Three Baccalaureate Degrees on 2012 Roster

FAMU Athletics is dedicated to its student-athletes, both on and off the field of play. Evidence of this can be taken from the fact that 40 student-athletes, 15 in football alone, attained their degrees this past Spring.

Among the crowd of student-athletes who walked across the stage on Apr.28, were three current members of the Rattler Football squad. Offensive lineman Robert Hartley, linebacker Brandon Hepburn and nosetackle Padric Scott all met their academic goals.

The athletic department made a commitment to the academic success of its student-athletes by developing and staffing the Athletic Academic Center. The system consists of three full-time academic advisors and a fully furnished center, complete with a computer room and two study rooms. The Rattlers Boosters provided 23 computers which have been wired with broadband internet access and networked to printers for students to take advantage of.

The results have been astounding. “We must continue to show our dedication to our student-athletes by providing them with every possible resource to be successful,” FAMU director of athletics Derek Horne said.

The three graduates will be enrolled in graduate studies during the Fall semester. Hartley, received a bachelor’s degree in Political Science, Hepburn acquired a bachelor’s degree in chemistry and Scott attained his degree in biology.

Hartley is a preseason All-MEAC selection at offensive line.

Hepburn twice won the Army Strong award last year and is expected to have his breakout season. Scott, has been selected for two watch lists in this preseason. The Stanford University transfer is also an ordained minister.

These three accomplished football players are far from the norm in college athletics, but exactly what the mission of Florida A&M University and FAMU Athletics calls for. Congratulations to our ultimate student-athletes for their success on and off the field of play.

FAMU CIS Team Wins NASA Rocket Challenge

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – The Altitude Award, one of nine prizes offered at the NASA rocket competition, is given to the team that launches a rocket closest to one mile without going over. The FAMU Rocket, affectionately known as Blue Diamond, reached 5270 feet, a mere 10 feet from one mile. The competition, which was held at Bragg Farms in Toney, Ala., brought together 53 teams from all over the U.S.

“I am very proud of the work the students did for this competition, said Allen, associate professor, Department of Computer and Information Sciences and advisor for the team. “Each member of the team played a vital role.”

NASA’s USLI, is a competition that challenges university-level students to design, build and launch a reusable rocket with a scientific or engineering payload to one mile above ground level, or AGL. The project engages students in scientific research and real-world engineering processes with NASA engineers.

In addition to designing, building and testing the rocket, the students also developed an Android App to communicate with the rocket while it is in flight. Members of the DiamondBacks Rocket Team were Ronald Benson, Jazzmine Bess, Marlena Ivory, Rodney Wilson, Anderson Louis and Dion Paul. Faculty Advisors were Clement Allen and Stacy Tinner.

FAMU Ranked One Of The Top 15 Most Popular U.S. Colleges

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – Florida A&M University (FAMU) has been named one of the Top 15 most popular national universities in the nation by U.S. News and World Report. FAMU is the only historically black college or university that is ranked in the Top 15 with other Ivy League universities such as Harvard, Stanford, Yale, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Princeton. University of Florida is the only other university in Florida to be listed in the top 20.

The list is compiled by the yield of students who enroll in a university after being accepted.

“This ranking shows that FAMU remains a popular choice of students across this country,” said FAMU President James H. Ammons. “We are proud of this ranking and all of the others we have received since fall 2011. This year marks our quasiquincentennial and this achievement builds on our momentum as we celebrate our legacy of excellence.”

According to the U. S. News and World Report’s website, one of the best indicators of a school’s popularity among students is the school’s yield—the percentage of applicants accepted by a college who end up enrolling at that institution in the fall. In fall 2010, FAMU accepted 4,993 and the first year enrollment was 2,815; therefore, 56.4 percent of the students who were accepted were enrolled as part of the fall 2010 class. This academic year, FAMU has received the following accolades:

- No. 1 public historically black colleges and universities (HBCUs) in the 2012 U.S. News and World Report college ranking for HBCUs.
- FAMU was named one of the “Best Colleges in the Southeast” in The Princeton Review 2012 edition.

• In September 2011, FAMU was named one of Forbes magazine 2011 Best Colleges in the nation in their annual ranking of top colleges.

• In 2011, FAMU was selected as one of The Princeton Review’s “311 Green Colleges: 2011 Edition.” The list focused solely on colleges that have demonstrated a strong commitment to sustainability in their academic offerings, campus infrastructure, activities and career preparation.

• JET Magazine named FAMU one of the most affordable colleges.

• In September 2011, Washington Monthly magazine ranked FAMU as one of the “Top 100 National Universities.” This was FAMU’s second consecutive year making the list.

Florida A&M University Mission Statement

Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University (FAMU) is an 1890 land-grant institution dedicated to the advancement of knowledge, resolution of complex issues and the empowerment of citizens and communities.

The University provides a student-centered environment consistent with its core values. The faculty is committed to educating students at the undergraduate, graduate, doctoral and professional levels, preparing graduates to apply their knowledge, critical thinking skills and creativity in their service to society.

FAMU's distinction as a doctoral/research institution will continue to provide mechanisms to address emerging issues through local and global partnerships.

Expanding upon the University's land-grant status, it will enhance the lives of constituents through innovative research, engaging cooperative extension, and public service.

While the University continues its historic mission of educating African Americans, FAMU embraces persons of all races, ethnic origins and nationalities as life-long members of the university community.

Rattler Traditions

Distinguished by lush foliage and massive oaks, FAMU's main campus comprises 156 buildings spread over 422 acres atop the highest of Tallahassee's seven hills.

Mascot

The Rattler mascot is based on popular folklore. When the school relocated to Highwood Plantation in 1891, the rural landscape had an abundance of snakes, especially rattle snakes. This is how the mascot name, "The Rattlers" was chosen.

School Colors

Florida A&M University's school colors were selected because of the green from agricultural plants and the orange from Florida's citrus industry.

The university also has several satellite campuses including a site in Orlando where the College of Law is located and sites in Miami, Jacksonville and Tampa for its pharmacy program.

Enrollment

Florida A&M University enrolls over 13,000 students from the United States and more than 70 countries such as India, Egypt, Trinidad, Netherlands, China, Bahamas, Jamaica, and Brazil.

Law in Orlando. FAMU has 11 doctoral programs which includes 10 Ph.D. programs: chemical engineering; civil engineering; electrical engineering; mechanical engineering; industrial engineering; biomedical engineering; physics; pharmaceutical sciences; educational leadership; and environmental sciences.

Overview

Founded on October 3, 1887, Florida A&M University (FAMU) is part of the State University System of Florida and is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Academic Programs

Florida A&M University offers 62 bachelor's degrees and 39 master's degrees. The university has 13 schools and colleges and one institute. The university also offers a juris doctor at its College of

Popular Majors

Top undergraduate programs are architecture; journalism; computer information sciences and psychology. FAMU's top graduate programs include pharmaceutical sciences along with public health; physical therapy; engineering; physics; master's of applied social sciences (especially history and public administration); business and sociology.

