

AN INTRODUCTION TO CAROLINA BASKETBALL

ACC Championships

Carolina has won or shared 23 regular-season Atlantic Coast Conference championships and 15 ACC Tournament titles. Both figures are more than any other school in the league. Duke is second with 16 regular-season and 13 tournament championships. The Tar Heels last won the regular-season crown in 2001, Matt Doherty's first year as UNC's head coach. Carolina's most recent of the 15 tournament titles came in 1998, under then first-year head coach Bill Guthridge.

ACC 50

The 2002-03 season is the 50th in Atlantic Coast Conference history. The conference sponsored an official 50th anniversary team, selected by a panel of more than 100 media and school administrators.

The Tar Heels placed 12 on the men's basketball team, more than any other school. Carolina's ACC 50 honorees include: Lennie Rosenbluth, Billy Cunningham, Larry Miller, Charles Scott, Bobby Jones, Walter Davis, Phil Ford, James Worthy, Sam Perkins, Michael Jordan, Brad Daugherty and Antawn Jamison.

Overall, UNC had 276 selections to various ACC 50 teams, the highest figure among all ACC institutions.

ACC Players of the Year

Ten different Tar Heels have been named Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, including Larry Miller, who won the award in 1967 and 1968. Joseph Forte was named co-winner in 2001 along with Duke's Shane Battier. That was the only time in the 49-year history of the ACC that two players shared top billing. The teams tied for the regular-season championship and each team won on the other's home court.

Other Tar Heels to be named ACC Player of the Year are: Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Pete Brennan (1958), Lee Shaffer (1960), Billy Cunningham (1965), Mitch Kupchak (1976), Phil Ford (1978), Michael Jordan (1984) and Antawn Jamison (1998).

It is interesting to note UNC did not have the ACC Player of the Year in 1982 and 1993, years in which the Tar Heels won the NCAA championship.

ACC Tournament

The crown jewel of college basketball outside the NCAA Final Four is the ACC Tournament. The four-day event has traditionally been one of the toughest tickets in sports. Most of the nine schools do not have public sale of tickets. This year's tournament is March 13-16 at the Greensboro Coliseum in Greensboro, N.C.

The Tar Heels have a 30-10 tournament record in Greensboro, where UNC has won seven ACC championships.

Carolina has won the event a record 15 times. Frank McGuire led UNC to the 1957 title, Dean Smith's teams won in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1972, 1975, 1977, 1979, 1981, 1982, 1989, 1991, 1994 and 1997, and Bill Guthridge led UNC to the winner's circle in 1998.

Smith won 13 ACC Tournament titles. That is six more than Duke's Mike Krzyzewski, who is second with seven titles.

UNC has won 74 ACC Tournament games, more than any other school in the league. Not only has UNC won a record 15 titles, the Tar Heels have played in the championship game 27 times in 49 years.

Michael Jordan

All-Americans

Forty-three Tar Heels have earned All-America honors, including 31 players who have earned first-team All-America honors. Carolina's first All-America was Cartwright Carmichael, who was named in 1923 and 1924. The most recent selection was Joseph Forte, who earned consensus first-team accolades in 2001.

Phil Ford (1976-78), Mike O'Koren (1978-80) and Sam Perkins (1982-84) earned first-team All-America honors on three occasions. Ford, O'Koren and Perkins are joined by NC State's David Thompson and Virginia's Ralph Sampson as the only three-time, first-team All-Americans in ACC history.

Carolina is tied for second in NCAA history with 13 consensus first-team All-Americans. Those 13 include: George Glamack (1940 and 1941), Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1968), Robert McAdoo (1972), Phil Ford (1977 and 1978), James Worthy (1982), Michael Jordan (1983 and 1984), Sam Perkins (1983 and 1984), Kenny Smith (1987), J.R. Reid (1988), Jerry Stackhouse (1995), Antawn Jamison (1998) and Joseph Forte (2001).

All-ACC

Carolina has placed 61 players on the All-ACC first team. That figure is the highest in ACC history. Duke is second with 50 first-team selections.

Seven Tar Heels have earned first-team All-ACC honors three times, including Lennie Rosenbluth (1956-58), York Larese (1959-61), Billy Cunningham (1963-65), Charles Scott (1968-70), Phil Ford (1976-78), Sam Perkins (1982-84) and Antawn Jamison (1996-98).

Jamison is the only Tar Heel, and one of only five ACC players, to be named to the first team as a freshman. The others are Skip Wise (Clemson, 1975), Kenny Anderson (Georgia Tech, 1990), Joe Smith (Maryland, 1994) and Stephon Marbury (Georgia Tech, 1996).

Last season was the first year in which UNC did not have a first- or second-team selection since 1990.

All-Stars

Four former Tar Heels who are active NBA players have played in the NBA All-Star Game, including Vince Carter (2000 and 2001 All-Star Games), Michael Jordan (13 times), Jerry Stackhouse (2000 and 2001) and Rasheed Wallace (2000 and 2001).

They are among 12 former Carolina players who went on to play in the NBA All-Star Game. Jordan leads with 13 appearances. James Worthy (seven), Walter Davis (six), Bob McAdoo (five), Brad Daugherty (five), Billy Cunningham (four), Bobby Jones (four), Charles Scott (three) and Lee Shaffer (one) also played in the NBA's showcase game.

Alma Mater

"Hark the Sound of Tar Heel Voices" is the oldest song of the University. It is based on the song "Amici" and was adapted in 1897. The chorus, "I'm a Tar Heel Bred," was added in the 1930s.

"Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices

Ringin' clear and true,

Singing Carolina's praises, Shoutin' 'NCU.'

(chorus)

Hail to the brightest star of all!

Clear its radiance shine

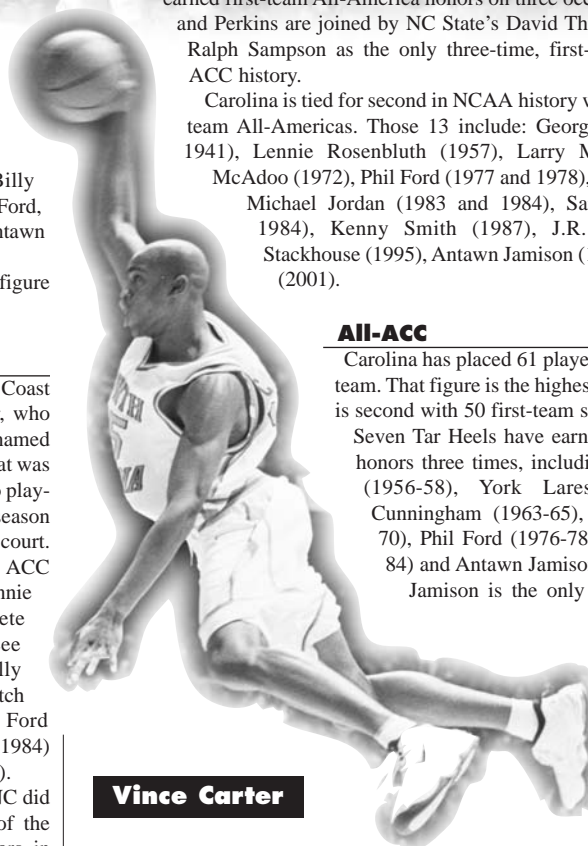

Carolina. Priceless gem,

Receive all praises thine.

For I'm a Tar Heel born, I'm a Tar Heel bred

And when I die I'm a Tar Heel dead.

Vince Carter

So it's — Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina!
Rah! Rah!?"

Attendance

Even though the Tar Heels posted an 8-20 record last year, Carolina again finished third in the nation in average attendance with better than 17,000 fans per game. That figure was No. 1 in the ACC and third nationally behind Kentucky and Syracuse.

In the 17 seasons the Tar Heels have played at the Smith Center, 4,390,576 fans have come through the turnstiles. That is an average of 20,140 fans at the 218 UNC home games.

Baseline Seats

Two years ago the Rams Club spent $200,000 to make room for 400 student admissions to a standing-room only section along the baseline in sections 116, 117 and 118. Those sections are at the end of the court at which the Tar Heels shoot in the second half. The first six rows of the retractable seats in those sections push back and a five-tiered riser is installed each game. The new section increased the building's overall capacity to 21,750 for basketball.

Big Game James

Long before James Worthy teamed with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Magic Johnson to win three NBA championships, he was the Most Outstanding Player of the 1982 NCAA Final Four. Everyone remembers Michael Jordan's game-winning shot, but Worthy scored 28 points in the title game win over Georgetown. Worthy was the Helms Foundation's National Player of the Year in 1982.

Worthy was nicknamed "Big Game" James for his ability to play his best basketball in the most important games, especially in the NBA Playoffs. He had 36 points, 16 rebounds and 10 assists in Game 7 of the 1988 NBA Finals and was named Finals MVP.

The Gastonia, N.C., native was named one of the NBA's 50 Greatest Players and has been a Hall of Fame finalist the past two seasons.

Blind Bomber

George Glamack, an All-America in 1940 and 1941, was nicknamed the Blind Bomber because of his poor eyesight and remarkably accurate hook shot. Glamack actually shot the ball based on the painted lines on the floor. He scored 45 points against Clemson in 1941, still the fourth-highest total in Carolina history.

Bloomington, Ind.

Hometown of senior guard Jonathan Holmes and freshman Sean May. Holmes attended Bloomington South High School, where he was coached by his dad, J.R.; May attended Bloomington North, where he broke Holmes' Monroe County scoring record.

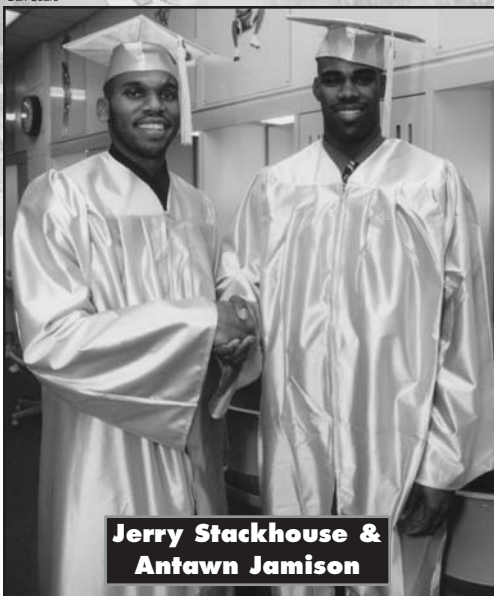

Broadcasters

Carolina's men's basketball players deal with the media so often, it's no wonder they become comfortable in front of the camera and on the airwaves. Brad Daugherty, Kenny Smith, Phil Ford, James Worthy, Walter Davis, Mike O'Koren, Bones McKinney and Billy Cunningham are among the Tar Heels who followed long professional basketball careers with broadcasting stints.

Daugherty has established himself as one of the top college analysts for ESPN and will add NBA games this year. Smith was one of Fox Sports' national college analysts last year and is co-host of a wildly popular NBA show on Turner Sports. Worthy was color analyst alongside Dick Enberg for CBS when the Tar Heels won the 2000 NCAA South Regional.

Bynum Gymnasium

The first gymnasium in which Carolina played intercollegiate basketball was Bynum Gym, located near what is now Peabody Hall. UNC played in Bynum from 1911 to 1924. The gym was named after William P. Bynum Jr., a former UNC student who died of typhoid after his sophomore year. His grandfather, state Supreme Court justice William P. Bynum of Charlotte, had donated $25,000 for construction of the facility. An interesting feature of the gym was the second floor running track that hung over the playing surface.

Bynum Hall now houses several University offices.

Carlyle Cup

Carlyle & Company, the Greenboro-based jeweler, sponsors a 20-sport competition between UNC and Duke with the winner receiving the Carlyle Cup. Carolina won the 2001-02 Carlyle Cup, beating the Blue Devils, 31-17.

Points are awarded in "winner take all" fashion based on which school wins more head-to-head meetings in a particular sport (or has a higher ACC/NCAA finish, if they don't compete head-tohead in that sport); if all head-to-head meetings are split, each school gets one-half of the designated point total.

Carmichael Auditorium

The Tar Heels posted a 169-20 record in Carmichael Auditorium, one of the most famous arenas in college basketball history. UNC played its first game in Carmichael against William and Mary on December 4, 1965, and its last game there on January 4, 1986, versus NC State.

The arena was named after William D. Carmichael Jr., Carolina's comptroller and vice-president of the UNC system. When first built, it held 8,800 individual chairback seats. Today, it has a seating capacity of 10,000 and is home to UNC's volleyball, women's basketball, wrestling and gymnastics programs.

Carolina Blue

Subject of much debate, the officially licensed color that is known as Carolina Blue is PMS 278. Sometimes referred to as Columbia Blue or sky blue, there is no doubt that the light blue hue is one of the most popular and instantly recognized colors in all of sports.

Carolina-Duke Rivalry

Voted the best college basketball rivalry in the 20th century by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, the Tar Heels lead the series, 122-90. The teams have combined for seven national championships, 28 of the 49 ACC Tournament titles, 28 Final Fours and 154 NCAA Tournament victories. Carolina-Duke games hold the top two and three of the top five rated college basketball telecasts in ESPN2 history.

At least one of the two schools has been ranked in the Associated Press national poll in each of the last 113 meetings. The last time Carolina and Duke met when neither team was ranked by the Associated Press was on Feb. 27, 1960.

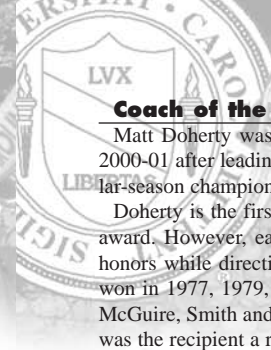

Case Award

Carolina players have won the ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player Award, once known as the Everett Case Award, an unprecedented 16 times. UNC's MVPs include: Lennie Rosenbluth in 1957, Larry Miller in 1967 and 1968, Charles Scott in 1969, Lee Dedmon in 1971, Robert McAdoo in 1972, Phil Ford in 1975, John Kuester in 1977, Dudley Bradley in 1979, Sam Perkins in 1981, James Worthy in 1982, J.R. Reid in 1989, Rick Fox in 1991, Jerry Stackhouse in 1994, Shammond Williams in 1997 and Antawn Jamison in 1998. Dedmon shared the award with South Carolina's John Roche.

Carolina's Ford, Perkins and Stackhouse and Duke's Jason Williams are the only freshmen in league history to win MVP honors. Miller and NC State's Tommy Burleson are the only players to earn the award in consecutive seasons.

Chapel Hill

Sports Illustrated named Chapel Hill America's finest college town, saying it is "the purest example we could find of a college town defined by a university – and a good university."

Coch of the Year

Matt Doherty was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year in 2000-01 after leading the Tar Heels to a 26-7 record and a share of the ACC regular-season championship.

Doherty is the first Carolina coach to win the AP's National Coach of the Year award. However, each of UNC's last four coaches have won national coaching honors while directing the Tar Heels. Frank McGuire won in 1957, Dean Smith won in 1977, 1979, 1982 and 1993, and Bill Guthridge was a recipient in 1998. McGuire, Smith and Guthridge also earned ACC Coach of the Year honors. Smith was the recipient a record eight times.

Matt Doherty

The East Meadow, N.Y., native is only the second former Tar Heel to be the head coach at the University of North Carolina. Doherty is in his third year as UNC's head coach. He also was head coach at Notre Dame in 1999-2000 and was an assistant at Davidson (three years) and Kansas (seven years).

When Carolina went 13-3 in the league in 2000-01, he became the only coach in ACC history to win the regular-season championship in his first year.

Doherty and Bobby Cremins are also the only men in league history to play for and coach the No. 1 ranked team in the nation.

The Donald

No, not Trump, Williams. As in Donald Williams, the smooth-shooting, soft-spoken three-point artist who shot the Tar Heels to the 1993 NCAA championship. The Garner, N.C., native scored 25 points against Kansas in the national semifinal and another 25 against Michigan in the championship game and was named the Final Four's Most Outstanding Player.

Williams hit 10 of 14 from three-point range in the Final Four, the best three-point accuracy in Final Four history.

Double-Doubles

Billy Cunningham holds the Carolina record for double-doubles with 60 career and 22 in a single-season (22 out of 24 games in 1963-64).

Antawn Jamison finished his brilliant career with double-doubles in each of his last six games, a span that included the ACC Tournament championship game win vs. Duke and all five games in the 1998 NCAA Tournament.

George Lynch had double-doubles in the last four wins in the 1993 NCAA Tournament. He had 23 points and 10 rebounds against Arkansas in the Sweet 16, 21 and 14 vs. Cincinnati in the Final 8, 14 and 10 against Kansas in the Final 4 and 12 and 10 vs. Michigan in the national championship game.

Jawad Williams is the only current Tar Heel to record a double-double.

Draft Day

Carolina has had 85 players selected in the NBA Draft, including 31 players taken in the first round. The Tar Heels have 12 players drafted in the first round in the last 14 years. Brendan Haywood and Joseph Forte were selected in the first round in 2000-01. That was the seventh time UNC had two different players selected in the first round in the same year.

James Worthy and Brad Daugherty are the only Tar Heels selected No. 1 in the overall draft. Worthy was selected in 1982 by the Lakers; Daugherty was taken No. 1 by Cleveland in 1986.

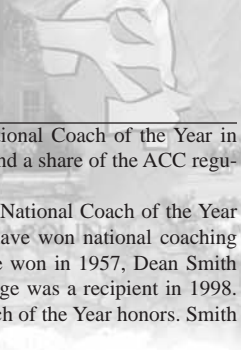

Michael Jordan was the third player selected in the 1984 Draft behind Hakeem Olajuwon (Houston) and Sam Bowie (Portland).

Woody Durham

Since 1971, Woody Durham has been the Voice of the Tar Heels, handling play-by-play radio duties for Carolina basketball and football. Durham has been named the North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year 10 times. In 2002 at the ACC Tournament he received the Skeeter Francis Award for Distinguished Service by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association.

The 1963 UNC graduate grew up in Albemarle, N.C. His son, Wes, is the play-by-play voice of Georgia Tech football and basketball.

Durham is partnered with Mick Mixon, who is in his 14th year with the Tar Heel Sports Network. Mixon was named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year in 1999.

Dean Smith

1,800 Wins

Carolina has won 1,789 basketball games, the second-most in NCAA history. The Tar Heels need to win 11 games to join Kentucky (1,817) as the only programs in the country with 1,800 wins.

Early Entries

When Joseph Forte entered the NBA Draft after his sophomore season, he became the 10th Tar Heel to leave school early for the NBA. Robert McAdoo was the first to turn pro after his junior year in 1972. He was the second player selected in the draft and was an NBA Most Valuable Player with the Buffalo Braves.

The others include juniors James Worthy, Michael Jordan, J.R. Reid, Jeff McInnis, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison and sophomores Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace.

Elite Eight

Carolina has advanced to the NCAA regional final on 20 occasions. The Tar Heels are 15-5 in those games, advancing to the Final Four a record 15 times. Carolina has won each of its last six games in the Elite Eight, advancing to the Final Four in 1991, 1993, 1995, 1997, 1998 and 2000. The last time UNC made it to the brink of the Final Four but lost was in 1988.

Only one other school (Kentucky, 29) has advanced to the Final 8 more often than Carolina.

Field Goal Percentage

Carolina's unselfish play and willingness to get the best shot possible is exemplified by the fact that the Tar Heels have led the ACC in individual field goal percentage 15 times, more than any other school in the league (Duke is second with 13). In fact, Carolina players have five of the 10 best career field goal percentages in ACC history.

Brendan Haywood holds the ACC career record at 63.7 percent. Rasheed Wallace (2nd), Brad Daugherty (4th), Bobby Jones (8th) and J.R. Reid (10th) are also among the top 10. Ten of the 25 all-time best field goal shooters in ACC history are Tar Heels.

Carolina has led the ACC in team field goal percentage 24 times (in 49 years) and led the nation in 1966, 1972, 1973 and 1998.

The last two NBA players to score 50 points in consecutive games are former Tar Heels Michael Jordan and Antawn Jamison. Jordan did it in 1986-87 and Jamison accomplished the feat in 2000-01.

Final Four

Carolina has played in 15 Final Fours, tying UCLA for the most ever (one of the Bruins' appearances has been vacated). The Tar Heels have played in the Final Four in 1946, 1957, 1967, 1968, 1969, 1972, 1977, 1981, 1982, 1991, 1993, 1995, 1997, 1998 and 2000. The Tar Heels won the NCAA title in 1957, 1982 and 1993.

Rusty Clark (1967-69), Bill Bunting (1967-69) and Ed Cota (1997-98, 2000) are the only Tar Heels to start in three different Final Fours. Carolina holds the NCAA record for most players who have played in a Final Four with 121. UNC has played in the Final Four in 10 different cities and in seven different decades.

First Game Starters

Last year, forward Jawad Williams started against Hampton in the season opener. He was the 17th Tar Heel to start in his first game as a freshman since first-year players became eligible to play in 1972-73.

Other UNC players to start their first game as freshmen include Phil Ford, Mike O'Koren, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Rick Fox, Vince Carter, Antawn Jamison, Ed Cota, Brendan Haywood, Jason Capel, Kris Lang, Joseph Forte and Adam Boone.

500 ACC Wins

The Tar Heels are just three wins shy of 500 regular-season ACC victories. Carolina's 497 wins are 58 more than second-place Duke's total of 439 wins.

No other ACC school has more than 347 ACC wins.

Phil Ford

Arguably the greatest point guard in college basketball history, the Rocky Mount, N.C., native is Carolina's all-time leading scorer with 2,290 points.

Ford perfected the Four Corners, was MVP of the ACC Tournament as a freshman in leading UNC past David Thompson and NC State, and won the Wooden Award as the National Player of the Year in 1978. Ford was an NBA Rookie of the Year and was an assistant coach with the Tar Heels for 12 years. Ford led the USA to the gold medal in the 1976 Olympics in Montreal, dishing out 12 assists in the gold medal game.

Ford is currently a Vice President in the Rams Club, the non-profit foundation that raises scholarship funding for UNC's student-athletes.

Four Corners

One of the most famous and feared offensive sets in college basketball history was the Four Corners, a system Dean Smith first used in 1965-66 with Larry Miller and Bob Lewis handling the ball and later perfected by point guard Phil Ford. Smith was not the first coach to spread the floor, but his unique signature to the offense was to put the team's best ballhandler in the middle of the floor with four teammates around him in the corners of the court.

Franklin Street

Freshmen

Jawad Williams averaged 9.8 points and 4.2 rebounds last year and was named to the All-ACC Freshmen Team. Williams is the seventh Tar Heel freshmen to be named to the team since its inception in 1992-93. Williams joins Jerry Stackhouse, Rasheed Wallace, Antawn Jamison, Ed Cota, Kris Lang and Joseph Forte as All-ACC Freshman selections.

Five Carolina players have been named ACC Rookie of the Year, including Sam Perkins (1981), Michael Jordan (1982), J.R. Reid (1987), Cota (1997) and Forte (2000).

UNC is the only school to have three different freshmen win ACC Tournament MVP honors. Phil Ford (1975), Perkins and Stackhouse accomplished the feat. Duke's Jason Williams is the only other freshmen to win that award.

Bill Guthridge

The Parsons, Kan., native was the consensus National Coach of the Year and ACC Coach of the Year in 1998 when he led the Tar Heels to a 34-4 record, an ACC championship and Final Four appearance.

Guthridge spent 30 years as an assistant to Dean Smith and was UNC's head coach from 1998-2000. In those three years, UNC went 80-28 and played in the 1998 and 2000 Final Fours. He joined Fred Taylor of Ohio State as the only men to coach in Final Fours in two of his first three seasons as a head coach.

Guthridge set NCAA records for wins as a first year (34) and second year coach (58) and tied the NCAA record for wins after three years (80).

Hall of Fame

Former Tar Heel player and assistant coach Larry Brown was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., on September 27, 2002. Brown is the sixth Tar Heel to be inducted, joining coaches Ben Carnevale, Frank McGuire and Dean Smith and players Billy Cunningham and Bob McAdoo.

James Worthy and Bobby Jones have been finalists on the ballot in each of the past two seasons.

Honored Jerseys

Rising high above the Smith Center floor are the names and uniform numbers of 40 Tar Heel players who performed with great distinction. Seven of the jersey numbers are retired and 33 of them are honored and may be worn by future Tar Heels. A player qualifies to have his number honored if he meets any of the following criteria: ACC Player of the Year; selected by the coaches as MVP of a NCAA championship team; member of a gold medal Olympic team; or a first- or second-team All-America selection.

Retired Jerseys

Seven Tar Heels have had their jerseys retired by the University, including Jack Cobb (no number), Lennie Rosenbluth (#10), Phil Ford (#12), George Glamack (#20), Michael Jordan (#23), Antawn Jamison (#33) and James Worthy (#52).

Today, a player must be the consensus National Player of the Year to have his jersey retired. That is policy established by the University's Athletics Council.

Michael Jordan

ESPN's SportsCentury named him the Greatest Athlete of the 20th Century. NCAA champion, two-time Olympic gold medalist, six-time NBA Finals MVP, five-time NBA Most Valuable Player, 10-time NBA scoring champion and first-team All-NBA selection and six-time NBA champion.

He hit the game-winning shot in the 1982 NCAA championship game against Georgetown, was the consensus National Player of the Year in 1984 and averaged 17.7 points and 5.0 rebounds per game as a Tar Heel (he played before the shot clock and with the three-point shot in just one of his three collegiate seasons).

Jordan led the ACC in scoring as a junior and averaged 20.0 points a game as a sophomore.

Kangaroo Kid

Billy Cunningham is Carolina's alltime leading rebounder at 15.4 per game and has the second-highest scoring average at 24.8 points per game. The Brooklyn, N.Y., native was nicknamed The Kangaroo Kid for his leaping ability. He had 10 or more rebounds 61 times in 69 games.

Cunningham went on to win an NBA championship as a player (1967) and head coach with the Philadelphia 76ers (1983). He was named one of the NBA's 50 Greatest Players and is enshrined in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

Kansas

Carolina basketball has a number of ties to the state of Kansas and the Kansas Jayhawk basketball program. Dean Smith was born in Emporia, grew up in Topeka and was a member of the KU basketball team that won the 1952 NCAA championship. Bill Guthridge is a native of Parsons and played basketball and coached at Kansas State. Carolina beat Kansas, led by Wilt Chamberlain, in triple overtime to win the 1957 NCAA title. Dick Harp, who coached that KU team in 1957, was an assistant coach under Smith at UNC in the late 1980s. Larry Brown played and coached at UNC and was head coach at Kansas in 1988 when the Jayhawks won the NCAA title. Roy Williams was an assistant to Smith at Carolina from 1978-79 to 1986-87. Former Tar Heel player and assistant coach Eddie Fogler was head coach at Wichita State. UNC head coach Matt Doherty spent seven years as assistant to Williams at KU from 1992-99.

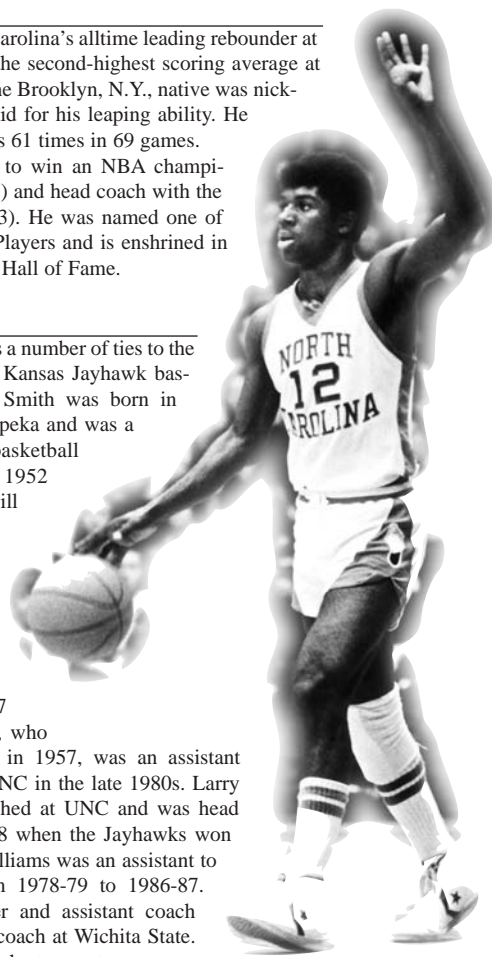

Tommy Kearns

Earned national notoriety when at just under six feet tall he jumped center against Kansas' Wilt Chamberlain to tip off the 1957 national championship game. Kearns was a second-team All-America guard that year, leading UNC to a 32-0 record. In 2000, he played a high school basketball coach in the movie "Finding Forrester."

L&M Boys

In the mid-1960s, Bob Lewis and Larry Miller provided the spark that established Dean Smith as one of the game's great coaches and Carolina basketball as one of the sport's top programs. Lewis averaged 27.4 points as a junior in 1966 and 22.1 in his career. The Washington, D.C., native holds UNC's single-game record with 49 points.

According to Smith, Miller was the first player that signed with Carolina who was recruited heavily by Vic Bubas at Duke. Miller went on to win ACC Player of the Year honors in 1967 and 1968. Lewis and Miller were dubbed the L&M Boys and featured in a Sports Illustrated story by Frank Deford.

Phil Ford

Frank McGuire

Led the Tar Heels to a 32-0 season and national championship in 1956-57, one of the defining moments in establishing ACC Basketball as the best basketball conference in America. McGuire became the UNC head coach in 1952-53 and posted a nine-year record of 164-58. He began the pipeline of New York City talent, bringing to Chapel Hill players such as Lennie Rosenbluth, Tommy Kearns, Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg, Bob Cunningham (the five starters in 1957), York Larese, Doug Moe, Donnie Walsh, Larry Brown and Billy Cunningham.

McGuire left UNC for the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers after the 1960-61 season. Three years earlier, however, he hired Dean Smith as an assistant coach. McGuire later won an ACC title at South Carolina in 1971.

National Players of the Year

Nine different Tar Heels have won National Player of the Year honors, including consensus winners Phil Ford (1978), Michael Jordan (1984) and Antawn Jamison (1998). Other winners are Jack Cobb (1926), George Glamack (1940 and 1941), Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), James Worthy (1982), Kenny Smith (1987) and Jerry Stackhouse (1995). Jordan, named by eight organizations as a junior, also was The Sporting News' pick as a sophomore in 1983.

Associated Press (since 1961) – Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)

Naismith Award (since 1969) – Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)

NABC (since 1975) – Ford (1978), Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)

USBWA (since 1959) – Ford (1978), Jordan (1984), Jamison (1998)

NBA

There are 14 former Tar Heels active in the NBA, including Vince Carter (Toronto), Hubert Davis (Detroit), Joseph Forte (Seattle), Rick Fox (Los Angeles Lakers), Brendan Haywood (Washington), Antawn Jamison (Golden State), Michael Jordan (Washington), George Lynch (New Orleans), Jeff McInnis (Portland), Eric Montross (Toronto), Jerry Stackhouse (Washington), Scott Williams (Phoenix) and Shammond Williams (Boston).

Larry Brown (Philadelphia) and George Karl (Milwaukee) are head coaches and Dave Hanners (Philadelphia), John Kuester (Philadelphia), Bob McAdoo (Miami) and Mike O'Koren (New Jersey) are assistant coaches. Mitch Kupchak is General Manager of the Lakers and Donnie Walsh is president of the Indiana Pacers.

NBA Champions

Rick Fox earned his third NBA championship ring in as many years with the Los Angeles Lakers. Fox is one of 12 former Tar Heels who have gone on to win NBA rings as players. Those 12 players have accounted for 27 championship rings. The rest of the ACC has a combined 14 players winning 23 rings.

NBA 50

In the late 1990s, the NBA selected its All-time 50 Greatest Players. Former Tar Heels Billy Cunningham, Michael Jordan and James Worthy were named to the team. Carolina, Houston and LSU were the only schools to have three players on the team.

NCAA Tournament

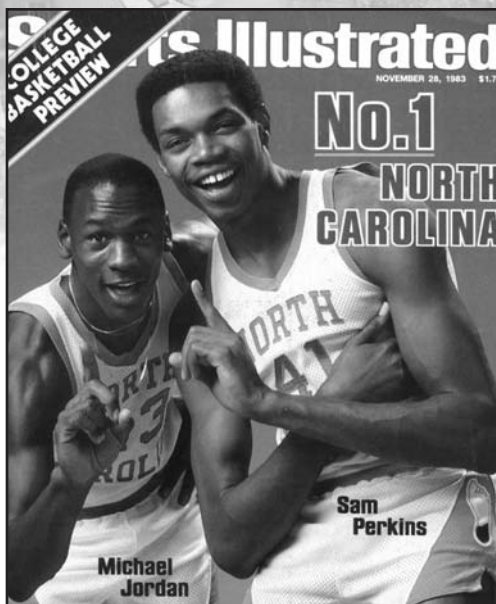

Carolina is second in NCAA history with 35 appearances, 116 games played and 81 wins in the NCAA Tournament. The Tar Heels established an alltime record with 27 consecutive trips to the Tournament from 1975-2001. UNC has the fifth-best win percentage (.698) in Tournament history.

No. 1

Carolina has been ranked No. 1 in the nation in the Associated Press poll in 15 different seasons since the A.P. began its rankings in 1948-49. Those seasons include 1957, 1958, 1959, 1978, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1993, 1994, 1995, 1998 and 2001.

The Tar Heels have been No. 1 on 84 occasions. Carolina is second alltime in weeks ranked No. 1 in the country behind UCLA (128).

Matt Doherty (two weeks) is the fourth different Carolina head coach to have his team ranked No. 1 in the nation. Frank McGuire had teams ranked No. 1 for 11 weeks, Dean Smith had teams ranked No. 1 60 times and Bill Guthridge led the Tar Heels to the No. 1 ranking for eight weeks.

Doherty spent 29 weeks as a Tar Heel player ranked No. 1 in the nation. Carolina was 52-5 with Doherty in the lineup as the No. 1 team in the country, winning the NCAA title in 1982 and finishing No. 1 in the final poll in 1982 and 1984.

Carolina has been ranked in the Top 10 505 times. That is the second-highest figure in NCAA basketball history. Carolina has appeared in the AP poll 649 times, more than any other school in history. Duke is second in ACC history with 489 rankings.

No. 1 vs. No. 2

Carolina has played in six games involving the top two ranked teams in the country by the Associated Press poll and the Tar Heels are 6-0 in those games (4-0 as No. 1 and 2-0 as No. 2).

A list of those games follows:

March 23, 1957 – No. 1 UNC 54, No. 2 Kansas 53

Dec. 26, 1981 – No. 1 UNC 82, No. 2 Kentucky 69

Jan. 9, 1982 – No. 1 UNC 65, No. 2 Virginia 60

Feb. 4, 1986 – No. 1 UNC 78, No. 2 Ga. Tech 77

Feb. 3, 1994 – No. 2 UNC 89, No. 1 Duke 78

Feb. 5, 1998 – No. 2 UNC 97, No. 1 Duke 73

Olympics

Twelve (12) former Tar Heels have represented their country in the Olympic Games. Michael Jordan won gold medals in 1984 and 1992. Larry Brown (1964), Charles Scott (1968), Walter Davis (1976), Phil Ford (1976), Mitch Kupchak (1976), Tom LaGarde (1976) and Vince Carter (2000) have also won gold medals. Bobby Jones won silver in the highly controversial 1972 Games and J.R. Reid took home a bronze in 1988. Al Wood was a member of the 1980 U.S. Team which did not compete in Moscow and Henrik Rodl played for Germany in 2000.

Dean Smith and Bill Guthridge coached the U.S. to gold in Montreal in 1976 and Brown assisted the U.S. Team in 2000.

One

Sophomore guard Melvin Scott is the only player in Carolina basketball history who has worn the uniform number 1. Two players – Eric Montross and Brendan Haywood wore '00.' Freshman guard Raymond Felton will become the first to ever suit up wearing number '2.'

The most commonly worn number in Carolina basketball history is '20,' which has been worn by 21 different Tar Heels, although none since Steve Bucknall.

He became the last player to wear it when the University decided to retire George Glamack's number. Glamack was the National Player of the Year in 1940 and 1941.

Patterson Medal

The Patterson Medal is the most prestigious athletic award granted at UNC. It is presented annually to the top senior student-athlete, based primarily on athletic accomplishment, although sportsmanship and leadership are also considered.

Twenty-six different men's basketball players have won the award, including: Monk McDonald (1924), Jack Cobb (1926), Henry Satterfield (1929), Virgil Weathers (1934), Andy Bershak (1938), Paul Severin (1941), Bobby Gersten (1942), Jim Jordan (1946), Albert Long Jr. (1955), Jerry Vayda (1956), Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1968), Bill Bunting (1969), Charles Scott (1970), Dennis Wuycik (1972), George Karl (1973), Charles Waddell (1975), Mitch Kupchak (1976), Walter Davis (1977), Phil Ford (1978), Al Wood (1980), Brad Daugherty (1986), Kenny Smith (1987), Jeff Lebo (1989), Antawn Jamison (1998) and Brendan Haywood (2001).

Player of the Week

Antawn Jamison was named ACC Player of the Week a record 12 times. Wake Forest's Tim Duncan is second with 11. Jamison won the award seven times in 1997-98, four times in 1996-97 and once in 1995-96. No other player even won the award more than five times in a year since the league began selections in 1969-70. Georgia Tech's Travis Best (1993-94) and Duke's Elton Brand (1998-99) won five times in a year.

Wake Forest's Tim Duncan (11), NC State's David Thompson (9), Wake Forest's Randolph Childress (7), Best (7) and Maryland's Juan Dixon (7) round out the top five career recipients.

Rameses

Carolina's mascot, a ram, is named Rameses. The Tar Heels have a ram for a mascot because in 1922 the best football player, Jack Merritt, was nicknamed "The Battering Ram." Vic Huggins, the head cheerleader in 1924, came up with the nickname, which was adopted for all of UNC's varsity teams. The Tar Heels were also known as the White Phantoms, a nickname they went by until the late 1940s.

Rams Club

The Educational Foundation, also known as the Rams Club, is a non-profit foundation whose members provide the scholarship funding for Carolina's varsity student-athletes to the tune of nearly $7 million per year. John Montgomery is in his second full year as president of the Rams Club.

The Rams Club also raises money for various capital projects in athletics and for other University interests. The staff may be reached at (919) 945-2000.

Rookies

Five former Tar Heels have won NBA Rookie of the Year honors. The most recent was Vince Carter in 1999. Other winners are Bob McAdoo (1973), Walter Davis (1978), Phil Ford (1979) and Michael Jordan (1985). Charles Scott was the ABA Rookie of the Year in 1971.

Lennie Rosenbluth

Only three players in ACC history have been named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season – Antawn Jamison, Duke's Christian Laettner and Lennie Rosenbluth.

Rosenbluth averaged a school-record 28.0 points in 1957 when he led the Tar Heels to a 32-0 record and the NCAA championship. Rosenbluth's #10 is retired and he is one of the ACC's Top 50 Greatest Basketball Players.

Sears Cup

Carolina finished fourth in the nation in the 2001-02 Division I Sears Cup standings. The Tar Heels scored 1065.5 points. Stanford won the Sears Cup for the eighth consecutive year with 1499 points. UNC is the only school other than Stanford to win the Division I title since the award was created in 1993-94. Carolina finished first in the award's inaugural season.

Points are awarded by virtue of a school's NCAA postseason finish in up to 10 men's and 10 women's sports (based upon the number of teams in each championship format).

Carolina's fourth-place finish marked the seventh time in nine years the Tar Heels have placed in the Top 10 in the country. It was also the eighth time in nine years UNC was the highest-finishing school in the ACC.

Season Tickets

There is no public sale of season tickets at Carolina. All season tickets are purchased by members of the Rams Club and by UNC employees. The only way to secure season basketball tickets right now is to endow either a half scholarship ($75,000 over 7 years) or a full scholarship ($150,000 over 8 years). Location is assigned by points, which are obtained by donations, not pledges. They can be passed down one generation.

Original donors to the Smith Center campaign gave a one-time capital gift, and have to stay at one of our annual giving levels to keep the rights to the seats. These seats can be passed down in perpetuity.

Charles Scott

The first African-American scholarship basketball player at UNC was New York's Charles Scott, who came to Chapel Hill after prepping at the Laurinburg Institute. 'Great Scott' earned first-team All-America honors and was Co-ACC Athlete of the Year in 1970, led UNC to Final Fours in 1968 and 1969, won an Olympic gold medal in 1968 and an NBA title with the Boston Celtics in 1976. He is one of the ACC's 50 Greatest Basketball Players.

In 1969, Scott scored 40 points, including 29 in the second half, to beat Duke in the ACC championship game. He then sent the Tar Heels to the Final Four with a buzzer-beating jumper to edge Davidson, 87-85.

On February 24, 1979, Carolina held the ball for most of the first half and trailed Duke, 7-0, at the half. The Blue Devils went on to win, 47-40. One week later in the ACC Tournament championship game, Mike O'Koren and Dudley Bradley combined for 34 points as the Tar Heels beat Duke, 71-63.

In 1966, Duke led UNC, 7-5, at the half and beat the Tar Heels, 21-20, in the ACC semifinals.

The Shot I

Walter Davis hit a 28-foot bank shot as time expired to send the UNC-Duke game into overtime on March 2, 1974. The Tar Heels went on to a 96-92 victory. The game is one of the most famous in college basketball history because Carolina trailed, 86-78, with 17 seconds to play.

The Shot II

Michael Jordan's 17-footer from the wing with 15 seconds to play gave Carolina 63-62 win over Georgetown in the 1982 NCAA championship game. Jimmy Black assisted on the game-winner.

Famous Shots

Keep an eye on TarHeelBlue.com later this year as UNC fans will be asked to vote for their alltime favorite shot. Here are some of the top candidates:

Pete Brennan's jumper with three seconds left to send the national semifinals vs. Michigan State into a third overtime, March 22, 1957;

Charles Scott's 20-footer with three seconds remaining to beat Davidson and send UNC to the 1968 Final Four;

Walter Davis' 28-footer vs. Duke, March 2, 1974;

Dudley Bradley's steal and game-winning dunk at NC State on Jan. 17, 1979;

Michael Jordan's 17-footer to beat Georgetown in the NCAA championship game, March 29, 1982;

Jordan's 24-footer against Tulane to send the game into the first of three overtimes, Nov. 30, 1982;

Jordan's steal and dunk against Virginia, capping a comeback from 16 points down in the second half, Feb. 10, 1983;

Rick Fox's bank shot at the buzzer to beat No. 1 ranked Oklahoma in the 1990 NCAA Tournament second round, March 17, 1990;

George Lynch's steal of a Charlie Ward pass and dunk to cap a 21-point second-half deficit against Florida State, Jan. 27, 1993;

Dante Calabria's tip-in at the buzzer to beat Duke, 73-72, on Jan. 31, 1996;

Jerry Stackhouse's wraparound dunk at Duke, Feb. 2, 1995;

Antawn Jamison's tip-in while falling down to beat Maryland, Jan. 6, 1996;

Vince Carter's dunk against Wake Forest on February 19, 1997;

Julius Peppers's alleyoop dunk from Ronald Curry against Wake Forest, January 6, 2001

Sports Illustrated

Michael Jordan has been on the cover of Sports Illustrated 51 times (as of Sept. 25, 2002), more than any other athlete in history. Muhammad Ali is second with 38 appearances.

Jordan and Dean Smith both were named Sports Illustrated Sportsman of the Year; Jordan was named in 1991 and Smith in 1997. They are the only ACC basketball players or coaches to win the award.

Dean Smith

The winningest coach in NCAA history (879), two-time NCAA champion (1982 and 1993), 11 Final Fours, 13 ACC Tournament championships, 20 ACC Tournament finals, 17 regular-season ACC titles, 27 NCAA Tournament appearances, an NIT championship, head coach of the 1976 Olympic gold medalists, Naismith Basketball Hall of Famer, 24 Top 10 rankings, eight-time ACC Coach of the Year and 30 20-win seasons.

Smith was named Sports Illustrated's Sportsman of the Year (1997) and was an Arthur Ashe Award for Courage recipient. In 2000, ESPN named Smith one of the seven greatest coaches of alltime. He was joined on that remarkable list by Red Auerbach, Bear Bryant, George Halas, Vince Lombardi, John McGraw and John Wooden.

Smith Center

The Dean E. Smith Student Activities Center opened on January 18, 1986. No. 1 ranked Carolina beat No. 3 Duke, 95-92. Center Warren Martin scored the first UNC basket in the Smith Center. Carolina is 182-36 all-time in the Smith Center.

After several upgrades and improvements, the Smith Center's capacity is now 21,750, making it the largest arena in the ACC and one of the largest in the nation.

Superdome

The Tar Heels have won three NCAA Tournament championships, including two in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. In 1982, Carolina beat Houston and Georgetown to win the title; 11 years later, UNC knocked out Kansas and Michigan for the championship.

Two years ago in Matt Doherty's first year as head coach, Carolina beat Princeton in the first round of the Tournament, but lost to Penn State in round two in the Superdome.

TarHeelBlue.com

Carolina's official internet home. Statistics, schedules, media guides, press notes, media links, audio and video highlights, behind the scenes features, press conference quotes, box scores, Q & As with coaches and players and other features are among the many things you may find at TarHeelBlue.com.

You can tune in to the Tar Heel Sports Network broadcasts of all UNC games here, as well.

Tar Heel Sports Network

Learfield Communications owns the media rights to Carolina Basketball on the radio, television and Internet. The Tar Heel Sports Network is responsible for producing the gameday radio broadcasts, Coach Doherty's call-in show, daily radio shows with Woody Durham and the weekly television highlight show. If you are interested in a sponsorship package, call (919) 968-4807.

TV

Carolina, a fixture on national television, was featured in the first television game involving ACC teams (Jan. 8, 1955 vs. Wake Forest), the first game on C.D. Chesley's ACC Network (Dec. 7, 1957 vs. Clemson) and the first basketball game broadcast live across the state of North Carolina (March 15, 1957 vs. Canisius in the NCAA East Region semifinals).

The 1956-57 team posted a perfect 32-0 record and won the NCAA championship. The Tar Heels had to survive several close games along the way to the title, including an unprecedented pair of triple overtime thrillers in the Final Four.

UNC won nine of its 32 games by five points or less and had four games go into overtime. Pete Brennan saved the day in the national semifinals against Michigan State as he hit a jumper with three seconds to tie the game and extend it into a third overtime. National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth scored 20 points in the championship game and Joe Quigg hit a pair of free throws with six seconds left in the third overtime to give Carolina a 54-53 win over Kansas.

Sports Illustrated selected the 1957 national title game against the Jayhawks as the second-best college basketball game ever played.

The 1957 Tar Heels are one of only 12 unbeaten teams in NCAA history. That Carolina team and the 1976 Indiana team share the NCAA record for most wins in a season without a loss with 32.

Three Straight

Carolina won the regular-season championship and ACC Tournament championship for three consecutive seasons from 1967-69. This was in the era when only the ACC Tournament champion was eligible to compete in the NCAA Tournament.

UNC is still the only school that has won three consecutive outright regular-season championships and ACC Tournament titles.

1,000 Assists

Ed Cota is one of only three players in NCAA history to have at least 1,000 career assists. The Brooklyn, N.Y., native is the only player in NCAA history to have at least 1,000 assists, 1,000 points and 500 rebounds. Cota handed out 1,030 assists. He also scored 1,261 points and had 517 rebounds. He is one of only three Tar Heels to start in three different Final Fours (1997, 1998 and 2000).

1,000 Points

North Carolina has more 1,000-point career scorers than any other school in the country. The Tar Heels have had 53 players reach 1,000 points. That figure is one more than Louisville and two more than Duke. Kentucky is fourth with 49 and Kansas is fifth with 45.

Twenty-two (22) of the 53 have scored at least 1,500 points and five – Phil Ford (2,290), Sam Perkins (2,145), Lennie Rosenbluth (2,045), Al Wood (2,015) and Charles Scott (2,007) – netted at least 2,000 points.

Rasheed Wallace

The most recent players to reach 1,000 points were Jason Capel (1,447) and Kris Lang (1,392).

Tin Can

From 1924-1937 Carolina played its home games in the Indoor Athletic Center, on ground that is now home to Fetzer Gymnasium. Students nicknamed the metal structure the Tin Can. It was the home of the Tar Heels until Woollen Gym was built in 1938.

Top Three

Carolina finished in first, second or third place in the ACC regular-season standings 37 consecutive years from 1964-65 to 2000-01. That is an unequaled run of consistency. Overall, the Tar Heels have finished in the top three in the league 44 times in 49 seasons.

Former head coach Dean Smith prefers to mention how many times the Tar Heels finished in first or second place in the league standings – 23 times in first place and 13 in second place. No other school in the ACC has more than 15 first place finishes and more than 23 top two placements.

Triple Doubles

There have only been 18 'Triple-Doubles' in ACC history and the two most recent ones were by Tar Heels in a span of two weeks.

In fact, Brendan Haywood and Jason Capel became the first two players in UNC history to register 'Triple-Doubles.' Haywood had 18 points, 14 rebounds and 10 blocked shots against Miami (Fla.) on December 4, 2000. Capel had 16 points, 11 boards and 10 assists on December 17, 2000, against Buffalo.

Not only the most recognizable basketball number in the world, but also an outstanding restaurant owned by Michael Jordan on Franklin Street. 23 is also the home of Matt Doherty Live!, the coach's weekly radio show. Host Woody Durham and Doherty do the show in front of a live audience most Thursdays during the basketball season from 7-8 p.m.

20 Wins

Carolina won at least 20 games for an NCAA record 31 consecutive seasons from 1970-71 to 2000-01. In that time, the Tar Heels won at least 25 games 21 times and at least 30 games three times.

Uniforms

Carolina basketball uniforms are among the most recognizable in the sports world. World-renowned designer and Carolina alumnus Alexander Julian redesigned the uniforms prior to the start of the 1991-92 season. Mr. Julian added the argyle pattern down the sides of the jersey and shorts, emboldened the trim and upgraded the fabric among other changes.

In 1999-2000, the words 'North Carolina' on the front of the jersey were replaced by the interlocking NC logo. A year later, 'North Carolina' went back on the jersey.

Victories

Carolina is second alltime in wins with 1,789. Kentucky is first with 1,817 and Kansas is third with 1,771. No other schools have won 1,700 or more games.

The Tar Heels are first in ACC regular-season wins (497), first in ACC Tournament wins (74) and second in NCAA Tournament wins (81).

Woollen Gymnasium

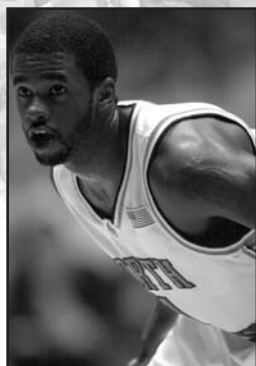

Carolina played its home games from 1938-1965 in Woollen Gym, which is located adjacent to Carmichael Auditorium, the building that replaced it as UNC's basketball home. Woollen was named after Charles T. Woollen, the University's business manager who pushed for its construction. Total cost of the building was $646,000, none of which came from state funds.

Woollen is still in use today and is home to some of the best and most intense pickup basketball games on any college campus.

The University of North Carolina and Nike extended their agreement for eight more years beginning in July 2002. The agreement provides each varsity team with shoes, apparel, equipment bags and other products. It also provides $100,000 annually to the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund for undergraduate teaching and $100,000 annually to the athletic department to reward Olympic sport programs and coaches for academic and athletic excellence.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA STATEMENT ON GAMBLING

The mission of the Department of Athletics is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow and develop. In keeping with the Department's mission and the University's commitment to educational interests, competitive athletic programs, and integrity in all areas, the Department of Athletics strongly condemns the influence of gambling on intercollegiate athletics.

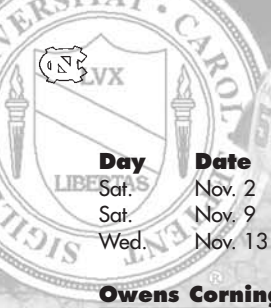

Student gambling is a significant issue on college campuses. Student-athlete involvement in gambling has produced many tragic situations, both for student-athletes and the universities they represent. Student-athletes often compete in contests that generate interest from those involved in gambling and, possibly, organized crime. If given the opportunity, those interests will not hesitate to exploit the position student-athletes hold on college campuses. As such, the University of North Carolina is firmly opposed to all forms of gambling and bribery related to intercollegiate athletics.

To fulfill its educational obligation, the Athletic Department provides a gambling education program to all its student-athletes and departmental staff members. This statement and the educational program are reflections of the Department's commitment to keeping intercollegiate athletics free from the influences of gambling and its related activities.

The Athletic Department requires its staff members and student-athletes to adhere to NCAA, state and federal laws regarding gambling. In the interest of fair competition and the growth and development of student-athletes, the Department strongly urges its friends and supporters to refrain from gambling/betting on contests involving collegiate competition and to abide by state and federal laws.

2002-03 OUTLOOK

Previewing the 2002-03 Tar Heels

The University of North Carolina finds itself on unfamiliar ground this year as it looks to bounce back from an 8-20 record a year ago that left the Tar Heels out of the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 28 years.

However, the challenge to return to the post-season won't be an easy one to accomplish, considering the 2002-03 Tar Heels will field one of the youngest and most inexperienced teams in school history while facing another difficult schedule.

Head coach Matt Doherty has just two seniors (who have less than 20 combined career starts between them) three sophomores and six freshmen.

It is the first time since Carolina began Atlantic Coast Conference play 50 years ago that just two juniors and seniors are on the pre-season roster. The previous low was four in 1990-91, but three of those four were senior starters. In fact, over the last 50 years, Carolina has averaged nearly eight juniors and seniors per season.

Doherty, 34-27 in his first two seasons at Carolina, will lead a team that must replace three starters and two other prominent reserves from a year ago who combined to score 65 percent of the team's points, grab 59 percent of the rebounds and hand out 60 percent of the assists.

