"What do you think of the various food services and the food in general here on campus?"

Question asked by Pam Harper
RIP photos by Kim Anderson

SANTOS RODRIGUEZ—"The prices are expensive for the food displayed but as for quality, the food is up to par. They need more selection in the dessert and beverage departments."
TOM WILSON—"I think the food services are adequate. I'll usually eat anything if I'm hungry so to me the selection is great. I really like the hamburgers."
DAN CLARK—"I think the food is fair to mediocre. The variety is good. I think all the different places to eat are a good idea."

BOB TYNER—"It's nice to have different places because it's convenient when you're in a hurry. The food in general is pretty good."
RAMONA TERRAZAS—"I don't eat here, it's just too expensive."
DENISE PRENEZ—"It's an improvement over last year. There's more variety and the prices aren't that bad."

BC farm project fighting hunger

By Ned Greene
Rip Staff Writer
Starvation is crippling over half the world and the BC Agricultural Farm Project is attempting to do a part in the hope to feed the world. Locally, the farm industry is troubled by the lack of technically trained employees. To supply a new source for recruiting agricultural talent is an essential role the project will provide.
The BC farm will be oriented toward education the two year technically-minded student and the current interest in organic gardening will call for one quarter of the farm to be donated to this emphasis.
The lab project will be shared by the ag-marketing and the ag-science departments, according to Charles Krauter, ag instructor. Problems will be presented to students pertaining in a smaller scale, to major obstructions and technology encountered by the world industry. Relative environmental problems and solutions will be approached with the economic conflict introduced by marketing effects. The farm will be divided into four sections with only equipment storage structures.
One acre will be dedicated to the production and study of crop producing trees. Another acre will be for the study of grape production, with the remaining two reserved for field crop study and sectional fertilizer testing plots.
To show the young shepherd the importance of closing the corral gate, it is wise to let the young shepherd chase the scattered herd after he once forgets. This principle was expressed by Krauter who heartily supports the project and will put it into effect as he teaches the courses with the project.

Woman's Studies Program guest lecturer Phyllis Hullett, P.E. department professor, explains some of the fine points of a woman's need for physical development, at the BC gym last Wednesday night.
Malcolm MacDonald, BC-registered nursing department chairman and Annette MacDonald nursing department professor at Cal State Bakersfield nursing department, will be the featured speakers this Wednesday evening with issues such as human sexuality, contraception and morality, hormonal therapy and all the "questions you've often wondered about, but you were afraid to ask."
This week's lecture is the fourth in a series of 12 lectures entitled The Contemporary Woman. RIP photo by Teddy Parrot.

Teachers to learn language disorders in weekend sessions

A short term course presented by BC Continuing Education and the BC Speech Department will teach elementary school instructors how to identify students who may have speech or language disorder and what can be done for the students.
The course, Speech 40, will meet for two weekends, Saturday, Sept. 27 and Saturday, Oct. 4, according to Phyllis Mallory, coordinator of the program. Interested persons may pre-register for this one-unit course, through the Continuing Education Office, 395-4535.
Four lecturers are scheduled for the course which will meet at the BC Downtown Center 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. on both Saturdays, said Ms. Mallory. The purpose of the program is to give the professional elementary school teacher and teacher aides a basic overview of speech and language disorders of children including articulation, stuttering and aphasia.
Teachers will be given instruction on observation and assessment techniques for use in their classrooms and suggested activities to enhance language development potential of students within a regular class room situation.
The Sept. 27 session will feature Ernest Strong, coordinator for deaf and hard-of-hearing for Kern County Schools and Tom Henry, coordinator of speech and hearing therapy and aphasia program, also with Kern County Schools.
Speakers for the Oct. 4 segment of the course will be Dr. June Webb, assistant professor of special education at Cal State Bakersfield and Lou Lindley, aphasia teacher with Kern County Schools.
For more information, call Phyllis Mallory, 395-4404.

YOU PROBABLY SPEND A LOT OF YOUR LIFE IN PLACES WHERE A STEREO SOUND SYSTEM WOULD BE TOO ELABORATE OR EXPENSIVE TO HAVE AROUND.
HERE'S SOMETHING TO KEEP YOU COMPANY.

The Advent FM radio is a unique way to enjoy convincing sound - rich, detailed, wide-range sound - in situations where a big sound system would be far too much in one way or another.

The Advent FM radio is a two-piece design that lets you put the speaker where it sounds best and the control unit where it's easiest to use - thereby avoiding any compromise in its really remarkable performance. The control unit is small enough to fit almost anywhere, and the speaker goes lots of places where no other speaker could.

We think you will find it, by quite a margin, the best FM radio you've ever heard, with the kind of sound you've come to expect from a component system. The Advent FM radio lets you enjoy realistic, wide-range sound in all kinds of places - bedrooms, dorm rooms, offices, dens, kitchens - where you otherwise wouldn't be able to.