2012 Rattler Football Season Preview

The Florida A&M Football team has high expectations for the 2012 Football season as they look to win the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference Championship and return to the NCAA Football Championship playoffs for the first time since 2001.

FAMU finished last season 7-4 overall and 5-3 in MEAC play for a third place finish in the conference. The Rattlers will return 76 letter winners (Offense: 31; Defense: 41; Specialists: 4) from last year's team.

Running Backs

Last season the Rattler offense was among the top units in the MEAC, ranking: second in passing offense (227.2); fourth in scoring offense (28.1 ppg); sixth in total offense (339.3); eighth in rushing offense (112.1); and fifth in passing efficiency (124.8).

This season the Rattlers will feature a veteran backfield with quality backs that will see plenty of action in 2012.

Eddie Rocker, a 5-8 senior from Ocala, Fla., saw action in all 11 of FAMU's games as he rushed for 524 yards on 104 carries, averaging 5.0 yards per carry, with three TDs. He rushed for a season high 128 yards on 17 carries against North Carolina Central (11-12-11) and rushed for 107 yards on 12 carries the previous week in the Rattlers' win over North Carolina A&T (11-5-11).

Another speedster the Rattlers will have in the back field will be Al-Terek McBurse, a 5-11 senior from Oviedo, Fla., who was plagued last season with injuries. McBurse saw action in nine games as he rushed for 349 yards on 53 carries, averaging 6.6 yards per carry, with four TDs. He earned MEAC Offensive Player of the Week honors for his performance against Savannah

State, as he rushed for a season high 218 yards on 12 carries with three TDs.

FAMU will also use the services of Lavante Page, a 5-11 senior from Atlanta, Ga. A big bruising back that possesses both speed and power, Page saw action in all 11 of the Rattlers' games last season, as he rushed for 329 yards on 118 carries with 13 TDs. In addition, he finished the season with 15 catches out of the backfield for 107 yards with one TD, giving a total of 14 TDs on the season, leaving him one shy of the single season school record (15). Page helped initiate a come-from-behind win in the 2011 Bank of America Football Classic, as he rushed for 73 yards on 16 carries, scoring five TDs, leading the Rattlers to a 38-33 win over Southern University (9-24-11).

Rounding out the cast of returnees in the Rattler backfield will be Jordan Stanley, a 5-10 sophomore from Tallahassee, Fla., who rushed for 20 yards in limited action, and James Owens, a 5-9 redshirt senior from Apopka, Fla., who was academically ineligible last season, after rushing for 60 yards on 14 carries in ten games in 2010.

Wide Receivers

FAMU will have a young receiving group in 2012, and will look to Lenworth Lennon to provide leadership with departure of Kevin Elliott and Bryan Tyms, who both signed NFL free agent contracts, this past spring.

Lennon, a 5-9 redshirt sophomore from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., saw action in all 11 of FAMU's games last season, leading the Rattlers in receptions with 45 catches for 596 yards, with two TDs.

He was named the MEAC Rookie of the Week on September 5 as he was the hero in the Rattlers' win over Fort Valley State. With seconds left in the game, quarterback Austin Trainor's pass intended for Kevin Elliott was tipped, landing in the hands of Lennon, who scampered 68 yards for a TD, giving FAMU a 28-22 win.

Lennon finished that contest with 73 receiving yards on two catches, then against Delaware State (10-1-11), he recorded a season-high 113 receiving yards on five catches.

Also vying for playing time in 2012 will be the Harvey boys (no relation), Travis Harvey, a 6-3 red-shirt senior from Los Angeles, Calif., and Dewayne Harvey, a 6-1 sophomore from Tallahassee, Fla.

Last season, Dewayne recorded nine catches for 77 yards with one TD in four games, while Travis saw action in four games with one catch for ten yards.

At tight end FAMU will return Michael Etheridge, a 6-2 junior from Tallahassee, Fla., and Anthony Ray, a 6-4 redshirt senior from Lakeland, Fla.

Etheridge saw action in all 11 games last season as he tallied nine catches for 88 yards, while Ray participated in three games making three catches for 23 yards.

Offensive Line

The Rattler offensive line will return two starters from last season in both Steven Robinson and Robert Hartley. Both Robinson, a 6-3 red shirt senior from Tallahassee, Fla., and Hartley a 6-7, senior from Lake City, Fla., started in all 11 of FAMU's games last season with Robinson at left guard and Hartley at right guard. This season Hartley will make the transition to right tackle. Last season these two guardians of the quarterback were part of an offense, that racked a season high 448 total offensive yards (291 rushing, 157 passing) against Savannah State (10-15-11) and tallied 439 yards of total offense (142 rushing, 297 passing) against South Carolina State (10-22-11).

Also returning will be a trio of players who saw limited action last season, but will compete for starting spots this season: Kawika Pieper, a 6-3 sophomore from Honolulu, Hawaii, Kevin House, a 6-5 sophomore from Jacksonville, Fla., and Arom Wynn, a 6-5 sophomore from Pinellas County, Fla.

Quarterbacks

Returning at the quarterback position will be a pair of skilled field generals. Damien Fleming, a 6-3 sophomore from Jacksonville, Fla., and Tyler Bass, a 6-0 red shirt senior from Atlanta, Ga., who transferred from Memphis last spring.

Fleming, who broke his way into the Rattler starting lineup, coming off the bench in the second half of the Atlanta Football Classic, leading FAMU to 21 points to rally past Southern University, 38-33. He finished the contest with 76 yards passing as he completed six passes in eight attempts.

The next week against Delaware State, Fleming made his first collegiate start, for 245 yards and a TD, as he completed 14 passes in 29 attempts, while rushing for another score, leading the Rattlers to a 34-7 win over the Hornets.

In the Rattlers' first win over South Carolina State in ten seasons, Fleming threw for a season-high 297 yards, completing 34 passes in 40 attempts, as the Rattlers scored two fourth quarter TDs to defeat the Bulldogs, 27-24 at Orangeburg, S.C.

Fleming finished the 2011 season with 1,622 passing yards on 131 completions (218 attempts), with 11 TD passes and just five interceptions, while rushing for two TDs.

Bass, who was plagued with injuries last season, will also fight for the starting quarterback position, after a strong spring training camp, and a solid performance in the Spring Game, as he passed for 128 yards completing 16 of 29 passes with one TD.

The Defense

Defensively, FAMU will return six starters and 41 letter winners from a 2011 defense that ranked first in the conference in interceptions (22); second in passing defense efficiency (105.9); sixth in the conference in scoring defense (24.6); sixth in rushing defense (144.3) and eighth in total defense (341.4).

