Thursday's address will be "The Forgiving Spirit of Jesus." These meetings are held at 10 o'clock in the Bible School room and ladies are invited to bring their sewing. Red Cross work is also provided for those who wish it.

YOUNG MEN'S CLASS FORMED AT Y. M. C. A.

A young men's class, under the leadership of Prof. Vaughan MacCaughy of Central Union church, will be organized Sunday, November 11, at 10 o'clock in the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. building. This class will be for young men of the church and of the army and navy. The subject of the course will be "The Military History of Christianity." A cordial invitation is extended to all young men.

"IS IT WELL WITH THE YOUNG MAN?" SUBJECT

At the morning service at Central Union church Dr. J. H. Williams will preach on the theme "Is It Well With the Young Man?" a sermon of special interest to young people. In the evening Rev. J. L. Hopwood will preach on the subject, "Wishes and Wings."

OUTLINE PROGRAM FOR FRED B. SMITH'S HONOLULU CAMPAIGN

Fred B. Smith, assistant to the president of the Johns-Manville Co. of New York and one of the leading laymen of the country, will give several addresses of particular interest to the men of Honolulu churches when he is in the city this month.

On the night of his arrival, Tuesday, November 13, Mr. Smith will address the annual meeting of the Central Union Church Men's League to which the men of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will also be invited.

Wednesday, November 14, at 7:30 p. m., Mr. Smith will speak at the Christian church on the topic "The New Emphasis in Religion." Both men and women are invited to this meeting.

On Sunday evening, November 18, Mr. Smith will conduct a mass meeting for men at the Bijou theater. Special efforts will be made to fill the theater with men. Smith is at his best in such a gathering and is considered by many the greatest speaker to a men's audience in the world.

On his closing Sunday, November 25, Mr. Smith addresses another men's mass-meeting in the Bijou at 7:30 p. m. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra has been secured and a men's chorus under the direction of George A. Anders will be a feature.

Mr. Smith is a businessman and likes to talk to business men, especially the younger men. He has large business interests throughout the country and keeps track of all the sales-agents of the Johns-Manville Co. by telegraph each month. He will be in Honolulu from November 13th to 28th.

World's Strides In Temperance

California
From all parts of the state come reports of saloons going out of business because of lack of patronage. In San Francisco in a single day fifty saloon-keepers gave up their licenses. Since July 1, nine Oakland saloons have gone out of business. At San Jose, the oldest saloon in the city, was recently closed down and several others voluntarily retired. Similar reports come from Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys points. The saloon in California is doomed.

Prohibits Beer Importation
The commonwealth of Australia is reported to have prohibited the importation into its territory of beer, in accordance with the recommendation of the luxuries board, which included beer with other luxuries which in its judgment should be prohibited.

Fights Drunkenness
France is seeking to put an end to drunkenness in the republic. The chamber of deputies has passed a bill, which, having passed the senate, now becomes a law. The bill has been back and forth between the two houses for more than two years. The measure provides that any person found intoxicated in the streets, saloons or public places, shall be fined from one to five francs for the first offense, and three days of imprisonment as the maximum punishment for a subsequent offense committed within a year from the first conviction. The penalty for the third offense will be a year from the second is a fine of from 16 to 300 francs, in addition to imprisonment from six days to a month. The fourth offense within a year from the third entails a maximum of the foregoing penalties and may be doubled. Those found guilty of four offenses within three years may be deprived of the right to vote or to be elected to office, to serve as jurors, or to exercise parental rights over their children. Severe penalties are provided for those who sell liquor to intoxicated persons.

Want Prohibition
Connecticut has added materially to its white territory as a result of the "small town election" at which ten of the large industrial centers, Gridley, Milford, Plainville, New Milford, Hartford, Manchester, Ellington, Windsor, Stratfield, and Suffield turned to no-license.

FRED B. SMITH CAMPAIGN TO OPEN NOV. 13

Noted Evangelist Will Address Members of Men's League of Central Union

The annual meeting of the Men's League of Central Union church will be held Tuesday, November 13, with Fred B. Smith, the noted evangelist, as the speaker of the evening. There will be a "Get-Together" meeting in the Bible school room at 6 p. m., followed by supper at 6:30, which will cost 50 cents a plate.

