involving police. WTTW's community engagement initiatives celebrated summer with kids and families, many of them in underserved neighborhoods. WTTW also hosted a screening and discussion of the documentary Whose Streets?

FISCAL 2019 kicked off with the national premiere of three more episodes in the 10 that Changed America series and website. Host Geoffrey Baer set off on a summer road trip across America, meeting with historians, curators, and guides who shared the fascinating backstories behind the iconic streets that connect our nation, the monuments that commemorate our history, and the engineering marvels that transformed our environment and shaped the way we live.

WFMT bid farewell to retiring Morning Program host Carl Grapentine with an elegant sendoff at the Ravinia Festival. The station presented more live performances from the Grant Park Music Festival that included Facebook Live videos from Millennium Park's Pritzker Pavilion - this month, that included the annual Independence Day celebration. WFMT also shared concerts from Ravinia and the Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival, and performances from Lyric Opera of Chicago and Carnegie Hall; welcomed Mariachi Herencia de Mexico to Levin Studio; and went behind the scenes to meet the organizers who liven up Cubs and Sox games.

Other July highlights on WTTW included A Capitol Fourth, the live Independence Day celebration from the U.S. Capitol, and several new series including No Passport Required with chef Marcus Samuelsson; Maigret, starring Rowan Atkinson; Hillary, about the famed Mt. Everest explorer; and The Secret Life of Dogs. On wttw.com, the new digital series Chefs Off the Clock revealed the surprising ways that some of Chicago's celebrity chefs unwind after they clock out of the kitchen. Also, staffers at Chicago Tonight shared some book recommendations and the site offered a fun quiz, "What Classic Novel Character Are You?", along with several stories on the Dan Ryan Expressway protest march and gun incidents

AUGUST 2018

WFMT CELEBRATED the centenary of an American musical icon – the prolific composer, conductor, pianist, and teacher Leonard Bernstein, who would have turned 100 on August 25 – by playing selections from Bernstein’s many recordings throughout the month, including his own rendering of Candide, and hosting a “pop-up” performance in Boystown. WFMT’s Grant Park season continued with music from Shakespeare; a concert featuring dynamic young pianist George Li, and a rousing season finale performance of Orff’s Carmina Burana with vocal soloists, chorus, and orchestra. WFMT also presented new music from the Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival, the electrifying pianist Yuja Wang in concert from Carnegie Hall, and a Monteverde rarity from the Royal Opera House: Ulysses’ Return to His Homeland. And Dennis Moore signed on as the new host of The Morning Program.

Also notable: digital stories on conductor Marin Alsop, who recalled Bernstein’s greatest lessons; soprano J’Nai Bridges giving a live recital in Levin Studio (and sharing a world premiere); and tips for teens wishing to attend arts events at discounted prices. WFMT also took part in the annual Thirsty Ears Festival in Lincoln Square.

In three new series, WTTW took audiences to the Australian Outback, across Mexico, and to three Ancient Invisible Cities: Cairo, Athens, and Istanbul. WTTW also presented several new music specials, recalled the life and work of artist Eva Hesse, and revealed a new winner of The Great British Baking Show. wttw.com interviewed the filmmaker behind Frontline: Our Man in Tehran; focused on the opioid epidemic, homelessness, and immigrant deportation; polled audiences on their favorite books of all time; met the stellar young musicians who took part in Great Performances: Chicago Voices; highlighted the Chicago Jazz Festival via an exclusive story; and presented a community screening and discussion of Exit Zero at the Chicago Cultural Center.

welcomed the Chicago Children's Choir and the Chicago Youth Symphony Orchestras, who performed separately and together. Also from Pritzker Pavilion, WFMT brought audiences Music of the Baroque's Baroque in the Park. The station also presented the rousing season finale of the 2018 BBC Promenade season, from London's Royal Albert Hall, Last Night of the Proms, and marked the Jewish High Holidays with a music special hosted by Itzhak Perlman, and the documentary Sound the Shofar: An Ancient Instrument in Modern Times. Digital stories included a web quiz, Which Conductor Are You?, and interviews with artists from this year's Chicago World Music Festival, the largest and longest-running international music festival in the country.