Defensive Line

In 2012, the Rattler defensive line will return Padric Scott, a 6-1 red shirt senior from Tallahassee, Fla., who graduated this past spring with his degree in Biology. Scott started in all 11 of FAMU's games last season at nose guard, finishing the season with 28 total takedowns (17 UA, 11 A), six tackles for loss, three sacks, one forced fumbles and three quarterback hurries. He recorded a season-high five tackles against Southern University (9-24-11) and North Carolina A&T (11-5-11).

Also returning to take the left defensive end position will be Branden Davis, a 6-4 senior from Jacksonville, Fla., who saw action in nine games, as he tallied nine tackles (4 UA, 5 A), recording a season-high five tackles against Hampton (9-8-11). FAMU will have the services of Brandon Forge, a 6-5 red shirt sophomore from Dallas, Texas and Ellie Hyppolite, a 6-4 senior from Daytona Beach, Fla., who played in seven games and recorded eight tackles last year.

Linebackers

At linebackers, FAMU will return starters Brandon Hepburn and Bobby Jackson.

Hepburn, a 6-4 senior from Pomona, N.Y., who also graduated this spring (Chemistry), finished last season as the team's second leading tackler, recording 63 tackles (41 UA, 22A), 3.5 tackles for loss, one sack, two pass breakups, two quarterback hurries and one forced fumble. Hepburn tallied a season high 14 tackles (10 UA, 4 A) against

Howard University (10-8-11) and had a 10-tackle performance against South Florida (9-17-11).

At strong side linebacker will be Jackson, a senior from Miami, Fla., who recorded 29 tackles (20 UA, 9 A), 4.5 sack, half sack, one interception and two quarterback hurries in the ten games that he played in.

Also returning to the linebacker corps will be Michael Ducree, a 6-2 junior from Orlando, Fla., who was a walk on in the 2010 season. He finished the 2011 season with 14 tackles (7 UA, 7 A), and one tackle for loss in the ten games that he saw action.

Making the transition from defensive end to linebacker will be Derrick Connor, a 6-4 sophomore from Miami, Fla., who saw action in two games.

The Secondary

FAMU will return a seasoned secondary that recorded 17 of the Rattlers' 22 interceptions.

The Rattlers will return a pair of corners that are small in stature but big on performance in Devontae "Terry" Johnson, and Marvin Ross.

Johnson, a 5-11 sophomore from Tallahassee, Fla., saw action in all 11 of FAMU's games as he led the team in interceptions with five. He finished the season with 32 tackles (25 UA, 7 A), 0.5 tackles for loss and five pass breakups. Johnson tallied a season high seven tackles against Hampton (9-8-11) and recorded two five tackle performances against Southern University (9-24-11) and Howard University (10-8-11).

Ross, a 5-10 senior from Jacksonville, Fla., finished the season with 38 tackles (33 UA, 5 A), one tackle for loss, two interceptions and five pass breakups. Ross tallied a season high six tackles against North Carolina A&T (11-5-11) and four tackles against Hampton (9-8-11), Savannah State (10-15-11) and South Carolina State (10-22-11).

Also slated to see action in 2012 will be Patrick Aiken, a 5-10 sophomore from Pembroke Pines, Fla., who saw action in four games as he recorded two tackles. FAMU will also have the services of two experienced safeties: John Ojo and Devan Roberts.

Ojo, a 6-3 senior from Tallahassee, Fla., who impressed NFL Scouts in the FAMU underclassmen pro day, started in all 11 of the Rattlers games as he tallied 42 tackles (30 UA, 12 A), four interceptions and one pass breakup. He recorded a season high nine tackles against South Florida (9-8-11) and Savannah State (10-15-11) and recorded seven total takedowns against Bethune-Cookman (11-19-11).

In addition, he recorded two interceptions against Fort Valley State (9-3-11) and Howard University (10-8-11) at the free safety position.

Also expected to fight for the starting free safety position will be Jonathan Pillow, a 6-0 junior from Jacksonville, Fla., who recorded 18 tackles (10 UA, 8 A) in the eight games that he played in last season.

At strong safety will be Roberts, a 6-1 junior from Ocala, Fla., saw action in all 11 games as he tallied 31 tackles (18 UA, 13 A), one tackle for loss, one quarterback hurry, one pass breakup and one blocked kicked on the season. Roberts recorded a season high 11 tackles against North Carolina A&T (11-5-11).

Special Teams

On special teams, FAMU will return Branden Holden, a 6-2 senior from Jacksonville, Fla., who served as the Rattlers' primary punter. Last year he tallied 2,481 yards on 61 boots to average 40.7 yards per punt. Holdren boasted seven punts on the season for 50-plus yards as he recorded a 78-yard boot against North Carolina Central (11-12-11) and garnered a 58 yard punt against Bethune-Cookman (11-19-11).

Chase Varnadore, a 5-11 sophomore from Tallahassee, Fla., will assume all the kickoffs and PAT duties, due to the graduation of All-Conference performer Trevor Scott.

The 2012 FAMU Football schedule will feature the return of some familiar opponents as the Rattlers will open the season against Tennessee State (Sept. 1) in the Big John Merritt Classic in Nashville, Tenn.

Then the Rattlers will head west as they will take on Big 12 member the University of Oklahoma (Sept. 8) in a first-ever meeting in Norman, Okla.

FAMU will then return to the comforts of Bragg Memorial Stadium as they open MEAC play against Hampton University on Sept. 15.

The Rattler Gridders will then have three straight road contests as they close out the month of September at Delaware State (Sept. 22) in Dover, Del., and against Southern University (Sept. 29) in the Bank of America Atlanta Football Classic in Atlanta, Ga., before opening the month of October against Howard University on Oct. 6 at Greene Stadium in Washington, D.C.

FAMU will return to Tallahassee for back-to-back to home contests as the Rattlers will face Savannah State on Oct. 13 and South Carolina State on Oct. 20.

After a week's hiatus the Rattlers will travel to Greensboro to take on North Carolina A&T on Nov. 3, and then return home to celebrate homecoming as they will take on North Carolina Central on Nov. 10.

FAMU will then close out the 2012 campaign as they will take on Bethune-Cookman on Nov. 17 in the annual Florida Blue Florida Classic.

FAMU Interim President Dr. Larry Robinson

On August 15, 2012, the Florida A&M University (FAMU) Board of Trustees named Larry Robinson, Ph.D. as the interim president. In this capacity, he is responsible for the operations of the University which includes more than 13,000 students and more than 700 faculty.

Robinson's appointment must be confirmed by the Florida Board of Governors.

Dr. Robinson, who served as provost and vice president for Academic Affairs from 2003-2005, served briefly as chief operating officer in 2007, and also served as vice president for Research from 2009-2010.

In May 2010, Dr. Robinson took a leave of absence from the University to serve as assistant secretary for Commerce for Conservation and Management at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Dr. Robinson supported and managed NOAA's coastal and marine programs, including marine sanctuaries for preserving areas of special national significance, fisheries management to sustain economic prosperity, and nautical charts for safe navigation.