Mr. Smith will open his two weeks' campaign in this meeting and it will be a splendid opportunity to immediately get acquainted with the man and his work. All members of the church and congregation, with their men friends, are cordially invited. Acceptances should be sent in to the church office, telephone 2973.

The members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew have been invited, and it is hoped that a large delegation from that organization will be present. Special music for the evening will be provided under the direction of Stanley Livingston.

WHAT CHURCH HAS TO OFFER YOUNG PEOPLE. SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Prof. Vaughan MacCaughy of the College of Hawaii will speak to the Christian Endeavor Society of Central Union church at its meeting on Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the parish house. His theme will be "What the Modern Church Offers Its Young People," and the address will be in the nature of an introduction to the educational council to be held November 7. All who are interested in the subject, whether members of the society or not, are invited to be present.

ORGANIZE NEW C. E. SOCIETY ON SUNDAY

The new Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Central Union church will be formally organized at the meeting at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the workers' room. All young people of the church and Bible school between the ages of 8 and 16 will be cordially welcomed.

States has such a record, because it isn't possible to do this without a "bone-dry" law."

The Waxing Tide
At the end of September, 1917, 60.7 per cent of the population, and 82.8 of the area of the United States was dry, including states that have adopted prohibition, but have not put it into force.

Prohibition has been in effect in Hamilton City, Ontario, Canada, a city of 100,000 population, for one year. During this prohibition year there were 574 arrests on the charge of drunkenness, as compared with 2294 for the first eight months and a half of 1916.

Dry Victory Expected
The city council of Los Angeles, Cal., is expected soon to pass an ordinance which closes saloons as such and materially checks the sale of liquor. Should council fail to enact this legislation, an election will be called and victory is practically assured.

Alcohol for Vinegar
With a view to promoting temperance permanently, the Russian provisional government is reported to have ordered that all supplies of alcohol distilleries and on licensed premises shall be used for the manufacture of vinegar and mineral waters. These products, it is specified, shall not contain more than one per cent alcohol.

Drys Are Busy
Drys of Columbiana county, Ohio, are going about it in the right way. They have decided to raise $10,000 to help fight for state-wide prohibition. The women have arranged a series of illustrated lectures on "John Barleycorn." W. O. Wallace of Columbiana has been made county manager.

Booze Causes Fight
At Butte, Montana, whiskey sent to a train for troops en route to Camp Lewis, Washington, caused a free-for-all fight, in which the negro porter was killed, many soldiers hurt, and the train nearly wrecked. This shows how the liquor men observe the spirit of the law forbidding the sale of liquor to soldiers.

Saturday's Sermonette

By LELAND H. TRACY, St. Clement's Church.

THE REVELATION OF GOOD

"There be many that say, Who will show us any good?"—Psalm 4.

We hear much today about "master-morality," "slave-morality" and "group-morality." But this same idea is not carried to "group-mathematics." The multiplication table is fixed. Is the Decalogue less stable? There is a philosophy which gives us all our old values. It is like saying to a man who thinks he is rich, "Nothing you have is worth what you think it is; your best stocks and bonds may be utterly worthless."

There is no denying that vast numbers of people are reappraising the content of life. Some things which once seemed good, no longer seem so. What is left? What have we in the great life of the world, which all men can see and share, which is still good, held up and looked at, in the brightest light available.

Love is good. The capacity of a soul to fix its affection upon something outside of itself, and to serve that something, person, institution, cause or country—serve it to the death. This is what Henry Drummond wrote about as "the greatest thing in the world." Yes, it is the greatest thing in all worlds. There is vast building power in love. It is not too much to say that "the barrenest life on earth could blossom into beauty if it would, but blossom for another." There is redeeming power in it. More there is eternal power in love. Whatever else may be unreal, this is real. And however our ideas of value may be revised, it is unthinkable that a time shall come when love shall not be regarded as good.

Courage is good. We cannot conceal our admiration for martial valor, but when the facts are known, the valor of the silent sufferer at home; the valor of the woman who gives up her husband to the draft; the valor of the aged parents who buckle on the armor of their young and eager knights; the valor of frail women who undertake to do the work of men in field and factory; the valor of the social reformer who strives, in the face of odds, to remedy social conditions; the valor of the citizen who protests against ignorance and inefficiency in public service; the valor of the statesman whose course runs counter to current prejudice; the valor of the saint who keeps his heart clean in the midst of common foulness—this is courage and this is good.