SEPTEMBER ON WTTW ushered in a wealth of exciting new programs and series, and several mainstays returned with eagerly awaited new seasons, including Poldark, The Durrells in Corfu, and 800 Words. Notable and new was The Miniaturist, a new series based on Jessie Burton's bestselling novel that was recapped on wttw.com; a Ken Burns special on the Mayo Clinic; Jamestown, from the creators of Downton Abbey; a new installment of the Anne of Green Gables story; and in a WTTW Passport exclusive, Frankie Drake Mysteries.

WTTW celebrated Hispanic Heritage Month with an impressive slate of relevant on-air and digital content. wttw.com launched a new website connected with The Great American Read series and hosted a screening/discussion event in connection with inCommon with Mike Leonard's Global Generation documentary, and shared recipes from Christopher Kimball's Milk Street Television.

WFMT marked the 10th anniversary of its Introductions series with a special live performance from Pritzker Pavilion in Millennium Park, part of the city's Youth Arts Showcase program. Host Michael San Gabino

OCTOBER 2018

THIS MONTH, WTTW premiered a new four-part weekly series and website, Art & Design in Chicago, tracing the city's creative past and present, and launched season 18 of its popular local restaurant review series Check, Please! with returning host Alpana Singh; its website continued to be a vital resource for local foodies looking to explore new culinary experiences. WTTW also provided extensive coverage, on-air and digital, of the midterm elections, and hosted a behind-the-scenes event with political reporters from Chicago Tonight. Other events included screenings/discussions around the series The Great American Read and Native America. American Experience took audiences to the circus, Shakespeare Uncovered to the Elizabethan theatre, and The Woman in White into the world of the one of the first mystery novels. American Masters profiled violinist Itzhak Perlman, and wttw.com celebrated the arrival of Art on theMART.

WFMT launched an exciting new podcast, Bughouse Square with Eve Ewing, in which the writer, scholar, and cultural organizer revisited historical figures and events once explored by Studs Terkel, adding new and insightful commentary. Also, the station launched new seasons of Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra Onstage and Live from WFMT on which CSO Concertmaster Robert Chen and acclaimed lyric-coloratura soprano Alicia Berneche made special appearances. San Francisco Opera presented Giordano's Andrea Chénier, Rossini's The Barber of Seville, and Donizetti's Don Pasquale; mandolin virtuoso Avi Avital was featured in a concert by the CSO; Impromptu welcomed pianist Victor Asuncion and Corky Siegel's Chamber Blues and Folkstage host Rich Warren welcomed Toronto-based singer-songwriter Shawna Caspi to the Fay and Daniel Levin Performance Studio for live performances. On wfmt.com, WFMT's Grammy-nominated audio engineer Mary Mazurek shared her experiences in a male-dominated profession, and audiences took a fun quiz to determine "Which Mozart Opera Are You?"

NOVEMBER 2018

WTTW MARKED Native American Heritage Month with screenings and web content connected to the documentaries Keep Talking and POV: Tribal Justice, plus a web story on the history and legacy of Chicago's Native American community. On Friday nights, PBS offered front-row seats to the best of Broadway, with An American in Paris: The Musical and Rodgers & Hammerstein's The Sound of Music, plus films about John Leguizamo's Tony-nominated play Latin History for Morons and the artistry of the legendary Broadway producer-director Harold Prince. Also notable were Hear Us, in which three young classical musicians learned there is strength in numbers; a new kids series, Let's Go Luna!; a new season of Ann Curry's We'll Meet Again; and NOVA: Thai Cave Rescue. WTTW also presented an online Voters Guide and profiles of the main contenders for Illinois governor. Finally, Poldark, The Durrells in Corfu, and The Woman in White closed out their runs as audiences recapped all the action on wttw.com.

WFMT observed the 100th anniversary of the Armistice that marked the end of World War I with themed episodes of With Heart and Voice, Exploring Music, Live from WFMT, and War Requiem by Benjamin Britten. San Francisco Opera presented Bright Sheng's Dream of the Red Chamber and a double-bill of Edgar Allan Poe: Usher House and La Cute de la Maison Usher; OperaDelaware featured Lindsay Ohse in the title role of Rossini's Semiramide; and Opera Southwest also focused on Rossini, with William Tell. On wfmt.com, Introductions alumnus Ryan Meehan recalled his appearance on the series; WFMT celebrated the birthday of the creator of the saxophone, aptly named Adolphe Sax, and revealed how violinist Rachel Barton Pine is bringing attention to lesser-known composers; and conductor Leonard Slatkin shared 10 American works that are deserving of more attention.