He also supported NOAA's participation as a lead agency addressing the BP oil spill crisis and President Obama's Ocean Policy Task Force. He returned to the University as special assistant to the president and professor on November 21, 2011, and coordinated the administrative and eminent scholar searches, the integration of Graduate Studies and Title III programs with the Division of Sponsored Research, and the reorganization of the administrative structure and matters related to the investigation of hazing at FAMU.

Robinson attended LeMoyne-Owen College in 1975, graduated summa cum laude with a B.S. degree in chemistry from Memphis State University in 1979, and earned a Ph.D. degree in nuclear chemistry from Washington University in St. Louis in 1984.

He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Ecological Society of America, the National Association of Black Chemists and Chemical Engineers and Sigma Xi.

SGA President • FAMU Trustee

Director of Athletics Derek Horne

FAMU was a perfect fit for Derek Horne and his family. The longtime University of Mississippi athletic administrator spent 15 years working in the department of intercollegiate athletics at Ole Miss, ending his career there as senior associate athletic director.

The key to FAMU being a perfect fit for Horne had something to do with the position, but even more with one of his core values- family. He grew up in Quitman, Ga., the city where his mother Alice Horne still resides.

Horne was selected by FAMU

President James H. Ammons to succeed Bill Hayes as FAMU Director of Athletics. After a selection process that took over a month, Horne was selected and received unanimous approval by the FAMU Board of Trustees on August 17, 2010.

“I am honored and humbled to have this awesome opportunity to serve Florida A&M University as their next director of athletics,” said Horne. “My family and I look forward to this new chapter in our lives. Ole Miss gave me the opportunity to be prepared to serve Florida A&M University with integrity, sound leadership and honor, and for that I am grateful to Pete Boone and the University. We will miss our family and friends, but we are excited about getting involved with the opportunities that lie before us – serving the Rattlers.”

After his first set of seasons at the helm of the athletics department, FAMU Athletics is poised to position itself again as the premier athletics program for all levels of competition.

Horne’s vision was compiled into an athletic department strategic plan. It was developed with input from coaches, staff, faculty and other groups with a stake in the success of FAMU Athletics.

One of the first initiatives Horne addressed upon taking the position at FAMU was the athletics website. He steered the department toward an international giant in athletic sports websites. NeuLion was selected to host the improved access to FAMU Athletics. In a record time of eight weeks, the site launched on April 1, 2011. In the first month of its launch, the site had over 100,000 visitors. He has set a goal of 1.5 million viewers to the site for the 2011-2012 athletic season.

Horne, also authorized and was the executive producer of a series on the FAMU Athletic website called "The Mystique." The series covered various sports, athletes and historic events involving FAMU athletes. Horne's motivation for the series was simple. "We wanted to show kids why we are so proud of FAMU and why they should be as well."

Under Horne's direction, he got his first conference championship at FAMU, as the Rattler football team took home a share of the MEAC title his inaugural year.

Last year, FAMU Athletics experienced success that showed improvement in their program. The women's program finished second in the standing for the Mary McLeod Bethune Award which goes to top overall women's program in the conference and the men's program finished third in the standing for Talmadge Layman Hills award for the top over all men's program. Also, FAMU had three coaches to receive Coach of the Year honors LeDawn Gibson (Women's Basketball), Carl Goodman (Men's Tennis) and Marvin Green (Men's Golf).

In women's basketball, Antonia Bennett was awarded the MEAC Player of the Year. She averaged 18 points and six rebounds per game on the season. The Lady Rattlers had a 21-win season, the first 20+ wins under head coach LeDawn Gibson.

Elias Chesire, a native of Kenya, earned Co-Outstanding Athlete in the MEAC Outdoor Championship. This tremendous feat was attained while he was a freshman.

Newcomer Salif Kante, wowed the tennis world with his successes at FAMU. He was named the MEAC Tennis Player of the Year, after leading the Rattlers to a runners-up finish in the MEAC tournament. Kante, the former National Junior College Champion, helped the Rattlers to its first USTA/ITA ranking ever. He was also ranked in the NCAA regional top 20.

Academics, the cornerstone of FAMU Athletics, was at the forefront of last year's successes. Over 65 student athletes attained their degrees in three sessions of graduation ceremonies.

FAMU Athletics also produced two stellar all-around student-athletes. Bethany Holt, a member of the Lady Rattlers' tennis team, was a member of the FAMU School of Business and Industry that took down top colleges across the country in the 2012 Deloitte Case Study Competition in Texas. Brandon Hepburn, a standout member of the Rattler football team, was chosen to converge on San Diego, Calif., to present research on cures for Cancer. His all-around athletic and academic talent got him recognized as the only player from an HBCU to be named to the Allstate/AFCA Good Works team.

Horne serves on the University's Leadership Team, Tallahassee Sport Council, Football Championship Subdivision (FSC) South Region Advisory Committee, NCAA Pathway Program Selection Committee, NCAA Division I Recruiting and Athletics Personnel Issues Cabinet and Jacob Chapel Baptist Church Deacon Ministry.

Horne is a 1987 graduate of the University of Mississippi. He was a four-year letterman on the Ole Miss Basketball team from 1983-1986. As an Ole Miss Rebel, he earned Academic All-Southeastern Conference accolades as a senior and was the team captain his junior and senior seasons.

Horne is married to the former Sheila Mosley and they have one son, Christopher.

Joe Taylor

Head Coach

FAMU head coach Joe Taylor enters this season with high aspirations. Taylor, the 15th head coach in the storied history of Florida A&M, never talks about personal accomplishments, but a solid core of veterans could witness history in 2012, his fifth as the head Rattler.

Taylor has amassed 230 wins during his three-decade career as a head coach. That record puts him in the category with black college coaching legends. A.W. Mumford, the longtime head coach at Southern University, finished his career with 233 wins, while John Merritt of Tennessee State ended his historic career with 235 wins. Eddie Robinson, the all-time wins leader in NCAA Division I football ended his career with 408 wins.

The possible milestone this represents for Taylor is that he could end the 2012 season in sole possession of second place all-time among HBCU college football coaches by winning just six games. Given the competitiveness and greatness of college coaches who he is now in the company of, it solidifies his monicker of “the dean” of HBCU football coaches.

In his inaugural campaign at FAMU in 2008, Taylor led the Rattlers to a record-setting 9-3 finish – one of the best one-year turnarounds in the country (from 3-8 in 2007) – in the process tying Hall of Fame legend A.S. “Jake” Gaither’s school record for the most wins by a first-year head coach set in 1945.

Taylor followed that smashing debut with an 8-3 finish in 2009, during which the Rattlers made their first appearance in various NCAA FCS Top 25 polls since 2001, and were in the hunt for an at-large playoff berth until the season’s final weekend.

The Washington, D.C. native came to FAMU after 16 seasons at the helm of the Hampton (Va.) University football program, where he was the most successful coach in school history.