"Our players and coaches are excited about the season and the challenges that are ahead of us," says Doherty. "Last year was rough for our team and our fans, who really stuck with us, but our players have great attitudes, are committed to getting better every day and are excited about the future of Carolina Basketball."

Jawad Williams, a 6-8 $\frac{1}{2}$ sophomore forward from Cleveland, Ohio, is the leading returning scorer and rebounder. Williams averaged 9.8 points and 4.2 boards per game last year. Williams scored in double figures 14 times as a freshman with a season-high of 21 against Maryland and 20 against North Carolina A&T. He shot 51.5 percent from the floor, the highest percentage among the seven UNC players with at least 100 field goal attempts.

"Jawad really matured as a player last year," says Doherty. "He developed into a great defender and had a better understanding of our offense. That continued in the off-season. He has been impressive shooting the ball in our drills, is committed to playing great on the defensive end of the floor and enjoys instructing the freshmen. He's shown exceptional leadership skills."

Melvin Scott, a 6-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ sophomore guard from Baltimore, Md., started at point guard several times early in the season and 11 times at the two-guard slot at the end of the year. He averaged 6.2 points and nearly two assists per game.

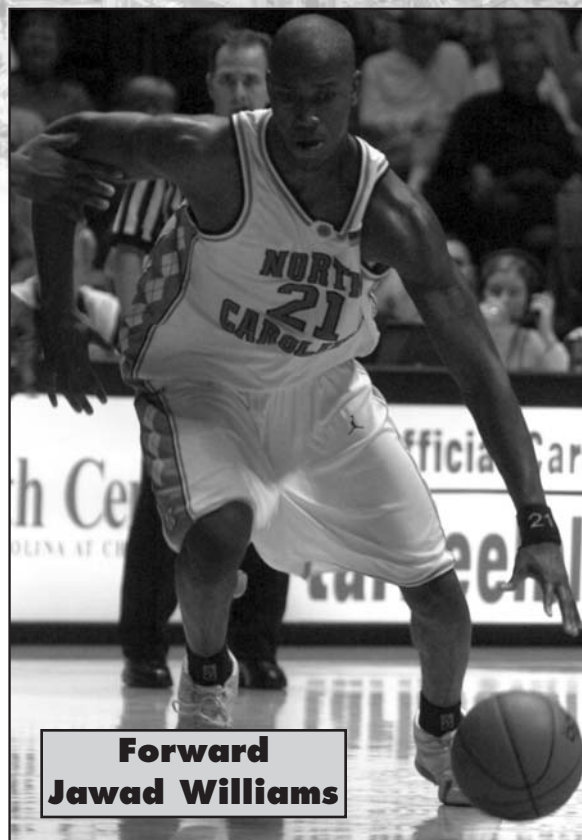

He scored a season-high 17 points on two occasions and was in double figures seven times. Scott had five assists against Indiana and at Maryland.

Scott shot 28 of 80 from three-point range (.350), and connected on three or more three-point field goals in five different contests.

"Melvin was put in a bad position early," says Doherty. "He hadn't played much point guard in high school, but we needed him there and he started the ACC season playing the point. That experience will really help his ballhandling this year. He gives us a great deal of versatility with his ability to play both guard positions. Melvin can really shoot the basketball. This year, I want him to focus on getting comfortable and hitting shots."

Will Johnson, a 6-8 forward from Hickory, N.C., is one of the two returning seniors on the team. A walk-on, he is a recipient of the prestigious Morehead Scholarship, one of the top academic and service grants awarded at the University of North Carolina.

Johnson averaged 3.9 points and 2.5 rebounds per game as a junior. He started at forward in 15 of Carolina's 28 games and scored in double figures twice. He had a career-high 14 points against the College of Charleston and 11 against Binghamton. Johnson converted 42.9 percent from three-point range last year, making 18 of 42 from behind the stripe.

"Will is such a smart and tenacious player," says Doherty. "He's always been a smart offensive rebounder, and he has worked hard to get stronger so he can be more effective when he gets the ball inside. He's also a good outside shooter."

The other senior is 6-0 $\frac{1}{2}$ point guard Jonathan Holmes. The Bloomington, Ind., native saw action in 14 contests a year ago. He was four for seven from three-point range and had 10 assists against six turnovers. He scored six points against Duke in the Smith Center. He did not have a start last year, but made one at Georgia Tech as a freshman.

"Jonathan can really handle the ball and has a lot of court savvy," says Doherty. "We need Will and Jonathan to provide great senior leadership, probably as much as ever before because we are such a young team."

Sophomore Jackie Manuel also saw extensive playing time a year ago. The 6-5 swing man from West Palm Beach, Fla., played at small forward and shooting guard and was in the starting lineup on 16 occasions, including 11 of the first 12 games. He injured his ankle and missed a couple of games in January and was unable to practice at full-speed the rest of the season.

Manuel averaged 5.5 points and 3.5 rebounds and had 55 assists in 26 games. He scored a season-high 16 points on five of seven shooting from the floor against Clemson in Chapel Hill. Manuel also had 11 points in Charlotte against 15th-ranked Saint Joseph's. He struggled shooting the ball early in the season, which affected his confidence. However, he has worked very hard in the offseason to develop more consistency from the floor.

"Jackie may be the best athlete on the team," says Doherty. "He missed some shots early last year and that shook his confidence. However, Jackie understood shot selection better as the year went on and became more comfortable on the court. He really has improved his strength and his overall athleticism in the offseason. He has gained 10 pounds. That will give him a lot of confidence. I think you will see a much more relaxed player.

"Last year's experience obviously will help Jackie, Jawad and Melvin this year. Their leadership will be crucial this year. They can share their experiences with the freshmen."

Doherty welcomes six freshmen – point guard Raymond Felton, swing men Rashad McCants and David Noel and frontcourt players Damion Grant, Sean May and Byron Sanders.

Felton led Latta High School to the South Carolina 1-A state championship last year and was named the Naismith Prep National Player of the Year. Felton also was a consensus high school All-America.

"Raymond is a great talent, but there is going to be an adjustment period," says Doherty. "People have talked about him so much, they are going to expect him to never miss a shot, to never turn the ball over, to steal the ball from his man every time and win every game – and that's not going to happen. I hope people give him a chance to grow and develop, and if they do, I think Raymond will have a great career here. Remember – Raymond is not surrounded by experienced players. Other freshmen point guards who have played a lot at Carolina have had experienced players around them."

Grant is a 6-11 center from Portland, Jamaica. He played last year at Brewster Academy in New Hampshire, but that was just his second full year of organized basketball.

"Damion has great size and an enthusiasm to learn and get better," says Doherty. "He has not played a lot of basketball, so the transition to major college basketball is going to take a while. But we are excited about his commitment to improve in all aspects of his game. I hope he can give us some minutes up front, play big on the glass and on the defensive end of the court."

May, a 6-8 native of Bloomington, Ind., broke Holmes' county high school county scoring record and is a multi-dimensional post player. May was a McDonald's and Parade All-America and was named Mr. Basketball in Indiana.

"Sean will be an exciting player to watch develop because he is big enough to bang inside and has nice ball skills and shooting touch," says Doherty. "The scary thing is that as a freshman who has not played a college basketball game, Sean is still our most experienced post player. That is asking a lot of a freshman. I think he is up to the challenge, however."

McCants, a native of Asheville, played the last two seasons at New Hampton Prep in New Hampshire. The 6-4 wing man has explosive ball skills and leaping ability. He was the Gatorade Player of the Year in New Hampshire and was a Parade and McDonald's All-America.

"McCants is a guy who is capable of scoring, is a strong presence and very tough-minded," says Doherty. "If he works hard, he has a chance to have a good career here."

Noel, a 6-6 swing man, played at Southern Durham High School where he was a two-sport standout. Noel is walking on to the UNC basketball team after considering scholarship offers from a number of schools to play football and basketball.

"Obviously David is a physically gifted athlete," says Doherty. "He has good size and strength and had his heart set on playing for the Tar Heels. We will look for him to give us added athleticism and toughness on the perimeter."

Sanders is a 6-9, 225-pound forward from Gulfport, Miss. He was the Gatorade Player of the Year in Mississippi and led Harrison Central High School to the finals of the high school state championships.

"Byron is eager to learn and improve his game," says Doherty. "He knows he has to work hard to get stronger in order to play with the physical frontcourt players we compete against. I think people will enjoy watching him play and improve."

Doherty is obviously aware of the expectations placed on the newcomers.

"The freshmen had great high school careers, but we need to see that on the court. There have been great high school players who didn't have great college careers and guys like Hubert Davis, who were not highly recruited but had great collegiate careers. You don't know what you have until games start.

"I am concerned about our size and how young we are," adds Doherty. "This is the youngest team in Carolina history and we play a very difficult schedule. Our strengths will be speed and athleticism, and hopefully that will result in transition baskets and pressure defense. I'd like to play pressure defense. But can we do it with this young group, can we do it for 40 minutes without wearing out? Those are the things we need to find out.

"In an ideal world you would like to let freshmen learn from juniors and seniors and they wouldn't have to take on such a prominent role. But with this group, I'm going to have to play them. If you are a Carolina fan, you have to give them a chance to make mistakes. They will be a fun group to coach.

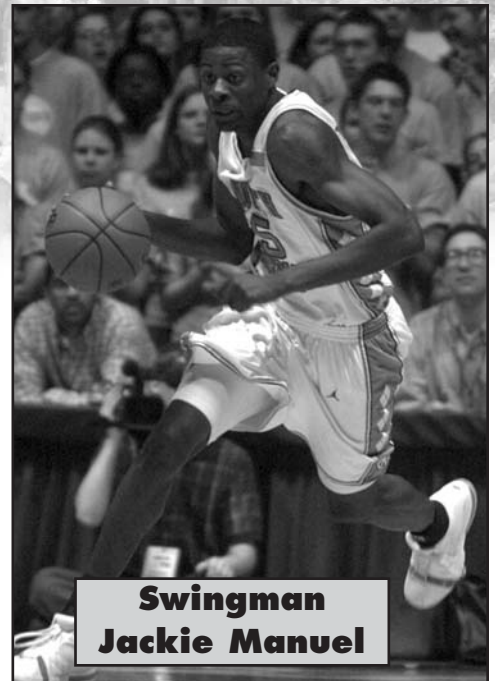

"Last year, the freshmen were put in tough positions early and that shook their confidence at times when they didn't find success. They settled in toward the end of the season.

"I expect the freshmen to listen, learn from the upperclassmen, work hard and when they step on the court, play with great confidence and energy and play beyond their years. They need to not be afraid; they need to attack and play the game. I have to let them play and let them make mistakes."

The Tar Heels play at least 13 games against teams that played in the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament a year ago. Those teams include Illinois (#4 seed), Kentucky (#4 seed), Miami (#5 seed), Davidson (#13 seed), Connecticut (#2 seed), Maryland (#1 seed, NCAA champions), NC State (#7 seed), Wake Forest (#7 seed) and Duke (#1 seed). Carolina could also play additional games against NCAA Tournament qualifiers should it advance in the Preseason NIT and could play St. John's in the Holiday Festival.

"Our schedule is so tough at the start," says Doherty. "But we want to go against the best; that's Carolina Basketball. We have to be prepared. If we have a setback, we have to maintain the players' confidence. Let's be concerned about getting better each day. These early games will be great tests for us. Experience is such a key thing."

UNC will play in the inaugural games in two new on-campus arenas. On November 24, the Tar Heels open the Constant Convocation Center in Norfolk, Va., against Old Dominion University. On January 4, Carolina plays Miami in the first game at the Convocation Center in Coral Gables, Fla.

"We are a national draw and people want to sell out those games," says Doherty. "It's a great credit to Carolina Basketball that over the years the program has been asked to be the first opponent in a number of different arenas."

TAR HEEL TIDBITS

- ✓ Carolina must replace three starters, 65 percent of its scoring, 59 percent of its rebounds and 60 percent of its assists from last season.
- ✓ The 2002-03 Tar Heels are the first UNC team that has included just two upperclassmen.
- ✓ Over the last 50 years, Carolina has averaged nearly eight juniors and seniors per season.
- ✓ The Tar Heels will play at least 13 games against 2002 NCAA Tournament participants

"Fundamentals are the game's required reading, its compulsory figures. If [a player] refuses to learn them, an ordinary ballplayer won't become good. If he does learn them, who knows where someone blessed with talent will soar? Year after year, North Carolina gives us examples of both."

CAROLINA

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE

U.S. News & World Report ranks Carolina as the fifth-best public university in the nation.

◀ Vince Carter helped lead Carolina to back-to-back ACC titles and Final Four berths in 1997 and 1998.

◀ Perhaps the best point guard in NCAA history, Phil Ford was the National Player of the Year in 1978.

In 1993, Final Four Most Outstanding Player Donald Williams and frontcourt standouts George Lynch and Eric Montross led Carolina past Michigan, 77-71. The championship was Dean Smith's second national title.

One of the best defensive players ► in UNC history, George Lynch was the captain of the 1993 Tar Heels.

In 1982, James Worthy scored 28 points and Michael Jordan hit the game-winning shot as Carolina edged Georgetown, 63-62.

Sam Perkins and James Worthy ► with the 1982 trophy.

In 1957, Carolina went 32-0 and won the national championship by defeating Michigan State and Kansas in the Final Four. Both games went to triple overtime. Carolina was led by National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth.

◀ Lennie Rosenbluth and Frank
McGuire led Carolina to a 32-0 record and its first NCAA title.

Carolina has won four national titles, including three NCAA championships.

Donald Williams was the ►
the 1993 NCAA Final Four.

*In 1924, Cartwright
Carmichael and Jack Cobb led Carolina to a 26-0 record.
UNC was voted the national champion by the Helms Foundation.*

*Matt Doherty
and James Worthy helped lead Carolina to the 1982 national championship.*

*Carolina has been

15 FINAL FOURS

Carolina has been to at least one Final Four in each of the last seven decades.

▲ THREE-PEAT: In 1969, Bill Bunting, Rusty Clark and Dick Grubar led Carolina to a 27-5 record and its third straight Final Four.

▲ Carolina has been to the Final Four in six of the past 12 seasons.

Carolina Basketball is nationally known for its prominence both on the playing court and academically. Not only is the University proud of achievements such as 15 Final Fours and being the winningest program in Atlantic Coast Conference history, it is also proud of the academic record of its men's basketball players.

Over the past 40 years, a staggering percentage of men's basketball student-athletes and managers have earned their undergraduate degrees from the University of North Carolina. Many have gone on to postgraduate degrees and professional careers such as law and medicine.

Over a nine-year stretch from 1993-2002, nearly 80 percent of the Tar Heels have earned degrees. That is the highest percentage in the ACC.

Carolina's Academic Support Program for Student-Athletes is a major component in the lives of a Tar Heel.

In December 1999, Jerry Stackhouse and Antawn Jamison received their degrees at Commencement exercises in the Smith Center. Stackhouse had entered the NBA draft after his sophomore year in 1995 and Jamison declared for the NBA after his junior season in 1998.

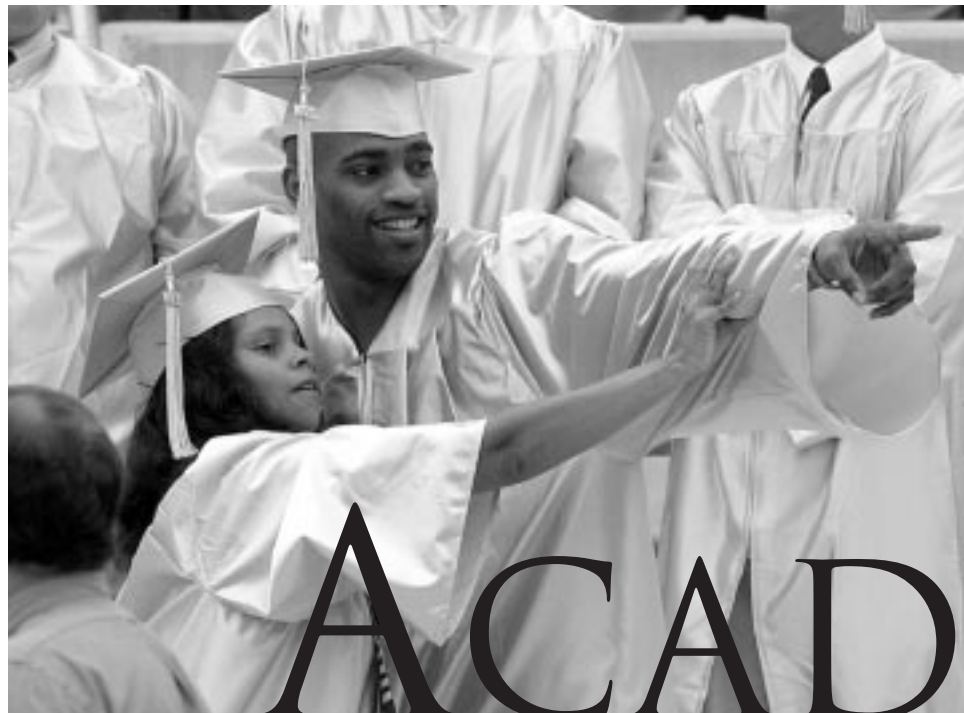

Vince Carter made national headlines after attending Graduation the same morning he was preparing to play the Philadelphia 76ers in Game 7 of the 2001 NBA Eastern Conference finals.

"Dream big dreams. Dream the kind of dreams Vince Carter is dreaming today," UNC Board of Governors Chairman Benjamin S. Ruffin said.

"The best part about it was actually walking into the stadium (for graduation)," said Carter. "It was awesome, a wonderful feeling. It was a breath of fresh air just to be able to put a cap and gown

"That was one of the main reasons I went to Carolina. A lot of the other programs were telling me how I could be this and that, but Carolina always talked about getting an education first."

– Antawn Jamison

"Vince Carter donned some Carolina blue yesterday for the last time. His smile could have lit up the world. He was attending his college graduation and I could only think of one thing. This is great. Kids are watching."

– Dan Patrick, ESPN

Carolina Basketball's graduation rate over the last eight years is nearly 80 percent – the highest figure in the ACC.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The Academic Support Program assists student-athletes in successfully reaching their academic goals. The program supports students in the process of exploring their interests and abilities and in developing a broad academic experience.

Men's basketball players receive unparalleled individual instruction from counselors and tutors. UNC is unique in that every tutor who works with the men's basketball program is a professional educator — no undergraduate tutors — and each works with a specific academic program. English professors work with the student-athletes in English subjects, math professors help with math, etc.

Computers are available for basketball players to use in the players' lounge, adjacent to the locker room in the Smith Center. The computers are equipped with laser printers complete with a variety of software packages, including word processing, spreadsheets, CD-ROM reference materials, internet access and e-mail.

Carolina's academic support staff, led by Robert Mercer and Burgess McSwain, works with the current student-athletes as well as with those players who may go on to NBA careers before receiving their degree.

"My life has had some thrilling moments, but this ranks right up there with all of them. It was easy and fun to go back into the classroom, be a student and do what I needed to do. I told my mom [when I left UNC] that I wanted to get my degree for myself. I worked hard to get it, and I know that she's proud of that."

on and walk out there and accomplish something like that. A lot of people might not think it's important, might not care if they get their degree. It doesn't work that way in my family; it doesn't work that way in my mind."

"As a kid, I always dreamed about playing in the NBA," says Jamison, who was one of three players in the NBA to average 24 points and eight rebounds per game last year (Shaquille O'Neal and Chris Webber were the other two.) "But I never realized how special graduating from college would be. It's more important than anything I've accomplished in my life.

"That was one of the main reasons I went to Carolina," says Jamison. "A lot of the other programs were telling me how I could be this and that, but Carolina always talked about getting an education first. I know how important it is to Coach Smith that the players get their degrees. In some ways, it's a show of respect for Coach and the Carolina family to go ahead and work and get your degree."

"Graduating means more to me than anything in basketball," said Stackhouse. "We've played basketball all of our lives. This is something special because I used my mind instead of my body."

Carter, Jamison and Stackhouse are by no means the only former Tar Heels to get their college degrees. But each of them have led their respective NBA teams in scoring, are considered among the finest players in the world and have demonstrated the value of a Carolina education. They are shining stars both on and off the court and they have made UNC very proud of them.

► The Carolina players' lounge includes a computer lab for use exclusively by members of the men's basketball team, as well as a pool table, stereo and wide-screen television.

► The American Society of Landscape Architects selected the Carolina campus as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country.

► In labeling Chapel Hill America's finest college town, Sports Illustrated said it is "the purest example we could find of a college town that is defined by a university—and a good university."

► Black Enterprise magazine gave UNC its highest ranking among major public universities and Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine called UNC a place where high achievers are in good company.

The Triangle (Raleigh, Durham and Chapel Hill), just a short drive from the ocean to the East and mountains to the West, has become one of America's top areas in which to reside.

Now in its third century, UNC belongs to the select group of 61 American and two Canadian campuses forming the Association of American Universities. UNC's academic offerings span more than 100 fields, including 84 bachelor's, 165 master's and 108 doctoral degrees as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy and law,

"He is a miracle worker, a man who performs feats so dramatic, they seem too good to be true. If Michael Jordan were a fictional character, if his career were the product of some writer's imagination, he would be dismissed as too wonderful to believe. But he is the real thing."

— Phil Taylor
Sports Illustrated
April 17, 1998

"Jordan, as ice-bucket cool as a 6'5" freshman could be, had already contributed six baskets and nine rebounds. Now, with 18 seconds to go, Jordan caught Black's pass in front of the Carolina bench. He was all alone. It was a play designed for him. He was right where he had imagined he would be on the bus ride over from the hotel, with the ball — and the game — in his hands. 'I didn't see it go in,' he said. 'I didn't look at the ball at all. I just prayed.' String music, choir."

— Curry Kirkpatrick, Sports Illustrated
April 5, 1982

"There is so much I can say about North Carolina and my experience there. I forged many special relationships and life-long friendships, received a quality education, and developed both personally and athletically."

— Michael Jordan

Widely regarded as the best basketball player of all-time, Michael Jordan honed his game at Carolina.

In a survey of Division I coaches published during the 2000-01 season, The Sporting News ranked the Dean E. Smith Center as the No. 1 Game Venue in all of college basketball. The Sporting News wrote that “packing more than 21,000 people who bleed Tar Heel Blue into the Smith Center is a sure thing for creating that warm glow that college sports fans flock to in the dead of winter.”

The Smith Center's new seating plan ► gives Carolina students more seats around the lower bowl of the arena and puts 400 students on five risers directly behind one basket. The effect is a loud, raucous Carolina home crowd.

A packed house of over 10,000 annually turns out for Carolina's first practice of the season at Midnight Madness.

CAROLINA GAMEDAY

“If The Sporting News had an award for fans of the year, North Carolina would be a runaway winner.”

— The Sporting News
February, 2002

The Smith Center's capacity of 21,750 ► makes it the largest arena in the ACC. Carolina annually is among the top five schools in the nation in attendance.

The practice gym is an exact replica of the Smith Center floor.

UNMATCHED FACILITIES

▲ LOUNGE (above): The Carolina players' lounge includes a computer lab for use exclusively by men's basketball players. Photos of past Tar Heel greats line the walls.

Renovations at the Smith Center in the last two years give the Tar Heel basketball team unsurpassed facilities at its disposal. The projects, which cost nearly $2 million, expanded the locker room, weight room and players lounge and added a practice gym that is used exclusively by the men's basketball program.

▼ LOCKER ROOM (right above): The Tar Heel lockerroom is bigger and includes more amenities than those in many NBA arenas. Designed with the height of basketball players in mind, the UNC facility features spacious lockers, a large-screen TV, stereo and equipment for coaches and players to study game film.

► WEIGHT ROOM (right): Strength & conditioning coordinator Thomas McKinney works with the men's basketball team, in a state-of-the-art weight room.

► PRACTICE GYM: Current and former Carolina players have a brand-new practice facility at their disposal for walk-throughs on gameday, pickup games in the summer and practice sessions when other events are being held on the main arena floor.

Smith Center Weight Room

The Carolina Basketball weight room is a 1,000-square foot facility residing on the ground floor of the 21,750-seat Dean E. Smith Center, adjacent to the Tar Heel locker room and practice gym. The space was originally used as a media room but was converted and expanded to a strength and conditioning facility as part of the renovation to modernize Smith Center facilities, completed in 2001.

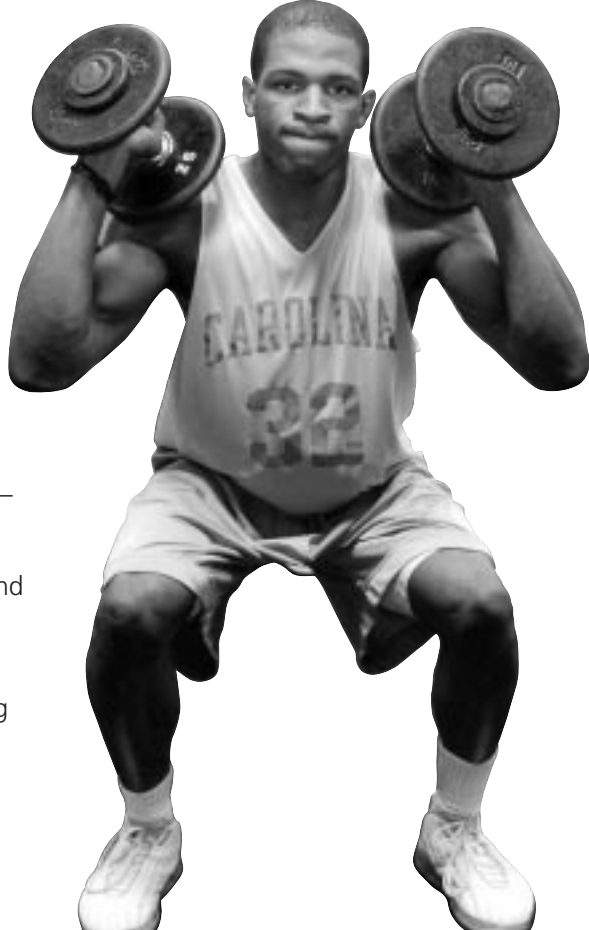

Used exclusively by the UNC men's basketball team, the weight room is designed and equipped to allow the Tar Heels to train effectively and efficiently in team and individual settings.

The mission of Tar Heel Basketball strength and conditioning program is to enhance components of the athleticism of its players. Individual workout programs are designed and supervised by Thomas McKinney, a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist. The training philosophy reinforces the goals of head coach Matt Doherty and his staff – challenging UNC's student-athletes to excel every day in the classroom and on the court.

Through the use of movement drills, exercises inside weight room and the training of energy systems on the court, Carolina Basketball players develop their competitiveness, confidence, fundamentals and toughness.

The weight room's training equipment parallels the Tar Heel Basketball philosophy, and exposes its student-athletes to the best training equipment. The room is designed to allow basketball players the ability to perform an unlimited variety of exercises and movements.

Former strength and conditioning coaches who built the foundation for Carolina's Strength and Conditioning Program include Harley Dartt (1988-1993) and Ben Cook (1993-2001).

Carolina head Coach Matt Doherty was voted the National Coach of the Year for 2000-01 by the Associated Press. He is the first Tar Heel and just the second ACC coach to win the award.

Matt Doherty was named National Coach of the Year in 2000-01 by the Associated Press.

COACH COACHING MATT MATT DOHERTY DOHERTY LEGACY

"If it wasn't for the University, I definitely wouldn't be in this situation that I am now, so I owe a lot to them. Every opportunity I get, I'm always checking my boys out."

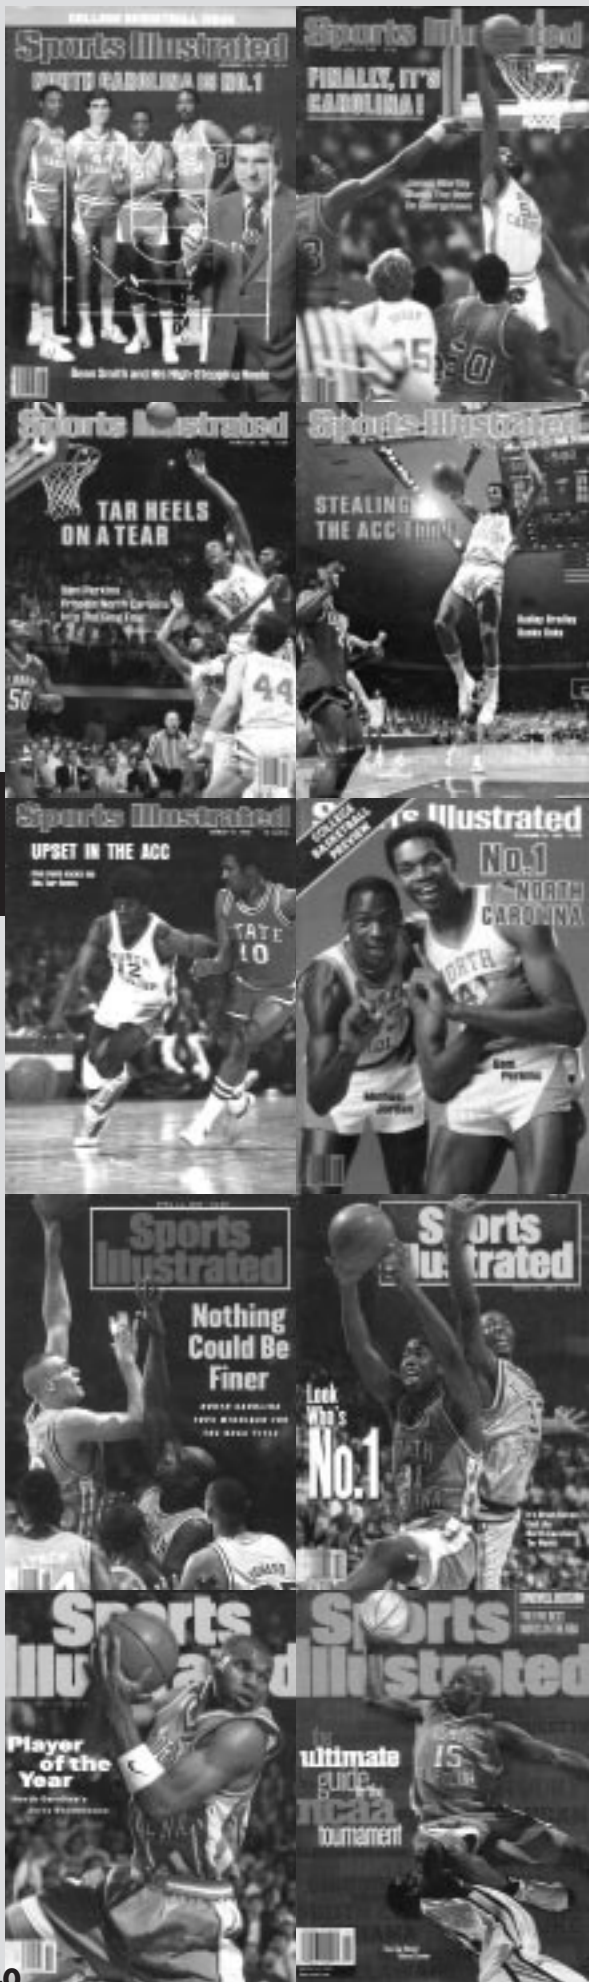

"I think Matt Doherty is doing a tremendous job of having those guys play hard for him and keeping the tradition alive. I bleed Carolina Blue. I'm always watching those guys and I'm very proud."

— Antawn Jamison

Carolina claimed seven Atlantic Coast Conference team titles in 2001-02. The Tar Heels have won 225 team titles in ACC history, dating back to 1953-54. No other school in the ACC has won 200 titles and only three other schools have as many as 100 league crowns.

Carolina finished fourth in the Sears Cup all-sports competition in 2001-02. The fourth-place finish marks the seventh time in nine years the Tar Heels have placed in the Top 10 in the country. This is also the eighth time in nine years UNC is the highest-finishing school in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

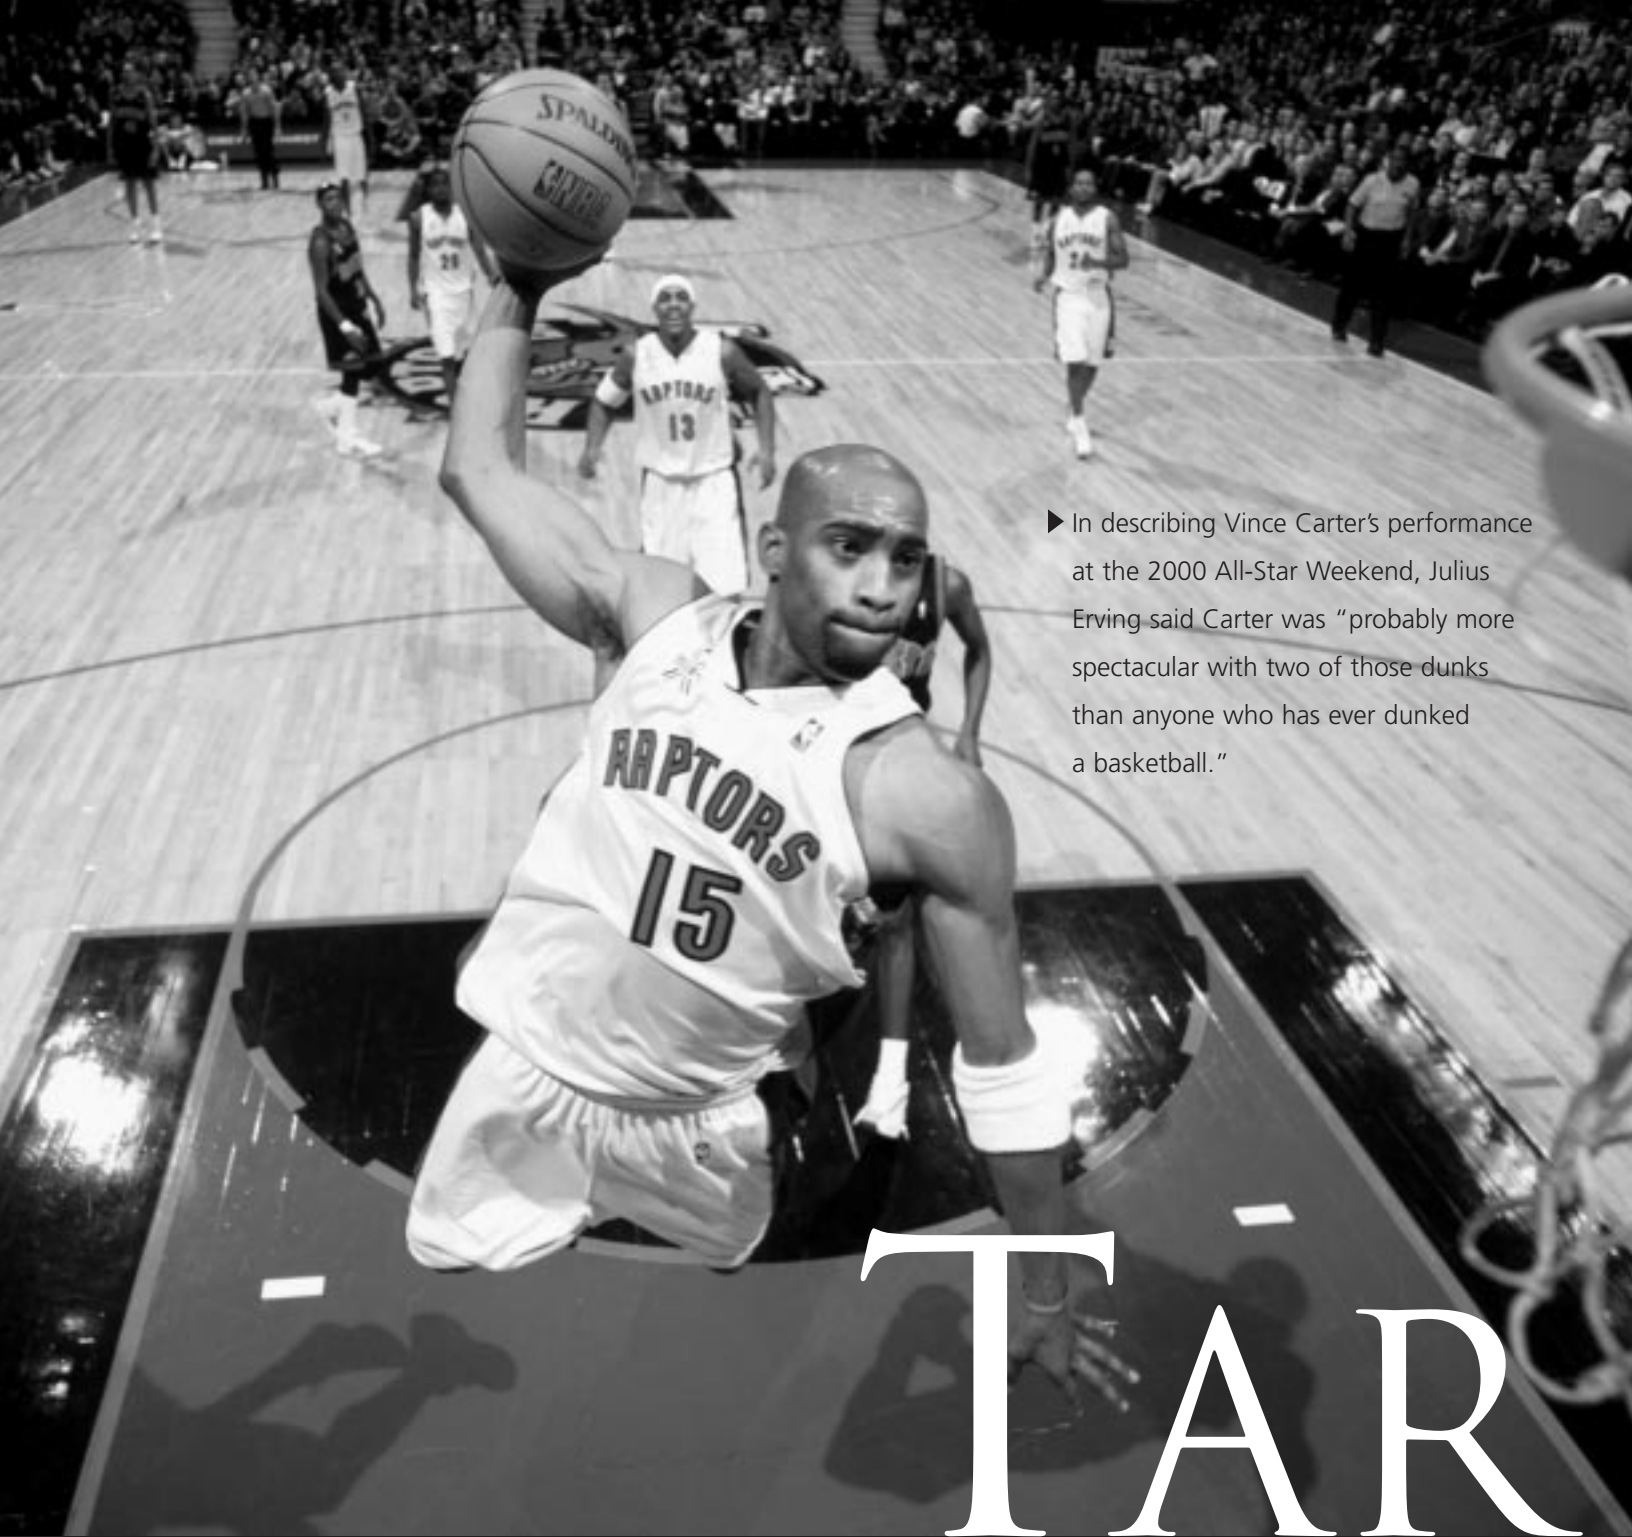

CAROLINA'S ATHLETIC TRADITION

In October 2002, Sports Illustrated named Carolina the country's eighth-best "Sports College." UNC was the only ACC team ranked in the top 15.

Carolina and Maryland are the only two ACC programs with at least 100 men's championships. The Tar Heels have won 31 ACC men's titles in the last 11 years.

Carolina has led or shared the lead in the ACC in team titles in each of the last 15 years.

► In describing Vince Carter's performance at the 2000 All-Star Weekend, Julius Erving said Carter was "probably more spectacular with two of those dunks than anyone who has ever dunked a basketball."

"We always look for players from North Carolina. If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character like James and Michael Jordan. I have a lot of respect for Coach Smith. I'm the beneficiary of a man who has taught all these guys how to play the game. When they come to the pros, they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

Stackhouse a Leader In Charity Work

BY STEVE WYCHE
Washington Post, Sept. 26, 2002

“Though Stackhouse’s main focus is on diabetes, he also has earned a reputation as one of the NBA’s most active players in charity work. He has been recognized several times for his civic endeavors and hopes to carry on the tradition in Washington . . .

‘I’ve been able to touch a lot of people on and off the court and I think I’ve made a difference in a few kids’ lives,’ Stackhouse said. ‘I’m going to keep trying. If I reach two or three kids, then I’m doing what I’m supposed to do.

‘What happens to a lot of these [athletes] is they try to put themselves in a different light than the people they’re around or the people who watch them play,’ Stackhouse said. ‘I’m not like that. I know when I’m walking around some people might look at me funny or are apprehensive to walk up to me or past me. So I’ll go up to them. It’s no strain on me. Nine times out of 10 all they want to do is say hello. Then I’m on my way and they’re on their way.’

“You look at the NBA and you look at Carter and Jamison, Stackhouse and Wallace, what they are doing at the NBA level. It just blows you away,” said Dick Vitale on the February 3, 2001 ESPN telecast of the UNC-Duke game. “Their numbers have gotten so much better because at Carolina, they learned how to play the team concept, they learned how to be unselfish, they learned fundamentals and they transformed that into the NBA to where they are standouts.”

When SLAM Magazine named its list of the top 50 dunkers in basketball history in December 2001, an amazing five Tar Heels were on the list: #1 Vice Carter, #2 Michael Jordan, #28 Jerry Stackhouse, #29 Billy Cunningham and #50 Rasheed Wallace.

TAR HEELS IN THE NBA

Sports Illustrated senior writer Alex Wolff penned a column on CNN/SI.com on February 8, 2001. The following are excerpts from that column:

“Check out the NBA scoring leaders, and among the top eight you’ll find three erstwhile Heels: Jerry Stackhouse, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison.

I’m going to take the decidedly old-school position that you can trace the success of all of these guys to some aspect of the Carolina way.

There aren’t many others in the NBA as adept at knowing where and when to bring their physical gifts to bear.

Most of all, at Carolina all these guys learned the habit of winning. They developed the mental conditioning to face, and usually subdue, a succession of opponents determined to make their own season by taking out the princelings of the Piedmont. Imposing your will, night after night, is one of the most gueling demands the NBA makes on its players.”

HARDWORKING DEDICATION

Guard Jonathan Holmes eager for senior season.

by Adam Lucas,
TarHeelBlue.com

Jonathan Holmes didn't have to come to the University of North Carolina to get his first pair of Air Jordan sneakers.

Although the Tar Heels sport an apparel deal with the ex-Carolina legend's Nike imprint, Holmes got his first pair of the highly-prized shoes in an unconventional manner: he read books for them.

As a seventh-grader, the son of Bloomington South basketball coach J.R. Holmes had his eyes set on the latest pair of got the Jordans."

That story probably wouldn't surprise Holmes's Tar Heel teammates, who have grown accustomed to his hardworking dedication. An errant elbow in practice cost him eight stitches in the chin last December, and last January before a home game against NC State, the squad was going through a "toughness drill," which focuses on boxing out. On this occasion, Holmes took an elbow in the throat from Melvin Scott.

He went to the sideline, got sick, and returned to the drill. Matt Doherty told him to go get some water. He declined, stepped back into line, and finished the drill. Then, and only then, did he get water.

"Not many guys will do that," Jawad Williams said. "Usually if you throw up, you're done for the day."

"Ever since I've played basketball that's the only way I knew how to play," Holmes said. "If nothing's broken there's no reason why you shouldn't come back and finish the drill ... It's not like I was paralyzed or anything like that."

Before arriving at Carolina, Holmes spent his entire basketball career as the star of the show. He was a two-time all-state selection in Indiana, and finished as the runner-up in balloting for Mr. Basketball. He saw action in 25 games as a Tar Heel freshman, when he backed up Ed Cota, but his participation dipped to just 14 games each of the next two seasons.

"I came out of high school thinking I was pretty good," Holmes said. "I was expecting to come in here and play a lot and eventually be the starter. I've had to readjust that thinking. It's required me to learn a lot about myself. I'm a different person than when I came here, and I wouldn't trade the experience for the world."

Jordan sneakers. His mother, Martha, told him he could have them—for a price.

In exchange for the shoes, he had to finish reading five books. These weren't just kids' books, either. They were legitimate literary works such as A Tale of Two Cities and David Copperfield that were quite a bit heavier than the sports section from the local newspaper.

"Those old-school Jordans were about $140," Holmes said. "I didn't have a job, because all I did was play basketball. So she had me read all those books, and it wasn't an overnight deal. It took me a while to do it. It ended up not being too bad, because I

STAYING HOME TO LEAD

Will Johnson stayed at UNC last summer to hone his game.

by Adam Lucas,
TarHeelBlue.com

As a Morehead Scholar, Will Johnson had the chance to travel almost anywhere in the world in the summer before his senior year at the University of North Carolina.

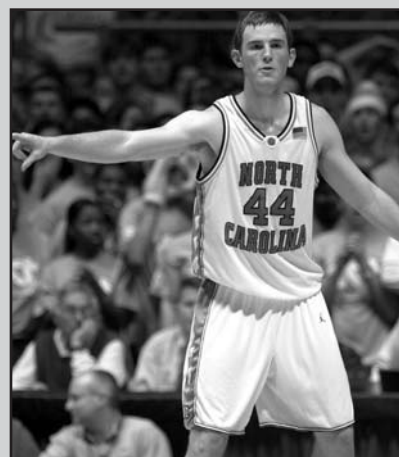

He chose Chapel Hill.

Recipients of the Morehead, the most prestigious academic award on the Carolina campus, participate in a bevy of summer enrichment programs designed to foster leadership and provide real-world life experience. The summer before a student's senior year is devoted to travel, with some encounters including trips to Iceland or South Africa.

Johnson, a senior from Hickory, decided his travel could wait. Instead, he chose to remain in Chapel Hill throughout the summer. By day, he worked at the various basketball camps that passed through the Smith Center and assisted in the athletics ticket office. By night, he was a one-man basketball league organizer, responsible for arranging the nightly pickup games between current Tar Heels, the incoming freshmen, and alums like Shammond Williams, Antawn Jamison, and Ed Cota who wanted to get some practice at their alma mater.

"I deferred [the travel program] because I wanted to be here and be with the team and have a chance to be in the gym," Johnson said. "I definitely think it was the right decision."

On most evenings, Johnson was the last one to leave the Smith Center. While other players were heading back to their cars, he always seemed to have a few more free throws to shoot or a few more jumpers to practice. Quietly, he has turned into one of the most consistent outside shooters on the team. In 2001-02, his 43 percent three-point shooting was tied for the best on the squad among players in the regular rotation.

"He does the little things that you appreciate as a coach," Matt Doherty said. "He's also a very good outside shooter. He's a solid team player, but he's also capable of scoring."

Johnson, an all-state soccer and basketball player in high school, has always had a way of surprising people. Two summers ago, he played in the well-respected Dyckman League in Harlem, which annually draws some of the top playground players in New York City in addition to several Division I competitors. He was also probably the only participant who spent his days interning at Morgan Stanley.

Whether in Harlem or Durham, Johnson knows that on a high-level basketball court, initial reactions to a red-headed kid from Hickory who looks more like a fraternity president than a basketball player are suspicious. Can he play? Is he any good? Why is he here? It's those questions that prompt him to spend those long nights at the Smith Center.

"It's kind of a necessary evil, because it keeps me going," he said. "It makes me angry, but I turn that anger into going down to the gym and working out. People have done that to me ever since I was in high school. I've got one more year to keep proving people wrong, and hopefully I can continue to do that."

AT CAROLINA

Arguably the finest athlete on the team • An excellent outside shooter who has worked in the offseason to become a stronger, more physical presence on the floor • Did not shoot the ball well early in his freshman season, but developed more confidence as the season went on • Is a much more confident player heading into his second season • Could become a defensive stopper • Spent a lot of time in the weight room in the offseason and added 10 pounds to his frame • Will see time at the two-guard and small forward positions • Wears No. 5 because he wanted No. 33, but that number is retired at Carolina (Antawn Jamison).

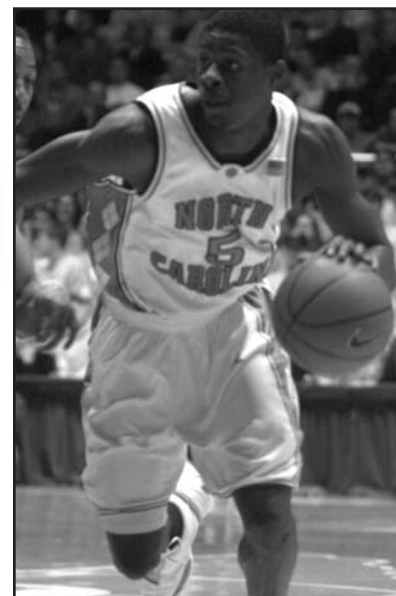

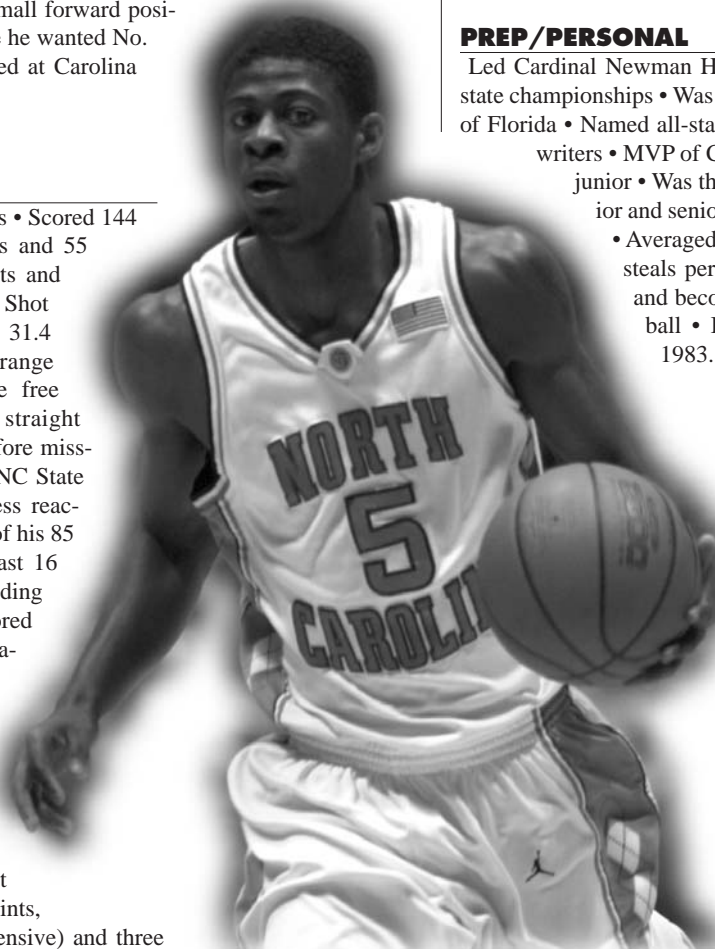

FRESHMAN SEASON (2001-02)

Played in 26 of the 28 games • Scored 144 points and had 92 rebounds and 55 assists • Averaged 5.5 points and 3.5 rebounds per game • Shot 32.9 percent from the floor, 31.4 percent from three-point range and 56.6 percent from the free throw line • Started 14 straight games at shooting guard before missing two games in January (NC State and Clemson) due to a stress reaction in his left foot • Hit 29 of his 85 field goal attempts in his last 16 games of the season, including 13 of 40 three-pointers • Scored in double figures on two occasions • Had a season-high 16 points in the Feb. 27 win over Clemson and 11 points in the win over Saint Joseph's • Had eight points, a blocked shot and a steal in his first college game, against Hampton • Scored eight points, with six rebounds (four offensive) and three assists against Indiana • Hit three free throws late in the game in the win over Georgia Tech • Got in early foul trouble, but had four assists and three steals in that Dec. 2 win over the Yellow Jackets • Hit 4 of 5 shots (including 2 of 3 three-pointers) in the win over No. 15 Saint Joseph's • Grabbed a season-high seven rebounds against Virginia on Jan. 12 • Had five points, five rebounds and three assists against Duke on Jan. 31 • Made 5 of 7 shots from the floor and had five rebounds and three steals in the home win over Clemson.

PREP/PERSONAL

Led Cardinal Newman High School in West Palm Beach, Fla., to two state championships • Was named Gatorade Player of the Year in the state of Florida • Named all-state for Class 3-A, as chosen by Florida sports-writers • MVP of Class 3-A state tournament as a sophomore and junior • Was the Palm Beach Post Player of the Year as a junior and senior • Played shooting guard at Cardinal Newman • Averaged 20.8 points, 11 rebounds, 4.5 assists and three steals per game as a senior • Hopes to major in drama and become an actor after playing professional basketball • Born Jackie Kameron Manuel on March 29, 1983.

RENEWED CONFIDENCE

by Adam Lucas,
TarHeelBlue.com

Jackie Manuel appeared in a high school production of "Tony and Tina's Wedding," but even that couldn't prepare him adequately for the grand stage that is Atlantic Coast Conference basketball.