DECEMBER 2018

TO CELEBRATE the holiday season, WFMT presented an eclectic mix of holiday music and specials throughout the month. These included: The Film Score: Music for the Winter Holidays from Chicago Tribune film critic Michael Phillips; holiday-related special editions of Baroque&Before, With Heart and Voice, Introductions, Fiesta, Live from WFMT, Arias and Songs, Exploring Music with Bill McGlaughlin, Impromptu, and Critical Thinking; the annual service of readings and music by the King's College Choir, live from King's College Chapel at Cambridge University; a rebroadcast of Itzhak Perlman's Hanukkah Radio Party, and much more. The year culminated, as always, with Rich Warren hosting The Midnight Special New Year's Eve program before a live audience and featuring special guests Mari Black, Tim Grimm, Joe Jencks, and SONiA of the band Disappear Fear. On wfmt.com, stories included a roundup of Chicago area holiday arts events; violinist Rachel Barton Pine outlining how she is bringing attention to more lesser-known composers; and Chanticleer performing holiday music in Levin Studio.

WTTW presented music from a diverse group of performing artists, including Michael Bublé, Celtic Woman, Sarah Brightman, Joni Mitchell, the Wheaton College choral ensembles, the Mormon Tabernacle and St. Olaf College Choirs, the Boston Symphony and New York Philharmonic Orchestras, Renée Fleming, and more. NOVA recalled Apollo's Daring Mission and audiences met Nature's Miracle Orphans. Call the Midwife returned with a new holiday special and recap, and two programs, Dreaming of a Jewish Christmas and Hanukkah: A Festival of Delights, offered different perspectives on the season. WTTW partnered on two community screenings of films in the POV series, and wttw.com featured stories on the Lincoln Park ZooLights and the Chicago Botanic Garden's Wonderland Express, the Joffrey Ballet's Chicago-centric adaptation of The Nutcracker, Chicago cookbooks, and a fond look back at the history of the Heartland Café.

JANUARY 2019

WFMT commenced an exciting month of weekly programs from the Metropolitan Opera, with Verdi's Otello conducted by Gustavo Dudamel, Cilea's Adriana Lecouvreur starring Anna Netrebko, Debussy's enigmatic Pelleas and Melisande, and a new work by Nico Muhly based on Hitchcock's film Marnie. Fiesta with Elbio Barilari explored Latin American baroque, 17-year-old Alice Zhang appeared live on Introductions (and Facebook), guest conductor Donald Runnicles paid a visit to the CSO, and the station also presented a Facebook Live video from Northwestern with the Dover Quartet and a birthday tribute to Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. In addition, WFMT's program hosts revealed the classical music they were most eagerly anticipating in 2019.

WTTW AND WFMT commenced the New Year with the annual Great Performances' Vienna Philharmonic New Year's Day Concert; Christian Thielemann conducted and Hugh Bonneville (Downton Abbey) hosted. Another special Great Performances special brought Lyric Opera of Chicago's Orphée et Eurydice, a collaboration with Joffrey Ballet, to a national audience.

Also in January, WTTW presented the highly anticipated third season of Victoria, which followed the young British queen and her consort as they dealt with the repercussions of European riots and revolutions and the challenges of their rapidly growing family; the station celebrated the premiere with a screening and reception at the Chicago History Museum. Other season premieres included Doc Martin, Finding Your Roots, Antiques Roadshow, Jay's Chicago, and The Interview Show with Mark Bazer; and Check, Please! returned with new episodes. A new British detective series, Shakespeare & Hathaway: Private Investigators livened up the Saturday night lineup. wttw.com's stories included a tribute to the soon-to-close Heartland Café and a look back at a legendary clash between brewers and temperance crusaders.

