PREFACE.

WE lay before the public of Detroit the Ninth Volume of the Annual Directory of their city. It forms a larger book than any of its predecessors, showing thereby the steady and substantial growth of the metropolis of Michigan. That portion of the work devoted to the Directory of names occupies this year 345 pages, and contains 24,840 names. The same figures for the Directory of 1869 were 318 pages and 23,750 names, the increase this year thus being 27 pages and 1,090 names. These statistics (following the usual basis of estimating population upon Directory returns) indicate an increase in Detroit's population of 4,500 souls.

We issue this volume with especial pleasure, not merely because the information usually contained in such publications is presented herein in such full and complete form as to make the work one of peculiar value as a standard work of reference, but also on account of the unique interest that will attend and reward a systematic perusal of its pages by the man of curious leisure or of leisurely curiosity, and of the strange and hitherto unappreciated facts it makes public concerning the social, commercial and moral grandeur and attractiveness of the city, whose guide book it is. We have given elsewhere the aggregate of names it contains, but those few figures convey in only a slight degree that impression of the size and importance of Detroit that is produced when the careful reader finds that within its boundaries are even now contained a London, four Manchesters, three Parises, a Birmingham, three Bostons, four Tyres, a Bremen, three Clevelands, four Bristols, a Brighton, a Leavenworth, two Worcesters, two Milans, two Warsaws, a Macon, a Tunis, a Lansing and a Yarborough. The refinement of Detroit society, the culture of its people, the multitude of distinguished men who have chosen this well-favored town as their home—all these circumstances our citizens appreciate at their true value; yet every candid mind must confess that they vaunt themselves but little and are astonishingly free from vanity, when the fact is taken into consideration that their town contains a George Washington, a Daniel Webster, a Joseph Addison, a Daniel O'Connell, three William Wallaces, a James Buchanan, a John Adams, a John Q. Adams, a W. H. Harrison, a John Wesley, three Henry Wilsons, four Westons and 44 other Walkers, an Oliver Goldsmith, 89 "parties by the name of Johnson," five Rothschilds, two Fisks and four Goulds, a Robert Lee, a John Marshall, three Billy Pattersons, a Walter Raleigh, a Joseph Howard, a Robert Burns, a Thomas Campbell, and 28 John Smiths. Nor is Detroit devoid of aristocratic glory, for among her residents are to be found 34 Kings, five Earls, one Lord, one Marquis, and 14 Nobles. In the matter of ecclesiastical magnates, also, her glory waxeth great, for she hath no less than three Popes, eight Bishops, 10 Abbots, a Rector, 19 Deans, five Parsons, six Priests, a Dominey, nine Elders, and nine Christians, pure and simple. Those who believe in the unadorned nobility of manhood more than in titles, tiaras or the insignia of sacerdotal rank, will learn with unaffected pleasure that among her citizens are still nine Savages, and those who hold yet to the existence of alike "spirits of health or goblins damned" will find confirmation of their faith in the recorded presence of two Fays, seven Angells, and eight Furys. It is possible that the presence of these beings explains the other fact, also set down in the following pages, that Detroit contains four Paradises and one Hell.

Nor does this volume set forth alone the magnitude and social opulence of the city, whose name it bears. How tempting the attractions it holds forth to the savan and the scientist! Before the ornithologist she unfolds a rich collection, in which are embraced one specimen of the Eagle, four Rooks, nine Drakes, four Storks, three Gulls, nine Swans seven Crowes, scores of Martins, five Cranes, two Peococks, 14 Gies, six Cox, three Hawks, a Henn, a Lark, a Partridge and one Bird (classified as a carpenter and therefore probably a member of the wood-pecker family). If the student of nature delights in entomology and the reptile kingdom, let him luxuriate amid her Roaches (six in number), her four Leeches, and her one Worm. If ethnology—rare and noble science—charms him, his taste for curious research can be developed, not only amid scores of Franks, Germans, Normans, etc., but also among 15 Blacks, seven Freedmans, one Blackman, one Brunette, 128 Browns and one who is Browning. If botany is his forte and Linnaeus his patron saint, there are of plants at his service three Sage, a Tea, a Rush, 14 Roses, a Wheat, three Weeds, a Bean, scores of Berrys, a Garlick, four Pease, a Pepper, 38 Rices, 21 Reeds, a Primrose and two Mellens; and of trees seven Appels, four Ashs, six Bartletts (making three Bartlett pairs) two Beeches, a Date, a Figge, a Pine, a Plum, two Lemons, a Maple, two Oaks and one entire Orchard.