"At times when I was on the floor last year, I was nervous," Manuel said. "I was amazed by the crowd and the atmosphere and I wasn't myself. Just being on the floor and playing in the ACC made me nervous. It was a new experience and I wasn't used to playing in front of thousands of people. This year, I've been through that and I want to come in with the confidence that I had back in high school so I can play my game."

Playing his game features a slashing, athletic style. Manuel's first step is quick enough to leave behind many defenders, even at the ACC level, but the competition at Cardinal Newman High in West Palm Beach, Florida didn't prepare him for the type of physical specimens he encountered during his freshman season for the Tar Heels.

After frequently dashing into the paint last year only to discover a physically stronger player between him and the hoop, Manuel knew he had to bulk up in order to compete at the highest level. Offseason weight work added about ten pounds to the 185 that he carried at the end of the 2001-02 season.

When he wasn't in the weight room, much of his summer work was devoted to improving the mechanics of his shot. His 32.9 percent mark from the field was the lowest on last year's squad, and he also struggled from the free throw line.

"I really worked hard on my shooting," Manuel said. "I want to be able to shoot off the dribble and be consistent with my shot."

On the other end of the court, the sophomore has the frame to be a defensive stopper. His long arms and lanky build make him a candidate to defend at several positions, and his increased bulk should help him avoid being outmuscled.

After a disappointing loss at Kentucky last year dropped the Tar Heels to 1-4, Manuel, who grew up watching Carolina overpower opponents on television, realized that offense wasn't the only way that he could contribute to the team.

"Maybe if I would've played better defense, that would've helped the team out," he said. "After that game, I told myself that I wasn't going to let that happen again. I like playing defense. I have that desire. Some people who don't like defense are not going to do it."

Renewed defensive commitment and improved offensive decision-making should make this year's edition of Jackie Manuel more closely resemble the high school player who was among Matt Doherty's first telephone calls on the night he accepted the Carolina head coaching job in July of 2000.

"Jackie was always a good player," fellow sophomore Jawad Williams said. "But there were times last year when he didn't look like he knew what he wanted to do. Now, he is more confident."

BACK HOME ON THE WING

Melvin Scott hopes time at the point will help him as a sophomore.

by Adam Lucas,
TarHeelBlue.com

Do not make a mistake anywhere near the vicinity of Melvin Scott. Do not brick a three-point attempt. Do not wear an ugly shirt. Do not do anything that remotely might come back to haunt you.

The street-smart sophomore from Baltimore has the quickest lip on the team, and he doesn't limit his commentary to basketball. Last spring, players were going through offseason workouts in the Smith Center. Jackie Manuel had just finished an intense weightlifting session and was feeling a little queasy, so he sought refuge in the trainer's room.

In came Scott with a devilish smile. "Hey Jackie," he said. "How about a big ol' Big Mac with a large order of fries?"

The reason he can get away with the razor-sharp tongue is that he's equally hard on himself. As a high schooler, he used to rise at 5:30 in order to get to Southern Baltimore High early enough to work out with head basketball coach Meredith Smith.

But he still conserved enough energy to be all over the floor in afternoon practice. Southern had a drill that involved running the length of the court 10 times in one minute, with five sets of the drill spaced 45 seconds apart. Completing the running was never a problem for Scott. It was what he did during the break periods that was strange.

Other players grabbed their shorts or even lay down during their 45 seconds of rest. Melvin Scott jogged. And then, when players who had failed to complete the drill had to do it again, he ran with them too.

"He hates to lose," Smith said. "In pickup games he would take the worst players and expect to win. Sometimes just by his sheer force of will, he would win games he had no business winning. But when he would take those guys and lose, he might kick the basketball up in the air. I could beat him in table tennis, and we always had to play until I let him win."

Obviously, then, last year's 8-20 season didn't sit well with him. Beyond just the surprising record, he spent the season trying to learn the point guard position on the job after spending most of his high school career as a shooting guard. His assist-to-turnover ratio ended the season under 1:1, and his usually reliable outside stroke suffered under the weight of his other responsibilities.

This season, he will return to the more comfortable environs of the shooting guard position. As he looks toward his sophomore campaign, Scott describes a career arc that sounds reminiscent of one of his frequent summer pickup opponents, Shammond Williams.

"I'm a scorer," Scott said. "I can pass the ball, but I was on the wing for my whole high school career. I knew coming in here that I would have to play some point guard, but my natural position is the two-guard. At the next level, I know I'll have to play the point. I just want to do whatever the team needs me to do."

THE WILLIAMS FILE

Full given name: Jawad Hason Williams
Birthdate: Feb. 19, 1983
Place of birth: Cleveland, Ohio
Parents' names: Joseph & Gail Hillman-Williams
High school coach's name: Eric Flannery

AT CAROLINA

Despite being a sophomore, he is the leading returning scorer and rebounder for the Tar Heels • Made tremendous progress as a freshman, especially on the defensive end • Could develop into an outstanding all-around player • Can score inside as well as knock down the three-point shot • Improved each game last year in virtually every area • Also worked diligently to get stronger in the offseason • Will be expected to provide solid leadership for the six freshmen • Wears No. 21 because his favorite player is Kevin Garnett.

FRESHMAN SEASON (2001-02)

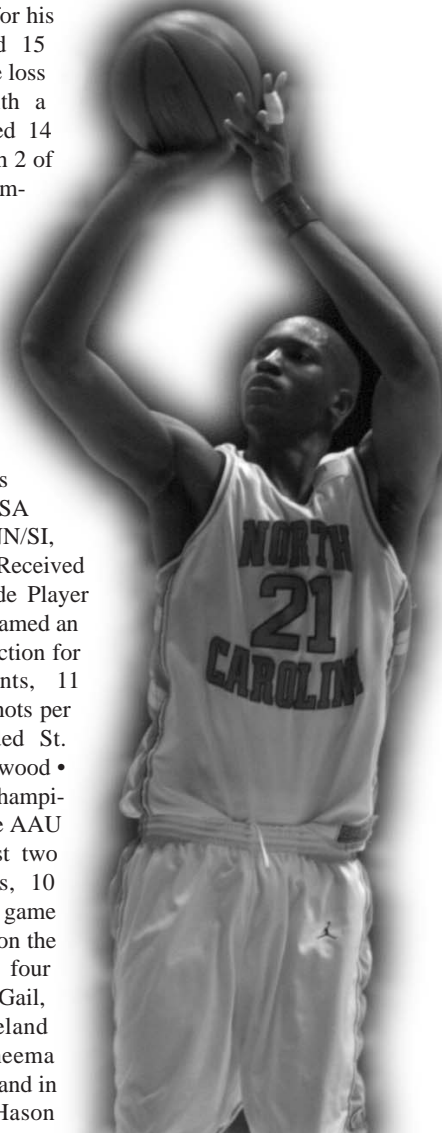

Played in all 28 games and made nine starts, most of them late in the season • Played both forward positions • Was the team's third-leading scorer and rebounder with 273 points and 118 rebounds • Averaged 9.8 points and 4.2 rebounds per contest • Named to the 2001-02 ACC All-Freshman Team • Scored in double figures in 14 contests • Shot 51.5 percent from the floor, the highest percentage for any player with at least 100 attempts • Converted 4 for 16 from the field in the first three games, but 100 for 186 in the last 25 games (.538) • Shot just 55.7 percent from the free throw line for the season, but made 35 of his last 48 (72.9 percent) after starting the year 9 for 31 • Became the 17th freshman to start his first game as a Tar Heel, and had 10 points and seven rebounds against Hampton • Scored nine points, all in the second half, and had five assists in the win over Georgia Tech • Hit 5 of 9 shots from the floor and scored 11 points in the win over No. 15 Saint Joseph's • Scored 20 points on 7 of 9 shooting against North Carolina A&T • Hit 7 of 11 shots for 15 points against Texas A & M • Hit 3 of 4 three-pointers and 5 of 7 shots overall, scoring 13 points in 18 minutes vs. Virginia on Jan. 12 • Started at Florida State on Jan. 16 and responded with 11 points • Was outstanding on Feb. 10 vs. Maryland — setting career-highs with 21 points and 11 rebounds • He also tied his season high with five assists against the Terps • Named the ACC co-Rookie of the Week for his play vs. Maryland • Scored 15 points in the second half of the loss to Ohio despite playing with a badly sprained ankle • Scored 14 points on 6 of 8 shooting (with 2 of 3 three-pointers) against Clemson on Feb. 27 • Scored 14 points at Duke • Was 3 for 3 from the floor against the Blue Devils in the ACC Tournament.

PREP/PERSONAL

Played in the McDonald's All-America Game • Also earned All-America honors from The Sporting News, USA Today, Street & Smith's, CNN/SI, ESPN, Nike and Adidas • Received Associated Press and Gatorade Player of the Year honors in Ohio • Named an Associated Press all-state selection for Ohio • Averaged 22 points, 11 rebounds and three blocked shots per game as a senior • Attended St. Edwards High School in Lakewood • Led Lakewood to the state championship in 1998 • Played in the AAU semifinals in each of his last two years • Averaged 18 points, 10 rebounds and three assists per game in 1999-2000 • Earned a spot on the Honor Roll in each of his four scholastic years • His mother, Gail, played basketball at Cleveland State • His sister, Nasheema Hillmon, played at Vanderbilt and in the ABL • Born Jawad Hason Williams on Feb. 19, 1983.

READY TO BREAK OUT

by Adam Lucas,
TarHeelBlue.com

It's no surprise that Jawad Williams would choose a boxer as inspiration for the tattoo on his right shoulder. The sophomore's body ink includes the phrase, "Loved by few, hated by many," which he first saw worn by Mike Tyson.

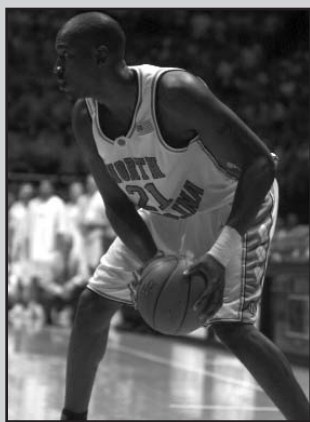

Williams didn't pick the words because of any particular affinity for Tyson, but he did spend his childhood growing up around boxing. His father, Joe, was the 1982 Cleveland Golden Gloves champion, winning the light heavyweight division at the age of 32 despite fighting against much younger men.

The elder Williams managed a recreation center in Cleveland for 15 years. It was a part of town, located just a block from the Williams family home on East 143rd Street in east Cleveland, where trouble was easy to find. But trouble—in the form of gangs or drugs—never came looking for Jawad Williams, because his father made it plain to everyone that his son was on the straight and narrow.

"I don't know karate, but I do know ka-razy," Joe Williams would tell people when asked what might happen if anyone tempted Jawad.

Joe Williams coached the center's boxing team, and although Jawad's older brother, Tony, won a Golden Gloves novice division championship in 1983, the family quickly learned that Jawad had other interests.

"We couldn't get him to keep boxing," Joe Williams said. "He would be running around with his boxing gloves on bouncing the basketball."

With his family history, the move made sense. Jawad's mother, Gail, played college basketball at Cleveland State, and sister Nasheema Hilton played collegiately at Vanderbilt and professionally in the ABL. The brother and sister had some heated one-on-one games at the rec center, but even that couldn't prepare Williams for the Atlantic Coast Conference.

He lacked confidence early in the season, but then broke out with a series of hustle plays in a home game against Georgia Tech. After a scoreless first half and with the Tar Heels trailing, Williams back-tapped a missed free throw to create a basket, following that with a layup and a three-pointer. To cap the sequence, he forced a turnover and dunked at the other end.

For the rest of the season, he looked more like the versatile player who had been a McDonald's All-American in high school and less like a freshman. In late January, the coaching staff worked with Williams to add a pump fake to his offensive repertoire. Against Clemson just a few days later, it was already a part of his game, sending a defender flying with a head fake and gliding to the basket for a dunk.

The sophomore's goal is to do that consistently this season instead of sporadically.

"I had spurts where I asserted myself last year," Williams said. "Watching some games, I realized I could have done it in a lot of other games. A couple of games I had 20 points and I realized I could have done that every game ... I have to work on asserting myself every game, rather than picking and choosing my moments."

North Carolina, Head Coach

Notre Dame, Head Coach
1998-99
Kansas, Assistant Coach

Davidson, Assistant Coach
1989-92

When the University of North Carolina went looking for a head coach after Bill Guthridge retired, it wanted a man who had the basketball knowledge and savvy to compete at the highest level, the integrity to do so within the rules and the academic mission of the University, and an unlimited passion for Carolina Basketball. Director of Athletics Dick Baddour undoubtedly found his man when he reached out to former Tar Heel Matt Doherty.

Doherty had started for three-plus seasons at UNC under legendary coach Dean Smith, winning an NCAA championship in 1982 while playing alongside James Worthy and Michael Jordan. He was a senior starter on the 1984 team that went undefeated in ACC regular-season play and was No. 1 in the country.

After graduation, Doherty worked on Wall Street, was an assistant to Roy Williams at Kansas for seven successful seasons, recruiting some of the finest players in Jayhawk history, and was head coach at the University of Notre Dame. His Fighting Irish team won 22 games and reached the finals of the NIT.

Then Carolina came calling.

"The tradition that's been created from Frank McGuire to Coach Smith to Coach Guthridge is second to none," said Doherty. "This is the best job in all of basketball. I hope I can carry off the tradition, not only of winning but of excellence off the court."

Doherty enters his third season as head coach of the Tar Heels. Last year's team struggled to an 8-20 record, but the team battled to the end, nearly knocking off Duke in the ACC Tournament.

In 2000-01, Doherty led the Tar Heels to 26 wins, a No. 1 national ranking late in the regular season, a 13-3 league record and share of the ACC regular-season championship, a berth in the ACC Tournament finals and an NCAA Tournament berth.

Doherty became the first coach in ACC history to win the regular-season title in his first year in the conference. He also became first person in ACC history to play and coach for

No. 1 ranked teams at the same school.

For his efforts, the 1984 UNC graduate was named the National Coach of the Year by The Associated Press and the district coach of the year by the United States Basketball Writers Association. For the second consecutive season, Doherty coached the conference's player of the year. Guard Joseph Forte was Co-ACC Player of the Year and a consensus first-team All-America. Notre Dame forward Troy Murphy earned Big East Player of the Year honors in 1999-2000 while playing for Doherty.

Forte and Murphy were both selected in the first round of the 2001 NBA draft. Two other players Doherty has coached, Carolina center Brendan Haywood and Kansas center Eric Chenoweth, also were selected in the first and second rounds, respectively.

"Coach Doherty's really got so many things he wants to do, but he's going to accomplish all of his goals," Murphy told the (Raleigh) News & Observer just before the 2001 Draft. "That's the kind of person he is. He's that good of a person. I loved playing for Coach Doherty. He got us fired up for everything we did, whether it was practice or games. It was a great year."

"Without a doubt he's proven he was the right coach," said Brendan Haywood. "He's brought a lot of fire and passion to this program."

Doherty's first UNC team won 11 straight games to open ACC play and 18 straight games overall. That was the sixth-longest win streak in Carolina history and the longest since 1985-86. Carolina tied for the regular-season ACC title, the Tar Heels' first since 1994-95. The Tar Heels posted an 8-3 road record with wins at NCAA Tournament qualifiers Duke, Maryland, Georgia Tech, UCLA and Wake Forest.

"It's proving that you must be yourself and utilize your personality as a strength," said ESPN/ABC's Dick Vitale. "And that's what Doherty has done by working up the crowd into a frenzy with his emotional style. I have never seen the Dean Dome as alive and rocking as it was versus Wake Forest. Sam Cassell once labeled the Carolina crowd as 'wine and cheese' bunch. Sorry, Sammy, but you haven't been to Chapel Hill recently."

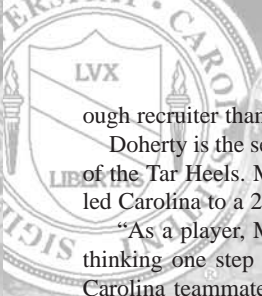

Doherty was named the 17th head basketball coach in school history on July 11, 2000. Doherty played at Carolina from 1980-84 and was head coach at Notre Dame for one season.

"As a coach, Matt has the total package," says Dean Smith. "He can coach, he can teach the game to others, he represents the University the right way, is task-oriented, not time-oriented, and is obviously a much more thorough recruiter than I ever was. That's a real positive."

Doherty is the second former Tar Heel player to be named head coach of the Tar Heels. Monk McDonald, who played at UNC from 1921-24, led Carolina to a 20-5 record in 1925 in his only season as head coach.

"As a player, Matt was the consummate coach on the floor, always thinking one step ahead of the game," says former NBA All-Star and Carolina teammate Brad Daugherty. "I know in my case as a younger teammate of his, I would look to Matt for advice even more than Michael (Jordan) and Sam (Perkins) because he knew everyone's position on the floor. He always played hard and strategically. Matt brings a no-nonsense style of basketball to Carolina. The youth and enthusiasm he brings to the program are dynamite."

The 22 wins by the Irish in 1999-2000 were the most the program has enjoyed since posting a 21-9 mark in 1988-89. Notre Dame's 8-8 finish in BIG EAST Conference regular-season play marked the first season in the Irish's five-year membership in the league the team had not posted a losing record.

"Coach Doherty has brought a lot of emotion," Murphy said. "We go out there and no matter who we're playing, we believe we can win. That definitely comes from Coach Doherty. He's always behind us. He's the ultimate players' coach. He's our leader."

The Irish defeated five ranked teams and got off to a quick start with a 59-57 win at Ohio State in the first round of the Preseason NIT. The fourth-ranked Buckeyes played in the previous NCAA Final Four. The Irish also posted a pair of wins over defending national champion Connecticut and defeated nationally-ranked St. John's and Seton Hall. The 22 wins for Doherty also marked the most ever by a first-year head coach at Notre Dame.

"He took care of every single aspect of coaching," Connecticut coach Jim Calhoun told the Winston-Salem Journal. "I don't think what he did at Notre Dame was a miracle, but the feeling of playing Notre Dame was more difficult because of Matt Doherty sitting in that seat. He came into a tough basketball league and he wasn't intimidated at all."

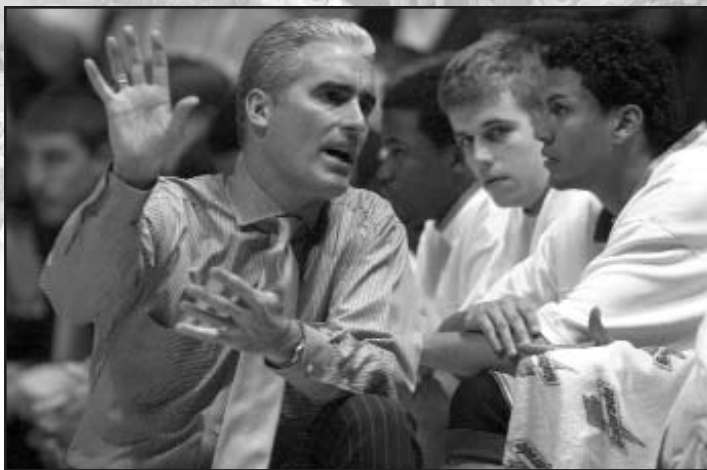

DOHERTY AS A PLAYER

Doherty played at Carolina under Dean Smith, the winningest coach in Division I history. The Tar Heels compiled a 117-21 record in Doherty's four seasons, a winning percentage of .848. He played in the 1981 NCAA championship game loss to Indiana, and started at small forward a year later as Carolina beat Georgetown to win the NCAA title. As a senior in 1984, Doherty tri-captained a team that swept through the ACC regular season with a 14-0 record and was ranked No. 1 in the country in the final polls. He started on two of Carolina's greatest teams ever — the 1982 squad that won the national title and featured James Worthy, Sam Perkins, Michael Jordan and Jimmy Black and the 1984 team that finished the season ranked No. 1 by the Associated Press and included Jordan, Perkins, Brad Daugherty and Kenny Smith.

"Matt played small forward, but today it would be called point forward because he was a great passer and unselfish player," says Coach Smith. "He was a very smart player and had great savvy. He was a tremendous passer and smart defender. He was a streaky shooter, but had some big games shooting the ball. He was always thinking pass first, especially playing with Perkins and our other post players, he knew to get the ball inside first. Matt knew the game and knew the only statistic that was important was how many games we won. He played hard and played starters minutes for four seasons."

He became just the second player in ACC history (North Carolina's Walter Davis was the first) to accumulate 1,000 points, 400 rebounds and 400 assists in a career. He averaged 9.0 points, 3.5 rebounds and 3.5 assists per game and finished his career with 1,165 points, 448 rebounds and 446 assists in 129 games played. He played in all 101 games over his last three seasons.

"Matt had an excellent playing career at Carolina," says Guthridge. "It was obvious during his playing days he could be a very good coach if he chose that profession. He was a smart player, had a great feel for the game and knew how it should be played. He was a competitive, hard-nosed team player."

Freshman Season (1980-81)

— The Tar Heels finished 29-8, won the ACC Tournament, finished ranked sixth nationally (both polls) and advanced to the NCAA title game against Indiana. Doherty averaged 6.0 points, 3.0 rebounds and had 67 assists in 28 games as a reserve forward. He missed nine games at midseason due to a fractured left thumb, the only games he would miss in his collegiate career.

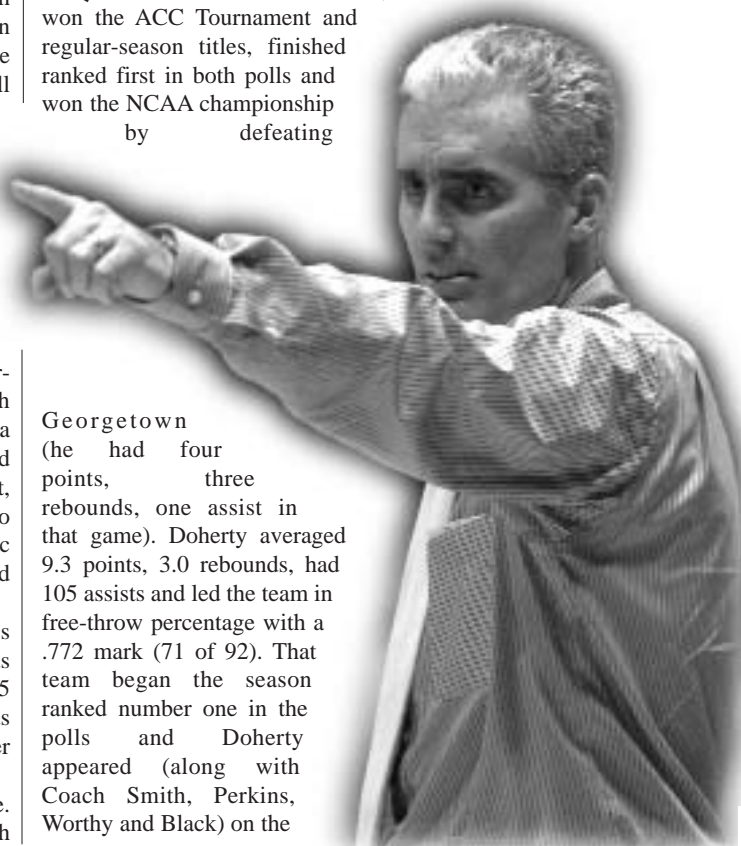

Sophomore Season (1981-

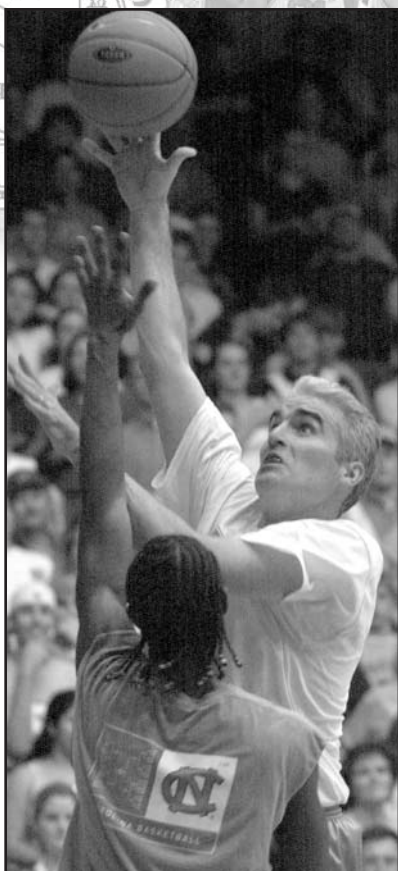

82) — The Tar Heels were 32-2, won the ACC Tournament and regular-season titles, finished ranked first in both polls and won the NCAA championship by defeating

Georgetown (he had four points, three rebounds, one assist in that game). Doherty averaged 9.3 points, 3.0 rebounds, had 105 assists and led the team in free-throw percentage with a .772 mark (71 of 92). That team began the season ranked number one in the polls and Doherty appeared (along with Coach Smith, Perkins, Worthy and Black) on the sions) after hitting 17 of 25 field goals. He tri-captained the team with Perkins and Cecil Exum and received the Jim Tatum Award which is given to the UNC student-athlete with the most outstanding achievement in his/her sport and constructive participation in the community.

Ron Green Jr. wrote in 1981 for the Chapel Hill Newspaper: "Doherty is a vital element in the Tar Heel chemistry. He knows how to get the ball to his teammates when they can use it and he knows what to do with it when they give it back. Call it savvy, call it court-sense. That's what Doherty has ... What Doherty does to compensate for any quickness he might lack is outthink the opposition. He used to spend his summer days on playground courts, playing from sunup to sundown. It was there, as well as from his high school coach, that Doherty learned to play basketball.

"Rather than run up and down the court wondering about where his next jumper was coming from, Doherty studied the game. He watched the other players and he watched himself. A tidbit here, a tidbit there and Doherty was accumulating a storehouse of basketball sense."

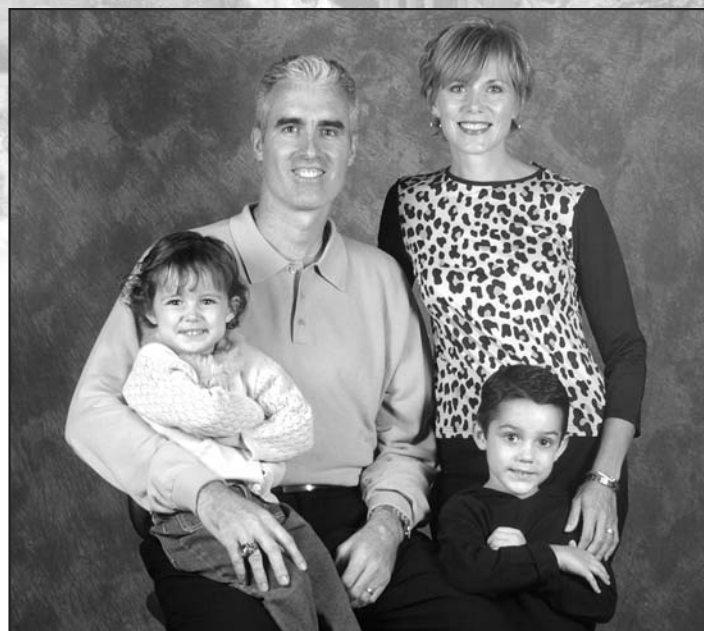

He finished among the Tar Heel career leaders in scoring, free-throw percentage (.761 on 309 of 406) and assists (third with 446 when he graduated, behind only Phil Ford and Black, and still ranked ninth). The Tar Heels were 48-8 (.857) in ACC play.

He was a member of the ACC All-Academic team as a senior and played on the 1983 United States Select team that competed internationally. Doherty was a sixth-round pick by the Cleveland Cavaliers in the cover of the Sports Illustrated preseason college basketball issue. He hit three free throws in the final 28 seconds of North Carolina's 47-45 triumph over Virginia in the ACC Tournament title game. He shared UNC scoring honors with 16 points in the NCAA regional semifinal win over Alabama.

Junior Season (1982-83) — The Tar Heels finished 28-8, won the ACC regular-season title, finished ranked eighth in both polls and advanced to the NCAA East Regional final. Doherty averaged 10.5 points and 3.8 rebounds, led the team in assists with 150 and was named the team's most outstanding defensive player. He scored a career-high 28 points in the 1983 ACC Tournament quarterfinal versus Clemson.

Senior Season (1983-84) — The Tar Heels finished 28-3, won the ACC regular-season title, finished ranked first in both polls and advanced to the NCAA East Regional semifinals. Doherty averaged 9.8 points and 4.0 rebounds and again led the team in assists with 124. He was a first-team selection on the All-ACC Tournament team (after earning second-team honors each of the two previous seasons)

The Doherty family: Hattie, Matt, Kelly and Tucker

1984 NBA draft as the 119th overall selection.

He graduated from UNC in 1984 with a degree in business administration and Dean's List honors. He worked in New York City for more than three years as a bond salesman for Kidder Peabody & Co., Inc., then spent a year as an executive search consultant with Sockwell and Anderson in Charlotte, N.C. He served two seasons as a basketball analyst in 1987-88 and 1988-89 as color commentator for the Davidson basketball radio network and also working games at North Carolina, St. Francis (N.Y.) College and Charlotte area high schools.

He began his coaching career with an AAU team in Charlotte with former Tar Heel three-sport standout Charles Waddell. The AAU team included future UNC point guard Jeff McInnis. Doherty then spent three seasons (1989-90 through 1991-92) as an assistant coach at Davidson under head coach Bob McKillop, who coached him as a player at Holy Trinity High School in Hicksville, N.Y.

The high school seniors he helped recruit in his final season at Davidson finished 25-5, ended up unbeaten in league play and participated in the NIT as college seniors in 1996.

At Kansas — After three seasons at Davidson, Doherty moved on to the University of Kansas, where he spent seven years as an assistant to Roy Williams. Williams was an assistant coach under Dean Smith when Doherty played in Chapel Hill.

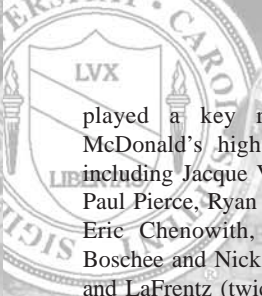

The Jayhawks advanced to the NCAA tournament in each of his seven seasons in Lawrence. During those seven years, Kansas played in the 1993 Final Four, advanced to the Final Eight in '96, the Sweet 16 in '94, '95 and '97 — and to the second round each of his last two years.

"I'm so pleased Matt is the head basketball coach at North Carolina because I love that program so, so much and know it's in fantastic hands," says Williams. "Matt is one of the most organized, intense and competitive coaches I have ever known, and those qualities will help keep the North Carolina basketball program where it is and where it should be, and that's at the top of the basketball world. The greatest compliment I can give somebody is to say how much I love that basketball program, and along with that say I am so, so pleased that Matt Doherty is in charge. He is a Tar Heel and will continue that program at the high level of Coach Smith and Coach Guthridge."

Kansas won five Big Eight/Big 12 Conference titles during his stay and compiled an overall 202-42 (.828) record, including a 15-7 mark in NCAA tournament play.

Doherty coordinated recruiting and scouting at Kansas and assisted in all day-to-day operations of the Jayhawk program. During his tenure, he played a key role in signing nine McDonald's high school All-Americans, including Jacque Vaughn, Raef LaFrentz, Paul Pierce, Ryan Robertson, Lester Earl, Eric Chenoweth, Kenny Gregory, Jeff Boschee and Nick Collison. Both Vaughn and LaFrentz (twice) earned Big Eight or Big 12 Conference player of the year honors; LaFrentz and Pierce earned consensus All-America honors in 1998 and Vaughn won first-team honors in 1997.

LaFrentz (Denver), Greg Ostertag (Utah), Pierce (Boston), Scot Pollard (Sacramento), Vaughn (Utah), Rex Walters (Miami) and Ryan Robertson (Sacramento) are among NBA players coached by Doherty.

Here's a year-by-year look at what the Jayhawks accomplished in each of Doherty's seven seasons on the staff:

✓ 1992-93 - Kansas finished 29-7, won the Preseason NIT, won its third straight Big Eight regular-season title, finished the season ranked ninth (AP) and fourth (USA Today) and advanced to the Final Four.

✓ 1993-94 - Kansas finished 27-8, finished ranked 13th (AP) and 12th (USA Today) and advanced to the NCAA Final 16.

✓ 1994-95 - Kansas finished 25-6, won the Big Eight Conference regular-season title, finished ranked fifth (AP) and 10th (USA Today), advanced to the NCAA Midwest semifinals.

✓ 1995-96 - Kansas finished 29-5, won the Big Eight Conference regular-season title, finished ranked fourth (AP) and fifth (USA Today), advanced to the NCAA West final.

✓ 1996-97 - Kansas finished 34-2, won its first 22 games, won the Big 12 Tournament and regular-season titles, finished ranked first (AP) and fifth (USA Today), advanced to the NCAA Final 16.

✓ 1997-98 - Kansas finished 35-4 (tying a Kansas record for team wins), won the Preseason NIT, won the Big 12 Tournament and regular-season titles, finished ranked second (AP) and eighth (USA Today), reaching the NCAA second round.

✓ 1998-99 - Kansas finished 23-10, won the Big 12 Tournament title for the third straight year, advanced to the NCAA Midwest second round.

Personal — Born Matthew Francis Doherty on Feb. 25, 1962, in East Meadow, N.Y., he and his wife, the former Kelly Propst of Concord, N.C., are parents of a son, Tucker, born June 17, 1997, and a daughter, Hattie Fitzgerald, born Sept. 13, 1999.

DOHERTY NAMED 2000-01 NATIONAL COACH OF THE YEAR

Matt Doherty was named the 2001 National Coach of the Year by the Associated Press, becoming the first Tar Heel coach to win the award. The only other ACC coach to win the award, which was first presented in 1967, was Norm Sloan of NC State in 1974.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT MATT DOHERTY

"Matt Doherty is proving that you must be yourself and utilize your personality as a strength. And that's what Doherty has done by working up the crowd into a frenzy with his emotional style. I have never seen the Smith Center as alive and rocking ... After one year of rejuvenating the Notre Dame campus in South Bend, Ind., he has moved to his alma mater, where he has the Tar Heels on a big-time roll."

— Dick Vitale

"I think Matt Doherty is doing a tremendous job of having those guys play hard for him and keeping the tradition alive."

— Former Tar Heel Antawn Jamison

"Without a doubt he's proven he was the right coach. He's brought a lot of fire and passion to this program and you are seeing the results."

— Former Tar Heel Brendan Haywood

"As a player, Matt was the consummate coach on the floor, always thinking one step ahead of the game. I know in my case as a younger teammate of his, I would look to Matt for advice even more than Michael (Jordan) and Sam (Perkins) because he knew everyone's position on the floor. He always played hard and strategically. Matt brings a no-nonsense style of basketball to Carolina. The youth and enthusiasm he brings to the program are dynamite."

— Brad Daugherty

Navy, Assistant Coach
1990-99

Doug Wojcik is in his third year as an assistant coach at the University of North Carolina. In his first year, the Tar Heels won 26 games, earned a No. 1 national ranking late in the regular season, posted a 13-3 league record and won a share of the ACC regular-season championship.

Wojcik is also the head coach of Carolina's junior varsity program. In 2001, he was named a "head-coach-in-waiting" by Athlon Sports.

The Wheeling, W.Va., native was an assistant coach under Matt Doherty at Notre Dame in 1999-2000 and joined the UNC staff on July 11, 2000. Notre Dame went 22-15 and earned a berth in the NIT championship game. Prior to joining Doherty at Notre Dame, Wojcik (pronounced WO-jick) had been an assistant for nine years at the United States Naval Academy.

At Navy, Wojcik coordinated recruiting and worked with the Midshipmen post players. He coached Hassan Booker, a two-time all-conference selection, and recipient of the Basketball Hall of Fame's Chip Hilton Award, given to the player nationally who demonstrates personal character and leadership on and off the court.

In 1997, Navy became the fourth school in NCAA history to improve its conference record in five consecutive seasons. Navy was in the top 10 in the country in rebounding margin from 1995-97, and led the nation in that category in 1995. Navy also won three Patriot League titles and competed in the NCAA Tournament in 1994, 1997 and 1998.

The Midshipmen played No. 1 ranked UNC in the first round of the 1998 NCAA Tournament in Hartford, Conn.

A 1987 graduate of the Naval Academy, Wojcik captained the Middies as a senior. He led Navy to the NCAA Tournament in three straight seasons, including a 1986 East Regional Final appearance against eventual national runnerup Duke. Wojcik still holds Navy records for most assists in a game (14), season (251) and career (714), setting the single-season mark as a junior. He started every game at point guard for three seasons, helping Navy to a 26-6 record as a sophomore followed by marks of 30-5 and 26-6 his final two seasons. Overall, Navy was 82-17 in his three years as a starter.

Teammate David Robinson turned over his 1986 Colonial Athletic Association MVP award to Wojcik, citing his unselfish play and leadership qualities. Wojcik has been a part either as a player or coach in every conference title won by Navy and in six of the school's 11 NCAA bids.

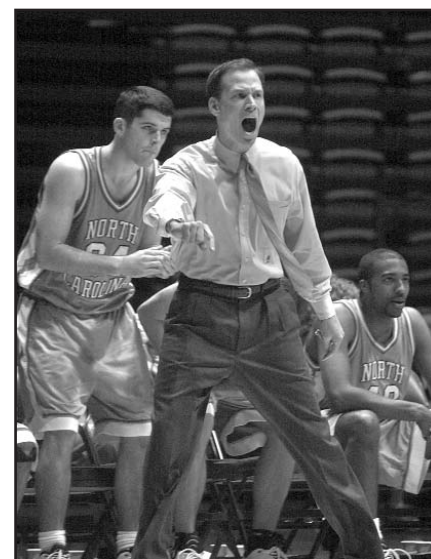

After graduation, he was commissioned as a Naval officer and attended Surface Warfare Officer School in Newport, R.I. He was assigned to the USS W.S. Sims out of Mayport, Fla. where he served as First Lieutenant and Engineering Officer for two years prior to beginning his coaching career.

Wake Forest head coach Skip Prosser was Wojcik's high school coach. Wojcik's brother, David, is the head coach at their alma mater, Central Catholic High School in Wheeling. His team won the 2002 West Virginia "A" state championship.

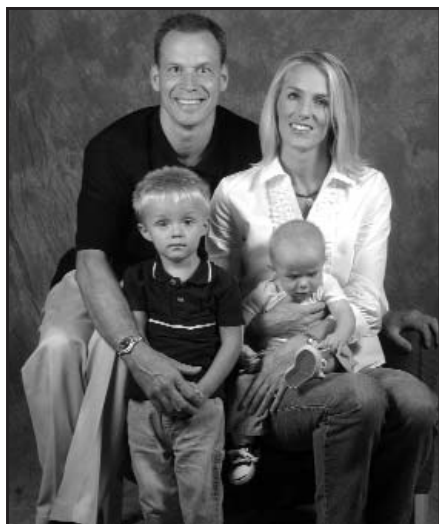

Born April 12, 1964, Wojcik is married to the former Lael House, a 1990 Naval Academy graduate who earned letters in basketball and track. The couple has two sons, Paxson Walter (born on August 8, 2000) and Denham Miner (born on May 15, 2002).

Bob MacKinnon is in his third season on the North Carolina coaching staff. He is in his fourth year working with Matt Doherty. MacKinnon was also an assistant under Doherty at Notre Dame in 1999-2000.

The Buffalo, N.Y., native spent 10 years working at the Carolina Basketball Camp under former Tar Heel head coaches Dean Smith and Bill Guthridge. MacKinnon now coordinates the Carolina Basketball Camp.

Prior to the 1999-2000 season, MacKinnon was the head men's basketball coach at the United States Merchant Marine Academy in Kings Point, N.Y. for two seasons (1997-99). MacKinnon led the Mariners to appearances in the NCAA Division III tournament in both seasons. He had a two-year record of 38-16 (.703) at the school.

In 1997-98, the Mariners went 16-11 and posted an 11-3 mark in the Skyline Conference, winning both the regular-season championship and the postseason tournament. In 1998-99, the Academy finished with a 22-5 record, won 16 of its final 17 games and had a perfect 14-0 mark in conference play to win the regular season championship and postseason tournament. MacKinnon was named the Skyline Conference Coach of the Year following the 1998-99 season.

MacKinnon came to the Merchant Marine Academy after serving on the staff at Niagara from 1990-97. MacKinnon was an assistant coach for the Purple Eagles for seven years and was the associate head coach in his final three years.

MacKinnon also served as an assistant coach at George Washington (1985-90), Mercyhurst (1982-85) and King's (Pa.) College (1981-82).

He is entering his 22nd season coaching college basketball and has been on the sidelines for over 600 games.

He earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from King's College in 1982 and his Master's in Education from Niagara in 1997. He was a four-year member of the basketball team at King's.

His father, Bob Sr., was a successful basketball coach, as well. MacKinnon Sr. was the head coach at Canisius College for 15 years and spent more than 20 years in the David Cason is in his third season at the University of North Carolina as the Director of Basketball Operations.

In Cason's first season in Chapel Hill (2000-01), the Tar Heels won 26 games, earned a No. 1 national ranking late in the regular season, posted a 13-3 league record and won a share of the ACC regular-season championship, advanced to the ACC Tournament finals, and were the No. 2 seed in the NCAA Tournament South Regional.

He came to Chapel Hill in July 2000 after serving one year in a similar position at Notre Dame under Matt Doherty. Prior to joining the Fighting Irish, he served for three seasons as an assistant coach at Eastern Illinois University.

In his one season on Doherty's staff at Notre Dame, the Irish posted a 22-15 record and earned a berth in the NIT championship game.

Cason is a 1996 graduate of Illinois State and played for the Redbirds from 1993-95. He led the Missouri Valley Conference in assists in both seasons. In his senior season, Cason served as team captain and helped lead Illinois State to a 20-13 record and a second-round appearance in the NIT. He was named second-team All-Missouri Valley, received the Doug Collins Award, given to the team's Most Valuable Player, and was named the top athlete at Illinois State.

He began his coaching career the following year as a student assistant to head coach Kevin Stallings.

He played his first two years of college basketball (1991-93) at the College of Southern Idaho. Cason led the Scenic West Conference in assists for two seasons and was named second-team all-region.

A native of Baltimore, Md., and a graduate of Southern High School, Cason was born on Aug. 12, 1972. He earned first-team all-city honors on two occasions.

Cason was married to the former Tamara J. Motley in August 2001. The couple has a daughter, Taylor, born on July 14, 2002. Cason also has another daughter, Da-Via, born on Feb. 15, 1992.

STRENGTH/CONDITIONING — THOMAS McKINNEY II

Thomas McKinney II is in his second season at the University of North Carolina as the Coordinator of Strength and Conditioning for Tar Heel men's basketball. McKinney came to Carolina from Columbia University, where he was the Director of Strength and Conditioning for four and one-half years.

McKinney entered collegiate athletics at the University of Virginia as a student-athlete, achieving a B.A. in English while earning two All-ACC honors for his participation on the Cavaliers track and field team. Upon graduation, McKinney entered the UVa Sports Psychology graduate program. While completing his graduate coursework, McKinney became an Olympic-style weightlifter, achieving a silver medal at the 1992 National Collegiate Championships and bronze medals at the 1994 Olympic Festival and American Open Championships. Upon receiving his masters degree in Sports Psychology in 1994, McKinney went on to earn a gold medal at the 1995 National Weightlifting Championships, and a silver medal at the U.S. Olympic Festival that same year.

McKinney previously resided at the United States Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo. His collegiate coaching career began at his alma mater, where he was an assistant strength and conditioning coach for the football, men's lacrosse, women's basketball, and field hockey teams. McKinney also was a sports psychology instructor. McKinney departed the Cavalier athletic department to pursue the position of Director of Strength and Conditioning at Columbia University, where he designed and implemented strength and conditioning programs for the University's 28 athletic teams and mentored graduate students in the field of strength and conditioning. Five of his pupils — Thomas Sheehan (Columbia), Kristen Christopher (Stanford), Bill Hughan (Missouri), Lisa Shall (Princeton) and Kenneth White (SUNY-Stony Brook) — have gone onto successful careers as strength and conditioning coaches.

McKinney is a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist through the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA), and Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association (CSCCa). He is also a Level 1 Coach through USA Weightlifting and USA Track and Field. He is the Owner and Director of Enhanced Athletic Performance based in Chapel Hill.

He was married to the former Jennifer Brouillette on July 14, 2002.

MARC DAVIS

Head Trainer/Physical Therapist

Marc Davis is the head trainer for the University of North Carolina men's basketball team, a position he has held since the 1977-78 season.

Davis received his Bachelor of Science degree in physical therapy from the University of North Carolina in 1974. After graduating from Carolina, he worked as a physical therapist at Danville Memorial Hospital in Danville, Va., from October of 1974 to May of 1975. He began his current tenure on the sports medicine staff at Carolina in July of 1975.

The 51-year-old Davis, a native of Wilmington, N.C., and alumnus of New Hanover High School, is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association and the National Athletic Trainers Association.

He was the recipient of the award for the outstanding physical therapist of the year for 1998 by the North Carolina Physical Therapy Association.

Davis' duties at Carolina consist of providing physical therapy and athletic training services to Carolina athletic teams. In addition to the men's basketball team, he also works closely with the football team and he serves as head trainer for the men's and women's swimming and diving teams.

He also provides similar services to members of the general student body who are recommended to him by Student Health Service physicians. Davis also works with the basketball coaching staff to coordinate team travel.

Davis is married to the former Paula Gee. They have a 13-year-old daughter, Irma Consuelo.

UNC Athletics Mission Statement

The Department of Athletics has offered high quality athletic programs for many years. Through a dedicated commitment to educational interests, competitive athletic programs, and integrity in all areas, the student-athletes, coaches and staff strive to bring credit and recognition to the University.

The mission of the Department is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow and develop, and to serve the interests of the University by complementing and enhancing its diversity and quality of life. Coaches, as educators, are foundational to this process. In keeping with the University's efforts to offer programs of regional and national acclaim, the Department's athletic programs strive for competitive excellence within the Atlantic Coast Conference or other similar institutions. Through its athletic programs, the University seeks to unite students, faculty, staff and alumni in a common and shared experience. The Department seeks to contribute to the diversity of the University by offering opportunities for enhanced racial/ethnic, cultural and geographic representation.

To fulfill this mission, the Department, with the approval of the Board of Trustees, has developed principles of operation to provide guidance and direction to its personnel. This Mission Statement and accompanying principles require strong dedication and commitment from all who participate in, coach in and support the Department of Athletics.

CHANCELLOR JAMES MOESER

As its ninth chancellor, Dr. James Moeser leads the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's efforts to set the standard for excellence among America's major public research universities.

"Carolina has the potential to enter a new defining moment – of being not only America's first public university, but being first among public universities in our nation," Moeser says. "When people around the world list the great American universities, we want to make certain Carolina is on the short list. We have set our sights that high. This is a great vision for Carolina, and it is an attainable ambition."

For Moeser, who started in August 2000, making new history at Carolina began with efforts to help secure North Carolinians' overwhelming approval of the $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education in November 2000.

The referendum is helping fuel an unprecedented physical transformation of one of America's most beautiful campuses. The bonds are bringing Carolina $510 million for renovations, repairs and new buildings so that 21st century students can learn in a 21st century environment. Also guided by a visionary master plan for future growth, the university is investing another $600-plus million from non-state sources for other buildings essential to continued excellence. The university is also beginning to plan for a possible mixed-use development called Carolina North on the Horace Williams tract north of the main campus.

Among Moeser's key duties is to lead private fund-raising efforts. In October 2002 he will publicly announce the goal for and progress in the Carolina First Campaign, a multi-year effort to position Carolina as the nation's leading public university. The campaign, the largest in the university's history, has among its goals the creation of 200 new endowed professorships and 1,000 new scholarships and fellowships. The campaign is already strengthening Carolina's competitive position among America's greatest research universities, both public and private.

"Two years ago, I pledged to the people of North Carolina to take the critical investment they made in Carolina's future through the bond referendum and at least triple it in private support to this university," Moeser says. "We shall make good on that pledge at a very minimum."

Planning strategically for UNC's long-term future has been the hallmark of Moeser's administration. Under his leadership, Carolina launched an initiative committing at least $245 million over the next decade to the emerging field of genome sciences. The public-private partnership positions Carolina to be a national leader in determining how the genomics revolution will change the ways in which doctors treat diseases, scientists design drugs and farmers grow crops. Carolina recently cracked the top 20 list, as compiled by the National Science Foundation, of national universities receiving federal science and engineering funding. That achievement is remarkable considering Carolina has no engineering school.

Such emphasis on science is balanced by an equal commitment to the arts and humanities. "The humanities and social sciences are our historical areas of strength," Moeser says. "We also have an obligation to provide our students and this region with the finest in the arts, and to preserve the incredible architectural archive of the historic campus. I subscribe to Thomas Jefferson's view that we teach with the built environments we create in buildings and landscapes."

Moeser moved quickly to fill key administrative posts. In 2001, he tapped Dr. Robert Shelton, a physicist who led research at the University of California Office of President, to become provost and executive vice chancellor and lead a campus wide effort to determine future academic priorities. Nancy Suttenfield, former vice president for finance and administration at Case Western Reserve University, joined as vice chancellor for finance and administration. Dr. Tony Waldrop, a Morehead Scholar and track star, returned to UNC as vice chancellor for research and graduate studies.

Other focal points of Moeser's first two years have included vigorously pursuing efforts to create a more global university, advocating for continued improvements in the quality of the freshman class, expanding growth in research funding and increasing emphasis on technology-transfer activities because of the direct impact faculty research has on the state's economy.

On campus, Moeser has supported efforts to enhance undergraduate education, advance the Carolina Computing Initiative and its laptop computer requirement for freshmen and review the student judiciary and Honor Court systems.

He has also championed the university's longtime commitment to diversity. Recent accolades include The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education's survey showing Carolina had the most tenured black faculty – 51 – among the nation's highly ranked universities. Carolina ranked 14th among the top 50 campuses for African-Americans as listed by Black Enterprise magazine. That ranking, the highest for a major public university, was based on a survey to determine which schools were good social and academic fits for black students.

Moeser was unanimously elected chancellor in April 2000 by the UNC Board of Governors and arrived after four years as chancellor of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. A concert organist, Moeser began his career in 1966 at the University of Kansas as an assistant professor and chairman of the department of organ. He became dean of the School of Fine Arts in 1975. In 1984, he was named Althaus Distinguished Professor of Organ, becoming the first academic dean at Kansas ever to hold an endowed chair. In 1986, Moeser joined The Pennsylvania State University as dean of the College of Arts and Architecture and executive director of University Arts Services. Six years later, he became vice president for academic affairs and provost of the University of South Carolina, a post he held until becoming Nebraska's chancellor in 1996.

In 2001, Moeser was named to the National Board for College Education, part of a national advisory committee guiding the College Board in introducing U.S. seventh-graders to the college admissions process and encouraging them to consider college.

As a member of the Board of Governors of the Josephson Institute of Ethics, Moeser helped UNC partner with the institute and the North Carolina High School Athletic Association to bring hundreds of youth coaches from around the state to an ethics seminar in spring 2001. The seminar was part of the institute's national campaign to implement the Arizona Sports Summit Accord, crafted in 1999 by nearly 50 influential leaders including Moeser.

The chancellor is a past member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges and past chair of its technology transfer commission. He was on the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities. In North Carolina, he is a trustee of the North Carolina Symphony Society Inc. and a member of the Greater Triangle Regional Council.

A native of Colorado City, Texas, Moeser received a bachelor's of music degree with honors in 1961 and a master's of music in musicology in 1964 from the University of Texas at Austin. The Graduate School at Texas honored Moeser in 2001 with its Outstanding Alumnus Award. Moeser, a Fulbright scholar, graduated with a doctorate in musical arts from the University of Michigan in 1967. A past president of the American Guild of Organists, Moeser has chaired several national organ pedagogy conferences.

Moeser is married to Dr. Susan Dickerson Moeser, a fellow concert organist and lecturer in music and university organist at UNC. He has two children from a prior marriage: a son, Chris, a law student at the University of Arizona, and a daughter, Carter, a physical therapist in Tacoma, Wash.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR DICK BADDOUR

Dick Baddour, a 1966 graduate of The University of North Carolina, was named Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. In his five years as director, the Tar Heels have undergone a number of changes, yet remain one of the premier athletic programs in the Atlantic Coast Conference and across the nation. Baddour combines an easy-going, friendly and visionary style of management with a love and passion for the University he has served for more than 35 years.

Baddour sets a high standard of integrity for the program he leads. High graduation rates, NCAA compliance, sound fiscal management, competitive success and national respect are cornerstones of his blueprint for the department's mission to the University.

In 2001, he received a Distinguished Service Medal from the UNC General Alumni Association. The awards program noted: "If this sounds like a full plate, remember that he gave the National Guard 31 years, and retired a colonel. He co-chaired the bond drive to build the Chapel Hill Public Library. He was vice president of the Parks and Recreation Commission; chair of the Orange County Heart Association; Cub Scout master and Little League coach. Dick was volunteer of the year in the public school system in 1996, and successfully managed a Chapel Hill mayoral campaign. He is a model of town and gown."

The Goldsboro, N.C., native heads a program that with 28 varsity sports is the largest in the ACC. Carolina won seven ACC championships last year, equalling the top figure in the league for the 15th consecutive year, and the Tar Heels finished fourth in the Sears Cup standings that measure a school's overall NCAA postseason success. A total of 20 sports competed in post-season play. The men's soccer team won the national championship, women's soccer was the national runnerup, women's lacrosse advanced to the national semifinals and the football team won the Peach Bowl. In addition, women's indoor and outdoor track and women's tennis posted Top 10 NCAA finishes.

During the past two years, Baddour hired a new men's basketball coach and football coach, was a member of the NCAA Championship Cabinet and NCAA Football Issues Committee, oversaw development of the indoor football and track facility and softball complex, and hired managing directors in the Educational Foundation and marketing office.

