'We are constantly inspired by the innovation and commitment of the industry. This is something we seek to reflect both in our own working practices and also in the awards we give'

WELCOME TO this year's awards supplement, celebrating the 2016 IWSC winners.

Once again the IWSC has received more entries than ever before, so our trophy winners can be proud of the fact that they have won from an ever-increasing field.

We at the IWSC are constantly inspired by the innovation and commitment of the industry. This is something we seek to reflect both in our own working practices and the awards we give. I am very pleased to say that the IWSC has once again introduced a number of new initiatives that recognise differing aspects of the wine and spirits business, some of these building on successful introductions in 2015.

This year we have launched a wine label design award, won by La Posta Fazzio Malbec 2015, which followed on from the successful spirits label award launched last year. Additionally, building on the success of the Gin and Tonic award, we have launched a Vodka and Tonic award, also supported by our partners at Fever-Tree.

The wine and spirits business is packed with great communicators, and therefore the IWSC Communicator of the Year is keenly fought. The names of previous winners is a veritable who's who of the industry. This year we have taken the decision to split the award to enable us to recognise greatness in both wine and spirits communication simultaneously. This year the Wine Communicator, supported by our friends at Vinality, was won by a previous winner of the Communicator award, the irrepressible Joe Wadsack, with Alice Lascelles picking up the Spirits Communicator award – heartfelt congratulations to them both.

I would like to extend a personal thanks to our president, Matteo Lunelli, who has been a constant and energetic supporter of the IWSC over the past 12 months. Beginning with the now traditional head-to-head press dinner with his predecessor Neil McGuigan at Balthazar in Covent Garden, London, where attendees were treated to a night of fabulous food and wine matched with Ferrari and McGuigan wines and some gentle verbal sparring between our president and immediate past president.

Following this, Matteo hosted a dinner held for the regional wine marketing bodies at Prowein and then our Influencers Dinner at Vintners Hall in London, where we were pleased to welcome the Master Vintner as an honoured guest.

Matteo also presented a masterclass on Ferrari wines at the London Wine Fair, and we thank him for all his support which makes the IWSC team's job easier and much more enjoyable.

Naturally, I would also like to welcome Chris Blandy, our incoming president and first from Madeira. I look forward to working with him over the coming year and developing the IWSC further still. At 47 years old, the competition goes from strength to strength and seems to be hitting its stride. I look forward to revealing more innovation, recognising more quality and drawing more inspiration from our ever-fascinating industry.

Allen Gibbons
Group Chief Executive Officer

Thank you to our media partners for their continued support:

president's message

I AM extremely pleased and honoured to have served as President of the IWSC; it is a privilege to be the third Italian president and to follow in the footsteps of my esteemed fellow countrymen, Marchese Piero Antinori and Marchese Leonardo de' Frescobaldi, who are icons of the wine world.

The presidency of the IWSC has been a great experience, giving me the opportunity to meet a diverse range of international wine, spirits and liqueur producers from all corners of the globe. The IWSC aims primarily to award excellence in wines and spirits worldwide, to communicate to and educate large audiences on the differences in style and characteristics within the wine and spirits sector. I am proud that once again the IWSC has received its highest ever level of entries making 2016 another successful year.

My first activity as president was going "head-to-head" with my predecessor Neil McGuigan at the Presidents' Press Dinner held at Balthazar in London. The dinner was in line with the ethos of the IWSC; we paired wines from Australia with our Ferrari Trentodoc from Northern Italy, wines that celebrated territorial diversity yet a shared commonality of seeking excellence in every glass.

I was also privileged to attend the 'Wine Bureau' dinner in Düsseldorf during Prowein, where we hosted the heads of many of the UK's wine marketing bodies for a relaxed evening of information exchange and brainstorming. It was interesting to know how each bureau is organised and financed and to discuss the trends of our sector in different countries.

The IWSC has also been a protagonist of the London Wine Fair, where we organised numerous masterclasses; some of them dedicated to specific markets and producers, others focusing on food and wine pairings, with others solely dedicated to the tasting of unique wines. These tastings received positive feedback from all attendees and further emphasised the role of the IWSC in educating the consumer in fully understanding the beauty and diversity of the wine world. One of these masterclasses was dedicated to Ferrari sparkling wines and I had the pleasure to present our Trentodoc to an expert and interested audience.

During the summer the IWSC held its 'Influencers Dinner' in the prestigious board room of the Worshipful Company of Vintners in London. I was delighted to meet key industry figures from the UK, Europe, South Africa and the United States, as well as the Master of the Vintners Company, Mr Charles Leschallas.

These events were significant occasions for wine and spirits producers to meet and exchange ideas and impressions with others about the best strategies on promoting the culture of fine wine and spirits around the world. I believe this is a valuable platform for highlighting the link between each wine and the tradition, history and culture of the territories from where they have originated.

During my tenure as IWSC president I looked for new growth opportunities for the IWSC, particularly in the Italian wine market where I have strong roots and history. One memorable occasion was the awarding of the Wine Communicator of the Year Trophy, which celebrates wine experts for their exceptional contribution towards increasing consumer awareness of wine. The 2016 trophy, awarded to Joe Wadsack, received very good visibility thanks to its presentation during the celebration of the 50th Vinitaly trade fair – one of the most important events for wine in Europe. During this fair, Joe hosted masterclasses and IWSC tastings, highlighting the diversity and excellence stemming from different regions.

Looking ahead, I believe the IWSC should maintain a strong link with wine personalities, as they play a key role within the wine and spirits world. They are global ambassadors who can transfer their passion for wine and spirits to a wide audience with simplicity and ease.

I would like to thank all the people who work day after day in order to spread the passion for spirits and wine, for their land, traditions and history.

I would also like to thank immensely the IWSC team for the support they have given me while embarking on this incredible journey. I am very grateful for this opportunity and I wish the IWSC an outstanding 2017!

TRUST and respect

‘Over five decades the IWSC has built a reputation as the world’s premier wine and spirits competition. Global consumers trust and seek the IWSC medal’

Ewan Lacey, IWSC managing director

2016 SAW the IWSC travel from Germany to Hong Kong via Italy and London, welcome a record number of wine and spirits entries, launch a raft of new retailer award categories and host its biggest spirits tasting to date.

PROWEIN

The IWSC was once again present at the world’s biggest wine and spirits trade fair in March, attended by thousands of wine and spirits buyers, exhibitors and journalists.

This year, the IWSC hosted a dinner to show support for the industry, which was attended by representatives from Wines of Australia, Wines of New Zealand, Wines of Portugal, Wines of Brazil, Vini del Trentino and this year’s IWSC President, Matteo Lunelli of the Ferrari Winery in Trento.

VINITALY

IWSC award sponsor Vinality presented Joe Wadsack with this year’s Wine Communicator of the Year Trophy at this year’s 2016 Vinality – which marked the trade fair’s 50th year. Joe took the opportunity to host a food and wine pairing masterclass at the event.

LONDON WINE FAIR

Once again the IWSC pitched up at London’s biggest trade fair, enlisting the help of top wine and spirits experts for a host of masterclasses. Wine writer Susy Atkins shared her knowledge of English fizz with attendees while Joe Wadsack drew on his expertise to host a session on food and wine pairing.

Matteo Lunelli, CEO of the Ferrari Winery, presented his range of Trentodoc sparkling wines, while Neil Ridley and Joel Harrison capped off the three-day event with a spirits masterclass.

IWSC SPIRITS TASTING

Held at the Worshipful Company of Distillers in London, this year’s IWSC Spirit Tasting featured hundreds of award-winning spirits and showcased the winners of the competition’s expanded packaging awards, including Design , Range of the Year and, for the first time, the Vodka and Tonic Trophy.

WHAT MAKES THE IWSC DIFFERENT?

JUDGING PROCESS

Judging takes place for seven months of the year, using more than 300 judges. To ensure complete objectivity, the IWSC uses a unique double-blind judging method, meaning the judges never see a bottle.

They are served samples in pre-numbered glasses only. A secondary chemical and technical evaluation is undertaken by Campden BRI after the judges’ scores have been recorded.

Our team takes each product received into our dedicated cellars giving each one the due care and attention needed when preparing flights for judges.

WHY ENTER THE IWSC?

INDUSTRY RESPECT

With 47 years’ experience, the IWSC is widely recognised as the original, the most prestigious and the most respected wine and spirits competition in the world. Global consumers trust and seek the IWSC medal when making purchasing decisions.

Joe Wadsack, Wine Communicator of the Year, talks wine and food pairing

How to enter the IWSC

1. Choose your products to enter into the competition
2. Visit iwsc.net
3. Register or log in to complete the entry form
4. Send your products to the competition cellars

RAISE YOUR PROFILE

Competition winners receive a free marketing toolkit to assist in the PR and marketing of medal wins. Dedicated social media campaigns ensure winners are promoted year round with consumer friendly campaigns including #winwednesday and #thirstythursday.

INCREASE YOUR SALES

Winners are published in a supplement produced by the drinks business distributed to more than 10,000 international subscribers showcasing winning products to buyers worldwide. Medal-winning wines and spirits available in the UK are highlighted on Amazon.co.uk and the price comparison website Winesdirect.co.uk. Official IWSC medal stickers ensure differentiation on a crowded retail shelf.

TRADE SHOW PROMOTION

Competition representatives promote winners at trade shows all over the world, including WSWA, Vinality, Mercado Chileno, ProWein, Millésime Bio and the Hong Kong International Wine and Spirit Fair.

Sponsor: ProWein

ProWein in Düsseldorf is the world's leading trade show for wine and spirits; the largest industry meeting for professionals from viticulture, production, trade and gastronomy. With more than 55,700 visitors and in excess of 6,250 exhibitors on 68,232 sq metres of floorspace, the event has earned its reputation as a unique global business platform for the wine and spirits trade, food wholesale and retail professionals, gastronomy and the hotel industry, importers, exporters, mail order businesses and specialised associations and institutions.

As the outstanding event in the industry, ProWein both reflects and predicts trends across the world, and its informative and multi-faceted supporting programme of seminars, forums and tastings provides countless presentation possibilities for exhibitors and sources of inspiration for visitors.

ProWine ASIA in Hong Kong (8-11 May 2017) and Singapore (24-27 April 2018) are the newest additions to the ProWein World series of international trade shows for wine and spirits, supplementing ProWine China (7-9 November 2016) from this year onwards. The next ProWein runs from 19-21 March, 2017 in Düsseldorf.

Speyside Glenlivet is part of Highland Spring Group, the UK's largest producer of natural source bottled water. Sourced from the highest natural spring in the UK, its unusually low mineral content gives this water a remarkable soft, clean taste and makes it an ideal accompaniment for fine food and wine. Like any fine product, Speyside Glenlivet deserves a perfect serve. It should be chilled between 12°C and 15°C and, as additional flavours will compromise the purity of the water, served without ice or fruit.

TALKING heads

This year the IWSC praised two personalities for their communicative prowess in wines and spirits

JOE WADSACK
How did you catch the wine bug?

I grew up in a pub restaurant with my parents and my brother. I loved real ale, and the whole buzz of a successful pub and restaurant. Wine seemed to be a natural progression – a step up in complexity and subtlety. Having decided to leave the Royal Air Force in 1991, where I was training to be a fighter pilot, I found the idea of doing something so soulful, different and opposite highly intoxicating. Learning another language (French), and living in another country and culture was a far cry from studying material sciences and engineering at Salford, or pure chemistry at Manchester. It certainly felt different to learning about bombs and guns. It wasn't just a departure, it was a new beginning.

You recently teamed up with chef Tom Kerridge to host the BBC's Food and Drink – how did you find the experience?