Then certainly honor is good—that is to say right behavior from right motives. Some men do right because it is the common custom of their associates. Others do right because it is policy, because it would be unprofitable not to do right. The honorable man is one who does right from a love of righteousness. Pride may support him in his course. He would be ashamed not to do right. He has respect for the good opinion of others, but still more respect for his own good opinion. He wants to keep on speaking terms with himself. He wants to be able to face his soul in the dark. It is true that there are various codes of honor. For instance there is the officer's code. We sometimes hear of men being tried for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. A gentleman has a gentleman's code of honor. In the broader field of life, in the wider field of thought, there is a code of honor by which every self-respecting soul holds itself bound. The Fifteenth Psalm tells of such a code. It forbids deceit, malice, slander; it requires a nice regard for the rights of others, a proper reverence for the sanctities of personality, character and life. He who holds such a code prefers to suffer poverty rather than betray a trust.

The weakness of our religion is that often and often we seek to help in the realm of mere chattels, mere circumstances, and exterior circumstances at that. It does not seem to matter much to God whether our lives are comfortable or not; whether we are pleasantly envied or not; whether we live in large houses or in small; whether our lives are long or short. But it does matter everything to God and us that we keep our hearts pure and our hands clean; that we brace our wills to serve and suffer for the right as God gives us to see the right, and that we cherish as the very particular jewel of time and eternity a conscience void of offense toward all mankind. This is the moral meaning of the life of Christ. In Jesus' day they said, "Who will show us any good?" and He replied, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness."

CALIFORNIA'S FOOD CROP SHOWS LARGE INCREASE

Banks of Twelfth Federal Reserve District Record Gain in Clearings

[By Associated Press]
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 2. — General business conditions in the twelfth federal reserve district are summarized in a report given out today as follows:

The crops of the twelfth federal reserve district in 1917 will record a materially greater total than that of a year ago. Wheat, however, shows a decreased yield of 18 per cent, 64,796,000 bushels against 78,448,000 in 1916, according to the government estimate September last. In Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Nevada the barley crop is estimated at 18 per cent less than that of a year ago, but in California the estimate is for 40,000,000 bushels, compared with 23,000,000 a year ago.

The production of rice in California is rapidly developing. The approximate acreage in 1912 was 1400, in 1916, 70,000, and in 1917, 90,000. The increase in value has been from $75,000 in 1912 to $8,000,000 or $10,000,000 in 1917, better yield and higher prices both being important factors.

California shipments of deciduous fruits to points outside the state will total 20,000 carloads, exceeding previous records by more than 2200 carloads. Last season 17,891 carloads were shipped. According to government estimates, the apple crop in the state of Washington will equal last year's yield of over 10,000,000 bushels, but in Oregon and California the production will be slightly less than a year ago.

Approximately 200,000,000 pounds of prunes will be dried in California this season compared with 130,000,000 pounds last year and 170,000,000 pounds in 1915. The production in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, however, will be much below normal. California's production of peaches this year is estimated at 10,190,000 bushels, increase of more than 1,000,000 bushels over 1916. With a ten-year average of 87 for both oranges and lemons in California, the September 1 government report estimates oranges at 50 and lemons at 55.

The 1917 raisin crop in California is estimated at 150,000 tons, about 28,000 tons more than last year's production. About 30,000 tons will be of the Thompson seedless variety, 20,000 tons, Sultanas, and 100,000 tons, Muscatis.

About the middle of July, hops were being contracted in this district at 10 cents per pound. Two months later, 42 cents was paid, sales in important volume being made at prices above 32 cents. These are the highest prices since 1911 when 42 cents was reached, and are due both to a greatly decreased acreage and to the conviction that Congress will not immediately stop the brewing of beer. The 1917 hop crop of the coast is estimated at 125,000 bales as compared with about 230,000 in 1916.

In one of the "dry" states on this coast, one important concern brews beer in the usual manner, then extracts all alcohol by a centrifugal process, denaturizing the alcohol and disposing of it as a by-product. The taste of the beer is said not to be changed, and the brewery, previously shut down, is now said to be operating at capacity.

