“If we really believe in food, we must do something about it. For our voices should be raised above the rest.”

James Beard

Letter from the President and Board Chairs

AS WE LOOK BACK ON FISCAL YEAR 2017, we are delighted to report that the James Beard Foundation is well positioned to achieve even greater national impact and programmatic accomplishments than ever before. The past 12 months have been bolstered by important firsts for our Foundation...

...THE LARGEST ANNUAL AWARD for culinary scholarships and grants to 89 students totaling over $725,000

...THE EXPANSION of our Foundation's social media reach to over one million followers

...THE ESTABLISHMENT and implementation of a successful fundraising campaign to launch our first Women Entrepreneurial Leadership Program at Babson College in September 2017

...ADVISING on a new production for the Emmy Award-winning PBS American Masters series, James Beard: America's First Foodie, a one-hour documentary on the life of our Foundation's namesake

...THE SIGNING of a four-year contract with Chicago as the host city for the James Beard Awards through 2021

...THE IMPLEMENTATION of a three-year strategic plan for JBF's organizational future and the hiring of a JBF Senior Director of Food Policy Advocacy

...THE HIRING of our first Director of Development

These achievements are examples of how our talented Foundation staff and dedicated board of trustees are helping to drive our vision to create a world in which everyone can enjoy delicious, nutritious food produced in a sustainable way and our mission to celebrate, nurture, and honor chefs and other leaders making America's food culture more delicious, diverse, and sustainable for everyone.

SUSAN UNGARO
President

FRED SEEGAL
Board Chair
2017-

EMILY LUCHETTI
Chair Emeritus
2012-2017

Like other nonprofits working to make our food world a better place, we are proud to partner with and help other inspiring nonprofits advance their good work—organizations like Food Bank for New York City, Food Policy Action, Wholesome Wave, God’s Love We Deliver, and Wellness in the Schools, to name a few.

As we begin the new Fiscal Year 2018, our Foundation owes its gratitude to our outgoing Board Chair, chef Emily Luchetti, who helped guide our prosperity during the past five years. Happily, Emily will remain on our board as Chair Emeritus as our current Vice Chair, Fred Seegal, assumes the role of Chair. “In my time serving on the board under Susan and Emily’s leadership, the Foundation has done an extraordinary job of becoming both a global brand and an indispensable organization for chefs and other culinary leaders on food-policy-related issues,” says Fred. “My goal is to leverage our position as the most prestigious culinary-arts nonprofit in the world and to continue expanding the progress we have made in all areas of thought leadership.”

None of the past year’s accomplishments would have been possible without the support of members, donors, chefs, the food industry, and thought leaders who have given their financial support, talent, and time to advance our good work. As you review this Fiscal Year 2017 annual report, we’re sure you’ll notice that the results and stories are not just about the numbers, but about the people who have made our Foundation the most respected and influential food-arts organization in America.

Thank you for your interest, and for your past—and future—support.

Embodying Excellence

The past year saw JBF's standard of culinary excellence rise to new heights with record audiences across our spectrum of national events featuring the far-reaching achievements of American chefs. With a star-studded return to Chicago, the James Beard Awards welcomed nearly 2,000 chefs, restaurants, sponsors, and passionate food enthusiasts to the annual ceremony. The James Beard House, long considered the ultimate "performance venue" for aspiring and established chefs alike, hosted nearly 200 evenings of culinary adventure by more than 400 chefs from every corner of the globe. The JBF Gala—a highlight of New York's annual charity scene—saluted the culinary excellence of Singapore in grand style. And signature national events including JBF Taste America®, Celebrity Chef Tour, and Chefs & Champagne® showcased both national and local culinary talents, bringing the breadth of James Beard's legacy to thousands across the country.

Paving the Way for New Generations and Leaders

Since 1991 JBF has worked to ensure that the next generation of chefs have the resources they need to pursue their dreams in culinary school and professional training. This past year we raised those efforts to new levels with the introduction of the JBF National Scholars program. Selected from across the U.S., ten National Scholars, who aspire to leadership roles in food science, food studies, and business, as well as the culinary arts and hospitality, each received a substantial award of up to $20,000. In total, JBF awarded over $725,000 in scholarship and financial aid support to nearly 90 people—the largest amount in our history.

But our work does not end on the culinary school doorstep. JBF has been working to address the inequity that persists among chefs and restaurants, notably for women chefs. Five years ago JBF launched the Women in Culinary Leadership program as a means of shattering the “gastro-ceiling,” pairing emerging female chefs with top industry leaders for on-the-job intensive training. Last year JBF selected a record 21 chefs for the program and connected them with mentors ranging from Seattle to Houston to Tallahassee.

