A GOOD AND SWEET YEAR

1001 Remington rd. Wynnewood, PA 19096 | Phone: 610.649.5300 | www.tbhbe.org

During the years I taught in the ECC and Religious School, I spent much of late August readying my classroom for the new school year. I was eager to meet my students and I hoped they would be just as eager to meet me. But I knew then, and I know now, that transitions are exciting and challenging at the same time. Each new school year meant a transition for my students and for me. Right now, our congregation is in a period of transition as we've welcomed Rabbi Ethan Witkovsky and his family, Erin, Aldo and Sage. I feel the excitement in the air whenever I am at shul - with many congregants meeting Rabbi Witkovsky, others studying with him, and still others davening alongside the rabbi at minyanim and Shabbat services. The feeling is electric and contagious.

Our Transition Committee, has worked tirelessly to create programs that appeal to the various constituent groups in our congregation. They and their large crew of volunteers have planned wonderful welcoming events, fabulous resource information, hands-on help with the family's move-in, meals, tours of the neighborhood, playdates for the kids, social gatherings, and so much more.

In just over a month's time, our synagogue has hosted over 700 people at events like our Welcome Weekend, Kabbalat Shabbat and Shabbat morning services and our Beyond BBQ. We've danced, played gaga and badminton, grilled burgers and hot dogs and even taken turns on an inflatable water slide - coming together as a community to welcome our new rabbi.

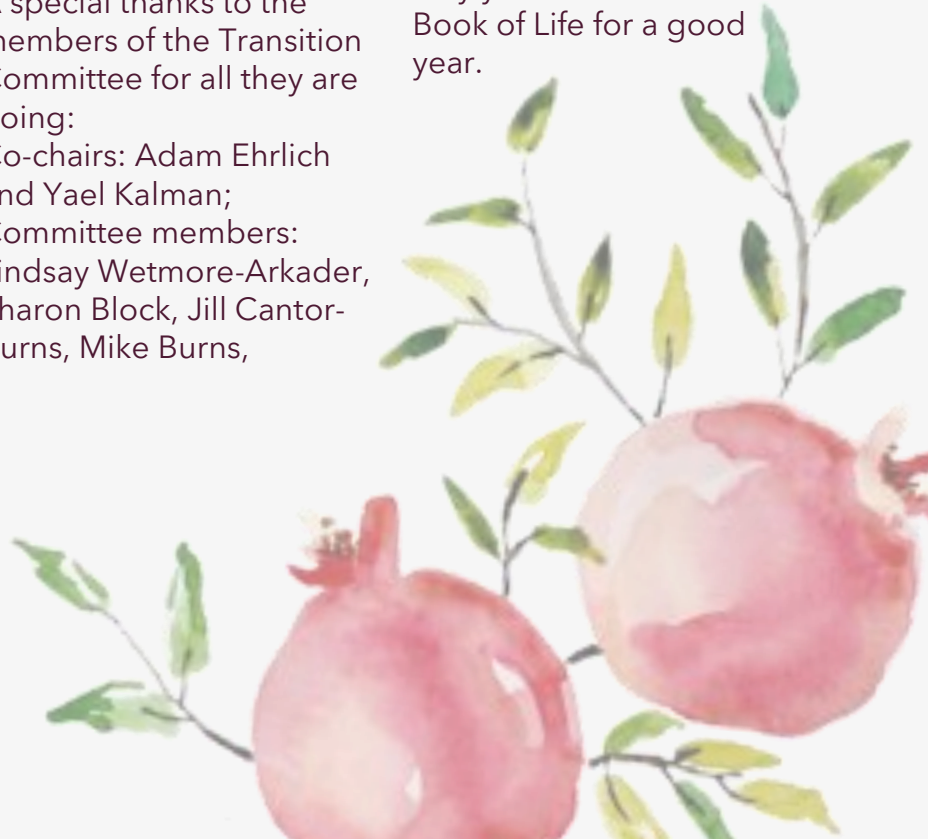

A special thanks to the members of the Transition Committee for all they are doing:
Co-chairs: Adam Ehrlich and Yael Kalman;
Committee members: Lindsay Wetmore-Arkader, Sharon Block, Jill Cantor-Burns, Mike Burns,

Anna Caplan, Ilan Caplan, Caren Dash, Alan Fogel, Steph Gantman, Shelly Goldstein, David Harwitz, Ariel Lichtenstein, Jeremy Menkowitz, David Oriel, Robin Oriel, Fran Perlman, Alyssa Rosen, Rachel Sakofs, Sara Solow, Paula Strokoff, Barbara Spector, Matthew Tossman, and Melanie Wolfson.