During his tenure at Hampton, Taylor guided the Pirates to a scintillating 136-49-1 record, highlighted by four Black College Championships (1994, 1997, 2005, 2006), nine conference titles (CIAA: 1986, 1992, 1993, 1994; MEAC: 1997, 1998, 2004, 2005, 2006), a Heritage Bowl Championship (1999), plus 11 trips to the NCAA playoffs (Division II: 1986, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994; FCS/I-AA: 1997, 1998, 2004, 2005, 2006).

In 2008, Taylor became the ninth Black College coach to surpass the 200-career win barrier, capturing the milestone victory with a 28-21 win over Tennessee State.

He finished the 2009 campaign with a sterling career mark of 214-82-4 (.719), ranking him third (3rd) in career victories and fourth (4th) in career winning percentage among active coaches in the NCAA Division I Football Championship Subdivision (FCS, formerly I-AA).

Taylor currently ranks atop the list of active head coaches at Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs).

Taylor’s hard work, determination and commitment to excellence have made him a pioneer amongst his peers as evidenced by his multiple leadership positions.

- A member of the Board of Directors for the Black Coaches Association, Taylor was most recently recognized in 2006 by Sports Illustrated as one of four finalists for the Eddie Robinson Coach of Distinction Award.

- The 2001 President of the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), he is the chairman the AFCA Minority Issues Committee and the Board of Directors of the American Football Coaches Foundation.

- He has been selected as the Coach of the Year by several professional organizations such as the Washington, D.C. Pigskin Club, the Norfolk Sports Club, the American Football Coaches Association, and the Atlanta, Florida and Richmond Touchdown Clubs.

- In 2000 Taylor was honored with the Johnny Vaught Lifetime Achievement Award by the All-

American Football Foundation; he was inducted into the Western Illinois University Hall of Fame in 2001, and in 2009, he was enshrined in the John McClendon/CIAA (Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association) Hall of Fame.

•Taylor, who is man of great religious faith, is active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and places great emphasis on a player's spiritual and character development, believing it has a direct relation to his competitive success.

TAYLOR'S PROFESSIONAL HISTORY

Taylor began his professional career as a physical education instructor with the District of Columbia school system.

He also served as an assistant football coach at H.D. Woodson High School where he helped the program win two city championships.

In addition, as the head wrestling coach, his teams won four consecutive city championships.

Taylor also served as an assistant baseball coach on a team that won three city championships.

His collegiate career began as offensive line coach at Eastern Illinois in 1978. That same season the Panthers captured the Division II National Championship.

In 1980 he moved on to become the offensive coordinator at Virginia Union University and served in that capacity for two years.

In 1982 he joined the Howard University staff as the defensive coordinator and was named head coach the following season (1983).

Taylor returned to Virginia Union as head coach in 1984, guiding the Panthers to an undefeated regular season and a Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) Championship in just three short years.

He continued his winning ways when he joined the Hampton University family in 1992, leading the Pirates to three consecutive CIAA titles and two consecutive NCAA playoff appearances.

In 1993 Taylor led the Pirates to an undefeated regular season and the quarterfinal round of the national playoffs, becoming the first CIAA team in history to win 12 games in a season, finishing the year with an overall mark of 12-1.

In their last season of Division II competition, the 1994 Pirates added yet another milestone with a 10-1 finish and the Sheridan Broadcasting Network's (SBN) Jake Gaither Trophy, the prestigious honor recognizing the Historical Black College National Champion.

The 1994 Pirates also broke the CIAA total offense record with 5,575 yards, becoming the first CIAA team to finish the season averaging more than 500 yards of total offense per game.

Hampton dominated its final seven opponents as the Pirates averaged 54.2 points per game while limiting their opposition to a mere 14.2 points per game, extending their CIAA winning streak to 23 games.

Debuting in the Division I FCS and the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC) in 1995, the Pirates faced just four conference opponents, finishing 3-1 in those contests. They led the MEAC in both total offense (396.3 ypg) and total defense (122.3 ypg).

The Pirates finished their first season of Division I FCS competition with an impressive 8-3 record.

The 1997 season saw Hampton (10-2) crowned SBN National Champions for the second time in four years, as they captured their first-ever MEAC title and their first bid to the I-AA playoffs.

In 1998, Hampton (9-3) repeated as MEAC Champions and made its second consecutive appearance in the FCS playoffs.

The 2004 season saw Hampton (10-2) climb back atop the MEAC standings thanks to an astonishing defense and solid offensive and special teams play.

The Pirates continued their championship ways in 2005 (11-1) and 2006 (10-2), becoming the first program in more than 20 years to capture three consecutive MEAC titles.

Taylor's 2008 Florida A&M University squad was 17 points shy of a perfect season at 9-3, setting an NCAA record with 10 returns for touchdowns, while featuring a talented club that produced eight All-Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference performers and two All-Americans.

His first two teams at FAMU were led by two of the nation's most dynamic players in 2009, MEAC Offensive Player of the Year QB Curtis Pulley, the league's total offense leader, and two-time All-America kick returner LeRoy Vann, who shattered numerous school, conference and NCAA records for kick returns.

TAYLOR PERSONAL: Taylor, a 1972 graduate of Western Illinois University and a native of Washington, D.C. is married to the former Beverly Richardson. They are the proud parents of two sons, Aaron Joseph (31) and Dennis Anthony (27).

SMALL
Asst. Head Coach/
Def. Line Coach

In January 2008, Coach George M. Small began his second stint on the Florida A&M University football coaching staff, bringing a wealth of experience in the game to his new assignment to the Orange and Green as Associate Head Coach and Defensive Line Coach.

Small previously served one season (1993) as the Defensive Coordinator at FAMU under Head Coach Ken Riley. In 2003, Small returned to his alma mater to become the 13th head football coach in storied history of North Carolina A&T, making a bit of history in the process when he led the Aggies to the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference titles in his first season – the school's sixth MEAC championship.

That 2003 A&T squad finished 10-3 (6-1 MEAC), only the second time in 80 seasons of football to that point, that the program posted double digit victories. Small earned several individual honors as he was named Coach of the Year by the MEAC, the Pigskin Club (Washington, D.C.), and the 100% Wrong Club of Atlanta, Ga. A finalist for the Eddie Robinson Award given to the I-AA Coach of the Year by The Sports Network, he led North Carolina A&T to one the nation's most improved records in his first season as head coach in 2003, posting a 10-3 mark after the Aggies went 4-8 in 2002.

Small has 24 years of coaching experience as defensive line coach, defensive coordinator and head coach. He brings intensity, energy and keen understanding of football from all aspects. He knew what it takes to get players to perform.

A native of Radford, NC, a small town in southeast portion of the state, Small excelled as an athlete at Hoke County High School. After high school he resumed his athletic career at North Carolina A&T State University, where he played on the gridiron as an offensive and defensive lineman.

Small played four years of football for the Aggies, earning All MEAC honors while serving as the team captain during his senior season. Following the season, Small was honored as a Pittsburgh Courier All-American and was selected to the North Carolina All-State team. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in recreation administration in December of 1979, and was named as a National Dean List honoree, and as Who's Who Among Outstanding Names and Faces.