Baddour hired former UNC linebacker John Bunting to direct the football program in December 2000. Bunting starred at Carolina in the 1970s, had a lengthy professional career with the Philadelphia Eagles and was a highly respected and successful coach in the NFL. Bunting engineered the greatest turnaround in school history, winning eight of the last 10 games, including the Peach Bowl, after starting the season 0-3. He won more games (8) in his first season than any other first year coach in school history.

Baddour tabbed former Tar Heel Matt Doherty to replace Bill Guthridge in 2000. Baddour had hired Guthridge to follow the legendary Dean Smith after Smith stepped down just four months after Baddour became athletic director. Guthridge took two teams to the NCAA Final Four and was the winningest first-, second- and third-year coach in NCAA history. In his first season, Doherty led Carolina to 18 consecutive wins, a No. 1 national ranking and share of the ACC regular-season championship and was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year.

Baddour has hired new head coaches in six sports, including football, men's basketball, men's golf, women's tennis, baseball and men's lacrosse. Baddour hired Mike Fox, a former Tar Heel who played in the 1978 College World Series, as baseball coach; John Inman, 1984 NCAA men's golf champion and former PGA Tour golfer, as the men's golf coach; Jen Callen as the women's tennis coach; and John Haus to rebuild the men's lacrosse program. Haus won NCAA championships in 1981 and 1982 as a Tar Heel defensive star and twice coached Johns Hopkins University to the national semifinals.

In addition to the many personnel and facility changes that Baddour has managed, fiscal responsibility has been a key directive in his tenure as athletic director. He has instituted a number of measures designed to keep UNC among the nation's most competitive athletic programs, while at the same time ensuring a sound financial future.

Early in his tenure, Baddour established a number of task forces to examine specific functions within the department and guide those administrative units as they prepare for the 21st century. Baddour formed committees to examine recruiting, admissions and academic progress of student-athletes; finances; student-athlete development, communications and most recently, a long-term plan for Kenan Stadium.

As a result, Baddour reorganized the Athletic Department last year after overseeing functional changes in the following areas – marketing, communications, academic support, compliance, Educational Foundation, strength and conditioning and ticket operations.

Baddour continues to direct a vast facilities expansion project that stretches from Kenan Stadium to Finley Golf Course. The McCaskill Soccer Center and the Francis E. Henry Stadium (field hockey and lacrosse) were dedicated in 1998 and Finley Golf Course was totally re-designed to a spectacular championship-level in 1999.

Baddour, who has served on 12 ACC committees and is past chair of the ACC Athletic Directors, will serve as a member of ACC Committees on Football, Basketball and Television and has chaired the ACC Tennis Committee.

He is in his 36th year of continuous service to the University. Prior to his current position, he spent 11 years under John Swofford as the executive associate director of athletics.

After graduating from UNC, Baddour spent one year as a cost accountant for Burlington Industries. He then returned to UNC in 1967 as assistant dean of men. In 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions.

Coordinating freshman admissions took him into every high school in the state. In 1975, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree in education with a major in student personnel administration and a minor in business administration.

Baddour was then named Assistant Dean at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. He served as the school's director of admissions and scholarship programs, head of personnel and supervisor of career planning and placement. He was also in charge of minority recruitment.

He became associate athletic director in 1986, was promoted to senior associate director in 1990 and to executive associate in 1995.

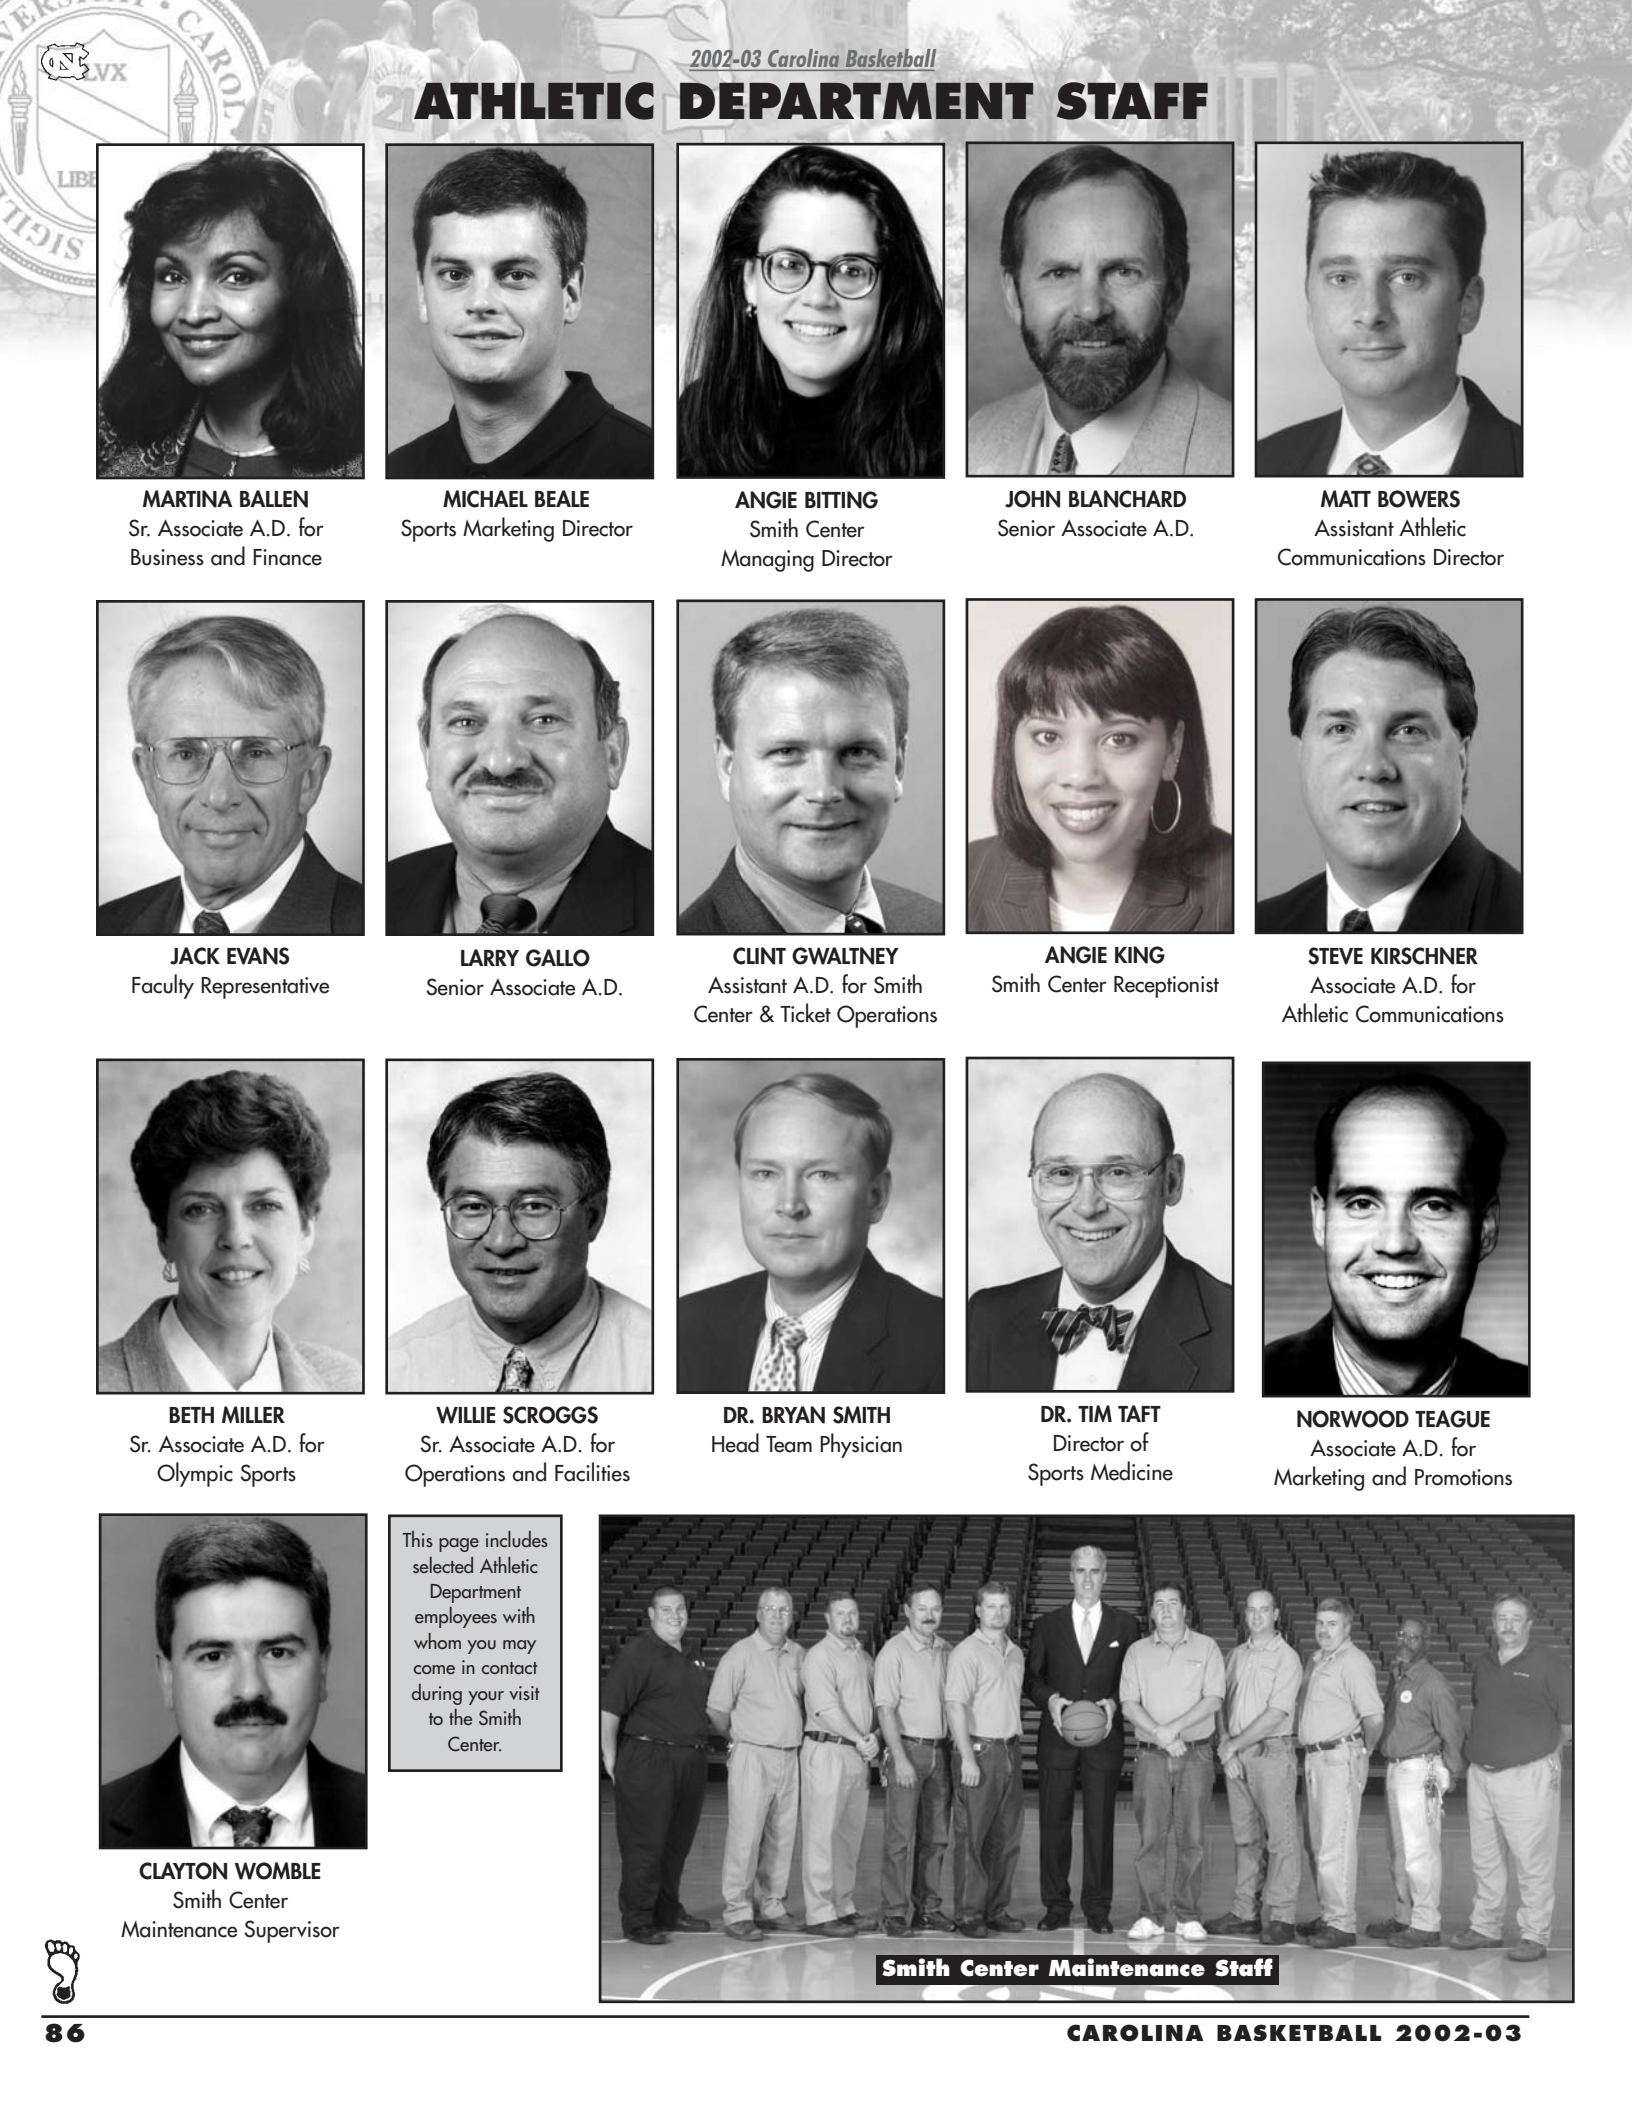

A 1962 graduate of Goldsboro High School, Baddour and his wife, Lynda, have two sons and a daughter. Allen graduated from UNC and Carolina law school and is an Assistant District Attorney in Chatham County. He and his wife, Holly, have two sons, Henry and Jack. David is a UNC graduate, a Certified Public Accountant, a recent UNC law school graduate and works with Womble-Carlyle in the Research Triangle Park.

He and his wife, Carey, live in Carboro and have a daughter, Lauren. Jennifer is a graduate of UNC Greensboro and earned her master's from the UNC School of Social Work. She is employed as a social worker in the Chapel Hill area. Lynda taught kindergarten and first grade for 17 years.

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation?

The Educational Foundation, also known as the Rams Club, is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus. The Foundation was established in 1938 to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or the purchase of equipment.

The Educational Foundation has provided scholarships to more than 7,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 student-athletes will receive grant-in-aids this year at a cost of more than $7 million.

What are the different giving levels to the Rams Club?

Little Ram ($100) – Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $100 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, the location of which are subject to the point system; gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games; participate in football ticket exchanges; qualify for mini-season men's basketball ticket packages; purchase group travel packages; receive Tar Heel Monthly, a newspaper devoted to the Carolina athletics, car window decals, and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) – In addition to the above, a Ram donor has the opportunity to receive a football and men's basketball media guide and participate in men's basketball ticket exchanges.

Rameses ($375) – In addition to benefits received at the Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of two season football tickets; additional tickets may be purchased subject to the point system.

Big Ram ($750) – In addition to benefits received at the Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the location of four football season tickets and receive an assigned parking space; additional tickets may be purchased subject to the point system.

Super Ram ($1,500) – In addition to benefits received at the Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain up to eight football season tickets and receive an assigned parking space; additional tickets may be purchased subject to the point system.

Coaches Circle ($5,000) – In addition to benefits received at the Ram level, a Coaches Circle donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of up to 12 football season tickets and receive two assigned parking spaces, invitations to exclusive functions throughout the year and autographed Carolina memorabilia.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program?

Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $75,000 half scholarships and $150,000 endowed scholarships that may be set up through various giving vehicles. A number of capital facility projects are in progress, as well, to which donors may contribute.

Sue Walsh
V.P., Endowment

Does the Rams Club have chapters at the local level?

There are 45 local Rams Club chapters that meet at least once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an opportunity to hear about the team, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who is the director of the Rams Club?

John Montgomery is in his second full year as president. The staff's offices are located at the Europa Center located across from the Sheraton off of NC 15-501 in Chapel Hill. You may contact the Rams Club by calling (919) 945-2000, by email at ef@unc.edu or by writing P.O. Box 2446, Chapel Hill NC 27515. You may also visit the Rams Club web site at ramsclub.org or the UNC athletics web site at TarHeelBlue.com.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

HISTORY

- The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century.
- Authorized by the N.C. Constitution in 1776, the university was chartered by the N.C. General Assembly Dec. 11, 1789, the same year George Washington first was inaugurated as president.
- The cornerstone was laid for Old East, the nation's first state university building, Oct. 12, 1793. Hinton James, the first student, arrived from Wilmington, N.C., Feb. 12, 1795. By March 1 of that year there were 41 students and two professors, and by 1860 only Yale University had a larger enrollment.

LOCATION

- The 729-acre central campus includes the two oldest state university buildings, Old East and Person Hall. Old East and Playmakers Theatre, an 1852 Greek-revival building, are National Historic Landmarks.
- The American Society of Landscape Architects selected the Carolina campus as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country. That 1999 ranking, timed to the society's centennial, is among the latest affirmations of the charm of mighty oaks, majestic quadrangles, brick sidewalks and other landscaping synonymous with UNC.
- A campus master plan approved in spring 2000 by UNC trustees represents a visionary look forward, offering a striking view of how the campus should exist in future decades to meet the needs of students, faculty, staff and the surrounding community. The plan captures the ambience of north campus in the Polk and McCorkle place quadrangles and aims to transform the southern region into an equally wonderful place in which to learn, teach, work and live. Among the plan's early projects are four new residence halls on south campus opening in fall 2002 and a planned arts common will create a new front door to the campus.
- The master plan guides a $1 billion-plus construction program made possible in part by North Carolinians' overwhelming approval of a $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education in November 2000. The referendum is bringing Carolina $510 million for renovations, repairs and new buildings. The university is investing another $600-plus million from non-state sources including private gifts for other buildings essential to continued excellence.
- Chapel Hill has been called "the perfect college town" by several publications including Sports Illustrated.
- UNC anchors one corner of the famed Research Triangle Park, which continues to play a vital role in nurturing the economic development of North Carolina.

RECENT RANKINGS

- In U.S. News and World Report magazine's September 2001 "America's Best Colleges" guidebook, UNC ranked fifth among the nation's top public universities and tied for 28th overall among both public and private campuses. Among undergraduate business programs, the Kenan-Flagler Business School tied for fifth nationwide.

- U.S. News also ranked 20 graduate degree programs and specialty areas at UNC among the top 25 nationwide in its graduate rankings issued in April 2002. The magazine rated programs in the schools of business, education, medicine and public health as well as doctoral programs in the College of Arts and Sciences. (Certain professional degree programs are ranked annually; other disciplines and specialties are ranked periodically.)
- The 2002 Fiske Guide to Colleges labeled UNC one of 21 public universities in the United States and Canada that were the "best college buys."
- Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine rated Carolina first among a list of the 100 best buys in U.S. public colleges and universities because of its combination of top-quality academics and low cost. Kiplinger's list, published in 2000, called UNC "a place where high achievers are in good company."
- Black Enterprise magazine ranked UNC 14th in its 2001 "Black Enterprise-DayStar Top 50 Colleges and Universities for African Americans" list, the highest ranking among major public universities. DayStar, a research firm, gathered the data for the list, which is based on responses to questions about which schools were both a good academic and social fit for African-American students.

- The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education concluded that UNC had the most tenured African-American faculty -- 51 -- among the nation's highest-ranked universities. The same 2002 survey also listed Carolina as one of only four highly ranked universities to have 100 or more African-American professors.

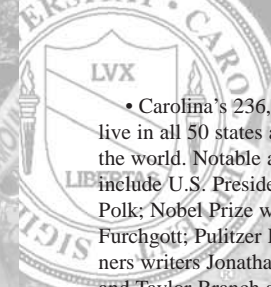

- Business Week magazine ranked the Kenan-Flagler Business School's executive education programs among the best in the world in 2001. Kenan-Flagler was fifth among executive MBA programs and 18th among executive education programs. "Grads praise the commitment and knowledge of faculty and staff," according to Business Week.

KEY STATISTICS

- Now in its third century, UNC belongs to the select group of 61 American and two Canadian campuses forming the Association of American Universities. UNC's academic offerings span more than 100 fields, including 84 bachelor's, 165 master's and 108 doctoral degrees as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy and law. Five health schools -- which, with UNC Hospitals, comprise one of the nation's most complete academic medical centers -- are integrated with liberal arts, basic sciences and high-tech academic programs.
- In fall 2001, Carolina enrolled 25,480 students from all 100 North Carolina counties, the other 49 states and nearly 100 other countries. Eighty-one percent of Carolina's 15,844 undergraduates were from North Carolina. Sixty-four percent of Carolina's students were undergraduates, 29 percent graduates and another 9 percent were professional degree-seekers.
- Those students learn from a faculty that totaled about 2,600 full-time members in fall 2001. Many Carolina faculty members hold or have held major posts in virtually every national scholarly or professional organization and have earned election to the most prestigious academic groups.

Dan Sears

- Carolina's 236,142 alumni live in all 50 states and around the world. Notable alumni include U.S. President James K. Polk; Nobel Prize winner Robert Furchgott; Pulitzer Prize winners writers Jonathan Yardley and Taylor Branch and editorial cartoonist Jeff MacNelly; writers Thomas Wolfe, Clyde Edgerton, Russell Banks, Charles Frazier, Jill McCorkle, Kaye Gibbons and Randall Kenan; journalists Charles Kuralt, Roger Mudd, Tom Wicker, Deborah Potter and Stuart Scott; radio personality Rick Dees; geneticist Francis Collins; and corporate banker Hugh McColl.

- Prominent alumni include athletes Michael Jordan, Vince Carter, Mia Hamm, Marion Jones, Allen Johnson and Davis Love III; U.S. Senator John Edwards; former White House Chief of Staff Erskine Bowles; former White House Communications Director Don Baer; Bill Harrison, chairman and chief executive officer of JP Morgan Chase & Co.; and Scott Livengood, Krispy Kreme Doughnut chairman, president and chief executive officer. Others include John Crawford, designer of the Intel 386 and 486 chip; David Gardner, founder of The Motley Fool; actors Jack Palance, Andy Griffith, George Grizzard, Dan Cortese, Billy Crudup and Josh Tower; actresses Louise Fletcher, Sharon Lawrence and Tally Sessions; opera singer Vickie Livengood; and fashion designer Alexander Julian.

STUDENTS

- The entering freshman class of 2001 was the strongest in Carolina history, marking the third straight year of record-setting improvement in academic preparation and overall diversity.
- UNC students have a long tradition of outstanding achievement. Thirty-five have been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship since it was created in 1902, including the first U.S. black woman recipient. Twelve Chapel Hill students have won the Rhodes since 1980.

LEARNING

- The 2002 freshman class is the third wave of Carolina students required to own laptop computers as part of the Carolina Computing Initiative. In 2000, 3,400 Chapel Hill freshmen became the largest class in the United States ever required to own laptops during the first year of the requirement. Students can access a world of knowledge at their fingertips and communicate with faculty and peers with just a few keystrokes.
- Carolina is making it easier for students and others with laptops to connect to the Internet, e-mail and course materials – whether they are in classrooms, labs, libraries and nearby outdoor sites – thanks to wireless technology. Wireless access points have been installed at key campus locations, allowing students with adapter cards to connect to cyberspace without physically plugging into the campus network.
- This fall, Carolina becomes the only university in the state and one of just a handful nationwide offering a bachelor's degree in the cutting-edge, rapidly evolving field of information science.
- UNC's Kenan-Flagler Business School has joined four other top business schools in China, Brazil, Mexico and the Netherlands to design and deliver OneMBA, a premier global executive MBA program that is radically different from programs offered by other leading business schools.

RESEARCH

- Fiscal 2001 overall research funding at UNC topped the $438.7 million mark for contracts and grants awarded for research, teaching and public service -- an increase of 17 percent over the previous fiscal year.
- Much of the increase resulted from a 14 percent jump in National Institutes of Health funding. UNC faculty received $236.8 million in NIH funding -- up from $207 million in 2000 -- ranking 12th overall among private and public universities nationwide, and up from 13th last year.
- Carolina just cracked the top 20 list, as compiled by the National Science Foundation, of national universities receiving federal science and engineering funding in fiscal 2000. That achievement is remarkable considering Carolina has no engineering school.

- Carolina has committed at least $245 million over the next decade to the emerging field of genome sciences. The campus wide initiative, which represents public and private investments, will allow Carolina to be a driving force in determining how the genomics revolution will change the way we treat human diseases, design drugs and grow crops.

EDUCATION AND CULTURAL RESOURCES

- UNC is building the new Sonja Haynes Stone Black Cultural Center building, funded by $9 million in private donations. It will house classrooms, seminar rooms, a gallery, dance studio and spaces for performances, lectures, meetings and offices. Construction is scheduled for completion by the end of 2003. Now based in the Frank Porter Graham Student Union, the center is among the nation's leading centers for research, teaching, learning and public service related to black history and culture.
- ibiblio, a collaboration between the university and the Center for the Public Domain, is known as the "the public's library and digital archive." It offers software archives, music archives, large text database projects and special exhibits. The site is dedicated to maintaining the open source philosophy in the development and management of its collections. Some of the most respected and most-used software archives reside on ibiblio, home to one of the largest "collections of collections" available on the Internet. ibiblio will observe its 10th anniversary in October 2002.
- From the Ackland Art Museum to the Morehead Planetarium to the North Carolina Botanical Garden, Carolina offers a vast array of educational and cultural opportunities. The Ackland exhibits from a permanent collection of more than 15,000 works of art, particularly rich in Old Master paintings and sculptures by artists including Degas, Rubens and Pissarro; Indian miniatures; Japanese paintings; and North Carolina folk art. Astronomy enthusiasts and schoolchildren from across North Carolina enjoy the Morehead Planetarium. Besides its displays of native and unusual plants and its nature trails, the Botanical Garden offers art exhibits, nature walks and courses on topics ranging from home gardening to botanical illustration.
- Professional theater also has a permanent place at Carolina through the PlayMakers Repertory Company, which performs in the Paul Green Theatre. The Carolina Union Performing Arts Series brings national and international dance, theatre and musical performances to campus.

PUBLIC SERVICE

- Carolina's public service activities reach every region of North Carolina, helping communities protect their public health, improve their schools and medical services, stimulate business, plan for new growth, understand their heritage and enrich their quality of life.
- Launched in 1999, the Carolina Center for Public Service engages faculty, staff and students in public service activities that have a positive, long-term effect on the lives of many North Carolinians.
- One of Carolina's most visionary student outreach programs is a.p.p.l.e.s. (Assisting People to Plan Learning Experiences in Service), the nation's first student-run service-learning program. Participants volunteer in the community or perform internships in nonprofit or government agencies as part of course work, then write about or discuss their experiences with faculty.
- The School of Government includes the Institute of Government, the nation's largest and most diversified university-based government training and research organization, and a highly regarded master of public administration degree program that prepares graduate students for leadership positions in public service. The school provides state, community and local government leaders with a broad array of services related to the operation of North Carolina government.

TAR HEEL TRADITIONS

WHY TAR HEELS?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff" bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'n heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

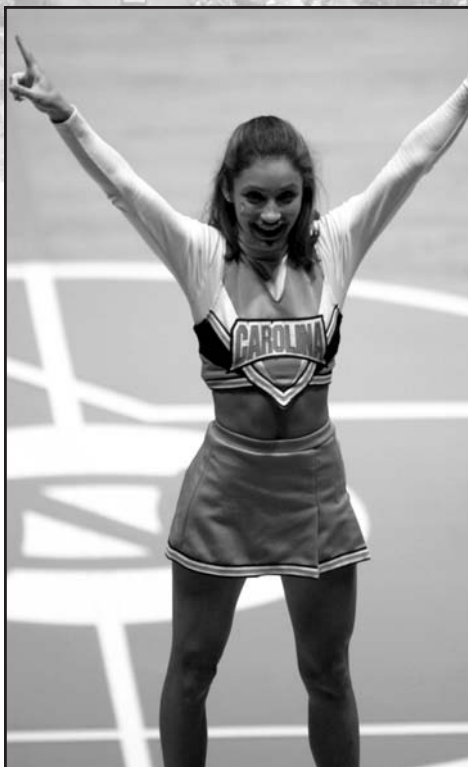

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

RAM MASCOT

For nearly 70 years the mascot of North Carolina's basketball and other teams has been a ram. Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant, 9-1 football record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

Tar Heels rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

SCHOOL COLORS

The adoption of light blue and white as UNC's colors dates back to the 19th Century. When the University reopened following the Civil War, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white. Since society membership was compulsory for all students, the opinions and activities of these organizations were by nature of circumstances all embracing. It was the custom for all men from localities west of Chapel Hill to affiliate with the Di and generally for students from the east to become members of the Phi.

On public occasions the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body.

Later, when intercollegiate athletics were established, the question of what to wear became a problem. Certainly, the students wanted to be associated with the University, but the school had no official colors. So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a University student body.

THE DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

Dan Searls

Carolina basketball is competing in the Dean E. Smith Center for the 18th season. The Tar Heels have played 218 games in the Smith Center in front of a combined audience of more than 4 million fans. Carolina has a 182-36 record in the Smith Center, a dominant winning percentage of .835.

Last year, Carolina's average attendance was the third-best in the nation.

The Smith Center recently underwent an extensive facelift that improved the behind-the-scenes training areas. The UNC locker room and weight room were completely renovated. A new media center was built and the Bowles Room and Educational Foundation offices were retrofitted to include a practice gym.

Prior to moving into the Smith Center, Carolina played its home games at Carmichael Auditorium. The Tar Heels were 169-20 at Carmichael. UNC debuted there on Dec. 4, 1965, against William and Mary, and finished play on Jan. 4, 1986, in a win over NC State.

In May 1980, the Department of Athletics, in conjunction with the Educational Foundation, embarked on a mission to raise millions of dollars from private donations to construct an arena. The real inspiration for the fund-raising effort came from the campaign chairman, the late Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles.

Six years and 2,362 donors later, the premiere basketball arena in America became a reality. Dedicated in September 1986 as the Dean Edwards Smith Center, the 300,000-square-foot structure stands on seven and one-half acres on the University's south campus. Over 20,000 cubic yards of rock were removed to make room for the 340-foot-wide, 380-foot-long and 140-foot-high building.

The first game featured No. 1 Carolina defeating No. 3 Duke, 95-92, in a battle of unbeaten on Jan. 18, 1986. The first Tar Heel basket was scored by Carolina center Warren Martin off a pass from Kenny Smith. Since that first game, the Smith Center has been the site of many memorable moments in Tar Heel history.

• On Jan. 27, 1993, Carolina trailed Florida State by 21 points with 11:48 to play in the game, but rallied for an 82-77 win. George Lynch's steal and dunk gave Carolina the lead.

• On Feb. 3, 1994, No. 2 Carolina beat No. 1 Duke, 89-78, in the first-ever matchup between the great rivals in which the teams held the top two spots in the Associated Press poll.

• UNC and Duke repeated their No. 1 vs. No. 2 battle on Feb. 5, 1998, as the second-ranked Tar Heels routed the top-rated Blue Devils, 97-73. Antawn Jamison scored 35 points that evening, one of three occasions he netted at least 35 points in the Smith Center.

• On Feb. 8, 1992, UNC rallied from 22 points down to beat Wake Forest, the largest comeback in school history.

• On Jan. 31, 1996, the Tar Heels trailed Duke by 17 points in the first half, but won, 73-72, on a last-second tip-in by Dante Calabria.

One of the most prominent features in the Smith Center is the series of banners rewarding the accomplishments of Carolina players and teams, including NCAA championship banners for 1956-57, 1981-82 and 1992-93, respectively. Also hanging high above the playing floor are 40 replica jerseys honoring Carolina's greatest individual standouts. Seven of the jerseys are retired, including Jack Cobb, #10 Lennie Rosenbluth, #12 Phil Ford, #20 George Glamack, #23 Michael Jordan, #33 Antawn Jamison and #52 James Worthly.

The Smith Center's four video screens provide replays, stats and information, previews of upcoming games and highlights of past games.

In 2000-01, a special standing-room-only section reserved for students opened on the baseline closest to the Carolina bench. The Educational Foundation funded a $150,000 renovation that allowed approximately 400 students to move courtside.

As a multi-purpose facility, the Smith Center has played host to a wide range of athletic events and concerts. In 1987, U.S. Olympic Festival basketball attracted a Smith Center record crowd of 23,713 for the gold medal game. In 1988, the venue served as the site of the first and second rounds of the NCAA East Regional. In 1994, the Smith Center hosted the NCAA Division I Wrestling Championships, attracting a three-day total of over 60,000 fans.

In 1999, the Smith Center and Koury Natatorium served as the basketball and aquatic venues for the 1999 Special Olympics World Summer Games.

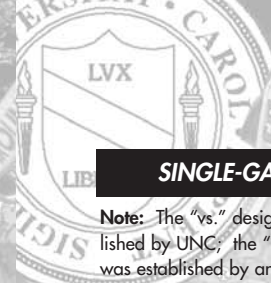

Kenny Rogers staged the first concert in the arena on April 12, 1986. Other entertainers to perform here included the Grateful Dead, Garth Brooks and James Taylor.

Adjacent to the Smith Center is the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium. The natatorium features an eight-lane, 50-meter pool.

The Smith Center and Koury Natatorium also host such community activities as the Chapel Hill High School Commencement, American Cancer Society Swim-for-Life, the Kenan-Flagler Business School Dedication, University Blood Drive, University Career Fairs, December and May Commencement Exercises. Thousands of school children visit the Smith Center annually.

2001-02 SEASON REVIEW

Robert Crawford

- Carolina finished the 2001-02 season with an 8-20 overall record and a 4-12 ACC mark. UNC tied with Clemson and Florida State for seventh place in the conference but earned the No. 7 seed in the ACC Tournament by virtue of its 3-1 record against the Tigers and Seminoles during the regular season. Carolina swept Clemson and split a pair of games against Florida State.

- After appearing in an NCAA-record 27 consecutive NCAA Tournaments prior to the season, the 2001-02 Tar Heel team was not in the NCAA field for the first time since 1974.

TAR HEEL TIDBITS

- Senior Jason Capel and his older brother Jeff (Duke, 1994-97) were one of eight brother combinations in ACC history to score more than 1,000 points between them. The Capel brothers (3,048 points) rank third on the ACC's career brother list. Clemson's Mahaffey quartet of Donnie, Randy, Richie and Tom totaled 3,555 points. Maryland's Jay and Tom McMillen scored 3,017 points.

- Capel and Kris Lang became the eighth and ninth four-year starters at Carolina since freshmen became eligible in 1972-73. The others are Phil Ford (1975-78), Mike O'Koren (1976-80), Sam Perkins (1981-84), Brad Daugherty (1983-86), Kenny Smith (1984-87), Jeff Lebo (1986-89) and Ademola Okulaja (1996-99).

- Carolina (8-20 overall in 2001-02) set a school record for most losses in a season. UNC lost 15 games in both 1950-51 and 1951-52.

- Carolina (4-12 in the ACC) set a school record for ACC losses in a season in 2001-02. UNC went 6-8 in ACC play in 1963-64, Dean Smith's third year as Carolina head coach.

- Prior to the 2001-02 campaign, UNC had never been six games under .500 at any point. Carolina ended the 2002 season 12 games under .500 at 8-20.

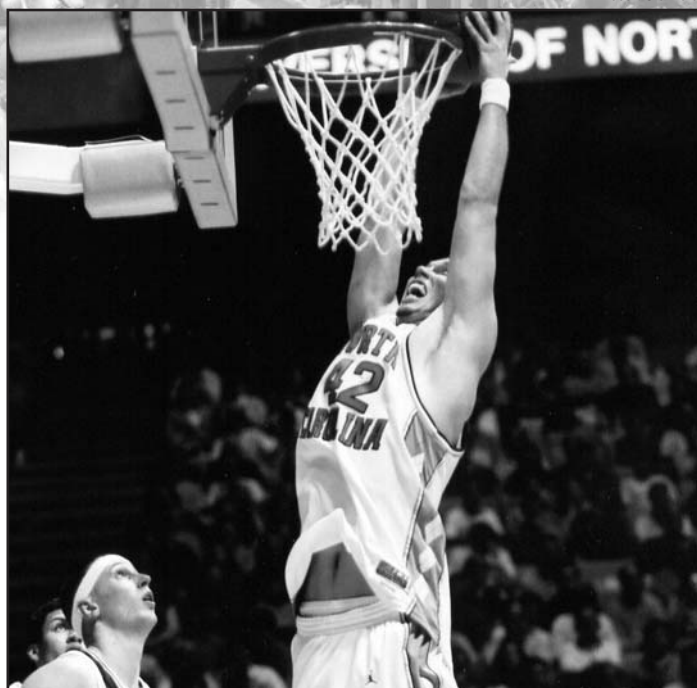

- Carolina did not place a player on the All-ACC first or second team for the first time since 1990. Senior forward Jason Capel did repeat as a third-team selection. Jawad Williams was named to the ACC's All-Freshman Team.

SEASON REVIEW

The Tar Heels set a number of marks this year, including losing a school-record:

- 20 games (previous record was 15 in 1950-51 and 1951-52).
- 12 ACC games (previous record was eight in 1963-64).
- nine home games (previous record was five in 1929-30, 1943-44 and 1999-2000).
- five consecutive home games (previous record was four in 1929-30 and 1943-44).
- five consecutive ACC losses (twice) (previous record was four on five occasions).
- three straight home games to open the season

Carolina's seventh-place finish in the ACC standings was its lowest ever. UNC's previous lowest finish was fifth place in 1953-54 and 1963-64. The Tar Heels had not finished out of the top three in the previous 37 years.

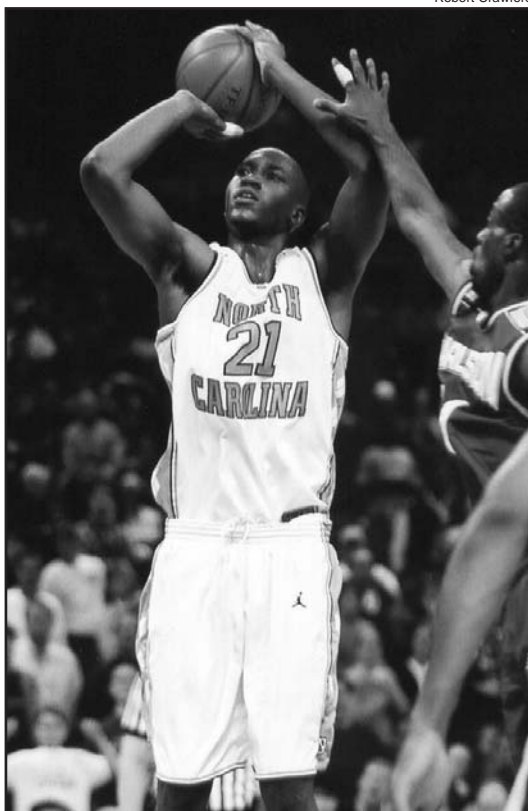

Kris Lang (above) and Jason Capel finished their careers in 2002 as two of only nine four-year starters in Tar Heel annals.

CAPEL, WILLIAMS EARN ALL-ACC HONORS

Senior Jason Capel earned third-team All-ACC honors for the second year in a row. Capel received 39 points in the voting and was the fifth-highest vote-getter on the third team. Kris Lang received 18 points and was an honorable mention selection. It was the first time since 1990 that no Tar Heel had made first or second team All-ACC.

Robert Crawford

Jawad Williams was named to the ACC's All-Freshman Team after the season.

Freshman Jawad Williams was named to the All-Freshman team. Williams tied for the third-most votes among the league's freshmen. Williams was the seventh Carolina rookie to make the All-Freshman team since 1993. Williams joins Jerry Stackhouse (1994), Rasheed Wallace (1994), Antawn Jamison (1996), Ed Cota (1997), Kris Lang (1999) and Joseph Forte (2000).

CAROLINA'S STARTING LINEUPS IN 2001-02

The following represents Carolina's 12 different starting lineups during the 2001-02 season and the Tar Heels' record in those games.

Hampton – Boone, Morrison, Williams, Capel, Lang (0-1)

Davidson, Ohio – Boone, Scott, Manuel, Capel, Lang (0-2)

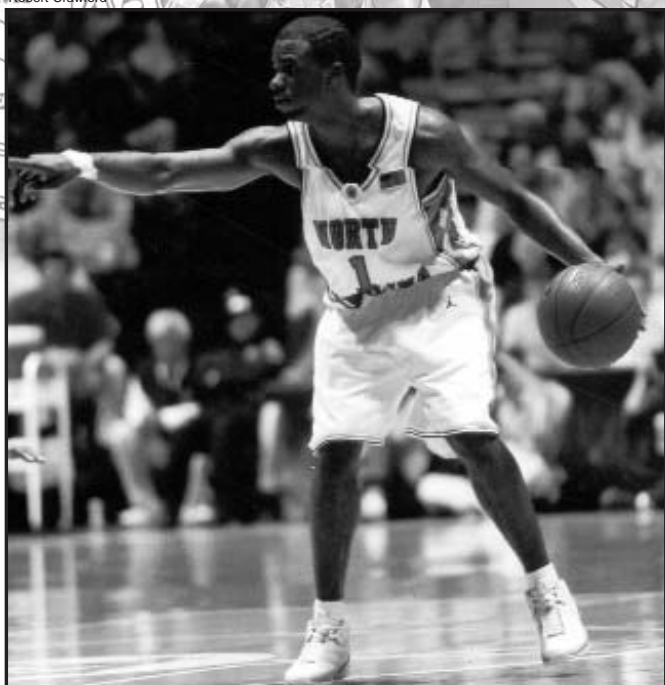

Indiana, Georgia Tech (12/2), Kentucky, Binghamton, College of Charleston, Wake Forest (1/5) – Scott, Manuel, Capel, Johnson, Lang (2-4)

Saint Joseph's, NC A&T, Texas A&M – Scott, Manuel, Capel, Johnson, Bersticker (3-0)

Maryland (1/9) – Boone, Manuel, Capel, Johnson, Bersticker (0-1)

Robert Crawford

Freshman Melvin Scott logged minutes at both point guard and shooting guard in 2001-02.

Virginia (1/12), Maryland (2/10) – Boone, Morrison, Manuel, Capel, Lang (0-2)

Fla. State (1/16) – Boone, Morrison, Manuel, Williams, Lang (0-1)

Connecticut – Boone, Manuel, Johnson, Williams, Lang (0-1)

Clemson (1/27), Duke (1/31), Georgia Tech (2/2), Wake Forest (2/6) – Capel, Johnson, Lang, Scott, Boone (1-3)

Virginia (2/12), Fla. State (2/17), NC State (2/24), Duke (3/3), Duke (3/8) – Boone, Scott, Capel, Williams, Lang (1-4)

Clemson (2/27) – Everett, Bersticker, Lang, Melendez, Capel (1-0)

HEELS START TWO FROSH GUARDS FOR FIRST TIME

Two freshmen – Melvin Scott and Jackie Manuel – were the starting guards in several Tar Heel games in 2001-02, marking the first time UNC had started two freshmen in the backcourt since they became eligible to play on the varsity in 1972-73.

Brian Morrison hit 6 of 8 three-point field goals and scored a career-high 21 points as the Tar Heels ended a three-game losing streak with an 83-77 win over Georgia Tech. Morrison scored 12 points in the opening half and added nine more in the second. Jason Capel scored 18 points, had nine rebounds, five assists and four steals. He hit a huge three-pointer with 4:21 to play to cut Tech's six-point lead in half. Moments later, Melvin Scott dropped in a three-pointer from the corner to tie the game at 75.

A pair of free throws by Jackie Manuel gave the Tar Heels the lead with 2:38 left. After Tech tied the game, Lang, Scott and Manuel all made one of two from the line for an 80-77 UNC lead with 16 seconds remaining in the game. Capel and Scott forced a steal at midcourt, Scott hit a driving layup and was fouled with 5.1 seconds left to seal the win.

Officials: Patillo, Edsall, Greene

Tayshaun Prince hit five three-pointers before the first television timeout and finished with 31 points, 11 rebounds, four assists and four steals to lead Kentucky to a 79-59 win over the Tar Heels.

Kris Lang led Carolina with 18 points, 14 of which he scored in the first half. Lang became sick late in the first half, and was ill throughout intermission, but still managed to play 10 minutes in the second half. The Tar Heels shot 48.1 percent from the field in the first half, but made just 8 of 31 from the floor in the second half (25.8 percent).

Officials: Valentine, Patillo, Benedict

Jawad Williams had 12 points and six rebounds and Jason Capel scored 10 second-half points as North Carolina edged Binghamton, 61-60, on Dec. 16 in the Smith Center. The game followed an eight-day layoff for final exams (the win over the Bearcats followed a Dec. 8 loss at Kentucky).

With the win, UNC head coach Matt Doherty earned his 50th win as a head coach.

Capel hit a huge three-pointer with 58 seconds to play, giving Carolina a 61-60 lead that would become the final margin when Kris Lang recorded a steal and blocked a shot in the final minute.

Jason Capel had 22 points and 16 rebounds (tying his career high on the boards) to lead Carolina to a 96-62 blowout win over Texas A & M on Dec. 30 in the Smith Center. Three other Tar Heels scored in double figures on the night — Jawad Williams (15), Brian Morrison (13) and Kris Lang (13). Lang's points came in just 15 minutes of action after missing the previous two games with a strained ligament in his left knee. The Tar Heels shot a season-high 54.4 percent from the floor in the game, while holding the Aggies to just 1 of 20 (5 percent) shooting on three-pointers.

Wake Forest grabbed 18 offensive rebounds and forced 21 Carolina turnovers on its way to an 84-62 win over UNC in Chapel Hill. The 22-point loss is the Tar Heels' most lopsided ever in the Smith Center and its worst loss at home since a 96-74 loss to Maryland in Carmichael Auditorium on Feb. 15, 1975. Josh Howard finished with 20 points, nine rebounds and five steals to lead the Demon Deacons. Steve Lepore came off the bench to hit three three-pointers and score 15 points in 22 minutes for Wake.

The Tar Heels scored a season-high 55 points in the second half and shot 66.7 percent after half-time (a season-high for a half) to top Florida State, 95-85, in the Smith Center on Feb. 17. The game was the first this season in which Carolina had trailed at halftime and come back to win (UNC is now 1-14 when trailing at the half). The Carolina victory broke a five-game losing streak.

Fifteen former Tar Heels came back to show their support for the program, meeting with the current crop of Carolina players prior to the game. Adam Boone led UNC with 28 points, followed by Kris Lang with 21 and Jason Capel with 20. The game marked the first time in over four years that three Tar Heels topped 20 points in scoring.

North Carolina	48	48	-	96

Officials: Scagliotta, Natili, Styons

Carolina shot better than 50 percent from the floor in both halves, hitting a season-high 55.9 percent of its shots for the game, and cruised to a 96-78 win over Clemson. The win improved the Tar Heels to 48-0 at home all-time against Clemson, the second-longest such streak in the nation. Jason Capel scored a career-high 28 points in the game, hitting three early three-pointers to get the Smith Center crowd going. Jackie Manuel played his best game as a Tar Heel, scoring a season-high 16 points on 5 of 7 shooting that included 2 of 3 three-pointers.

North Carolina	22	26	-	48
Duke	28	32	-	60

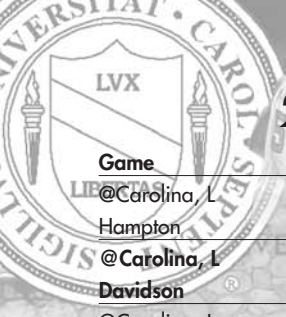

Officials: Edsall, Kersey, Jones

In the ACC Tournament quarterfinals, No. 7 seed Carolina slowed the game down and tried to limit No. 2 seed Duke's number of offensive possessions. The Tar Heels succeeded, holding Duke to 18 field goals on 46 attempts, both of which were season lows for UNC opponents.

However, despite shooting 66.7 percent in the second half (8 of 12), Carolina committed 17 turnovers and lost, 60-48. The game was as close as five points with 4:35 left to play.

Jason Williams scored 20 of Duke's 60 points. Kris Lang was the only Tar Heel in double figures with 14 points.

A HISTORY OF TAR HEEL BASKETBALL

The University of North Carolina is one of college basketball's all-time greatest programs. With four national championships, almost 1,800 wins, NCAA records for consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances and 20-win seasons, the winningest coach in Division I history, and legendary players such as Lennie Rosenbluth, Billy Cunningham, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Vince Carter, the Tar Heels are one of the most recognizable teams in the world.

Carolina's 92 seasons in the intercollegiate ranks have produced an overall record of 1,789 victories and 650 losses, making the Tar Heel program the second-winningest in NCAA history in total victories and winning percentage. Only Kentucky, North Carolina, Kansas and UNLV have played at least 40 years and won more than 70 percent of their games.

The Tar Heels have won half or more of their games in 82 of the 92 seasons and no Carolina coach has ever left the position with a losing record. Carolina has had only four head coaches in the last 50 years – Frank McGuire for nine years, Dean Smith from 1961-62 to 1996-97, Bill Guthridge from October 1997-98 to 1999-2000 and Matt Doherty beginning in 2000-2001.

THE ROOTS OF A SUCCESSFUL PROGRAM

The first varsity team played at North Carolina during the 1910-11 season. Basketball clubs had originally been a part of physical education classes at the University, but student Marvin Ritch led the drive with school officials to start an organized varsity team. Nat Cartmell, UNC's track and field coach, who was internationally known in his own right as a sprinter, coached that first team in 1911.

By the time the team was organized, Carolina did not schedule its first game until January 27, 1911, when it defeated Virginia Christian, 42-21, in Chapel Hill. The team played its games in Bynum Gymnasium, now the site of the University Cashier's office. Carolina went 7-4 that first season, playing the likes of Tennessee, Virginia, Wake Forest, Davidson, the YMCA teams from Durham and Charlotte and the Woodberry Forest School of Virginia. At the time, a crowd of 50 spectators for a game was considered enormous.

Cartmell ended up coaching the Tar Heels for four seasons. His 1912 squad finished only 4-5, but several thousand fans came to see the Tar Heels play Virginia Tech at the Raleigh Auditorium, a sign that interest in and fan support of the game was growing quickly in the Carolinas.

Charles Doak became the program's head coach in 1915. His 1916 team recorded a 12-6 ledger, the best record for any team during the first decade of the sport on campus. Doak had served as the Tar Heels' baseball coach before being assigned to coach the basketball team as well.

In 1917, Carolina recorded its first victory over then arch-rival Virginia after eight previous losses. That Tar Heel team was led by George Tennent, who captained both the 1917 and 1918 teams. Luther Hodges, who later served as governor of North Carolina from 1957-61 and was the Secretary of Commerce under President John Kennedy, was a substitute player on the 1917 team. Beginning with that 1917 season, Howell Peacock coached the team for three years, compiling a 23-14 mark.

In 1920, Fred Boye took over as the head coach at Carolina, staying two years and compiling a 19-17 ledger. The 1922 squad played without an official head coach, but nevertheless compiled a 15-6 record. Carolina went to Atlanta that season and swept the first-ever Southern Conference Tournament championship, winning five games in five days. The Heels captured the title with a 40-26 win over Mercer in the finals. The Southern Conference had been founded the previous summer with an initial membership of 22 schools. The 1922 squad was led by Cartwright Carmichael, who was then a sophomore. He went on to become one of Carolina's all-time great players. He became UNC's first All-America in any sport in both 1923 and 1924 and he was an All-Southern Conference pick from 1922 through 1924.

The 1946 Tar Heels, led by starters John Dillon, Bob Paxton, Jim White and Jim Hayworth, made the first Final Four appearance in school history.

CELEBRATING CAROLINA'S FIRST NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The five-year period beginning in 1922 was actually a glorious one for Carolina despite the fact that the Tar Heels played with no coach during the 1922 and 1923 seasons and with a different head coach in each of the following three years. But with incredibly talented players on hand, Carolina went 96-17 in that five-year span and won four of five Southern Conference championships as well as the national championship in 1924.

The 1923 team set the stage for that magnificent '24 squad by going 15-1, losing only a 34-32 thriller to Ole Miss in the Southern Conference tournament final.

The '24 team proved to be something very special indeed. Led by Jack Cobb, Carmichael and Bill Dodderer, it rolled to a 26-0 record and was named the national champion by the Helms Foundation. Carolina beat Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Alabama to capture the Southern Conference championship.

Carolina's nine-man 1924 squad played for the first time in the Indoor Athletic Center, better known around campus as the Tin Can, a structure which existed until the late 1970s. It was razed to clear land for what is now the Robert Allison Fetzer Gymnasium on the UNC campus. Norman Shepard coached the Tar Heels in 1924 in what would be his only season as head coach. He left the following year to pursue business ventures abroad.

After being an All-Southern Conference selection in 1924, Monk McDonald took over as the team's head coach the following season. Led again by the magnificent Cobb, the Tar Heels finished 20-5 in 1925 and won another Southern Conference crown by whipping Tulane 36-28 in the finals. A year later, Carolina had yet another new head coach in Harlan Sanborn as the '26 team compiled a solid 20-5 mark. That team was led by Cobb, who was named the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation, and by Dodderer, who was named All-Southern Conference for the third year in a row.

