have a digestive · apparatus of grand capabilities, but it seems that like the buzzard, it is somewhat fastidious in its tastes. D. Scribus, one of the Adullamites, having been engaged by that enterprising journal to report a meeting in the cave, wrote out the following report, but did not dare to hand it in, lest it but did not dare to hand it in, lest it should not agree with the taste of the "old man," and the consequent excite-ment should duly agitate the "minis-terial bee in his bonnet." But Scribus is "pledged to neither sect nor party, but established for the equal benefit of all," and so he now offers the report to the public that all may know what is going on in the political world:

TEN - PAGE EDITION

When the reporter entered, Elder Shrub and Garibaldi were in a dark recess of the cave, Shrub talking nervously in low tones, while Garibaldi, looking furtively around, twirled his thin moustache. Flip Demarest, with thumbs in the arm holes of his vest and hat on the back of his head, stood uneasily and alone at the mouth of the cave. E. C. Duty and T. R. Cuspidor flitted hither and thither, Cuspidor damning the "missionaries and all them literary fellers," while Duty oiled the troubled waters with his "bide a wee, Tommy, bide a wee." Just then in stalked Charley the trooper, with severe countenance and righteous demeanor, like a Puritan of Cromwell's camp. Shrimp tipped his hat to him as he passed, but the trooper only nodded grandly and looked over Shrimp's head into dim futurity. Shortly afterwards loquacious Moses stationed the Highland Dragoon at the month of the cave, and gave him the pass word, "Boodle." He then called the recalitrant company to order and delivered the following welcome Fellow citizens, mechanics, warriors and others: I welcome you to this meeting. I need not tell you the object which I had in view when I invited you to meet me here this evening. I want to find some plan upon which we can unite before the coming election. We are not men who have been in the habit of associating together. In fact, we have very little in the way of tastes, interests or principles in common but we can agree in this on thing-we are against the Government. Applanse.) We want to get in and kick the Cabinet out. (Applause and cries of hear, hear.) But we are such strangers to each other that I want this meeting to be very informal, so that we may become acquainted. With great trepidation, but with purpose born of political necessity, Moses advances to the Elder and proffers him the right hand of fellowship. "My dear Shrub, I do not forget your national services in the famous Samoan imbroglio. Your diplomacy will serve us all in this, our time of need. We hail you as a man and a brother." Whereat the Elder, in silvery accents, acknowledges the compliment, and introduces Garibaldi to Moses in the following felicitous measures : "Permit me to make you acquainted with the Palama Liberator." (Garibaldi grins sardoni-cally and rolls his furtive eye.) "He is a great constitutional reformer." (Another furtive glance.) "He feels 8 the urgency of the present political ne-cessity. He feels that he has everything to gain (another sardonic grin) and nothing to lose. He stands ready to cast himself unconditionally into the breach to preserve the national peace. You may count on him early and late." Twirling his thin moustache, and glancing furtively about, Garibaldi grins sardonically as he asks, "Will the trooper accept me as a man and a brother? Will he forgive my little peccadillo if I will help him at the polls?" Whereat the trooper strides magnifi-cently toward Garibaldi and greets the Liberator thus: "You may be a fool but you're no missionary. Nobody will ever take you for it. So we're partners in this business. You're in distress, hav-ing no visible means of support, and I'm discontented because they didn't hang you when they had the chance, and here we are Adullamites and Adullamites we'll be forever." Flip Demarest still stood aloof and looked wistfully out on the busy workers at their tasks. Suddenly from the dim recesses of the cave, stalking unsteadily, two tall forms with locked arms came into the circle. "This is my friend Gen-eral Deficiency" says the Solon from Waianae. "He has been among you thirty-five years and you know something of him." Turn the rascals out, said Cuspidor, coming up at this unfortunate juncture. Whereat Moses attempting the amenities, said, "Ah! Cuspidor, you forget that the General did not let them turn him out, he shrewdly resigned." "You're right, you are says Moses?" (Laughter). At which harmless little joke, which all seemed to understand, it was agreed to adjourn to meet again for the purpose of forming a ticket representing no class, clique, set, doctrine, principle or policy, except to get there.

(From Our San Francisco Correspondent.) Sugar Matters.

The quotations in New York, January 14 were Cuban centrifugal, 96 degrees, 5 9-16 cents, granulated 61 cents. Prices are wholly nominal.

The local market is quiet and the new crop of Hawaiian is coming in slowly. The feature since the departure of the Australia was the decision of Judge Wallace on January 6 in the American Sugar Refinery case, declaring the company has forfeited its corporate franchise. The decision has only intensified the bitter feeling between the local refiners, the American Company's representa-tives denouncing the Spreckels in unmeasured terms for prosecuting the case, while the Spreckels family, one and all, are in a particularly happy frame of mind. The Eastern market is quiet, and if anything weaker. The troubles of the Trust are the only matters of interest in the trade.

On the 10th Judge Ingram of New York issued an injunction to restrain the sugar trust from making a transfer of property unless ordered. No money will be paid in dividends pending decision by the Court of Appeals. This order defeats the avowed intention of the trust to transfer its assets to the new company which was recently formed in Connecticut with a capital of $10,-000,000.

The consideration of the sugar tariff was begun by the Ways and Means Committee of the House on the 6th inst. John Dymond, President of the Sugar Planter's Association, read a memorial asking for protection sufficient to enable the United States to produce its own sugar. Dymond said free sugar from the Sandwich Islands did not affect the price of sugar in this country and was not, therefore, a detriment to the sugar industry of the United States. #### ANOTHER REASON WHY THE OPPOSI-Jawaiian Gazette TION IS THE "RE-ACTIONARY FARTY."

CHOICE BITS CONCERNING ITS LEADERS OFFICIAL RECORD.

One of the reasons for denoting the Opposition as the "Re-actionary Party" is because of the bad public record of some of their leading candidates. Mr. John E. Bush is their representative journalist; one of their leading stump speakers, a confidential member of their inner council, and heads their ticket for Representatives for Honolulu. He is the most prominent and active leader among them.

Mr. Bush has been in public life for the last fifteen years, as Governor of Kauai, Minister of the Interior and Minister to Samoa, and his public conduct in all of those positions is known to the members of his party, and knowing what it was, they have made him their leader. We do not propose to inquire into any unsavory details of private life, but it is due the voters of this country that they should know the character of the public acts of those who now ask for their votes.

The following are a few of the public acts of Mr. Bush while in office.

On the 8th of August, 1882, he was appointed Minister of the Interior which position he held until July 26, 1883.

Mr. Bush has repeatedly made the statement that the reason he resigned was because he would not comply with the wishes of Mr. Gibson and Mr. Spreckels, and that for conscience sake e sacrificed himself.

The size and tenderness of Mr. Bush's conscience can be judged from the following incidents, which are simply samples of his official methods.

The Report of the Fin nce Committee to the Legislature of 1884 includes the following concerning Mr. Bush's administration :

CONTRACT WORK. In examining the expenditure under the special appropriation for bridges and landings and government buildings, your committee find that the manner in which contracts were made and approved must be characterized as disgraceful. LANDINGS.

1. The contracts to build landings at Honokaia, Honomalino, Honokaa and Kahololele were given to Messrs. Lawrence and Freeth on specifications drawn up by themselves. The contracts were signed by John E. Bush, Minister of the Interior, without the approval of the Superintendent of Public Works, and without any effort to reduce the cost by the full length required by the contract SIAMESE TWINS OR DEVIL-FISH -which was founded on the survey made by Mr. Hayselden, and an extra sum of $1,500 was paid to the Pacific Bridge Co. to make the extension, and $100 to Mr. Butler for extra abutment. The Wailua, Kauai bridge, the Waimea bridge, the Hanalei bridge, the Waiawa bridge and the Waimalu bridge were all put up so badly that within a year or two after their construction they were all swept away, involving a loss of over $52,000. In addition to the $17,500 paid for building the Wailua bridge, there were $1,054 paid as extras, and in addition to the $14,500 paid for building the Waimea bridge, Mr. Hayselden collected $925 as extras.

In the case of the Waimea bridge, the committee had evidence that months previous to the commencement of the work of construction, an experienced bridge maker, Mr. H. Tennent, offered the Minister to build the Waimea bridge for the sum of $9,000, offering good and sufficient bonds that the work should be completed in a satisfactory manner to the Minister or his deputy. This offer was retused and the contract, as above stated, awarded to James G. Hayselden for the sum of $14,500.

Mr. Hayselden sub-let the Waimea bridge contract to the Pacific Bridge Co. for the sum of $9,300, making a clear profit of $4,800 without doing a stroke of work.

In the case of the bridge of Wailuanui, Maui, for which $1,125 was paid a carpenter living in that locality, offered the Road Supervisor in Makawao to contract to build the bridge for $250, but was rejected.

The committee stated that "if the contract prices paid for the other bridges mentioned above, stand in the same relation to the prices for which they could have been contracted, the country was defrauded of over $26,000 by an incompetent or dishonest official. Your committee are sorry to have to say that in view of the manner in which the contracts were awarded and the facts connected therewith, they do not see how they can avoid the conclusion that these contracts would not have been awarded at such prices unless some profit accrued therefrom to the Minister who signed them." THE WASH HOUSE CONTRACT.

5. There are many other instances of contract work which seem to have been paid at the same extravagant rate. An unadvertised contract was awarded to James Hayselden to make an addition to wash houses for the sum of $6,850. The first wash house building contained 16 rooms. It was built in the previous period at the cost of $5,218, which inluded the cost of a large redwood tub in each room and the cost of piping. The addition built by Mr. Hayselden was three-fourths the size of the old building, containing 12 rooms, and in addition to the contract price the piping was put in at a cost of $264.

WHICH? Sometimes there are monstrosities in nature and sometimes there are monstrosities in the actions of men. Years not very long ago, the Siamese Twins excited a lively and widely extended curiosity among naturalists and the people of various countries. They were long on exhibition in the United States and in Europe. These Twins were united by a single cartilagineous ligature, which scientists nor surgeons dared to cut, and thus the singular twain were held together through life, thinking nearly the same thoughts and directed by like sympathies and wills. But in Honolulu has just been born and brought to public observation, gomething even more ano-malous than the Siamese Twins. The Re-actionist list of candidates for Nobles and Representatives in this city is as excentric as anything ever exhibited by Barnum, the great American showman, who claims to have "the greatest show on earth." There is nothing in Barnum's list of monstrosities and absurdities surpassing the twin relationship of the two wings of the strange combination of the supporters of Widemann, Lucas, Bush, and Wilcox. It is united by the cartilage of expected public plunder. Suddenly casting aside one platform, the Reactionist manipulators have adopted another totally different, and have made an alliance strikingly ludicrous. These Re-actionists manipulators, in their implacable hostility to political reform, think to defeat the supporters of the Re-form Constitution by placing Widemann at the head of their ticket, and thus be able to humbug the Honolulu mechanics to vote for Bush, Wilcox and the like. This two-headed monster is more than the Siamese Twins-it is a kind of devilfish-with a a tolerably well formed head, but with a tremendously long tail. It is obvious enough that the Bush and Wilcox tail will easily wag the head of the political monstrosity, were it possible for this strange fish to swim into power. In the control of such political captains and pilots immediate perils would surround the Ship of State, as the past career of these men thus plainly indicate. Bush, in the Gibson Cabinet, and Wilcox pompously dressed in that Italian uniform, as on the 30th of July last, would makely a lively time for the mechanics, the merchants, and the business men of Honolulu. Their last platform would be as quickly cast aside as was the one preceding it-quicker than the snake changes his skin-and that the devil-fish of Re-action and corruption would have the property owners, mechanics, and business men at their mercy, and squander the money of the Government as recklessly as did Bush in the Gibson Cabinet, and Wilcox in his useless school days in Italy .- [Con.

DO NOT EXCITE NATIVE AGAINST FOR EIGN-BORN CITIZENS.