In addition, Small is an August 1990 magna cum laude graduate of the United States Sports Academy in Daphne, Alabama with a master's degree in sports science/sports management.

He has also completed 20 hours of work toward a masters in Counseling and Student Personnel with an emphasis in Student Personnel Services from Oklahoma State University (1988); attended the NCAA Coaches Academy Advanced Coaching Program (Louisville, Ky., January 2005); served an NFL Minority Fellowship with the Cleveland Browns (July 2005); completed the Certified Athletic Administrator (CAA) Program of the National Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Associations (April 2007).

Small also enjoyed a five-year stretch in the National Football League, which included tours with the New York Giants, Denver Broncos, Green Bay Packers and the Pittsburgh Steelers, before embarking on a career in coaching.

Bit by the coaching bug after his professional playing days, Small began his coach career by serving on several collegiate staffs as a defensive line coach and coordinator.

He served stints at Langston (Okla.) University (Defensive Coordinator , 1988-89); Savannah (Ga.) State University (Defensive Coordinator 1990-91); University of Tulsa (Defensive Line Coach, 1992); Florida A&M University (Defensive Coordinator, 1993), and Grambling (La.) State University (Defensive Coordinator, 1994).

Ironically, Small's contacts would eventually lead him to the his first head coaching position as in 1995. Small was given the opportunity to guide his first program as a head coach at NCAA Division II Kentucky State.

He took over a team that had not had a winning season in 20 years and made them a title contender with a strong defense, a move which led to a 1995 Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference crown and conference Coach of the Year Honors.

Small had an immediate impact, when in his first season (1995), KSU won the inaugural Pioneer Bowl, the annual clash between the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) and the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SIAC) champions with a 30-26 victory over Livingstone. In typical Small fashion, the Thorobreds won the game on a defensive goal line stand as the horn sounded.

KSU finished 7-5 that season and led the NCAA Division Two in total defense.

In 1997, Small again was honored by the SIAC and the 100 % Wrong Club as Coach of the Year. At KSU, Small produced four players that were drafted into the NFL, and several others joined various professional football leagues. Small completed his career at KSU with a 34-35 record in six seasons as head coach. He was honored as official Kentucky Colonel by former Kentucky Governor George Patton.

In 2001, he left Kentucky State to become the an assistant at Division I-AA power Youngstown State, where he coached defensive line. The Penguins finished 7-4 on the season with defensive tackle Guy Mazard earning Gateway Football Conference all-start honors.

Following the season (2002), Small joined the staff at Hampton, where he coached All-MEAC selection Issac Hilton, a seventh round pick in the 2003 NFL Draft. Small is a member of the American Football Association (AFCA), Association of Black College Football Coaches (ABCFC), National Football League Alumni Association (NFLAA), and Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA).

Lawrence
Kershaw
Offensive Coord.
Offensive Line Coach

Lawrence Kershaw is in his fifth season at Florida A&M University, where he is serving as Offensive Coordinator and Offensive Line Coach, after spending the 2007 season as Offensive Line Coach at Hampton University.

Last season, Kershaw's group lead the MEAC in pass offense (227.2 per game), 3rd down conversions (42.1%) and red zone offense (91.1%), while ranking tied for 2nd in scoring (28) and passing touchdowns (16). Was also 2nd in rushing touchdowns (23).

In addition, three of his offensive linemen earned post season accolades in All-American's guard Steve Robinson, center Shelly Anthony and second team all-conference performer tackle Brandon Curry.

Prior to his assignment at Hampton, Kershaw served one season at Truman State in Missouri (2006), after spending two seasons at Virginia Union (2004-05), where he was assistant head coach and offensive line coach in addition to being recruiting coordinator and organizing the strength and conditioning program.

Kershaw was also an assistant coach for seven years at Virginia State of the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA), where he helped the Trojans win two conference titles.

There he served as the running backs coach in 1995; the offensive line coach in 1996-97 and 2000-03, and the offensive coordinator from 2001-03.

In 2000, 2002 and 2003, Kershaw offensive line was the best in the CIAA in sacks allowed while the Virginia State offense also led the conference in numerous offensive categories.

From 1995-2003 the program produced 25 all-conference players on offense, including 13 first team selections and three Offensive Players of the Year.

Kershaw also has one year of coaching experience at Fordham University, where he was a volunteer assistant line coach in 1998.

Kershaw started his collegiate playing career at Stony Brook where in 1990 he was named to the All-Liberty Conference football team. He played his final two seasons at Virginia State in 1993 and 1994.

Kershaw graduated from Virginia State in 1995 with a bachelor of arts in sociology and in 1997, he received his masters of education in guidance from VSU.

He and his wife, Portia Kershaw reside in Tallahassee with their son.

Earl
Defensive Coord.
Linebackers Coach

One of Florida A&M's greatest defensive players of all time, Tallahassee native Earl Holmes is in his fifth year on the coaching staff of his alma mater under the legendary Joe Taylor, bringing with him a tremendous passion for the game along with his ties to the program. Holmes will tutor the Rattlers linebackers and will serve as Defensive Coordinator, a position he has taken sole control of this season.

Known affectionately by family and FAMU fans as "The Hitman," Holmes played for the Rattlers from 1992 to 1995, finishing as the school's all-time leader in tackles.

Holmes captured NCAA Division I-AA and Black College All-American honors in 1994 and 1995, and was selected as the Sheridan Broadcasting Network College Defensive Player of the Year as well as the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference Defensive Player of the Year in 1995.

A three-time first team All-MEAC selection, Holmes was a devastating tackler while at Florida A&M, completing his career with 509 total tackles, 309 solo takedowns and 200 assisted tackles – all Rattler career records.

Holmes also finished his playing days at FAMU with eight career interceptions, returning three for touchdowns, with 38 tackles for loss, 6.5 quarterback sacks, 32 pass break-ups and a trio of fumble recoveries.

His 1995 senior season totals shattered all existing school marks for season solo tackles (103) and total tackles (171), highlighted by a spectacular one-man demolition derby performance against Southern University in Atlanta on Nov. 4, with 30 tackles.

Following his collegiate career, Holmes was drafted in the fourth round of the 1996 National Football League draft by the Pittsburgh Steelers. He played 10 seasons in the NFL at linebacker, six with Pittsburgh (1996-2001), one season with the Cleveland Browns (2002) and three with the Detroit Lions (2003-05) before retiring.

A solid, run-stopping middle linebacker in the NFL, Holmes totaled 958 career tackles (685 solos), with 89 tackles for loss, 29 pass deflections and five recovered fumbles in 10 seasons.

A member of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Holmes was inducted into the FAMU Sports Hall of Fame in 2005. He and his wife Tiffany reside in Tallahassee and are the proud parents of one son, Earl Jr.

