WELCOME _ DYNNARCH

Welcome to our latest what's on guide. More than 500,000 of you have taken us to your hearts since we threw open the doors to our new theatre. The last 2 years have whizzed by for us but the team and I are fired up for 2024.

As we look ahead, the Cornwall Playhouse stage continues to fizz with fistfuls of formidable nights out, supported by our Get Creative team – ensuring our work continues to reach diverse audiences – and our Welcome Team, who are crazy about making your visit sparkle.

I'm particularly proud to welcome Jesus Christ Superstar in 2024. Our Honorary President Sir Tim Rice is a champion of Hall for Cornwall, and his work retains a special place in our hearts. There's also a shiny new classical series, the lip-licking prospect of the National Theatre returning, and the all-conquering The Bodyguard, which is filling up fast.

So whether your style is Whitney power pop or juicy jump-scares, we've got your fix of seriously entertaining fun. We look forward to tempting you back very soon.

LAST CHANCE _ DIWETTHA CHONS

Following the smash hit all-male tours of H.M.S. Pinafore and The Pirates of Penzance, Sasha Regan returns with a sensational cast and a fresh new twist on Gilbert & Sullivan's much loved The Mikado. Expect plenty of catchy lyrics and melodies from familiar songs including the classic: Three Little Maids from School.

Welcoming back Aidan Nightingale, who starred in our 2022 festive treat, Treasure Island. Regan's inventive all-male staging is inspired by her experiences of same sex school G&S productions. The action is cleverly and playfully transported to 1950s England when an all-boys' school camping trip is visiting the far away land of Titipu. Topsy-turvy capers follow!

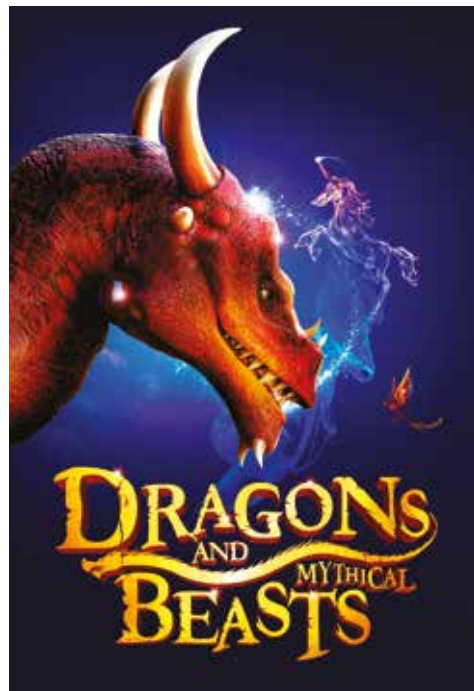

Gilbert & Sullivan's inherent humour and timeless tunefulness are married with Regan's wicked sense of fun. The perfect summer sizzler.

The Woman in Black brilliantly delivers atmosphere, illusion and horror! Experience the thrill and excitement of this critically-acclaimed international theatre event that has been seen by over 7 million people worldwide, and continues to delight and terrify audiences of all generations.