Due to an increase in acreage of about 20 per cent over last year and to favorable weather conditions, it is thought that the sugar beet crop of California will reach a new high record this year. The September 1st forecast of the government places the crop at 1,770,000 tons, as against 1,465,000 tons a year ago. Utah's production will also reach a new high record.

Reports from 147 lumber mills of the Pacific Northwest indicate an average production during the month of August of 50 per cent below normal with shipments averaging 17 per cent above actual production.

California's sardine pack for this year is estimated at 1,000,000 cases and it is stated that at the present rate of increase the sardine pack for the state will in two years total over 2,500,000 cases, which is the present pack of Maine.

Petroleum production in California in August averaged 271,755 barrels daily, compared with 259,266 barrels in July. Shipments averaged 289,943 barrels daily, curtailing stored stocks 53,840 barrels.

Utah has record yields of hay and potatoes as well as of sugar beets and in its mining output. The state is generally prosperous, as shown by its subscription for $9,700,000 Liberty bonds, with a quota of only $6,500,000; and a Red Cross contribution of $240,000, with an original quota of $240,000, later increased to $350,000.

August bank clearings for 20 principal cities of this district increased 38 per cent over the corresponding month a year ago. Ogden showing the greatest gain with 60 per cent, followed by Seattle with 58 per cent and San Francisco with 50 per cent. Building permits for the same 20 cities declined 22 per cent.

The following are the income taxes of corporations and individuals in the seven states of this district. Among all the states of the country, California stands seventh in the amount of corporation income taxes, and eighth in the amount of individual income taxes, while standing twelfth in population (1910 census).

State	Corporation Income Tax	Individual Income Tax
Arizona	$ 637,933.92	$ 209,333.72

EAT POTATOES DURING WEEK NOV. 25 TO 26, URGE U. S. FOOD HEADS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Three purposes well be accomplished by a nation-wide potato week in which every one will make a special effort to eat potatoes during the week from November 5 to 26, according to United States Department of Agriculture. The first of these purposes is to encourage the eating of the tubers because at that time it is expected that potatoes will be the most available and economical starchy food; the second is to save wheat during this period; and the third is to encourage the general use of potatoes as a wheat substitute by the American householder.

It is proposed that consumers make a special effort to eat potatoes prepared in different ways, recipes for which can be obtained from the home economics departments of the various State colleges of agriculture, or from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It is not supposed that this potato week will of itself have much effect on the potato situation, but it should call the attention of the people to the fact that there is a plentiful supply which should be used in domestic commerce, leaving the more readily transportable grains for export trade. In shipping potatoes about four-fifths of the weight is water; in shipping wheat only one-eighth is moisture.

The department does not claim any originality for the idea of a potato week. The same plan has been in effect for a number of years in respect to raisins, for which there is a national advertising campaign through extensive advertising by the raisin industry of California. The same thing has been done in respect to oranges by the citrus-fruit association. The purpose of the days is to increase the general consumption of these products by acquainting the people with their food value.

It is said that potatoes may be cooked in more ways than any other vegetable, and a score or more variations are within the knowledge of any good hotel chef. Seven ways, one for each day in the week, beginning with Monday's, Tuesday's, and Wednesday's dinner, through Thursday's lunch, and Friday's dinner, Saturday's lunch, and Sunday's supper are here given.

Stuffed potatoes: (Monday) Cut baked potatoes in half, remove the pulp, mash it, add enough milk for the usual consistency of mashed potatoes, and season with butter, salt, and pepper. Fill the baked skins with this mixture, dot the tops with butter and bake for eight or ten minutes in a hot oven. To vary this add to the mashed potatoes, before the skins are filled, any one of the following: beat white of egg (1 egg to 3 medium-sized potatoes); grated cheese (1/2 cupful to 3 medium-sized potatoes); chopped meat (1/2 cupful to 3 medium-sized potatoes); chopped parsley (1 tablespoonful to 3 medium-sized potatoes).

Scalloped potatoes: (Tuesday) Use raw, thinly sliced potatoes in layers, each layer to be sprinkled with flour, butter, pepper, salt, lard, just enough milk to be seen through the top layer, and then bake for about an hour, or until the potatoes are tender. This may be varied by adding, in layers, hard-boiled eggs, sliced; grated cheese; or minced ham.