The whole experience was a pleasure, albeit a hard-working one. The hours are unsociable, the work is poorly paid, and the environment is tiring and uncomfortable. However every night Tom would leave the studio around midnight, drive to one of his sites and check on his staff, before going home, then get up for a swim before being back in the studio for 7am. I live six miles from the studio and I felt so exhausted. I would often find the same taxi driver downstairs asleep, ready to take me back to studio the next day, but Tom was usually already in the studio after his 100-mile round trip each morning. There's a man wedded to his cause. He is a great cook, a doting husband, and the nicest, most patient, polite and kind chef I've ever worked with on TV, with the possible exception of my dear friend Paul Rankin.

WINE COMMUNICATOR OF THE YEAR

How can the trade improve the way it talks to consumers about wine?

That's easy. Don't patronise them. Don't 'educate' them. Give as many reasons as you can to make them want to know, and they will find out for themselves.

My best friend Nick Dymoke-Marr made me read a book once called The Cluetrain Manifesto. It was a profound re-evaluation of the way corporations should look at their customers through social media and how web communities were going to be the decision makers of the future.

With the youth of today having grown up with web 2.0, they are much more marketing-aware than we ever were. Teenagers watch compilations of advertisements for fun. They judge everything. So, always assume that your audience is at least as clever as you, and don't lie to them. Ever.

Are there any regions or styles that we should be re-evaluating at the moment?

Sherry and Port wines and dessert wines. Sherry and Port because they take time to make, and if we don't support them now, VINITALY, organised by Veronafiere, one of the world's largest international wine and spirit trade shows with more than 4,200 exhibitors and 150,000 visitors in 2016, will be held in Verona, Italy between 9-12 April 2017.

VINITALY created and has sponsored the Communicator of the Year award since its inception in 1996, when Jancis Robinson MW became the first to receive the accolade. The award has been designed to recognize individuals or organizations whose communication skills have made an exceptional contribution towards promoting and increasing public awareness and interest in wines and spirits over the previous 12 months, whether through publishing, journalism, new media, radio or television.

the companies that make them will suffer years down the line, when everybody eventually decides that they were wrong. Dessert wines because they WILL come back into fashion. Everybody loves them, or claims to, but they don't get off their arses and buy them. Dessert wines and their drinkers are like two pandas in a cage – they need a shove in the right direction.

Any other projects we should know about?

Let's just say that I will be in charge of camera and content from now on. Also, you will be seeing a lot more wine blends from me, from places that you least expect.

SHORTLIST

- ▶ Cathy Huyghe
- ▶ Will Lyons
- ▶ Susy Atkins
- ▶ Sarah-Jane Evans MW

ALICE LASCELLES

What first enticed you into spirits?

My first job as a journalist was on the trade magazine Wine & Spirit International. I started off more on the wine side, but the cocktail scene was really starting to take off in Shoreditch, where I worked, and I was soon distracted by spirits – it was a very exciting time. One of my first assignments was visiting the Jura whisky distillery and the romance of it all, the adventure, the people, the history around it really blew me away. I was hooked after that.

You published your debut book, Ten Cocktails: The Art of Convivial Drinking, last year. How did you find the experience and what's it all about?

I had been approached by various publishers to do drinks books before, but all their ideas were very generic. I wanted to do something different. I wanted to tell the stories that I would tell someone if I were making them a drink in my own kitchen, amazing stories from history, my own travels, tips for making the drinks, insight into how things are made. I wanted it to be conversational, not encyclopaedic, because that conviviality is a huge part of what the drinks world is about. I wanted to show how the liquid in your glass is just the start of a big cultural adventure.

How can the trade improve the way it talks to consumers about spirits?

I find the moment people's eyes really light up is when you set the scene. Instead of just talking about how vermouth is made, describe the aperitivo hour, the food, the atmosphere, where that moment, that drink, might fit in their lives (after work/ at night/ at a party). People think drinks are complicated/snobby/expensive. They need to see how easy they can be. Way too often, cocktail recipes in magazines are unrealistically complicated. People are very worried about getting it wrong. It's about inspiring them and building confidence.

What tipples are you currently favouring?

Having spent a long time getting into all the molecular/sensory stuff I'm now returning to much simpler drinks: Negronis, G&Ts, whisky and soda, lots of vermouth and really just playing with the details – trying an alternative to Campari, a different whisky, or varying the garnish. I'm also a complete punch zealot. I always make punch for my talks and parties. It has such an amazing history and is so easy. I'm more interested in ingredients than techniques these days, which is why I love bartenders like Marcis Dzelzainis (Sager + Wilde), who makes very simple drinks with fantastic flavours. I think the influence

BRILLIANCE undiminished

Hailed as 'brilliant' more than three decades ago, Neil McGuigan has lived up to that early promise and is now claiming a fourth IWSC Winemaker of the Year award

AUSTRALIAN WINEMAKER Neil McGuigan has led McGuigan Wines to claim the prestigious title of IWSC Winemaker of the Year for a fourth time.

Established in 1992, McGuigan Wines is based in the Hunter Valley in New South Wales and the Barossa Valley in South Australia. One of Australia's most recognised wine brands, it has grown to become a household name the world over.

Part of Australian Vintage, its portfolio of wines is overseen by McGuigan, who rose to fame in 1985 when the restaurateur and wine merchant Johnny Walker referred to him as "the most brilliant young winemaker of his time".

Growing up in a family of winemakers in the Hunter Valley led McGuigan to pursue a career in winemaking and viticulture. After graduating with a degree in oenology in South Australia, he joined his brother Brian as a winemaker at Wyndham Estate, where he established his career, eventually moving into the role of group production director. From there he worked with Brian and his other brother, Ross, to establish the McGuigan Brothers label before becoming a part-owner and winemaker for Briar Ridge Vineyard in the Hunter Valley.

His next challenge took him to Rothbury Estate in the role of general manager and chief winemaker for four years before he rejoined Brian at McGuigan Simeon Wines (now Australian Vintage) as general manager of production and wine supply in 2004. Neil was appointed chief executive of Australian Vintage in 2010.

McGuigan, known for its commitment to innovation, in recent years, has pioneered a new image for the Hunter Valley's famous but often under-valued Semillon variety. The launch of The Semillon Blanc sought to challenge the success of Sauvignon Blanc and resulted in McGuigan successfully doubling UK sales of Semillon within a year. Other recent projects include a sparkling Semillon aimed at Prosecco lovers called McGuigan Frizzante, which was created "to take on our friends from Italy," joked McGuigan when it was released. The company has also set its sights on growing categories such as lower alcohol wine and rosé, releasing a Provençal-style rosé made from Adelaide Hills Pinot Noir earlier this year in collaboration with the London-based Australian chef John Torode. Most recently, McGuigan added a single-varietal Malbec to its Black Label range, offering an Australian take on an Argentine classic.

"We've got lots of exciting things in the pipeline, but my big focus at the moment is producing Malbec in Australia," said McGuigan. "We've got vines being planted in two locations this year. From premium, which is currently in market now through our Black Label range in the UK, to super premium there's definitely a taste and market for the varietal in Australia." db

GLEN gamble

The first spirit from William Grant's distillery in Glenfiddich ran into casks 130 years ago next year.
Now the company is a world leader in the industry

FROM HUMBLE beginnings in the Highland community of Dufftown, William Grant & Sons has grown to become one of the world's biggest spirits producers.

Its founder, William Grant, was born in the Highland town in 1839 and initially began work tending cattle at the age of seven, but later developed an interest in whisky after starting work at a local distillery in 1866. Twenty years later, in 1886, Grant's dream of opening his own distillery was realised when his family raised enough money to buy land in Glenfiddich ("Valley of the Deer" – hence the whisky's logo) where he would build the now famous distillery. The first spirit ran from its stills in 1887.

In 1893 Grant founded another distillery, The Balvenie, which he built alongside the original Glenfiddich site. Five years later he created the blended label Grant's, which is today the fourth largest Scotch brand in the world.

While Scotch is still central to its portfolio, William Grant now counts

Hendrick's Gin, Drambuie, Reyka vodka, Russian Standard vodka and Tullamore Dew Irish whiskey among its growing portfolio of global brands.

This year the distiller launched its Glenfiddich Experimental Series, a duo of whiskies that included its Glenfiddich IPA Experiment, the first single malt Scotch whisky finished in IPA craft beer casks. Project XX meanwhile was the result of a collaboration between 20 Glenfiddich brand ambassadors, each invited to select a single cask from its distillery, which malt master Brian Kinsman would use to produce one unique blend.

This year also saw The Balvenie's malt master, David Stewart, presented with an MBE by Her Majesty the Queen for his services to the Scotch whisky industry, to which he has dedicated 54 years of his life. His pioneering techniques have had a profound impact on Scotch whisky production methods, particularly in relation to various experimental cask finishes.

In March 2016 Simon Hunt stepped into

This year the family-owned group reported a rise in profits after tax of 8.9% for 2015, hitting a record high of £147.4 million (US$191.2m). The company also noted Hendrick's Gin continued rapid growth and named the blended malt Monkey Shoulder its eighth "core brand".

"This success was driven by our constant focus on building brands and investing in them for the long term," said Hunt. # DOING the double

This year, unusually, the IWSC award for Outstanding Achievement marks the special contributions made by two individuals to the wine trade

THE JULIAN BRIND MEMORIAL TROPHY FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT IN THE WINE INDUSTRY: ROSS CARTER

Ross Carter has won considerable admiration in his role as the event director of the London Wine Fair (LWF), a position he has held for four years. Prior to that he was a buyer at PLB Group, and before that he completed two vintages on wine estates in New Zealand.

Since his appointment at the helm of the LWF, Carter has implemented a number of strategic changes which have better aligned the show with today's UK wine market, with a particular focus on the independents and sommeliers.

On taking up the challenge of revitalising the LWF, Carter observed that there needed to be a "cultural change" in the way visitors and exhibitors experienced the fair. Part of this, he explained, was the decision to take the fair back to its roots, returning to Olympia in London.

Carter also recognised that the LWF's biggest rivals were not the likes of ProWein or Vinexpo, but rather the smaller portfolio and generic tastings that take place throughout the year.

In 2015, alongside his event director role, Carter launched the newsletter The Grapevine with editor Richard Siddle, which now has a fortnightly audience of more than 12,000. In the same year he partnered with Bottlebooks to become its UK partner, with the system now being used by importers across the UK.

Commenting on Carter's award, the IWSC judging panel collectively said it had been "aware of Ross in the trade for a number of years" and had been impressed by the way he had navigated his way through the industry, learning about a range of aspects including winemaking and buying, which it said "gives him an edge" when talking to people in his current role of running the London Wine Fair.

"Ross is only just getting started and we envisage great things to come," it added.

THE JULIAN BRIND MEMORIAL TROPHY FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT IN THE WINE INDUSTRY: JUSTIN HOWARD-SNEYD MW

A hugely well-liked and respected character in the wine trade, Justin Howard-Sneyd MW branched out with his own consultancy business in 2012 and advises a wide range of wine businesses around the world, helping them to maximise their potential.

One of his major clients is Laithwaite's Wine, the world's largest direct-to-consumer wine business, where he spent three years as the company's global wine director.

"Justin has an energy and passion for his subject, and has achieved a massive amount since leaving 'secure employment', particularly in the last year," said IWSC director Frances Horder. "He is one of the most creative thinkers I have met, a true entrepreneur, and a doer. I'm staggered at how much he's achieved."

outstanding achievements

Justin Howard-Sneyd MW

Before joining Laithwaite's, Justin spent 14 years as a wine buyer in the UK off-trade, where he worked for the supermarkets Safeway, J Sainsbury and Waitrose, heading the Waitrose wine department for five years and steering the team to a cabinet full of awards. Sneyd's passion for wine started young; his early ventures included working in wine shops, running a wine school and working as a cellar-hand and assistant winemaker in four different countries.

Horder says: "Justin is driven and focused on his aim to help people understand more about wine. He also has a remarkable ability to communicate and reach people at any level of understanding. He doesn't have the aloofness or snobbishness that often goes with people of his calibre."