It is a remark which history has sometimes strikingly verified, that a political blunder is worse than a crime. It is sometimes both a blunder and a crime in politics to try to arouse and em itter race prejudices among the citizens of a common country to excite the nativeborn against the foreign-born citizens The result of such a course is always injurious to the public welfare and serves only the purpose of ignorant or unscrupulous demagogues. It is especially injurious in a country like this, where only a limited portion of its natural resources are yet developed, and where the labor, the capital, and the enterprise of men born in other Christian lands are imperatively needed. In other countries which are growing rapidly in prosperity and population, the native and the foreign-born citizen work together in harmony and good faith. Why are the Argentine Republic, the Australian provinces, and the United States pushing ahead with such wonderful strides? Because the foreign-born and the native-born join hands and work together for the common good, and the demagogue who would create antagonism among them, is pushed aside as a disturber and an enemy of the country's welfare. The prosperity of the United States, unequalled in the annals of nations, is owing to the warm hand of intendent of Public Works, Mr. Sterling, fellowship which the native-born citizens extend to all men of industry and enterprise from other civilized lands. Together the native and the foreign-born have fought the battles of the country, have made its laws, have cultivated, its fields and prairies, have built its railroads, have increased its commerce to enormous proportions at home and abroad, and made its present population nearly seventy millions of souls. All who have labored for and loved the country have acted together for the national good. Attempts have often been made by noisy and ignorant demagogues, and sometimes by intelligent knaves, to arouse hostilities between the different nationalities, to embitter the native against the foreign-born, but these disturbers have always been voted down and quickly cast aside. Thus it should be in the Hawaiian Kingdom, which, under the Reform Constitution and the Reciprocity Treaty with the United States, has entered on a career of remarkable prosperity. This encouraging state of things will continue, if the native and the foreign-born citizens work together like a band of brothers. To excite the hostility of the natives against the foreigners injures the former far more than the latter, and the country most of all. Because of this obvious truth such agitators as Bush, Wilcox, and such foreigners as are backing them up, should be voted down and discountenanced by all true native Hawaiians as their worst enemies. The same just and patriotic policy which is giving such wonderful progress to the United States, the Australias, and other countries, will give like success in these islands .- [Con. Special Notices. PREPARED BY THE Potter Drug & Chemical Co., Boston, F.S.A.

AN IMPORTANT PRINCIPLE SETTLED.

The above entitled case, trie1 at the January term of the Supreme Court and decided in favor of the Government, involves a question of vital importance to made, but in each case the contracts the country, one which has been repeatedly decided in England and the estimate, and on completion the work United States, but which has not before arisen here.

The principle involved was the right of a public officer to bind the Government to do that which the law did not Thomas to build a kerosene oil storeauthorize, and to pledge the Treasury to house for $4,800. In addition to this pay for work done for private parties.

1886 the King decided to light the palace left by his stone cutters, and stones and grounds with electric light at his hauled by him in excess of that required own expense, and in order to lessen the to complete his contract. Also the sum expense an arrangement was made with of $1,069 was paid to Mr. Lazarus for the hotel people to light the hotel for a hauling 611 loads of stone. Besides this certain sum per month.

He bought and paid for on his own account and with his own money, two in- and material. It is difficult to say where candescent electric light dynamos and a so many loads of stone could have been boiler and a steam engine to run the same.

This cost a number of thousand dollars, and for the purpose of lightening the financial strain, the Minister of the Interior, Mr. Aholo, made an agreement with Mr. Bowler that he (Bowler) should build the foundations for the King's electric light plant and that the Government should pay for it.

Mr. Bowler accordingly did the work. Meanwhile Mr. Aholo went out of office and Mr. Thurston came in. Upon presentation of Mr. Bowler's claim for labor and material, payment was refused, on the ground that the work had not been for the public but for a private person; that it made no difference whether that private person was the King or a citizen; that having been done for a private individual it should be paid for by him, and the Minister had no authority to bind the public treasury to pay for it; if the Minister had attempted to bind the treasury his act was void as against the Government.

This position has been fully sustained by the Court.

This establishes the principle here that a government official cannot do any more than the law authorizes him to do, at I any act which he may do in excess of his authority is void as against the government. This is a most important principle to establish in defense of the treasury, as otherwise it might at any time be depleted and bankrupted by a dishonest official who might make contracts for the benefit of his friends to an unlimited extent, and simply because he happened to be a Minister the publicwould have to foot the bills.

The voters have to thank the Reform party for establishing this principle, as well as for saving to the treasury the $1,600 which the foundations cost, for had the Re-actionary party remained in power it would have been paid withont a whimper.

allowing competitive bids. Mr. R Sterling, Superintendent of Public Works, stated to your committee that he had made estimates of the cost of these landings before the appropriations were were made at a higher figure than his was not as good as provided for in his estimates.

BUILDINGS.

2. A contract was made with E. B Mr. Thomas was paid $216 for stones left The facts of the case were that during by him on the ground, being the debris in order to complete the cement floor it was necessary to spend $914 for labor put. The price paid for hauling this stone was $1.75 per load. Responsible parties have told your committee they would have been willing to do the same hauling for $1 per load. The estimate made by Mr. Sterling for the cost of this building, including the cement floor, completed was $4,250. The actual total cost paid was $7,000. This estimate was handed in to the Minister of the Interior before the contract was made.

PALACE WALL.

3. A contract was made by Mr. Bush with Mr. Thomas to re-build the wall in the rear of the Palace for $2,878, and work was accepted and approved by Mr. Bush, and the money paid, while the wall stands to this day in an unfinished condition and the terms of the contract unfulfilled. The cost of this wall was estimated by Mr. Sterling at $1,800 completed.

BRIDGES.

4. A large number of bridge contracts were awarded by Mr. Bush to James G. Hayselden, without calling for public tenders. The following is a list of the contracts:

Waikane bridge$	2,200
Kaneohe bridge	3,200
Punaluu bridge	4,200
Bulkhead at Kaneohe	250
Waiawa bridge	4,750
Waiamalu bridge	2,250
Wailuanui bridge, Maui	1,125
Nawiliwili bridge, Kauai	1,000
Hanalei bridge, Kauai	12,600
Anahola bridge, Kauai	4,040
Opeula bridge, Kauai	2,050
Wailua bridge, Kausi.	7,500
Waimea bridge, Kauai	4,500 has a second of the Total.....$69,665 The surveys for the bridges were made by Mr. Hayselden for which he received thirty-one feet too short, although it was Bush.

The results therefor are original wash house, 16 rooms, including piping, $5,218.

Bush-Hayselden contract house, 12 rooms, cost $7,114.

At the same time Mr. Bush made contracts with Mr. Hayselden, without any advertisement, to build a custom house at Kahului for $14,500, and an addition to the Honolulu custom house for $21, 000, and also a brick custom house at Hilo. The Kahului custom house was built, but owing to Mr. Hayselden's death the other two buildings were never completed.

All these contracts were made by the Minister directly, he ignoring the Superin whose department they were properly located.

THE KING'S WELL.

6. Mr. Bush purchased from His Majesty an artesian well, situated at Waikiki, for the use of the Government, for the sum of $5,500, this being in the vicinity of $1,000 above the cost of the well. As if this was not enough there was reserved to the King all the water which would run through a four-inch pipe. Thus, for a consideration more than the cost of the whole, the Government got about half the flow of the well. THE FLOWERDEW CONTRACT.

7. The final and crowning glory of Mr. Bush's monument of contracts was the one which he entered into with Mr. William Flowerdew on the 30th of June, whereby, without any authority of law or Legislature, he granted to Mr. Flowerdew the unconditional franchise to lay a street railway in the streets of Honolulu. This was more than even Mr. Gibson could stomach, and was the final straw which broke the camel's back. Mr. Bush went out of office upon this as the pretext but in reality because the whole course of management of his office had been such as to bring discredit upon the then rotten method of conducting public affairs.

.200 The foregoing is not at all an exhaust-250 ive statement of similar contracts and .750 methods of doing business of which the ,250 records are full. We reserve for another, ,125 time the description of Mr. Bush's ,000 method of conducting the land depart-,600 ment of the Interior office. 040

The devil who presides over misprints is not serving Mr. Bush as faithfully as the devil might be expected to do. When that light of politics and journalism wishes to charge his enemies with being wanting in experience, the faithless demon aforesaid makes him say that the sum of $396, but when the Wailua they are wanting inexperience. Even bridge was put up it was found to be the devil seems to be abandoning Mr.

THE LATE JUDGE PRESTON.

The Members of the Bar Adopt Reso Intions of Sympathy-The Chief Justice's Reply.

When the Supreme Court opened at 10 o'clock Monday morning, His Honor Chief stice Judd, Mr. Justice McCully, Mr. stice Bickerton and Mr. Justice Dole were on the bench. The entrance to the Court room was draped with black, also the dais and the seat lately used by Mr. Justice Preston. Among those occupying seats in the Court room were : Their Excellencies Jona. Austin, Minister of Foreign Affairs; S. M. Damon, Minister of Finance; L. A. Thurston, Minister of Interior ; Senhor Canavarro, Portuguese Commissioner, and the following members of the bar, Messrs. A. S. Hartwell, W. O. Smith, W. R. Castle, A. P. Peterson, F. M. Hatch, W. A. Kinney, J. M. Monsarrat, A. Rosa, J. M. Davidson, Chas. Creighton, G. K. Wilder, Cecil Brown, S. K. Kane, J. A. Magoon, V. V. Ashiord, W. C. Parke and W. C. Achi.

Mr. Frank M. Hatch presented the following resolutions:

Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to remove by death the Hon. Edward Preston, Second Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Resolved; That in the death of Mr. Justice Preston the Court has lost a member of profound legal learning, of great ability and of unquestionable integrity; that the members of the bar do tender to the widow of the deceased Justice their sincere sympathy; that the Court be moved to enter these resolutions on the records of the Court.

Mr. Hatch said :- In presenting these resolutions I desire to say that the memsers of the bar were greatly shocked on arning of the sudden demise of Mr. Justice Preston. They were aware of his infirmity and of his suffering. At the beginning of the January term no one would have thought it likely that he would have been carried off so soon. They could see now that it had been a great trial for him to go on circuit duty, especially to Waimea. The late Justice was a man of profound legal ability, especially in the common law. No lawyer could be a great lawyer without a knowledge of common law. He was a man of tender feelings whose sym-pathies were easily excited. We have all lost a man whom it will be difficult to replace, and whose memory we shall honor

Mr. Cecil Brown said :- In 1875 when I commenced to practice at the bar I first met the late Justice and he tendered me help and advice. Anything I wanted to know, he told me not to fail and communicate with him. That was his character. He was always kind to young members of the bar. It was my good fortune to be intimate with him, and we made several trips on circuit together. I never heard him say one unkind word against other members of the bar. His language showed that his heart was kind and he thought of others as he wished them to think of him. The bench and bar have lost one whom it will be hard to replace. He was a man against whose integrity no one could say a word. His knowledge of the common law could not be beat. He has gone to his last resting-place. No one thought that on Friday when he left the Court room that a week later he would be no Such is the decree of Providence. Mr. Justice Preston was a man respected by everybody, and not a person can say anything but good of his name. Mr. J. M. Davidson said :- The sad event that we have met together to comorate, admonishes us of the uncernot to come, 'tis now. If it is not now, it will come, so the readiness is all." May our friend rest

Where no forced banquet claims the sated guest, And silence spreads the couch of ever wel-come rest."

His Honor Chief Justice Judd said :--Brethren, we stand aside for a moment, to-day, from the excitements of business, legal and political discussion, to pay our tribute of respect and affection to the memory of our friend and associate whose earthly career closed so unex-pectedly last Friday. Death and decay hide away from our sight the forms of our friends and silence their voices forever. He who so lately occupied this chair at my side will never return to us. Impressed with this thought our words of him should be truthful and sincere.

The deceased came to this country nearly twenty years ago. He immediately formed the acquaintance of our fraternity and took a seat in my law office awaiting the credentials which should receive his admittance to our bar. I soon formed an opinion of Mr. Preston which many years of association thereafter has not changed, that he had a knowledge of the principles of law which only a long course of thorough training can secure. In mastership of the com-mon law of England and of the rules of pleading I venture the opinion that he had no equal here. The readiness with which his opinion of a legal question would be given soon won for him confidence and business which he conducted with marked success. An unsubstantial case he rarely pushed, and more than one client has found when his zeal in his own cause would lead him to discard Mr. Preston's advice and pursue his case, that the advice was right.

A quick perception of faults in pleading made him, as a Judge, sometimes impatient of carelessness and inaccuracy of statement. But whoever upon whom his censure fell could never have felt that it carried with it ought of ill will thereafter. If any one has had this impression he entirely mistook the character of Judge Preston. Having a retentive memory and a mind well stored with the law as found by the great lights of jurisprudence, and with the facts of English history, he brought to the bar and lately to the bench an element of conservatism and strength that was wholesome and especially valuable to our peculiar community.