Cobb, who averaged 15 points per game in 1926, a total practically unheard of in that day, was named an All-America for the third successive year. One of the highlights of the year was the crowd of thousands which gathered at Memorial Hall to hear a telegraphic play-by-play of the Southern Conference championship game from Atlanta as UNC downed Mississippi State, 38-23.

James Ashmore began an impressive five-year coaching stint with the Tar Heels in 1927. His teams were led by players like Billy Morris, Puny Harper, Bunn Hackney and Rufus Hackney. Ashmore's teams combined for an 80-37 mark during his tenure, but they never won the Southern Conference championship – in fact they never reached the finals.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE REALIGNS

Norman Shepard's brother, George "Bo" Shepard, took over as head coach in 1932. He quickly catapulted Carolina back into national prominence. The "Charlotte Connection" provided many of the best players for UNC at the time because of the strong high school and YMCA programs in that part of the state.

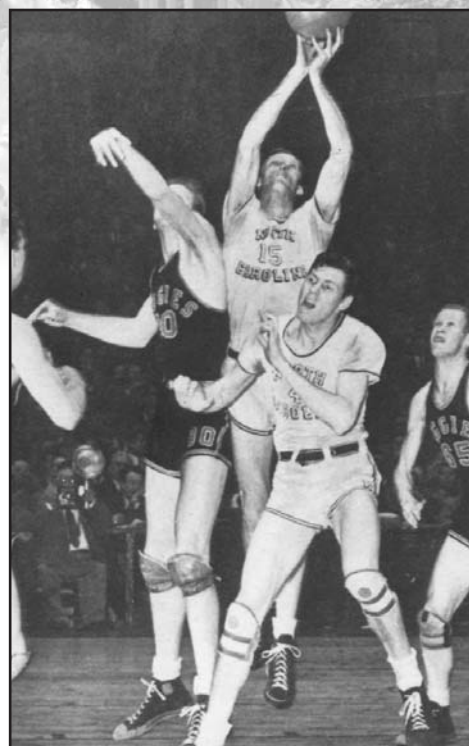

Guard Tom Alexander and forward Virgil Weathers, both All-Southern Conference choices, led the '32 team to a 16-5 mark as Carolina lost, 26-24, in the Southern Conference final to Georgia in Atlanta, the new site of the conference tournament. After the '32 season, the Southern Conference lost 13 schools which went on to form what is now the Southeastern Conference. That turn of events left 10 schools in the Southern Conference.

In 1933, Shepard needed a big man for rebounding purposes and to control the jump ball after each score. He found his man in Jack Glace, who hadn't even made his high school squad. The Heels went 12-5 that season and lost a double overtime thriller to South Carolina, 34-32, in the semifinals of the Southern Conference Tournament.

The 1934 Carolina team finished 18-4, being upset by Duke in the Southern Conference tournament after beating the Blue Devils twice in the regular season. Dave McCachren was the captain of that Carolina squad and was the first of four McCachren brothers to play at UNC from 1931-43. Each brother captained the Tar Heel team his senior year, and each was elected president of the UNC athletic association. After Dave, Jim, a three-time All-Southern Conference selection, captained the '36 team, Bill captained the '39 squad and George, better known as "Toad," captained the '43 unit.

The 1935 team won the conference championship and compiled a marvelous 23-2 mark in Shepard's last year as head coach. After that season, Shepard stepped down because of health reasons and Walter Skidmore became head coach. Skidmore continued the winning ways in Chapel Hill, leading the 1936 team to a 21-4 record and a Southern Conference title. That 1936 unit was led by Pete Mullis and Andy Bershak, who was also a Carolina football All-America.

Carolina had successful years in 1937 and '38, but failed to win the Southern Conference title either time. However, in 1938, Carolina inaugurated a new home base for its basketball operations as the 5,000-seat Woollen Gymnasium opened, and Carolina left the Tin Can to be used for track meets and campus social functions. Then, in 1939, Carolina suffered its first losing campaign in 19 years, and Skidmore stepped down as coach. He was replaced for the 1940 season by Bill Lange, then an assistant football coach under Ray Wolf.

Bones McKinney and Carolina reached the 1946 NCAA title game, the first of an NCAA-record 15 Final Fours in UNC history.

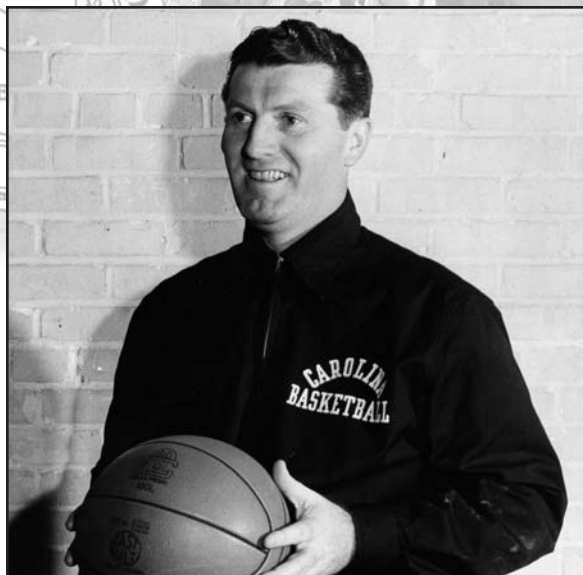

CAROLINA EARNS ITS FIRST NCAA BID

The 1940 Carolina team proved to be an outstanding one. Led by George Glamack, nicknamed the "Blind Bomber," UNC went 23-3. The 6-6 junior from Johnstown, Pa., could barely see the basket because of impaired vision, but his foul line hook shot was lethal. Glamack became only the third player ever designated as the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation on two occasions, winning the honor in both 1940 and '41.

Other stars on the teams of the early 1940s were Paul Severin, who was also a two-time All-America in football, and Bob Rose, an All-Southern Conference player in both 1941 and '42. Glamack averaged 20.6 points per game for the Tar Heels, an amazing statistic given the fact that teams only scored in the 40s and 50s during that era.

As in other sports, the World War II years in college basketball were unsettled in nature. The Carolina team lost many players to service obligations during this time – in fact, only one letterman was available for the 1943 team. In 1944, the Tar Heels played 11 contests against service teams. Lange stepped down as coach after the 1944 season with an impressive five-year record of 85-41. Lange's 1941 team was also the first at UNC to make the NCAA Tournament field.

Ben Carnevale took over as head coach in 1945 and the Tar Heels motored to an outstanding 22-6 ledger and the Southern Conference championship. The star of that team was Jim Jordan, who was named a second-team All-America that season.

Frank McGuire led Carolina to the ACC's first NCAA basketball title and later hired Dean Smith as an assistant coach.

The 1956-57 Tar Heels, shown here celebrating the 1956 Dixie Classic championship, later won the '57 NCAA championship after triple-overtime victories over Michigan State and Kansas in the Final Four.

NEARLY ANOTHER NATIONAL TITLE

The 1946 team was a truly outstanding one. Led by first-team All-Americans Jordan and John "Hook" Dillon and 6-6 Horace "Bones" McKinney, Carolina made it all the way to the NCAA championship game before losing to Coach Henry Iba's Oklahoma (A&M) State team, 43-40, at Madison Square Garden. McKinney had attended N.C. State before going into the military in World War II, and he resumed his education at Chapel Hill, helping lead the Heels to their 30-5 mark in 1946. Carnevale left after the season was over to take the coaching job at the U.S. Naval Academy. He was replaced by Tom Scott.

At this time, basketball in the South was enjoying unprecedented popularity. N.C. State was becoming a formidable rival for the Tar Heels, and the Southern Conference Tournament was moved to Duke's Indoor Stadium so more fans could attend the postseason classic.

Scott's first team, in 1947, was led by Jim Hamilton and Bob Paxton. It posted a 19-8 record and lost in the conference finals to N.C. State, then coached by the legendary Everett Case. Unfortunately, that would be the second of 15 consecutive losses Carolina suffered at the hands of the Wolfpack over a six-year period.

Scott produced 20-win seasons in both 1948 and '49, but lost three contests to N.C. State in each of those campaigns, including heartbreakers in the league tournament.

TAR HEELS TURN TO MCGUIRE

The next three seasons produced a trio of mediocre records, and Scott resigned after the 1952 season. He was replaced by Frank McGuire, a 38-year-old native of Greenwich Village in New York City. Formerly the coach at St. John's University in Jamaica, N.Y., McGuire was successful at luring many outstanding New York basketball stars, the first of whom was Jerry Vayda, to Chapel Hill through his connections to the area.

McGuire's first team, in 1953, proved to be a scrappy unit. It didn't have great talent, but ended up 17-10 and beat N.C. State in Raleigh, breaking the six-year losing streak to the Pack. During the off-season, Carolina and seven other schools left the Southern Conference to join what has become America's finest intercollegiate athletic league, the Atlantic Coast Conference. The next two years produced average records – 11-10 in 1954 and 10-11 a year later – but McGuire was building a foundation for future greatness.

Lennie Rosenbluth, from New York City, debuted for the Tar Heels in 1955 as a sophomore and averaged 25.5 points per game. In 1956, a great new class joined holdovers Rosenbluth, Vayda, Tony Radovich and Bob Young. The new sophomore class included Pete Brennan, Tommy Kearns, Joe Quigg, Bob Cunningham and Roy Searcy. That '56 team went 18-5, setting the stage for what happened a year later.

UNC GOES TO OVERTIME FOR SECOND NATIONAL TITLE

In 1957, McGuire had a lineup that consisted of the 6-6 Brennan, 6-5 Rosenbluth and 6-9 Quigg on the front line with Cunningham and Kearns in the backcourt. En route to its 32-0 record, Carolina had to avoid a couple of close calls in the regular season – against Duke at home and a double overtime contest with Maryland in College Park. The closest call of all may have come in the ACC Tournament semifinals when the Heels edged Wake Forest, 61-59. Because only the ACC Tournament champion earned an NCAA bid in those days, had the Tar Heels lost to the Deacons, they would not even have been allowed to compete in the national tournament. Once in the NAAs, however, Carolina swept past three opponents in the East Regional to set up a meeting with Michigan State in the semifinals.

It took three overtimes, but Carolina finally vanquished the Spartans, 74-70. This win set up a showdown with Dick Harp's Kansas Jayhawks, led by the great Wilt Chamberlain. At Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium, UNC needed another three overtimes to subdue Kansas, 54-53, on Quigg's two free throws with six seconds to play in the third extra session. Thousands turned out at the Raleigh-Durham Airport the next day to welcome their conquering heroes home. Rosenbluth concluded his brilliant career by being named an All-America, first-team All-ACC for the third straight year and the Helms National Player of the Year.

In 1958, a Carolina team led by All-America and ACC Player of the Year Brennan finished 19-7. Lee Shaffer and Dick Kepley, soon to be Carolina stars in their own right, joined the squad as sophomores. With the exception of the 1957 national championship team, McGuire's 1959 squad may have been the best amongst the nine he coached during his time at UNC. Doug Moe, York Larese and Lou Brown joined the team and Carolina finished 20-5 and qualified for the school's fourth NCAA Tournament appearance.

A year later, Carolina had another outstanding season under McGuire. The Heels finished 18-6 overall and Shaffer was named a first-team All-America.

The 1961 season yielded an outstanding team and a 19-4 record. It was the senior year for Moe, Larese and Kepley. Moe was an All-America that season and together with Larese, they were called the L&M twins. McGuire chose to accept a head coaching offer from the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association after the season concluded. His nine-season record at Carolina was a brilliant 164-58. Under McGuire, Carolina went to the NCAA Tournament twice, won five ACC regular-season titles, one ACC Tournament title and the national championship.

CHANCELLOR AYCOCK MAKES THE PERSONNEL DECISION OF A LIFETIME

The man who stepped into the coaching void was a native Kansan by the name of Dean Edwards Smith. He had been lured to Carolina in 1958 from the U.S. Air Force Academy to be McGuire's top assistant. Carolina Chancellor William Aycock was charged with the duty of finding the successor for the popular McGuire. He entrusted the post to the 30-year-old Smith, who built a program that still is a model for integrity and success in college athletics.

Coach Smith's first team in 1962 compiled an 8-9 record, his only losing season as a head coach. But his players did give him a victory in his first coaching outing, 80-46 over Virginia on December 2, 1961. It would prove to be a harbinger of things to come. After that victory, Smith said, "I've never been as scared in my life."

Billy Cunningham, affectionately known as "The Kangaroo Kid," joined the varsity team and became an immediate star in 1962. Averaging 22.7 points and 16 rebounds a game, he helped lead the Tar Heels to a 15-6 record, which included road victories against both Kentucky and Notre Dame. A year later, Cunningham was still awesome, but the Tar Heels' record dipped to 12-12. Help for the future arrived, however, in the form of highly-touted freshman Bob Lewis.

Lewis moved up to the varsity team in 1965 and with the All-America Cunningham, the two combined for 46.4 points per game as Carolina went 15-9. Cunningham left Carolina as its all-time leader in rebounds and as one of the most prolific rebounders and scorers in conference history. A two-time All-America and three-time All-ACC selection, he went on to a great professional playing and coaching career, mainly with the Philadelphia 76ers.

For 1966, Cunningham was gone, but Lewis was now joined by soon-to-be superstar Larry Miller. The Tar Heels moved out of Woollen Gymnasium and into the 8,800-seat Carmichael Auditorium, which would evolve into one of the most famous arenas in college basketball history. The '66 squad finished only 16-11, but it was obvious that greatness was just around the corner.

THREE STRAIGHT ACC TITLES, THREE STRAIGHT FINAL FOURS

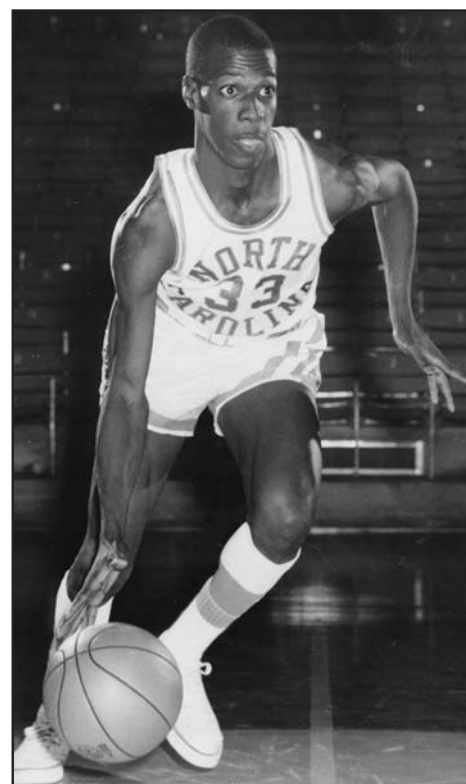

The 1967 team proved to be Coach Smith's first truly great squad at Carolina. Lewis and Miller were joined on the varsity by sophomores Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting, Dick Grubar and Joe Brown. The season resulted in a 26-6 ledger, and the Tar Heels finished third in the final United Press International poll and fourth in the Associated Press rankings. The '67 campaign marked the beginning of a string of three successive first-place finishes in the ACC regular-season standings, three straight ACC tournament titles and three consecutive NCAA East Regional championships for Smith and his troops. That's a feat unmatched in ACC history. The '67 squad was characterized by an enthusiastic, gambling defense that would become a trademark of Smith-coached teams.

Lewis graduated after the '67 season, but the great Charles Scott arrived to take his place in the Carolina lineup as the Heels prepared for the 1968 season. Scott was the first black player on the Carolina varsity, and he started from the beginning of his sophomore year. The '68 team was an outstanding one and made it all the way to the NCAA finals before losing to UCLA and Lew Alcindor. The Heels' final record that year was 28-4, the best yet under Smith's tutelage. Miller was both an All-America and the ACC Player of the Year for the second straight year.

Heading into 1969, Miller was gone but the remaining core of those great teams returned. Carolina went 27-5, won the ACC championship for the third straight year and was again in the Final Four, the school's fifth such visit since the NCAA Tournament began in 1939. Scott, Bunting, Clark and Grubar led that team as well as junior guard Eddie Fogler.

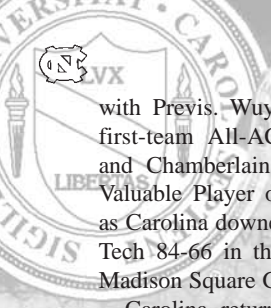

The 1970 squad entered that season decimated by graduation. The tremendous seniors of the previous year – Bunting, Clark and Grubar – had graduated. Carolina finished 18-9, buoyed by the addition of sophomores Dennis Wuycik, Bill Chamberlain and Steve Previs, all solid players. Scott was named All-ACC for the third successive year and was a first-team All-America for the second time. Carolina accepted the first of its four NIT bids in history and the 18-9 record was the last time Carolina failed to win 20 games in a season until 2001-02.

The 1971 team was not expected to do much according to the pre-season ratings, but it rolled up a 26-6 record and won the ACC regular-season title and the National Invitation Tournament championship. Sophomore George Karl moved up to the varsity and formed a great backcourt with Previs. Wuycik was a first-team All-ACC choice and Chamberlain the Most Valuable Player of the NIT as Carolina downed Georgia Tech 84-66 in the finals at Madison Square Garden.

Carolina returned to the NCAA Final Four in 1972 with a 26-5 record. Robert McAdoo, a junior college transfer from Vincennes University, was outstanding for the Heels along with returnees

Wuycik, Chamberlain, Karl and Previs. Sixth man Bobby Jones, a 6-8 sophomore, showed great promise for the future. Carolina won five different tournament championships during the course of the season, including the ACC Tournament and NCAA East Regional championships. The Tar Heels were eliminated in the NCAA Final Four by Florida State in the semifinals, 79-75. After the season, McAdoo became the first player under Smith to declare himself eligible for the NBA draft prior to the completion of his eligibility. A year later, he was the NBA Rookie of the Year with the Buffalo Braves.

Carolina returned to the NIT in 1973 and reached the semifinals after losing in the first round of the ACC Tournament. The 25-8 squad was led by the play of Karl and, in the first year freshmen were again eligible to play under NCAA rules, Mitch Kupchak showed signs of greatness inside.

A REMARKABLE COMEBACK VERSUS DUKE

The 1974 team was led by All-America and All-ACC player Jones. It compiled a 22-6 record but was relegated to a return trip to the NIT even though it was ranked eighth in the final UPI poll. That team featured a freshman class of Walter Davis, Tommy LaGarde and John Kuester — a group which would lead Carolina back to the Final Four in 1977. The 1974 season will also be remembered for the astounding comeback the Tar Heels made against Duke at Carmichael Auditorium in the final game of the regular season. Trailing by eight points with 17 seconds to play, the Heels rallied to tie the contest on a 28-foot shot by Davis as time expired. UNC went on to win in overtime, 96-92. The 1974 season also marked the last time Carolina failed to make the NCAA Tournament field, a streak now numbering an NCAA record 22 years.

In 1975, the wonderous Phil Ford arrived on campus as a freshman and had an immediate impact on Carolina basketball fortunes. He became the first freshman under Smith to start the first game of his career, a feat later matched only by Mike O'Koren, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Rick Fox, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison. As a frosh, Ford won the Everett Case Award as Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament as Carolina beat defending national champion N.C. State in the finals, 70-66, knocking the Wolfpack out the NCAA Tournament in the process. The Tar Heels had to survive overtime games with Wake Forest and Clemson in the first two rounds of the tournament just to get into the final game. Overall, that Carolina team finished 23-8 and was eliminated in the NCAA East Regional semifinals by Syracuse, which went on to the Final Four.

A year later, in Kupchak's senior season, the Tar Heels had one of their best teams ever under Smith, but it was undone by injuries and bad luck at season's end. First-team All-Americans Kupchak and Ford led the team to a 25-4 mark and a 13-1 ACC slate. But Carolina was upset in the ACC finals by Virginia, giving the Cavaliers their only ACC championship in history, and then UNC lost to Alabama in the first round of the NCAAs with Ford sidelined with a badly sprained ankle. Following the season, Carmichael Auditorium underwent a renovation which increased seating capacity from 8,800 to 10,000. Individual seats were torn out and bleacher seats installed throughout the facility.

The 1977 campaign marked a return to the Final Four for the first time in five years as UNC posted a 28-5 mark. Mid-season knee surgery on LaGarde ended his college career prematurely and then Davis broke his thumb in the ACC Tournament semifinals against N.C. State. Led by Kuester, the Tar Heels persevered and beat Virginia in the tournament finals, 75-69.

Carolina used its up-tempo style to perfection in conjunction with the famed four corners offense in scoring NCAA wins over Purdue, Notre Dame, Kentucky and UNLV. All were of the comeback variety save the win over the Wildcats. Ford suffered a hyperextended elbow in the waning moments of the Notre Dame game and played the remainder of the tourney at less than 100 percent. After freshman O'Koren helped the Heels into the finals with 31 points against Vegas, the Tar Heels fell to Marquette, 67-59, in the title game.

The 1978 team had to play minus LaGarde, Davis and Kuester, which was no easy task. It was Ford's senior year and the Rocky Mount, N.C., native was tapped for National Player of the Year honors by four organizations as UNC finished 23-8. In an emotional Carmichael Auditorium farewell, Ford scored a career-high 34 points as UNC beat Duke 87-83 in one of the most memorable games played in the building, clinching the ACC regular-season championship for the Heels in the process. Ford finished his career as a three-time first-team All-America and as Carolina's all-time leading scorer and assist man. He still holds the scoring record to this day with 2,290 points.

highly in the preseason, but won Smith ACC and National Coach of the Year honors after finishing 23-6. O'Koren, senior defensive wizard Dudley Bradley and sophomore sharpshooter Al Wood led that team. During the regular season, UNC upset eventual national champion Michigan State 70-69 at Carmichael and scored an infamous 70-69 win at N.C. State on Bradley's last-second steal and dunk. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship with Duke and then beat the Blue Devils 71-63 in the ACC Tournament finals as Bradley captured tournament MVP honors. Carolina was upset in the NCAA second round by Penn, which went on to play in the NCAA Final Four.

The 1980 squad was led by a senior class which featured O'Koren, a first-team All-America in 1979 and 1980. The Tar Heels finished 21-8. Other graduating seniors were guards Dave Colescott and John Virgil and centers Rich Yonakor and Jeff Wolf. One of the season's highlights was a 61-57 win at Indiana in the homecoming game for Colescott, a Marion, Ind., native and former Mr. Basketball in the Hoosier State.

The 1981 team would initiate a string of 13 straight Carolina squads which advanced to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament. Led by Al Wood and sophomore power forward James Worthy, UNC finished 29-8 and won the ACC Tournament title with one-point wins over Wake Forest and Maryland in the semifinal and final, respectively. After winning the NCAA West Regional crown, UNC returned to the Final Four in Philadelphia where it avenged two regular-season losses to conference foe attempt, UNC was beaten by Indiana in the national championship game.

All-America Al Wood scored an NCAA semifinal-record 39 points in the 1981 Final Four win over Virginia, propelling Carolina into the national championship game.

WORTHY'S MVP PERFORMANCE KEYS CAROLINA'S THIRD NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1981 team proved to be only a prelude to the greatness of the 1982 squad which won the national championship. Preseason rated No. 1, the Tar Heels finished the regular season that way and went on to win the NCAA championship. The squad's 32-2 record equaled the school record for victories in a season as the Tar Heels swept through the ACC Tournament and the NCAA East Regional. There were many heroes on the '82 team. Worthy was named the co-National Player of the Year and he scored a career-high 28 points in UNC's pulsating 63-62 win over Georgetown in the championship game. Center Sam Perkins was a first-team All-America, and he was joined in the lineup by point guard Jimmy Black, small forward Matt Doherty and a freshman guard by the name of Michael Jordan. Jordan hit a 16-foot jump shot with 15 seconds left, providing the winning points in the title game, and Worthy sealed the victory with a steal of a Fred Brown pass with five seconds left.

Worthy opted to make himself available for the NBA draft after his junior year, and he was chosen as the first pick by the Los Angeles Lakers. Even without Worthy, the Tar Heels returned a strong cast in 1983 with a nucleus featuring Jordan and Perkins. Both players earned first-team All-America honors that year and Jordan was named National Player of the Year by The Sporting News. The Tar Heels finished 28-8 after starting 0-2, the worst-ever start for a Smith-coached team at Carolina. After splitting its first six games of the season, Carolina recovered from the slow start to be the nation's No. 1-ranked team for several weeks in January and February. After tying for the ACC regular-season championship, the Heels made it to the finals of the NCAA East Regional before being upset by Georgia. The highlight of the year was an improbable 64-63 victory over Virginia on February 10, 1983 as No. 1-ranked Carolina rallied from 16 points down with 8:43 to play to beat second-ranked Virginia at Carmichael Auditorium.

Freshman Michael Jordan burst upon the national scene with his game-winning jump shot to lift the Tar Heels to a 63-62 win over Georgetown in the 1982 NCAA championship game.

In 1984, Smith had one of his best teams ever before it fell victim to a late-season injury bug. At 28-3 overall, the Tar Heels became only the sixth team in ACC history to go through the conference regular-season round-robin undefeated at 14-0. Jordan was named the consensus National Player of the Year and Perkins was named both first-team All-ACC and first-team All-America for the third straight year. Starting point guard Kenny Smith suffered a broken wrist in the LSU game on January 29 and never fully recovered that season. Center Brad Daugherty also suffered a hand injury during the ACC Tournament that hampered his play the rest of the way. That Tar Heel team finished No. 1 nationally in both final polls.

The 1985 team was another of Smith's over-achieving teams. Ignored in the pre-season Top 20 polls for the first time in recent memory, UNC went 27-9 that year after losing Perkins and Jordan from the lineup. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship as Daugherty and Kenny Smith had superb years for the Tar Heels. Carolina was eliminated in the finals of the NCAA Southeast Regional by

FRESHMEN SENSATIONS

- In 1975, point guard Phil Ford averaged 16.4 points per game and earned ACC Tournament MVP honors, leading Carolina to the league title.
- In 1977, forward Mike O'Koren scored 31 points to lead Carolina past UNLV in the national semifinals.
- In 1980, forward James Worthy was shooting 58.7 percent from the floor in his first 14 games before suffering a season-ending injury.
- In 1981, Sam Perkins led UNC in blocked shots and was second on the squad in scoring and rebounding. Perkins was ACC Rookie of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP and was named to the NCAA All-West Regional Team. Perkins holds the ACC record for field goal percentage by a freshman at .626.
- In 1982, Michael Jordan hit the game-winning jump shot against Georgetown in the NCAA championship game. Jordan averaged 13.5 points per game as a freshman on that national title winning team, but even more impressively, made 53.4 percent of his shot attempts from the floor.
- In 1987, J.R. Reid averaged 14.7 points, shot 58.4 percent from the floor and led Carolina in rebounding with 7.4 per game. Reid was a freshman standout on a Tar Heel team that went 14-0 in the ACC regular season.
- In 1996, forward Antawn Jamison became only the fifth player in ACC history to earn first-team All-ACC honors as a freshman. He averaged 15.1 points and 9.7 rebounds and became the first rookie to lead the ACC in field goal percentage, shooting 62.4 percent from the floor.
- In 1994, Rasheed Wallace joined a veteran squad coming off a national championship and averaged 9.5 points and 6.6 rebounds and shot 60.4 percent from the floor. That same year, Jerry Stackhouse averaged 12.2 points a game. The Tar Heels finished No. 1 in the country in the final A.P. poll that season.
- In 1997, Ed Cota led the ACC in assists with 6.9 per game and led the Tar Heels to an ACC Tournament title and NCAA Final Four appearance.
- In 2000, Joseph Forte averaged 16.7 points per game, leading the Tar Heels in scoring, three-point field goals, and steals. Forte was the ACC Rookie of the Year, earned second-team All-ACC honors, Freshman All-America honors, and was the MVP of the Maui Classic and the NCAA South Regional.
- Forte was the fifth Tar Heel to earn ACC Rookie of the Year honors. He joined Sam Perkins (1981), Michael Jordan (1982), J.R. Reid (1987) and Ed Cota (1997).
- Three Tar Heel freshmen – Phil Ford (1975), Sam Perkins (1981), and Jerry Stackhouse (1994) – were named ACC Tournament Most Valuable Players. Ford averaged 16.4 points, led the team with 161 assists and shot 51.6 percent from the floor as a freshman. Only one non-Tar Heel freshman has won ACC Tournament MVP honors.

1987 National Player of the Year Kenny Smith was the point guard on two UNC teams that went undefeated in ACC play — the 1984 and '87 squads.

eventual national champion Villanova.

THE OPENING OF THE DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

The 1986 unit, led by first-team All-America Daugherty, won its first 21 games en route to a 28-6 mark. The Tar Heels were devastated at season's end by injuries to starters Steve Hale and Joe Wolf and backup center Warren Martin. For the second straight year, UNC was eliminated from the NCAA Tournament by the eventual national champion, Louisville. The season was also highlighted by the opening of the Dean E. Smith Center on the Carolina campus on January 18, 1986. The No. 1-ranked Tar Heels celebrated the move into their new 21,572-seat arena by beating No. 3 Duke that day, 95-92.

The 1987 squad proved to be another of Coach Smith's best teams. Led by a strong senior nucleus which featured All-ACC players Kenny Smith and Wolf, UNC tied the school record for victories in a season with 32 while completing a 32-4 ledger and a No. 2 ranking in the final AP poll. For the second time in four years, UNC finished the ACC regular-season a perfect 14-0. UNC advanced to the NCAA East Regional finals before falling to eventual NCAA finalist Syracuse. Smith capped a brilliant Tar Heel career by surpassing Ford as the school's all-time assist leader and being named Basketball Times' National Player of the Year.

Going into the 1988 campaign, many experts viewed the Tar Heels as an inexperienced bunch that might struggle more than some of Carolina's previous great squads. Smith again confounded the experts as he took a team with only one senior and molded it into a 27-7 unit that won the ACC regular-season championship outright. The season was highlighted by the play of first-team All-America forward J.R. Reid. Among the 27 wins was a thrilling 96-93 overtime win over pre-season No. 1-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass.

While the 1988 team was inexperienced, the 1989 team was a veteran unit, led by a tremendous starting backcourt of seniors Jeff Lebo and Steve Bucknall. Carolina won its first ACC Tournament championship in seven years as it beat arch-rival Duke 77-74 in the championship game at Atlanta. The Tar Heels went on to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament before losing to eventual NCAA champion Michigan. UNC's 29-8 record marked the ninth successive season in which Carolina had won as many as 27 games. The Tar Heels finished the season ranked fourth in the final United Press International poll.

After the 1989 campaign, Reid opted to forgo his final year of eligibility to enter the NBA draft and was chosen as the fifth selection of the draft by the Charlotte Hornets. With Reid, Lebo and Bucknall gone, Smith's 1990 unit was his youngest in recent memory. In an "off" year by Carolina standards, UNC still finished a solid 21-13. The 13 losses were the most by a Carolina team since the 1952 squad finished 12-15. Despite the double-digit losses, Carolina tied for third in the ACC standings, won at least 20 games again and was invited to the NCAA Tournament. The Tar Heels made the most of their opportunity there. Carolina pulled off a stunning upset of top-ranked Oklahoma, 79-77, in the second round of the NCAA Midwest Regional at Austin, Texas. Carolina was seeded eighth in the region, while the Sooners were the entire tournament's top seed. Rick Fox hit an off-balance bank shot in the lane as time expired to provide Carolina with the winning points.

A 10TH FINAL FOUR FOR CAROLINA BASKETBALL

Carolina returned to the highest level again in 1991 as Smith led his team to its eighth NCAA Final Four during his tenure and the school's 10th trip overall. Carolina was ranked fourth nationally in the final AP and UPI polls as UNC finished 29-6. The Tar Heels won the 12th ACC Tournament championship in school history, a league record, by embarrassing arch-rival Duke 96-74 in the championship game at the Charlotte Coliseum. It was Smith's 11th tournament title in his 30th season at the helm of the Tar Heels.

A strong senior nucleus of All-ACC forward Rick Fox, center Pete Chilcutt and point guard King Rice led Carolina to its 21st straight 20-win season and its 17th successive bid to the NCAA Tournament. During the course of the season, UNC passed Kentucky as college basketball's all-time winningest team. In NCAA play, Carolina beat Northeastern, Villanova, Eastern Michigan and Temple to win the NCAA East Regional before being edged by Smith's alma mater, Kansas, coached by UNC alumnus Roy Williams, in the NCAA semifinals at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

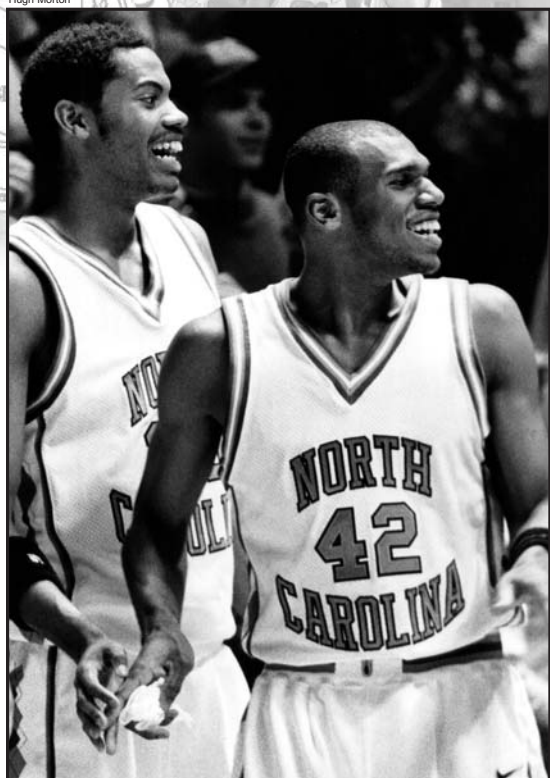

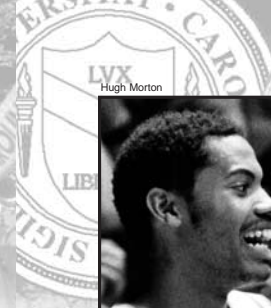

In 1991-92, the Tar Heels, led by senior guard Hubert Davis, finished 23-10 overall and reached the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament

WILLIAMS' THREE-POINTERS HELP BRING HOME SMITH'S SECOND NCAA TITLE

The 1993 Tar Heels added yet another trophy to the mantle of one of the sport's greatest coaches when the squad captured Coach Smith's second NCAA title by defeating Michigan 77-71 in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. The team's 34-4 record broke the school record for victories in a season.

Picked by some sportswriters to finish third in the conference, Carolina won the ACC regular-season title with a 14-2 mark that included a spectacular, come-from-behind victory over Florida State on January 27, 1993 in the Smith Center – a game in which UNC rallied from a 21-point second-half deficit. The Heels entered the NCAA Tournament as the top seed in the East Regional, cruised to their 13th straight appearance in the Sweet 16 and survived frenetic battles against Arkansas and Cincinnati to earn Smith's ninth Final Four trip.

Battling Kansas in the NCAA semifinals for the second time in three years, Carolina advanced to the finals behind the outside shooting of sophomore guard Donald Williams. Other invaluable contributors to the NCAA title included the inside power of senior forward George Lynch and second-team All-America junior center Eric Montross and the quieter, yet equally important, contributions of point guard Derrick Phelps and small forward Brian Reese.

Antawn Jamison was the unanimous 1998 National Player of the Year and led Carolina to back-to-back Final Fours in '97 and '98.

In the finals against Michigan, Williams once again provided the spark, pouring in 25 points and making five-of-seven three pointers for the second straight game. As Williams was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four, the celebration erupted simultaneously on Bourbon Street and Franklin Street with Carolina fans relishing the pinnacle of college basketball success once again.

The 1993-94 Carolina squad battled incredible expectations throughout the season and finished the year atop the Associated Press poll with a 28-7 record. A team with an interesting mixture of experience and youth, Carolina won Coach Smith's 12th ACC Tournament title with a 73-66 victory over Virginia in the finals. Seniors Eric Montross, Derrick Phelps, Brian Reese and Kevin Salvadori provided the leadership, while highly-touted freshmen Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace showed glimpses of the future of Carolina basketball. The season ended with a disappointing loss to Boston College in the second round of the NCAA East Regional, but the early tournament exit could not overshadow the contributions of a senior class that won 114 games, two ACC Tournament titles, a national championship, and advanced to two Final Fours.

MORE FINAL FOURS AND A WIN TO REMEMBER

The 1994-95 campaign began as one of uncertainty and ended as a further testament to the genius of Coach Smith and the skill of his players. With the loss of four senior starters from the previous year, the 1994-95 Tar Heels were one of Smith's most inexperienced teams in recent years. Nonetheless, sophomores Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace stepped into their new starting roles beside senior guard Donald Williams and junior swingman Dante Calabria and led UNC to a 28-6 record, a tie for the ACC regular-season championship and the 12th NCAA Final Four in school history. Early in the season, Carolina became the first college basketball program in NCAA Division I history to amass 1,600 wins. Stackhouse, a consensus first-team All-

Shammond Williams's outside shooting and scoring helped the 1995, 1997 and 1998 Tar Heel teams reach the Final Four.

Vince Carter was named second-team All-America in 1997-98 and earned a gold medal with the U.S. Olympic Team in Sydney in 2000.

America, became the eighth Tar Heel to be named National Player of the Year when Sports Illustrated honored him as such. Wallace was a second-team All-America choice who finished the year as the ACC's leader in career field goal percentage (63.5 percent), while Williams completed his career as UNC's career leader in three-pointers made (221) and attempted (572).

The 1995-96 Tar Heels were as inexperienced a team as Coach Smith has placed on the court in his tenure. Stackhouse and Wallace both opted for the 1996 NBA Draft after their sophomore seasons and went as the third and fourth picks in the first round, respectively. Three freshmen – Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Ademola Okulaja – were among the top seven players on the team which finished 21-11 overall and third in the ACC with a 10-6 mark. Jamison became the first Tar Heel and just the fifth player in league history to be named first-team All-ACC as a freshman. The season was highlighted by an overtime win at Maryland, a 20-rebound performance at Virginia by Jamison and remarkable comeback victories at home over Wake Forest and Duke. Carolina also won at Duke's Cameron Indoor Stadium for the third consecutive year, behind 26 points by Shammond Williams and 25 by Jeff McInnis.

The 1996-97 season was uniquely special. Carolina opened ACC regular-season play with an unprecedented three straight losses, but regrouped to finish 11-5 in conference play and finish in a tie for second place with preseason favorite, Wake Forest. UNC won all eight of its games in February and earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament after winning the ACC Tournament title.

Jamison earned All-America and first-team All-ACC honors as he led the squad with 19.1 points and 9.4 rebounds per game. Freshman point guard Ed Cota was named the ACC's Rookie of the Year as he led the ACC and was eighth in the country in assists with 6.9 per game.

The Tar Heels went into the ACC Tournament as the No. 3 seed, but knocked off Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim the school's 14th title. Shammond Williams averaged 20.0 points and 5.0 assists and was named the Tournament MVP. The Tar Heels swept through the NCAA East Regional, beating Louisville by 23 points in the regional final at Syracuse. Williams earned MVP honors after he scored a game-high 22 points against the Cardinals. He hit eight three-pointers in the two games in the Carrier Dome.

Smith became the winningest coach in Division I college basketball history with his 877th win. That came in the second round of the 1997 NCAA Tournament, a 73-56 triumph over Colorado. It was fitting that Smith's final season would include a trip to the Final Four, the 11th of his career.

GUTHRIDGE STEPS UP

Just prior to the start of the 1997-98 season, Smith stunned the basketball world when he announced his resignation as head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith, who said at the press conference "I am the luckiest guy in the world - to be in Chapel Hill, to at the University of North Carolina with this faculty, this student body," turned the program over to longtime assistant Bill Guthridge.

Guthridge picked up right where his mentor left off. The 60-year-old Kansas State alumnus became the winningest first-year head coach in NCAA history as he directed the Tar Heels to a 34-4 record, ACC Tournament title, NCAA Regional crown, Final Four berth and No. 1 ranking in the final Associated Press poll. Guthridge was named the National Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, CBS, The Sporting News and the Atlanta Tipoff Club (Naismith Award).

Carolina was led by consensus National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison, who led the ACC in scoring with 22.2 points per game and in rebounds with 10.5 per game. Jamison became the third player in ACC history – with Ed Cota played in three Final Fours and is the only player in NCAA history to compile 1,000 points, 1,000 assists and 500 rebounds in a career.

Brendan Haywood left Carolina in 2001 as its leader in career blocked shots and the ACC's leader in career field goal percentage.

Dan Sears

Joseph Forte was named co-ACC Player of the Year and a consensus first-team All-America in 2000-01.

UNC's Lennie Rosenbluth in 1957 and Duke's Christian Laettner in 1992 – to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season. Jamison finished his career fourth all-time at UNC in rebounds with 1,027 and seventh in scoring with 1,974 points. The Charlotte, N.C., native set a single-season record as a junior with 316 field goals and 389 rebounds and scored 822 points, second only to Rosenbluth's 895 in 1957. Jamison became the first player in ACC history to be named first-team All-ACC in his freshman, sophomore and junior seasons.

Cota established a UNC single-season assist record with 274, shattering Kenny Smith's previous mark of 235. Shammond Williams became the leading three-point shooter in UNC history with 233 and set the all-time ACC single-season free throw percentage record as he made 133 of 146 for a percentage of .911.

The Tar Heels twice defeated No. 1 ranked Duke. Those wins give Carolina nine all-time wins over No. 1 ranked teams, matching Notre Dame for the most wins over the nation's top-ranked programs. The first UNC win over Duke was a 97-73 decision on Feb. 5, 1998, and was only the second meeting between the two schools in which the teams were ranked 1-2 in the nation. The second win over the Blue Devils came in the ACC Tournament final. Jamison had 35 points and 11 rebounds in the regular-season game and 22 points and 18 rebounds in the ACC championship game.

After the season, Jamison and fellow first-team All-ACC selection Vince Carter declared for the NBA Draft after their junior seasons. Jamison was the fourth player selected in the first round and Carter was taken with the very next pick. The two players were then traded for each other with Jamison ending up with the Golden State Warriors and Carter with the Toronto Raptors. Carter went on to win the NBA Rookie of the Year Award, becoming the fifth Tar Heel to win the honor.

In 1998-99, the Tar Heels faced the early NBA departures of Carter and Jamison, but still finished 24-10. Carolina won 10 ACC regular-season games for the seventh straight year and advanced to the championship game of the ACC victory over fifth-ranked Maryland. Senior Ademola Okulaja earned first-team All-ACC honors after leading the Tar Heels in scoring, rebounding, steals and three-point baskets.

In 1999-2000, Guthridge led Carolina to the NCAA Final Four for the second time in his three years as head coach. The Tar Heels reached the national semifinals despite 13 regular-season losses, tying the record for most losses by a Final Four team. UNC, a No. 8 seed entering the NCAA Tournament, reached its sixth Final Four in 10 years and 15th overall, setting an NCAA record.

Ed Cota in 1999-2000 became UNC's all-time assist leader with 1,030 and became just the third player in NCAA history to top the 1,000-assist plateau. Cota ended his career as the only player in NCAA history to score 1,000 points, dish out 1,000 assists and grab 500 rebounds.

Also in 1999-2000, freshman guard Joseph Forte became Carolina's fifth ACC Rookie of the Year honoree after leading the Tar Heels and all conference freshman in scoring. Forte is the first freshman in school history to lead UNC in scoring and scored more points as a freshman than any other player in school annals.

Carolina upset No. 3-ranked and top-seeded Stanford, 60-53, in the NCAA Second Round. In the regional final, Forte scored 28 points and Carolina beat Tulsa, 59-55.

DOHERTY RETURNS HOME

Following the 1999-2000 season, head coach Bill Guthridge retired with a record of 80-28 in three years as a head coach, which tied the record for most wins by a three-year head coach in NCAA history.

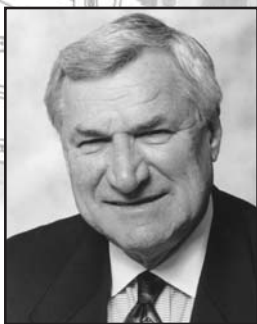

Matt Doherty, the head coach at Notre Dame, was named head coach on July 11, 2000. Doherty started at small forward on Carolina's 1982 NCAA championship team and tri-captained the 1984 squad that went unbeaten in ACC regular-season play.

Under Doherty, the 2001 Tar Heels reeled off 18 consecutive wins, including 11 in a row to start ACC play, and moved into the No. 1 national ranking in February. The 18-game winning streak included wins at NCAA qualifiers UCLA, Georgia Tech, Maryland, Duke and Wake Forest. The Tar Heels knocked off Duke, 85-83, at Cameron Indoor Stadium behind Joseph Forte's 24 points and 16 rebounds and Brendan Haywood's two free throws with three seconds to play.

Carolina finished the ACC 13-3 and shared regular-season title honors with eventual national champion Duke. Forte earned first-team All-America honors and was named co-ACC Player of the Year as he averaged 20.4 points per game. Haywood set the single-season school record with 120 blocked shots. Doherty was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year.

- ✓ Smith has more wins (879) than any other coach in basketball history.
- ✓ In 36 years, Smith coached Carolina to 11 Final Fours, two national titles and 13 ACC Tournament Championships.
- ✓ More than 96 percent of Smith's lettermen graduated since his first year in 1961-62.
- ✓ From 1981 to 1989, Carolina was ranked in the final Top 10 of both the Associated Press and coaches' poll each year.
- ✓ The Tar Heels shot 50 percent or better in 32 of Smith's 36 seasons.
- ✓ Smith was named the second-best coach in college basketball history (behind John Wooden) by the NABC in 2000.
- ✓ Smith was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1983. He was also inducted into the North Carolina Hall of Fame in 1981.
- ✓ Smith was voted ACC Coach of the Year eight times - 1967, 1968, 1971, 1976, 1977, 1979, 1988 and 1993.

When ESPN's award-winning Sports Century program selected the greatest coaches of the 20th Century, it came to no surprise that Carolina basketball coach Dean Smith was among the top seven of alltime. Smith joined other legends Red Auerbach, Bear Bryant, George Halas, Vince Lombardi, John McGraw and John Wooden as the preeminent coaches in sports history.

Smith's tenure as Carolina basketball coach from 1960-97 is a record of remarkable achievement and consistency. In 36 seasons at UNC, Smith's teams had a record of 879-254. His teams won more games than those of any other college coach in history.

However, that's only the beginning of what his UNC teams achieved.

- Under Smith, the Tar Heels won at least 20 games for 27 straight years and 30 of his final 31. No coach in history has ever produced that many consecutive 20-win seasons. In fact, no other coach has even won 20 games for 27 years.

- A 28-7 finish in his final year also gave Smith an NCAA-record 22nd season with at least 25 wins. Fresno State's Jerry Tarkanian ranks second in 25-win seasons with 14 and former UCLA Coach John Wooden is third with 11.

- From 1981 to 1989, Carolina was ranked in the final Top 10 of both the Associated Press and coaches' polls each year. That nine-year run is the second-longest streak of Top 10 finishes in history, exceeded only by UCLA's 13-year string from 1967 to 1979.

- In an era of tremendous competitiveness in the college game, the Tar Heels were ranked among the nation's final top 15 teams 28 of his last 31 seasons, missing only in 1970, 1990 and 1996, and were among the top 10 on 23 occasions during that period. Kentucky was second on the list with 23 appearances in the final top 15. Carolina teams coached by Smith finished the season ranked No. 1 in at least one of the two major polls four times (1982, 1984, 1993 and 1994).

Dean Smith was named the 1997 Sports Illustrated Sportsman of the Year.

- Smith's teams were also the dominant force in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Tar Heels under Smith had a record of 364-136 in ACC regular-season play, a winning percentage of .728.

- The Tar Heels finished at least third in the ACC regular-season standings for 33 successive seasons. In that span, Carolina finished first 17 times, second 11 times and third five times.

- In 36 years of ACC competition, Smith's teams finished in the conference's upper division all but one time. That was in 1964, when UNC was fifth and had its only losing record in ACC regular-season play under Smith at 6-8.

- Carolina's sweep of the 1997 ACC Tournament was its 13th under Smith. Mike Krzyzewski of Duke ranks second in ACC Tournament titles with seven.

- When Carolina advanced to the NCAA Final Four in 1997, it marked the 11th trip for one of Smith's teams to the national semi-finals. Only Wooden, with 12, has been there more often.

- Smith's teams made a record 23 consecutive appearances in the NCAA Tournament. Arizona's Lute Olson has the second-longest streak in history at 17.

- In his last 31 years, Smith led the Tar Heels into the NCAA Tournament 27 times.

- From 1981 through 1993 Carolina reached the Final 16 of NCAA play every season. That 13-year streak is the second-longest in Tournament history to a 14-year stretch by UCLA from 1967 to 1980.

Those numbers just begin to tell the story of what Dean Smith accomplished in his Carolina career. He has done more for his sport than perhaps any coach in history. Respected by fellow coaches, admired by his current and former players and acknowledged as one of the greatest minds in the game, Smith has accomplished nearly everything imaginable in his sport.

The awards and accolades continue to be given to Smith, even after he stepped down as Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith was named Sportsman of the Year by Sports Illustrated, Honorary Coach of the Year by the United States Olympic Committee, received the Arthur Ashe Award for Courage at the annual ESPY Awards, and was honored with special awards for contributions to basketball by the Atlanta Tipoff Club and New York Athletic Club.

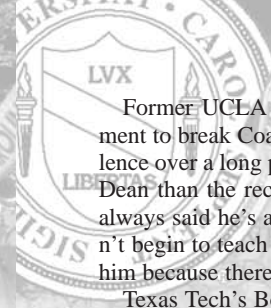

Smith also became the first recipient of the Mentor Award for Lifetime Achievement, given by the University of North Carolina Committee on Teaching Awards for "a broader range of teaching beyond the classroom."

He's recognized throughout the sports world for his character, his innovations to the game and his ability to have established Carolina's program as one of the greatest in college basketball. Smith's players consistently produce on the floor, in the classroom and in life.

As in any vocation, it's one's peers who truly know the daily rigors of a job best and can most appreciate what it takes to excel in the competitive world of collegiate coaching. The accolades Smith has received over the years are an indication of the respect they have for him.

Those have been common throughout his career, but mushroomed in March 1997 as he surpassed Adolph Rupp as the coach whose teams have won the most games in college history.

Here are a few examples of what some coaches said when that milestone was reached:

Former UCLA Coach John Wooden: "It's a tremendous accomplishment to break Coach Rupp's record. More than anything, it shows excellence over a long period of time. But what's more impressive to me about Dean than the record is how good he is as a teacher of basketball. I've always said he's a better teacher of basketball than anyone else. I couldn't begin to teach players the things Dean has taught them. I've admired him because there's more to him than just wins."

Texas Tech's Bob Knight: "Let me say some things that he won't say. He's going to say an awful lot about teams and that's the way it should be. But let me put it in perspective. His being able to do that and do it at a single institution, do it through all the years without ever having a problem with any kind of recruiting violation or probation, is a very singular accomplishment in college basketball. I think it's a great achievement, indicative of a guy who really knows how to coach and has decided from day one that things are going to be done the absolute right way."

"He's not going to tell you, but just take my word for it. That's a great, great accomplishment for a coach."

Duke's Mike Krzyzewski: "It's singularly such a tremendous accomplishment. People might say 'Yeah, you're at North Carolina and you've been there a number of years.' You be there a number of years. You be competitive. And you be as consistent with excellence as he has been."

"So whatever is written about him in a positive sense he justly deserves. I know he'll give credit, as we all would, to the players who have played for us, but in this situation the praise for him should rise well above that for the players who played for him."

Roy Williams of Kansas: "He has a basketball program, he doesn't have a team. And when you have a program, you're concerned about the kids' entire lives, their entire existence ... and what they're going to do after they leave you and what kind of effect you can have on them as they mature."

Dave Odom of South Carolina: "What boggles the mind about him, at least to me, are the numbers of nights he's gone into the arena and been ready to compete on every single possession. I've not done it anywhere close to half as often and there are nights when it seems the season will never end. And yet, he's there, ready to go, always figuring out a way to beat you. Whenever I think about it, I shake my head in wonder."

Former Virginia Coach Terry Holland: "He has been a target for all of us who coached in the ACC to shoot for. It is not always the most pleasant position to be in. The Carolina program was the measuring stick to everybody who came into the league. He has been willing to be the measuring stick. He helped create national exposure not only for North Carolina, but also for the other ACC teams as well and made us all improve our programs."

Carolina has certainly had its share of sensational players. But, it was Smith who molded them into great teams by stressing unselfish play on offense and emphasizing hard-nosed defense on the other end of the court.

That's why he received praise for years and not just because of his all-time record.

In the December 1993 issue of College Sports magazine, Smith was hailed by his fellow NCAA Division I coaches as the coaching colleague they respected the most. In a survey of 46 Division I basketball coaches, Smith topped the most respected category and was second in the most feared category behind Indiana's Knight. The latter was based on the question, "Who would you least like to face in a big game?"

The results of a 1986 Dallas Morning News poll of college head coaches also revealed resounding admiration for Smith. In a survey of head coaches at that season's NCAA Final Four, Smith received 49 votes as the nation's top basketball coach.

At the 1995 NCAA Final Four, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer conducted a poll of all attending coaches. The paper asked, "If you could spend one hour talking with one living person about college basketball, who would it be?" The top three answers were UCLA's Wooden, Indiana's Knight and Smith.