Keen to make his own wine, since 2007 Howard-Sneyd has crafted Domaine of the Bee wines from four hectares of vines near the village of Maury in the southern French region of the Roussillon. Field of the Bee is a barrel-aged white blend of 50% Grenache

Blanc and 50% Grenache Gris. His flagship red, Domaine of the Bee, is a Grenache/Carignan blend aged for 14 months in a mixture of used and new French oak. He also makes an English sparkling wine called Hart of Gold from Pinot Noir, Meunier and Chardonnay grown in Herefordshire in collaboration with the Roberts family at their Ridgeview estate in East Sussex. The fizz spends three years on its lees before being disgorged.

IWSC judge Anne Jones of Waitrose said: "It was a pleasure to judge from such a strong shortlist this year and to see the dedication and creativity displayed by all the candidates. I am convinced that Julian Brind would be delighted to recognise Justin for his achievements." clb

The late Julian Brind MW was a leading light in the wine trade and an integral part of the Waitrose wine team for over 40 years. We have created this award in association with the IWSC, where he was a long-standing judge, to honour his contribution and service to the trade that he loved. He was a trusted and committed mentor to many aspiring young wine professionals, as well as being a dedicated family man, full of energy both for his work and his leisure activities.

Julian was always interested in quality and true wine value; he was also unswervingly enthusiastic about innovation and discovery. For example, as a supermarket buyer in 1973, he was involved right at the start of the New Zealand Sauvignon craze.

Each year we award this prize to the man or woman who demonstrates they have the courage of their convictions, dedication to the industry and real passion for wine. The intended recipient will have established an early track record in their field, be seen to be "going places", and will already be taking part in the wider aspects of the wine trade, showing commitment and determination in everything they do.

online retailer

MASTERLY work

From small beginnings, Master of Malt has pioneered new ways of selling spirits online, from sample sizes to blend-your-own whiskies

ONLINE RETAILER OF THE YEAR: MASTER OF MALT

Founded in 1985, Master of Malt has grown from a small shop in Royal Tunbridge Wells, selling whisky by mail order, to an online specialist stocking 9,000 products, from rare and obscure malts to up-and-coming rums.

Over three decades it has vastly expanded its catalogue of single malts, spirits, liqueurs, and cocktail ingredients, but the crunch came in 2009, when the company grew “a hundredfold”, explains online editor Jake Mountain.

Its Drinks by the Dram concept – a range of around 5,500 spirits that are available as individual 3cl samples – has been a great success (helped by the company’s independent bottling business) as it puts more esoteric and expensive choices within reach of most people’s budgets. And despite the name, it’s not all about malts.

“Rum, Cognac, Armagnac, gin, Tequila and vodka all have the potential for a huge level of variety and interesting subdivision,” notes Mountain.

It has been some of its quirkier products that have most caught the public’s imagination – from personalised or blend-your-own whisky to build-your-own tasting set or advent calendar. The site also offers a Gift Finder to help customers make choices online, while a trained customer service team is on hand 24/7 to help guide purchases.

Key achievements include introducing free UK shipping on thousands of lines (if at least one item in your basket is a ‘free shipping’ item, the whole order ships for free) and “fixing the retail evil that is gift vouchers” by ensuring that vouchers not only never expire but also earn interest.

“We don’t just offer an extraordinary range of drinks at great prices, we work tirelessly to offer a superior customer service. Our motto is and has always been ‘Good enough isn’t good enough’, and that’s at the heart of everything we do,” says Mountain. db

THE CASE in favour

Discount supermarket chain Aldi's move into online wine sales has proved massively successful

INNOVATOR OF THE YEAR: ALDI

It has been a good year for Aldi. 2016 started with the launch of its hotly-anticipated wine-by-the-case ecommerce, which allowed it to boost its wine range from 70 to 117 skus, introducing web-only exclusives and working toward its aim of making "quality wine accessible to all, whatever the budget".

Online wine sales have proved so popular the team have had to double sales forecasts for the year. But the real success lay in the online operation expanding the discounter's customer reach nationwide.

Described by the team as "an investment in Aldi's future as a respected wine retailer", the site has successfully targeted London and the South East, where the discounter has far fewer stores. Despite this, the region accounts for one in five cases purchased online.

Aldi's other big first was its three-day dedicated pop-up wine shop at the trendy Box Park in Shoreditch, East London, which was visited by more than 2,000 consumers as part of its official sponsorship of London Wine Week. The sponsorship lent "topicality" to the futuristic store, and "helped position Aldi as a credible player in the wine industry" the chain said, but again it was about exposing its online wines to a larger, southern-based audience.

Its credentials were further underlined by its sponsorship of ITV's The Wine Show to "showcase the credibility and quality of Aldi's wine offer to a broader and potentially new audience".

"An impressive raft of consumer engagement activity reinforced with clear ranging," said judge Rosie Davenport, of Rosie Davenport Consulting. "Top marks for being first to market with its pop-up."

Judge David Cox, chief executive of The Benevolent, said Aldi was on an "impressive journey" and praised its approach to a simple and clear range, incorporating some innovative ideas.

The discounter said it continually keeps a close eye on the market to ensure it brings new and exciting products to market in line with what customers want.

"We are aware of the important role played by 'millennials' in the future of the drinks industry, and in a bid to target this group, we teamed up with South African winemaker Origin Wines to launch a range of ground-breaking 'craft wines', packaged in 50cl beer bottles, reminiscent of the trendy craft beer movement," it said.

This project could prove a game-changer in busting preconceptions around wine.

"Having a small, UK-dedicated BWS buying team means that we can be agile and swift on our feet when it comes to thinking about innovation and new product launches," Aldi says.

Much is down to its forward-thinking and experienced BWS head, Mike James, aided by buying directors Dan Hobson (beers and spirits), and David Elliot (wine), who joined the team this year, and their keenness to collaborate.

"Expertise, experience and long-term consistency at all levels within the Aldi buying team enables an in-depth understanding of the product and fostering of relationships with our suppliers," Aldi said.

"The strength of our supplier relations and fixed contracts ensures that margins on each product stay healthy and consumers are always presented with the best price, without compromising on award-winning quality." db

independent retailer

The Market House in Altrincham

Independent SPIRIT

Reserve Wines' ethos of putting the customer at ease and encouraging experimentation has seen it scoop the IWSC Independent Retailer Award

INDEPENDENT RETAILER OF THE YEAR: RESERVE WINES

Variety is what makes Manchester-based Reserve Wines tick.

The independent retailer has gone from one to three sites over the past 18 months, with the setting and atmosphere of each site tailored for a varied demographic, says owner Kate Goodman.

The ethos behind its flagship store in West Didsbury, a traditional merchant's shop that supplies consumers and an increasing number of trade clients, was to create an accessible space where people feel at ease.

"It's my feeling that wine should be fun and enjoyable, and people are more geared up to that now than when we opened 13 years ago," Goodman says.

This is reflected in the way the shop floor is structured and run. Each of its broad and fluid 500 to 600-line core range of wines has a handwritten tasting note and thoughts on what to pair it with, complemented by a wide selection of spirits and craft beers. A strong focus on events is also evident, with Goodman hosting regular tastings for customers and running a wine club out of the shop. Having built up a following, the club developed its own 'wine quiz in a box' event to help people host their own tastings.

But it is Reserve Wines' second site, in the restored Market House in Altrincham, that takes this easy-going atmosphere up a notch, with its part-retail, part-wine bar vibe. The Market House comprises a selection of specialist, mainly food, shops set around communal tables where people eat and drink and where events can be hosted. At this location, Reserve Wines has curated a 200-strong list of wines chosen to be more food friendly and "dynamic", Goodman says, matching whatever food is on offer.

A neighbouring beer shop means the team has steered clear of beer at this site. Because wines are sold by the glass, with less chance of wastage ("We know it will sell"), customers are encouraged to try before they buy.

"It is lovely to be in the position where people can try the wines – what I love is the immediate feedback," Goodman says.

The final site is a concession within a 'destination' garden centre in Warrington, which opened within months of the Altrincham site, and shares its food-orientated range, stocking around 300 to 400 wines.

Overall, around 25% to 30% of wines are bought direct from producers, but the team is keen to centralise some of these functions across the three sites as the business grows.

"It is interesting for me to balance it all, retain individuality across these sites and for each team to drive the business – we have to be dynamic and flexible," says Goodman. "As an indie, it is our job to get people drinking lots of different types of things, not so much learning about it, but trying and experimenting." db

SUCCESS in store

Service, quality and engagement were key to Waitrose exciting consumers and impressing judges

IT WAS Waitrose’s service as much as its quality-driven range that set it apart and allowed it to scoop this year’s Supermarket of the Year award.

The strategy, as Waitrose’s head of buying, Pierpaolo Petrassi MW, points out is to ensure the “unashamedly premium” BWS aisle is brought to life by “a superior environment in store”.

The retailer is increasingly rolling out a more interactive service, delivered through its wine bars and cafés which Petrassi says “tell a good story in terms of why food and wine should be consumed together”, which reached an apogee with its inaugural Wine Festival in September. Online is also being used to broaden its range, with the launch of dedicated Champagne and whisky ‘shops’ allowing it to sell niche products.

It has also refused to follow the current trend of cutting SKUs.

“Our customers still want a rich kaleidoscope [of wines], they tell us they want us to curate new things, they want to be able to buy the classics and want us to be the archetypal retailer to show us what those classics are,” Petrassi explains.

This is mainly done through own-label, the proportion of which is low compared with its competitors, as well as its broader grocery offering (around 15% or so of its wine range). Rather than using own-label to tempt consumers to try new things, it pushes the boundaries with smaller producers and new areas.

This year has seen the retailer strengthen its range of regional Australian wines, boost a flagging Burgundy section and roll out new Sicilian and Andalucian wines for Christmas. Its Fine Wines range has also been bolstered by more upmarket wines (many £12-£15 wines were ‘demoted’ into its core lines to make space for wines prices around £25 bracket) and there’s a greater focus on wine parcels.

“Waitrose continues to lead the field in all aspects of BWS, with great consumer engagement,” judge Lesley Gray, marketing manager at ABS Wine Agencies concluded, while judge Rosie Davenport described the retailer as the “standard-bearer” in the sector, exciting consumers with its impressive range. db

Hannah Cvetkovic, Lidl spirits buyer

RETAIL SPIRITS BUYER OF THE YEAR: Lidl

The spirits range at Lidl has gone through a regeneration in the past year, and credit for its transformation lies with its one-woman buying team, Hannah Cvetkovic, along with former head of BWS, Ben Hulme, and the wider BWS team.

Having completed the Harrods Retail Management Graduate Scheme, Cvetkovic joined Lidl in October 2014, later taking on the spirits category.

One of Cvetkovic’s first moves was to boost the range from 40 to 60 products, with a heavier focus on seasonal rotation, artisan gins, premium aged Scotch whiskies and ready-to-drink formats, which Lidl says offers its customers a much wider selection.

Three in particular garnered acclaim – the Hortus Artisan Dry Gin that launched last Christmas (a Sloe Gin and Oriental Spiced Gin have just been added), the three-strong Sherry cask-finished Glen Alba whisky and the single-malt Speyside and Islay Ben Bracken Scotch whisky ranges – which Lidl says has “elevated its offer” and established it as a retailer that puts the quality of its spirits at the forefront of its range.

“This is evident in the ongoing uplift in sales, which has continued over recent months,” it added, pointing to an extremely strong growth in the spirits category over the festive period, or 40% year on year.

This growth has been sustained, with spirits growing ahead of the business over the summer, sustaining double-digit growth with the introduction of nine summer lines – predominantly in ready-to-drink formats. However, Cvetkovic hasn’t finished yet and the range will be refined in 2017.