I believe that transitions bring new opportunities and a feeling of excitement. I am so proud of our community and all the ways we have demonstrated to the Witkovsky-Beser family that Temple Beth Hillel-Beth El is not just a synagogue, it's "Our House, Your Home."

Jeff and I wish you all a healthy, sweet, and safe new year.

L'Shanah Tovah Tikatevu. May you be inscribed in the Book of Life for a good year.

Thank you.

The first words a Jew is meant to say when they wake in the morning are "modeh ani" I give thanks. In that vein, I wanted the first words I type formally to this community to be, "Thank you." Thank you for giving me the opportunity to be your rabbi. Thank you for welcoming me and my family with open hearts and arms. Thank you for all of the meals, the calls, the gifts, kind words, counsel and forgiveness of email response delays as we get setup in our new home here at TBH-BE. Every interaction we have had, from the first phone call to today, has shown us the meaning of warm and welcoming and made us feel that your house is our home.

Beginning each day with gratitude, according to 19th century legal commentator Shlomo Ganzfried, is about looking backwards. We say thank you to God for returning our soul to us, it was exhausted from the previous day and we are given a new day of life with soul refreshed. Of course, that gratitude can also look forward and help us face the new day. Beginning with gratitude sets a tone for how we interact with others and how we behave. We will hopefully be kinder, happier, more forgiving people if we open with thanks. Saying thank you also asks us to recognize that we are not the center of all things, it reminds us that we rely on others, especially God, to get through each day.

As we begin the new year this month with Rosh Hashanah, much like a new day, we should begin with gratitude. That gratitude may look backward: we are grateful to have made it through to another year, we are grateful for good that came to us though we didn't deserve it and we are grateful to those who supported us in the years gone by. Our gratitude also looks forward: What opportunities in the new year are we thankful for? How are we part of something larger than ourselves?

How can we show our appreciation to others in the year to come?

As I begin my tenure as your Rabbi here at Temple Beth Hillel-Beth El I am grateful for the great leaders that have come before me. Rabbi Maltzman, Rabbi Cooper, Cantor Rosner, along with other clergy and countless lay leaders, built a wonderful and lasting community and we who move forward are indebted to them. I am also grateful for the year ahead of us, the chance to get to know one another, to envision a future together and to navigate uncertain waters as we continue to build this wonderful synagogue and community together.

L'shanah Tovah!

Rabbi Ethan Witkovsky

It started kind of early, in fact, on the day of his audition at TBH-BE. Rabbi Witkovsky had just given one of his “in-between-aliyah questions to the congregation”. With all the many details of the Shabbat morning service we had discussed, I had become unsure as to how many of these he was planning to give. So, I asked in a casual style, “Just curious. Do you think you would want to do another short study between readings?” Rabbi put his fingers to his chin, gave it some thought, and said, “Why not?!” The second turned out just as well, if not better than the first, and he was very pleased. So was I. We exchanged smiles, knowing the whole experience was for the greater good of the day.

Six months later, writing this Pharisee article in advance of our first High Holy Day season together, and with each passing week, Rabbi Witkovsky and I are quickly refining our Shabbat clergy chemistry on the bimah. Adjustments during the service are made seamlessly, and we are genuinely having a good time. Seeing Erin, Aldo, and Sage finding their comfort zone in the sanctuary is also gratifying! We have our weekly meetings and, as with Rabbi Cooper before him, I enter the Rabbi’s Study with a laundry list of topics we need to go over, in this case, to get Rabbi Witkovsky up to speed with our status quo. With each topic, we measure out what stays as is, what might need tweaking, refining, or eventual substituting. It’s equally gratifying to see how quickly Rabbi internalizes the incredible number of details that are synagogue related. He takes everything in stride, and it is a pleasure to work with him!

We look forward to working on our first High Holidays together. If it is anything like our summer Shabbatot we’ve been working on, I am sure we will have a grand time, and so will you. Amy and I wish you all a Shanah Tovah, a year filled with peace, joy and fulfillment.

Hazzan Eugene Rosner

My summer reading included Letters to the Next Generation, by Rabbi Lord Jonathan Sacks. I'd like to share a section from the book.