FEBRUARY 2019

THIS MONTH SAW the premiere of a revealing documentary set in the Chicago area: Minding the Gap, which followed three longtime friends who bonded over skateboarding as an escape from their turbulent home lives. WTTW hosted a screening event at the Chicago Cultural Center, and Chicago Tonight followed up the film with a special feature that included an interview with its talented young director, Bing Liu.

Also throughout February, WTTW and WFMT presented extensive special content for Black History Month, including documentaries on Sammy Davis, Jr., country music star Charley Pride, singer Sam Cooke, Congressman John Lewis, poet and author Maya Angelou, the history of Chicago's African American community, and the stage drama Pipeline, among many others. WFMT shared on-air and digital content focusing on African American music, including Rachel Barton Pine's appearance on Live from WFMT in support of her new album Blues Dialogues: Music by Black Composers.

Other notable programs included the WTTW premiere of Won't You Be My Neighbor?, a moving documentary that looked back on the unforgettable life and legacy of television icon Fred Rogers, longtime host and creator of Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood; Nature: Wild Way of the Vikings, a film narrated by actor Ewan McGregor that traced their colorful history; a lively two-part program that told the story of Britain's "rebel" Princess Margaret; and more fascinating episodes of Finding Your Roots hosted by Dr. Henry Louis Gates, Jr.

WFMT presented Bizet's Carmen, Tchaikovsky's Iolanta, Bartók's Bluebeard's Castle, Mozart's Don Giovanni, and Verdi's Rigoletto live from the Metropolitan Opera; and in advance of the Academy Awards, Chicago Tribune film critic Michael Phillips returned with an all-new installment of The Film Score, The Sound of Hollywood. Stories on wfmt.com included a playlist of music to help listeners brave the winter, and a feature on opera's most romantic arias for Valentine's Day.

As part of the Metropolitan Opera's current Ring cycle, WFMT shared with audiences Wagner's Das Rheingold and Die Walküre, and separately, Donizetti's Daughter of the Regiment, Verdi's Falstaff, and Saint-Saëns' Samson and Delilah. Friday nights brought Bughouse Square with Eve Ewing, a series that pairs vintage Studs Terkel interviews with contemporary conversations and commentary from the sociologist and author. wfmt.com observed Women's History Month and Early Music Month with quizzes, stories, and more; presented a Facebook Live performance by cellist Hee-Young Lim; and shared WFMT program hosts' favorite music to usher in spring.

AS THE CITY bid a lingering farewell to winter, Geoffrey Baer offered WTTW audiences the perfect escape: a new special and companion website, Chicago on Vacation. Geoffrey took audiences on a fun and nostalgic road trip to some of the Midwest's most cherished vacation spots, plus some lesser-known locales, as he uncovered their hidden history and sampled their many year-round attractions.

WTTW celebrated Women's History Month with special content, including the season finale of Victoria; an eighth season of Call the Midwife; the film Women, War, and Peace; Mrs. Wilson, a new drama based on a true story from the 1960s, in which actor Ruth Wilson played her own real-life grandmother; and a Great Performances 75th birthday special honoring music icon Joni Mitchell. In advance of the mayoral election, WTTW presented candidate forums on Chicago Tonight, The Choice for Mayor: A WTTW News Special, and a comprehensive online Voter's Guide. wttw.com marked the centennial of the Chicago-raised Nat King Cole, shared some delicious recipes for St. Patrick's Day, and explored the 1963 Chicago Public Schools boycott to accompany a new local documentary that also had community as well, partnering on well-attended screening events for American Creed, Urban Nature 2, and Boss: The Black Experience in Business.

APRIL ARRIVED on WTTW along with an exciting new six-part drama series – an adaptation of Victor Hugo’s classic novel Les Misérables with an all-star cast including Dominic West, David Oyelowo, and Oscar winner Olivia Colman. WTTW’s website also provided episode recaps and other supplementary content. Chicago Tonight and WTTW News also covered the mayoral election. And if spring is a time of renewal, that was certainly true of three of WTTW’s most popular detective series that returned with new seasons, along with Mexico – One Plate at a Time with Rick Bayless and other programs. Audiences also enjoyed Nature: American Spring Live, learned why Marcos Doesn't Live Here Anymore, went Inside Harrods, traveled with Peter Greenberg in Poland: The Royal Tour, recalled Korea: The Never Ending War, heard the story of Holocaust survivor Eva Kor in Eva: A-7063, and took part in International Jazz Day from Cuba.