“The category continues to grow as a proportion of Lidl UK’s total business and there remains scope for this trend to continue over the coming months,” the team said. “There is always room for innovation and improvement.” db

M&S winemakers Belinda Kleinig, Jeneve Williams and Sue Daniels

RETAIL WINE BUYER OF THE YEAR: Marks & Spencer

Customers seem to love what M&S's wine buying team are doing – the retailer's market share to April 2016 grew by an entire percentage point from 4.5% to 5.5% – and clearly, so do IWSC judges.

Scooping the retail wine buying team for the third year in a row, the M&S team comprises three buyers: Yves Fourcade, who buys for Australia, New Zealand, Spain and Portugal, and the Rhône and Languedoc regions in France; Emma Dawson, who specialises in Burgundy, the Eastern Mediterranean and South America; and Dror Nativ, who has responsibility for North America, Sherry, Port, South Africa, Italy, the Loire and Alsace.

Three winemakers, Jeneve Williams, Belinda Kleinig and Sue Daniels, work alongside the buying team and wineries around the world to oversee production and blending. This year they clocked up around 600 days travelling in their respective territories, visiting 250 producers and blending 500 wines to bring those innovations to the shelf.

According to M&S's trading manager, Garry Brooking, the team's strength lies in balancing customer favourites with exciting innovation across a diverse range – offering products that champion wine producers and demonstrate the retailer's credibility.

The team drives interest with around 20% of the range revolving each year. 2016 has seen revisions in South Africa,

Bordeaux, Australia, and the Eastern Mediterranean, with the addition of wines from Crete and Cyprus in a bid to encourage consumers to explore lesser-known-regions.

But innovation does not only take place on the shelf, the team has revamped merchandising with its new-look 'wine shop' now live in 20 stores, with a further 40 planned by the end of the financial year.

"It is aimed at bringing to life our wine credentials," Brooking explains, "our breadth of offer, exciting innovation and

WINE IMPORTER OF THE YEAR: MATTHEW CLARK

A drinks wholesaler with more than 200 years of experience, Matthew Clark has long been a key influencer of the UK on-trade, supplying to over 16,000 venues throughout the UK.

Its wine range numbers 1,400, from entry level to premium, from 17 countries, including cuvées from a number of Grandes Marques and grower Champagne houses. Recent additions to its portfolio from the New World include Freemark Abbey in Napa, and the premium Chilean wine producer VIK. Its Spanish portfolio, meanwhile, is renowned for including some of the country's top producers, including Cune, Contino, Baigorri and Torres.

This year the company grew its 'Wines of Distinction' range by a third in an effort to boost its premium offering, introducing 190 new wines. The company reported a 22.6% increase in volume sales of wines in the range for the 12 months to February 2016. In the 12 months to 30 June 2016, Matthew Clark delivered more than 51 million bottles of wine, with still wine sales up 7.2%, driven in part by wines from cool climate regions.

In 2015 Matthew Clark was bought by Conviviality for £200m, with CEO Diana Hunter saying the move would help it to serve a more diverse range of customers, build its wine and spirit volumes and further strengthen its retail channels. db Michael Vachon co-founded Maverick Drinks in 2013 with the aim of "shaking up the drinks industry".

Since then the drinks distributor has helped bring a raft of unique craft spirits to the UK, recognising the growing demand for "products with provenance, authenticity and craftsmanship".

Its diverse portfolio features craft spirits from the UK, US and Europe, including Bathtub Gin, My Lyan, Balcones Distilling, Darkness and Drinks by the Dram.

Its UK distribution network now covers high street outlets, wholesalers and online retailers, including Ocado, Majestic, The Whisky Exchange, Master of Malt, Amazon, and luxury retailers such as Selfridges, Harvey Nichols, and Fortnum & Mason.

Vachon, head of brand development, is supported by a portfolio ambassador, bartender James Goggin, former head bartender at London's Happiness Forgets, which was ranked #6 in the World's 50 Best Bars in 2014. Goggin is responsible for educating consumers and bartenders on the merits of craft spirits.

Maverick Drinks is the distribution arm of ATOM Supplies Ltd, which also runs the online spirits retailer Master of Malt. It is the second time that it has won the Spirits Distributor of the Year Trophy, having received the award in 2014, just one year after it was founded. db

JUDGED worthy

‘Madame Champagne’, Maggie McNie MW, has carved an impressive reputation as a judge and teacher

THIS YEAR the IWSC has chosen to recognise the contribution to the wine industry of one of its longest-serving judges: Champagne expert, actor and writer Maggie McNie MW.

One of the foremost authorities on Champagne, McNie began her career working for International Distillers & Vintners at Harlow as a personal assistant, later managing its product training. Following this she became wine buyer for British Rail and the Malmaison Wine Club, before joining the Arthur Rackham wine group in 1984.

A Rada-trained actress, McNie passed the notoriously tough MW examinations in 1986, becoming one of a first wave of women to achieve the award.

Since then she has worked as a wine writer, consultant and educator, helping thousands of students over nearly three decades to attain their wine and spirits diploma, working as a lecturer with the WSET.

Such was her reputation that in 1992 McNie was tasked by the Greek Government with setting up a wine bureau in London to educate the British public about Greek wines. However it was the Champagne region which proved to be the biggest draw for McNie. In 1999 she published Champagne, a comprehensive introduction to the French region detailing every vintage since 1945, its winemaking methods and development through the eyes of producers ranging from its smallest growers to great houses, including Krug, Moët et Chandon and Pol Roger.

McNie has been a valued member of the IWSC judging panel since 1994, attending more than 25 sessions a year. A highly respected member of the trade, Ewan Lacey, the IWSC’s managing director, described her as “one of the most influential teachers in the wine trade”.

“An actor and singer by trade, her entry into the wine trade was ‘by accident’,” Lacey says. “A lecturer of the WSET diploma course for over 25 years and a judge at several major wine competitions, her knowledge on Champagne is considered unparalleled, with Harpers Wine & Spirit naming her ‘Madame Champagne’.

“A prolific journalist, educator and judge, her work with the United Kingdom Vineyard Association and the setting up of the Greek Wine Bureau in the 1990s are some of her many achievements in a career spanning over 35 years in the wine trade.” db

MAGICAL madeira

Christopher Blandy, CEO of the Madeira Wine Company, hopes to use his time as IWSC President to promote fortified wine

What attracted you to the role of IWSC president?

It was a real honour to have been invited to become president of the IWSC, especially taking into account the list of past presidents.

My family has been producing Madeira on the island for more than 200 years, but I am relatively new to the business so I consider this a great opportunity for me to continue learning as much as I can about the diversity of wine globally and supporting the great work that the IWSC has done over the past 47 years.

How valuable has your success in previous IWSC competitions been to the development of the Madeira Wine Company?

It's always nice to win something and it is a great boost to our team. We really have enjoyed great success with the IWSC, having won the Portuguese Producer of the Year Trophy quite a few times, as well as regularly securing trophy wins for our range of Madeiras.

We have great confidence in the quality of our wines from the outset but receiving the recognition from the IWSC adds a huge amount of value to our product. Being a long-time supporter of the competition and understanding the positive impact that the competition has had on the exposure of our wines means that we will continue to support the competition in the future.

How important has the IWSC been in driving sales of fortified wines?

The IWSC results shine a light on the fortified wine sector and this can only be beneficial overall, be it for Port, Sherry or Madeira.

Between 2010 and 2015 the sector saw a 20% increase in value sales of Madeira Wine, a very interesting statistic for a wine in a fortified category.

A huge amount of focus and effort has been given to the marketing of premium Madeira, that is, Madeiras aged for more than five years and made of the 'Noble Varieties', and the results are there, helped in large part by the recognition of the quality of the wine produced.

My hope is that as President of the IWSC, I will help continue to drive the renaissance of this once world-renowned wine. The Presidency of the IWSC should afford me the opportunity to spread this positive message further.

Has the competition influenced the styles of wine being produced by the country?

We've been making these wines for over 200 years, so it's a pretty established style, and while we embrace modern techniques at our brand new winery, we also adhere to the traditions handed down to us through the generations.

What sort of developments can we expect to see next from the Madeira Wine Company?

The past six years has seen a radical shift in the company's production strategy, as we have invested a considerable amount in ensuring the winery is now better prepared for the future.

Going forward, we will be continuing to develop our table wine project, producing rosés and whites with a huge amount of potential.

And of course we will continue to produce new and exciting Madeira wines! We are due to release a number of new vintages this autumn, which is always exciting.

How will you use your industry experience to strengthen the IWSC?

As I said earlier, I am still relatively new to this, so as well as being ready to learn, I hope I can also bring some new insights to the table and be able to contribute in any small way that I can. db

Biography: Christopher Blandy

Chris Blandy was born on the island of Madeira in 1979. As was the case with many English families living abroad, Chris studied in England from prep school up to university.

After achieving a Bachelor of Arts degree in Spanish, Portuguese and Latin American Studies at the University of Newcastle upon Tyne, he joined the marketing department at Symington Family Estates in Porto for a three-year period, focusing on the Madeira wine business.

Blandy then moved to Washington DC and worked at the Willard Inter Continental Hotel, ending his two-year spell there as the hotel's diplomatic liaison manager, dealing with visiting foreign dignitaries.

He has always had a strong link with Madeira and in March 2007, he joined the family business. In 2010 he became the managing director of the Blandy Group's travel and shipping division, becoming a full member of the board at the end of 2010.

He was appointed CEO of the Madeira Wine Company in 2011, on the 200th anniversary of the founding of the Blandy company.

He is married with twins and is a keen sportsman with an interest in rugby, hiking and fishing.

His most unusual connection with wine was when he trod grapes the day after a particularly tough rugby practice, which finished with a twisted ankle. He swears to this day that his ankle healed almost immediately thanks to the effects of crushing the grapes.

WHY ENTER the iwsc?

Representatives from all corners of the drinks industry explain why the IWSC is the king of wine and spirit competitions

BEN ELLEFSEN, DIRECTOR OF BLENDED WHISKY CO

“The IWSC is a fantastically well-respected authority, using twin pillars of exceptionally well-chosen judges and blind tasting to deliver consistently trusted results to consumers the world over. Winning a trophy for our Golden Age Blend in the supremely well-entered blended whisky category is nothing short of exceptional, and we are hugely grateful for the accolade. Trophies at this level reinforce the incredible power of blind-tasting in cutting through spin, marketing and hype, focusing on what really matters – the liquid.”

LOUISE LYNCH, PRODUCT DEVELOPER, SAINSBURY'S

Michael Awin

MICHAEL AWIN, MANAGING PARTNER, AWIN BARRATT SIEGEL WINE AGENCIES

“It’s one of the most prestigious events with a very good judging system and very good judges. We think it’s one of the best. Any award that comes out of it is worth having.”

‘Trophies at this level reinforce the power of blind tasting in cutting through spin, marketing and hype, focusing on what really matters – the liquid.’

Anthony Wills

ANTHONY WILLS, KILCHOMAN DISTILLERY

“We are thrilled that Kilchoman 'Sanaig' has been named the best Single Malt Scotch Whisky - No Age Statement in this year's competition. The IWSC is the most prestigious awards in the industry and is recognised worldwide by the trade and consumers and is reward for the dedication and hard work of Robin Bignall, the manager and his production team at the distillery.”

VERITY MILNS, CORPORATE COMMUNICATIONS MANAGER, LIBERTY WINES

“An IWSC award is a fantastic endorsement of the quality of any producer. It really helps to differentiate your product from the millions of others in the marketplace.”

SOUTH AFRICAN WINE
PRODUCER OF THE YEAR
TROPHY, SUPPORTED BY DAVE HUGHES:
NEDERBURG WINES

Founded in 1791 and today part of Distell, Nederburg was ranked as one of the world's 50 most admired wine brands by Drinks International in 2016.