"...when the rest of the world is going one way, Jews go the other. They take what American poet Robert Frost called "the road less travelled." So when people worshipped power, Jews stood up for the powerless. When societies were rigidly hierarchal, Jews taught that we each have equal dignity. When 90% of Europe was illiterate, Jews built schools to ensure that each of their children had an education. When the vast majority of humanity lived in poverty, Jews practiced the principle of tzedakah, the duty of those who have more than they need to share with those who have less. Judaism is the counter-voice in the human conversation."

As we begin the new year with a new Rabbi and vibrant membership, what is our current counter voice? In order to detect it, one would have to understand the biggest newsworthy conversation stories of 2022 that made headlines around the world. Food insecurities, war & nuclear annihilation, Myanmar, Roe vs. Wade, vaccination and mask mandating. When hearing about these on a semi-regular basis they spark an underlying theme of humanity's narcissism and isolation. This isn't surprising, as one of the most essential human motivators is that of self-interest, but I imagine many of these would be easily fixed if people just put others' needs on par with their own. So in a world where there is a rise in the trend of self-indulgence, I'd like to think that our Jewish counter-voice is, and should be, that of community—Kol Israel Arevim Zeh L' Zeh: Everyone is responsible for one another.

Reflecting specifically on TBH-BE, it's clear that our communal efforts are strong. We've stuck together though some of the most challenging times. We've had an extraordinary amount of attendance at our community events, and everything we have done is about making our community stronger from the relationships we have built with Mt. Hermon Baptist Church to the concerts on the lawn this past summer. We constantly ask our professional lay leaders and staff whether or not the choices we are making are reflecting the efforts of building a stronger community within and at large.

Many of you have already taken a front seat in administering the success of this trend, thank you! From our transition committee, to our new and official teen advisor Phil Nathanson to all of the teachers in our ECC who build community with their children each and every day, everyone has played an important role. If you are looking for a way to participate there is always something! Get involved in our communal programming, push us to think outside of the box when it comes to community at large, and/or advocate for selfless behavior.

I invite each of us to consider how you are approaching the message of Kol Israel Arevim Zeh L' Zeh: Everyone is responsible for one another this holiday season.

From myself, Danny and Matan we wish you a G'mar Chatimah Tovah!

Not Your Average Joseph's*

My three siblings and I went to Hebrew school. For me, as the oldest, it was so long ago I can't remember how I felt about it. Some of my friends from Hebrew school continued on to Gratz with me - some to the Normal Department (Was there an abnormal department?) and some, like I did, went to the High School Department. Throughout all of those years and beyond, I remember hearing people exclaiming, "I hate Hebrew school!"

Spring forward to today. After a lifetime of teaching in Hebrew schools, day schools and Ramah Poconos, I have a toolbox filled with formal and informal educational pedagogy as well as a staff that provides our students with learning from packed toolboxes of their own. And while some students may balk at having to go to Hebrew school, I have an endless supply of mental snapshots that indicate otherwise once they have arrived. We pack in in our 5.4 hours per week as much as we can! Through experiential programming, celebrations, projects and more, students engage with their teachers and madrichim/teen-aides and each other. With the improvisational comedy troupe, the Bible Players, students have learned Jewish values from Pirkei Avot/Ethics of Our Fathers, thanks to a generous grant from the Temple Beth Hillel-Beth El Sydney & Esther Lazarus Memorial Fund for the Study of Jewish Ethics fund. As we begin our year-long celebration of Israel 75, the Lazarus Fund is enabling students to continue learning with the Bible Players, this time concentrating on Israel's focus on Jewish values in areas such as IDF units for special needs soldiers and Lotem, which assures that nature is accessible to everyone, including those who otherwise wouldn't be able to engage with the land of Israel.

Students don't learn about Tu B'shvat. They celebrate it, and learn by tasting the variety of holiday foods that grow in Israel.

They don't learn about the Hebrew months and Rosh Chodesh. They announce Rosh Chodesh to the rest of the Religious School.

They don't learn about the siddur. They use it.

They don't only learn about havdalah. They do it and they lead it, with havdalah sets they make.

They don't learn only with their peers. They learn with students in other grades. Some of our students also learn with our Better Together friends, too!