Boiled potatoes: (Wednesday) Select potatoes of uniform size; wash them with a brush; and plunge them into boiling salted water (1 teaspoonful salt to 1 quart water). Cook them with the cover of the kettle ajar, until tender, from 20 to 30 minutes. Drain the potatoes; remove the skins; dress the potatoes with butter if desired; and serve them immediately. If it is necessary for the potatoes to stand a few minutes before being served, cover them with a cloth, not a lid, in order that the steam as it condenses may be absorbed by the cloth and not return to the potatoes to make them soggy. This is the reason for serving potatoes in an uncovered dish. The potatoes may be sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Potato salad: (Thursday from Wednesday's left-overs)—
6 boiled potatoes,
4 tablespoonfuls salad oil or melted butter,
2 tablespoonfuls vinegar,
1/2 teaspoonful salt,
Cayenne pepper,
2 tablespoonfuls chopped parsley,
Few drops onion juice.
Cut the potatoes in one-half inch cubes. Make a dressing by mixing thoroughly the other ingredients. Pour this dressing on the potatoes, and allow them to stand for 15 minutes. Drain off any dressing that may not have been absorbed by the potatoes. Garnish the salad with sprigs of parsley, and serve with cream dressing of mayonnaise. To the salad may be added any of the following: 1 cupful chopped celery; 2 cucumbers, chopped; or 2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped, or, as a garnish, sliced.

Mashed potatoes: (Friday)—Thoroughly mash cooked potatoes. Add four tablespoonfuls of hot milk, one tablespoonful of butter, and a little salt and pepper, to each pint of potatoes. Beat the mixture with a fork until light, and pile it lightly in a hot serving dish.

Mashed potatoes may be shaped in to small cakes. Brown them in a frying pan in a small amount of hot fat.

Mix with boiled codfish, or canned salmon for fish cakes.
Potato soup (Saturday, from Friday's left-overs)—
2 cupfuls hot rice or mashed potatoes,
1 quart milk,
2 slices onion,
3 tablespoonfuls butter,
2 tablespoonfuls flour,
1 1/2 teaspoonfuls salt,
Celery salt,
Pepper,
Cayenne,
1 teaspoonful chopped parsley.

Scald the milk with the onion; remove the onion; add the milk slowly to the potatoes. Melt the butter; add to it the dry ingredients; stir the mixture slowly until it is well blended. Add this to the liquid mixture, stirring constantly, and boil the soup for one minute. Strain it, if necessary, add the parsley and serve.

Potato biscuit (Sunday, from Friday or Saturday's left-overs)—
1 cupful mashed potatoes,
1 cupful flour,
4 teaspoonfuls baking powder,
1/2 teaspoonful salt,
1 tablespoonful butter,
1 tablespoonful lard,
Milk, about 1/2 cupful.

Sift the dry ingredients. Add these to the potatoes, mixing with a knife. Work the fat into this mixture lightly. Add gradually enough milk to make a soft dough. Toss the dough onto a floured board, pat and roll it lightly to one-half inch in thickness. Cut it into shapes with a biscuit cutter. Place the biscuits on greased pans and bake 12 to 15 minutes in a hot oven.

LACK OF DATA ON WAR PROFITS TAX HALTS INVESTING

Public Not Inclined to Dabble in Sugar Until Definite Information is at Hand

Charles G. Heiser, Jr., treasurer of the Trent Trust Company, has answered the question so many Honolulu people are asking as to why there is not more interest shown in sugar stocks since such a high price—it may be 6.90—has been assured for next year's product by the government. Mr. Heiser says:

"Until the investing public has accurate information as to what effect the new war revenue bill, which includes the excess profit tax, will have on the sugar plantations there will be an apathetic feeling in financial circles. The average citizen is not informed as to whether the particular plantation in which he may be interested will be called upon to pay $100,000 or $500,000 as excess profit taxes. There is a great deal of ignorance in this connection. In fact, many of the plantations are themselves uninformed as to the commitments they will be called upon to make for this purpose, and are calling upon revenue experts to help them solve the problem.