Juan Vasquez
Special Teams Coord.
Kicking coach

Juan Vasquez begins his fifth year back with the FAMU football Programs this fall as the kicking and special team coach, giving Coach Joe Taylor's staff its third former Rattler player.

The Miami native joins two-time All-American Earl Holmes (Co-Defensive Coordinator / Linebackers) and Jimmie Tyson (Cornerback) as the former Rattlers on the Coaching staff.

Vasquez will oversee the Rattler Special Teams and the tutor of the FAMU kickers, hopefully with the same results that led to the stellar career of Wesley Taylor (2004-07), a two-time All-American who led the nation in punting in 2005 and was the team scoring leader three years in a row (2005-07).

He oversaw the emergence of two-time All-American return specialist LeRoy Vann, who scored 11 career TDs via returns, while setting numerous records in kick returns.

Vasquez worked previously at FAMU as a student assistant coach (2004-06), then worked the 2006 campaign as a graduate assistant. In 2007, Vasquez was the special teams coach at FAMU High School.

Vasquez was a two-time All-American (2000-2002) at FAMU and was All-Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference for three years (2000-2002).

The 2000 MEAC Rookie of the Year, Vasquez scored 93 points that season, the fourth-highest single-season points total in FAMU history. He also led the club in scoring in 2002 (61) and 2003 (56).

He holds the FAMU career record for field goals made (66, from 2000 to 2003) and still holds the single-game standard for field goals made, (five (5) against Morgan State in 2000).

Vasquez graduated from FAMU in 2006 with a B.S. in Health Science.

Aaron "AJ"
Taylor
Running backs

Aaron Taylor is a seasoned coaching veteran who is in his fifth season on the Florida A&M Football staff.

Taylor is entering his 11th season of collegiate coaching having spent seven seasons (2001-07) on the Hampton University football coaching staff.

During his tour at Hampton, Taylor served in the various roles, having tutored the running backs, the tight ends and tackles for three seasons, as well as four years with defensive line.

During his tenure on the defensive side of the ball, Taylor worked with numerous all-conference performers that led the Hampton defenses, which ranked amongst the best in the country.

With the Pirates' defensive unit leading Division I-AA (FCS) in turnovers forced in 2004, Hampton was able to capture its third MEAC championship.

In 2005, his first season overseeing the running backs, he aided Alonzo Coleman and Ardell Daniels in becoming just the third duo in Division I FCS history to rush for 1,000 yards each in consecutive seasons.

The past five seasons at FAMU, he tutored two of the top runners in the MEAC – QB Curtis Pulley and RB Philip Sylvester.

The Charleston, Illinois-born Taylor, is the oldest son of head coach Joe Taylor. He is a graduate of Phoebus High School (Virginia) where he was a four-year letterman in football.

In 2001 he earned his bachelor's degree in history / political science from Virginia State University where also a member of the Trojans' football team.

His outstanding senior campaign as an offensive guard garnered him All-Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) honors.

In 2011 and 2012, Taylor was the director of the Joe Taylor football camp, and high school 7-on-7 competitions, where several local youth have had the opportunity to join and improve their football skills and get exposure to Florida A&M.

Jimmy
Tyson
Defensive Backs

Jimmie Tyson is entering his fifth season as a member of the Florida A&M Football Coaching staff, working with primarily FAMU cornerbacks.

Tyson, was the position coach for the first Rattler football player to be drafted in over a decade, in Curtis Holcomb. Holcomb, was a four-year starter. Under Tyson's tutelage and Holcomb's work ethic, he was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers, after a solid senior season and a stellar performance at "Pro Day."

Additionally, Tyson coached All-American cornerback Qier Hall. Hall was the other half of the "shutdown" corners on the Rattler defense from the 2010 squad. The defense was a strong contributor to the Rattlers' success in winning the co-championship in the MEAC, for 2010.

Tyson began his coaching career at the Florida A&M Development Research School (FAMU High) as their defensive backs coach (2003-2005), while serving as Special Teams Coordinator for one season.

In 2006, Tyson ventured over to Tallahassee's Amos P. Godby High School, where he served as defensive backs coach for one season, a position he held until accepting the position at FAMU.

After graduating from Miami Carol High School in Miami, Fla., Tyson walked onto the Florida A&M Football team in 2001, where he was a member of the practice squad for two seasons.

This Miami, Fla., native holds a B.S. in Psychology from FAMU (2004) and is currently pursuing a Master Degree in Sports Management from FAMU.

Tyson also has served as a volunteer coach in the Tallahassee Senior Bowl (2005, 2006) and has worked the Nike Camp in Tallahassee, Fla. in 2005 and 2007. He is also a member of the Florida High School Athletic Association.

Steven Jerry
Wide Receivers

Orlando native Steven Jerry is in his fifth year as a member of the FAMU Football staff, coming aboard in January 2008, after a four-year stint at the College of William and Mary.

In his first season at FAMU in 2008, Jerry tutored the quarterbacks, helping guide the emergence of All-MEAC performer Curtis Pulley, as well as All-MEAC wide out Kevin Elliott and a talented group of receivers.

In the 2009 season, Pulley was named the MEAC Offensive Player of the Year, while Kevin Elliott earned second team all-conference honors. Pulley was Jerry's second offensive player of the year in his career, as he previously tutored Kevin Jones, who was a two-time Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association Offensive Player of the Year at Virginia State University (2002, 2003).

While at W&M, Jerry served as the running backs coach producing an all-conference tailback in each of his four seasons.

Elijah Brooks was a prolific performer under Jerry's tutelage, as he ran for 1,906 yards and 17 touchdowns in his two seasons (2005-06) as the starting tailback. He earned all-conference recognition after both his junior and senior season.

Jerry's first season at W&M was 2001 and his group of backs proved to be one of the most successful and steady units on the Atlantic 10 conference championship team, as his tailbacks combined for 1,655 rushing yards and 455 receiving yards on the season.

From January 1997 until early 2000, Jerry served in multiple capacities at Central Florida, working as a tight ends coach, an assistant strength and conditioning coach and an assistant track and field coach.

He also has collegiate experience at Sienna College and his alma mater, the University of North Carolina.

Jerry was an assistant strength coach at UNC in the summer of 1994. He played both quarterback and wide receiver for the Tar Heels program.

A 1994 graduate of University North Carolina, Jerry received bachelor's degrees in both sociology and communications while play football for the Tar Heels.

Jerry and his wife Renee' are the proud parents of three sons, Christopher, Jonathan and Nicholas

Quinn
Gray
Quarterbacks

Quinn Gray is entering his second season as quarterbacks coach at Florida A&M University. Gray brings a wealth of knowledge to the staff as he will mentor the young Rattler signal callers.

Gray began his coaching career at Andrew Jackson High School in Jacksonville, Fla., as head football coach and assistant athletic director. He produced five Duval Academic County All-County honors and two All-Gateway Conference performers. He led the Tigers to their first ever playoff appearance in 2010.