This year, the winery assembled a new cellar team, led by Andrea Freeborough, which continues to experiment with new varietals and styles. Nederburg is currently the only South African winery working with Graciano, with a Riesling in the making from one of the Cape's highest altitude vineyards. Increasingly, the team is opting for wild yeasts and open-topped barrel fermenters for its top-end reds and has been experimenting with ageing its Shiraz in whisky barrels.

The producer now sells to almost 80 countries. It recently launched its 'There's always a story in Nederburg' advertising and digital campaign, along with a new look label to create stronger visual unity between and communication of its various tiers.

GERMAN WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY,
SPONSORED BY HELLMANN
BEVERAGE LOGISTICS:
WEINGUT HORST SAUER

Weingut Horst Sauer is a Franconian estate nestling in the wine village of Escherndorf, wedged between the River Main and the hills, which are home to the great Escherndorfer Lump.

A VDP estate since 2012 and managed by husband and wife team Horst and Sandra Sauer, Weingut Horst Sauer covers 17ha of vineyards on the Grosse Lage Escherndorfer am Lumpen 1655, the Escherndorfer Lump and Ersten Lagen Escherndorfer Fürstenberg in Franken.

The estate grows Silvaner, Riesling, Müller-Thurgau, Bacchus, Scheurebe, Spätburgunder, Domina and Weißburgunder. Whether in its perennially popular noble sweet wines or its refined dry styles, the winery's aim is always to express the Escherndorf terroir.

Sauer explains: "The natural way to produce a wine is an interplay between Mother Nature and methodical attention. The aim is the opposite of artificial manipulation and the addition of flavourings – the aim is honesty."

CANADIAN WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

JACKSON-TRIGGS NIAGARA ESTATE

Founded by Allan Jackson and Don Triggs in 1993, Jackson-Triggs, formed of four different estates in Niagara and Okanagan, is Canada’s most awarded winery.

With more than 3,000 awards to its name, it keeps going from strength to strength. Its Niagara Estate is set in 26 acres of vineyard on the Niagara Peninsula. With a climate similar to Germany, Burgundy and New Zealand, it focuses exclusively on Chardonnay, Riesling and Pinot Noir, although it also works closely with local growers who supply it with Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Cabernet Sauvignon, Sauvignon Blanc and Gewürztraminer.

Winemaker Marco Piccoli trained in Italy before work took him to both Germany and Argentina. He went to Canada as part of a partnership between the University of Udine and the Cool Climate Oenology and Viticulture Institute at Brock University in Niagara, and after a period at nearby Inniskillin took up the role of chief winemaker at Jackson-Triggs in 2006. Looking after the estate’s Okanagan wines is UC Davis graduate Dave Carson.

Hidden behind a barn-like exterior, the estate’s gravity-assisted winery is one of the most advanced facilities in the country. The estate is also dedicated to education and agritourism, hosting a variety of festivals and events throughout the year at its open-air amphitheatre, the entire site having been designed to merge hospitality and production. In addition to a plethora of still wines and icewines made from Riesling, Vidal, Cabernet Franc and Gewürztraminer, the estate also produces a trio of sparklers: a traditional method brut, a sparkling Sauvignon Blanc and a sparkling Merlot.

CHAMPAGNE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

CHAMPAGNE DE SAINT GALL

Based in Avize in the Côte des Blancs, Champagne de Saint Gall is a joint venture between 12 co-operatives created in 1972.

Between them the company covers 1,800 growers and 1,250 hectares of vineyards. Its members own plots in Le Mesnil sur Oger, Avize, Oger, Cramant, Vertus and Bergères-les-Vertus in the Côte des Blancs; Aÿ, Ambonnay, Bouzy and Villers Marmery in the Montagne de Reims; and Cumières in the Vallée de la Marne.

Most – 90% – of the vineyards are located in Champagne’s grand and premier crus: Grand cru vineyards make up 60% of St Gall’s contributing vineyards, another 30% are premier cru, while the remaining 10% are simply cru.

The company works to ensure all of its growers receive advice and training throughout the year. Recently it set up a company to help arrange services such as finding pickers for the harvest.

It also works hard to ensure the quality of its Champagnes. It has pressing houses located close to many of the crus it uses and it vinifies, plot-by-plot, in stainless steel tanks.

Like all top quality Champagnes it uses the first pressing for its wines, with a minimum of 25% reserve wines for its non-vintage cuvées. All of its wines are aged for a minimum of 30 months on their lees. Vintages are usually aged for five to six years, and the prestige cuvée for 10 years.

The building of a new winery in 2011, at a cost of €11 million (£9.6m), allowed the producer to grow production to 67,000 hectolitres, maintaining a reserve storage of 980hl.

CHILEAN WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY, SUPPORTED BY WINES OF CHILE:

TERRANOBLE

Founded in 1993 by Agrícola Santa Camila, TerraNoble has consistently produced terroir-driven wines from a mosaic of vineyard sites across Chile.

Located in the Maule Valley, the project began with a focus on Sauvignon Blanc and Merlot and has evolved over the past quarter-century. The company now has more than 360 hectares under vine in prime locations in the Maule, Colchagua and Casablanca valleys.

TerraNoble’s agricultural strategy is rooted in searching for the soil and climate conditions best suited to each grape variety for sustainable growth and in respect for the environment. Diverse varieties such as Carmenère, Cabernet Sauvignon, Pinot Noir, Chardonnay and Riesling have been integral in the evolution and consolidation of what is now the TerraNoble style, producing balanced wines with highly concentrated aromas and flavours.

Additionally, its work with traditional varieties including Carignan, Mourvèdre and Cinsault has enriched its portfolio.

In pursuit of greater complexity and expression of origin, TerraNoble has added vineyards with strong Andean and coastal influences, two of the most important factors of wine expression in Chile. This is how it developed the CA1/CA2 project: two Carmenères made with similar production and ageing methods that display distinct characteristics thanks to the influence of the Andes Mountains and the coast.

The company is currently working to solidify and diversify its Gran Reserva line, for which it has developed a Carignan and is working on a Chardonnay to complete the collection.

ENGLISH WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY, SPONSORED BY VINTNERS’ HALL:

NYETIMBER

From its inception in 2004, Nyetimber has professed to a single aim: to make the finest English sparkling wine – always convinced that it has the technical knowhow and terroir attributes to rival the best sparkling wine regions in the world.

Nyetimber owns 100% of its vineyards and all of its wines are produced from its 170 hectares of vines planted on some of the best sites in West Sussex and Hampshire. The first vines were planted on the estate in 2004 and since 2006, Nyetimber’s traditional method wines have earned an appreciative audience on the world stage.

Quality is paramount at the winery: if grapes do not reach the quality level set by the winemaking team, they simply will not be used. The estate famously decided not to produce a 2012 vintage cuvée for this very reason.

Chief winemaker Cherie Spriggs has vast experience producing quality wines all over the world. She worked in McLaren Vale and the Hunter Valley in Australia, Central Otago in New Zealand, Oregon in the US and on Vancouver Island, Canada, before joining Nyetimber with her husband Brad in 2007.

Recent highlights from the estate include being nominated as the official Winery Sponsor of the International Cool Climate Wine Symposium (ICCWS), held in Brighton this summer, as the naming partner of the Sky Bar on British Airways i360, and as key sponsor at a number of high-profile British sporting tournaments.

In addition, this year saw Nyetimber join the ranks of fine wines such as Petrus and Dom Pérignon as it became the first English wine ever to trade on the wine investment platform Liv-ex.

FRENCH WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY, SPONSORED BY VINIMPO:

LA CHABLISIENNE (UNION DES VIGNERONS ASSOCIÉS DES MONTS DE BOURGOGNE)

La Chablisienne is Chablis’s leading co-operative, with vineyards spanning a great number of the region’s foremost premier and grand cru sites, such as Montmains, Fourchaume and Valmur.

La Chablisienne was founded in 1923 when a group of winegrowers banded together under the leadership of the Abbé Balitrand to found a winery in Chablis to sell their wines. Up to the middle of the 1950s, members brought their wines to La Chablisienne, which then took charge of the blending and sold most of the production wholesale to the wine trade. Eventually, La Chablisienne decided to take in the harvest directly in the form of musts, ensuring that it had full control over vinification.

Its membership now stands at close to 300 growers, whose vineyards, lying on both sides of the River Serein, cover 6,800 hectares across 20 villages. Together, they produce around 250,000 hectolitres of wine each year. As well as producing some Crémant de Bourgogne and red Irancy, since 2000 La Chablisienne has been the sole proprietor of the Château Grenouille, a 7ha estate in the heart of the region’s grand cru hillside.

Since its founding in 1923, La Chablisienne has been a stalwart of France’s modern co-operative movement, proving emphatically that big producers can make wines of nuance, capable of ageing.

To this day the company stands as a benchmark for all Chablis and wines from its portfolio regularly win awards at major competitions.

AUSTRALIAN WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY, SPONSORED BY HELLMANN BEVERAGE LOGISTICS:

McGUIGAN WINES

Under the guidance of its ebullient CEO, oenologist and four-time IWSC Winemaker of the Year Neil McGuigan, McGuigan Wines has continued to build on the international reputation this fourth-generation family business began in the 1980s.

In recent years, McGuigan has pioneered a new image for the Hunter Valley’s famous but often under-represented Semillon variety with the launch of The Semillon Blanc. This challenge to the runaway success of Sauvignon Blanc saw McGuigan single-handedly double UK sales of Semillon within a year. Now the producer has turned its innovative approach to growing categories such as lower alcohol wine and rosé, without losing sight of McGuigan’s mission to “make wine the hero” and offer quality wines at every price point. Building on the firm following it has earned in the UK’s multiple retail sector, McGuigan continues to develop its top-end offering and niche styles. The company has stepped up its project to hold back stocks of more ageworthy wines for mature release, as well as fulfilling Neil’s long-term ambition of an AU$100 wine. A Shiraz/Cabernet Sauvignon blend, the inaugural 2010 vintage of The Philosophy was released in 2014 and received 97 points from James Halliday this year.

Recent projects have included a sparkling Semillon aimed at Prosecco lovers; a new Family Release range sold exclusively at Waitrose; and a Provençal-style rosé made from Adelaide Hills Pinot Noir launched in collaboration with the London-based Australian chef John Torode. Behind these diverse initiatives lies a common thread that runs through every bottle of wine produced by the company. “Quality is the core and we’ll build the fashion around that. The goal posts are very much painted on the cellar wall,” McGuigan says.

THE VINI DEL TRENTO ITALIAN WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

FATTORIA LA VIALLA

Fattoria La Vialla is a family-run agricultural enterprise, one of the oldest and largest organic and biodynamic farms in Tuscany, and boasts the largest Demeter-certified vineyard in Europe.

In 1978, the estate was purchased by the Lo Franco family. Representing the second generation of ownership, brothers Gianni, Antonio and Bandino share the management of the estate, which today covers an area of 1,342 hectares.

Certified organic since 1983 and biodynamic since 2006, the estate boasts around 190ha of vineyards comprising Sangiovese, Canaiolo (for Chianti and Chianti Superiore) and Malvasia (for Valdichiana and Vin Santo). There are also around 115ha of olive trees and a large area of arable land and forest.

Producing not only biodynamic wine but also high-quality olive oil, grains for breads, biscuits and other products, as well as pecorino and ricotta cheeses, La Vialla is a popular destination for agritourism for visitors to Tuscany.

The estate is fully independent and fully eco-sustainable, from cultivating to harvesting, from preparing to packaging and shipping of its artisanal produce. Waste is recycled and the energy used is renewable; the fattoria's photovoltaic facility supplies all the electricity required by the farm and wine estate, while a phyto-purification plant filters the water.

Year after year, La Vialla is an estate which demonstrates that it is possible to operate a biodynamic farm on a large scale without any compromise or diminution in quality.