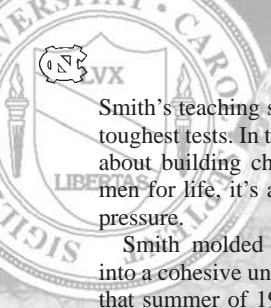

Perhaps his greatest form of praise on a worldwide level came when a group of his peers, including Hall of Fame coaches Henry Iba, Pete Newell and Auerbach, chose Smith to coach the U.S. Olympic basketball team in the 1976 Montreal Games. The Americans had finished a controversial second to the Soviet Union at Munich in 1972. Smith was given the challenge of trying to develop a team to regain the Gold Medal against a group of improving international teams.

He promptly named his longtime Carolina assistant, Bill Guthridge, and Georgetown's John Thompson, to be his assistants on the Olympic Team staff.

Smith's teaching skills were put to one of their toughest tests. In the international game, it's not about building character and preparing young men for life, it's about winning under extreme pressure.

Smith molded a group of college all-stars into a cohesive unit during a few short weeks in that summer of 1976 and led them to the gold medal, sweeping through the Games undefeated and beating Yugoslavia in the championship game. Emphasizing a tough pressure defense and a fast-breaking, attacking style on offense, the Americans returned to the top of the international game.

Just as Smith used his talents to develop that 1976 all-star team into an Olympic champion, he has prepared a host of players for successful careers in the NBA.

"UNC is a plus-four school," according to Orlando Magic Vice President of Basketball Operations-Player Personnel John Gabriel, "meaning that if I rate a player as the 10th-best player in the NBA Draft, being a Tar Heel automatically jumps him to number six. The plus-four rating is based upon the success of former Tar Heels in the NBA."

The Miami Heat's Pat Riley, who coached former Tar Heel standout James Worthy to three world titles with the Los Angeles Lakers, is another believer in Smith's program.

"We always look for players from North Carolina," said Riley a few years ago. "If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character like James and Michael Jordan. I have a lot of respect for Coach Smith. I'm the beneficiary of a man who has taught all these guys how to play the game. When they come to the pros, they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

While statistics can sometimes be misleading, in Smith's case the figures are just too overwhelming to ignore.

During his last 31 seasons, since Smith's Tar Heels won their first ACC title in 1967, Carolina was among the most dominant teams in the history of the game. The Tar Heels had a record of 813-207 in that span, winning 79.7 percent of their games. That's an average record of 26-7 per year.

In 23 of those 31 seasons, Carolina won either the regular-season or tournament title or both. That level of consistency would be an amazing feat for any college basketball program, but it is particularly significant in a league as competitive as the ACC.

Most schools are happy just to win 20 games in a season. At Carolina, it's become a habit. No school in the country won more total games in that 31-year period than Carolina. UCLA was second with 751 victories. The Tar Heels also had the most wins over his last 20 seasons with 539, and over his last 10 years with 268.

Smith's teams earned 27 or more wins in 14 of his last 17 seasons.

For Smith and his players, the word "class" applied to the team's exemplary sportsmanship on the court, to its excellent academic performance and to Smith's belief that basketball involves many complexities that must be learned over the course of time — that coaching and playing the game is a classroom situation in its own right. The Tar Heels' astounding consistency on the court was due in large part to Smith's efforts to teach his players the fundamentals and the intricacies of the sport.

That dedication, along with a graduation rate among his lettermen of 97.3 percent, have been instrumental in Carolina's success.

Without compromising a commitment to academic excellence, Smith's teams have won championships at every level. There were NCAA titles in 1982 and 1993 and a sweep of the National Invitation Tournament in 1971. His gold medal-winning team at the 1976 Summer Olympic Games makes Smith one of only three men in history to coach teams to that troika of an NCAA title, NIT championship and Olympic victory. The others are Pete Newell and Bob Knight.

Smith's coaching skills and dedication to playing with class are the reasons he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1983. He was also inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1981.

Former Marquette Coach Al McGuire once said of him: "If anyone was born to be a coach, it's Dean Smith. He's the Jack Armstrong-type person."

A key to Smith's success has been his ability to change Carolina's style to fit his personnel. He favored an offense which used the fast break whenever possible and featured a quick passing attack. But, he was also comfortable in a more disciplined style of play.

He liked to play multiple defenses to confuse opponents. However, his preference was a pressure, man-to-man to speed up the action.

Smith had tremendous rapport with his players and that was an important aspect of what he has accomplished. He had an uncanny talent for getting the best out of all his players, from his many All-Americans to the last guys on the bench.

The fast-breaking attack, great teamwork in a set offense and steals produced by the defense resulted in a number of easy baskets. Along with good shot selection, those things have helped Carolina annually rank among the best shooting teams in the nation. Only four times since 1970 did Carolina failed to hit 50 percent from the field as a team. Even in those four seasons, Carolina topped the ACC in field goal shooting each year.

Among Smith's many innovations are the run-and-jump defense, the scramble defense out of man-to-man pressure defense, the point zone, team huddles at the foul line, double-teaming the screen-and-roll, the free-lance passing game and multiple screens against zone defenses.

Smith's amazing knack for being such a good instructor developed early. Born February 28, 1931, in Emporia, Kan., Dean Edwards Smith grew up as the son of public school teachers. He graduated from Topeka High School in 1949 and went to the University of Kansas on an academic scholarship. He played varsity basketball and baseball and freshman football for the Jayhawks. He was a member of Jayhawk basketball teams that won the NCAA title in 1952 and finished second in 1953.

After graduating from Kansas, Smith served as an assistant coach at his alma mater to Phog Allen and Dick Harp and then served in the U.S. Air Force as a lieutenant. While in the service, he played and coached basketball in Germany. Smith served for three years as an assistant basketball coach under Bob Spear, recognized by his peers as one of the outstanding coaches in the history of the game, and one year each as head baseball and head golf coach at the United States Air Force Academy. 1958, the late Frank McGuire asked him to join his staff at Carolina as an assistant coach. Smith served as an assistant under McGuire for three years before McGuire resigned to become head coach of the NBA's Philadelphia Warriors in the summer of 1961. At that time, Carolina Chancellor William Aycock tapped the 30-year-old Smith to become UNC's head coach.

Since Smith taught the fundamentals and complexities of basketball so well, former Tar Heel players, assistant coaches and managers have moved on to enjoy very successful careers in all fields of endeavor.

Smith shared his knowledge of the game with a talented group of assistants. Many of his assistants went on to head coaching jobs, including Larry Brown, Roy Williams, John Lotz, Kenny Rosemond, Eddie Fogler, Randy Wiel and Bill Guthridge.

Brown, inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in September 2002, led UCLA to the 1980 NCAA finals and won the 1988 NCAA championship at Kansas. He led the Philadelphia 76ers to the NBA Finals and was named NBA Coach of the Year in 2001. Williams has led Kansas to three Final Fours and has earned National Coach of the Year honors. Lotz and Rosemond earned Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year honors at Florida and Georgia, respectively. Fogler won an SEC title and was named National Coach of the Year at Vanderbilt and had a successful career at Wichita State and South Carolina, as well.

Guthridge, Smith's assistant at Carolina for 30 seasons, received numerous head coaching offers during his stint at UNC. Guthridge, however, made a career decision to stay in Chapel Hill and not pursue head coaching positions. He was named Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997, when Smith resigned. Guthridge posted a 34-4 record in his first year as a head coach and was named National and ACC Coach of the Year as the Tar Heels won the ACC championship and played in the Final Four. Two years later, Guthridge again directed Carolina to the Final Four.

Matt Doherty, Carolina's current head coach, played for Smith at UNC from 1980-84. In his first year as the Tar Heels' head coach, he was named The Associated Press Coach of the Year. Billy Cunningham,

In 1999, ABC Sports named its "SportsCentury Greatest Coaches of the Century." Dean Smith was selected as one of the seven. The list (in alphabetical order):

Red Auerbach, Boston Celtics (NBA)
 Bear Bryant, University of Alabama (football)
 George Halas, Chicago Bears (NFL)
 Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packers (NFL)
 John McGraw, NY Giants (MLB)
Dean Smith, University of North Carolina (basketball)
 John Wooden, UCLA (basketball)

Smith's first All-America, was head coach of the 76ers in 1983 when Philadelphia won the NBA title.

Smith's talents do not lie solely in tutoring quality college coaches as is evidenced by the number of outstanding players who have gone on to professional careers after their days in Chapel Hill. In Smith's 36-year tenure, more than 50 of his players went on to play pro basketball in the National Basketball Association or American Basketball Association and many more played in other professional leagues both in the United States and overseas.

After playing in Smith's program at Carolina, most Tar Heels have made a smooth transition to the rigors of the professional game. Six of Smith's players won rookie of the year awards in either the NBA or ABA, including Charlie Scott, Robert McAdoo, Walter Davis, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Vince Carter.

"Coming out of high school I had all the ability in the world, but I didn't know the game," says Jordan, a five-time NBA MVP. "Coach taught me the game, when to apply speed, how to use your quickness, when to use that first step, or how to apply certain skills in certain situations. I gained all that knowledge so that when I got to the pros, it was just a matter of applying the information. Dean Smith gave me the knowledge to score 37 points a game and that's something people don't understand."

In his 36 years at Carolina, Smith coached players who went on to become doctors, lawyers and businessmen. Many of them attribute their success to the skills and lessons they carried over from their time as a player under Smith.

"He was always very supportive and has provided me with invaluable insight for most of the major decisions I've made since 1971," says Charles Waddell, Assistant Director of Marketing and Sponsorships for the NFL's Carolina Panthers. "He is one of the best teachers I've had. He taught us to work hard, to sacrifice for the good of the team, to maximize your strengths and minimize your weaknesses. Although he taught us these lessons through basketball, they have provided me with a strong foundation for life."

Here are more examples of what some of his former players have said about him in the past:

Indiana Pacers' President Donnie Walsh: "He was great. I could really relate to him. Basketball-wise, he hit me with things defensively I had never heard before. I thought, 'No one has ever told me to do this, but it works.' When basketball was over, he cared about how you were fitting in socially and academically."

Milwaukee Bucks Head Coach George Karl: "I don't think any of the lettermen can really express the family atmosphere that he's built, the tradition that he's built of loyalty and camaraderie. It's a fraternity that's very much admired by basketball people in the world."

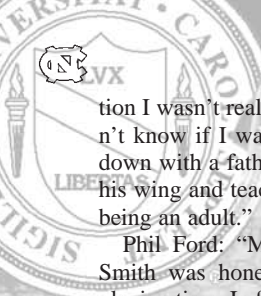

Michael Jordan: "The camaraderie that he has with his players goes a long way. He's taught a lot of us similar traits and we've accepted that and we've moved on as players and people. That's something we treasure more so than maybe our basketball experience—the things that we learned away from the game."

"He's like a second father to me. When I first left school I was unsure, nervous, scared, going into a situation I wasn't really comfortable with and I didn't know if I was ready for it. He calmed me down with a fatherly attitude, taking me under his wing and teaching me a lot of things about being an adult."

Phil Ford: "My first impression of Coach Smith was honesty. He didn't promise me playing time. In fact, he told me I might have to play on the junior varsity my first year. That kind of set me back. But my mom really liked that because she said, 'Phil, if he's not out here promising you that you will start, that means you go there and work hard and do the best that you can do, then he won't be out promising your job to another high school player.' And if you think about it, that made a lot of sense."

Larry Brown: "Nobody's done it better over a longer period of time than he has. He won in the '60s, '70s, '80s and '90s and if you look at his teams, they've always been innovative, he hasn't been lost or left behind. He's always stayed ahead. He's kept young, he's learned to deal with all kinds of athletes and the changes we've all faced."

Smith ranks as the winningest coach in the history of the NCAA Tournament with 65 victories. In 36 ACC Tournaments, he had a coaching record of 58-23, a winning percentage of .716.

Smith, who played for the legendary Phog Allen at Kansas in the early 1950s, is also one of only two men to both play on and coach an NCAA championship team. Smith was a member of the Jayhawk squad that won college basketball's top prize in 1952. He then coached the Tar Heels to national titles in 1982 and 1993. Knight is the other person to accomplish the feat. Bob Knight played on Ohio State's 1960 championship team and then coached Indiana to three titles.

Certainly, one of the highlights of Smith's coaching career came in the form of Carolina's NCAA championship in 1982. The Tar Heels began that year ranked No. 1 in both polls, ended the regular season the same way and won the NCAA Tournament by beating Georgetown, 63-62, in the title game. Carolina's wire-to-wire first-place finish is one of the few times in college basketball history that has been accomplished. The championship game with Georgetown still is considered one of the best-played and most exciting title contests in 58 years of the post-season classic.

The 1993 NCAA championship was also won in New Orleans, where the Tar Heels had won the 1982 title. Again going down to the wire just as the 1982 game did, this championship was not decided until Carolina's Pat Sullivan and Donald Williams sank several crucial free throws in the closing moments to ensure a win over Michigan.

Carolina was invited to the postseason in each of Smith's last 31 years as head coach. In 27 of those seasons, including the last 23 in succession, Carolina was invited to play in the NCAA Tournament. In 1970, 1971, 1973 and 1974, Carolina was invited to play in the NIT, winning the championship in 1971 and finishing third in 1973. But those appearances came before the NCAA opened its tournament in 1975 to admit more than one member from any conference.

Smith is also the author of "Basketball: Multiple Offenses and Defenses," which has been translated into several foreign languages. His autobiography, "A Coach's Life," hit bookstores in November 1999.

Smith's ability to teach the fundamentals of life and basketball to his players has earned him many honors. He won the prestigious Golden

After taking Carolina to the NCAA championship game in 1977, Smith was named National Coach of the Year by the NABC. He received similar honors from the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and Basketball Weekly in 1979 and from Medalist in 1982. He was named the Naismith National Coach of the Year in 1993 after leading the Tar Heels to the national crown.

In 1993, the Atlantic Coast Sportswriters Association named Smith the ACC Coach of the Year, an honor he received on seven other occasions as well—1967, 1968, 1971, 1976, 1977, 1979 and 1988.

Smith has received honorary doctorates from Eastern College in St. Davids, Pa., and Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C. In 1984, he was cited by his alma mater, Kansas, with the Distinguished Service Citation. This honor is the highest KU bestows upon an individual to acknowledge outstanding achievements for the betterment of society.

In addition to basketball, Smith especially enjoys golf, music and reading. He also has a special interest in theology.

Smith's wife, Linnea, is a physician. He has five children. Daughters Mrs. Sandy Combs, Mrs. Sharon Kepley and Kristen Caroline and son Scott are all Carolina graduates. Kelly Marie is a senior at the University of Pennsylvania. Coach Smith also has six grandchildren. Tim and Sharon Kepley have a son, Drew, and a daughter, Megen; Scott and Kelli Haynor Smith have a daughter, Morgan Kay, and a son, Brian Dean; and Sandy and Steve Combs have two sons, Luke and Sam.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- ✓ Won more games (58) in his first two years than any coach in NCAA history and shares the NCAA record for most wins by a three-year coach (80).
- ✓ Just the second coach in history to lead teams to two Final Fours in his first three seasons as a head coach.
- ✓ Was the consensus National Coach of the Year in 1997-98.
- ✓ Was a part of 14 Final Fours, including one as a player, 11 as an assistant coach and two as a head coach.

Bill Guthridge stepped down as the head coach at the University of North Carolina on June 30, 2000, after a record-setting coaching career. He won more games than any college head coach in history after two seasons and tied Everett Case for coaching victories after three years. He took his teams to two Final Fours in three years and was consensus National Coach of the Year in 1998. He played or coached in 14 Final Fours, more than any person in NCAA history. That includes two as a head coach at Carolina, 10 as a Tar Heel assistant coach, and one each as a player and assistant coach at his alma mater, Kansas State.

Prior to being appointed head coach to succeed the legendary Dean Smith, Guthridge was Smith's assistant for 30 years. He joined the UNC staff in 1967 after five years as assistant to the widely-respected Tex Winter at Kansas State. In his 33 seasons at Carolina, the Tar Heels won two NCAA championships (1982 and 1993), played in 12 Final Fours, won the ACC Tournament championship 13 times and played in the ACC Tournament championship game a total of 22 times. The Tar Heels finished first or tied for first in the ACC regular season 16 times, finished second or tied for second in the ACC regular season 11 times, and finished third or tied for third in the ACC regular season six times. UNC never finished lower than third in the ACC regular season standings and participated in the postseason in all 33 years (29 of the 33 years in the NCAA Tournament, including the last 26 years in a row).

He was a part of 867 wins in 33 seasons at Carolina and 960 college coaching victories overall, including 93 wins on the staff at Kansas State. Those 960 wins are a Division I record for most wins as both a head and assistant coach. He was on the sidelines for a record 73 NCAA Tournament victories, including 71 at Carolina and two at Kansas State.

Guthridge played college basketball at Kansas State. After two seasons as a high school coach, he began his college coaching career as a Wildcat assistant for five seasons. His 14 NCAA Final Four appearances include one as a player at Kansas State (1958); one as an assistant coach at Kansas State (1964); 10 as an assistant at Carolina (1968, '69, '72, '77, '81, '82, '91, '93, '95 and '97) and two as UNC's head coach (1998 and 2000).

The Parsons, Kan., native posted an 80-28 record in three seasons as Carolina's head coach. Guthridge led the 1998 and 2000 UNC teams to the Final Four. He joined Ohio State's Fred Taylor as just the second man in history to lead teams to two Final Fours in his first three seasons as a head coach. He was named National Coach of the Year in 1997-98 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, the Atlanta Tipoff Club (Naismith Award), CBS/Chevrolet, the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club and The Sporting News. That year, UNC went 34-4 and Guthridge set the NCAA record for wins by a first-year head coach with 34. He directed UNC to the 1998 Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championship and was named the ACC Coach of the Year.

Tom Copeland/News & Record

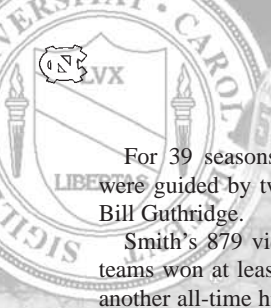

He guided the Tar Heels to team tournament championships in the 1997 Great Alaska Shootout, 1998 ACC Tournament, 1998 NCAA East Regional, 1998 Preseason NIT, 1999 Maui Invitational, 1999 Food Lion MVP Classic and 2000 NCAA South Regional.

"He stuck by us through (last) season," said forward Jason Capel. "He's someone you could always talk to. He's a very caring, genuine person who is good-hearted. That's his biggest quality, and he really cares about us much more than as athletes, but as people."

He coached 1997-98 National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison and 1998-99 NBA Rookie of the Year Vince Carter, both of whom entered the NBA Draft after their junior seasons. In his tenure at UNC, he coached five (5) National Players of the Year (Phil Ford, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, Jerry Stackhouse and Antawn Jamison), six ACC Players of the Year (Larry Miller, Mitch Kupchak, Ford, Jordan, Jamison and Joseph Forte), five ACC Rookies of the Year (Sam Perkins, Jordan, J.R. Reid, Ed Cota and Forte) and 28 first-team All-ACC players. He also coached 66 players who were selected in the NBA and/or ABA Drafts.

He coached summer basketball in 1967 and 1970 in Puerto Rico and was named coach of the year in 1967.

Guthridge was an assistant coach along with Hall of Famer John Thompson under Dean Smith in 1976 when the United States won the Olympic gold medal in Montreal.

CAROLINA'S COACHING HISTORY

For 39 seasons from 1962-2000, North Carolina basketball teams were guided by two of the finest coaches in history—Dean Smith and Bill Guthridge.

Smith's 879 victories are the most ever by a Division I coach. His teams won at least 20 games a record 30 times, including 27 in a row, another all-time high.

Smith's last 33 teams finished in the top three of the rugged Atlantic Coast Conference each season. They won 17 ACC regular-season titles and 13 ACC Tournament championships. Both figures are league records.

Carolina made a record 27 appearances in the NCAA Tournament under Smith, including the last 23 in a row. That is also a Tournament record. Tar Heel teams coached by Smith reached the NCAA's Final Four 11 times and won national championships in 1982 and 1993.

Guthridge, an assistant to Smith for 30 years, directed the Carolina program for three years and twice took his team to the Final Four in that short period.

He won 80 games in his time as head coach. That equals the all-time NCAA record for most victories by a coach in his first three years on the job.

While these two men took Carolina to remarkable heights on the basketball court, some outstanding coaches also preceded them. Two of those coaches—Ben Carnevale and Frank McGuire—have been inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame. Tom Scott, who worked here between those two, had a six-year record of 100-65. The following are short sketches on the careers of Carnevale, Scott and McGuire.

BEN CARNEVALE

Ben Carnevale only spent two seasons as Carolina's head coach, but both were remarkable years. He led the Tar Heels to a 22-6 record in 1945 and a 30-5 mark in 1946.

Carnevale had been a collegiate star at NYU for the legendary Howard McCann. The Violets were undefeated in 1936 and only lost five games in his three years of varsity competition. After graduating in 1938, he coached the freshmen there before playing one season of professional basketball. He then became head coach at Cranford High in New Jersey.

A lieutenant in the Navy, he came to Chapel Hill during World War II as part of the V-12 program here. When Carolina Coach Bill Lange resigned to become athletic director at Kenyon College as the 1945 season was approaching, Carnevale volunteered to help out in the emergency.

Because of the war, his first Carolina team was comprised completely of newcomers with the exception of one returning varsity reserve and one "B team" member from 1944. The "White Phantoms", as the team was called, still posted a 22-6 record and won the Southern Conference Tournament championship.

Bigger things were to come the following year. Led by Jim Jordan, John "Hook" Dillon, Horace "Bones" McKinney and Bob Paxton, Carolina posted a 30-5 record.

Carnevale's team advanced to NCAA Tournament play at Madison Square Garden. The White Phantoms beat NYU, 57-49, in the Eastern semi-finals and then edged Ohio State, 60-57, in an overtime battle for the Eastern crown. In the NCAA Finals, Carolina was beaten by Oklahoma A&M and the Aggies' seven-foot star, Bob Kurland. Carolina simply could not match the inside power of Kurland who finished with 23 points in a 43-40 victory.

Following the 1946 season Carnevale left Chapel Hill to take the head coaching job at the U.S. Naval Academy. His first Navy team went 16-1 and earned the school's first-ever berth in the NCAA Tournament. He was named national coach of the year because of his success that season.

Carnevale spent 20 seasons at Navy, posting a career record there of 257-160. One of his most stunning victories came in 1959 when the Mids upset a Carolina team that had been ranked in the Top 10 almost all year in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

Five of his Navy teams played in the NCAA Tournament and two others competed in the National Invitation Tournament. He was named president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches for the 1965-66 season and has been inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame because of his coaching career.

Carnevale retired from coaching following the 1966 season to become athletic director at his alma mater, NYU. He served on the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee, which selects the field for the postseason tournament in his final year at Navy and until 1970 while at NYU.

TOM SCOTT

When Ben Carnevale left Carolina following World War II to go to Navy, Tom Scott was chosen as his successor.

A native of Pittsburgh, Kan., he was a four-year varsity player at Kansas State. Upon graduation he played with the Wichita Henrys AAU team, which won the 1931 national AAU championship.

He coached on the high school level in Kansas for five years before becoming head coach at Concordia College in Minnesota for two seasons. In 1938 he began a four-year stint as head coach at Central Missouri State. After serving four years in the Navy during World War II, he returned to Central Missouri State where his teams won conference titles four out of the next five seasons. In fact, Scott's teams only lost five league games in that period and advanced into post-season play each year.

His first Carolina squad posted a 19-8 record in 1947, dropping a narrow 50-48 decision to N. C. State in the Southern Conference Tournament finals. Carolina was 20-7 in 1948, 20-8 in 1949 and 17-12 in 1950. The Tar Heels had remarkable success against Duke in that three-year period, winning seven of eight games.

After back-to-back 12-15 seasons, he resigned to become coach of the famed Phillips 66 Oilers AAU team in Oklahoma. In six seasons at Chapel Hill his overall record was 100-65, a winning percentage of .665.

He returned to the college scene in 1954 as athletic director at Davidson. However, when Danny Miller resigned at mid-season, Scott had to take over the coaching duties. He remained in that position until 1960. His overall collegiate record was 315-173.

He hired Lefty Driesell as his replacement which turned out to be a great move. Driesell took the Wildcats to four NCAA Tournaments and posted seven 20-win seasons there.

Scott also coached the Davidson golf team from 1955 until 1976. His teams won five Southern Conference titles.

Scott was honored twice by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. In 1968 he received an award of merit for 35 years of coaching. In 1975 he received an Appreciation Award for contributions to the NABC.

From 1967 to 1975, Scott served on the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee and was its chairman from 1970-1975. He was instrumental in bringing the 1994 Final Four to Charlotte, as well as over 50 regional and early-round NCAA Tournament games.

FRANK MCGUIRE

The man who brought the Atlantic Coast Conference its first NCAA basketball championship was Frank McGuire. He also changed the course of college basketball history by hiring Dean Smith as an assistant in 1958. Smith, of course, would go on to develop the most consistent program in the game's history.

McGuire came to Chapel Hill prior to the 1952-53 season after Tom Scott had resigned to become head coach of the Phillips 66 Oilers.

A native New Yorker, McGuire had spent the previous five seasons at St. John's. His 1952 team had reached the NCAA championship game before losing to Kansas.

McGuire starred in football, basketball and baseball at Xavier High School in Brooklyn. He then played both basketball and baseball at St. John's.

After graduation, he returned to Xavier as basketball coach. His teams there went 126-39. His high school coaching was interrupted by Navy duty during World War II. He spent some of his time at Chapel Hill in the pre-flight unit, leading to his interest in Carolina.

Because of his success at Xavier, he was selected to follow the great Joe Lapchick at St. John's in 1947. In five seasons at St. John's, his teams won 103 games and lost just 36. All five of his teams there were chosen for the National Invitation Tournament and two also played in the NCAA Tournament.

However, when the Carolina job became available, McGuire could not turn it down. His first Tar Heel team went 17-10. In nine years here he would have just one losing season, a 10-11 mark in 1955.

His nine-year record was 164-58. Carolina finished first or tied for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings five times in this period.

Because of his background in New York City, that proved to be a fertile recruiting area for McGuire. With his many contacts among New York high school coaches, he developed a pipeline of top talent for Carolina. This "underground railroad" brought players like Lennie Rosenbluth, Tommy Kearns, Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg and Bob Cunningham to Chapel Hill. They were the starters on McGuire's greatest team — the 1957 squad that went 32-0 and swept the NCAA title.

Later McGuire would talk New York-area stars like York Larese, Doug Moe, Donnie Walsh, Larry Brown and Billy Cunningham into attending Carolina.

The highlight of McGuire's Tar Heel career was certainly the 1957 season. This team had a perfect starting unit for McGuire. The 6-5 Rosenbluth was one of the national scoring leaders, averaging 28.0 points a game, as well as 8.8 rebounds. Brennan, a 6-6 forward, was the top rebounder at 10.4 and second-leading scorer with a 14.7 mark. The 6-9 Quigg gave the Tar Heels an inside presence. Kearns was the playmaker in the backcourt and also scored at a 12.8 clip. Cunningham was the team's defensive stopper.

As was the case with many of McGuire's teams, the starting unit played most of the way. Of Carolina's 32 victories, 13 were by 10 points or less. Fans began to believe this was a team of destiny after a double-overtime triumph at Maryland in early February.

The 1957 Final Four in Kansas City is still regarded by many as the most exciting of all time. Carolina topped Michigan State with Johnny Green, 74-40, in a triple-overtime semifinal game. Then the very next game the Tar Heels had to go three overtimes again before outlasting Kansas, featuring Wilt Chamberlain, 54-53.

Prior to the 1958-59 season, McGuire hired Dean Smith to be his top assistant. This move would change the course of college basketball history as Smith was selected to replace him when McGuire moved to the NBA for the 1961-62 season.

As coach and vice-president of the Philadelphia Warriors, he led his team to a 49-31 record. The Warriors—with Hall of Famers Paul Arizin, Tom Gola and Chamberlain—took the Boston Celtics to seven games before losing in the NBA's Eastern Conference finals.

McGuire left coaching briefly before returning to the college ranks for the 1964-65 season at South Carolina. He compiled a 283-142 record in 16 seasons with the Gamecocks. That gave him a career record of 549-236 in 30 years. He led South Carolina to its only ACC regular-season title in 1970 and only ACC Tournament championship in 1971.

McGuire, a member of the Naismith Hall of Fame, suffered only three losing seasons in his 30 years as a college head coach. He was the first coach in history to win over 100 games at three different schools and also to take two different schools to the NCAA championship game. He is one of only a few coaches to take three different schools to the NCAA Tournament.

He was named national coach of the year three times—in 1952 at St. John's, 1957 at Carolina and 1970 at South Carolina.

He remains the only man in history to win ACC titles at two different schools. In 1970 he received the Award of Merit from the National Association of Basketball Coaches. In 1977 South Carolina renamed its homecourt "Frank McGuire Arena."

CAROLINA'S ACC TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Basketball Tournament is annually the pre-eminent college roundball clash in the country and no team has won as many tournament championships or dominated the history of the event more than the University of North Carolina.

The Tar Heels have won a record 15 ACC Tournament crowns, an unmatched 74 games and been the No. 1 seed on 18 occasions. Coach Dean Smith led Carolina to 13 championships, six more than Mike Krzyzewski of Duke, who has won seven titles, the second-highest number of titles by one coach.

Carolina won its first ACC Tournament title in 1957 as the Tar Heels would go on to post a perfect record and win the NCAA championship. UNC is the only school in the conference that won at least one ACC Tournament in the 1950s (one), 1960s (three), 1970s (four), 1980s (three) and 1990s (four). From 1954 to 1974, only the conference tournament championship was invited to the NCAA Tournament; UNC won five tournaments in that era, including three straight from 1967-69.

If remarkable seems like too strong a word to describe UNC's history in the ACC Tournament, consider these statistics:

✓ UNC has entered the tournament as the No. 1 seed 18 times, compiling a 35-10 record in that slot and winning eight titles as the No. 1 seed.

✓ UNC has been seeded lower than No. 5 just once and has been seeded lower than No. 3 only four times since 1966 (No. 4 in '89, '90, 2000 and No. 7 in 2002). UNC won the tour-

✓ The ACC Tournament has been played in five different cities, and UNC has a winning record in each arena, most prolifically a 30-10 (.750) record in Greensboro.

✓ A UNC player has won the Everett Case Award as the Most Valuable Player 16 times.

Those players read like a who's who list of college basketball talent. They include: Lennie Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1967, 1968), Charles Scott (1969), Lee Dedmon (1971), Robert McAdoo (1972), Phil Ford (1975), John Kuester (1977), Dudley Bradley (1979), Sam Perkins (1981), James Worthy (1982), J.R. Reid (1989), Rick Fox (1991), Jerry Stackhouse (1994), Shammond Williams (1997) and Antawn Jamison (1998).

Overall, Carolina has a 74-33 record in the ACC Tournament. Dean Smith's teams were 58-23 in the event. No other coach in history has won more than 31 games. Smith's teams played in the title game in 21 of his 36 years.

North Carolina lost its first two games, both as the No. 5 seed, in 1954 and 1955. Skippy Winstead's 25 points, 70 percent shooting and 40 minutes played did not go unnoticed in the 1954 game against N.C. State, garnering first-team all-tournament honors.

The breakthrough season for the Tar Heels in the ACC Tournament came in 1957. A group of displaced Yankees playing for Frank McGuire ran the table in the conference regular season, 14-0. That year marked the first time that UNC reached the finals of any conference tournament since the 1947 finals of the Southern Conference Tournament. The Tar Heels held off Wake Forest, 61-59, in the semifinal and then defeated South Carolina by 20 points in the final to earn their first ACC championship. In the semifinal, Wake Forest took a one-point lead with less than a minute to play, but National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth hit a hook shot from the circle as well as a free throw for a three-point play and the win.

Rosenbluth made 8 of 11 shots from the floor in the championship en route to 38 points, the team title and MVP honors.

Carolina made the championship game again in 1958 and '59 but lost to Maryland and NC State, respectively.

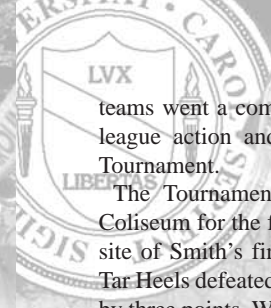

THE 1960s

Carolina won only four of 10 games from 1960-66, but dominated the ACC over the next three years. In an era when only the ACC Tournament champion would advance to the NCAA Tournament, the pressure to win the conference tournament was greater than ever. The 1967-68-69 Tar Heel teams rank as one of the great eras in conference history. Those teams went a combined 36-6 in regular-season league action and a perfect 9-0 in the ACC Tournament.

The Tournament moved to the Greensboro Coliseum for the first time in 1967 and was the site of Smith's first title. Larry Miller and the Tar Heels defeated N.C. State in the quarterfinal by three points, Wake Forest in the semifinal by 10 and Duke by nine in the title match. Miller was selected the Most Valuable Player (25.7 points, 8.3 rebounds). Joining Miller on the first-team all-tournament squad was Bob Lewis (18.0 points, 5.0 rebounds). Rusty Clark and Dick Grubar were selected to the second team.

The Tournament moved again in 1968 for the first year of a three-year stay in Charlotte. UNC's semifinal game against South Carolina was a fierce battle. A fiery second-half start by North Carolina was extinguished by the Gamecocks, as USC produced an 18-4 burst to tie the score at 74 at the end of regulation. The Tar Heels had to come from behind in overtime and won on baskets by Grubar and Gerald Tuttle.

In the championship game, Carolina led N.C. State by only five at the half, but the final tally was a lopsided 87-50 victory for UNC's second straight title. Miller (25.3 points, 8.7 rebounds) repeated his selection as the MVP, and Grubar (13.3 points, 4.7 rebounds) was also a first-team selection. Charlie Scott and Clark were second-team selections.

North Carolina entered the 1969 ACC Tournament as the No. 1 seed for the third year in a row after posting a 12-2 league record. It was a tale of two "Charlies" in the semifinals as Carolina's Charlie Scott and Wake Forest's Charlie Davis battled. Davis won the first half, as the Deacons led 37-29 at intermission. Scott took over in the second stanza, enabling UNC to win, 80-72. Scott and Grubar scored 23 points each.

Carolina and Duke squared off in the championship game. The Blue Devils led by nine at halftime and the Tar Heels lost Grubar to a first-half knee injury. The second half featured one of the most memorable performances in ACC history as Scott scored 25 of his game-high 40 points on 12 of 13 shooting. Thanks in large part to Scott's efforts, Carolina won its third straight ACC title, 85-74, and Scott earned MVP honors.

The 1970s brought many changes in the ACC. South Carolina left the conference after its victory in the 1971 ACC championship game. Georgia Tech filled the void in 1980 with its membership. In addition, beginning in 1975, a team no longer had to win the ACC Tournament to receive an NCAA Tournament bid since the NCAA began sending out at-large bids with the '75 tourney.

One constant in the Seventies was the success of the Tar Heels, who won four ACC Championships.

The first of the four came in 1972. Carolina entered the tournament with three blemishes on its conference ledger, but earning the No. 1 seed. South Carolina's secession from the league left only seven teams in the tournament, and Carolina received a bye into the semifinal against Duke. Four Tar Heels scored in double figures, led by Bobby Jones, who carded a double-double (14 points, 11 rebounds) as the Tar Heels won, 63-48.

Carolina was in the championship game for the fifth time in six years. Maryland was in the finals for the first time since 1958. Carolina posted a large early lead, 21-9, and the two teams ran even for the rest of the first half with UNC leading at intermission, 41-29. Robert McAdoo (15 points, 7.5 rebounds per game) became the fifth Tar Heel in six years to win the MVP award as Carolina held on for a 73-64 win. Dennis Wuycik (17.5 points, 5 rebounds) and George Karl (13 points, 2.5 rebounds, .571 shooting percentage) joined McAdoo on the all-tournament first team.

In 1975 the Tar Heels trailed Wake Forest in the quarterfinals by eight points with 50 seconds left. Freshman point guard Phil Ford (44 seconds to play), Mitch Kupchak (36 seconds), Walter Davis (30 seconds) and Brad Hoffman (two seconds) hit jump shots and the Deacs missed a pair of free throws to force overtime. In the extra session with the game tied at 96 Carolina took possession with 58 seconds to play. UNC went to the "Four Corners" offense, and drew a technical against Wake Forest with 29 seconds to play for not forcing UNC to take action. Ford hit the free throw and another free throw six seconds later as Carolina triumphed, 101-100. UNC's winning effort was led by Davis (31 points, 12 rebounds), Kupchak (16 points, 14 rebounds) and Ford (25 points).

In the 1975 semifinals Clemson came back from 11 down at the half to force overtime. A tip-in basket by Kupchak gave Carolina an overtime lead it would not relinquish. Ford led UNC with 29, including 15 of 18 from the free throw line.

In the championship game against defending NCAA champion N.C. State, Ford excelled running the "Four Corners." Carolina took the lead, 56-55, on a jumper by Davis with nine minutes left and then went into its delay offense. Ford hit two baskets in the next two and one-half minutes, and N.C. State did not score during a 5:18 stretch, paving the way for a 70-66 Tar Heel victory. Ford (26 points per game) was the

No. 1 seed Carolina met No. 7 Virginia in the finals of the 1977 Tournament. Ford scored 19 points in the first half, but the Cavaliers led by one at the break. Virginia led 64-56 with 7:08 remaining, but over the next 5:03 the Tar Heels blitzed the Wahoos, 15-1. Freshman Mike O'Koren and John Kuester led the final charge after Ford fouled out with 5:45 to play and UVa still holding a 64-61 advantage. A layup by Tom Zaliagaris gave the Tar Heels the lead with 4:22 left and a layup by Bruce Buckley with 3:37 to play broke a 67-all tie and gave UNC the lead for good. Kuester's take-charge attitude and perfect free throw shooting earned him the tournament's MVP award. Ford and O'Koren were also first-team selections.

At the end of the 1979 regular season, Carolina and Duke were tied atop the ACC standings. Duke defeated UNC in the final game of the regular season, but the Tar Heels won the draw for the tournament's top seed and first-round bye. Carolina defeated Maryland, 102-79, in the semifinal, as five Tar Heels scored in double figures. Al Wood led with 19 points on 8 of 10 shooting.

The tournament ended just as the regular season had — a contest between the Blue Devils and Carolina. O'Koren led five Tar Heels in double figures with 18 points as the UNC pre-ailed, 71-63. Dudley Bradley scored 16 points with seven steals and four assists and earned MVP honors. O'Koren had 18 points and eight rebounds and was 10 for 11 from the free throw line. The Tar Heels turned the ball over just seven times and forced 14 Duke miscues. O'Koren and Dave Colescott, averaging 15 and 12.5 points per game in the tournament, respectively, also were first-team selections.

THE 1980s

The Tar Heels struck fast in the '80s, claiming their first title of the decade in 1981. UNC beat Wake Forest, 58-57, in the semifinal as Mike Pepper nailed a 16-foot jumper with eight seconds to play for the victory. Freshman Sam Perkins scored 18 points and pulled down 15 rebounds, James Worthy added 12 points and 11 rebounds and Pepper had 12 points to pace the Tar Heels. The Deacons led 53-46 with 9:40 to play but Pepper and Perkins each hit two baskets. The second basket by Perkins gave UNC a 56-55 lead with 4:12 to play. Alvis Rogers hit an 11-foot jumper to give Wake the lead back with 1:30 to play, but Pepper hit the game-winner with eight seconds to go.

Carolina and Maryland met in the 1981 final in the Capital Centre in Landover, Md. The game was tied seven times in the second half, but the Tar Heels finally went ahead for good with 2:53 to play on a Jimmy Black steal and layup. Wood scored twice in the final 2:00 to help UNC to a 61-60 triumph.

Perkins (17.7 points, 8.3 rebounds) became just the second freshman ever, and first since Ford, to be named the Everett Case Award winner. Worthy (13 points, 7.7 rebounds) joined Perkins as a first-team all-tournament selection.

In 1982 No. 1 Carolina led No. 2 Virginia, 34-31, at halftime behind 16 points by Worthy. Freshman Michael Jordan scored four of the Tar Heels' first five field goals in the second half.

1989 ACC Tournament MVP J.R. Reid led Carolina to victory over Duke in one of the most intense games in ACC history.

His fourth straight field goal, with 8:44 to play, actually was Carolina's last of the game. Leading 44-43 with 7:34 remaining, Carolina spread the floor and held the ball. Virginia fouled six times over the next 7:06, putting Matt Doherty on the foul line for 1-and-1 with 28 seconds left. Doherty hit the first for a two-point edge. Virginia committed a turnover with three seconds to play, Doherty hit two free throws with a second left and Ralph Sampson dunked uncontested with one second to go for the final margin of 47-45, UNC. The field goal by Sampson was the first by the Cavaliers since the 7:34 mark.

Worthy (13.3 points, 8 rebounds), Perkins (9.7 points, 7.3 rebounds) and Jordan (11.7 points, 3 rebounds) were named to the first-team all-tournament team, with Worthy named MVP.

Carolina reached the ACC Tournament championship game four more times in the '80s but did not win another team title until 1989. Carolina breezed to the championship game, recording a 15-point rout of Georgia Tech in the quarterfinal and a 30-point romp over eighth-seeded Maryland.

The 1989 ACC championship game was one of the great meetings ever between Carolina and Duke. Earlier in the year, playing without senior point guard Jeff Lebo, UNC toppled undefeated and No. 1-ranked Duke by 20 points in Cameron Indoor Stadium. The Blue Devils ended the regular-season, however, with a two-point win over the Tar Heels in the Smith Center.

The ACC Tournament finale was one of the fiercest, most intense games in conference history. The Tar Heels committed 26 turnovers and forced 18 mistakes by the Blue Devils. Junior center J.R. Reid and senior guard Steve Bucknall led the Tar Heels. Reid had 14 points and nine rebounds; Bucknall had 10 points and five assists. Carolina led 20-8 early but Duke rallied to within four at the half. The game was tied five times in the second half and Duke led just one time, with 5:28 to play. Bucknall hit a driving basket and subsequent free throw with 1:46 remaining to break a 66 tie. Bucknall and King Rice hit four straight free throws apiece to clinch the win.

Reid (16.0 points, 8.0 rebounds per game) won the Everett Case Award. Lebo (10.7 points, 3.0 assists), Bucknall (10.3 points, 5.3 assists) and Rick Fox (12.0 points, .619 shooting percentage) were also all-tournament selections.

Two years after taking out Duke in the 1989 championship game, Carolina again gave the Blue Devils nightmares in 1991. After hard-fought victories over Clemson and Virginia, the Tar Heels met a Duke team that had swept the regular-season series from UNC. Carolina raced out to a 15-4 lead and thrashed Duke, 96-74. Fox made 10 of 16 field goal attempts for 25 points and Hubert Davis netted 17. Rice had 12 points and seven assists and did not commit a single turnover. Fox averaged 17.3 points and 9 rebounds over the three games and was named the MVP. Davis averaged 13.7 points and hit nearly 64 percent from three-point range in the tournament.

The 1994 ACC Tournament marked a record 13th title for the Tar Heels. Carolina faced Wake Forest in the semifinal in what proved to be one of the most exciting games in the history of the ACC Tournament. Wake Forest led, 76-70, with 2:15 to play in regulation, but UNC point guard Derrick Phelps helped cut the lead to three with 11 seconds to play. Phelps made the first of two free throws and then rebounded his own miss. He fed sophomore guard Dante Calabria who drove the lane and hit a twisting bank shot with three seconds left for a tie at 81.

Carolina led 84-81 in overtime until a three-pointer by Rusty LaRue tied the game with 39 seconds left. Freshman Jerry Stackhouse, the Tournament's MVP, hit the game-winner for the Tar Heels on a baseline move with five seconds on the clock. Wake Forest guard Randolph Childress, who scored 31 points, just missed a long three-pointer as the clock expired.

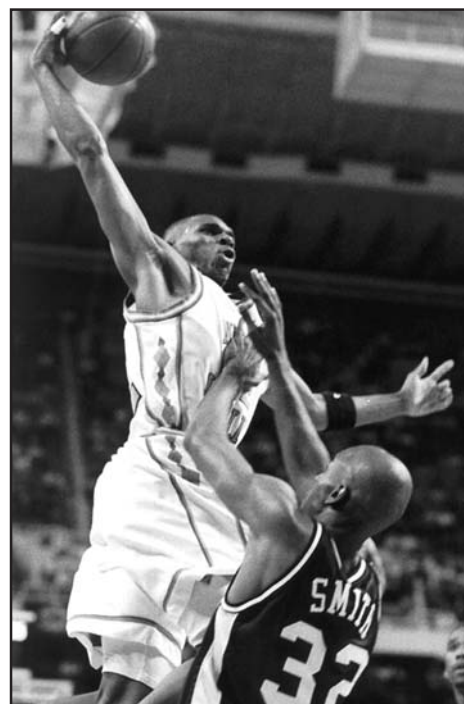

Stackhouse's 14 points and seven rebounds and Eric Montross' 12 points and nine rebounds led Carolina past Virginia, 73-66, in the 1994 title game.

Wake Forest edged Carolina, 82-80, in the 1995 championship game as Childress scored 37 points, including all nine of his team's points in overtime. The teams traded leads in the second half, but the Tar Heels were forced to play without injured All-America center Rasheed Wallace. Wallace had scored 33 points against Joe Smith and Maryland in an overtime win in the semifinals, but sprained an ankle with just over six minutes to play in the final. Stackhouse had 24 points in the final. He drained a three-pointer with 4.5 seconds remaining in regulation to send the game into overtime, but just missed a three at the final buzzer which would have won the game and the title.

In 1997, the Tar Heels rallied from an 0-3 start in ACC play to finish in a tie for second place. Carolina then swept past Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim its 14th conference crown.

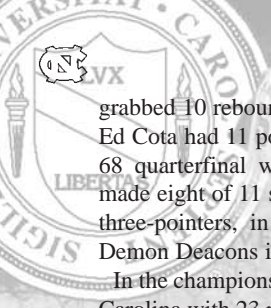

Shammond Williams earned MVP honors averaging 20.0 points and 5.0 assists in the three games.

Antawn Jamison scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and freshman point guard Ed Cota had 11 points and 10 assists in the 78-68 quarterfinal win over Virginia. Williams made eight of 11 shots, including four of seven three-pointers, in an 86-73 triumph over the Demon Deacons in the semifinals.

In the championship game, Williams again led Carolina with 23 points, nine of which came on a trio of three-point baskets in a 2:02 span midway through the second half. Jamison added 17 points and a game-high 11 rebounds. Carolina shot 59.0 percent from the floor, the third-highest ever by the winning team in an ACC final.

In 1998, Carolina defended its ACC Tournament championship for the first time since 1981-82 with victories over N.C. State, Maryland and Duke. Those wins avenged regular-season losses against the same three opponents. Jamison injured a muscle in the overtime win over the Terrapins in the semifinal, and was questionable for Sunday's championship game. However, Jamison was relentless against the Blue Devils, sparking UNC to a 15-point win over the nation's top-ranked team with a 22-point, 18-rebound effort that ranks as one of the finest in championship game history.

Jamison had 25 points in the opening round win over the Wolfpack. The Tar Heels trailed throughout much of the second half against Maryland, but rallied behind Shammond Williams to force overtime. Williams added 10 points in the extra stanza to lead Carolina to an 83-73 triumph.

Carolina's win over Duke in the championship game was UNC's sixth in title game matchups against the Blue Devils. The game was tied at 57 with less than 11 minutes to play, but the Tar Heels reeled off the next 13 points. Carolina finished the game shooting 54.4 percent from the floor, while Duke hit on just 32.8 percent of its field goal attempts. Williams and Vince Carter had 19 and 16 points, respectively.

In 1999, Carolina defeated fifth-ranked Maryland, 86-79, in the semifinal to reach the championship game for the third straight year and the eighth time in the decade. Sophomore Max Owens scored a career-high 23 points, Ademola Okulaja added 19 points, four assists and three steals and Jason Capel shook off a back injury to score 13 points to lead Carolina to the improbable victory. The Terps had knocked off the Tar Heels by 13 points in Chapel Hill in January and by 17 in College Park a month before the ACC Tournament. But the Tar Heels built a 23-point lead midway through the second half and withstood a Terrapin rally that cut the margin to four points with 26 seconds to play. Duke defeated Carolina, 96-73, to win the title.

THE 2000s

In 2001, the Tar Heels advanced to the championship game for a record 27th time, but fell to Duke, at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta. Capel set UNC records in the Tournament by hitting six for six from three-point range in a 99-81 win over Clemson in the quarterfinal. Joseph Forte had 27 points and 12 rebounds and Brendan Haywood held first-team All-ACC center Alvin Jones to just seven points in UNC's 70-63 win over Georgia Tech in the semifinal. The Yellow Jackets overcame a 13-point Tar Heel lead and took a 55-53 lead with 7:02 to play, but Forte scored nine points in the last five minutes to clinch the win.

CAROLINA'S FANTASTIC FINISHES

Amazing comebacks and heart-stopping finishes have been a Carolina basketball trademark for more than 40 years. Many of the most memorable wins in UNC history have occurred when the Tar Heels had to overcome large deficits or hit clutch shots in late-game situations.

That sense of the dramatic may have been initiated in Chapel Hill by the 1957 national champions, but it was perfected by Dean Smith. Who could ever forget Walter Davis's 28-foot prayer against Duke in 1974; or the 20-point comeback against Wake Forest in 1992; or George Lynch's steal and dunk to overcome a 21-point deficit against Florida State in 1993.

Carolina fans remember in the last four wins of the 1993 NCAA title drive, the Tar Heels trailed by at least double digits in each contest. In 1995-96, Carolina rallied to beat Wake Forest and Duke in a span of four days despite a second-half deficit of 18 points to the Deacons and 17 points against the Blue Devils.

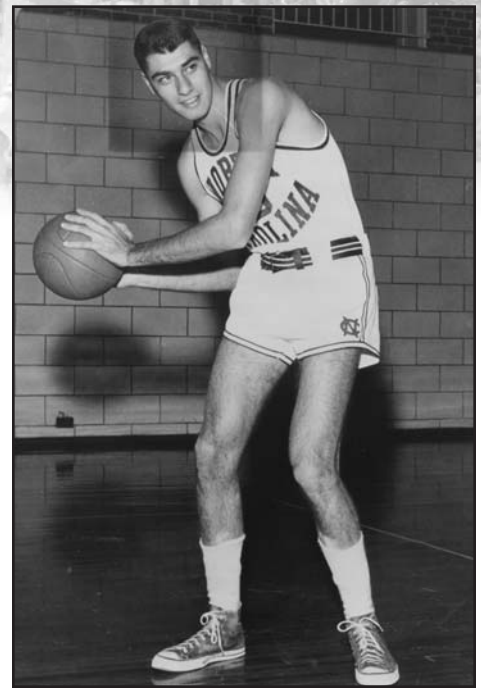

Carolina's poise, discipline and belief in each other have been the calling card of the Tar Heels.

Detailed below in chronological order are just a sample of the classic comebacks, last-second thrillers and fantastic finishes in Tar Heel history.

1957 SEASON

In Carolina's incredible 32-0 national championship season, the Tar Heels had to pull out several thrillers to preserve their perfect record. In the fourth game of the season, South Carolina took the Heels to overtime in Columbia before UNC prevailed, 90-86. The 17th win was a double-overtime contest, this time against Maryland in College Park. The Tar Heels trailed by four with just two minutes left in regulation before emerging as the 65-61 victors. The next game was at home in Woollen Gym against Duke, and the score was tied with a minute to play. Tommy Kearns' free throws provided the winning margin in the 18th consecutive win, 75-73. The 23rd win was one of Carolina's many battles with Wake Forest that season. Trailing by four with just three minutes remaining in Winston-Salem, the Tar Heels pulled out a 69-64 win. Only three games later, the Heels met the Deacons again in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament semifinals in Raleigh. Carolina trailed with less than a minute left, but squeaked out a 61-59 win for its fourth victory over Wake Forest of the 1956-57 season. In the NCAA Tournament, the close contests continued. In the national semifinals, the Spartans of Michigan State went three overtime periods with Carolina before falling, 74-70. Pete Brennan hit a jump shot with only three seconds left in double overtime to force the third extra frame. The NCAA championship game began with 5-11 Tommy Kearns jumping center against 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain of the Kansas Jayhawks and ended in an epic battle that went three overtimes. Tar Heel star Lennie Rosenbluth fouled out of his last college game in regulation, but the rest of the team picked up the slack. Joe Quigg hit two free throws with only six seconds remaining in the final overtime period to give Carolina a 54-53 win. In October of 1999, Sports Illustrated selected the 1957 NCAA title game as its second-favorite game of alltime.

CAROLINA 76, WAKE FOREST 64 JANUARY 4, 1967

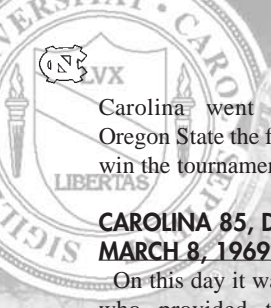

Playing in Winston-Salem, Carolina was engaged in one of its many classic battles with the Wake Forest Demon Deacons. It seemed as though this was the Deacons' game to win, however, when Tom Gauntlett missed a 23-foot jumper with 15 seconds left that would have tied the game for Carolina. But the Tar Heels' Rusty Clark was there for the tip-in and the score stood at 74-74. Wake Forest brought the ball upcourt for its game-winning attempt, but Larry Miller came up with a steal at half-court. Miller drove to the basket, made an off-balance layup and just kept on running straight to the Carolina locker room. The Tar Heels ran out of Winston-Salem with another last-second victory, 76-74.