WFMT presented the annual Ryan Opera Center Rising Stars Concert, co-hosted by Lisa Flynn and Roger Pines, featuring young performers from Lyric Opera of Chicago’s training program. Organist Nathan Laube hosted All the Stops, a four-part Friday evening series highlighting his international organ festival. The Saturday afternoon Metropolitan Opera series included productions of Puccini’s Tosca, Wagner’s Siegfried and Götterdämmerung, and Mozart’s La Clemenza di Tito. There was also content related to Holy Week, Passover, and Easter. wfmt.com sat down with some Grammy-nominated producers to learn what goes into creating classical music recordings, celebrated singers on World Vocal Day, and spotlighted some classical works that originated as literature for World Book Day.

MEMORIAL DAY weekend may have arrived in Chicago accompanied by thunder and lightning, but WFMT's second annual Beach Party went off as scheduled, indoors at Theatre on the Lake with a live audience undeterred by the rain. Hosts Maggie Clennon Reberg and Lisa Flynn welcomed the vocal quartet Chi-Guys, Third Coast Baroque, and other guests for performances and interviews. Everyone had a memorable and fun day.

Also for Memorial Day, WFMT welcomed Chicago Tribune film critic Michael Phillips with a new installment of The Film Score. Audiences also enjoyed more operas from the Met, including Verdi's Aida and Poulenc's Dialogues of the Carmelites. To mark the Holocaust remembrance Yom HaShoah, conductor James Conlon hosted Recovering a Musical Heritage, highlighting composers who were silenced, imprisoned, or killed under the Third Reich. Content on wfmt.com included a preview of upcoming music events, a Facebook Live featuring performers from the Ravinia Festival, and music for Mother's Day.

WTTW also marked the holiday with the annual National Memorial Day

Concert, hosted by Chicagoans Joe Mantegna and Gary Sinise live from the U.S. Capitol. Nature Cat was front and center at several community events, including Evanston's YEA! Festival and the Día del Niño Family Festival at Pilsen's National Museum of Mexican Art. On WTTW, Friday evenings meant music, with a Gershwin Prize tribute to Gloria and Emilio Estefan and three one-woman shows from New York's Appel Room by Cynthia Erivo, Annaleigh Ashford, and Megan Hilty. WTTW also aired Leaps of Faiths and the annual Golden Apple Awards for Excellence in Teaching, and observed Asian Heritage Month with a profile of statesman Norman Mineta and an American Experience highlighting The Chinese Exclusion Act. wttw.com stories included an interview with the Chicago-based winners of the James Beard culinary awards, a look back at Chicago's Pullman Porters strike on its 125th anniversary, and the true history behind Les Misérables.

CELEBRATION 2019

ON WEDNESDAY, May 8, WTTW and WFMT held the organization's annual gala; the year's theme was Over the Moon: A Celebration of WTTW and WFMT. The evening was hosted by Geoffrey Baer (in a space suit!) in anticipation of the upcoming six-hour American Experience miniseries celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Apollo 11 moon landing, Chasing the Moon. The evening's dedicated and hard-working event chairs Renée and Lester Crown devised a magical and unforgettable experience that celebrated this seminal event in American history for the 400-plus generous supporters who attended, along with some very special guests who were interviewed by Phil Ponce and Brandis Friedman – Apollo astronaut James Lovell (who attended with his wife Marilyn), and trailblazing NASA engineer Poppy Northcutt.

As they arrived, guests posed for photos in front of a stunning rendering of the moon, and then moved on to cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in WTTW's strikingly decorated Grainger Studio. There, they enjoyed a program of popular music from the year of the moon landing, 1969, performed by Abby Mueller, Quentin Darrington, Yando Lopez, Katherine Bourne, Meghan Murphy, and dancers Elliot Hammans (Hubbard Street Dance) and Anna Gerberich (Joffrey Ballet), accompanied by a seven-piece band. The program was choreographed by Rachel Rockwell with direction by Roberta Duchak.