NEW ZEALAND WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY, SPONSORED BY HELLMANN BEVERAGE LOGISTICS: MATUA

Matua occupies a special place in the modern history of wine, having planted New Zealand's first Sauvignon Blanc vines in 1969. Five years later it produced the country's first Sauvignon Blanc wine, thus paving the way for one of the biggest wine consumption trends of all time.

The story began with brothers Bill and Ross Spence, who set out with a plan to do nothing less than revolutionise the New Zealand wine industry. Moving their winery from Auckland to Marlborough in the late 1970s, the Spence brothers set their sights on major expansion, purchasing property not only in Marlborough but in Hawke's Bay and Gisborne, as well as developing strong links with premium grape growers, providing them with the best possible vine material.

Investment from Beringer-Blass Wine Estates in 2001 further consolidated the Matua brand, which in recent years has won a long list of awards, including New Zealand Producer of the Year at the 2012 IWSC under the winemaking stewardship of Nikolai St George.

In 2016, after the departure of St George to Giesen Wines, Matua announced that long-term winemaker Greg Rowdon would take over the chief winemaker role after 18 years with the company, with the aim of furthering the brand's enviable international success.

PORTUGUESE WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY: SOGEVINUS FINE WINES

One of the most dynamic Port-focused companies of recent years, Sogevinus Fine Wines owns an impressive and distinctive portfolio of Port wine houses; Kopke, Burmester, Cálem and Barros, which between them boast centuries of Port-making history.

Established in 1998, Sogevinus first purchased Cálem, following this with the acquisition of Burmester in 2005, and Kopke and Barros in 2006. Sogevinus owns two quintas in the Douro: Arnozelo in the Douro Superior and Sao Luíz, close to Pinhão in the Cima Corgo.

Sogevinus is considered one of the pre-eminent Port wine producers in Portugal and a global leader in colheitas, the most prestigious category of tawny Port wine. Colheitas are single-harvest tawny Ports aged in oak barrels for at least seven years prior to release.

Celebrated by connoisseurs around the world, colheitas epitomise the Portuguese culture of great Port wines and offer an amazingly diverse and pleasurable experience to Port lovers.

In addition to Ports, the Sogevinus Group is also increasingly being recognised for the quality of its DOC Douro wines, an area in which it has been focusing investment since 2006.

The DOC Douro wines Sogevinus produces, wines made with the same care and quality standards as its Port wine, are gaining increasing recognition from critics and the wine press the world over.

SHERRY PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY: EMILIO LUSTAU

Founded by José Ruis-Berdejo in 1896, Lustau began as a small operation with its wines mostly sold to bigger bodegas.

In 1940 the outlook of the winery began to change. Ruis-Berdejo's son-in-law moved the winery to the neighbourhood of Santiago in Jerez de la Frontera and began expanding the business until the company started bottling and exporting its own wines in 1950.

The 1970s were a time of great expansion for Lustau as well as innovation. In 1988 the company introduced its famous black bottle design. It was acquired by the Luis Caballero group, which gave it the opportunity to develop and expand further. At this time it added the Montegilillo and Las Cruces vineyards to its portfolio.

In 2000 Lustau acquired six 19th century winemaking buildings in the heart of Jerez, covering an area of 20,000 square metres. Today these are the winery's primary winemaking facilities.

This spring Lustau mourned the passing of its head winemaker, Manuel Lozano, who passed away suddenly aged just 61. Manuel was named 'Best Sherry Producer' by the IWSC in 2014, and under his direction Lustau was named 'Best Spanish Producer' by the IWSC in 2011.

ARGENTINE WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY, SUPPORTED BY WINES OF ARGENTINA: BODEGAS Y VINEDOS PASCUAL TOSO SA

When Pascual Toso set out towards Argentina from his home town of Canale D’Alba in Piedmont in the mid 1880s, he had no idea that he would go on to create one of the most prestigious wineries in Argentina.

After Toso arrived in Argentina, he settled in Mendoza and established his eponymous winery in 1890. Pascual Toso’s flagship Las Barrancas estate in Maipú is located around 750 meters above sea level within the Mendoza River highlands and stretches to more than 400 hectares. Today the company remains faithful to its principles of tradition, authenticity and innovation. Las Barrancas provides excellent conditions for grape growing with warm days, fresh nights and low humidity, while the vines are irrigated by snow melt from the Andes.

With consultancy from American Paul Hobbs, Pascual Toso’s head winemaker Lucas Weinbraun makes a multitude of wines across six different ranges: Pascual Toso Estate; Barrancas Toso; Pascual Toso Selected; Pascual Toso Alta; Pascual Toso Pedregal and the top drop, Magdalena Toso.

The entry-level estate range includes a single varietal Malbec, Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, Chardonnay, Sauvignon Blanc and Torrontés. The Selected reserve range is made from 30 to 50-year-old vines on rocky soils and includes a Malbec and a Cabernet Sauvignon. Pascual Toso Finca Pedregal is a blend of 70% Malbec and 30% Cabernet Sauvignon, giving the maximum expression of two single vineyards that the Toso family planted in 1950. Finally, the premium Magdalena Toso, named after Pascual’s mother, is made from the best grapes grown at Las Barrancas and aged in French oak.

SPANISH WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY: EL COTO DE RIOJA SA

Located in Oyón, El Coto de Rioja was founded in 1970 by a group of winemakers committed to creating a new type of Rioja.

Its first bottling was released in 1975.

Today, with Crianza, Reserva, Gran Reserva, white and rosé expressions, El Coto is a leading brand in Rioja and among the top-selling Spanish wines in Europe. With 1,200 acres of vineyards in all three subzones of Rioja (Rioja Alta, Rioja Baja and Rioja Alavesa), El Coto is one of the largest land owners in the region.

The company has invested heavily in its Carbonera holding, which is formed of more than 200 acres of vineyards in Rioja Baja and is dedicated to international varieties allowed by the appellation, ushering in a new era for Rioja whites.

The Los Almendros estate adds an additional 740 acres of vineyards to the portfolio and is the largest single vineyard in the appellation. Its plantings include Garnacha and Tempranillo, used in El Coto rosé. The brand’s Cenicero site, near the east bank of the Najerilla River, nurtures grapes for its reserve wines. Beyond the estate holdings, additional grapes are sourced from 5,000 acres in the region. Investment continues in the winery, which houses more than 65,000 barrels for ageing wines.

Tradition and innovation are at the heart of El Coto, leading to the creation of the single-vineyard Real project, a winemaker’s selection made from old vine Tempranillo, Garnacha and Mazuelo from Rioja Alta only made in exceptional years.

The company is constantly looking forward, and has solidified its role not only as a guardian of Rioja tradition, but also a global leader for the region.

UNITED STATES WINE PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

STE MICHELLE WINE ESTATES

Located outside Seattle, Washington, Ste Michelle Wine Estates is the third largest premium wine company in the US.

The company has a distinguished history that dates back 82 years to 1934. Wines under the Ste Michelle label were first introduced in 1967 by winemaker Andre Tchelistcheff, and since that time the company has expanded its vineyard holdings to more than 3,700 acres in Washington and California.

In 1972 the first vines were planted at Cold Creek Vineyard in eastern Washington. Two years later Ste Michelle built a French-style chateau in Woodinville, which is now the company's most recognisable feature.

Today its 'String of Pearls' wine portfolio represents owned or imported brands that demonstrate the producers' unwavering commitment to creating distinctive, high-quality wines from authentic estate vineyards.

Ste Michelle also has the distinction of having two state-of-the-art wineries, one for red and one for white. The whites are made at the estate in Woodinville and the reds at the Canoe Ridge Estate, which was first planted in 1991.

Above all Ste Michelle is world renowned for its championing of Riesling. Every three years Chateau Ste Michelle holds its celebration of the grape at its 'Riesling Rendezvous', in partnership with Dr Loosen, at which examples of Riesling from around the world are presented.

BRANDY PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

DISTELL LTD

South Africa's Distell was formed from a merger in 2000 between the Stellenbosch Farmers' Winery and the Distillers Corporation, which dates back to 1945.

Conceived by Dr Anton Rupert, the company's portfolio of brandies includes the South African brandy Klipdrift, Richelieu Brandy, Viceroy, Van Ryn's, Oude Meester (the first South African brandy to have used the potstill brandy-making method when it launched in 1948) and the French Cognac brand Bisquit, which Distell bought from Pernod Ricard in 2009.

This year Van Ryn's created a one-off 42-year-old single cask potstill to mark 42 years of the Nederburg Charity Auction. The oldest South African brandy ever released, the ultra-premium spirit started its journey from the vine in 1974 when it was distilled and placed into a 1,000 litre French oak cask at Van Ryn's Distillery. It was sold to an international buyer for 40,000 rand (£2,400) at this year's Nederburg charity auction.

In the UK and Ireland, Distell is working to increase its capabilities following the appointment of Joseph Walsh as commercial director earlier this year. In October, the company announced that it had brought distribution for its brands in the UK in-house and had embarked on a rapid expansion plan to triple its commercial team to provide better coverage across all key trade channels. Its market service team meanwhile has been "upskilled" and increased in size to oversee customer orders across the portfolio and throughout the UK from its base in East Kilbride, Scotland.

GIN PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

HERNÖ GIN AB

Hernö Gin was founded in 2011 by master distiller Jon Hillgren, above, and was at the time Sweden’s first dedicated gin distillery, and the world’s most northerly.

Hernö is based in the village of Dala just outside the city of Härnösand and in the province of Angermanland. Staying true to its Swedish roots, the distillery is built in a traditional Swedish manner with wood painted in red and white. All of its spirits are produced using eight botanicals sourced from around the world, including Swedish lingonberries, cassia from Indonesia, vanilla from Madagascar and juniper berries from Hungary. The distillery produces four expressions; a London Dry Gin, an Old Tom gin, a 57% ABV navy-strength gin and juniper cask-aged gin. Its cask-aged gin is left to mature in 40 litres casks made from juniper wood for 30 days before being bottled at 47% ABV. Hillgren believes juniper wood carries more flavour than oak, with Hernö’s juniper cask-aged gin the first of its kind when it was launched in 2013.

Last year Hernö was awarded the IWSC 2015 Boutique Distiller trophy, and this year it also takes home the Gin and Tonic Trophy, with judges deeming its Export Strength Gin to be the perfect pairing for Fever-Tree tonic.

“I am humbled to once again earn a world-class award for my gin. I see all the awards Hernö has been given the last four years as proof of an exceptional gin that redefines the perception of what gin is all about,” said Hillgren.

VODKA PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

ARCUS AS

Arcus AS is Norway’s largest producer and supplier of spirits, with a portfolio comprising its country’s national spirit, Aquavit, Cognac and gin. But it was the quality of its Vikingfjord vodka that caught the eye of our judges, attracting their attention for its mastery of the art of distillation.

Established in 1996 when it was demerged from Norway’s state-owned wine and liquor retailer, Vinmonopolet, Arcus AS is a subsidiary of Arcus-Gruppen AS, and has a head office, production and bottling plant at Gjelleråsen, north of Oslo.

Its brands include the famous Norwegian aquavit brands Gammel Opland and Lysholm Linie, Braastad Cognac, and Vikingfjord, a potato-based vodka made from melted glacial water sourced from springs near the Jostedal glacier.

As this water melts through the glacier’s moraines (ridges formed from passing sand and stone) a unique cleaning process takes place, resulting in water with an extremely low mineral content, according to its makers, affording it a pure and neutral taste. The vodka itself is ultra-refined through a five-column distilling process.

Flavour variants in the Vikingfjord range include citrus, apple, rhubarb, raspberry and blueberry, which sit alongside 50% ABV and 37.7% ABV expressions of the original spirit. This year Arcus’ Vikingfjord Vodka received a Gold medal from the IWSC.