As an attorney-general his counsel was wise and conscientious and his influence in cabinet, in privy council and as a citizen has done much to secure for this Ringdom an advance in liberal, responsible government.

As a legislator he ought to be grate-fully remembered. I know of no more important nor more valuable statutes, nor any freer from imperfections than those drafted by him and by him carried through the Legislature of 1876. I refer to the act consolidating the rules of evidence and the act of criminal procedure. Whatever changes may take place in the personnel of the bench of this Kingdom or in its system of jurisprudence, Edward Preston will be remembered as a wise, fearless and upright Judge.

For the bench I thank you, brethren, for the resolutions presented expressive of your respect. They will be entered on the records of this Court.

Dear Sir, --We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has carned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the connury, and we shall be glad to hear of its flading a pince in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their rodyne in Diartheas and Dysentery. Spasms Caurant, and Cholera itself, we have occured under a general sedative, that have occured under our personal observation during many years. In Cholerate Diarthea, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's Chio-rodyne in Diartheas and collis Browne's the medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidely thebest, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's from a sense of the Pharm. cinty of the tenure of life. And while re feel personally poignant grief at being bereft of our friends as one after another pass away, we feel still deeper the loss that the people and Government sustain in the death of a tried, trusted, wise and honorable official.

On my arrival in Honolulu in the antumn of 1876, I first met the deceased, then a practising lawyer in this city, and ofter thereafter met him at the Bar as opposing, and quite as often as associate counsel, our business relations were always of the most cordial nature.

He was a man of pronounced ability, analytical mind, relentive memory and great legal learning, and his knowledge of pleading and case law was marvelous. His mind was like a well-ordered and strong bank that can pay all drafts without suspending and still have a sur-

He was a fair and liberal antagonist, never wasting time in vain discussion, relying always on the strong points of a case, which no one was more quick to discern, group or utilize.

He was never boastful or arrogant in his triumphs, and accepted defeat in a manly way, and if the solution of the problem did not please him, or was distastful, he never complained. His verbal promise relating to all interlocutory proceedings was good; written stipulations were unnecessary. His word was his law or rule of action.

I was indebted to him many times for much useful information drawn from his fund of legal lore, and cheerfully acknowledge the source from which it came. When I returned to Honolulu after an absence of five years, I was fully impressed with the change in his physifal condition. I saw that a hand was upon him that would never loosen its relentless hold, and I was prepared for the sad event that has called us together here to-day. I do not, however, look upon death with the horror that most persons do. I view it as a final refuge. Lord Bacon quoting a favorite poet, adapts the idea so well expressed "Death is one of the privileges of nature." When disfigurements and infirmities come, whether from disease or old age, life becomes a burden. The Caliph of Cordora when he felt that the inevitable summons was made upon him, said to a friend: "I have reigned for fifty years; I have triumphed over all my enemies; have rewarded my friends; been beloved by my subjects; respected by all contemporary rulers; have enjoyed the love of my queen and filial affection and obedience from my children; yet during the whole period of my triumphs I have only known fourteen days in which no clouds arose to obscure the constellations of hope and past success. I go willingly." If life is worth so little to the eminent and successful how valueless it must be to those who live in obscurity and without an object to achieve.

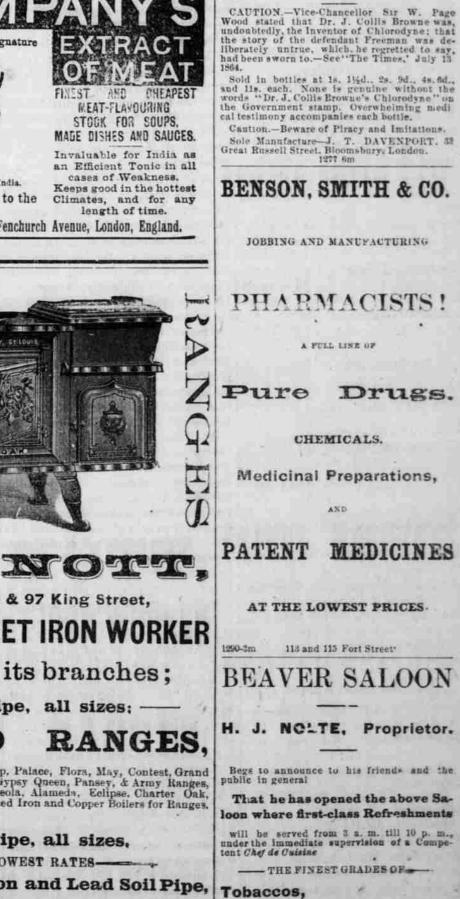

A good man is worth more to his friends and to the state than he is to himself. Ambition brings discontent, and content begets slothfulness and inaction, and weariness is the result of repetitions of the incidents of life, and the heritage of old age. And in the fullhess of time we may realize without a TERRIT :

WHAT THE REFORM PARTY HAS DONE.

1. It has created and carried into effect the Homestead Law.

2. It has taken the subject of Leprosy out of politics, strictly enforced the Segregation Law without fear or favor, sparing no expense for the comfort of the lepers; established a Hospital for the scientific investigation of the disease and treatment of the patients, and pledges itself to stamp out the disease. 3. It has changed and Decentralized the Government from a Despotism. run by and for the benefit of one man and his favorites, to a Representative Constitutional Government controlled by and for the People.

It has taken the Civil Service out of Politics and given to the People the Power and the Right to conduct Elections without the partisan inter ference of Government Officers.

The election for Nobles and Representatives, held in September, 1887, was the first since elections were inaugurated in this country, in which Government officers did not exercise an active and more

Such control was exercised in greatly increasing degree, as the years went by. until it culminated in 1886, when, almost without exception, the Government officers throughout the country, even to the Judges, were partizan workers, doing active electioneering; and bringing all the power of their positions to bear to assist the administration in power. To such an intolerable extent had this been carried that in 1886 it was perfectly well understood that retention in office depended upon subserviency and active partizan support of the administration. It has been charged that the Reform party, being in possession of the Government, is going to hold it at all hazards. THE MISTORY OF THE REFORM PARTY proves that it proposes to remain in control only by and with the consent of a majority of the legal voters. THE NUMBER OF VOTERS in the country is less than 15,000. Of these voters about 1,500 are Government officials, or are in Government employ. Any administration that goes into an election, having under its control a trained body of election workers, whose success, and who in numbers amount to one-tenth of the entire electorate, has manifestly an immense advantage over an administration which does not possess such a nucleus of power, and which relies entirely upon its record, its principles and the voluntary support of electors. Had the Reform party followed prece dent and availed itself of the partizan support of its officials, it would have done no worse than its predecessors. But right here is where the party claims the

THE Bulletin cannot contain its mingled emotions of pity and contempt for the much of a stretch of courtesy to call it by for it. that name, proceeds as follows:

Politics are not an exact science, all men are liable to err; it is a common thing, too, for political opponents to exaggerate their differences, as well as to ascribe to others a number of dangerous vices which they do not, after all, possess. The Republican party supposed before the election of Mr. Cleveland that a Democratic success would prove the ruin of the country, and yet Cleveland was elected and no one much the worse for it. It makes no great difference which of two political parties is successful at the polls, things go on very much the same whatever the result happens to be. And so forth to the end of the calendar. Therefore, it makes no difference which party is successful, and those who have a different opinion are narrowminded and prejudiced. Q. E. D.

What a use to be made of all these worthy old saws! Of course if these statements were erroneous, they naturpretended demonstrations of our dialectfacts. ical evening contemporary prove that political cynicism is the true spirit to be cultivated in this country, they prove a great deal more. They prove, for instance, that the wave of popular enthusiasm which carried Abraham Lincoln into the Presidency in 1861, was a great mistake which never could have been made if the American people had only surveyed public affairs from the calm height of our evening contemporary; it proves that it was a matter of very little importance in the development of Amercan affairs whether the people elected Lincoln or any other candidate who might happen to be nominated to run against him; it proves that it is a matter of no moment whether Boulanger gets a majority in the French Chamber or not; that it would make very little difference te the public whether the German liberals oust Bismarck. We ourselves are weak-minded enough to suppose that the Northern patriots who voted against Lincoln were very fatally "deluded;" that the admirers of General Boulanger are fatally "deluded" and gulled; and that it would make a vast difference in German affairs if Prince Eismarck should hand over the control of the empire to his political opponents. It is time that all this talk should known for what it is and that the gullible portion of the public should no longer be humbugged with it. Such talk is either foolish or criminal. There are real issues here which men who are both honest and intelligent cannot refuse to see. First and foremost among these issues is the preservation of the liberties won in our late revolution. The Reform party won and has preserved those liberties. The Re-actionary party are denouncing the revolution of 1887 as a crime. Does that not make an issue? It does with men who are not so eaten up with the leprosy of indifference that they have ceased to feel or care. One of the most prominent nominees of the Re-actionists regards himself, and is, a candidate for a cabinet position. His previous official career is one long history of malfeasance in office, extravagance and waste, and shameless abuse of the public trust. Do these facts raise no issue? They do, for honest men. The Niulii Rifle Club.

MR. EDITOR: Having noticed in the ADVERTISER'S issue of the 16th the critirisms on my remarks concerning the Niulii Rifle Club, in connection with their shooting match on New Year's day, I beg to say that I intended only to state facts, as they had been obtained from sources that were considered reliable, and which corroborated a previously existing understanding that the Niulii and Kohala Plantation clubs were two separate affairs.

The "unfairness on the face" of the challenge, consisted of course, in that case, in the fact of a challenge issuing from a team composed of men selected from two different clubs, to another club supposed to be of about equal strength to the one first named. If my ally stand corrected. All we want are pose of favoring the planter, it was put up at auction and purchased by the planter because his pocket was longer than the "poor natives." The facts are :--

1st. That the piece of land in question, Kulaimano, containing an area of 347 acres, has for ten years been under lease to the Pepeekeo plantation, for $260 per annum

2d. That although the old lease expired last June neither the poor natives nor any one else, other than the plantation, applied for it for any purpose

3d. That there has been and now is unoccupied Government land in this vicinity in Hilo, suitable for homesteads, which the Survey office has been instructed to cut up if any one would take it. A personal canvas by the local homestead agent, in the vicinity, failed to find any one who wanted lots other than those now available. Two pieces of land in this vicinity, one containing 620 acres and the other 308 acres of good land have been cut up into fifty-four lots and offered as homesteads, of which twentyeight lots are still untaken.

4th. Under these circumstances it was not for the public interest to let the land lie idle, when an upset rental of $1,300 was offered, which at the sale was increased to $2,380.

5th. What the object of the "poor natives" was in running the lease up so high, I do not know, but I can draw my own conclusions from the fact that upon the same trip to Honolulu they "bluffed" another party into paying them $400 by threatening to run up the rent of another piece of land, which he needed, with which snug little sum they returned to Hilo.

Mr. Bush finally states that the Government has made private renewals of leases of Kapiolani Park lots by which 'acts of collusion the Government has lost thousands of dollars."

The fact is that the park lots are Crown lands, and not Government lands. 'The Government" has nothing to do with the leasing or revenues of the Crown lands. What arrangement the Crown Land Commissioners have made with the Park Association I do not know. LORRIN A. THURSTON. Honolulu, Jan. 23, 1890.

A Trip on the Railway.

Forty-four of the Alameda's passengers were much gratified at receiving an invitation from the enterprising President of the Oahu Railway, Mr. B. F. Dilling-ham, who was their fellow-passenger, to take a trip over the line as far as completed, to Ewa. The train left Honolulu yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, returning at 3. The points of interest were explained by the conductor, and an opinion was expressed that this line would conduce to the comfort and wealth of the community, and reflected great credit on its promoter. Owing to a pressure of business Mr. Dillingham was unable to accompany the party.

Again the Reform party gave them the lie and earned its name, by passing at the last session of the Legislature a law absolutely prohibiting all persons holding positions of either trust or profit under the Government from any partizan participation in elections whatsoever, under penalties so severe as to render an infraction of its provisions one of the most serious of misdemeanors. A weapon which in enlightened America is still considered a legitimate one for the Administration to use. The present political campaign is being conducted by the Reform party without the support of official patronage and without a partizan use of the civil service. Whatever the result of the election, it will be reached by the people of their own free will, without coercion, and without any unfair or partizan advantage being taken tion," under date of January 20th, last, contains a statement by Mr. Bush enitled "Lease and Sales of Government Lands.