“The beautiful advantage of this program is getting to see all the different elements of front-of-house management firsthand, on a daily basis. The bond of the women in the WCL program...we are all in the same boat and on the same learning curve.”

Elevating Voices and Changing the Dialogue

Throughout his life, James Beard never shied away from making his passion for a delicious and sustainable food world known to everyone he met. That passion lies at the heart of JBF's newly launched Impact Programs, a collection of chef-centered initiatives focused on JBF's work to establish a more sustainable food system through education, advocacy, and thought leadership. Over the past year, JBF trustees and senior leadership have taken visionary steps to cement the Foundation's multifaceted efforts in the food systems sphere as part of the organization's overarching mission. Under the umbrella of its Impact Programs, the Foundation has committed to the key issue areas of food waste reduction, sustainable seafood, sustainable meat, and childhood nutrition.

With the goal of ensuring that America's food culture is more delicious, diverse, and sustainable for everyone, JBF's fiscal year 2017 programs saw culinary excellence mesh with fervent advocacy to yield outstanding results. Our nationally renowned Food Summit brought together key players from across the food spectrum to join the dialogue on sustainability trends. The JBF Leadership Awards recognized six game changers who have had an impact on improving childhood nutrition, fighting hunger, and promoting justice and equality in our food system. JBF's hugely popular Chefs Boot Camp for Policy and Change offered immersive advocacy and team-building training to 45 chefs over three different retreats, providing them with the tools and confidence to make their voices heard on issues close to their hearts. As a result, thanks to JBF's leadership, chefs are taking a stand on key issues across their communities, and even ascending the steps of Capitol Hill to ensure that our food sources are safe and sustainable for generations to come.

“We ought to have a new definition of national security. Instead of just the number of bombs and troops we have, it ought to include whether or not everybody in this country has enough to eat, adequate housing, access to a job. Before I die, I’d like to see a hunger-free America. And if I live long enough, a hunger-free world.”

Growing and Celebrating Our Legacy

JBF's success rests on two pillars: the strength of our national programming and commitment to the national chef community; and the dedication to nurturing our world of passionate food enthusiasts. And in that area, we couldn't be more fortunate. JBF's membership is thriving with a 4,700-member base of energetic and savvy food connoisseurs and professionals, eager to be at the forefront of cutting-edge culinary experiences. The JBF Greens, our program for NYC-area food lovers under 40, hosted over 1,700 attendees at 24 events in fiscal year 2017. And JBF's social media presence continues to grow by leaps and bounds, with over 531,000 followers on Twitter and 367,000 on Instagram. Meanwhile, our home base at the James Beard House continues to receive the love and attention it so richly deserves, with regular decorative and maintenance updates to make sure our chefs and guests can enjoy every moment of their experience in the warmth of James Beard's former home.

“We have visited NYC several times this past month, and have enjoyed four dinners at the Beard House. Always exciting, always delicious. We love the opportunity to meet such fascinating people from so many ‘walks of life’—people who celebrate amazing food.”

Letter from the Chief Financial and Operating Officer and Treasurer

FISCAL YEAR 2017 WAS A REWARDING ONE for the James Beard Foundation, thanks to our dedicated staff and board of trustees, and to the contributions of our committed partners and supporters. Our Gala Chef and Restaurant Awards ceremony was successfully hosted in Chicago for the second year, while JBF's New York-based signature programs continued to thrive. Our House Events program (in its 30th year), showcased the extraordinary talents of chefs from around the country; our festive Chefs & Champagne tasting event in Long Island, NY, and fall dinner and auction fundraiser at the Rainbow Room in New York City both contributed notably to our financial results. And our national programs, the Celebrity Chef Tour, bringing the House Event experience "on the road" to 28 U.S. cities, and Taste America, celebrating 10 American culinary destinations, continued to provide opportunities to make new food-focused friends, while generating significant revenues for the Foundation.

The financial success of these signature JBF programs, along with funding from targeted programmatic grants, allowed us to expand our investment in JBF Impact Programs, which continue to focus attention on the important role of chefs and other food industry leaders in sustainability initiatives. These programs included: Food Summit and Leadership Awards; Chefs Boot Camp for Policy and Change; Issue Summits and Culinary Labs; as well as customized Blended Burger and Smart Catch Sustainable Seafood programs. Diversified JBF revenues streams also helped support increased investment in JBF Women’s Leadership Programs, and our ongoing—and increasing—annual Scholarship awards.

Thanks to our Fiscal Year 2017 achievements, the Foundation is well-positioned to continue to support our mission, through a range of diverse programs, and with the generosity of supporters like you.