Now, as we slowly ease out of the past couple of years, we can reintroduce some of the programs we had to suspend. I invite you to come to the main lobby on a Wednesday afternoon as we bring back our shuk/market of snacks to nourish (yes, most are healthy-ish) students as they come in from a long day of school. Snacks are sold in multiples of one shekel. The shuk is a student-run, money-making endeavor.

We're bringing back our cross-grade chugim/electives. Students have an opportunity to choose their electives and then enjoy a session with a different teacher and with friends from other grades. The electives are based on hobbies and interests and always with a Jewish lens. Shabbat school (Shabbat's cool!) will look different as well. We will return to combining grades for services to enable younger students to learn from slightly older ones as well as highly competent, engaging service leaders.

Taken together, as you can see, the coming year will be filled with classroom learning and experiences. I have no doubt that, at the end of the year, our students will say: "Religious School? It's okay". In "Student Speak", that means: it was fantastic!

On behalf of my husband, Jeff, and my daughters Sarah and Rebecca and my grandson BlackJack and great-granddaughter Sunny, I wish you all a very happy and healthy new year!

*Big hint! TBH-BE play in March, 2023

This summer, over 80 children attended our ECC Summer Camp led by our multi-talented Camp Co-Directors, Jen Shandelman and Randi Grossel. As Program Director, Jen's creativity and energy make our camp "sparkle"! From planning a "July 4th" celebration that included a visit from an ice cream truck to a "Pirate" themed week, the children's imagination and learning did not stop! We are grateful for Jen's tenure at the helm of our summer camp and wish her the best during her retirement as this is her last summer with TBH-BE. Randi Grossel, Camp Co-Director, worked hard behind the scenes this summer, doing the bulk of administrative work and helping to make things run smoothly. Kol haKavod to them both for their hard work and success!

Our first full day of school begins on Tuesday, September 6th as we open our doors this year with 133 children - 18 in kindergarten alone! A new school year always brings with it great anticipation and sometimes a few twinges of nerves. The new year has called for some classroom changes, renovations, and the hiring of several new staff members this year. Not only do I have the mighty task of learning the names of dozens of new children, but I also have the names of many new staff members to learn as well!

This year we look forward to adding a new Hebrew language program for the pre-kindergarten and kindergarten with the company, Wee Play Language. Hebrew classes will be taught in Hebrew for a half hour lesson each week. Our three-year-old and pre-kindergarten classes will continue to be a part of the PJ Library Goes to School program in which they receive free books and curricular materials to teach and reinforce Jewish history, holidays and values to our children and families. These two programs are joined by music with Amy Elkins, A.K.A. Mama Mac, and art with Judy Kurman to help provide a well-rounded learning experience for our children. We look forward to a fun and rewarding new school year!

It is a tremendous responsibility and an honor to be the director of such a large school with so many wonderful children and staff members. I take this role very seriously, and I thank all of you who are part of our ECC family for the opportunity to serve you once again as the ECC Director.

From my family to yours, may you be blessed with a sweet, happy, and healthy New Year!

Warmly, Judith

AS I sit here writing this article, I am a schvitzky mess from being outside in the warm summer days with our ECC campers. A pleasure to be able to watch them with wonder and excitement at every day. I too, am full of excitement, excited for this upcoming year for both our shul and Sisterhood. WE have so much to be thankful for.

I am thankful for my sisterhood board that agreed to support me for another year, extending my term for one additional year due to Covid restrictions. I am excited for all of the activities that we have planned for all the different contingencies of or beloved TBH-BE community. I am also thankful that after almost a year and a half, our kitchen renovation plans are slowly moving to fruition. Lastly, I am so very thankful that both Rabbi Cooper and Rabbi Witkovsky are both a part of our synagogue family.

When we reach the Yamim Noraim, the high holidays, we reflect. WE reflect on what was, what can be better and what we can change. I have thought a lot about this and my goal continues to be to get more members in our community to come out and join sisterhood. We offer programming for all women in the synagogue. However, we need YOUR help. Your suggestions, your volunteerism. We cannot make sisterhood great without you.

Sometimes I hear, I am looking for something to do with sisterhood, what's going on? Tell us, what do YOU want to do with sisterhood? Check out our Facebook page "TBHBE Sisterhood" for updates as events are upcoming, to stay on top of all the different offerings.

"Coming back this year is a new spin on Craft and Gift show! It will be held in the Spring, just in time for Mother's Day. We will have many of our repeat vendors back to WOW you! This is a huge event and it will take a village. YOU are our village. Please be willing to volunteer to make this a success! Funds raised will help with the different phases of the kitchen renovations.