After spending half a column in explaining that for the benefit of the "poor natives" he leased 7,000 acres of Government land to the Queen, by private agreement, contrary to law, for $100 per annum, he proceeds to state that he made other leases of a similar nature; 'among them was one to a number of poor natives in Kipahulu, Hana, Maui. This application was allowed to preserve the lands to the old settlers as homesteads so as to save them from the capitalists who were beginning to reach out in all directions. These people held their leases until our present great homestead benefactor came into office. He was no sooner in his position before he discovered, being a lawyer, and a missionary one at that, that a lot of Hawaii ans had a lease that legally they could not hold, equitably he knew they would not be permitted to keep it, so he summarily ejects them without process of law, and if we are not mistaken, leases it to a foreigner. So much for our present Minister's love for the homestead system, which as the election is coming on, he finds it very convenient to advertise and trumpet aloud through the columns of their newspapers.'

It is a refreshing thing in these degenerate and deceitful days to have a man make a frank confession that he has violated an express statute, which he had taken an oath to observe, and to find that although he acknowledges that he broke the law, he did it for the purpose of protecting the poor and the weak against the rich and the strong. But the situation becomes somewhat complicated when the confession is made out of whole cloth. Confession is good for the soul, and I am willing to admit that Mr. Bush made "other leases," many others, without conforming to the law, but his confession of this particular sin is entirely gratuitous, for the records of this office show, and the facts are :

1st. That Mr. Bush made no lease either legal or illegal, to the "poor natives," either in Kipahulu or any other part of Hana, while he was in office. He did make four leases without advertisement, to sugar planting friends of his, two of which were surrendered in January, 1886, and two are still in existence. 2d. No "lot of Hawaiians" holding a lease of lands, legal or illegal, in Kipa-hulu or elsewhere in Hana, have been ejected with or without "process of law." from any land in Kipahulu or elsewhere in Hana, since July 1, 1887, the date

3d. No land in Kipahulu, Hana, has been leased to a foreigner since July 1, 1887

Having lightened his conscience by a bogus confession, Mr. Bush immediately proceeds to load it up again by drawing upon his imagination for another statement of facts, which he states in substance as follows:

1. That a piece of land in Hilo, suitable for homesteads, was applied for by some poor natives, who desired to make homesteads of it.

2. That the land was conveniently he who runs may read. We think that I located to a plantation, and for the pur-

BEFORM MASS-MEETING.

A Very Large Attendance and Much Enthusiasm-Some Stirring Speeches.

The mass-meeting at the Honolulu Rifles' Armory, on Jan. 20th, under the auspices of the Reform party, was most successful and was largely attended. number of Hawaiians and Portuguese. The meeting was opened by Mr. H. won Holt, who nominated Mr. A. S. Hartwell as chairman. (Applause.)

Mr. Hartwell, on stepping on to the platform, was warmly received. He said they had met here for the purpose of hearing a formal announcement, not only of the platform of THE Reform party but of the principles of their candidates. (Applause ) With their permission, unless any other method was suggested of selecting a secretary, the chair would appoint a temporary secretary, and would ask Mr. von Holt, as he was accustomed to this kind of work, if he will act as such. (Applause.) And he would ask Messrs W L. Wilcox and J. M. Vivas to kindly act as Hawaiian and Portuguese interpreters. (Applause.) The chair would also ask those of the candidates who were present if they would take the chairs placed on the platform. As the following candidates filed on to the platform they were received with deafening applause: W. C. Wilder, M. P. Robinson, W. O. Smith, Robt. Lish-man, S. M. Kaaukai, E. S. Cunha and R. J. Greene.

The platform of the Reform party was then read in English, Hawaiian and Portuguese. Each plank was received with loud cheers, the Portuguese being particularly demonstrative when that referring to Chinese was read.

Mr. A. S. Hartwell then said :- Gentiemen, I submit to you that the platform of the Reform party which you have just heard read, is broad enough and strong enough for all classes of human society to rest firmly and securely upon it. (Applause.) It is a platform which contains nothing of evil against any person or sect and nothing but good for all. (Applause.) I see before me in this assembly, gentlemen whose personal views I have known for years. I know their feelings about personal mat-ters to-day just as well as I know my own, and I also know that whatever variety of feeling about this person or that person, about this measure or that measure in the country, they can unite with perfect harmony in carrying out the principles at the bottom of the Reform party. (Applause). But, gentlemen, you have not come here to hear this temporary chairman of yours, but to hear the men whom you propose to see elected on that platform, and therefore, I have the honor first to call upon the Hon, Wm, C. Wilder, (Applause). He needs no introduction, none of these candidates need introducti n to this audience. (Applause.) Hon. W. C. Wilder was greeted with great applause as he stood up. He said : -Mr. Chairman and fellow-citizens, not having been born an orator, nor neither have I acquired that accomplishmen , being very unaccustomed to speak in public, I don't suppose you will expect much of a speech from me. (Applause). A convention of your party having seen fit to nominate me-and I must say against my wishes-and this being my first opportunity since that nomination, I wish to express to them my personal thanks for the confidence they have expressed in me. (Applause). Did I express only my own individual wish, it would have been much prefer-able to me had they nominated some other person in my place, but they have seen fit to nominate me. I accept that nomination, and should I be fortunate enough to be elected and have a majority of the Reform party in the next Legislature, it shall be my end and aim to assist in such legislation as will carry the principles of this party and do what we think is in our judgment for the best interests of the whole country. (Applause). Should I be elected and be so unfortunate as to be in the minority, it will still be my aim to prevent as much bad legislation as possible. It is not necessary for me to announce that I am in full sympathy and have been with the expression of the objects and aims of the Reform party. (Applause). Being in sympathy with that announcement and having seen no reason to change my mind during the time that we have been in power, I am in sympathy with it today. (Applause). I do not wish to sav or do not to be understood that, I fully approve of every person who has been appointed or retained in office by the present Government, but I mean to say that I think what they have done has been for the best interest of good government as they look upon it. (Applause.) Just look back a few years, see what the condition of this Government was, which went from bad to worse, until it became so rotten that even the whole foreign element and a great part of the native, at once united and insisted that we must have a change. (Applause.) Our large revenues for a small country. were being collected and squandered in foolish extravagance, your country was virtually bankrupt at home and abroad. Obligations for the pay of their employees were being hawked about the streets at any discount almost that they could get for them. (Applanse) What is the condition to-day? Look at the credit of your country; it is good both at home and abroad. We can get more money than we want, and Government bonds cannot be bought to-day. What will it be if you elect the Opposition ticket? (Great applause.) Gentlemen, I wish to say a word as to personal politics. We are told by the evening organ of the Op-you must not pledge yourselves to party. I would like to have them asked what we would carry a campaign on? (Applause.) I believe that every person who is put up for the votes of his party becomes a target for the opposition. Applause.) I believe that it is the right of every voter to know if there is anything against a man's character either private or public, that might prevent you from giving him votes, you should know it. (Applause.) Believing as I do, I propose to analyse in a few words, each candidate on this great National Reform ticket. (Great applause.) The only National that I can see about it is the bad reputation of some of its candidates. (Applatise.) I will try to be as brief as possible as there are so many to speak to-night, and interpreting takes so much time. The first gentleman on the list is H. A. Widemann, a gentleman who was a Noble when you did not make Nobles with votes, a gentleman who was elected to the last Legislature by the Reform party of Mani. When he got to the Legislature he opposed every measure that was brought forth by the Reform party, from beginning to end, including the movement to exclude Chinese (Applause.) I hope if he is elected to the next Legislature, that he will not be as big a disappointment to his present constituents as he was to his last. (Laugh-ter ) The next gentleman on that ticket is J.A.Cummins, a representative Hawaiian gentleman, one whom I have nothing to say against. He is a gentleman who never professed to be in favor of the Reformed purty. He was a candidate against us in the last election; he is a candidate against me to-day. We know right where to find him and we will not be disappointed in that gentleman. I have great respect for this gentleman. (Applause.) The next name is that of E. C. Macfarlane, a particular friend of mine and whom I would not say an unkind word against, but as he is the representative of his family who as you all understand have had a little difference with the Government in reference to some little irregularities in the Custom House, that accounts for his belonging to the great National party and wanting a change. (Applause.) The next gen-tleman, E. Muller, is the one man on the whole ticket who I can see no reason why he should be there, and a gentleman who belongs to one of the principle business houses of Honolulu, and who receive all their income and support from gentlemen who are supporting this Reform movement. (Applause.) have understood that he had a little grievance with the Min-ister of the Interior, in regard to some misunderstanding relative to Portuguese immigration, that may be his reason. The next name is H. G. Crabbe; there needs be but very little said about him. He is well known to all as a genial gentleman, a good neighbor and a kind friend; the only thing in the way of a national reputation that he has is that he has been a failure in everything that he has attempted. (Laughter.) The next name is C. J. McCarthy; all I have to say of this gentleman is that he is inflated a little. His hat has got too small for him. He is the gentleman that was captain of one of the companies of the Honolulu Rifles which was ordered out on the 30th of last July to receive the bullets from the leaders of this great National party. We find him, a few months later, resigning his place in the Rifles and assigning as a reason that the Government had reduced the charge of posed to try him for only conspiracy. (Applause.) We find him now running on the same ticket with the to my fellow mechanics because Lama John. This man comes to you citizens. man that he wanted the Government to hang for treason. We find him speaking from the same platform, and the only thing I can find in his speech that is of a national character is, that he wanted the laws changed so tnat baseball clubs could play on Sunday (Laughter and applause.) The next name on the ticket, gentlemen, is John Phillips, the one representative of the Mechanics' Union, an organization that I think was started for a good purpose, and had they kept that purpose in view they would have kept the respect of every person in the community 1 know they would have had mine. There is no person here that would do more for a mechanic than I would. (Applause.) I was a mechanic myself for the biggest share of my life and worked at less wages than the common day laborer receives on the wharves here to-day. (Applause.) That he is ashamed of the position he occupies I know, since his organization was captured by the Bush-Wilcox party. (Applause) D. W. Pua, the one rep-resentative of the native race on their ticket, I am not acquainted with, consequently I can give none of his record. I have been told that he is merely a tool, and if elected, H. A. Widemann will have two votes. (Applause.) Such, gentlemen, is the list of the Nobles on this great National Reform ticket; but, bad as it is, it is respectable alongside of that for its Representatives. (Applause.) (Cries of Walker.) I beg your pardon to see that I have left out Mr J.S. Walker. Well, Mr. Walker is a personal friend of mine and I do not wish to hurt his feelings; all I have to say is that he made a speech from this platform in which he told you that he had lived among you for thirty years and you all knew him. (Laughter and applause. District No. 1, J. E. Bush. I am willing to admit that this gentleman has got a national reputation, such a reputation that it is not necessary for me to describe it, you all know it and no doubt you will all vote for him. (Laughter). District No. 2, W. H. Cummings. fair representative of the Bush party, I will drop him there. District No. 3, A Marques. An Italian gentleman, who has been flitting backwards and forwards between Hawali and Europe for a great many years. Just what his occu-pation is I do not know, I don't think you do; he had a great national reputation for one thing and that was for writing for the press and extolling the virtnes of A. Marques. (Laughter). He has had a great itching ever since he has been in the country to get into Hawaiian politics After being absent for the last ten months and knowing that there was a little ill feeling here, he has returned here, and is trying by taking the Portu-guese colony under his wing, to slip in (laughter and applause). He is also a great anti-Chinese gentleman, and I recollect a few years ago when he had a house to build (applause) it was given out to Chinese carpenters; he has also to-day got every foot of his land leased out to Chinese to raise rice on. (Laughter). I would advise you from the little experience we had with one of his nay tionality a few years ago, to elect him to stay at home. (Laughter and ap-planse). District No. 4, T. R. Lucas. Another representative of the Meposition that you must not speak of per-sonal politics. You must not speak of their candidates. We are also told that tleman who has like Mr. Marques, a great itching to see his speech as legis-lator, a gentleman, who if I might give a little advice would attend less to politics and more to their own business it would not be in the condition that it is to-day. (Laughter and applause). District No. 5, Robert Wilcox. The last on the list but the head of the party, a a gentleman who expects with the assistance of the little respectability that he has got upon this ticket on the 5th of February to accomplish by ballot what he failed to do on the 30th of July by bullets. (Applause). I might go on with the whole list all over the islands but I have no time, but I will mention one other candidate down here at Ewa; he has a national reputation for being expelled from the last Legislature for bribery I might go on and speak of the next candidate, Antone Rosa, a gentleman who has no more honor than to go up to one of our district clubs, sign our constitution, pledging himself to support our candidates and then comes down here within a week and from this platform pours out tirades and abuse of the white men. His speech from beginning to end was merely trying to create race prejudice. He tells you that this thing will not be settled until the streets run red with the blood of foreigners: Is that the kind of men that you want on a National Reform party? I tell you, gentlemen, that he is a poor specimen of a mixed race who has retained all the bad qualities of a white man and none of the good qualities of the native. (Great applause.) These are gentlemen that set themselves up as National reformers and as the National Reform party. I tell you, gentlemen, it is the Bush-Wilcox party, and for my closing remark I may say that you may call a polecat by any other name, you will find the smell remains just the same. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. A. S. Hartwell said :- Gentlemen, the name of Robert Lishman stands in this community for strength and honesty. I never heard yet that Mr. Lishman was an orator, but I never saw a Scotchman yet who had not a reason to give for the faith that is in him and I will call upon him.