"Take Iowa, for example. It has been stated that the excess profit taxes for the local taxes, will amount to close to a million dollars. Until the plantation interests know definitely how severe these taxes will be they will be very conservative in their estimates as regards possible dividends.

"Furthermore," continued Mr. Heiser, "the uncertainty over the shipping of our next crop of sugar is exerting an adverse effect on sugar stocks. While it is generally understood that the U. S. shipping board will provide facilities for moving the 1918 crop, the average Honolulu investor, knowing the great demand now being made for ships, is waiting for some definite announcement to give him assurance that the crop will be moved with dispatch. By the first of the year most of these uncertainties should be adjusted, and the directors of the various plantation companies should be in a position to decide on dividend payments for next year."

The possible effect of the draft upon the labor supply, Mr. Heiser believes, adds to the general feeling of uncertainty about future stocks.

"Nobody can feel sure just now that there will be labor sufficient to harvest the 1918 crop," said Mr. Heiser. "And in addition to all these other reasons why sugar stocks are low while the price of the commodity itself is high is the fact that a great deal of money has been put into Liberty Bonds that might, in other times, have gone into sugar stocks. This, however, is a very healthy thing for Hawaii, as it may be the means of encouraging many investors to follow a more conservative course in their investments in future. Heretofore Hawaii has been a fruitful field for speculative investments, many of which have gone into oblivion, causing a great hardship to people who could ill afford the loss.

GROWERS WARNED PRICES FOR WHEAT WILL STAY FIXED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—Discontented wheat growers of the West were warned at a public meeting here by Julius H. Barnes, president of the Federal Grain Corporation, that prices fixed recently will stay despite any protest that can be made.

Millers, grain dealers and farmers were told they might as well release wheat because no higher price will be offered. He warned that if peace should be declared within sixty days the nations of the world would rush into the American market and the bottom would fall out of prices.

Men, Books, People & Things by

 HONOLULU HAWAII

In reading up my Hawaiian history, I came across the following:
 "When the council had considered the question of re-distribution of lands, it gave the best property on the islands to Keona. This made Keona very angry. He swore in kanaka. He worked himself up into such a fury that he took a dozen men straight to a coconut grove and cut it down; cut every tree close to the ground."
 This meant that he was displeased. If there is any one thing that a man (or a woman either), is original about, it is in his manner of showing temper. If the average poet manifested half as much originality and potential energy in his writing as he does in his anger, his poems would oftener be accepted.
 Up to a certain stage of indignation, every one does about the same; bears more or less insult, and saves his dignity.
 But let him get really angry (mad, as the true makers of our language have it), and you will see a brilliant display of the excursions of individuality. It is an electrical manifestation, generally with more thunder than anything else, but imposing nevertheless.
 Some grow white, others red; many turn crimson, while not a few shed tears. A few will smile as they vow eternal vengeance upon you and yours, and some men fly into a thousand pieces like an exploding bombshell, damaging whatever is nearest.
 Among angry women you will find some that talk and talk; some that spit like a cat; some that have hysterics; some that faint, and some that pull hair.
 There is a strange, subtle sense of pleasure in getting angry, paradoxical as it may seem; a sense allied to that of taste, sight, smell and touch. It resembles being tickled, in which is mingled somewhat of annoyance and distress. The owner of an itching skin, while he is annoyed by the necessity of scratching, yet derives a sensual pleasure from the rude friction he causes.
 The after results are generally painful, and so with an exhibition of temper. Very often the reaction leaves the exhibitor more hurt than the object of his wrath. For the pleasure of the intoxication, I believe, many persons indulge in temper, just as a drunkard seeks not so much the wine, as its stimulant; but, after the debauch, both regret their animalism, and promise "never to do it again."
 Like other possessions, the more temper a man has the less he keeps it; and the more he shows it, the harder it is for him to retain it within proper bounds.
 Temper is a good thing if it is well seasoned; and brains are the only seasoning. I am sorry to have to say a harsh thing (and make some liable to a burst of anger), but it is quite true that no well balanced person, no man or woman of available sense, no self-respecting individual, allows himself to fall into uncontrollable fury.
 The clouds may gather, faint rumblings may be heard as the result of a distant flash, but the bolts are held in check. They are not loosened all at once, and made as liable to hit the innocent as the guilty. Keona cut down coconut trees, because he was angry at the council, showing a very decided lack of sterling sense.
 If the council deserved blame, as it probably did in this case, Keona should have made his complaints there. He was human, though, and feeling out of sorts, failed to discriminate between cause and effect. You have seen men beat a dog because they stumbled over him as he lay innocently sleeping; whip a horse because they had the tooth-ache, and sold their wives when they reached home at night angry over the day's "bad luck."
 This is the same, unreasonable spirit that actuated Keona when he cut down the trees. He liked the trees, too. Many a time they had supplied him with delicious milk and meat.
 Unfortunately, the blessed children are often made the victims of an unreasoning and unreasonable temper. How many spankings the active, innocent boy or girl has received because his mother felt angry about some thing which the child had not contributed in the least. Women with several children and much work have a great deal to annoy them, and they are, perhaps, most liable to this form of irritation. I pray them never to do as Keona did to the coconut trees, it mattered not so much about the trees, but it is a great wrong to turn upon our most precious charges the pent up anger that we must be rid of in order to make ourselves comfortable.
 A strange thing about anger is, that ordinary education has little to do with the control of it. Unless it be philosophy, no study appears to have any specific effect upon it. The country editor fills his inkstand with rattlesnake poison, and lets loose an army of stymological devils "drivelling idiot, simpering simian, faltering fool, contemporaneous coon," and even the teacher of religion comes down to the use of fists instead of cant.
 I knew a man, who when he lost his temper (which he did easily), threw himself upon his back on the floor, and kicked, traveling on the