LIQUEUR PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

GABRIEL BOUDIER

Gabriel Boudier is one of the pioneers of French fruit liqueurs.

Based in Dijon in Burgundy, France, the family-owned company is known for its fruit-based liqueur, notably its Crème de Cassis de Dijon.

Its origins can be traced to 1874, when the house of Fontbonne was founded. This was taken over by Gabriel Boudier in 1909 and renamed. He established the business at Boulevard de Strasbourg in Dijon where it continued to develop until his death in 1918. In 1936, his widow sold the house to Marcel Battault, who retained its name, with the business since passing through four generations of his family. Operating under the motto “quality without compromise”, the company moved to larger premises in 1969 and today exports to 70 countries worldwide.

Its range of liqueurs are made with fresh fruit in every imaginable flavour. Its Bernard Loiseau range, produced with the help of top French chefs, includes raspberry and thyme and pear and bay leaf expressions, which sit alongside a range of Burgundian speciality liqueurs including its sloe berry liqueur. Most recently, Boudier launched its Bartender range, designed specifically for cocktails, including flavours of sour apple, coconut, Darjeeling tea and mango. Its Paradoxale range is the producer’s flagship range, with its Orange Boudier Liqueur made with the zest of Seville orange infused with fine Champagne Cognac.

LIQUEUR PRODUCER OF THE YEAR

RUM PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY:

RL SEALE & COMPANY LIMITED

Based in Barbados, R L Seale and Company is a fifth generation family-owned distillery established in the 1920s.

Run by Sir David Seale and his son Richard, the family took over an abandoned sugar factory in 1995 to expand their operation from rum traders to rum distillers. Operating out of the Foursquare Distillery, the company produces a range of rums under the Foursquare, Doorly and Rum Sixty Six brands.

Its Rum Sixty Six Family Reserve is a blend of rums produced in a column “Coffey” still and a traditional copper pot still, balancing more delicate flavours with a robust backbone. The rum is “tropically” aged in small American white oak ex-Bourbon casks, sourced from a “famous distillery in Lynchburg, Tennessee”. After eight years the best casks are selected to undergo further maturation to reach a minimum of 12 years.

Spirits in the Caribbean age more quickly than in Europe, because of the hotter climate, hence the term “tropical ageing”, which affords local rums a level of maturity and complexity comparable to European spirits twice their age.

As well as its Rum Sixty Six Family Reserve, the family also produces a range of rums under its Foursquare brand. Its Foursquare Zinfandel Cask, finished in ex-Zinfandel wine barrels, was awarded a Gold medal by the IWSC this year, while its Foursquare 2006 rum, bottled at 62% ABV, received a Gold Outstanding medal.

WORLDWIDE WHISKEY PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY: KAVALAN DISTILLERY

Kavalan, the only family-owned whisky distillery in north-east Taiwan, is produced at the King Car distillery in Yi-Lan.

Founded in 2005, Kavalan shot to fame in 2010 after beating a trio of premium Scotch whiskies in a blind tasting organised by Time magazine. Its success led to sales tripling and demand outstripping supply, particularly in Asia and the US.

Five years later, in 2015, Kavalan's Solist Vinho Barrique was named the World's Best Single Malt Whisky at the World Whiskies Awards. This year, it was awarded the World's Best Single Cask Single Malt Whisky at the same awards for its Solist Amontillado, a whiskey matured in ex-Sherry casks.

Continuing its winning streak, this year the distiller took home a clutch of medals from the IWSC, including a Gold Outstanding medal for its Solist Port Single Cask Strength Single Malt Whisky. The distillery itself has also been recognised by the IWSC in the past, winning the Asia Pacific Spirit Producer of the Year award four times in a row in 2011, 2012, 2013 and 2014.

Kavalan, the old name of the Yi-Lan district where the distillery is located, is currently in the middle of an ambitious expansion drive that will see it double its number of copper stills to 20 and increase its production capacity to 10 million bottles a year. A recently completed warehouse expansion means that Kavalan can now mature 120,000 casks across two five-storey warehouses.

SCOTCH WHISKY PRODUCER OF THE YEAR TROPHY: WILLIAM GRANT & SONS

William Grant & Sons was founded by William Grant in 1887 who, having raised enough money to buy some land in Glenfiddich, setting the wheels in motion for what would become one of the world's biggest Scotch whisky brands.

In 1893 Grant founded a second distillery, The Balvenie, which he built alongside the original Glenfiddich site. Five years later he created the blended label Grant's, which is today the fourth largest Scotch brand in the world.

Last year William Grant & Sons released The Original, a whisky that harks back to Glenfiddich's Straight Malt, which established the single malt category in 1963. Before this, blended whisky dominated the market. Glenfiddich's Malt Master, Brian Kinsman, replicated the malt by tasting a sample of 1963 Straight Malt and following the original recipe from the distiller's ledger to produce The Original.

The spirits group reported a rise in profits after tax of 8.9% for 2015, hitting a record high of £147.4 million (US$191.2m). The performance was driven by Glenfiddich, which saw volume growth of 5% year-on-year. In addition, a reduction in third-party distribution deals and a resulting focus on its core portfolio saw reported sales turnover increase 6.1% to £882.5m (US$1.14 billion), the company said in its 2015 financial statement.

While Scotch is still central to William Grant's portfolio, the company now counts Hendrick's Gin, Drambuie, Reyka vodka, Tullamore Dew Irish whiskey and Russian Standard vodka among its growing portfolio of global brands.

The Vini del Trentino consortium is a non-profit association of producers, created to safeguard Trentino wines.

The consortium safeguards and fosters the region's numerous DOC and IGT classified wines.

Its membership exceeds 100, representing around 7,500 producers. Trentino is the most important mountain viticulture area in Italy, and indeed Europe, thanks to its 10,000 hectares of vineyard, which produce more than 120,000 tonnes of grapes that later become 800,000 hectolitres of fine wine. Today, DOC wines represent 90 per cent of these vineyards.

Intense nose offering notes of lime, apple, pear and lemon zest. In the mouth, there is a mineral flow which suits its off dry character. The acidity is sparkling and tense, driving with rapier cleanliness; so much going on. Generous, sensual and delightful to the finale. A real gem.

THE SEMILLON TROPHY
MCGUIGAN BIN 9000 SEMILLON 2003
MCGUIGAN WINES
AUSTRALIA

Mature and ripe bouquet with notes of citrus blossom, honey, lime, exotic fruit, toast and marmalade. Simply exquisite. Magnificent on the palate with dense, concentrated flavours and more than a hint of ripe peach and melon. Good weight and depth yet deliciously firm. It sits on the palate long after, and begs for more. This is pure gold.

THE PINOT NOIR TROPHY
GIESEN SINGLE VINEYARD RIDGE
BLOCK PINOT NOIR 2013
 GIESEN WINE ESTATE
 NEW ZEALAND

An extremely balanced wine combining fine tannins with a brooding summer compote of fruit and bright acidity. Aromatics are a lovely combination of ripe blueberry and cranberry fruit. A kiss of smoky oak adds spice and a creamy texture to the mid-palate. Elegant and long finish.

THE SHIRAZ/SYRAH TROPHY
MCGUIGAN HANDMADE SHIRAZ 2007
 AUSTRALIAN VINTAGE
 AUSTRALIA

Medium depth of crimson colour with a brick edge. Wonderful complex scents of nutmeg and cinnamon spice, figs, dried cherries, prunes and plum compote. Marvellously layered, with chocolatey tannins supported by a wealth of rich flavours and succulent juiciness. This wine is ageing with power and elegance.

THE BLENDED RED WINE TROPHY
DOMAINE DES SÉNÉCHAUX 2013
 JM CAZES SELECTION
 FRANCE

Dense, saturated red in colour with a brick edge. Obvious Châteauneuf peppery aromas and garrigue scents which combine with notes of spicy ripe black fruits. Seductive in the mouth, round, full of luscious extract and great depth. A very fine example which will reward cellaring.

THE MALBEC TROPHY
CADUS SINGLE VINEYARD FINCA LAS
TORCAZAS 2011
 MOLINOS RIO DE LA PLATA SA
 ARGENTINA

Pronounced and seductive on the nose with aromas of blueberry, coconut, toasted almonds and coffee coming to the fore. Dense, silky, rich and muscular, a spicy medley of vanilla, pepper and clove are set against a creamy oak backdrop. Flavours of rich, red fruit bring a juicy sweet depth. Well balanced and smooth. Delicious now but should age gracefully.

MONTEPULCIANO D'ABRUZZO DOC
MASCIARELLI TENUTE AGRICOLE S.R.L.
ITALY

Notes of red fruit compote, cinnamon and clove spice on the nose. Plenty of tannin in the mouth, but not intrusive. Oak handling has been careful, adding complexity, while fruit is abundant, lending juiciness to a robust mouthful. Lovely lingering finish.

THE SHERRY TROPHY
MARKS & SPENCER VERY RARE DRY
OLOROSO
MARKS & SPENCER
SPAIN

Garnet mahogany with a green olive rim. Notes of roasting hazelnuts over sandalwood, candied citrus peel and a whiff of incense fill the nose. The palate is restrained initially but builds with a bitter sweet balance and excellent concentration with a very long, dry finish.

THE ZINFANDEL TROPHY
DIRECTOR'S CUT ZINFANDEL 2013
FRANCIS FORD COPPOLA WINERY
USA

A wonderfully polished but gutsy and almost sculptural wine with great personality. The nose is laden with cinnamon and cloves, dried orange peel and mature vinosity while the dry palate has a mellow coating, caressing texture. It's lively and vibrant with a distinctive zesty, youthful note.

THE CAVA TROPHY
VALLFORMOSA CAVA CLASSIC BRUT
ROSÉ 2014
MASIA VALLFORMOSA SA

Visually, a beautiful salmon colour with attractive small bubbles. An elegant wine which flows smoothly on the palate and exhibits a glorious balance of fruit, acid and alcohol. This is a superb example of rosé Cava.

THE SAKE TROPHY
JUNMAI DAIGINJO AONOMU 'BLUE LABEL'

YAEGAKI SAKE & SPIRITS INC.
 JAPAN

Complex and expressive on the nose with great poise and balance. Exotic aromas of cherry stones and poached pears combine with lifted floral notes on the nose. Fruity and delicate on the palate with a soft delicate quality that is unassumingly complex and layered. Clean and precise on the finish.

THE WORLDWIDE FORTIFIED WINE TROPHY

ALL SAINTS ESTATE CLASSIC RUTHERGLEN MUSCAT NV
ALL SAINTS ESTATE WINERY AUSTRALIA

Burnished brown in colour with a green rim. Evocative on the nose with dried fruit aromas, reminiscent of Christmas mince pies, with spicy caramelised sugar and chocolate. Lovely layering of flavours on the tongue and an intense sweetness coupled with a real spice bite. Wonderfully fresh and absolutely stunning.

THE MERLOT TROPHY
RADAIA IGT 2008
TENUTA LA PARRINA ITALY

Lovely example of mature Merlot. Seductive on the palate, which is full of lush, sweet, juicy plum, with hints of raisin and earth adding complexity. Age has integrated the tannins to give a seamless structure to this well-crafted wine with a long finish.

THE MADEIRA WINE TROPHY
BLANDY'S 1979 VERDELHO
BLANDY'S MADEIRAS LDA MADEIRA

On the nose, a whiff of oolong tea and smoky flint is followed by bright zesty grapefruit and kumquat, then a nutty walnut-skin savouriness. In the mouth there is a delicious raisin element to the fruit, giving a gentle spicy illusion of sweetness. A truly elegant wine with a very long, lingering and gentle finish.

THE DESSERT WINE TROPHY
VIN SANTO DEL CHIANTI OCCHIO DI PERNICE RISERVA 2010 DOC
FATTORIA LA VIALLA ITALY

Nectar-like bouquet, honeyed and simply gorgeous, revealing notes of candied citrus, dried apricots and sweet spices. Luscious sweetness and slightly unctuous in texture, but well held together and entirely harmonious. Opulence with finesse, somewhat decadent in its abundance, and with an obvious nudge to Amaretti biscuits. Sheer joy.