Robert Lishman said :--Fellow-citizens. I thank you for nominating me as a candidate, and if I am permitted to go into the House I shall do all that lays in my humble power to carry all good measures that will portain to good government. (Cries of hear, hear, and ap-plause). I believe in Reform Government, and I am satisfied that we have the best government that I have seen since I have been in this country. I consider that they have done well, taking into consideration the poor start that they had when they came in. They have been in existence a little over two years. I don't say that they have pleased every one, and perhaps I may say that they have not pleased me altogether, but I am satisfied that we have better roads, an improved water supply, we have got the electric light, and I be-lieve we would have waited for years under the old government before we would have got any of the great advantages which we now enjoy. (Applause). I believe we would do well by sticking to the Reform Government. I have viewed the Opposition party and I am at a loss where we could get candidates to carry on honest government, as some of them have been tried before as far as three times, and I know for a certainty that they have been failures each time. (Cries of hear, hear, and applause). You mechanic to-day and a friend of the mechanics; but it was not for the benefit of the mechanics, it was simply to route out this present government and put something in its place that was not to be compared with it, and on account of that was obliged to leave them. (Applause). There is one thing I should like to mention that I would advocate if I should get elected, and that is, that the Government pay the highest rate of wages to its employees that is paid, in the district of Honolulu, for I think they have not been paying a sufficient rate of wages to laboring classes so that they were able to keep their families in a decent manner. I think that a laboring man that is paid less than a dollar a day, it is impossible for that man to bring his family up and clothe and educate them in a respectable manner. Gentlemen, I will not encroach longer upon your valuable time as we have superior orators to what I am. I thank you kindly for your atten-(Applause). tion. E. S. Cunha, in answer to calls, said. -Mr. Chairman and gentlemen : There is nothing left unsaid for me to say. I will simply thank you for nominating me, and if I get elected I shall endeavor to do my best for the good of all. Gentlemen, I thank you again, and I hope that you will not have misplaced your confidence in me. (Applause.) R.J. Greene said :- Mr. Chairman and fellow citizens: I have received to-day a copy of a paper which I did not before know existed in our midst. It is named the Voice of the Nation, issued every day in the week except on the Sabbath and on Sunday. (Laughter and applause.) My friends will indulge my vanity a little when I tell you, that this document I value very highly for the fact that it contains my commission as a Brigadier-General, signed by the Hon. John E. Bush, ex-Minister of the Interior and ex-so forth and so forth. (Laughter.) When I was in the Union army I bore the rank of a non-commissioned officer but where am I to-day? (Laughter and applause.) Gentlemen, I should do a great injustice to the editor of this paper who is himself a Major-General on the right wing of the National Reform party, if I did not announce as he has announced here, the tactics on which he conducts his campaign. It reads as follows: "The Workingmen's party pro-pose to win this fight by honorable tactics." Gentlemen, when a great engine was turned out of the Taunton Locomotive Works, the first thing was to test the boiler; then having gotten up steam the master mechanic stepped on to the footboard, seized the lever, let on the steam little by little until the huge iron monster moved cautiously out of the shop on to the main track. Little by little he lets on steam, a little more and a little more until the grand machine moves under full speed. At the first station he finds a heated box, or a loose screw, or a bolt too tight. What does he do, turn back to the yards and dump his grand machine into the waste pile of old iron and begin a new machine? No; the engineer steps down from his footboard, eases a screw here, tightens a nut there and a bolt here, and finds his machine in perfect order, and with confidence he opens wide the throttle and dashes out ravines, confident, trusting, staking his own life and the lives of all who ars with him. Every friend of the Reform party knows that our Constitution is not absolutely perfect; but those who shall know better than the master builders what it needs, who are better qualified to make such improvements upon it and in the distribution of its provisions, in the application of its provisions, than those who have made it and those who have labored so faithfully to test it. (Applause.) Gentlemen, so much has been said to-night in regard to the National Reform party that it is not needful tor me to say more. A wise General before leading his troops into battle, reconnoiters to learn as near as possible the strength of the enemy, and not only his strength numerically, but the nature and extent of his fortifications. Referring, gentle-men, to the tactics of Major-General Bush, allow me to say that I have recononitered a little along the enemies lines, and I find in the Fourth ward a small squad in command of Major Thos. R. Lucas, (laughter.) who has stated within the last two or three days that R. J. Greene-Gen'l H. J. Greene-boasted that he shot a kanaka on the 30th of July. If Mr. Lucas had spent forty years in hell studying the art of lying under the tutorship of the father of lies, he could't have framed a baser falsehood if he had graduated at the head of his class. (Laughter and applause.) Referring, gentlemen, to my text, I have mentioned this matter as an instance of the honorable tactics. In the First ward I found the troops under command of Doctor Elder John E. Bush. [Laughter.] This gentleman, who is so deeply enshrined in the hearts of his countrymen, stated on that night to his Hawaiian friends that our Ministers attempted to coerce His Majesty into signing away the autonomy of this Kingdom, and that our Minister at Washington was instructed to make out deeds and convey the goods. This is a very grave statement, and is it true? There is the rub, is it true? Our four Ministers say it is utterly false, our Minister at Washington says it is utterly false, His Majesty says it is wholly false, and the Honorable Elder John E. Bush says he knows it is false but he has got to say something to wake up his native friends. [Laughter and applause.] Gentlemen, what is the conclusion to be drawn? I am reminded of a conundrum that was given when I was a small boy. Here someone in the crowd cried, "It is a long while ago."] The speaker paused an instant and then replied : You are right-1786, [Laughter.] A little boy and a little girl were playing on the sidewalk when a stranger came along and said to the little boy: "Is that your little sister?" "No, sir; that is not my little sister." "It looks very like you." "Well, her papa is my papa and her mama is my mama but she is not my sister." [Laughter.] Now the solution, of course there is but one; the boy lied. [Laughter.] Gentlemen, another specimen of honorable tactics; this reverend gentleman furnishes to us a rare instance of the truth of the saying that "politics makes strange bedfellows." He has been made the champion, stands in this community as the acknowledged leader and champion of a sect the first and fundamental principle underlying which is that the Roman Catholic Church of the world is the mother of harlots and that every Protestant church on the face of Christendom is a young harlot and the daughter of the old mother, and that the holy father is the arch enemy and the anti-Christ enemy of Christianity in tiff." (Laughter and applause.)

bribe, and then they had to go to work and buy a rotten old ship and call it a man of-war and fit it out and send it down to Samoa, and I could go on enumerating a good many more foolish things that were done until it became absolute ly necessary to do something and a re form party was instituted. (Laughter and applause.) So at last the change came and the Reform Government was instituted; it was instituted for the equal benfit of every one in the Kingdom; it has been good for us all and I do not think any one can find any fault with the reform movement. Things are better and I do not understand why some men want to go on the other side and cry reform down and say that it is not good. (Applause.) Gentlemen, I am reminded that my time is up so I will come to a close; all I have to say is that I am one Hawaiian among these eight foreigners, and if you honor me by electing me-I feel pretty strong now, but if I get in that House I will work harder than I ever worked before for the good of the whole country. (Applause.) Hon. W. O. Smith said:-Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, before coming here I tried to study the two platforms, I was already familiar with our own platform and I tried to become more familiar with the platform of the other party. I will say to start with that the platform of 1887 was about two inches in the newspaper. Now I have taken out of the same paper, the Evening Bulletin, our platform of the present campaign, and I have also cut out from that same paper the platform of the National Re-form party and have brought it here. There they are (showing)-(great ap-plause and laughter). The great dis-tinction between these two platforms, gentlemen, is that one is a platform based on deeds, and the other is a plat form of empty promises (laughter and applause). Now, gentlemen, in the platform of the National Reform party a great many things are stated, which reminded me very much of the first year that I went to the Legislature in 1878. ] filled four pages of my pocket book, just noting the different measures that I was going to advocate, but I gave that up very soon and when I went last time, did not make a single note, I tried to do something. In this platform, it looks very simple, a good many good things are stated, but there is one thing in it, gentlemen, which I think means business and which I think we all should understand; it is covered up with very pleasant phraseology and that is relat-ing to the healthful revision of the Constitution. The whole substance, the whole gist of that platform is just in those few words, in that one section, in section 3. The National Reform party intends if it gets in power to have what it calls a healthful revision of the Constitution, and we all know well enough what that means. (Cries of "You bet we do," laughter and ap-plause.) Gentlemen, I believe that this Reform party on trial now before this community is very much like that case which was tried before the judge out West: He did not know much, but he sat there and he listened, and it was argued very earnestly before him by both sides, and when they got through he said, "Ge'men, dis am a bery impord'nt case, bery impord'nt, de Cou't has lis'ened wid de great'st ob inerst to de law, yes on bod sides, and in view ob de impodence ob de case, de Cou't will take de case under consid'ration fo' two weeks when it will give its judgm't fo' de plain-and asks you as Christian men, as Catholics and as Protestants, to assist him with your ballots to put him in a position of trust and honor in this community. Gentlemen, the evening is far spent, there is so much to say and there are others to speak, and I beg of you to release me from saving more. I thank you, gentlemen, for the honor intended in offering me a nomination which I did not want, but if it should be decreed that I shall be given a seat in the House in our Legislature it shall be my aim, and it will be the same whether I am elected to stay at home, to aid in every possible way in my power to advance the work that has been so well started for reform in this country [Great applause.] Cries for Kaaukai.

S. M. Kaaukai rose and said :- Fellow citizens I feel greatlyhonored this evening to address you. I feel that it is a great honor that you have conferred upon me through the delegates that were elected to the convention from the different districts, the result of which convention is that you see nine gentlemen sitting here, and I feel that we have all been greatly honored by your choice. [Applause. Now, friends, as I look upon you here think that you represent only a small portion of the people who are in favor of Reform. I do not think everybody has turned out. You simply are a representation of the people who sympathise with that movement. You all know the story of the General in olden times who led a small company of men against a host that was described as being as thick as the sands of the sea shore and the stars of heaven, and he began to reason with himself, will he be able to meet that big army over there; and he was instructed to go down to the river and let his men drink. The men who carried the water with their hands to their mouths, he was to put on one side, and those who drank with the mouth he was to put them on the other side, and he was told to go forward with just that handful of men and victory would be his. (Applause.) Gen-tlemen, it is true that there is not a very large assembly here, but I feel that when it comes to election day that you intend to carry the election and that we will have the victory. (Applause.) Now, gentlemen, we did not have a Reform government from the very inception of the government of this Kingdom; we had a Constitutional government. In 1845 we first got a Constitutional government, and everything went on serenely and square; everything was lovely. We went on that way up to 1874 and then things began to change a little and things began to get worse and worse until finally this new child was born, called Reform. It was time that there should be a change. What was the cause of the Reform movement? You all know, gentlemen, from about 1878 and along through those years up to 1882, the money of the Kingdom began to be wasted, and then in 1883 we had to have a coronation and had to crown the King over again. We had a great many kings before that, they had just as much power and were just as much thought of. But then it became necessary to crown the King over again to spend lots of money for nothing. [Laughter.] So things went on, gentlemen, from bad to worse, getting worse and worse all along. Finally, a few years later, along in 1886, we had a great scandal about $71,000, the opium vention as a candidate for Noble on the Reform ticket. The name Noble, I think, is a misnomer. It might have been called by some other name more appro-The Liverpool and Lonpriate to the new conditions of things. Whoever is nominated on this ticket, I think represents the wishes and wants of the people in general, just as much as the representatives nominated by the representative ticket. (Applause.) I must acknowledge that I was not made INSURANCE CO or cut out for a speech-maker and never will make a p ditician I think, but as you have seen fit to include me as one of the nominees, I will, if I am elected, do my utmost to carry out the good work of good government which I contend we have Takes Risks against Loss or Damage by Fire on Buildings, Machinery, Sugar Mills, Dwellings and Furniture, on the most favorable terms. inaugurated and have had for the last two years. (Applause.) It must, it can be better, it can be better if we will all pull together, hand in hand, and try to accomplish that good end in carrying out all measures for the internal and commercial prosperity of our Kingdom and for the general welfare and happiness of all people of all classes, and I pledge myself to you to uphold and carry them out. (Applause.)