CAROLINA 86, UTAH 84 DECEMBER 29, 1967

In the semifinals of the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore., Carolina faced unbeaten Utah. The Utes sprinted out to a 54-41 halftime lead. With 14:34 left in the contest, they had extended their lead to 67-50. But, led by Charlie Scott and Larry Miller, the Tar Heels staged a furious comeback. With just two minutes left, Dick Grubar scored his first basket of the game and tied the score at 82-82. Then, with the score tied at 84 apiece, Scott hit the game-winning shot with eight seconds to go. Both Scott and Miller finished with 24 points, and

The Carolina bench jumps for joy as Charles Scott hits the game-winner as time expires, giving the Tar Heels an 87-85 win over Davidson in the 1969 NCAA East Regional Final. The victory gave UNC its third straight Final Four appearance.

Carolina went on to defeat Oregon State the following day to win the tournament title.

CAROLINA 85, DUKE 74 MARCH 8, 1969

On this day it was Charlie Scott who provided the heroics in Carolina's ACC Tournament championship win over Duke in Charlotte. Dick Grubar missed most of the game with a knee injury and Bill Bunting played only sparingly before fouling out with 9:26 left. The Tar Heels trailed by nine at the half before Scott put on one of the greatest individual performances in Carolina history in the second 20 minutes. He connected on 12 of his 13 second-half field goal attempts, many of which were long jumpers, and scored 28 points in the half. Scott's game-high 40 points led the Tar Heels to a come-from-behind 85-74 win and their third consecutive ACC crown.

CAROLINA 87, DAVIDSON 85 MARCH 15, 1969

A week later, Scott again put on one of his amazing performances, almost single-handedly carrying the Tar Heels to victory. This time the opponent was Davidson and the setting was the NCAA East Regional final in College Park, Md. Scott was dazzling in the second half, connecting on 10 of 14 field goal attempts. Dick Grubar was out of action with a knee injury, but Carolina stayed close. Davidson had the ball with 1:05 remaining, and the score tied, 85-85. Gerald Tuttle drew a charge for the Tar Heels, setting up the final possession of the game. Carolina ran a play for Scott, who took the ball at the top of the key, soared above a defender and launched a 20-footer with three seconds left. The ball sailed through the hoop, the buzzer sounded and the Heels were off to their third-consecutive Final Four.

CAROLINA 73, DUKE 71 JANUARY 19, 1974

In a vintage Carolina-Duke hardcourt battle, the Tar Heels defeated the Blue Devils on another last-second shot at Cameron Indoor Stadium in Durham. After the Tar Heels had rallied to tie the score at 71-71, Duke had the ball at halfcourt with four seconds left. But Bobby Jones stole the inbounds pass and hit a spinning, off-balance layup with one second left to give Carolina a 73-71 win.

Walter Davis (No. 24) capped an eight-point comeback in the final 17 seconds of regulation with this 28-foot shot at the buzzer on March 2, 1974. Carolina went on to defeat Duke, 96-92, in overtime.

CAROLINA 96, DUKE 92 (OT) MARCH 2, 1974

In perhaps the most famous comeback in college basketball history, the Tar Heels rallied from eight points down with 17 seconds remaining against Duke to force overtime at Carmichael Auditorium. Trailing 86-78, Bobby Jones connected on both ends of a one-and-one with just 17 ticks left on the clock. John Kuester cut the deficit to four with a layup when Duke threw away the inbounds pass, but there were still just 13 seconds left. Again, the Blue Devils lost the inbounds pass. Jones cut the Duke lead to two on a put-back of an Ed Stahl miss. Six seconds remained. With four seconds left, the Tar Heels fouled Pete Kramer, who missed the front end of the one-and-one. Stahl grabbed the rebound and called a timeout with but three ticks left. Mitch Kupchak inbounded the ball to Walter Davis, who launched a 28-foot prayer as time expired. The prayer was answered as Davis' shot kissed off the glass to tie the score at 86-86. Carmichael Auditorium erupted and Carolina went on to win 96-92 in overtime.

CAROLINA 101, WAKE FOREST 100 (OT), MARCH 6, 1975

In the opening round of the ACC Tournament in Greensboro, Carolina trailed Wake Forest 90-82 with only 50 seconds remaining. A 20-footer by Phil Ford cut the deficit to six with 43 ticks left. After the Demon Deacons turned the ball over in their delay offense, Mitch Kupchak scored on a drive to the hoop to pull the Tar Heels within four with 34 seconds to go. Wake Forest's inbounds pass grazed the scoreboard, turning the ball over to Carolina. Walter Davis quickly capitalized on the mistake, making the score 90-88 with 29 seconds left. Two Deacons failed to convert their one-and-one opportunities and Carolina called timeout with nine seconds on the clock. Brad Hoffman drove the baseline and nailed a 12-footer to tie the game with two seconds left. The Tar Heels pulled out the 101-100 win in overtime and went on to capture the ACC title two days later.

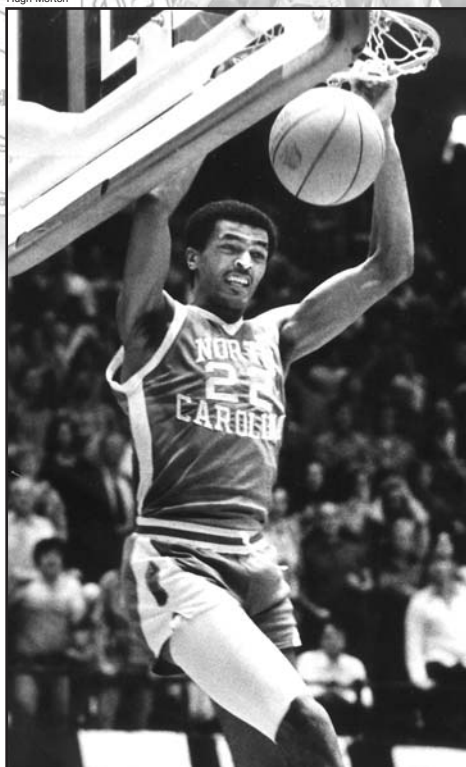

CAROLINA 70, NC STATE 69 JANUARY 17, 1979

Playing at Reynolds Coliseum on the campus of NC State, it looked as though the Tar Heels would finally have the tables turned against them. Carolina charged out to a 40-19 halftime lead and was seemingly in control of the game. With 10:30 to play, the Heels still led by 17, but then the Wolfpack hit a torrid streak. State had cut the Carolina lead to three with 43 seconds to play when Hawkeye Whitney went to the line for the Wolfpack. At the same time, Carolina's Jimmy Black was whistled for a technical foul and Whitney hit two of the three free throws to cut the Wolfpack's deficit to one. After the inbounds play, Kenny Matthews hit a long-range jumper with 32 seconds left that gave State a 69-68 lead. Reynolds erupted. Carolina tried to regain the lead, but Dudley Bradley missed a long jump shot and State grabbed the rebound with 16 seconds left. Reynolds celebrated. But Bradley atoned for his miss when he stole the ball from State's Clyde Austin at mid-court and drove in for the game-winning dunk. A Wolfpack desperation shot bounced off the glass and Carolina escaped with a 70-69 triumph.

CAROLINA 70, TULANE 68 (3 OT) NOVEMBER 30, 1982

Coming off their 1982 national championship, the Tar Heels had opened the season with losses to St. John's and Missouri before returning to Carmichael for the home opener. The opponent was the Green Wave of Tulane, which had taken Carolina to the wire several times over the years. With the score tied at 49-49, Tulane's John Williams hit a layup with 1:29 remaining to put the Wave up by two. With just 36 seconds left, Michael Jordan scored on an offensive rebound to tie the game. But with eight seconds left, Williams made two free throws to give Tulane a 53-51 edge. Jordan was whistled for an offensive foul with four seconds remaining, and it appeared the Heels would start a season with three successive losses for the first time since 1928-29. However, Jordan came up with the Green Wave's inbounds pass and hit a spinning 24-foot prayer at the buzzer to tie the game. Carolina finally prevailed, 70-68, after three thrilling overtime periods.

CAROLINA 64, VIRGINIA 63 FEBRUARY 10, 1983

Carolina trailed Ralph Sampson and second-ranked Virginia by as many as 16 points in the second half and was down 63-53 with just 4:12 left on the clock. Jimmy Braddock hit a long three-pointer from the right side to cut the margin to seven, and Matt Doherty made both ends of a one-and-one to close the gap to five. Sam Perkins also converted his one-and-one to trim the Cavalier lead to 63-60 with 2:54 remaining. Terry Holland then had Virginia stall and Perkins was forced to foul Sampson with 1:20 left. The All-America center missed the front end of his one-and-one and Michael Jordan proceeded to take over the game. Braddock missed a three-pointer, but Jordan was there to put in the rebound. As Rick Carlisle dribbled the ball upcourt for the Cavaliers, Jordan stole it and slammed it home for a 64-63 Tar Heel lead. Carlisle missed a potential game-winning shot and Jordan grabbed the rebound to seal the win as Carmichael exploded in celebration.

CAROLINA 75, MARYLAND 74 JANUARY 9, 1985

Late in Lefty Driesell's career at College Park, Maryland seemed poised to knock off Carolina at Carmichael Auditorium. The Terps led 72-69 with only 23 seconds left and star guard Keith Gatlin on the line for a one-and-one opportunity. The 83 percent foul shooter missed the front end and Kenny Smith rushed upcourt and sank a jump shot with 16 seconds left. Steve Hale fouled Adrian Branch, a 78-percent free-throw shooter, on the inbounds pass. Branch also missed. Dave Popson provided the winning points with a high-arc jumper over Maryland defender Derrick Lewis from 16 feet away. The swish at 0:09 gave the Tar Heels a 73-72 lead. Curtis Hunter's steal and free throws secured the win as Carolina prevailed, 75-74.

CAROLINA 60, NOTRE DAME 58 MARCH 16, 1985

In the second round of the NCAA Tournament, the higher-seeded Tar Heels played Notre Dame at South Bend. The score was tied 58-58 with 1:38 to go when the Irish's Donald Royal went to the foul stripe. Royal missed, but Jim Dolan grabbed the rebound and the Irish decided to hold for the last shot. As the clock wound down, point guard David Rivers lost control of the ball, enabling Carolina's Curtis Hunter to scoop it up and make a lead pass to Kenny Smith. Smith slammed it home for the game-winning shot and then stole the

CAROLINA 96, SYRACUSE 93 (OT) NOVEMBER 21, 1987

Carolina was pitted against top-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass. Playing without standouts J.R. Reid and Steve Bucknall, the Tar Heels seemingly were undermanned against the powerful Orangemen, who a season earlier were NCAA finalists. Indeed, with 15:39 left in the game, Syracuse had built a 14-point lead. But Carolina stormed back, and Syracuse led only 85-83 when the Tar Heels had the last possession of regulation. Freshman Pete Chilcutt hit a rim-rattling, turnaround jumper at the horn to send the game to overtime. Carolina prevailed, 96-93, in the extra session to complete the upset of the Orangemen.

CAROLINA 80, JAMES MADISON 79 NOVEMBER 24, 1989

In Carolina's season opener against James Madison at the Maui Classic, the Tar Heels trailed, 79-70, with less than a minute to play. Rick Fox started the Carolina surge with a rebound basket with 51 seconds remaining. Hubert Davis stole the ball three seconds later and canned a three-pointer to cut the margin to 79-75. The Dukes' Billy Coles missed the front end of a one-and-one with 18 seconds left and Pete Chilcutt drilled a trey to cut the deficit to one with 10 ticks remaining. Steve Hood also missed a one-and-one attempt for James Madison, but Jeff Denny's pass upcourt was stolen by the Dukes' William Davis. However, Davis stepped out of bounds, giving Carolina one last shot. King Rice threw up an off-balance runner from the top of the key and the ball banked high off the glass and in as the buzzer sounded. Final score, 80-79 Carolina. It was not the first time James Madison coach Lefty Driesell had been the victim of a Tar Heel miracle.

CAROLINA 79, OKLAHOMA 77 MARCH 17, 1990

Facing the top-ranked team in the country in the NCAA Tournament second round, Carolina was in jeopardy of not advancing to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1980. The Tar Heels trailed the Oklahoma Sooners, 74-73, with 55 seconds to play when Rick Fox nailed a three-pointer from 25 feet away with the shot clock winding down. The Sooners countered with a conventional three-point play and led, 77-76, when King Rice was fouled with 10 seconds left. Rice hit the first shot, but missed the second. The rebound hit off the Sooners out-of-bounds and Carolina had the ball with eight seconds to go and a 77-77 score. Fox took a pass from Hubert Davis and drove the right baseline. His kiss off the glass as the buzzer sounded gave the Tar Heels a 79-77 win and a 10th consecutive Final 16 berth.

George Lynch's steal and dunk capped a 28-4 Tar Heel rally as UNC overcame a 19-point second-half deficit and defeated Florida State, 82-77, on January 27, 1993.

CAROLINA 89, VIRGINIA 86 (2 OT) JANUARY 12, 1991

CAROLINA 80, WAKE FOREST 78 FEBRUARY 8, 1992

Just three days after knocking off top-ranked Duke, Carolina rallied from 22 points behind to defeat Wake Forest, 80-78, on Brian Reese's jumper at the buzzer in Chapel Hill. The comeback was the biggest in terms of point deficit (22) in Tar Heel history. Despite making several mini-runs to cut that 22-point first-half deficit, UNC was behind by 20 with 14:49 to play and still trailed by 11 with 6:17 to go. The Tar Heels then went on a 10-0 run to cut the Demon Deacon lead to 75-74. Then, with 38 seconds remaining, Pat Sullivan tied the game at 78 with a pair of free throws – his only shots of the game. Reese came up with a steal that set up one final possession for Carolina with 16 seconds to go. After a timeout, Reese drove the lane and misfired off the front rim. But he followed his shot, grabbed his own rebound and launched a swish at the buzzer from 12 feet away to give the Heels an improbable 80-78 win. The final score was Carolina's first lead since it led, 3-2.

CAROLINA 82, FLORIDA STATE 77 JANUARY 27, 1993

One of the most memorable second-half comebacks in Carolina history came against Florida State on January 27, 1993. Seminole head coach Pat Kennedy spent the pregame browsing through the Carolina media guide, reading about the great Tar Heel comebacks of the past. Kennedy surely was unaware that his team would soon become another chapter in that storied history.

Florida State jumped out to a 45-28 advantage at the half and extended the lead to as many as 21 points in the second stanza. With under nine minutes to go, Carolina still trailed, 73-54. Spurred by pressure defense and long-range shooting, the Heels ran off 15 straight points to cut the deficit to four. Later, an Eric Montross jump hook with 1:59 left cut the FSU lead to 77-76. Then, in a play reminiscent of a Michael Jordan exploit against Virginia 10 years earlier, George Lynch stole a Charlie Ward crosscourt heave at midcourt and slammed the ball home to give Carolina a 78-77 lead. Clutch foul shooting by Donald Williams sealed the 82-77 victory. The Tar Heels had amazingly outscored the Seminoles 28-4 over the last nine minutes to end the game.

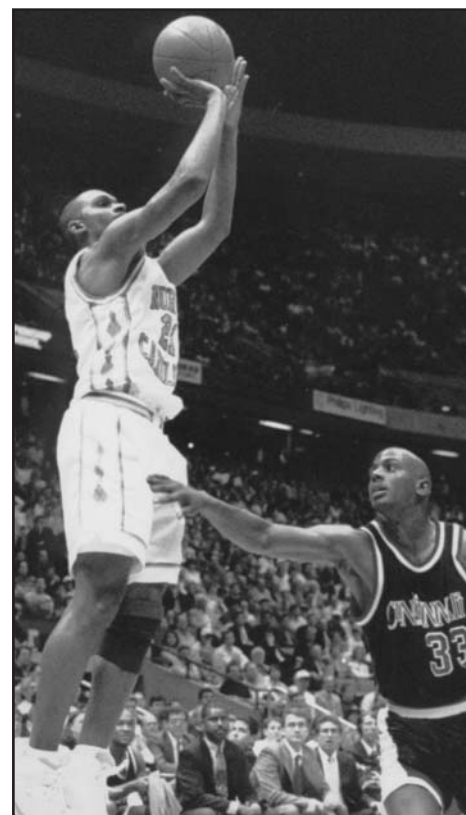

1993 NCAA TOURNAMENT

In the run to Carolina's fourth national championship, the Tar Heels had to overcome double-digit deficits on three different occasions against tough tournament competition. In the East Regional semifinal at the Meadowlands, Carolina trailed a quick and deep Arkansas team, 25-14, more than 10 minutes into the first half. Sparked by George Lynch and Donald Williams, however, the Heels went on a 14-3 run to tie the game at 28. Carolina again fell behind 38-31 before knotting the score at 45 at halftime and eventually prevailing 80-74. Two days later in the regional final, the Tar Heels trailed Cincinnati 29-14 with under seven minutes remaining in the first half. The Bearcats' Nick Van Exel hit his sixth three-pointer of the half with 4:50 remaining to chalk up his 21st point and a 33-20 lead. But led by Derrick Phelps' suffocating defense on Van Exel, Carolina cut the deficit to one by halftime, held Van Exel to only two more points in the final 20 minutes and pulled out a 75-68 overtime win. After defeating Kansas in the Final Four in New Orleans, the Tar Heels fell behind Michigan 23-

13 in the national championship game. Carolina then went on a 12-2 run to tie the game, capped off by a 22-foot three-pointer by Donald Williams. Carolina took a 42-36 halftime lead and went on to win the title, 77-71.

CAROLINA 86, WAKE FOREST 84 (OT) MARCH 12, 1994

In the semifinals of the 1994 ACC Tournament, the Tar Heels overcame 31 points and 10 assists from Wake Forest junior guard Randolph Childress and erased a five-point deficit in the final 1:15 of regulation to down the Demon Deacons, 86-84 in overtime. With an 81-78 lead, Wake coach Dave Odom called a time out and instructed guard Charlie Harrison to foul Carolina's Derrick Phelps with 11.8 seconds left. Phelps made the first free throw and missed the second, but he grabbed the rebound and dribbled to the left side of the court. He found Dante Calabria on the opposite side of the lane and Calabria's baseline drive and basket with 3.8 ticks left on the clock in regulation tied the score at 81, forcing the extra stanza. After a low-scoring overtime, Tar Heel freshman Jerry Stackhouse, who was later named the tournament MVP, took a pass from Phelps and sunk a driving shot in traffic to win the game, 86-84. Carolina went on to win its 13th ACC title the next day with a hard-fought 73-66 victory over Virginia.

Donald Williams and the Tar Heels defeated Cincinnati in overtime to advance to the 1993 Final Four and went on to win the national championship.

CAROLINA 62, WAKE FOREST 61 JANUARY 28, 1995

UNC again victimized Wake Forest in what would be the first of two comeback road wins over in-state rivals in the span of five days. Winston-Salem was the stage for an epic battle between centers Tim Duncan and Rasheed Wallace. The Demon Deacons' Duncan, who finished the game with 18 points, 17 rebounds and seven blocked shots, and Carolina's Wallace, with totals of 17 points, 10 rebounds and three blocks, each showed the stuff that made them first-team All-ACC honorees at the close of the season. Carolina did not score during a five-minute stretch of the second half and trailed Wake Forest by 10, 53-43 with 6:39 left. Strong inside play from Wallace and the timely three-point shooting of Jeff McInnis and Donald Williams brought the Heels back within one at 61-60. Williams then hit a running one-hander from the right of the lane with 5.5 seconds remaining to seal a 62-61 win.

CAROLINA 102, DUKE 100 (2 OT) FEBRUARY 2, 1995

Five days later, Carolina and Duke waged one of the finest battles in the history of the greatest rivalry in college basketball. It was a game of surges that seemed at times as if it would never end. The Tar Heels jumped out to an early, 26-9 lead on a reverse dunk by Jerry Stackhouse over two Blue Devil players and the ensuing free throw. Duke's three-point shooting pulled the Blue Devils within five at halftime and gave them the lead by as many as 12 midway through the second half. UNC then mounted a comeback of its own, battling back from a nine-point deficit with 6:18 to play to force overtime. The Tar Heels raced out to a nine-point lead in the first extra stanza, but four Duke three-pointers, including a running 30-footer from Blue Devil sophomore Jeff Capel at the buzzer, knotted the score at 95 and forced a second overtime. The clutch shooting of Donald Williams and a steal and basket by Jeff McInnis with under a minute to play sealed Carolina's 102-100, double-overtime win. The 202 points between the two teams were the most points ever scored in a UNC-Duke game.

CAROLINA 65, WAKE FOREST 59 JANUARY 27, 1996

UNC actually had more turnovers than field goals in the first half and trailed Wake Forest by 14 at halftime, 42-28. The Deacons stretched the lead to 18 (41-23) with 17:23 left in the game before freshman Antawn Jamison ignited the UNC comeback. Jamison had a three-point play at 16:17 to cut the lead to 13, at 15:41 to cut it to 11 and then he followed an Ademola Okulaja three-pointer with another put-back at 12:00 to get the deficit to single digits at 43-35.

Ricky Peral and Tim Duncan scored successive baskets to build the Wake lead back to 12 with 10:56 to play, but from that point on the Tar Heels outscored the Deacons, 30-12. Jeff McInnis scored in the lane, Dante Calabria banked one high off the glass and a layup by Jamison made it six. Wake led by seven with 7:09 to play after a dunk by Duncan, but Carolina then went on a 12-3 tear to take the lead. Okulaja pulled down an offensive board to keep a possession alive which ended with a three from the right corner by Calabria to close within four points. Vince Carter hit a baseline jumper to cut it to one and with 2:24 to play Okulaja buried a three from the left wing for a 56-54 UNC lead.

Tony Rutland hit a three late in the shot clock with 1:49 to play for the Deacons' final lead of the game at 57-56. McInnis stole the ball after a UNC miss and hit a runner in the lane over Duncan to give Carolina the lead for good at 58-57 with 1:09 to play. McInnis and Shammond Williams each made a pair of free throws, with 38 and 15 seconds left, respectively, and Carter capped the scoring with a reverse, alley-oop dunk from McInnis.

CAROLINA 73, DUKE 72 JANUARY 31, 1996

Duke led UNC, 37-20, with 4:32 to play in the opening half and by 12, 42-30, at the half. Carolina pulled within two at 44-42 with 14:14 to play, but the Blue Devils extended the lead to 11 points at 63-52 with 8:44 remaining. A jumper in the lane by Vince Carter, a tip-in by Antawn Jamison and a three-pointer by Shammond Williams trimmed Duke's lead to 63-59 and free throws by Ademola Okulaja and Jeff McInnis narrowed the gap to one. Ricky Price, who scored 20 for Duke, hit a three-pointer with 4:54 to play for a 67-63 advantage. The Blue Devils' lead was three when Okulaja grabbed an offensive rebound and scored to make it 69-68 Duke with 1:55 to go. Steve Wojciechowski hit a three-pointer at the top of Dante Calabria's tip-in gave the Tar Heels a 73-72 win over Duke on January 31, 1996. Carolina trailed by 17 points in the first half and by four with 1:13 to play.

Karl DeBlaker

the circle for a 72-68 Duke lead with 1:13 to play, but Williams countered with a three of his own with 58 seconds left. Duke turned the ball over right in front of the Blue Devil bench, and the Tar Heels nearly returned the favor but a hustling Williams forced a jump ball after a wild scramble near midcourt. Possession favored the Tar Heels, who had one last chance.

McInnis drove into the lane and fed Zwikker on the low block. Zwikker's shot was deflected by Greg Newton, but Calabria tipped the ball in for a 73-72 lead. Duke had one final chance to win, but Price's baseline jumper at the buzzer hit the front of the rim and bounced away.

This running jumper with 4.5 seconds left by freshman Ed Cota lifted Carolina to a 45-44 win at NC State on February 12, 1997.

CAROLINA 59, NC STATE 56
JANUARY 15, 1997

The Tar Heels began ACC play with three straight losses for the first time in history and a fourth consecutive loss seemed imminent. Carolina led 36-28 at halftime, but did not score a field goal in the second half until the 8:09 mark and had just two baskets in the first 18 minutes of the second stanza. The Wolfpack led 56-47 with 2:00 to play, but that's when the Tar Heels went on a 12-0 run to finish the game. Antawn Jamison began the rally by forcing a steal in the backcourt and Shammond Williams hit a layup to pull within seven. Williams hit a three-pointer and Jamison added a layup to pull within two points with 50 seconds to play. Trailing by one with 28 seconds left, Carolina fouled and the strategy worked as State missed the front end of a one-and-one. The Tar Heels went ahead for good with 12 seconds to play as Ademola Okulaja fed Jamison on the low block for a layup. Vince Carter stole the inbounds pass after the go-ahead score to secure the win.

FEBRUARY 12, 1997

This 45-44 UNC win is the lowest scoring victory in Dean Smith's 36 years as head coach. The Tar Heels trailed 28-19 at the half and fell behind by 11 moments after halftime. Carolina chipped away at the Pack's lead and pulled within 42-41 with 7:25 to play on a dunk by Antawn Jamison. Neither team scored for the next 5:22 until a Damon Thornton basket gave State a 44-41 advantage. Serge Zwikker scored for UNC to make it 44-43 and, with just two team fouls, Carolina began to foul to send the Pack to the line. With 12.3 seconds to play, however, Jamison forced a turnover right in front of the bench and Carolina got the ball back for one last play. Freshman point guard Ed Cota drove to the left baseline and lofted a soft lob shot which found the net with 4.5 seconds remaining. State's last-gasp shot, a three-pointer from the right wing by Danny Strong, was blocked by Vince Carter.

CAROLINA 72, GEORGIA TECH 68
FEBRUARY 15, 1997

Georgia Tech led 37-30 at the half and built its lead to 59-44 with 7:42 to play in front of a boisterous crowd in Atlanta. Carolina had to play the entire second half without senior center Serge Zwikker, who suffered a concussion in the first half. Shammond Williams and Ademola Okulaja hit three-pointers and UNC pulled within nine points with 6:37 to play. More than three minutes later, the Yellow Jackets lead remained at nine points, 67-58. From that point on, however, the Tar Heels outscored Tech, 14-1. Antawn Jamison hit three free throws, Ed Cota set up Vince Carter and Jamison for layups and the Yellow Jackets lead was down to 67-65. Cota then set up Williams for a go-ahead three from the left corner with 1:12 to play. Tech sank one free throw to tie the game, but Cota calmly sank two free throws with 33 seconds left for the win.

CAROLINA 82, GEORGIA 80 (OT)
DECEMBER 27, 1997

Carolina trailed Georgia, 73-66, in Athens, Ga., but outscored the Bulldogs 7-0 over the final 2:00 in regulation. Vince Carter's jumper and a tip-in by Ademola Okulaja cut the lead to three with 1:44 left. Okulaja hit three straight free throws to tie the game, the final two with just 25.3 seconds remaining. Okulaja then forced a jump ball on Georgia's last-second possession and the game went to overtime. Okulaja hit a three-pointer early in the overtime and Carolina led by five points in the extra period, but the Dawgs tied the game at 80-80 with 31.9 seconds to play. With 3.2 seconds to play, point guard Ed Cota fed Carter for the game-winning basket.

CAROLINA 107, GEORGIA TECH 100 (2OT)
FEBRUARY 8, 1998

The Tar Heels let a seven-point lead slip away in the final minute of regulation, but Shammond Williams put on an awesome three-point shooting display as Carolina prevailed, 107-100, in double-overtime in Atlanta. Williams sent the game to a second overtime with a pair of free throws with six seconds left in the first extra period. In the second OT, Williams scored 12 of his career-high 42 points, including two three-pointers.

CAROLINA 74, TENNESSEE 69
MARCH 24, 2000

Carolina was unranked for the first time in 10 years and entered the NCAA Tournament as the No. 8 seed in the South. The inspired Tar Heels faced Tennessee, which came into the game at 26-6 and ranked No. 10 in the nation.

Tennessee led, 39-36, at halftime. The Tar Heels then scored just six points in the first 8:00 of the second half as the Vols extended the lead to 51-42. UT still led by a basket when UNC center Brendan Haywood fouled out with 8:03 left and led, 64-57, with 4:48 left. Freshmen Joseph Forte and Julius Peppers and senior point guard Ed Cota sparked UNC's comeback.

Forte hit a three-pointer and Capel made a steal and layup to make it 64-62 with 3:41 left. Cota drove through the UT defense for a layup to tie the game and followed with a jumper in the lane to give UNC the lead with 1:59 left. Peppers, a starting defensive end on the football team and a walkon basketball player, had four points and five rebounds after Haywood's exit. Forte, Peppers and Cota each hit two free throws in the final 0:34 to cap a 15-3 Tar Heel run and a 74-69 win. Carolina beat Tulsa two days later to send Bill Guthridge to his second Final Four in three years as head coach.

Robert Crawford

Julius Peppers scored on this alley-oop in the Jan. 6, 2001, win over Wake Forest.

CAROLINA 70, WAKE FOREST 69
JANUARY 6, 2001

Brendan Haywood grabbed a loose ball in the lane and scored with 3.3 seconds to play to give the Tar Heels the win over No. 4-ranked and previously undefeated Wake Forest in the Smith Center. Haywood finished with 24 points and 10 rebounds. His basket marked the fourth lead change in the final 1:22 and gave UNC the win.

CAROLINA 85, DUKE 83
FEBRUARY 1, 2001

Matt Doherty's first game against Duke as Carolina's head coach was a classic. Joseph Forte was spectacular with 24 points, 16 rebounds (a UNC record for guards), six assists and three steals. The Tar Heels blistered the Cameron Indoor Stadium nets by shooting 51.5 percent from the floor. Carolina led by as many as 13 in the first half, but Duke took the lead midway through the second half. Ronald Curry scored six straight points in 48 seconds to give the Tar Heels a 63-59 lead. UNC later built a seven-point lead, but the Blue Devils rallied to tie with three seconds to play. On the ensuing inbounds play, Shane Battier fouled Brendan Haywood and the UNC seven-footer hit both free throws with one second left for the win.

SMITH CENTER JERSEYS — CARTWRIGHT CARMICHAEL

THE SMITH CENTER JERSEYS

Hanging from the rafters in the east end zone of the Dean E. Smith Center are 40 Tar Heel jerseys that together serve as a symbolic reminder of Carolina's overwhelming success in its 92 seasons of collegiate basketball competition.

The seven jerseys in the front row belong to players who had their numbers retired by the University as National Players of the Year.

UNC's seven retired jerseys are:

- Jack Cobb (Class of '26)
- 20 • George Glamack ('41)
- 10 • Lennie Rosenbluth ('57)
- 12 • Phil Ford ('78)
- 52 • James Worthy ('83)
- 23 • Michael Jordan ('85)
- 33 • Antawn Jamison ('99)

The original back row included seven jerseys honoring players whose accomplishments were remarkable, including a national Player of the Year and six two-time first-team All-Americans.

These original honored jerseys are:

- Cartwright Carmichael ('24)
- 32 • Billy Cunningham ('65)
- 44 • Larry Miller ('68)
- 33 • Charlie Scott ('70)
- 31 • Mike O'Koren ('80)
- 41 • Sam Perkins ('84)
- 30 • Kenny Smith ('87)

On October 4, 1994, the University's Athletic Council adopted new objective criteria for the hanging of players' jerseys in the Smith Center. Under this criteria, 25 additional honored jerseys have been hung in the rafters of the Smith Center.

The new criteria include the most valuable player (as voted by his teammates) of a team that wins an NCAA championship, any member of a gold-medal winning Olympic team or one of the top 10 players in the country on a generally recognized All-America team.

These honored jerseys are:

- 35 • Pete Brennan ('58)
- 11 • Larry Brown ('63)
- 31 • Bill Chamberlain ('72)
- 42 • Brad Daugherty ('86)
- 24 • Walter Davis ('77)
- 13 • John Dillon ('48)
- 34 • Bobby Jones ('74)
- 8 • Jim Jordan ('46)
- 21 • Mitch Kupchak ('76)
- 45 • Tommy LaGarde ('77)
- 22 • York Larese ('61)
- 22 • Bobby Lewis ('67)
- 34 • George Lynch ('93)
- 35 • Robert McAdoo ('73)
- 35 • Doug Moe ('61)
- 00 • Eric Montross ('94)
- 34 • J.R. Reid ('90)
- 12 • Lee Shaffer ('60)
- 30 • Al Wood ('81)
- 44 • Dennis Wycik ('72)
- 42 • Jerry Stackhouse ('97)
- 30 • Rasheed Wallace ('97)
- 15 • Vince Carter ('99)
- 00 • Brendan Haywood ('01)
- 40 • Joseph Forte ('03)

Had a great career as a Tar Heel, averaging 16.4 points and 10.5 rebounds per game for his career as a forward • Best remembered for a single play, a play that saved an NCAA title • The undefeated 1957 Carolina team was trailing Michigan State, 64-62, in the NCAA semifinals with only 11 seconds remaining in the first overtime period • The Spartans' Johnny Green missed a free throw and Brennan snared the rebound • Instead of making the outlet pass out to a guard as he ordinarily would have done, Brennan raced down court with the ball • Two Michigan State defenders got back to defend, so Brennan pulled up for a jump shot from the foul line • The jumper floated through the net with four seconds remaining, forcing another overtime period • UNC survived, downing the Spartans in triple overtime before subsequently defeating Kansas in triple overtime the next day in the title game of one of the most storied Final Fours in NCAA history • Still ranks 11th in the Tar Heel record books in career rebounds • As a senior in 1958, he led the squad in scoring at a 21.3 clip, earning first-team All-America and ACC Player of the Year honors • Earned All-ACC honors and All-ACC Tournament honors as a senior.

- First-team All-America in 1957-58
- Member of the undefeated 1957 national champion Tar Heels

A playmaking star of the 1957 NCAA champion Tar Heels, Kearns was a clutch performer who had a habit of making the big play • Ranked third on the '57 team in scoring, but was most valuable simply running the team

• A great dribbler and driver, his presence made it impossible for opponents to press the Tar Heels • His ability to deliver under pressure was soon apparent in that 32-0 season • In the fourth game of the year, he scored 29 points as the Tar Heels edged South Carolina, 90-86, in double overtime • In a game at Maryland that year, he tied the game with a jumper, forcing overtime, and hit a crucial shot in the second OT to seal the win • Hit two late free throws with 11 seconds left in a 75-73 win over Duke • Had 15 second-half points in a come-from-behind win at Virginia • In a psychological ploy, head coach Frank McGuire let Kearns jump center against Wilt Chamberlin in the 1957 national championship game versus Kansas • A two-time All-ACC selection who went on to be a successful stockbroker on Wall Street • Played a high school basketball coach in the Sean Connery movie Finding Forrester in 2000.

LENNIE ROSENBLUTH

Lennie Rosenbluth set and still holds Carolina's records for single-season and career scoring average • Rosenbluth, Antawn Jamison and Duke's Christian Laettner are the only players to be named ACC Player of the Year, ACC Tournament MVP, NCAA Regional MVP and National Player of the Year in the same season • • Rosenbluth and Laettner also added Final Four MVP honors • Named the Helms Foundation's 1957 National Player of the Year • Averaged 28.0 points per game in 1957 and 26.9 points per game in his esteemed career • Was a member of UNC's undefeated 1957 squad • Led the Tar Heels to the national championship in a triple-overtime victory over the Kansas Jayhawks and their star, Wilt Chamberlain • Scored 2,045 career points which ranks third in Carolina history despite playing only three varsity seasons • His scoring total was tops in the Tar Heel record books for 21 years • Won the Patterson Medal as UNC's outstanding student-athlete of the year • Was a three-time All-ACC selection and was tabbed ACC Player and Athlete of the Year in 1957 • Was twice All-ACC Tournament, the MVP of the 1957 ACC Tournament and a member of the All-Tournament team at the Final Four in 1957 and at three Dixie Classics • Made several second and third team All-America squads as a junior, but he was a consensus first-team pick as a senior, being chosen by AP, UPI, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the Helms Foundation, Converse, Collier's Magazine and the National Education Association • Still holds Carolina records for points in a season, field goals attempted in a season and free throws made and attempted in both a season and a career • Opened the 1957 season by scoring a then UNC record of 47 points against Furman • Against Duke in 1957, scored 35 points in the game in Chapel Hill and 40 in Durham • His ability to hit clutch shots set him apart from others • Also had an uncanny ability to hit the off-balance shot • Was adept at drawing fouls from the opposition • His most famous play was probably against Wake Forest in the ACC Tournament final as a senior when hit a hook shot, was fouled, and completed the three-point play to give UNC the win and bid to the NCAA Tournament • Averaged 28.4 points per game in five NCAA Tournament games that season • Hit three quick field goals in the third overtime versus Michigan State in the 1957 NCAA semifinals as the Tar Heels scored a 74-70 win over the Spartans • Led the Tar Heels with 20 points against Kansas in the 1957 national championship game despite fouling out in regulation • Born in the Bronx in 1933, Rosenbluth chose to attend UNC in large measure because Carolina head coach Frank McGuire was also from New York City • After his career as a Tar Heel, he played for a brief time in the NBA before becoming a high school teacher and basketball coach in Florida • Named one of the 50 best players in ACC history in 2002.

• Not only did he top the Tar Heel scoring attack that season, but he also pulled down 11.2 rebounds per game, including 20 versus Notre Dame on Jan. 2, 1960 • Was named the 1960 ACC Player of the Year • Also won first-team All-ACC and All-America honors his final season • Was a second-team all-conference choice in 1959 • Was an All-ACC Tournament choice as both a junior and senior, scoring 21, 23, 11, 29 and 21 points in five tournament games over those two seasons • Was twice named to the All-Dixie Classic Team and was an all-tournament selection at the Kentucky Invitational during his senior year • Was effective around the boards tipping in missed shots, but also possessed a soft touch on jump shots from the corner and baseline • His son, Lee Jr., was a star linebacker on Tar Heel football teams that went to three bowl games from 1979 to 1981.

- First-team All-America in 1959-60
- The 1960 ACC Player of the Year

York Larese, a 6-4 guard from New York City, was one of the few players to be named All-ACC every year he was eligible, sweeping those honors in 1959, 1960 and 1961, the final three years of the league's tenure at Carolina • Was also named ACC Player of the Year • Named to the All-ACC Tournament All-Star team and the second team in 1959 • Was a great defender • Was everywhere on the court • Was especially good at leading the ACC in foul shooting • Was the last player to lead the ACC in foul shooting, which stood as the Carolina record until Steve Hale in 1985 • Had an unusual habit of holding the ball as quickly as an official had time to blow the whistle • Moe to give Carolina a solid one-two punch in the early 1960s • One of those seasons, the Tar Heels had a record-setting 33-1 line, forming a dangerous inside-outside line with Larese and a formidable show against Duke his junior year • Larese's 1960-61 attempts, which still stand as an ACC record for single-game free throws made • In talking about Larese, former Duke coach Vic Bubas said, "I can't ever remember a better shooter in the league."

Career rebounding average of 10.6 per contest • Only Billy Cunningham has a better career rebounding average at UNC • In reference to Moe, former NC State coach Everett Case said, "He's the best ... at anything ... that's all there is to it."

Moe Notes

- First-team All-America in 1960-61
- The 1988 NBA Coach of the Year

SENIOR SEASON (1960-61)

Doug Moe averaged 20.4 points and 14.0 rebounds in his final season • Cunningham is also the only Tar Heel to have a better season rebounding average • First-team All-ACC selection and a first-team All-America choice by the Basketball Writers • Selected second-team All-America by Sporting News and Associated Press.

JUNIOR SEASON (1959-60)

Averaged 16.8 points per game and 11.3 rebounds per game • Helped lead Carolina to a 18-6 overall record and 12-2 in the ACC and an ACC regular season title.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1958-59)

Named Sporting News second-team All-America • First-team All-ACC • Second-team All-ACC Tournament.

AFTER CAROLINA

Moe played in Italy for two years and twice was European Player of the Year • Also a three-time all-star in the ABA and a member of the 1968-69 ABA champion Oakland Oaks • A head coach in the professional ranks for 15 seasons with the San Antonio Spurs, Denver Nuggets and Philadelphia 76ers • Named NBA Coach of the Year with the Nuggets in 1988.

Dean Smith on Moe — "He had a great career. Doug had the entire game, defensively, rebounding. He led the ACC in rebounding even though he was 6-5 and couldn't dunk. A savvy player. He was a scorer more than a good shooter, although he became a good shooter in the pros."

Larry Brown, an outstanding guard in the early 1960s, was the first Carolina player to compete in the Olympic Games • A fine passer and ball-handler who could score when needed.

Brown Notes

- Member of the 1964 U.S. Olympic team
- Carolina assistant coach from 1965-67
- Inducted into the Naismith Hall of Fame in 2002

SENIOR SEASON (1962-63)

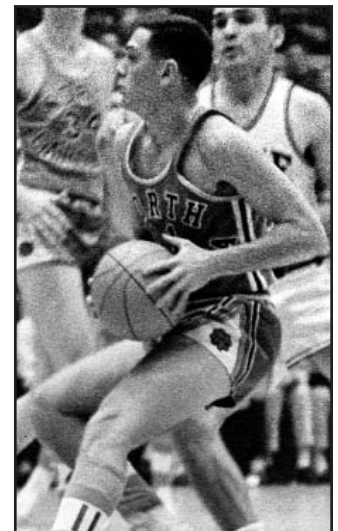

Sacrificed his own scoring numbers to distribute the ball to the future Hall of Famer Billy Cunningham • Brown was named All-ACC nonetheless • Senior class vice-president.

JUNIOR SEASON (1961-62)

In Dean Smith's first year as Carolina head coach, Brown led the squad in scoring with a 16.5 average • Made 101 of 127 free-throw attempts (79.5 percent).

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1960-61)

Averaged 4.5 points per game and 1.6 rebounds per contest • Shot 51.9 percent from the field and 73.5 percent from the free-throw line.

AFTER CAROLINA

He was a member of the 1964 U.S. Olympic Team that won the gold medal in Tokyo, Japan • Came off the bench in the gold medal game versus the Soviet Union and helped spark a comeback win • Later served as an assistant coach under Dean Smith for two seasons (1966-67) before becoming a player and three-time all-star in the ABA • Won an NCAA title in 1988 as the head coach at Kansas • Assistant coach on the 2000 U.S. Olympic Team • Led the Philadelphia 76ers to the NBA Finals and was named NBA Coach of the Year in 2001 • Inducted into the Naismith Hall of Fame in 2002.

Dean Smith on Brown — "What a great leader. He was a good athlete, fast. Had a big heart. He was always diving on the floor. He was a good foul shooter, even though he had a two-hand set shot from the line. He never saw a pass he didn't want to try. He was a good thinker and our leading scorer his junior year."

BILLY CUNNINGHAM

best players in ACC history in 2002.

SENIOR SEASON (1964-65)

He was on the U.S. Basketball Writers Association All-America team and on the Helms Foundation team • Named ACC Player of the Year in 1965 and tabbed as Carolina's Most Valuable Player • He was an All-Academic ACC pick • In 1965, the College Sports Information Directors of America also named him to their Academic All-America team • Averaged 25.4 points per game on 49.1 percent shooting from the field • Pulled down 14.3 boards per game • That is the third highest average in a season by a Carolina player • Cunningham scored an amazing 48 points against Tulane, which at the time was the most a UNC player had ever scored, and today still stands as the second-most ever scored in a game by a Tar Heel • His 21 field goals made in that game is the most ever made in one game by a Tar Heel • Also pulled down 25 rebounds in that incredible performance.

JUNIOR SEASON (1963-64)

Named first-team All-ACC Tournament despite the fact the Tar Heels didn't reach the finals • Led the ACC in scoring with 26.0 points per game • That scoring average is the fifth-best season scoring average in Carolina history • Averaged 15.8 rebounds per game, second-highest average all-time at UNC, behind only his sophomore season average • Had one of the great performances in Carolina basketball history against Maryland, when he scored 40 points and pulled down 28 boards, the second most rebounds in a game ever at UNC • A Look All-America selection by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association • Unanimous All-ACC selection • Selected by the team as Carolina's Most Valuable Player • Rebounded in double figures in 22 out of 24 games played • Had 38 points and 17 rebounds versus Virginia.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1962-63)

Averaged 22.7 points per game and 16.1 rebounds per game • That rebounding average is the highest ever in a single-season at UNC and fifth-best in ACC history • Had 27 rebounds versus Clemson, the third-most rebounds ever in a game by a Tar Heel • An All-District 3-D selection by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association • He showed off his rebounding prowess in the first game of his career against Georgia as he pulled down 15 boards • Followed that game up with a 18-rebound, 10-point performance versus Clemson • Scored a season-high 33 points to go along with 13 rebounds versus Maryland • Scored 27 points and grabbed 23 rebounds in a win over Virginia • Had 31 points and 16 rebounds at Duke in the final regular season game of the year.

AFTER CAROLINA

Cunningham was picked in the first round of the NBA draft in 1965 by the Philadelphia 76ers • Played 11 years of professional basketball, including two years in the ABA and nine years in the NBA • ABA Most Valuable Player in 1972-73 with the Carolina Cougars • Played on a world championship team with the 76ers in 1967 and then coached Philadelphia to the NBA title in 1983 • Has the second-highest career winning percentage of any coach in NBA history, behind only Phil Jackson • Averaged 23.1 points and 11.6 rebounds per game in his ABA career • Averaged 20.8 points and 10.1 rebounds per game in his NBA career.

Cunningham Notes

- Two-time All-America
- Won three straight ACC rebounding crowns
- Named one of the top 50 players in NBA history in 1997
- One of the best coaches in NBA history

Dean Smith on Cunningham — “One of the great jumpers. Sports Information Director Bob Quincy nicknamed him the Kangaroo Kid. He could jump from a spread. He was a great rebounder and scorer. He had to do so much for us. Billy really came to play. Didn't have a lot of talent around him.”

- A two-time All-America
- Scored 31 points vs. Boston College in the 1967 NCAA East Regional Final
- 49 points vs. Florida State is the UNC single-game record

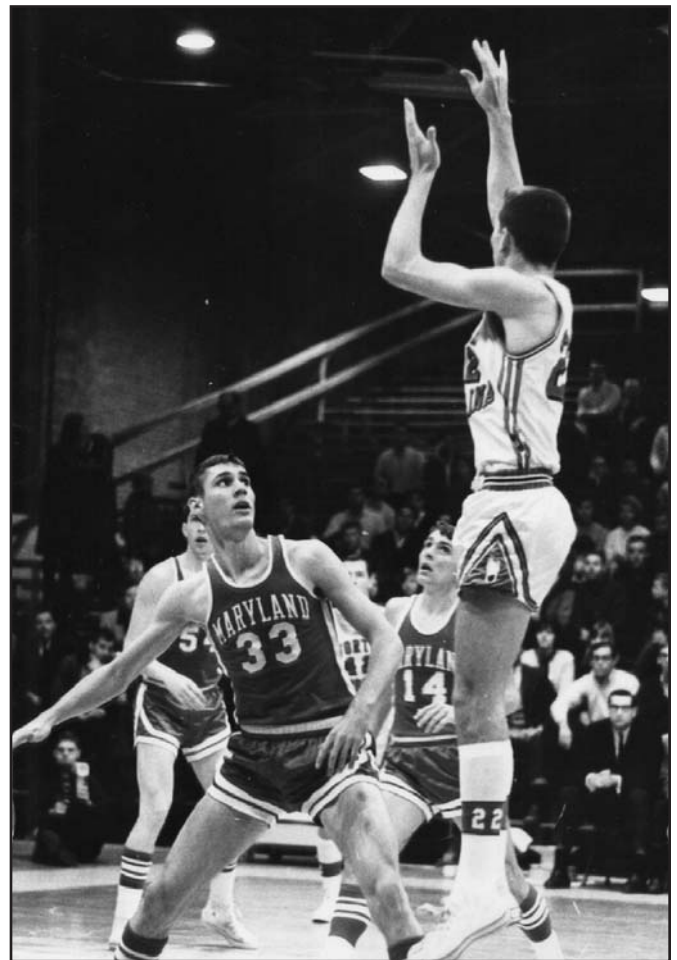

As a senior, Lewis moved to his natural guard position • His scoring suffered, but he was surrounded by better talent and the team had a stellar season • Lewis was joined by players such as Dick Grubar, Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting and the high-scoring Larry Miller • Lewis and Miller were called the “L&M” boys • Lewis’ senior year was the beginning of a golden era of Carolina basketball • The Tar Heels made the first of three consecutive NCAA Final Four trips and the first of three straight appearances in the top five of the final national polls that year • Lewis was the MVP of the 1967 East Regional after scoring 31 points against Boston College in the regional championship game • UNC finished the season with a 26-6 overall record and a 12-2 ACC mark • Lewis was an All-America selection by the Helms Foundation • Made the All-ACC Tournament team • First-team All-ACC selection • The Co-Most Valuable Player of the Tampa Invitational after Carolina routed both Columbia and Florida State.

With Billy Cunningham gone to graduation, Lewis was the go-to guy for UNC's scoring in 1966 • The 27.4 points per game he scored as junior marks the second-highest single-season scoring average in Tar Heel history • Led the ACC in scoring • Lewis scored 49 points versus Florida State on Dec. 16, 1965, the most points ever scored by a UNC player in a single game • Averaged 5.3 rebounds per game and shot 81.0 percent from the line • Selected as a Helms Foundation All-America and an Associated Press second-team All-America • Named first-team All-ACC.

Averaged 21.0 points per game and 8.0 rebounds per game • Formed a dynamic scoring duo with Billy Cunningham, and helped lead Carolina to a 15-9 overall record and a tie for second in the ACC regular season • Played mainly in the frontcourt despite his small stature.

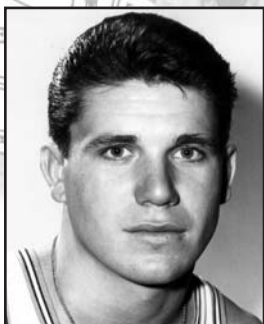

Played three seasons with San Francisco and one season with Cleveland in the NBA • Averaged 5.8 points per game for his career • Lewis has worked for the John F. Kennedy Center for Culture in Washington D.C.

Dean Smith on Lewis — “One of the great jumpers at 6-3, 175 pounds, He was in Billy Cunningham and Vince Carter’s class as a leaper. We moved him outside and he had a great senior year. He was a great scorer inside, but then he really worked on his shot. 1966 was the first year we went with the Four Corners and he could drive and score out of that. He had a big game against Boston College to send us to the Final Four in 1967.”

LARRY MILLER

Carolina reclaimed its basketball excellence in the late 1960s with the help of the talent and leadership of Larry Miller • Miller is one of only two players to win ACC Tournament MVP honors twice • He is the only Tar Heel and one of nine players to be named ACC Player of the Year twice • Scored in double figures a school-record 64 consecutive games and is still UNC's sixth-leading scorer and 12th-leading rebounder • In his Carolina career, he scored 21.8 points and pulled down 9.2 rebounds per outing • His rebounding statistics are even more impressive considering his 6-4 size • Nicknamed "The Catasauqua Kid" • Named one of the 50 best players in ACC history in 2002.

SENIOR SEASON (1967-68)

A first-team All-America and ACC Player of the Year • The McKeelin Award winner as the ACC Athlete of the Year • Miller was named to the NCAA All-East Regional team in 1968, and he was also on the all-tournament team at the 1968 Final Four • Averaged 22.4 points per game on 49.1 percent shooting from the field • Also collected 8.1 boards per game and shot 70.7 percent from the free-throw line • First-team Associated Press All-America, first-team Look All-America and first-team Helms Foundation All-America • Named to numerous other All-America teams • First-team All-ACC and ACC Tournament • Scored 31 points in the ACC Tournament first round versus Wake Forest • Scored 24 points in the semifinals against South Carolina and 21 points in an 87-50 rout of NC State in the title game • Won the Patterson Medal as the top all-around athlete at UNC • Led Carolina to a 28-4 record and a spot in the NCAA Championship Game • Carolina was also the ACC regular season champs and tournament champs in 1968 • The Most Valuable Player of the 1967 Far West Classic.

JUNIOR SEASON (1966-67)

Averaged 21.9 points per game and 9.3 rebounds per contest • He was first-team All-ACC Tournament and ACC Tourney Most Valuable Player • Associated Press first-team All-America, Look first-team All-America and Helms Foundation first-team All-America • All-ACC first-team choice and the ACC Athlete of the Year • He played one of the greatest games in ACC Tournament history in the finals, hitting 13 of 14 field goals and scoring 32 points in an 82-73 victory over Duke • Miller scored 31 points in the game before, in the semifinals versus Wake Forest • Displayed his clutch ability by stealing a pass in the last seconds and hitting the game-winner at Wake Forest • Won Most Valuable Player of the Tampa Invitational after UNC routed Columbia and Florida State • Played on the U.S. team at the 1967 World University Games

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1965-66)

Miller was named second-team All-ACC in 1966 • Averaged 20.9 points per game on 54.8 percent field goal shooting • Also averaged 10.3 rebounds and shot 67.9 percent from the foul line • Helped lead Carolina to a 16-11 overall record and a tie for third place in the ACC • Teamed with Bob Lewis to form the famed "L&M Boys," as both players averaged over 20 points a game.

AFTER CAROLINA

Miller, a left-handed shooter, displayed his deadly outside shooting touch in the professional ranks, playing for seven seasons in the ABA • In the 1971-72 season, he averaged 18.4 points per game for the Carolina Cougars, including one game in which he scored an ABA-record 67 points • Averaged 13.6 points per game in his ABA career.

BILL CHAMBERLAIN/DENNIS WUYCIK

#31

CHAMBERLAIN
Forward
New York, N.Y. (Lutheran)

One of a string of players from the New York City area to play basketball at UNC and the second black scholarship player in Carolina history, following Charles Scott • Known for his quickness and all-around game, Chamberlain finished his career among the Tar Heel leaders in career field goal percentage at 54.0 percent.

Chamberlain Notes

- Second-team All-America in 1971-72
- MVP of the 1971 NIT
- Helped lead UNC to the 1972 Final Four

SENIOR SEASON (1971-72)

Helped lead Carolina to a 26-5 record and an appearance in the NCAA Final Four • Second-team All-America • Averaged 10.9 points and 5.6 rebounds per game.