MODEL PRISON MAINTAINED IN PEKING, CHINA

(By Associated Press)
 PEKING.—A murderous attack upon Wang Yuan-Cheng, the superintendent of the model prison in Peking, has brought to the attention of the general public an institution which is worthy of imitation in many countries supposed to be far superior to China in the management of penitentiaries.
 Wang Yuan-cheng, the founder and superintendent of the prison, and a number of guards were attacked recently by a group of 12 prisoners, who were inspired to revolt after the restoration of the monarchy. He was stabbed in the head and abdomen with bayonets and dangerously but not fatally wounded. Ten convicts escaped.
 Although Mr. Wang Yuan-cheng narrowly missed death through adhering to humane methods, he still believes in the system adopted in the prison and will not alter it.
 Six years ago Mr. Wang was commissioned by Yuan Shih-kai to open a modern prison, and given only $5,000 with which to carry on the work. He managed the institution so skillfully, and employed convict labor so profitably that the prison now has $30,000 in the bank and has paid all its administrative expenses.
 Six hundred men and 100 women are confined in the prison, and of this number only 12 participated in the dash for liberty. Practically all the others attempted to prevent violence and to protect the superintendent and guards.
CARE OF WIRE WHEELS
 Be careful to dry the spokes of a wire wheel after washing. As the enamel chips off the metal rust starts and loosens more of it. Careful drying will prevent this to a great extent.
 Every time you change a wire wheel put grease on the metal surfaces of wheel spindles where the hub touches it. If this is not done the wheel will rust and stick to the spindle and it will be extremely difficult to separate.

Educational News of Special Interest To Teachers In Hawaii's Schools
 By Vaughan MacCaughy, College of Hawaii

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S SPARE TIME
 Hawaii as an agricultural country, has been largely spared from the evils of child labor which constitute a glaring blot upon the industrial systems in many parts of the mainland and other countries. Quite distinct, however, from the selfish exploitation of the child by the old-time factory system is the modern effort to wisely direct the out-of-school activities of the school child.
 The conditions facing the people of the United States because of the entrance of this country into the world war have greatly stimulated interest in the work of school-children during out-of-school hours. An investigation recently carried on under the Bureau of Education, comprehending 15,000 children in a dozen representative states, has brought to light the following important data:
 35 per cent of the children are employed during summer vacations. The average earnings are $13.19. Many of the occupations are undesirable for children. The incorporation into the school program of profitable home project enterprises in gardening, home making, shopwork, and other phases of the practical arts is probably the best solution to the problem of school-child employment.
 One of the conspicuous changes needed consists in the rearrangement of the school year, so that the summer vacation may come in the middle of the year instead of at the end. Under conditions the children at the end of the year drop everything pertaining to school. The summer vacation is given over to activities entirely distinct from school work. On returning to school at the end of the long vacation the children enter new classes, meet new teachers, and commence new studies.
 If the school year commenced with January and ended with December the summer vacation might be made decidedly more useful than it is at present. It is not necessary to burden the children with heavy assignments, but there should be some kind of continuity of thought and purpose to eliminate such a long waste of time as is the case under present conditions. The summer work should be of such a character as to furnish remunerative employment, and in this way the child may learn the value of money expressed in work, and be able to contribute something to his support.