The Chairman said :- Gentlemen, I desire to thank you in the name of the committee who called this meeting tonight for your attendance and your thoughtful attention. The meeting then adjourned.

DISASTROUS FLOODS. The Island of Kauai Submerged in Many Places.

Carried Away-Two Chinese Lose Their Lives.

When the steamer Kaala arrived on Friday morning from Kauai, the most important news her captain had to report was, heavy floods on that Island. The The Rev. J. Hanaloa, for many years rain literally poured down in torrents, the streams were swollen, and considerable damage had been done to property. Captain Hagland reported the bay of Nawiliwili full of floating debris and it was impossible to use steam, fearing the propeller might come in contact with some of it, so they drifted out of the bay. The engineer says he never saw it rain so hard before. Buildings were afloat at Hanamaulu, while the taro and rice patches were all washed away out of Nawiliwili valley. The James Makee picked up a quantity of debris out of the bay. The bridges between Lihue and Hanamaulu were all carried away. The road warehouse was washed away, also a small jeweler's store.

We are indebted to the Hon. Henry Waterhouse for the perusal of a letter from Mrs. W. H. Rice of Lihue, giving particulars of the rain and floods. Mrs Rice writes under date of January 23d, as follows : It began to rain on Tuesday afternoon, the 21st. The steamer arrived Wednesday morning, bringing to us General Marshall, Miss von Holt, Mr. Knudson and Mr. and Mrs. Gibbard two English tourists. The rain poured down by bucketfuls; it was a kona without wind, a quite unheard of thing. When we looked out we could see nothing but a broad and angry stream of water, taking all before it. Some of the men came up to the house. Christian Olsen, a Norwegian, and his family were compelled to leave their home and seek refuge on the hill above. On Wednesday there was one or two peals of thunder and we disconnected the telephone. The thunder passed off. Later on we telephoned to different homes; one would say, "I never felt so helpless in all my life;" another "All our vegetable garden, trees and taro have gone, and below is a roaring stream of water;" another, "No one can cross swollen;" another "Nawiliwili bridge is gone, two bridges and the approachment to another at Kapaia have gone." At with $800 in silver and a number of checks was washed away and two Chinese were drowned. A message came through the telephone that Mr. Spitz's store at Nawiliwili had been moved twenty feet by the bursting of the dam at the Lihue mill at 11 o'clock. The rain had abated at 2 P. M. This dam was built about forty years ago, General Marshall having a hand in its construction. Singularly enough the General was near by when it broke, on Wednesday. It had withstood many floods, before fin-Mr. George F. Allardt, the well-known civil engineer, is in town again. He is of saddles, also considerable grain. Mr. Wishard, the bookkeeper at Lihne, went up to have breakfast at Mr. Spitz's.

angry river and carried far out to sea. A large stable containing carriages and saddles was also swept away, while the store was turned at right angles to its previous position. The house occupied by A. Maclean had half of its supports carried away by the relentless tide, but though time was granted to the occupants to remove all the contents of the builing, it has since then toppled over into the sea.

At Kapaia, the bridge was torn from its foundation and went crashing along the great river which had formed in this valley. A store and dwelling belonging to a Chinaman was carried away and the dry goods and groceries went sailing along the stream. The new bridge near Hanamaulu was also destroyed. Though there were heavy rainfalls at Kealia, Kilaues, and Hanalei, there was no injury done, the fury of the storm seemed to have concentrated itself on the eastern and southern sides of the island. The smaller bridges between Koloa and Libue were washed away, as they have been on the other side of Koloa. Koloa suffered nearly as much as Lihue. The water rose in some of the private residences to a height of two or three feet, bullock carts were carried into the sea, and much damage done around the mill. The carpenter shop belonging to J. D. Neal was literally cut in two, half of it being borne to the sea, and the other half, striking against a high barrier of lumber, was left on the road. Two or three stores belonging to Portuguese and Chinamen were utterly ruined. The Lawai valley, which looked like a painting nestled as it was at the foot of the surrounding mountains, has only mud and water to show where a few days ago, a blooming vegetation gladdened the eyes of the traveller. The oldest residents say, that though there have been many severe storm visitations to Kauai, there has never been one which in so short a time, carried such ruin with it. Fortunately the loss of life was not great. The death of one native in Koloa, and two Chinese in Kapaia, are all that have been reported. The Chinese in Kapaia lost heavily, so did also Mr. Spitz. He estimates his loss at about $2,000. The Lihue Sugar Co. lost several hundred dollars worth of sugar, which was ready for shipment, for the water rose in the mill to a height of nearly four feet. Their loss of time was great, too, for there were several fissures in the ground surrounding the mill, which it will take time to fill up, while the repairs about the old dam, and the building of the new one, will delay grinding for some time. A Chinaman remained in his store as it was borne away, but seeing the water enter it, he managed to crawl on the roof, and just before the shanty was dashed to pieces, he happened to catch on to a branch of a mango tree, and thus saved his life.

Water rose in the houses of many of the natives and other laborers to a height of two or three feet, but except a wetting and a fright no damage was done.

The employees in the mill caught the fish that were swimming around there and sent them home to their families as curios.

A native, anxious to get a good view of the situation at Nawiliwili, stood on a piece of ground close to the raging flood, when, with a crash, it gave way, and Kaaihui, where was he?

Oh! Floundering in the sea!

but being a good swimmer he went out with the current and swam ashore to a safer place. A large number of natives were congregated at Nawiliwili on Wednesday morning at the hour when the excite

H. B. M. S. CORMORANT.

Interesting Letter from One of the Officers-The Death of Capt. Nicolls. On arriving in England, and finding a budget of Honolulu papers, one's thoughts naturally turned to that place, and also as naturally made one wish that a slight amount of Honolulu's climate might be mixed with ours of December. We received Honolulu papers at Coquimbo, and they were welcome. The good old ship we left at Gibraltar. She had carried us safely 74,283 miles, and our last look at her was with mixed feelings. She did good work and carried our flag to many places. All the officers and men are scattered. The officers were given fifty-eight days leave, the men ten days more. Looking at some of the new warships with their long thin bodies, hulls full of machinery and guns as numerous as can be, I think the old navy ships may be considered the habitable ones. Our new ironclads are just iron forts on self-propelling rafts. All the old croakers in the newspapers are telling the English people that these ships are no good, or half good, or fractional good, (don't know their exact terms) but you may depend upon it that, when the time comes for their use, they will give a good account of themselves. Old Admiral Hawkins (an Armada whipper) was very rough on such wordy croakers, for which see "Westward Ho" chapter thirty. The fact is, one who has been away four years and a half can see and note the great improvement which has been effected in our navy, better than those who have been living in these improving phases and had their develop-ment shown by easy stages. But I am getting into the essay stage.

I cannot say how pleased I feel that the warm hearted people of Honolulu should so spontaneously set about raising a memorial to our late captain. I am sure that the officers and crew of the Cormorant will be much pleased. I consider it a great honor to the British navy that one of our captains, a stranger and sojourner among you, should thus have earned your approbation. His sad death, when his career seemed so rosy, has created wide-spread sympathy for Mrs. Nicolls and her two little fatherless girls. The captain's poor old father and mother are much bowed down with grief. Capt. Nicolls told me that he much wished to go to Rio Janeiro to see his brother. He had not met him for some years, and he added, "I might never see him again." The poor captain had got into a low, desponding state, and the fever caught him and soon made havoe. He died the day after the full moon in October at 5:30 P. M. We buried him at 8 P. M. All hands attended, for we don't let religious differences trouble us on blue water, and 1 noticed several Roman Catholics who joined with heartfelt fervor in the responses. It was a scene long to be remembered. The weather was calm, the moon brilliant. All hands gathered around the gun port, the boat's crew (his own boat) carried him to the port. Lieut. Kingsmill read the service and Lieut, St. John the lesson. A splash told us that all was over, till the sea should give up its dead. We were fortunate in that no other cases broke out. The two men, Story and Howes, who attended the late captain were kept in quarantine in the £30 was raised among the officers and the Interior Saturday morning: men, and at Mrs. Nicoll's request this has been used to endow a "cabin" (or small bedroom) at the Sailor's Home at Portsmouth. Speaking as an individual I think that a window in the St. Andrew's Cathedral in memory of the three, Capt. Schoonmaker, Paymaster Arms and Capt. Nicolls would be more appropriate. They were fellow-worshipersthey all followed the sea. The two American officers were so well known to us, and doubtless to many more in our navy, that a memorial keeping green the memories of three who came from far lands and often met in the cathedral, would perhaps tend to further cement the amity which I hope will continue between the two countries through all time. Poor Arms! Paymaster Bedford had a letter from one of the Calliope's officers, which said that Arms was on shore singing hymns on one Sunday evening, while on the next Sunday he was buried in the grounds of the house and the same hymns were sung over his grave.

HILO NEWS LETTER.

The Hilo Literary and Musical Club delighted all who were present on the 18th inst. at the house of L. Severance, Esq. It was a Dickens' eve, many selections being read from that good author, interspersed with music of the finest selections all splendidly rendered. There were three of Dickens' celebrated characters taken by Dr. C. H. Wetmore, Mr. N. Wilfong and Mr. Smith; also a scene from Cricket on the Hearth and a recitation by Miss Ivy Richardson.

A board fence has been put up in front of the property of Col. Spreckels so that there will be no more festivities in the village green. It should be whitewashed.

In my news letter dated Hilo January 2d I gave the news as reported around town regarding J. Nawahi, Esq. The talk grew out of his entertaining Wilcox I think in a great measure, and his refusal to take the presents which, some members of Haili church wished him to accept, as a proof of their appreciation of his labors as treasurer of that church for eight years without any compensation which he was entitled to if he wished it. It seems they wished him to turn over his books or give them an account of his stewardship which he did. and every item was found correct. Had the kind friends who desired to make him presents, handed him a written statement that everything was correct, he might have accepted them. As it was there was much ill feeling among members, pastor and others, but all is now serene.

Mr. J. Rycroft and Mr. J. M. Horner addressed the citizens of Hilo at the court house on the 22d inst. There was a large attendance. The matter of a railroad to bring sugar to Hilo from the many plantations to ship direct to California, improving Hilo harbor, a carriage road to Puna and many other matters of interest were spoken of. Some of the natives were desirous of having J T. Baker speak, but as he was not running here he did not do so. Every one should vote the Reform ticket who has the least interest in this Kingdom. We cannot afford to swap horses when crossing a stream.

The brig Lurline, Capt. W. Matson, arrived at Hilo on the 14th inst., 16 days from San Francisco, with merchandise valued at $23,383. The shipments included 23 ctls. wheat, 1,404 ctls. barley, 478 bbls, flour, 336 lbs, tea, 16 cs, sal-mon, 338 lbs, coffee, 460 bbls, hay, 100 sks middlings, 28 ctls. oats, 1,985 sks. bran, 33 etls. corn, 1,865 sks. fertilizer and 77 cs. canned goods. Her passengers were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Scott, Miss Newell and Miss Gibson. The Lurline stopped at San Diego to land the captain's wife, who was sick. The vessel was only 10 days from that place to Hilo.