The Advent FM radio costs $125, which we think makes it as good a bargain as we've ever heard of in audio equipment. We invite you to come in for a convincing demonstration of its abilities.

Transfer requirements

Students are reminded this is a good time to review requirements for transferring to four year colleges and universities. At this time between registrations and before applications are required at most colleges in November, counselors are relatively free to review transfer requirements with students.
BC January and even May graduates are reminded to meet with counselors for a more in-depth evaluation as soon as possible. Appointments can be made through the Counseling Office, Library 40, or with counselors in the appropriate departments.

Flu vaccinations

Flu vaccinations will be available to students today from 8-11 a.m. in the Student Health Center, Library 6. Vaccinations will also be available on Monday, Sept. 29 and Thursday, Oct. 2 from 8-11 a.m. The vaccinations will be free to students who have paid their Student Health Fee.
These are the only times flu vaccinations will be available this year. With the use of more potent vaccines only one injection is necessary for EITHER primary or annual booster use. Flu vaccinations should be taken EARLY to allow for antibody build-up before the flu season arrives.

Unclaimed scholarships

When the college initiated Saturday classes, we at the library felt opening the library on Saturdays would be an additional service to students.
Those students who are on campus only on Saturdays as well as those who are not able to use the library during the regular hours can now do so. Fred Jacobs of library services said recently:
BC library has extended its hours to include 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.
Regular weekly hours are from 8 a.m. - 9 p.m. Mondays - Thursdays; 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Fridays.

Ram-Gade tilt on tab Saturday

Coming off a 24-23 win over Cerritos, the 1975 Renegades will host the Fresno City College Rams Saturday. The Taft contest was played following RIP press deadline.

In Cerritos country last week, BC held on to win but saw their lead almost diminish in the final stanza. The inspired Falcons drove to a score in the final two minutes and decided to attempt a two-point conversion which, if successful, would have spelled defeat for the Gade crew. With approximately 22 seconds showing on the clock, Cerritos attempted a 40-yard field goal which fell three yards short.

Last year's FCC contest was won when a Tom Drake field goal of 21 yards gave the Renegades a 23-20 edge. After two games, the Rams of Fresno are ranked No. 1 in the state by the Junior College Athletic Bureau.

In the Cerritos game, injuries were sustained by center Dan Clark and both Mike Lillywhite and Deacon Turner. Turner were both expected to return to action in the Taft game. Clark was doubtful. Coach Gerry Collis and his staff including Harvel Pollard, Walt Johnson, Duane Damron and Carl Bowser are team men but come to the conclusion that an injury to Turner would hurt the team.

Striders continue Metropolitan chase Friday, host Brahmas

The Brahmas of Los Angeles Pierce will try to make a run of it when they visit the Hart Park course in the second Metropolitan Conference dual meet Friday. Action gets underway at 3:30 p.m. Bob Covey's crew hosted El Camino last Friday in the circuit opener.

A journey to test American River resulted in an 18-44 loss for the Gades on the Panjaro Dunes outlay. The Beavers, putting together their strongest team ever, nabbed six of the first seven places in rolling up their easy win.

Mike Vasquez, 27-year-old runner, was the only Gade able to break into the top seven finishers with a 20:41 clocking over the four-mile-plus-300 yard course for third place. Beaver Bob Davis timed 20:25 to take individual honors.

Other BC runners included John Beck Timing 20:55 for eighth place and Robbie Bray grabbing 10th with a 21:02 time. Sammy Garcia placed 11th (21:04) and Juan Lucero finished 14th (21:40).

"We ran up against a team that could beat most of the California Community College squads, including even Grossmont," remarked Covey. "It was by far the best northern California group I've seen since coaching cross country at BC."

Illustrating the strength of the American River team, Covey said last year's winning time in the ARC-BC meet would have garnered only ninth place. The Beaver victory evened the series between the two schools at four wins a piece, with the Beavers claiming the last two wins.

Ali engages in verbal battle before Manila fight

by Bob Young

As the title bout pitting Joe Frazier and Muhammad Ali draws near, the usual verbal battles that surround Ali are taking place. The "Champ" was quoted in a local newspaper last week as saying "I did some special training for Frazier today, I went to the zoo." Players in different sports sometimes accuse writers of building up animosities between rivals, not so in this case. Joe Frazier and Ali need no prefabrication of their viewpoints. Ali comes through loud and clear.

I don't think the crowd will be as much of a factor in this fight as it was in Africa. Ali had the African attendance not so much for him, but against the supposed "Uncle Tom" Frazier. I don't think the Philippine audience will be as easily swayed.

At press time Major League Baseball play was rapidly drawing to a close with only one division remaining to be decided, and that one (the Red Sox, Oriole battle) rapidly ending. All other division being clinched. The A's of Oakland needed but one game. My playoff pick will be in the next issue.

In this the second of four successive home games for the Renegades this season, let's show them that we back them. Pick up your ticket in the business office and enjoy the game.