coming an American in spirit and in loyalty!
 The solution of the alien problem lies in compulsory education... Opportunities for voluntary attendance will not be more successful in the case of the adult than it would be in the case of the child. The economic pressure is of course greater on the adult than on the child. Yet his needs are great and his decisions regarding education at the time of his arrival are crucial.
 National security and the growth of democracy demand that the alien be educated for American citizenship. We have the machinery already provided in our public school plants. This machinery is unused at the times when the adults can best use it. The cost, therefore, is small when compared with the results possible. Because of our allied interests with the nations from whence we are getting most of our immigrants, the present opportunity is great. Action looking toward a more effective system of assimilating the alien should not be postponed.

HAWAII'S ALIEN POPULATION
 The population of this Territory includes such a very high percentage of aliens that the following statement concerning the compulsory education of aliens, is of particular interest. This statement was made recently by Superintendent Alderman, in charge of the public schools of Portland, Oregon.
 Our educational system is designed to reach the coming generation only. It completely ignores the generation of today. We have the generation plan for reaching and assimilating the great masses of aliens who are coming to our shores. Congress has tried to solve this problem by applying educational tests when the foreigner arrives. But the mere fact that he is illiterate when he arrives is no proof that the immigrant is poor material for American citizenship. His illiteracy probably has been due to a lack of opportunity. How much more effective would tests from time to time after his arrival be in determining whether or not he is manifesting an active interest in be-

TO ALL PROPERTY OWNERS AND THOSE INTERESTED.
 I was instructed by the Board of Supervisors to give general notice to all property owners and those interested in permanent roads under the Frontage Tax Law, by the frontage or area basis, to submit their desired improvements to the City and County Clerk, McIntyre Building, before December 31, 1917, for consideration as a whole by the board.
 By order of the Board of Supervisors:
 E. BUFFANDEAU,
 Deputy City and County Clerk.

NEW ZEALAND TO JAIL SLACKERS

[By Associated Press] WELLINGTON, New Zealand, July 28.—The New Zealand police hereafter will enforce that section of New Zealand military service law which aims at the enrollment of every man of military age in the Dominion in the expeditionary force reserve. Police-men may accost citizens and make inquiries accordingly. Eligible men not enrolled will be liable to a fine of $250 or three months imprisonment.

It is hoped by this step not only to ensure that the name of every fit man is on the roll but to detect men who have failed to comply with the military ballot (drafting by means of numbered marbles and card indexes). That is every man who is not in military uniform will have to have either an enrollment certificate or a "leave pass" showing that he has been medically rejected. It is expected that the powers thus given the police will lead to many incidents. Another change under the military service act which took effect this month is relative to the classification of the men in the second reserve division—the married men. Originally this division was to have been classified according to the men's dependents but lately the government decided that the basis shall be children only. Thus married men without children will be called up first, those with one child next and so on. Married men without children are estimated to number about 15,000. The first of the married men will be drafted in September or October. A measure to be introduced in Congress provides for the construction of a great military highway to encircle the United States. It is proposed to have this highway extend down the Pacific Coast from Canada to Mexico, along the southern border and the Gulf Coast, thence up the entire Atlantic seaboard. Although designed primarily for military purposes, it will make one of the most remarkable automobile tours in the world.

NEGRO AND MOTHER DIE IN RACE BATTLE

ARCADIA, La.—John Lewis, a negro, and his mother, were killed and several whites and negroes were wounded here in clashes between white and negro families. The trouble started when Piers Dance, white, and Lewis started to settle a quarrel with pistols. Dance was disarmed by Lewis after being wounded. Later friends and relatives of Dance and members of the Lewis family met in a bloody fight in which the negro and his mother were shot to death.