The little steamer Alice, Capt. Bergman, arrived on the 17th inst., nineteen days from San Francisco. She will be used as a tug to take cargoes to Hilo wharf and other places. Her dimensions are 47 feet long, 10 feet beam, five feet deep. She is of steel and was made in London in 1886. One day, under sail, she made 183 miles. It is just the ves-J. A. M. sel needed at Hilo. SIR: Your communication of the 23d January on behalf of the Cabinet, addressed to the Justices of the Supreme Court, is received. The first question upon which our ppinion is asked is : Whether Section 24 of the Act of 1888. To amend and consolidate the election laws of the Kingdom," requires that in order to vote for a Noble, an otherwise qualified elector of Nobles must have reided in one and only one of the "Election Districts" described in Section 13 of the Act, or does the context prohibit such sense and does it mean that he must have resided for three months within the district for the election of Nobles, e. the island of Oahu. Subdivision first of Section 24 contains the provisio that he (the voter for Nobles) shall have resided in the country not less than three years, and in the district in which he offers to vote, not less than three months immediately preceding the election at which he offers to vote. The first section of the Act defines "District" to mean an "Election District" as prescribed in this Act unless the context prohibit such sense. The election districts are defined in Section 13; they are 24 in number and one Representative is allowed for each district, and can be voted for by only the voters of the particular district. But the Nobles, 24 in number, are not apportioned to be voted for singly by the voters of the respective election districts, but 9 Nobles are to be voted for by each voter (who is qualified) on the island of Oahu, and 6 by each voter on the island of Hawaii, and so on throughout the group. For the purposes, therefore, of voting for Nobles, the island of Oahu is the "District," as is also the island of Hawaii, etc. If all the voters qualified to vote for Nobles can vote for the number of Nobles prescribed for the island on which the voter lives, it can make no difference in which "Election District" within the island or group of islands he may reside, and any change from one to another of these districts into which the island is divided cannot affect his right to vote for Nobles, provided he has resided on the particular' island or group of islands where he offers to vote for three months immediately preceding the election. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the sense requires that the word "District" mentioned in the first subdivision of Section 24 respecting qualifications of voters for Nobles means the island or group of islands from which the Nobles are to be elected and not the "Election districts" mentioned in Section 18 of the Act.

The P. M. S. S. City of Peking, Capt. Jno, M. Cavarly, arrived in San Francisco January 9, completing the ship's 60th trip across from Yokohama and signalizing it by bringing 4,307 tons of freight, the largest cargo that she ever brought to that port.

By the Alameda news was received of the death of Mr. M. H. Sachs, father of Mr. N. S. Sachs and Mrs. A. M. Mellis, of this city. The sad event took place in New York, where the deceased gentleman had lived many years in retirement. He was 75 years of age.

The mynahs are wanted at Fiji, where the planters are much troubled with caterpillars.

The Baldwin Locomotive.

The attention of plantation agents, managers and railroad men is called to the advertisement of Messrs. Wm. G. It will be seen that the Baldwin Works are manu- in an unbroken stream until about 2 P.M. facturing a locomotive particularly adapted for plantation purposes, and we onderstand that quite a number are now being ordered, including two for the new Oahu plantations.

The Royal Mail Steamship Alameda, Capt. H. G. Morse, arrived at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, seven days two hours from San Francisco. Owing to extremely rough weather on the Atlantic the steamer with the English mails was three and a half days late in reaching New York. This, coupled with a detention of the mails of ten hours across the continent, was the reason of the Alameda not being on time. She left San Francisco January 15 at 7 A. M. First two days out had strong wind, west to northwest, with heavy swell; thence wind ESE to SSE, misty and rainy weather. The Alameda left for the Colonies about 2 o'clock next morning.

Further Particulars of the Floods-Great Damage Done-Three Lives Lost.

The beautiful valleys, which until last Tuesday, were the pride of Kauai, are now a mass of mud and water, filled with the rubbish which was unresistingly swept over the land, from the mountains down into the sea. On Tuesday at 12:30 P. M. the rain began to fall, and continued on Wednesday. During the night the tiny rivulets grew into rivers which constantly increased in size and momentum, and the early morning light showed a large quantity of water spread over the surface of the ground. Still, nothing serious was apprehended, though the pressure of the water against its environments was terrific. In Linue the canals for irrigation were overflowing, and the roads were transformed into madly rushing rivers. The water of the mill pond was rapidly rising, and fears were entertained that it would momentarily pour over the embankment. But the pressure against the dam was too great, and it gave way with a tremendous crash, Now the great barrier being removed. there was nothing to check the wild flow, and soon the entire valley surrounding the Lihue mill, was like a vast lake, seething and hissing, while it carried destruction in its path. On and on the waves rolled, breaking fences and young trees, leaping ditches whose waters added their volumes to the rapidly flowing river, through rice fields and taro patches which were ruthlessly destroyed, gathering wood, undergrowth and plants on its way, it spread terror and devastation on ail sides. #### Saturday's Land and Stock Sale.

Mr. James F. Morgan's auction room was crowed in every part on Saturday at noon, the attraction being, not a political meeting, but an important sale of stocks, bonds and real estate of which due notice was given. The real estate comprised the Booth estate situated on the corner of Bethel and Hotel streets.

It was subdivided into twelve lots. Of these, only three were sold to one purchaser Mr. A. J. Cartwright, as follows: No. 1 $5,000; No. 5, $2,500; No. 6, $5.750.

Of Pahala plantation stock, five shares were sold to Rev. S. E. Bishop at $160; five to G. H. Collins at $157 50, and five to F. M. Hatch at $150. Other sales were: Ten shares Ookala plantation at $105 to W. M. Giffard; eight of Reciprocity Sugar Co. at $102 to Mr. Justice Dole; nine of Honomu at $140 to order; five Oahu Railway and Land Co. at $105 to F. M. Hatch; five Olowalu at $120 to J. F. Morgan ; five People's Ice and Refrigerating Co. to A. J. Cartwright at $84, and ten to E. O. White at $84; two Government bonds $5,000 each at $108 to P. Muhlendorf. A lot of land on Beretania street between the residences of Mr. Canavarro and Mr. Boardman was sold to F. S. Dodge for $1,300. A mortgagees sale of land in Hilo brought $750 and one in Kona $350, the purchaser being Manaole in both instances. Total amount of sale $34,298 50.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

Miss Annie Dowsett and Mr. R. B. Brenham United in Marriage.

One of the most brilliant events that has taken place in Honolulu society circles in a long time, was the marriage of Miss Annie Kahuwalu Dowsett to Mr. Robert B. Brenham at St. Andrew's Cathedral Thursday evening. The event was announced for 7 o'clock but long before that time the cathedral was crowded with invited guests and others, While the ceremony was in progress there was scarcely standing room.

The floral decorations in the cathedral were on a magnificent scale and the interior of the fine building presented a most imposing appearance, especially the chancel. On the altar were two handsome bouquets of white flowers, while on either side were immense banks of greenery. The entrance to the altar was spanned by an arch of palm leaves and roses, the altar rails being festconed with vines, dotted with flowers. Over this arch was a handsome marriage bell of white and pink roses, the tongue being of stephanotis. Above the bell could be seen a white dove holding streamers of white satin ribbon on which were the names-Dowsett-Brenham-in gilt letters. The effect of this was very pretty. On either side of the choir seats were immense potted ferns. A huge bouquet of flowers, tied with satin ribbon, adorned the lectern, while the pulpit was resplendent with roses of choice varieties on a background of ferns. The desks of the two front seats in the nave were literally buried in flowers, principally roses. In the windows of the nave stood potted plants, while at the foot of the columns were small palm and fern leaves tastily arranged and tied together with satin ribbon. Passion vines hung from the capitals of all the columns in the chancel. The chandeliers were also iestooned with evergreens. The general effect of the decorations was charming. Mrs. James W. Robertson, Mrs. Geo. E. Boardman and Mrs. Paymaster Corwin, are the ladies who undertook the decorations at the Cathedral.

The invited guests as they arrived at the Church were shown to seats by the ushers, Messrs. E. Faxon Sishop, H. M. Whitney, Jr., J. H. Wodehouse, Jr., and S. A. Monsurrat. At 7 o'clock the organ struck up with a wedding hyun by Bandlegger, Mr. Wray Taylor presid-ing at the instrument. Two or three PACIFIC HARDWARE CO., L'd. moments later the bridal party entered the Cathedral and marched up the aisle, while the organ played the bridal march from Lobengrin, in the following order: The bride leaning on the arm of her father, Hon. The wedding presents received by the happy couple displayed in the parlors were very numerous and comprised some costly tributes of affection. After the reception, dancing commenced to the strains of the Hawaiian string band, which was stationed in the lower alcove in the lanai. The programme of dances was as follows: Lancers, waltz, polka, lancers, walta, york, lancers, walta, schottische, lahcers, walta, and galop. CONSULAR CERTIFICATES UPON NON-DUTIABLE GCODS.

Judge Sawyer has rendered a decision in the case of Seigiried & Brandenstein against Collector Phelps adverse to the claim which the latter has always maintained to require importers to furnish certified consular invoices for free goods. In this case the plaintiff imported a lot of tea from Japan without a consular certificate. The collector refused delivery and they sued him for the detention. Judge Sawyer decided that consular invoices are necessary only for dutiable goods. Hereafter coffee, tea, silk and sugar from the Hawaiian Islands can be imported without the consular invoices. Fence Wire and Staples ceremony was performed in the most impressive manner by the Rev. Alex. Muckintosh, the responses by the bride and groom being distinctly heard. The service was choral throughout and included the special psulm and the vesicles. During the singing of the psalm, the bridal party moved up to the altar where the service was completed, after which they returned to the vestry to sign the register. As they left the Cathedral Mondelssolves Wedding March pealed forth from the organ.

The bride, a young lady most favorably knows in this community, and daughter of our most respected residents Hon J. I and Mrs. Dowsett, made a charming pictuze in her wedding costume. She was attired in a dress of white moire, en train, the front panels being of gold broended slik. The usual veil was worn and her ormaments consisted of diamonds. Miss Mary Dowsett the maid of honor wore a pretty costume of corn color, Miss Jameson peach blow, Miss Coney nile green and Miss Davidson shrimp pink. For over two hours there was a constant stream of invited guests calling to tender their congratulations. Internal improvements are now regarded by all intelligent voters as of the greatest importance. The public of this little community can judge of the records of the men now nominated, and decide who are likely to do most in this line, without listening to personal vilifi-cation. The Homestead law and its operation are also important matters. The statute has been on the books during A a great part of two administrations. Those seeking to retain or to gain control of the Government have been, for the most part, connected in some way with the two administrations. Again, let the public decide which men they can trust this business to with the greatest assurance, without rousing bitter passions. The Chinese question, like Banquo's ghost, will not down. It requires no personal abuse to enable the public to decide intelligently which men can be trusted to deal most fairly and efficiently with this grave and important question. Let these and other important matters be dealt with honestly and earn-estly, but without passion. Violence of invective produces a state of mind among the people of any small place which unfits them to deal with such grave matters.

This pies for temperance is not intend-ed as a reproach to those who in a candid and moderate way compare records of men who have political records, in their official capacity. Nor, indeed, is it intended as a reproach to any other. May it act rather as oil upon the water. Pressure.

Farties in Hawaii Nef.

Mr. Entron: In the evening organ of the "Re-actionary party" may be found an article entitled "We have no real parties," which shows the writer's gross ignorance of Hawaiian political history.

It is true that regularly organized parties like those of the United States and England cannot flourish under " personal" government, but there have been here as elsewhere, for the past thirty years a Liberal party and a Re-actionary party.

The former has always been on the side of popular rights and of honest government, and has always opposed debt and extravagance.

It made a gallant resistance to the "coup d'etat" of Kamehameha V., and although generally in the minority doring his reign and since, has yet been a powerful check on corruption and jobbery in high places. In the session of 188) and during the centralized machine government of Gibson & Co., the Liberal party deserved well of its country and employed every constitutional means to stay its downward course to ruin. It was this same party that formed the nucleus of the Reform party of 1887.

The main issue is the same now as it was then, viz: the maintenance of honest Constitutional government. All minor differences on details should be A number of which have recently been put out of sight.

The real leaders of the Re-actionary party are not to be found on its list of Nobles. The speeches of Messrs, Bush, Rosa, Wilcox, and other Gibsonians, are the only ones that excite any enthusiasm in the main body of the party. It is in their favorite journals, the Wational Recald, and the Leo o ks Lahui, and not a the would-be respectable Daily Balletin, that we can learn the real spirit and aims of that party

The unsequided editor of the Bulletin will find too late that he and his friends will have up more control over the policy of the Re-actionary party than the "Magwamps" had over Cleveland's ad-thereafter make.

If such principle were now part of the fundamental law of the land, I believe it would be impossible for any outrageous law to receive the sanction of a majority of the members of any legislature which could be elected. The great difficulty would be to pass any measures which would meet the case at all,

The effort was made during the last session of the Legislature to frame an amendment with limitations. The greatest consideration was given to the various provisions by the members of the House, and by all classes of citizens. For many weeks the vain attempt was made to reconcile the conflicting views. The work was honest and earnest. But in seeking to legislate in the Constitution and provide for all contingencies the task was hopeless.