JUNIOR SEASON (1970-71)

Chamberlain was the Tar Heel hero as a junior when Carolina won the 1971 NIT title • When Dennis Wuycik went down with a knee injury in the tournament opener against Massachusetts, he picked up the slack • Hit 10 of 15 shots and scored 24 points versus the Minutemen, while holding the great Julius Erving to just 13 points • Chamberlain had a career-high 34 in the title game as Carolina routed Georgia Tech, 84-66 • Hit 13 of 18 shots from the field in the championship game while also grabbing 10 rebounds and the tournament MVP award.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1969-70)

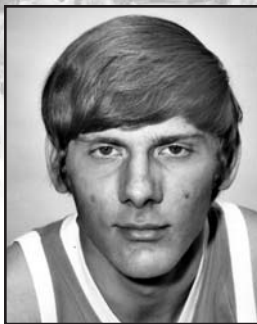

Averaged 11.5 points per game on 53.9 percent field goal shooting • Averaged 5.6 rebounds and had 24 assists for the year.

AFTER CAROLINA

Played two years of professional basketball, averaging 5.3 points for his career • Currently the head basketball coach and a teacher at the Laurinburg Institute in North Carolina.

Dean Smith on Chamberlain —

“Bill had three great years. He was MVP of the NIT, which was fun for his folks because it was in New York City in front of family. Bill could have gone pro after his junior year but decided to return to Carolina and helped us get back to the Final Four.”

DENNIS WUYCIK
Forward
Ambridge, Pa. (Ambridge)

One of the finest shooters ever to play at Carolina • A rugged forward with a great outside touch and powerful moves around the basket •

A bit undersized at 6-6 to play inside, his strength allowed him to muscle in shots against taller opponents • Fourth in Carolina history in free throw percentage at 83.4 percent and seventh in career field goal percentage at a 59.0 clip.

Wuycik Notes

- All-America in 1971-72
- Two-time All-ACC pick

SENIOR SEASON (1971-72)

Shot a conference-best 85.4 percent from the free throw line in 1972 as a senior • Led Carolina in scoring with 18.0 points per game, winning All-ACC honors • Named All-America by both the Helms Foundation and Basketball Weekly • Also an Academic All-America • Was tremendous in the 1972 ACC Tournament final, scoring 24 points versus Maryland as the Tar Heels won the title • Named ACC All-Tournament • MVP of the NCAA East Regional and scored 47 points in two games at the Final Four • Scored in double figures in 28 of 31 games.

JUNIOR SEASON (1970-71)

Averaged a team-high 18.4 points per game and led the Tar Heels to a 26-6 record and a ACC regular season title • His career scoring high came as a junior when he poured in 39 against Creighton • Led the ACC in field goal percentage with a mark of 60.7 percent • Named All-ACC and District III All-America.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1969-70)

Averaged 14.0 points per game and 7.5 rebounds per game • Shot 54.8 percent from the field and 75.0 percent from the line.

AFTER CAROLINA

Played three seasons in the ABA for Carolina and St. Louis, averaging 4.4 points per game.

Dean Smith on Wuycik — “Dennis was a key scorer on the 1972 team that I think was one of the best teams we ever had at Carolina. He was a very consistent scorer for us and very bright. He was an Academic All-America. He also had a very good team around him.”

ROBERT McADOO

Robert McAdoo was the only junior college transfer ever awarded a scholarship by Dean Smith • A Greensboro, N.C. native, he came to Carolina from Vincennes Junior College and immediately stepped into the starting lineup at center • He only played at Carolina one season, but he was a key performer on one of the best teams in school history.

JUNIOR SEASON (1971-72)

Selected as Helms All-America as well as District III All-America • Named NBA Coaches All-America and AP All-America • Helped Carolina to a 26-5 record in 1971-72 • The Tar Heels won the ACC regular-season and tournament titles and advanced to the NCAA Final Four • McAdoo was the leading scorer (19.5 points per game) and rebounder (10.1 boards per contest) on a well-balanced squad that featured five players who scored in double figures • An All-ACC selection and an all-tournament choice at the ACC Tournament • McAdoo was also the MVP of the ACC Tournament • All-Tournament selection at the NCAA East Regional and the Final Four • An excellent shooter for a big man, and his long-range scoring ability cleared out the lane for forwards Dennis Wuycik, Bill Chamberlain and Bobby Jones • Dished out 72 assists and shot 51.6 percent from the field on the year • Played in all 31 games UNC played • In his first game as a Tar Heel, McAdoo hit eight of 10 field goals for 17 points against Rice • In his very next game McAdoo exploded for 27 points and nine rebounds against Pittsburgh • Made the all-tournament teams at the Big Four Tournament and the Sugar Bowl Classic • In a loss to Princeton, he had 20 points and a career-high 18 rebounds • McAdoo set his career-high in points against NC State as he poured in 31 points on 14 of 20 shooting, leading Carolina to a 101-78 win • Other great performances by McAdoo include a 28 point, 17 rebound performance at Clemson and a 28 point, 14 rebound game against Harvard • He saved his best for last though as he shined in the NCAA Tournament • In the Final Four, he collected 24 points and 15 rebounds versus Florida State and then came back to score 30 points and grab 19 rebounds in a win over Louisville • McAdoo had such a tremendous season, Smith suggested he become the first UNC player to enter the draft with college eligibility remaining.

AFTER CAROLINA

McAdoo was the NBA Rookie of the Year for the Buffalo Braves in 1973 and the league's MVP in 1975 • A five-time all-star as a pro, he was a member of the Los Angeles Lakers during the world championship seasons of 1982 and 1985 • Averaged 22.1 points per game and 9.4 rebounds per game during his regular-season NBA career • Averaged 18.3 points and 7.6 rebounds per game in 94 career playoff appearances • Is currently an assistant coach with the Miami Heat • In 2000, he was elected to the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

Dean Smith on McAdoo — “Still as loyal as anybody. I knew he was good; I scouted him for the Pan Am trials. But I didn't know he was going to be as good as he was. He could score and rebound. Robert had a great, great career. It still bugs me that he wasn't one of the NBA Top 50. He's the only Most Valuable Player not to make that team.”

BOBBY JONES

One of the most complete players in ACC history, Bobby Jones excelled at all areas of the game • He handled the ball well for a big man, passed the ball beautifully, hit the boards, shot well and played great defense • He led the ACC in field goal percentage three times and stands fourth in UNC history in career field goal percentage at 60.8 percent • He averaged 13.7 points per game and 8.9 rebounds per contest for his career • Named one of the 50 best players in ACC history in 2002.

SENIOR SEASON (1973-74)

As a senior in 1974, Jones provided two of the most famous moments in Tar Heel history • In a game at Duke, he stole a Blue Devil inbound pass and dribbled the length of the floor for a layup at the buzzer to give Carolina a 73-71 victory • In the rematch at Carmichael Auditorium, Jones scored four points and had a steal in an amazing Tar Heel rally from eight points down with 17 seconds left in regulation • He scored 24 points in the game and UNC won in overtime, 96-92 • Earned All-America honors • Averaged 16.1 points and 9.8 rebounds per game • Also had 80 assists and shot 58.0 percent from the field • Had a huge game against Miami (Ohio), as he collected 29 points, seven rebounds, two assists and shot 14 of 18 from the field • Collected 25 points and 14 rebounds against Clemson, and against Kentucky he had 21 points and 12 rebounds.

JUNIOR SEASON (1972-73)

Jones posted a great all-around season, averaging 15.0 points, 10.5 rebounds and 4.0 assists per game • He led the ACC in field goal percentage at a 60.1 percent clip • Had 21 rebounds at home against Duke, to go along with 14 points and three assists • Scored 25 points and had 12 rebounds against Pittsburgh • Collected 18 points and 17 rebounds against Nebraska • Named to the All-Tournament team at the Big Four Tournament and the Rainbow Classic • Jones had a fabulous NIT performance as he was named to the All-NIT Tournament team • At that tournament he had 19 points and 15 rebounds against Oral Roberts and collected 22 points and 10 rebounds versus Notre Dame.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1971-72)

As a sophomore, he rotated in and out of the lineup with Dennis Wuycik and Bill Chamberlain, averaging 10.2 points per game and hitting 66.8 of his field goals, then the ACC single-season record • Also averaged 6.3 rebounds per game and dished out 75 assists • In his first game as a Tar Heel on the varsity squad, Jones recorded a double-double against Rice, scoring 16 points and getting 11 rebounds • Had a big game versus Wake Forest, collecting 20 points and 12 rebounds • His best game of the season, may have come against Harvard, when he scored 16 points and brought down 14 rebounds • Jones earned a position on the 1972 Olympic Team right after his sophomore season.

AFTER CAROLINA

Named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team eight straight years, • Won the NBA's first-ever Sixth Man Award and was a member of the world champion Philadelphia 76ers in 1983 • NBA averages were 11.5 points and 5.5 rebounds • In the ABA Jones averaged 14.9 points and 8.9 rebounds per game • Finalist for the Basketball Hall of Fame in 2001 and '02.

Dean Smith on Jones —

“Bobby was a remarkable athlete who did it on offense and defense. He had great shot selection. He worked hard on his defense. He went through the same defensive drills as our little guys. I could put him on David Thompson if he was killing us and Bobby would stop him. Then I would have to put him on Tom Burleson and Bobby would stop Tom. Of course, then the other guy he wasn't guarding would kill us.”

MITCH KUPCHAK

He is fifth in UNC history in career rebounds with 1,006 • Kupchak played the game as hard as anyone • He dove for loose balls with abandon despite persistent back pain • Is also eighth in career field goal percentage at 58.6 percent.

SENIOR SEASON (1975-76)

ACC Player of the Year after averaging 17.6 points per game and 11.3 rebounds per game • Led UNC to a 25-4 record • All-America selection • Selected as the team's Most Valuable Player and Outstanding Senior • Named both All-ACC and All-ACC Tournament team • Selected Converse All-America, Basketball Coaches All-America, AP All-America second-team and United Press All-America second-team • Shot 57.6 percent from the field and 74.7 percent from the free-throw line • Starting center on the 1976 U.S. Olympic Team, joining fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Tommy LaGarde on the squad coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and assistant Bill Guthridge • The team won the Gold Medal in Montreal • Gained recognition on UPI's All-Olympic Team as one of the five best players in the Games.

JUNIOR SEASON (1974-75)

Kupchak averaged double figures in both points and rebounds in 1975 • Averaged 18.5 points per game and 10.8 rebounds per game • No Tar Heel player had posted a double-figure rebounding average after Kupchak until Antawn Jamison did in 1997-98 • Averaged a team-high 60.2 percent from the field • That percentage was good enough for eighth in the nation • Selected to the Helms All-America team and All-Eastern Regional team • Fourth in the ACC in scoring and third in rebounding • Scored a career-high 36 points against Boston College in the last game of the season • Had 31 points and 10 rebounds in win over Houston • Made 12 of 13 field goals and scored 27 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to lead UNC to a win over Virginia • He underwent surgery between his junior and senior seasons, forcing him to miss the 1975 Pan Am Games • Dean's List student.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1973-74)

Kupchak was an alternate starter this season • Averaged 10.7 points per game and 7.1 rebounds per game • Shot 56.2 percent from the field • Scored 20 points in win at Virginia • Helped lead Carolina to a 22-6 overall record • Made the Dean's List as well that year • Played on the World University team in the summer of 1973.

FRESHMAN SEASON (1972-73)

Kupchak was the first freshman to play basketball at Carolina after the freshman eligibility rule went into effect prior to the 1972-73 season • He was a top reserve that year, averaging 7.7 points per game and 5.0 rebounds per game • Shot 60.4 percent from the floor • Scored 24 points against Wake Forest • Came off the bench against Louisville in the Rainbow Classic to score 16 points and spark UNC to victory • Scored in double figures on nine occasions • Pulled down 165 rebounds and dished out 34 assists • Made Dean's List.

AFTER CAROLINA

Kupchak went on to a successful professional career, playing on three NBA championship teams with the Washington Bullets and Los Angeles Lakers • Career NBA averages were 10.2 points per game and 5.4 rebounds per game, along with a 52.3 percent field goal percentage • He has worked in the Lakers' front office since the 1986-87 season, helping to put together Laker teams that won world titles in 1987, 1988, 2000, 2001 and 2002 • In August 2000, he took over leadership of the Laker

TOMMY LaGARDE

He is 10th in Carolina history in career field goal percentage at 58.3 percent • Is one of 53 Carolina players to score over 1,000 points in his career • Averaged 9.9 points per game and 5.3 rebounds per game in his UNC career • An excellent student, LaGarde was a two-time Academic All-America, Dean's List student and Rhodes Scholar candidate.

SENIOR SEASON (1976-77)

One of the biggest "what ifs" in Carolina basketball history surrounds Tommy LaGarde. The Tar Heels were perhaps the hottest team in the nation midway through the 1976-77 season when LaGarde tore ligaments in his knee against Maryland and missed the remainder of the season • Carolina still reached the NCAA finals, but without LaGarde and with Phil Ford and Walter Davis hampered by injuries, the Tar Heels could not defeat Marquette in the championship game • Despite missing over a third of the season, LaGarde was still named second-team All-ACC and Sporting News second-team All-America after averaging 15.1 points and 7.4 rebounds and hitting 59.3 percent of his field goals before the injury. • He also used his quickness and 6-10 size to form an imposing presence in the Tar Heel defense • Averaged 78.2 percent shooting from the free-throw line • Had an outstanding performance in the Big Four Tournament, making the All-Tournament team • Made the All-Tournament team at the Far West Classic.

JUNIOR SEASON (1975-76)

La Garde led the ACC in field goal percentage at 61.2 percent and was second in free throw percentage with an 80.9 mark • Averaged 14.4 points per game and 7.6 rebounds per game • LaGarde joined fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Mitch Kupchak on the gold-medal-winning 1976 U.S. Olympic team coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and Carolina assistant Bill Guthridge. Started every game of the season • Helped lead Carolina to a 25-4 record overall and a 12-2 record in ACC play • Collected 221 rebounds, 24 assists, 15 blocks and 26 steals • Scored in double figures 23 times • Opened up the season with a 20-point, nine-rebound performance in a win over Howard • Scored 24 points in a narrow victory over South Florida • In that game he hit all eight of his free throws and went 10 for 12 from the field along with 15 rebounds • Scored 22 points and grabbed 11 rebounds against Alabama in the final game of the season.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1974-75)

Starter for most of the season • Averaged 7.7 points per game and 4.6 rebounds per game • Played on the U.S. Continental Cup Team in the summer of 1975 as well as the U.S. Pan-Am Team • Hit 52.9 percent of his shots from the field • Scored 18 points against Howard University • had 16 points and four assists in Carolina's win at Maryland • Scored 17 points in a losing cause at NC State and hit 13 of 18 field goals in the two games against the Wolfpack • Collected 16 points and 11 rebounds versus East Tennessee State • Had 12 points and 10 rebounds against Kentucky • Had 12 points and seven rebounds in the second round of the NCAA Tournament versus Syracuse.

Appeared in 22 of 28 games as he got limited playing time in a crowded frontcourt • Had 34 rebounds, an impressive statistic, considering the lack of playing time • Hit 55.6 percent of his shots from the field • Had season-high 12 points to go along with seven rebounds against Florida State •

Dean Smith on Ford — "What can you say? He's one of the best point guards ever to play college basketball. He had such great heart. His freshman year we ran the mile and he dove across the finish line on a cinder track and scraped himself all up. I looked at Eddie Fogler and said 'We got one here.' He could score, he could pass, he loved to come down on the break and shoot jump shots, then come down the next time, pull up and hit a cutter."

MICHAEL JORDAN

Arguably the greatest player in the history of professional sports • Jordan's career averages at Carolina were 17.7 points per game and 5.0 rebounds per contest from his big guard position • Named one of the 50 best players in ACC history in 2002.

JUNIOR SEASON (1983-84)

In 1984, Jordan led the ACC in scoring with 19.4 points per game and was subsequently named ACC Player and Athlete of the Year • Unanimous selection for National Player of the Year and first-team All-America • Named the team's Most Outstanding Defensive Player and was UNC's Co-MVP along with Sam Perkins • Averaged 5.3 rebounds per outing and shot 77.9 percent from the free throw line, and 55.1 percent shooting from the field • Averaged 22.7 points over the last 12 games • Also had 64 assists and 50 steals on the season • Was a USBWA District All-American as well as being selected to the NABC District All-America Team • First-team All-ACC and Second-team All-ACC Tournament • Led UNC to a 28-3 record overall and 14-0 in the ACC • Carolina started off the season 21-0 • Scored 28 points in the second game of the season versus UT Chattanooga • Recorded 18 points and 12 rebounds at NC State • Scored a season-high 32 points at home in the second game against the Wolfpack • Jordan's best game of the season may have come against LSU, where he poured in 29 points on 12 for 18 shooting from the field and hauled down 11 boards • Scored 21 points and 12 rebounds at Maryland • Against Duke in his final home game, he scored 25 points and had four rebounds and three assists • Led the U.S. Olympic team to a Gold Medal in the summer of 1984, as he was the team's leading scorer.

Jordan was famous at Carolina for providing late-game heroics that engineered Tar Heel victories • Besides the NCAA title game heroics, he led a momentous comeback against Virginia in 1983, clinching the game with a last-minute steal and dunk • Virginia was up by 10 with four minutes left to play, and Jordan led Carolina to the comeback win as UNC scored the last 11 points of the game • Jordan hit a basket to put Carolina within one, with one minute left, and then got the steal and dunk to win the game • As a sophomore, he also sent a game versus Tulane into overtime with a steal and a long jumper at the end of regulation as UNC went on to win in triple overtime • Named National Player of the Year by the Sporting News • Selected first-team All-ACC • Averaged 20.0 points per game and 5.5 rebounds per game • Shot 53.5 percent from the field • Dished out 56 assists and had 78 steals on the season • His 721 points is the fifth most ever scored in one season at Carolina • Selected to the USBWA All-America team as well as the NABC District All-America team • Made the All-Tournament team at the Rainbow Classic after collecting 22 points and eight rebounds against Oklahoma and then following that up with a 19-point performance versus Missouri • Scored a career-high 39 points on 11 for 16 shooting from the field against Georgia Tech • Beat Duke at Carmichael Auditorium, scoring 32 points on 13 for 19 shooting in the 103-82 Carolina win • The next game against Duke, Jordan equaled his 32-point output, and led UNC to another blowout win over Duke, this time at Cameron Indoor Stadium • Named by the team as Carolina's Co-MVP for the season • Led Carolina to a 28-8 overall record • Was the leading scorer on the 1983 U.S. Pan American Games team, which won the gold medal in the summer.

shooting from the field and collecting five rebounds, three assists and four steals • Had a great game at Santa Clara, recording 21 points and 10 rebounds • Had 21 points, six rebounds and five assists versus Furman • In the first round of the ACC Tournament, Jordan displayed his great postseason play, by scoring 18 points on eight for 13 shooting from the floor against Georgia Tech.

AFTER CAROLINA

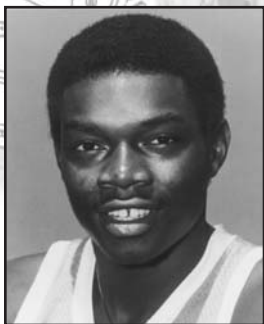

Jordan passed up his final year of eligibility after consulting with Coach Smith and entered the NBA draft, where he was chosen third by the Chicago Bulls • Went on to become a bonafide superstar in the pro ranks, being named the league's Rookie of the Year in 1985 and its Most Valuable Player in 1988, 1991, 1992, 1996 and 1998 • Led the Bulls to their first-ever NBA title in 1991 and then helped them successfully defend that title in 1992 by beating the Portland Trail Blazers • In the summer of 1992, Jordan was a member of the Olympic "Dream Team," a group of NBA all-stars who captured the gold medal in Barcelona • Jordan was named the Most Valuable Player of the NBA Finals three years in a row and led the Bulls to their third consecutive world championship in 1993 over the Phoenix Suns • No team since the Boston Celtics of 1959-66 had won as many championships in a row • His sudden retirement from the professional ranks in the fall of 1993, subsequent career in professional baseball and return to the NBA caused almost as much of a sensation as his on-court heroics • Returned to the Bulls late in the 1994-95 season and led Chicago to three straight NBA titles before retiring prior to the 1998-99 campaign • In 1997-98, his final season, he led Chicago to its sixth NBA title while capturing the NBA Finals MVP Award for the sixth time • Averaged 31.5 points per game in his NBA career, the best average ever • Holds the record for most consecutive games scoring in double figures, with 840 in a row • Won NBA-record 10 scoring titles • Named in 2000 by ESPN as the greatest athlete of the century • Announced his return to the NBA on Sept. 25, 2001, as a member of the Washington Wizards.

Dean Smith on Jordan — “Michael improved every year as a player, right up to his second NBA retirement. He started his freshman year because of his defense. We started him against Kansas his first game because we wanted to send a message to the team about the importance of defense. He had quickness, and he grew a lot in college. He matured physically in college, but he worked at his game. The night we lost to Georgia in the 1983 NAAs, he came home and was in the gym. He was sure a great competitor, something he has always shown.”

SAM PERKINS

One of the greatest players ever to wear a Carolina uniform, Sam Perkins excelled as a 6-9 center/forward who played like a seven-footer, with the help of his incredibly long reach (his number, 41, was said to be equal to his sleeve length) • Carolina's alltime leading rebounder and its second-leading scorer • One of only four Tar Heels to be a first-team All-America three times, the others being Jack Cobb, Phil Ford, and Mike O'Koren • Perkins was also a star on the defensive end, holding the UNC record for career blocked shots until it was eclipsed by Brendan Haywood in 2001 • Named one of the 50 best players in ACC history in 2002.

SENIOR SEASON (1983-84)

A consensus All-America and National Player of the Year finalist, Perkins averaged 17.6 points and 9.6 rebounds while shooting 58.9 percent from the floor and 85.6 percent from the charity stripe • Named first-team All-ACC for the third consecutive season • Named MVP of the Stanford Invitational and the ECAC Holiday Festival, while helping lead the Tar Heels to an undefeated ACC regular season, a 28-3 record, and the No. 1 final ranking in the AP and UPI polls • Perkins lit up Virginia's University Hall for 27 points and 11 rebound in a Tar Heel victory, and posted 26 points and 12 rebounds in a win over No. 5 Maryland in College Park • Joined teammate Michael Jordan on the 1984 United States Olympic Team, winning a gold medal at the Los Angeles games.

JUNIOR SEASON (1982-83)

Perkins averaged 16.9 points and 9.4 rebounds and was a first team All-America and All-ACC • Posted a career scoring high of 36 points in a 101-95 victory over Ralph Sampson's Virginia Cavaliers in Charlottesville, and helped carry the Tar Heels to their second straight first-place finish in the ACC regular season race • Carolina reached the regional finals of the NCAA Tournament for the third consecutive season before being upset by the Georgia Bulldogs • Perkins played with the gold-medal-winning U.S. Team at the 1983 Pan-American games.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1981-82)

Perkins capped his first All-America season by helping Carolina to the 1982 NCAA Championship, averaging 14.3 points per game and 7.8 rebounds on a Tar Heel squad that began and finished the season ranked No. 1 in the nation • Was first team All-ACC • Named to the All-Tournament teams at the NCAA East Regional and Final Four, notching 25 points and 10 rebounds in a matchup with Houston's Hakeem Olajuwon in the semifinals • The Tar Heels won their second consecutive ACC Tournament championship and won the ACC regular season crown with a 12-2 record.

FRESHMAN SEASON (1980-81)

Perkins was the ACC Rookie of the Year and MVP of the 1981 ACC Tournament • Averaged 14.9 points and 7.8 rebounds on a team that reached the NCAA Finals and won the ACC Championship • Was named to the NCAA West Regional All-Tournament team • Came to Carolina as a McDonald's High School All-America, after having played only two full seasons of organized high school basketball.

AFTER CAROLINA

Drafted fourth overall by the Dallas Mavericks in 1984, Perkins was named to the NBA All-Rookie team in 1984-85 • Led Dallas to the playoffs in five of his six seasons as a Maverick, including the Western Conference Finals in 1987-88 • Perkins helped guide three teams to the NBA Finals: the Los Angeles Lakers (1991), Seattle (1996) and Indiana (2000) • Played 17 years in the NBA.

Perkins Notes

- Three-time first-team All-America
- Helped lead Carolina to the 1982 NCAA championship
- Leading rebounder and second-leading scorer in Carolina history

Dean Smith on Perkins — “A special guy. Just a consistent player from day one. I don't know anyone you could count on to be as consistent as Sam was day in and day out. He never had a bad shooting day or a bad rebounding day. He just went about doing his job. He was just as happy for others to score, and he was genuinely happy Michael was Player of the Year over him.”

BRAD DAUGHERTY

Brad Daugherty came to Carolina as a 16-year-old freshman with a big body and soft shooting touch and left four years later as one of the best players in Tar Heel history • He finished his career as UNC's all-time leader in career field goal percentage at .620, a record since broken by Rasheed Wallace and Brendan Haywood • Daugherty is the eighth-leading scorer and sixth-leading rebounder in Carolina annals and was known for his solid post moves and tremendous work ethic • UNC went 111-26 overall during his four years in Chapel Hill • Named one of the 50 best players in ACC history in 2002.

SENIOR SEASON (1985-86)

First-team All-America • Averaged 20.4 points per game and 9.0 rebounds per game • Made 64.8 percent of his field goals • Just the second player in ACC history to average 20 points and still shoot over 60 percent from the field • Had 35 steals and blocked 36 shots • Finalist for the John Wooden Award as the National Player of the Year • All-ACC for the second straight season and led the conference in scoring and rebounding • Scored in double figures 32 of the 34 games he played in • Went 13 for 13 from the floor in the season opener against UCLA, tying the NCAA record at the time for best shooting performance • Won the Patterson Medal, the highest athletic award given at UNC • Collected 33 points and 11 rebounds against Fordham • Followed that performance up the next game with a 31-point, 14-rebound game versus Wake Forest • Had 24 points and 16 rebounds in the final regular season game of the season against Duke • Scored 27 points on 12 for 14 shooting in the first round of the NCAA Tournament versus Utah.

JUNIOR SEASON (1984-85)

Led the team and the ACC in rebounding with 9.7 rebounds per game • Averaged 17.3 points per game with a field goal percentage of 62.5 percent • Also had 45 blocks and 28 steals • Ranked in the ACC top ten in scoring, rebounding, field goal percentage and free throw shooting • Had 23 points and 12 rebounds to lead Carolina to a 78-68 win at Duke • Won all-tournament team honors at the ACC Tournament • Selected NCAA sub-regional all-tournament team as well as the NCAA Southeast Regional all-tournament team • MVP of the sub-regional for his play against Notre Dame and Middle Tennessee State • Named to the U.S. Basketball Writer's District All-America team • First-team All-ACC and selected by the team as UNC's Most Valuable Player.

Averaged 10.5 points per game and 5.6 rebounds per game • Named to the all-tournament team at the Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden, after he scored 22 points and grabbed eight rebounds against Iona • Also had 29 blocks, 19 steals and 43 assists on the year • Shot an amazing 61.0 percent from the field • Helped lead Carolina to a 28-3 record, a 14-0 ACC record and an ACC regular season title • Played on U.S.A. all-star team at the Jones Cup Tournament in Taiwan in the summer of 1984.

FRESHMAN SEASON (1982-83)

Named second-team freshman All-America by Basketball Weekly • Averaged 8.2 points and 5.1 rebounds as well as hitting 55.8 percent of his shots from the field • Saw action in 35 of 36 games played that season • Was a reserve at the beginning of the season before moving into the starting lineup in the 11th game of the sea-

AFTER CAROLINA

Daugherty was the first pick overall in the 1986 NBA draft, selected by the Cleveland Cavaliers

- For his NBA career, he averaged 19.0 points and 9.5 rebounds per game,
- Five-time All-Star • In 1997, the Cavaliers retired his jersey • Was inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 2001.

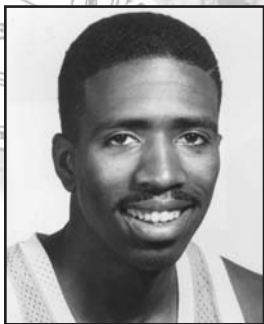

Dean Smith on Daugherty — “He’s a great passer in addition to his scoring. Brad had great hands, which to me means the ball stays in his hands when it touches him. He had excellent shooting touch. When he was 14 years old he was manager of his high school team and came here at age 16. I’d say he made a lot of progress.”

SENIOR SEASON (1986-87)

Unanimous first-team All-America and named National Player of the Year by Basketball Times • Averaged 16.9 points per game and 6.1 assists per game • Won the Patterson Medal, the highest athletic award at Carolina, as the top senior athlete on campus • Finished fourth in the Wooden Award voting • First-team All-ACC • Led Carolina in points and assists • Helped Carolina go undefeated in the ACC with a 14-0 mark • UNC finished the year with a 32-4 record and advanced to the great eight in the NCAA Tournament • Smith’s best game came in a thrilling 108-99 victory over Clemson • He scored a career-high 41 points to lead UNC to a comeback win.

JUNIOR SEASON (1985-86)

Named to the U.S. Basketball Writer’s District III All-America squad for the second time • Averaged 12.0 points per game and 6.2 assists per game as well as getting 52 steals • Ranked fifth in the ACC in assists and 15th in scoring • Named to the all-tournament team at the Great Alaska Shootout after great performances against Missouri, Purdue and UNLV • His game-high 23 points against the Soviet Union in the championship game of the FIBA World Championships propelled the U.S. team to a gold medal-clinching victory in 1986.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1984-85)

Smith’s 235 assists broke Phil Ford’s single-season assist record at the time • Averaged 12.6 points per game and had a free-throw percentage of 86.0 percent • Had 13 assists in a game against SMU, The Citadel and Oral Roberts • Hit a crucial jump shot with 17 seconds left in a come-from-behind win over Maryland • Averaged 16.7 points per game in the ACC Tournament on 17 of 28 shooting from the floor • Won All-ACC Tournament honors for his performance • Also won all-tournament honors at the southeast regional after an incredible performance against Notre Dame • With the score tied 58-58 late in the game, Smith surged for a breakaway dunk after a Notre Dame turnover and then immediately stole the inbound pass to secure the win.

FRESHMAN SEASON (1983-84)

An immediate starter at point guard as he became one of the few Carolina freshmen to start in his first game • Led UNC to a 17-0 record to start the season before injuring his wrist, forcing him to miss eight games • Averaged 9.1 points per game and 5.0 assists per game • Was second in the ACC in assists per game • Best game came against rival NC State when he scored 18 points on nine of 14 shooting and also dished out a season-high nine assists • Also had nine assist games against LSU and Syracuse • Shot 51.9 percent from the floor and 80.0 percent from the foul line.

J.R. Reid came to Carolina as one of the most heralded high school stars in the nation and lived up to his advance billing • He is fifth in career field goal percentage at UNC, with a 60.1 mark, was the ACC Rookie of the Year in 1987, and in his junior season led the Tar Heels to the ACC Tournament Championship, their first in seven years

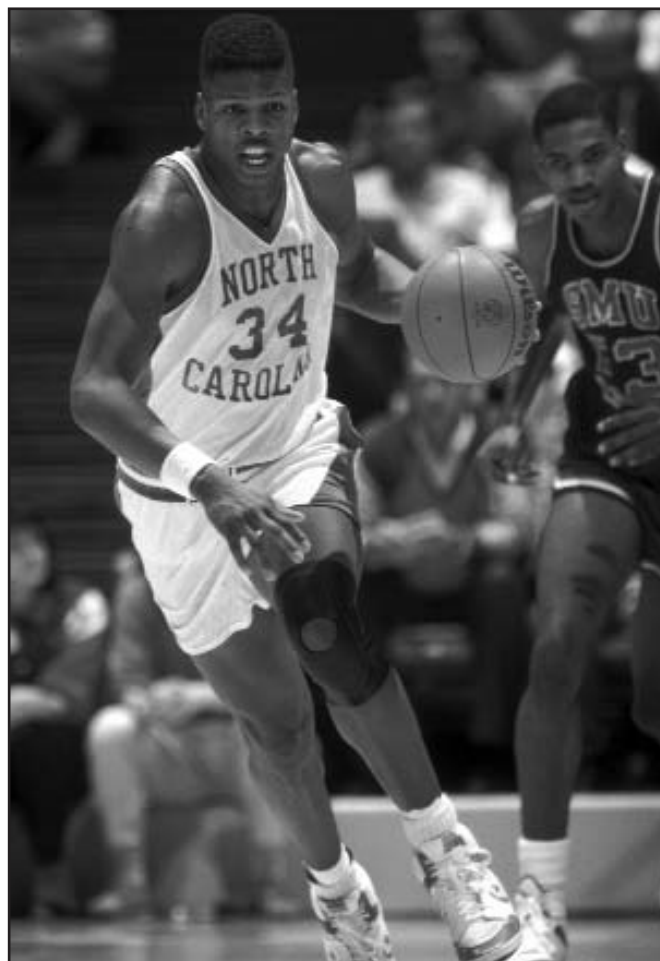

Reid missed the first nine games of his junior year with a foot injury, but still had an outstanding season • While his numbers weren't as high as during his sophomore season, he became a better all-around player • Was the MVP of the 1989 ACC Tournament, scoring 48 points and playing sensational defense over the three games as Carolina won its first conference title since 1982 • Reid's defense was essential to the Tar Heel effort in a heated win over Duke in the final • Scored his season high of 26 against eventual NCAA champion Michigan in the Southeast Regional • Named to the NCAA Tournament all-regional team for the third consecutive year.

Reid was a consensus All-America in 1988, the fifth UNC sophomore so honored • Averaged 18.0 points and 8.9 rebounds, while shooting 60.7 percent from the field • Selected to the U.S. Olympic Team for the 1988 games in Seoul, South Korea • Helped lead the Tar Heels to a first-place finish in the ACC regular season, the NCAA Final Eight, and a final national ranking of seventh in the AP poll.

The 1987 ACC Rookie of the Year, Reid scored 528 points and snared 268 rebounds while helping the Tar Heels to an undefeated ACC regular season and the finals of the NCAA East Regional • Reid twice scored 31 points in a game that season, hitting 13 of 14 field goals against N.C. State and going 15 of 18 from the floor in the NCAA Tournament versus Notre Dame • During one stretch of the year, he hit 35 of 40 field goal attempts • Was featured on the cover of Sports Illustrated with a dunk against Wake Forest.

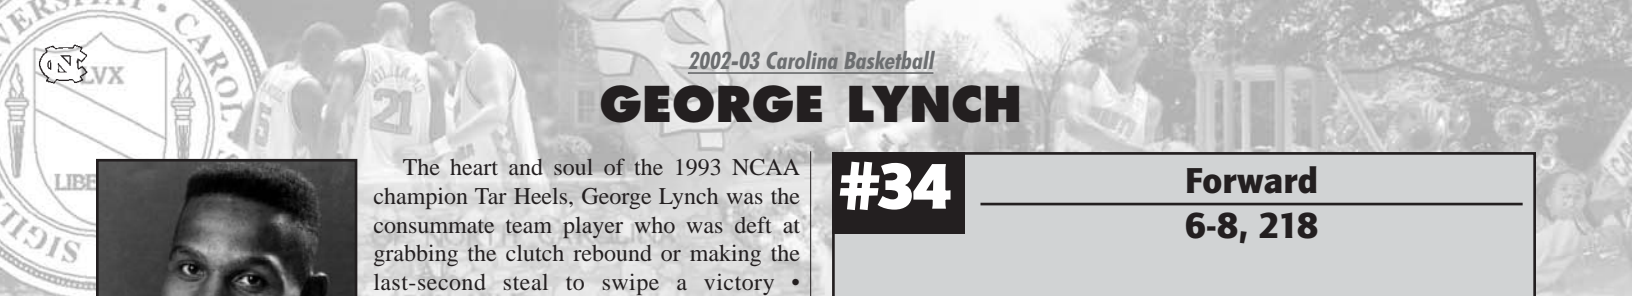

Reid became the fourth Carolina player to enter the NBA draft with college eligibility remaining • Was the fifth pick overall of the 1989 NBA draft, going to the Charlotte Hornets • Currently playing professionally in Europe after a lengthy career in the NBA.

Dean Smith on Reid — “J.R. had a consistent three years. He could score and was a very quick rebounder. He was really strong. He was so tough in the 1989 ACC Tournament against Duke. He got a lot of attention as a freshman, but he learned to handle it well.”

GEORGE LYNCH

The heart and soul of the 1993 NCAA champion Tar Heels, George Lynch was the consummate team player who was deft at grabbing the clutch rebound or making the last-second steal to swipe a victory • Finished his career as one of only two players in ACC history at that point to compile 1,500 points, 1,000 rebounds, 200 steals and 200 assists in his career • Ranks second in Carolina history in both rebounds and steals • Never missed a game in his UNC career.

SENIOR SEASON (1992-93)

Lynch's leadership and all-around game led his teammates to vote him the squad's most valuable player after the championship season • Lynch capped his career with a spectacular 1993 NCAA Tournament performance • Recorded double figures in both points and rebounds in each of Carolina's last four games during the title run, averaging 17.5 points and 11.0 rebounds in the wins over Arkansas, Cincinnati, Kansas and Michigan • Named the Most Outstanding Player of the 1993 NCAA East Regional and a member of the NCAA Final Four All-Tournament team • Lynch led UNC to the NCAA Title, scoring 12 points and grabbing 10 rebounds in the championship game against Michigan • Lynch made several key plays down the stretch to help Carolina to victory • Named first-team All-ACC for the first time in his career • Had 17 double-doubles and missed a double-double in five other games by just one rebound • One of the finest single games in Lynch's career came in the comeback win over Florida State in the Smith Center on January 27, 1993 • Hit a three-pointer to ignite a comeback from a 19-point deficit with under nine minutes to play • Lynch then stole a cross-court pass and dunked for a 78-77 advantage with 1:41 left, UNC's first lead since the opening moments of the game • Finished the game with 14 points, 10 rebounds and seven steals • MVP of the Diet Pepsi Tournament of Champions after collecting 18 points and 11 rebounds versus South Carolina, and then 17 points and seven boards in the championship game against Texas • Led Carolina in rebounds in 29 games and in scoring 11 times.

JUNIOR SEASON (1991-92)

Named to the All-ACC third team and led the Tar Heels in rebounding with 8.8 boards a game • Second on the team in scoring, averaging 13.9 points per game • Led Carolina to a 23-10 record and another NCAA sweet sixteen appearance • In the first round game against Miami (Ohio), Lynch made the game saving steal with 30 seconds left to play to seal the victory for UNC • Lynch made the ACC All-Tournament team after averaging 18.7 points per game and 8.7 rebounds per game • Scored in double figures in 26 of the 33 games and had 11 double-doubles • Scored a career-high 26 points on 11 for 13 shooting in a win at Wake Forest • Hauled down 14 rebounds against Seton Hall • Scored 20 points in the second half of a comeback win over Jacksonville • Won the Foy Roberson Award for being Carolina's most inspirational player • Also earned the squad's overall statistical leader honors • Collected 86 assists, 66 steals and 10 blocks on the season.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1990-91)

Led Carolina in rebounding average with 7.4 cars a game • Eighth in the ACC in rebounding • Averaged 12.5 points per game and shot 52.3 percent from the field • Named to the all-tournament teams at both the Diet Pepsi Tournament of Champions and the Red Lobster Classic • Helped UNC reach the Final Four, as he shot 62.2 percent in Carolina's five NCAA

FRESHMAN SEASON (1989-90)

Won the Butch Bennett Award as the team's most inspirational freshman player • Scored in double figures 12 times and led the team in rebounding in six games • Shot 52.1 percent from the floor and collected 34 assists, 37 steals and 14 blocks.

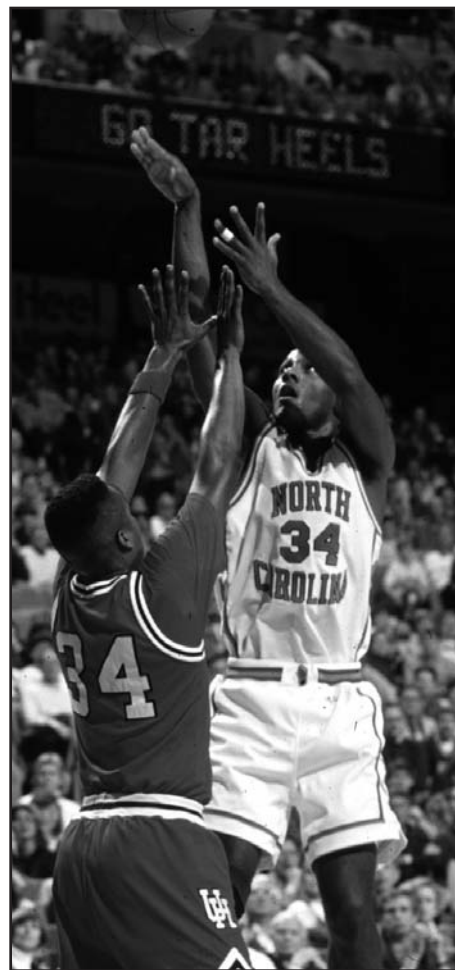

Lynch Notes

- Voted the MVP of the 1993 NCAA champion Tar Heels by his teammates
- Second in school history in both rebounds and steals

AFTER CAROLINA

Lynch was a first-round pick of the Los Angeles Lakers in the 1993 NBA Draft • Started for the Philadelphia 76ers in the 2001 NBA Finals • Now plays with the New Orleans Hornets.

Dean Smith on Lynch — "He's so special. What a leader. Larry Brown really missed him (in 2001-02) with the 76ers. He could tell other players when they weren't doing their job because the other guys knew he would do his job. George had great quickness, hands and tenacity. He wasn't a great technician as a rebounder, but he was a great rebounder."

JERRY STACKHOUSE

Jerry Stackhouse entered Carolina with high expectations from his prep career in Kinston. He did not disappoint, demonstrating fantastic athleticism and steady play throughout his career. In his two seasons in Chapel Hill, Stackhouse averaged 15.7 points per game while bringing in 7.73 rebounds per contest and shooting over 49.6 percent from the field. Stackhouse dominated at the wing, his natural position well as at the power forward spot. He was equally comfortable hitting a 15-foot jump shot or driving to the basket for a spectacular dunk.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1994-95)

Named National College Player of the Year by Sports Illustrated • Named first team All-America by the Associated Press, the NABC and the USBWA • Earned first team All-ACC honors • Led Carolina in scoring with 19.2 points per game and scored in double figures in 32 out of 34 games • Scored 20 or more points in 17 games with a season-high of 29 versus Old Dominion • Led the Tar Heels in scoring 14 times outright and had 12 double-doubles • Was sensational against Duke in Chapel Hill, scoring 24 points and grabbing 11 rebounds • Also hit 7 of his last 10 field goal attempts and grabbed seven offensive rebounds in UNC's 99-86 win over the Blue Devils • Played 43 minutes in Carolina's double-overtime win at Duke and scored 25 points with 11 rebounds and four assists • Sparked a late rally at Wake Forest with seven points in the final 5:45 which brought UNC from 10 points down to a one-point victory • Had his second consecutive outstanding ACC Tournament and was named to the All-Tournament team after being named tournament MVP as a freshman • Averaged 19.0 points, 9.0 rebounds and 2.0 blocks per game in the ACC Tournament • Was named Most Outstanding Player of the NCAA Southeast Regional • Was sensational in the regional final against Kentucky as he posted his 12th double-double of the year with 18 points and 12 rebounds to go along with six assists, two blocked shots and two steals • Scored 18 points and grabbed eight rebounds in just 28 minutes against Arkansas in the national semifinals • Suffered a severely bruised thigh just 12 seconds into the Arkansas game and was adversely affected for the remainder of the game.

FRESHMAN SEASON (1993-94)

Named ACC Tournament MVP, one of only four freshman ever to win the honor • Named to the All-ACC Freshman Team • Scored in double figures a team-leading 25 times • Was the third-leading scorer on the team with 12.2 points per game and was second on the team in steals with 42 • Scored a season-high 23 points at LSU • Fifth in the conference in free throw percentage, the only freshman in the ACC ranked in the conference top 10 • Was one of two Tar Heels, along with Donald Williams, to score in double figures in all three ACC Tournament games • Averaged 15.7 points and 6.7 rebounds per contest in the ACC Tournament • Led the team in scoring with 19 points versus Florida State and 14 points in the final against Virginia • In the tournament semifinal, hit the game-winning shot against Wake Forest with 5.3 seconds to play in overtime as he took a pass from Derek Phelps on the baseline and made an aggressive move to the hoop • Totaled 14 points, seven rebounds, two assists, a block and a steal in the final against Virginia.

RASHEED WALLACE

One of Carolina's most agile and dominating big men, Rasheed Wallace showcased amazing abilities to run the court and control a game. Wallace left UNC as the leading field goal shooter by percentage in ACC history and still ranks second in the category at 63.5 percent for his career. His deft touch, coupled with tremendous dunks and an unabashed enthusiasm for the game made Wallace a favorite of the fans and the scouts.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1994-95)

Named first-team All-America by The Sporting News and USBWA • Second-team Associated Press and NABC All-America pick • First-team All-ACC and a finalist for the Naismith Award, John Wooden Award and the USBWA Player of the Year Award • Named to the All-ACC Tournament first team • Led the ACC in field goal percentage, was third in blocked shots, ninth in rebounding and 10th in scoring average • Was amazing in the double overtime win at Duke, scoring 25 points and going 10 of 11 from the field • Scored a career-high 33 points on 13 for 19 shooting in the ACC Tournament semifinals against Maryland, including 23 points after halftime • Also made six dunks in the Maryland win, several of the spectacular variety, and sent the game into overtime with a last-minute block of a Joe Smith shot attempt • Scored nine points and had seven boards in 27 minutes against Wake Forest in the ACC Championship game, but left the game with 7:41 to play after suffering a sprained ankle • Named to the NCAA Tournament Southeast Regional Team after scoring 22 points, grabbing 12 boards and blocking six shots versus Georgetown and scoring 12 points and pulling in three rebounds in only 23 minutes of the win over Kentucky • Recorded his ninth double-double of the season in the national semifinal against Arkansas, totaling 10 points and 10 boards in the matchup with the Razorbacks.

FRESHMAN SEASON (1993-94)

Named to the ACC All-Freshman team • Earned All-ACC Tournament second-team honors • Averaged 9.5 points and 6.6 rebounds per game and shot 60.4 percent from the floor • Led the Tar Heels in blocked shots • Had a tremendous outing against Duke on Feb. 3 as he scored 14 points and grabbed four rebounds and had a stunning catch and dunk off an alley-oop pass from Jerry Stackhouse • Was also dynamic in a win over Duke to conclude the regular season, as he was 7 of 11 from the field, 5 of 6 in the opening half, and had one of the highlights of the season when he completed an alley-oop catch and dunk from Derrick Phelps • Played incredible against Florida State in the ACC Tournament quarterfinals, garnering 17 points and 16 boards, nine of them offensive • Recorded double-doubles in both games of the NCAA Tournament, averaging 14 points and 11.5 rebounds against Liberty and Boston College.

AFTER CAROLINA

Wallace opted to enter the draft following his second year at Carolina and was drafted by the Washington Bullets with the fourth overall pick of the 1995 NBA Draft • Now with the Portland Trailblazers and has developed into one of the most dominating power forwards in the NBA • NBA All-Star in 2000 and 2001.

Dean Smith on Wallace —

"Rasheed is one of our most underrated players. He was great in practice, had a fantastic attitude and was very coachable. He's a special guy. He's one of the most athletic big men I've ever seen. He could run the floor, handle the ball, score inside and shoot the ball. I don't think he ever wanted to be the leading scorer."

Wallace Notes

- Second-team All-America in 1994-95
- A two-time NBA All-Star
- The ACC's second-leading field goal shooter of all-time points on 14 of 16 shooting in that contest and hit the winning basket in overtime.

AFTER CAROLINA

Drafted fourth overall in the 1998 NBA Draft by the Toronto Raptors and was immediately traded to the Golden State Warriors for former Carolina Teammate Vince Carter.

Dean Smith on Jamison — “We thought he’d be behind Rasheed Wallace for a year. But strange things happen. He had super quickness and we had timing plays for him to score down low. He had the ability to jump a second time faster than most guys could jump once. He had an uncanny ability to go after the ball. I remember a play at the end of the first half against Virginia when he missed a layup on a fast break, but got back up and tipped in his own miss. I remember thinking, ‘Wow, what a play.’”

JOSEPH FORTE

Averaged 18.7 points per game for his career, and was the first freshman to lead UNC in scoring since freshmen became eligible to play varsity basketball in 1972-73 • Though best known for putting points on the board, Forte was not just a scorer • He led all ACC guards in rebounding his sophomore season, and was 10th in the league in assists.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (2000-01)

Forte shared ACC Player of the Year honors with Duke's Shane Battier and was a consensus first-team All America • A finalist for several national player of the year honors • Led UNC in scoring and was second in the ACC with 20.9 points per game • Also led the team in free throw percentage, three pointers made and steals and was second in assists • Forte was a unanimous first-team All-ACC selection as he led the Tar Heels to a share of the ACC regular season title for the first time since 1995 • Was the fourth sophomore in UNC history to earn consensus first-team All America honors, joining Michael Jordan, J.R. Reid and Jerry Stackhouse • Averaged 23.7 points per game in 16 ACC contests • Had perhaps the best game of his career in a pulsating win at Duke, scoring 24 points and pulling down a career-high 16 rebounds to go with six assists and three steals • The 16 rebounds were the most ever by a UNC guard • Notched his career high of 38 against Tulsa, breaking the Smith Center record for points scored in a game • Forte scored in double figures 31 of 33 games his sophomore season, hitting for more than 20 on 18 occasions.

FRESHMAN SEASON (1999-2000)

Joseph Forte nailed a three-pointer in the first shot attempt of his career and UNC's season in the Maui Invitational and never looked back, capping a scintillating freshman season by being named ACC Rookie of the Year and Most Outstanding Player at the NCAA South Regional • Led UNC in scoring (16.7 ppg) and steals (54) while helping the Tar Heels to their 15th Final Four appearance • Second-team All ACC honoree and was named National Freshman of the Year by the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club • Averaged more points than any freshman in UNC history (besting the previous high of 16.4 by Phil Ford in 1974-75) • Had a season high 28 versus Tulsa in the NCAA South Regional championship game • Second on the team in assists and third in rebounds.

AFTER CAROLINA

Declared early for the NBA draft, and was selected 21st overall by the Boston Celtics • Was drafted immediately after senior teammate Brendan Haywood • Traded to the Seattle SuperSonics prior to the 2002-03 season.

Bill Guthridge on Forte — "A true throwback to the phrase 'knows how to play the game.' Joseph had a great feel for the game and how it should be played."

BRENDAN HAYWOOD

One of the top field goal shooters and shot-blockers in ACC history • Carolina's all-time leader in both categories • The only player in ACC history to lead his school in field goal percentage and blocked shots • ACC's all-time field goal percentage leader at .637 • Carolina's all-time shot block leader with 304 — the eighth player in ACC history to block 300 career shots

SENIOR SEASON (2000-01)

Led the ACC in blocked shots, was second in offensive rebounds and tied for sixth in rebounding • Seventh in the nation in blocks • Second-team All-America by The Sporting News and third-team All-America by the NABC • Wooden, Naismith and USBWA finalist for National Player of the Year • Second-team All-ACC • The first Carolina player ever to block 100 shots in a season (he had 116 on the season, 10th-best in ACC single-season history) • Only player in ACC history to lead his school in career field goal percentage and blocked shots • Set Smith Center record with 10 blocked shots against Miami • Recorded the first triple-double in Carolina history with 18 points, 14 rebounds, 10 blocks vs. Miami.

JUNIOR SEASON (1999-2000)

Third-team All-ACC • Played in all 36 games, leading Carolina to its second Final Four in three years • Received the Carmichael-Cobb Award given to UNC's Most Outstanding Defensive Player • Led the nation in field goal percentage at .697, the highest single-season percentage in ACC history • Ranked fourth in the conference in rebounding in ACC games only • Had 20 points and 12 rebounds in the Final Four loss to Florida • His 48 rebounds in five NCAA games were more than any player in the Tournament and his 79 points ranked sixth among all players • Tied for first in the ACC and was 25th in the nation in blocked shots with 2.5 per game • Led the team and seventh in the ACC with 7.5 rebounds per game • Had 28 points and 15 rebounds in the NCAA Tournament first round versus Missouri • Played on the 12-player U.S. Basketball Team that won the gold medal in the World University Games in Spain in the summer of 1999 • Started all eight games and was the team's second-leading scorer and rebounder.

SOPHOMORE SEASON (1998-99)

Shot 64.8 percent from the field • Led UNC in blocked shots and field goal percentage and was second on the team in scoring and rebounding • Posted nine double-doubles in points and rebounds • Scored 20 or more points three times, was in double figures in scoring 22 times and had 10 or more rebounds in a game 10 times.

FRESHMAN SEASON (1997-98)

Was the second man off the bench on a team that went 34-4 and advanced to the Final Four • Was essentially the top reserve since Carolina used a "six-man" starting rotation • Tied the UNC record by appearing in 38 games • Was outstanding in the February 5th win over No. 1 ranked Duke at the Smith Center • Had seven points, three rebounds, a blocked shot and a steal in that win over Duke • Played well at Duke as he scored seven points and added five rebounds • Provided a big lift in the ACC Tournament semifinal win over Maryland with six points, four rebounds and a blocked shot.

TAR HEEL STARS IN THE NBA

SOME OF THE BRIGHTEST STARS IN NBA HISTORY ARE FORMER TAR HEELS.

"We always look for players from North Carolina. If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character ... when they come to the pros they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

- Pat Riley,
Miami Heat Head Coach