Gray flourished in the Billy Joe/Gulf Coast Offensive Era (1998-2001).

He finished his career as the school's all-time leader in passing yards (7,378), pass attempts (1,113), pass completions (562) and TD passes (57), and he holds the single-game record for most pass attempts (65 vs. North Carolina A&T in 2001).

He also owns three (3) of the Top 10 single-game passing performances of all-time in FAMU history: 407 yards vs. S.C. State (2001); 390 yards vs. Morgan State (2000) and 388 yards vs. Bethune-Cookman (2000).

He led FAMU to back-to-back MEAC titles in 2000 (9-3) and 2001 (7-4) and consecutive playoff berths (2000, 2001) as a starter. Overall, he was a member of four straight NCAA playoff squads (1998, 1999, 2000, 2001), seeing significant playing time during the 1999 season, which included a memorable playoff run to the national semifinals.

Gray, was signed in 2002 as a free agent by the Jacksonville Jaguars, where he was a backup QB from 2002 to 2007. He also signed and was on the preseason roster with Indianapolis in 2008, but after being released, he signed for the season with Kansas City.

During his second year in the pros (2003), Gray played in NFL Europe, leading the Frankfurt (Germany) Galaxy to the NFL Europe championship.

This Fort Lauderdale, Fla., native holds a B.S. degree in Health and Physical Education (2006) from FAMU. Gray is active in the community, serving as a motivational speaker at various inner-city elementary, middle and high schools across the country.

Gray is married to the former Shemeka Pittman, with three kids Quinn, Jr., Ashton and Londyn and two step-children, Destiny and David.

William
Bennett
Video Coordinator

William Bennett enters his seventh year as the video coordinator for FAMU Athletics. Originally hired under former head football coach Rubin Carter, Bennett has been responsible for the department that is vital to pre-game scouting, practice review and game review, for all 18 of FAMU's athletic programs.

Bennett is certified in several of the latest cutting-edge video techniques, programs and hardware. He is responsible for archiving practices and games for instant recall by the coaches.

Bennett also serves as the individual responsible for maintaining the inventory of audio/visual equipment for the department. Most of the services he provides has been migrated to the high definition (HD) format.

For football, Bennett has been considered a part of the coaching staff and the leadership committee. His services are that vital to the success of the program. Bennett had attended several trade conferences and achieved certifications too numerous to name.

Edmond
Baker
Special Asst.

Edmond Baker, returns to the gridiron for the Rattlers as a special assistant coach. He played from 2008-2011. Play for Baker was sparse in his first three seasons, but last season was a breakout year for the wide receiver from Miami, Florida.

Baker earned All-MEAC honors and led the conference in return yards, after taking over duties midway through the season. While he had solid games against conference opponents, he showed his grit against the University of South Florida Bulls (Sept. 17, 2011), gaining 190 yards on kick returns and 82 additional yards receiving, for an all-purpose total of over 300 yards against a tough FBS opponent.

Since graduating with his degree in business administration, Baker now has transitioned over into the coaching field due to his superior football intellect, and he hopes to give a spark to the players for many upcoming years.

SPORTS MEDICINE

Akima Dina

Akima Abrakata Dina begins her 18th year as Head Athletic Trainer at Florida A&M, serving as the primary coordinator of FAMU's Sports Medicine services for all 18 sports.

She has been an integral part of the school's Sports Medicine program since 1988, serving in virtually every capacity from graduate assistant to head trainer.

A native of Nigeria, Abrakata Dina was a former track All-American at Lincoln (Mo.) University in both 1981 and 1982, performing in the javelin and high jump.

She graduated from Lincoln with a B.S. in Health and Physical Education in 1985.

She obtained a master's in Sports Medicine, from the United States Sports Academy in Mobile, Alabama and received her formal certification as an athletic trainer by the National Athletic Trainers' Association (NATA) in November 1993.

The personable Abrakata Dina began her sports medicine career at the University of South Alabama as a graduate assistant trainer (1987-88), before coming to Florida A&M in the fall of 1988 to fill a similar role for one year. She was then elevated to Assistant Athletic Trainer in August of 1989.

Prior to her permanent promotion to Head Athletic Trainer in 1994, she had twice served as the interim head athletic trainer in the 1989-90 school year and again in the winter and spring of 1993-94.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

Russell Barbarino enters his third year as the Director of Strength and Conditioning at FAMU. He is responsible for the supervision of more than 300 student-athletes from FAMU's 18-intercollegiate athletics teams and coordinating all strength and conditioning programs.

Prior to FAMU, he was a successful business owner and nationally certified fitness and athletic performance specialist in Tallahassee and surrounding areas, including owning and operating Anytime Fitness of Tallahassee Mahan Drive and Anytime Fitness of Crawfordville, Florida.

Barbarino previously served as the director of strength and conditioning at Tulane University in New Orleans, La. from 2005-2006. Due to the effects of Hurricane Katrina, he relocated to College Station, Texas and set up a training schedule in conjunction with Texas A&M University officials.

He coordinated strength and conditioning programs for all 16 men's and women's division I varsity sports programs, which were located at 4 different universities including: Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Louisiana Tech, and Southern Methodist. Also, worked together on a daily basis with the Texas A&M strength & conditioning staff assisting with the training of the Texas A&M football and Men's Basketball Team.

Prior to Tulane, Barbarino served as the director of strength and conditioning at the University of Delaware from 1999-2005. While at Delaware, the football team garnered a 15-1 record and won the 2003 NCAA FCS National Championship while also capturing the 2000, 2003, and 2004 Atlantic-10 Conference Football Championships. On the way to winning the 2003 national championship Delaware outscored its play-off opponents 149-23 including a 40-0 victory in the championship game which are all current FCS records.

Prior to his stint at Delaware, Barbarino served as an Assistant Strength and Conditioning coach at Florida State University from 1995-1999. While Barbarino was at Florida State, they won the 1999 NCAA FBS National Football Championship, had two national runner-up finishes, and won five Atlantic Coast Conference football titles.

Barbarino assisted with the development of 11 first round NFL draft picks, and 38 athletes drafted or signed to free-agent contracts by NFL professional teams. Barbarino is no stranger himself to the iron game. As a competitive powerlifter, he has become a two-time world, four-time national, and nine-time state powerlifting champion who has held world and national records in both the bench press and deadlift while competing in the WNPf, AD-FPA, WPA, and APA organizations.

Barbarino is Strength and Conditioning Coach Certified (SCCC) by the Collegiate Strength & Conditioning Coaches Association (CSCCa). He is also a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist (CSCS) by the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA). He is also a member of the U.S. Weightlifting Federation (USWF) as a coach.

A former football letter winner at Kean University in New Jersey, Barbarino earned a bachelor's degree in Exercise Science from the school in 1995 and added a master's degree in Athletic Administration from Florida State in 1997. He and his wife, the former Jennifer Engelbrecht, have three boys named Kyle, Bryce and Ryan.