After the performance, guests dined in a large transparent tent with white accents. Jewell Events Catering provided the cuisine, with libations from Terlato Wines. The dinner commenced with remarks by Geoffrey Baer, WTTW Board of Trustees Chairman James W. Mabie, and President and CEO Sandra Cordova Micek. The guests departed with some special gifts, including treats from Swirlz Cupcakes.

Thanks in part to the event's lead sponsor BMO Harris Bank, trustee Peter McNitt, and Ray Whitacre, the celebration raised more than $1 million in support of the organization's mission.

JUNE 2019

IN JUNE, WTTW celebrated the 50th anniversary of the iconic educational children's series Sesame Street, welcoming the show's colorful community of monsters, birds, grouches, and humans to Chicago with an all-day outdoor festival and special content on our television, social, and digital platforms. With the warmer weather, WTTW was out in the community, hosting screening events for Chasing the Moon: American Experience and The Lavender Scare.

This month, WTTW presented concert specials featuring Santana, the Doobie Brothers, Prince, Jeff Lynne, and Pavlo, and profiled famed choral conductor Robert Shaw. Rivers of Life explored the Nile, Amazon, and Mississippi Rivers, and POV shone a spotlight on high school sexual assault in Roll Red Roll. And as the station highlighted LGBTQ Pride Month with content that included an American Masters biography of playwright Terrence McNally and two new films, The Lavender Scare and POV: The Gospel of Eureka, wttw.com pointed up Chicago's LGBTQ history, marked the centennial of the Treaty of Versailles and the 75th anniversary of the D-Day invasion, and recapped the new season of Endeavour.

WFMT also celebrated LGBTQ Pride Month with its own special content, and was out and about to launch the summer season of live concerts from the Grant Park Music Festival with behind-the-scenes features from Pritzker Pavilion in Millennium Park on wfmt.com and Facebook Live. This month, as WFMT greeted listeners at the 57th Street Art Fair, audiences heard performances by the Grant Park Orchestra, violinists Benjamin Beitman and Augustin Hadelich, and pianist Inon Barnatan, plus a world premiere by composer Stacy Garrop. WFMT also shared operas by Wagner and Verdi from the Royal Opera House in London. And as the fiscal year drew to a close, wfmt.com offered a special feature highlighting father-child musical duos in honor of Father's Day.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

WTTW Kids BIG IDEA Tour

The WTTW Kids BIG IDEA tour was created to encourage children aged 2-8 to learn via live performances and excerpts from WTTW Kids' most popular shows. There were more than 30 live presentations in the Chicago area.

WTTW Kids Fun Food Fest

The WTTW Kids Fun Food Fest encourages kids to create lifelong healthy habits by taking part in activities inspired by their favorite PBS Kids programs.

WTTW Kids Grandparent Connection

WTTW Kids Grandparent Connection aimed to give seniors a deeper sense of fulfillment and children a greater understanding of their elders. Each event brought children aged 7-9 together with residents at a senior living facility.

Public Events

WTTW and WFMT hosted many public events in connection with our content. The costumed character Nature Cat engaged with the Girl Scouts of Greater Chicago and Northwest Indiana created a Nature Cat Explorer Patch which encouraged kids to engage with nature and science. There were also screenings and discussions with Stanley Nelson regarding his film Boss at the Chicago Cultural Center and at WTTW's Grainger Studio. WTTW also hosted a screening of Minding the Gap, which featured a live conversation with Oscar-nominated filmmakers Bing Liu and Diane Quon. In addition, we continued to present monthly screenings and panel discussions at the Chicago Cultural Center in association with other content producers.

Throughout the year, WFMT presented live broadcasts from the Chicago Cultural Center (the weekly Dame Myra Hess Memorial Concerts), from the Grant Park Music Festival (which also included lively Facebook Live videos prior to each WFMT broadcast); from the Metropolitan Opera; from the lakefront for WFMT's second Beach Party; and from various locations for WFMT Classical Cabaret and other events. WFMT also welcomed guests to the Fay and Daniel Levin Performance Studio for live broadcasts in the Impromptu, Ryan Opera Center Recitals, Folkstage, and Live from WFMT series.