Tonight's Monday night football battle between the Green Bay Packers and the Denver Broncos should prove to be quite an offensive battle.

The "Pack", led by John Brockington and veteran quarterback John Hadl, is striving to prove that ex-quarterback and newly-named head coach Bart Starr can bring the "good ole days" back to Wisconsin—days that Green Bay hasn't seen since the "Lombardi Era" The Packer's main weakness is the lack of a speedy runner. Starr is seriously at Willie Harrell for this position.

While the Denver Broncos will more than likely not be able to take the division crown away from the Oakland Raiders but they do have a very good chance to land a wild card berth. In my opinion, John Ralston's Broncos are one of the most exciting teams to watch in the NFL. Otis Armstrong leads the offensive attack with cagey Charley Johnson calling the signals. Armstrong gained 1,407 yards last season and averaged 5.3 yards per carry.

I favor the Broncos by seven points with most of the advantage coming from the fact that the game is to be played in Denver's "Mile High Stadium." Editor-in-Chief of the RIP, John Esparza is opposing me in this week's contest. So, in order to be fair I will give him six points.

Renegade poloists trying to start off right

The BC Pologades will attempt to start off on the right foot this Wednesday when they travel to Reedley. Game time is slated for 3 p.m.

The Gades competed in heavy action this past weekend as they hosted the BC Tournament. Although results were not available at press time this week, the RIP will fill in BC polo fans next week.

Last Wednesday, BC hosted College of the Sequoias in a game which started half an hour later than planned because of a breakdown in COS transportation. But their was no apparent breakdown in BC equipment as the Gades hit the Giants with all they could handle.

Even though the final score was 10-8 in favor of COS, Coach Bill Finch was very pleased with his players' efforts. "They really did a good job," stated Coach Finch, "and if we hadn't of let them have those quick three goals in the first quarter, I think it would have been a lot different."

In the first quarter it appeared as though the Pologades were not really ready to play. They weren't playing position on their opponents and they were allowing that one step past them which cost them some precious points. But soon the Gades started putting it all together with several great blocks by Greg Ashbeck at goalie and the quick shooting of the Fernando Brothers. BC closed the gap and trailed at the half by a score of 6-4.

In the fourth the pace picked up a little with repeated COS shots at Ashbeck. "Greg has really come along. He played a better game but still panics on the outward pass," Coach Finch commented on Ashbeck's performance after the game. "If we can smooth out his passing, he could be even more of an asset to our team."

In the closing minutes, John Bishop and Mike Finch fired in two quick scores but found it wasn't enough. The Gades were making a lun for it and with just a little more time probably would have won it.

There wasn't a very large turnout to watch the Gades, but Coach Finch was pleased with the cheerleader and yell leader support. "I just want to let everyone know that our efforts were helped greatly by our spirit squad. They did one hell of a job and the team and I thank them," he stated.

Stadium climb to be next Superstar event

Superstar contestants will be scaling the Memorial Stadium stairs today and tomorrow as the competition moves along in its second week. The stadium climb will take place from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. at the football stadium.

During the opening 40-yard backward dash, which was the first of eight Superstar's events, Joe Blagg took top honors in the male race with a first place time of 16.8 seconds. Second place honors went to Larry Thomas with a 7.1 clocking, while Marvin McChristian took third at 7.4.

Wanda Morgan sped away with the girl's title as she streaked to an 8.9 first place time. Hope Gaeta took second and Ann Callaster took third with 9.0 and 9.8 times, respectively.

The Frisbee flingers will get their turn to show their stuff next week in the third Superstars event. The contest gets underway in the free speech area from 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. Winners will be judged on accuracy, speed and time.

The softball hit competition will be Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 20-21, in the field west of the dorms from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. Contestants must toss the softball up themselves and hit it.

For those who love the sound of tennis balls whizzing by them, tennis competition will be held the entire week of Nov. 3 on the BC courts. All of the contests will be in round-robin form for singles.

For those who like to bowl, Thursday, Nov. 13, will be the day for bowling competition at Freddie's Top of the Hill. Gutter balls as well as strikes will be marked starting at 3:30 p.m.

Running makes the pace on Monday, Oct. 27 on the Memorial Stadium track. Entrants will run for 3:45.4 minutes (the existing world mile record) from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Basketball wizards will get their chance to prove their basketball prowess Nov. 17 with the one-on-one basketball competition. Court dribblers begin action at 3:30 p.m.

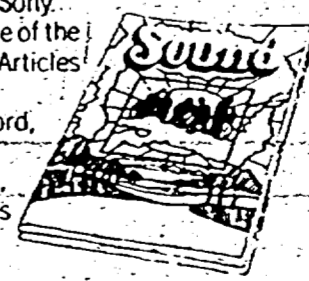

If times conflict with a Superstar's schedule, he or she should contact intramural director Gaylen Lewis to work out a time suitable for him or her. Lewis may be reached in Humanities 17 or by calling 395-4589.