In the whole subject of legislation whether it relate to constitutional provisions, or to ordinary statutes, all questions must ultimately be decided by the

SUPPLEMENT TO THE HAWAITAN GAZETTE, JANUARY 28, 1890.

ADDRESS OF R. W. WILCOX.

Programme of the The Opposition,

Foreigners Not Wanted In Office, Or In the Country !

The following is a full report of the speech of Wilcox on Friday January 24th as reported and published in the campaign sheet the "Times," on the 27th.

Let every voter read this defiant and outrageous harangue, intended to excite the native race against the foreign races, and then decide whether he will vote for the Opposition ticket.

"My friends who have come together here, I think about half of you belong here in the fifth district. and the rest of you came from the other districts. Only two of us belonging on our ticket have come here, myself and the candidate for the second district, William Cummings.

I have got a great deal to say to you to-night. I am going to wait and state everything at the Fish Market to morrow at 4 o'clock.

The 5th day of February is drawing near, the day for the election, the day on which you are to show your love for your country, the country that Kamehameha I. joined together and made one, and in that way, Honolulu became a city.

I strongly urge you to show your love of your country, and to listen to this voice which is the voice of life; look out carefully for your ballots. Vote for the National party, the ticket which will be the salvation of you, 'Oh Hawaii,' and if you give your consent, 'Oh Hawaiians,' then you will have a country of your own. The newspaper called the "Guard of the People" has come out to day with some articles abusing us very strongly. That newspaper should be called and it would be very ap-propriate too, "The Guard of Robbers.'

Your rights were taken from you, the rights of the King were taken out of his hand, and he remains stripped like a naked image. This is a time for us to show our love of country. There are a great many dishonest things that these people have done and are still doing. They call themselves reformers. They are reformers only on the face and not at heart, behind all their professions there is death, this is the party that is trying to take away your right to vote. O, native Hawaiian, and also to deprive you of your right to a trial by jury. What I am now stating to you is the real truth. This constition that has been made by them, is a very bad one. This constitution was made for the benefit only of the rich people, and the King like a figure-head has to sit by and look on while they carry things on. The laws are carried out and executed in a very bad way in Hawaii. This is an old failing of our chiefs that of being easily deceived, that has come down to Kalakaua. Mr. Gibson was found at last, a man who was far removed from the old ring, a man who enlightened the native Hawaiians. When this ring saw that they had no authority in running the Government, they began to say how bad Gibson was running things; how foolish and so on. So. they prepared a new constitution which was got ready by those rebels, and the judges joined in this work. This is a bad constitution that was got up with a bad intent, it is an attempt to utterly wipe out the native Hawaiians from off the country. These doings are very bitter and about these one-sided actions, I am bad. If you will vote so that the National ticket is elected, then these become Cabinet minister so I can put ministers will be driven out from their places. I suppose when they see that the National party is victorious, they will say that the constitution of the National party is a bad perhaps robbers in their own counone, and they will try to get up an-other revolution. I think if we people who are paid $60 or more a get a good constitution, then we month. This is a disgrace to our ought to re-organize some native Government. The Reform party are Hawaiian military companies and a ring of robbers, without doubt. they protect the Government; these companies should be drilled and instructed until they are skillful, then the country will have peace. We law concerning those who were susdon't want these white men who are wandering about and coming here; have the natives carried off to Kalathey are a good for nothing lot, all wao, and there have us all killed off. they want is money, and when they Only suspected of having leprosy,

If things were done this way here, to instruct and have an efficient standing army, then it would be impossible for these people to again commit any acts of treason.

Let us look at our schools now. From the time of Kamehameha III., they began to lead us in the wrong direction. There were lots of mistakes made in conducting our then your troubles will be ended. schools

Why? Because they did not want a native to get rich, what they want is to have the natives remain poor. They don't want a native to improve they are afraid to give the natives a solution of the wall, and then think of the good of the land. been properly educated to-day, the Government would be conducted by faced, cuttlefish-like lawyers. it is so in other countries where they have representatives.

Japanese, the captain was a Japan- that can be bought and sold. If I ese, and so were all the officers down to the men.

With us here, it is not so. Any miserable white man comes here clinging to the masts of a ship and gets to Hawaii nei, he immediately begins to blow about what he can do. I can do this, I can do that, and so on, and he is immediately put into a Government office.

The only natives that are in moderately good positions are the lick spitals, hoopilimeaais. Natives of that kind are betrayers of their country. They are the kind of people who ought to be driven off, they | 30th of July, and of that jury trial are traitors, evident traitors to their country.

Look at the water pipe that is be-ing sent for, that the Ministers have ordered and you sit by blind to what being done. What you hear is that these pipes are very cheap, low in price, but you don't know what is being done. The Ministers get a commission. They say, these pipes only cost so many thousand dollars, but for all that several thousand dollars slip quietly down into their pockets.

They are not willing that we should be remembered in the conducting of the offices of the Government.

they wanted to do to us until we were all dead. Thurston and the others are plainly murderers, so are the Judges, they were also engaged in the army of some other country, in this work. Many and many are the evil deeds that have been done by these people.

The election law is all mixed up The law should be so changed that | and a ballot has got to be folded just so, and for any little defect it is thrown out. All these things are done so as to place obstacles before others and secure the election of their ticket. I strongly urge you to go and register your names so you can vote. Vote for both Represent-atives and Nobles too. Say you are are entitled to vote for both. If they want you to take the oath, hold up your hand and swear that you are qualified whether you are or not, so long as you get the right to vote for Noble, that is the main thing, Say you are a farmer and do lots of other things, anything to say you earn six hundred dollars. This will be the last election. Let the National party get in and this election law his condition. That is the reason will be thrown to one side, shoved to

> This is the last session of the Legislature that a native Hawaiian July 1883, and March 1884. will sit in if the National party is defeated, because your right to vote will be taken away. If the National party gets in the country will be safe. We have become an object of great interest to the great nations, who are looking on. They know that we are not all living in accord on account of what took place on the of myself, and on account of that jury having discharged me. We are now recognized as a firm people, who have a backbone, and are not easily led astray by talk. This is a very important thing to the foreign nations, our not being in accord. If they should come here and help us, why then we would live as conquerors in our own land.

Some of the natives who went with me on the 30th of July went without any feeling of love for their country. If Wilcox had been victorious that day perhaps those people would have plundered the white man's goods. If I had known they were going to act two-faced I would have given from which passports were ground out orders to have them shot. This was two facedness of the worst kind. I ask you, women, to go home to-night the country. No means of identification and stir up your husbands to vote know anything, but our people here the National ticket. Of the 1803 who have come into the country since March 1, 1888, only 163 have come on passports issued since that date, leaving 1640 who have come in on passports issued under the old system. Had it not been for these 1640 passports, a large portion of which were fraudulent. and for which the Reform party are not responsible, the number would have been still further reduced by that number, or a total reduction of 4,497 in twenty-one months of Reform rule.

It is charged that the members of the Legislature of 1888 stultified themselves by not passing the anti-Chinese constitutional amendment in 1888.

THIS CHARGE IS WITHOUT FOUNDATION. THE REFORM PARTY CAME INTO POWER

UPON A SINGLE ISSUE.

That issue was the support of the New Constitution, and the establishment of Constitutional Government under it, in place of the unlimited personal despotism which had preceded it.

That issue and that alone was the one before the electors in September, 1887, and the country responded in the affirmative by electing forty-six out of fortyeight members of the House.

This issue was of paramount importance and the Legislature carried out the work entrusted to it faithfully and well.

During the course of the session other questions arose, important in themselves, but side issues as compared with the main question. Among these were the questions of temperance legislation and ported to restrict Chinese passengers to Chinese restriction. Neither of these questions were mentioned in the Party Platform nor were they discussed at the election.

> They were questions upon which members honestly differed.

The proposition to, not only restrict men from coming into the country, but to regulate the employments of those already here, by reason of their nationality, is a sufficiently startling one, and so contrary to all precedent in any country governed by Anglo Saxon principles, that no man has a right to impugn the motives of another for not accepting it upon sight.

The direct necessity and the plea of self-defense and self-preservation are the only excuse for it.

The appreciation of the necessity of this action has come but slowly, but come it has, and it has come to stay. The question which was a side issue, and concerning which there was a divi- . sion of opinion two years ago, is now one of the main issues.

The idea of getting there was so at tractive that, as it was getting late, the meeting adjourned in a happy frame of mind, each man mentally resolving to bridle his tongue till after election.

Let us look at the school teachers now. They are sending abroad for school teachers. They may be people that their own people at home would not have because they did not here. Now this is the worst thing of teachers lately in Wailuku some native boys were the best. Some to write out the answer and they said they could not, but those native boys did answer all the questions.

All the pay these native boys get is, one gets $40 and the other $50; and the white teachers get $150 and upwards. I have been told that complaint has been made about these things to the President of the Board of Education, and this was what he said, "Salmon and poi are enough for a kanaka." Those are the unkind words used by this President. It is proper that Bishop should be kicked out of that place. He ain't fit to be President for the schools. Let us help each other of the same race.

I am a man that is very jealous much more jealous about the thing. This is the reason I am so anxious to all these white men out. Look at the police! the native policemen only get $30, or a little more a month, while the vagabond white men, they were try and came here, and they are the That is the reason I am so much exercised about these doings.

What do you think of this specimen from Wilcox's Palama speech: "Vote for both Representatives and Nobles too. Say you are entitled to vote. If they want you to take the oath, hold up your hand and swear that you are qualified whether you are or not, so long as you get the right to vote for Noble, that is the main thing, then your troubles will be ended. Say you are a farmer and do lots of other things. Anything to say you earn six hundred dollars."

Wilcox, in a speech at Palama on Fri-day said: "The King should be the power above all laws and rule in his country." You surely cannot vote for a man who utters such a sentiment as that.

J. Brewster a man-of-war's man who was serving a sentence on the reef for having opium in possession, escaped from the prison-gang at the quarry about 7 o'clock Monday morning.

Chinese contractors made a trade of bringing up dummies who purported to be about to leave for China. A passport would be issued; the dummy would not go away at all, but would hand over his passport to the contractor who in turn sent it to China where it sold for from $15 to $25. It cost the contractor $1. This method of restricting Chinese immigration worked its legitimate result. The Chinese population increased as follows:

		Increase.	Total

This system continued in operation until July 1887, when the Reform party took control.

By reason of outstanding passports, the number of Chinese had increased on JANUARY 1, 1888, TO 19,747, WHICH NUM-BER MARKS HIGH TIDE.

At the Special Session of 1887, a restriction Act was passed, which was supplemented by a further Act in 1888. By the terms of these Acts, practically all Chinese are excluded, a proviso allowing the entrance of not more than 300 in any quarter if the agricultural necessities of the country require it, upon the requisition of the Board of Immigration countersigned by the Cabinet. Although strong pressure has been brought to bear at times, no permits have been issued under this proviso. A further clause in the act of 1888 declared all outstanding passports not used before July, 1889, to be cancelled. By virtue of this clause is the main principle of the Reform party and the most prominent plank in its platform. The Cabinet and its candidates are pledged to carry it into effect.

The Reform party has never made a pledge that it has not carried out.

Under its administration the unbroken record of increase in the number of Chinese has been broken, and a decrease shown for the first time since Chinamen came to the country.

The Reform party confidently appeals to the country for support in carrying out its policy of Chinese restriction and regulation, relying upon its record as a guaranty of the faithful execution of the trust confided to it.

For the past three days we have had a heavy rainstorm which still continues.

Mr. Carley has the poles distributed along nearly the whole of the new telephone line, which will go as far as the Haleakala ranch and be a great convenience to the community.

A mass meeting of the Opposition was advertised to take place at Wailuku last Saturday evening, but it ended in a gigantic fizzle. The Evening Bulletin's candidate for Noble was there from Honolulu and had to talk to empty benches. He must have been disgusted with his reception. Sonny-in-law was also expected but did not turn up. The wonder here is that any decent man will have anything to do with such a party whose principal wire-puller is one of the biggest scoundrels in Wailuku.

Politics are quiet in our district because there is not enough opposition to the Reform party even to make it interesting.

A Reform mass meeting is advertised to be held this evening at Wailuku. January 25th.