Our year is full, our doors are back open, we look forward to a more normal schedule of activities and events. Please come out September 12th for our Welcome Back sisterhood evening under the stars, meet Erin Beser, the Rabbi's wife. Come meet the board, sip cocktails with your friends, and munch on appetizers. We will get to know each other with the help of Dr. Lisa Richman our Religious School Director. A night not to be missed.

Bruchim habaim, welcome to sisterhood, welcome back to our wonderful shul community of women. Welcome home.

*Please remember to support our TBH-BE gift shop for all your holiday, hostess and life cycle gifts. www.tbhbe.org/gift-shop

By now you may already be aware of the upcoming inaugural The Tzedakah Games to be held on May 7, 2023. The Tzedakah Games is a community-wide event building friendship, encouraging Tzedakah and in turn benefiting our children and community.

Our community (and not just our community) has had more than it's share of challenges the past few years. I cannot emphasize enough how good it feels to be a part of an event that brings our community together. If you would like to participate in the creation and planning of this please email tbhbe.tzedakahgames@gmail.com. This being a NEW event, we are looking for new ideas and new energy. Please join our Athletics Committee, our Charity Selection Committee, or our Festival/Carnival Committee.

The big picture vision is that The Tzedakah Games will be a day of Athletics and Tzedakah along with a food and music festival. Our TBH-BE students and Men's Club team will help select charities to be the recipients of our fundraising efforts. Our children will be asked to participate in a student logo contest, with the winning design being printed on our Event Day T-shirts and posters. WE NEED YOU to help develop exactly what a day of Athletics as well as everything else will look like. The sooner we come together with clarity, the better. Starting in September, there will be one evening meeting a month.

My co-chairs, Howard Elgart and Allan Horowitz were actively involved with Tzedakathon and Hava N'Grilla, both community-wide events. An invaluable offshoot was that while working together with fellow TBH-BE members. Lifelong friendships and future leadership were developed.

Feel like summertime is a time for chillin' but Men's Club keeps on grillin'. We helped grill burgers (the impossible burgers are a welcome edition) and hotdogs for the recent Beyond BBQ. Thank you to Howard Zwick, Lester & Will Shapiro, Scott Feuer, Norm Nelson, Howard Elgart, Ian Thomas, Jeff Bookman, Gabe Spector, David Harwitz and David Oppenheimer for being part of our grilling team.

Rabbi Witkovsky and his father and Rabbi Neal and Lori Cooper joined up at a Men's Club sponsored outing at a Phillies game. The Phillies won on a come from behind three run homer in the ninth. Needless to say, our evening together was a "hit". Thanks to Bernie Perlman for continuing to come to bat as to coordinating our sports programming.

The return of in person Scotch N'Steak will be on Thursday, October 13th. Our Sukkah and Sukkah Village build will be held on Sunday, October 2nd.

And lastly for now, be on the lookout for other Men's Club members to author an article in upcoming Pharisees. It is guaranteed to be as informative and thought provoking as ever.

Be seeing you,
Sam

Our Journey to Bar/Bat Mitzvah program is an opportunity to go beyond learning the synagogue skills that are covered in Bar/Bat Mitzvah tutoring. It aims to help our students and parents to:

- consider important issues that arise for children entering adolescence,
- understand what it means to be a responsible member of the Jewish community,
- create a common community among all TBH-BE families and students, regardless of where the students attend school
- and build relationships among our students now, making it far more likely that they will stay involved in Jewish life as a teenager.

HIGH HOLIDAYS

By Amy Eisen

We are the beginning
Of the new cycles
In the world that is ours
Transcending time and space

We are in the middle
Of taking stock
As we look to next steps
And ponder choices that follow

We are at the end
Of the last season
Musing, reflecting on what we learned
We become aware of that
Before us lies the expense
Of the next beginning

We ask: what now?

We find ourselves

Alone
Communing inside

With images, thoughts and senses

that translate to

Joy, sorrow gratitude,
Fear, yearning, confusion

Resentment
Contentment

We find ourselves
Communal
In actions, deeds, and meetings
In song and
In shared words of prayer

We pause to look at Those that surround us
And look inward at ourselves

What do we see?
Faces that remind us
In minds
In hearts
In souls
Like memories linking past
To present
To future
And we see in those connections
Sparks of creation
That fly everywhere