THE TROPHY FOR BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY, SPONSORED BY WILLIAM GRANT & SONS

THE GOLDEN AGE BLEND
BLENDED WHISKY COMPANY
SCOTLAND

A gentle introduction on the nose takes you into a saw mill with vintage leather aprons and a coppersmith studio next door. The flavours hidden on the palate are simply toffee and red apple, with the two combining to achieve a rich and uncompromising dram.

THE TROPHY FOR SINGLE MALT SCOTCH WHISKY (OVER 15 YO)

BALBLAIR VINTAGE 1990
INTERNATIONAL BEVERAGE
SCOTLAND

Pure liquid gold. It shines and radiates like a flawless diamond.

THE TROPHY FOR SINGLE MALT SCOTCH WHISKY (15 YO & UNDER)

THE BALVENIE DOUBLEWOOD 12 YEAR OLD

WILLIAM GRANT & SONS
SCOTLAND

A really rich and honeyed nose with notes of stem ginger, rich oak and Madagascan vanilla. These notes are turned up on the palate with the addition of Manuka honey and a hint of spiced mandarin juice. Beautifully oily and lengthy finish with a hint of spice and candied orange peel.

THE TROPHY FOR CASK STRENGTH SCOTCH WHISKY, SPONSORED BY

WHYTE & MACKAY
ABERLOUR A'BUNADH
CHIVAS BROTHERS
SCOTLAND

Massive notes of dry Sherry (Oloroso), oak chippings, pine needles and leather on the nose. This is a retired lumberjack in a smart suit driving a vintage car. The palate is strong and bold, with hints of tobacco, leather, oak and sharp red fruits. The finish is very long and spicy with more red fruits and tobacco.

THE TROPHY FOR SINGLE MALT SCOTCH WHISKY (NO AGE STATEMENT), SUPPORTED BY THE WHISKY LOUNGE

KILCHOMAN SANAIG
KILCHOMAN DISTILLERY CO LTD
SCOTLAND

Lemon and peat smoke give this whisky really lovely notes of big fruit and zest. On the palate, flavours of baked Alaska, vanilla and toasted almonds. More of the same on the finish.

THE RUM TROPHY
FOURSQUARE 2006
RL SEALE & COMPANY LIMITED
BARBADOS

Deep gold in colour. Its high strength gives all the aromatics a lively lift. Lots of dark sugar and treacle with ripe tropical fruits on the nose, where banana and mango are prominent. Rich, full and deep flavoured in the mouth. Mature notes give super roundness, but with lots of life to give flavours a good lift. Very attractive, complex finish.

RUM

THE BOURBON TROPHY
JIM BEAM BLACK
BEAM SUNTORY
USA

Evocative of a seriously dusty warehouse. In the mouth, cherry drops and coffee on the Highline overlooking the Hudson, as winter rolls in. Sweet sugars and rum notes on the finish.

BOURBON

THE WORLDWIDE WHISKEY TROPHY,
SUPPORTED BY WHISKIES
OF THE WORLD
KNOB CREEK RYE WHISKEY
BEAM SUNTORY
USA

A rich malty nose, with coconut and vanilla and spice. Tongue-tingling and deliciously warm on the palate. The sweetness of the wood ageing and the fantastic balance of the spirit are nothing less than awesome. This is a sipping spirit that requires contemplation and a smile in the mind.

WORLDWIDE WHISKEY

THE GIN & TONIC TROPHY,
SUPPORTED BY FEVER-TREE
HERNÖ EXPORT STRENGTH GIN
HERNÖ GIN AB
SWEDEN

A bright and brilliant start: zesty, with exotic spice and aromatic citrus. There is a light creaminess on the palate before strong juniper and a full flavour of cracked coriander and sweet floral hay. Finally, there is a dry finish of juniper and black pepper. Overall, a crisp gin & tonic with great poise and balance that is sublimely refreshing.

GIN & TONIC

THE POMACE BRANDY TROPHY
SIBONA GRAPPA RISERVA
AFFINATA IN BOTTI DA PORTO
DISTILLERIA SIBONA S.P.A
ITALY

Delicate sweet wine lees notes on the nose, with a palate showing sweet honey and a bite of pepper. All perfectly balanced in a class act.

POMACE BRANDY

THE VODKA & TONIC TROPHY,
SUPPORTED BY FEVER-TREE
VODROCK
VODROCK UG
GERMANY

Some citrus notes appear in this otherwise clean spirit which adds zest and body to the nose. On the palate there are tones of sweet white sugar, tea leaves and clove. The cloves appear more on the finish.

VODKA & TONIC

product trophies

THE BLOODY MARY TROPHY,
SUPPORTED BY FEVER-TREE
ELATION HEMP FLAVORED VODKA
SWISS VODKA, INC.
SWITZERLAND

The bold spicy tomato juice flavours are overlaid with gentle hints of fresh cut grass, which re-emerge on the palate: warm summer hay. There's a note of sweetness too in the long, balanced finish. It's a vodka that manages to impose its own character on the flavour-laden mixer.

GIN PACKAGING TROPHY
CONKER SPIRIT - DORSET DRY GIN
CONKER SPIRIT
UK

There was something personal about Conker Spirit's packaging that we did not see as much in others presented. From the distiller's signature to signify accountability and build trust to the batch numbers, label detailing and even the light-hearted 'That's the Spirit' tagline - it felt truly 'craft'.

THE VODKA PACKAGING TROPHY
STATESIDE URBANCRAFT VODKA
FEDERAL DISTILLING
USA

Judges were all taken aback by the boldness of this bottle design. The use of a premium closure such as this signified a thoroughly well thought-through design that wanted to stand out in a very crowded marketplace.

THE WINE LABEL DESIGN TROPHY
LA POSTA FAZZIO MALBEC 2015.
LUCA WINES
ARGENTINA

The panel was drawn to the label's blend of modern design elements with a classic art deco edge, reflective of the history of Argentina while pushing forward. A good use of scripts draws the buyer to all the information without overcrowding the label. It was pleasing to see regional Mendoza sub-regions clearly labelled on the bottle.

RUM/BROWN SPIRITS PACKAGING TROPHY
SUBSTATION NO.41 RUM
PINNACLE DRINKS
AUSTRALIA

Breaking a number of category codes, judges were impressed by Substation No. 41's striking bottle design. The panel felt its story and accompanying packaging effectively inspired a level of intrigue that would, hopefully, encourage consumers to discover a new drink. Its label featured helpful details for both consumers and trade and stood out in a crowded category.

PACKAGING DESIGN RANGE TROPHY
ARCHIE ROSE DISTILLING CO.
ARCHIE ROSE DISTILLING CO.
AUSTRALIA

Archie Rose grabbed the judges' attention with its slick and consistent application of its brand across its white rye whiskey, original vodka and signature dry gin. Judges said its packaging talked to the artisanal, detailed orientation of the brand through simplicity and bold, brand-led design.

Runner-up: Knob Creek, Beam Suntory, USA

Sponsor: Whyte & Mackay

Founded on the docks in Glasgow in 1844 by James Whyte and Charles Mackay, the brand has gone from strength to strength over the years. The company employs more than 500 staff on sites around Scotland.

Whyte & Mackay has its headquarters in Glasgow, an all-purpose, state-of-the-art bottling plant at Grangemouth. Its two main distilleries are in Jura, off the west coast of Scotland, and Dalmore in Ross-shire.

Sponsor: London Wine Fair

Now firmly re-established at Olympia London, the London Wine Fair will take place for the 37th time from 22-24 May 2017. Widely recognised as one of the world's leading professional wine events, the fair supports the trade at many levels. As a platform for debate, education and networking it is second to none.

But it is as an opportunity for business that the fair really excels. Bringing together importers, producers, distributors and brand owners with buyers from the on and off-trades, as well as from overseas import markets, the London Wine Fair sits at the very heart of the UK wine trade.

Supporter: Denbies Wine Estate

Denbies Wine Estate is the largest single estate vineyard in England. The 265-acre vineyard is situated on the North Downs, with their famous chalky soil, in a protected valley of south-facing slopes.

Denbies' wines have consistently won awards, both national and international, and are available from Denbies' own shop, online and through trade sales. In recent years the IWSC has recognised the emergence of UK wine production as an innovative industry.

Denbies will be celebrating its 30th anniversary in 2016.

Supporter: Fever-Tree

Fever-Tree is the world's leading supplier of premium natural mixers for alcoholic spirits by retail sales value, with a distribution network covering over 60 countries.

Based in the UK, the brand was launched in 2005 by Charles Rolls and Tim Warrillow to provide high-quality natural mixers to accompany the growing demand for premium spirits. The group now sells a range of 13 differentiated flavours to the on- and off-trade. Its range includes 6 variants of tonic water, a cola, a ginger ale and ginger beer and two variants of lemonade.

Sponsor: Mission Hill

Mission Hill Family Estate was founded by Anthony von Mandl, OC, OBC, in 1981 and first captured the attention of the international wine world by winning the IWSC Trophy for Best Chardonnay in the World in 1994.

At that time the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia was relatively unknown and unproven, so the IWSC judges insisted on re-tasting the flight to be absolutely certain. The re-tasting conclusively affirmed both the award of the IWSC Trophy to Mission Hill and the realisation of von Mandl's bold vision to produce exceptional wines which could stand alongside the best in the world. Subsequently in 2006, von Mandl was the first Canadian ever appointed as president of the IWSC.

In 2011 the IWSC judges awarded Mission Hill the IWSC Trophy for 'Canadian Wine Producer of the Year', an overarching recognition of its winemaking excellence. Most recently in 2016, Mission Hill received an IWSC Gold Award for its Terroir Collection No17 Silver Ranch Riesling Icewine. The depth and breadth of Mission Hill's unique wine portfolio celebrates the individual terroirs and micro-climates of the Okanagan Valley, one of the most exciting emerging wine regions globally.

Sponsor: Distell

As South Africa's leading producer of brandies highly acclaimed for their excellence in the international arena, Distell is proud to sponsor the annual IWSC Worldwide Brandy trophy. This annual award provides many of the world's pre-eminent brandy makers with the opportunity to benchmark themselves against each other in the constant pursuit of ever-higher quality standards. South African producers are regular recipients of this award, lending credence to the contention of international brandy authorities that the country's best examples are becoming the standard bearer for quality aged brandies produced outside the AOC regions of France.

In addition to its brandy portfolio, Distell is also a major producer of award-winning wines, Cognac, Scotch whisky, South African whisky, other spirits, cider and RTDs. Employing just under 5,500 people, the company operates from offices in London, New York, Sao Paulo and Singapore to support its network of agents in 78 countries.

The company is a founding member of WIETA, the South African Wine Industry Ethical Trade Association.

Sponsor: Wines from Rioja

Wines from Rioja is the proud sponsor of the IWSC Trophy for Rioja. Rioja is a land of a thousand wines, where nearly 600 innovative producers make wines in both traditional and modern styles. A recent study showed that the region ranks first in the world at translating brand awareness into sales, showing that consumers recognise the quality and value-for-money that Rioja wines can offer.

Ricardo Aguiriano, from the Consejo Regulador de Rioja DOCa, comments: "The IWSC is one of the world's most prestigious wine competitions, in which Rioja wineries have historically performed very well. The Rioja Trophy celebrates the quality and innovation at the forefront of developments unfolding in this exciting wine region."

Wines from Rioja is the UK marketing arm of the Consejo Regulador de Rioja DOCa, the body responsible for the application and monitoring of legislation relating to the quality and standards of wines produced in the region, promotion of the image of Rioja wines and the defence of interests of the sector.