Nor does our City of the Straits alone beckon kindly to the man whose countenance is "sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought," but with equally enticing calls does she summon to her streets the jolly lover of sport. If he be a disciple of Izaak Walton she invites him to the side of 29 Brooks, a River, six Waters and a Fountain, and can equip him for his sport with a Skiff, a Barge and a Bottle, and will furnish him for game with two Haddocks, a Hering, two Pikes, five Crabbs, and nine Fish (species not enumerated). If his luck be bad, there are at his disposal four Damms and two Meingotts. If he be a descendant of Nimrod, this volume will tell where he can find eight Forests, three Marshes, eight Fields and 30 Woods, and his huntsman's skill may be displayed upon 17 Foxes, five Does, 16 Harts, two Hinds, a single variety of Katz, four Kidds, nine Lambs, two Bucks, 10 Lyons, two Minks, 11 Roes, 24 Wolfs, two Stags, four Coons, four Bullocks, and a Sheep.

To those who have not time to familiarize themselves with all the agreeable facts of which the foregoing presents merely a premonitory taste, is commended a perusal of the advertising portion of the Directory. It will be found to be of great value, in that it contains the names of all the leading firms and establishments of the city in all branches of commercial enterprise. This department of this publication has remained under the charge of MR. JACOB W. WEEKS, for the past four years its superintendent, and a gentleman of unusual experience in this direction.

In conclusion it is proper to acknowledge the indebtedness which the publishers and patrons of the Directory are under to the City Surveyor, EUGENE ROBINSON, Esq., for his valuable assistance in completing and correcting the street directory, which forms such an important feature of this volume.

DIRECTIONS AND INSTRUCTIONS FOR TELEGRAPH FIRE ALARMS
IN THE RECENT RECONSTRUCTION OF THE LINE.

[After the directions for operating the Fire Alarm Telegraph, found on page 36 of this Directory were printed, the fire Commissioners adopted a new system of telegraphy, differing materially from that before in use, and of course requiring different manipulation. Below we give the rules for working the new telegraph. A complete list of the new boxes and locations may be found on page 36.]

A key will be left with the occupant of a building near each Alarm Box, and it will be designated on the box where the same may be found. The officers and men of the Police Department will also possess a key.

The following directions will be observed when a fire is discovered :

I. Go to the nearest box and open the door, pull the hook down as far as you can, (firmly without jerking,) and then let it slide back ; remove the key and close the door.

II. If you do not immediately hear the number of the box struck upon the small bell within, or upon the tower bells, go to the next nearest box to the fire and repeat the operation.

III. If upon going to a box to give an alarm, you hear the small bell inside ringing (which is an indication that an alarm is being sent over the lines), do not open the box until it has done ringing. In all such cases count the signal being sounded, and be certain that it is not for the same fire.

Key holders are cautioned—

1. To not open the box except in case of fire.
2. To not give alarm until certain of a fire.
3. To not give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance.
4. To pull down the hook but once in giving an alarm.
5. To be sure, after giving an alarm, that the door is securely closed before leaving the box.
6. To not let the key go out of their possession, except when demanded by proper authority.

Its rates of premiums are as low as those of the leading "all cash" Companies, and yet it gives one-third loan, if desired, when the annual premium exceeds forty dollars. It takes no notes, but makes its loans against the policies; consequently in the STANDARD there is

NO LIABILITY TO ASSESSMENTS.

But very few Companies have been so successful during the first few months of existence. It has issued up to the present time 2,730 policies, insuring over while it has on hand more than twice the amount of funds necessary to re-insure its risks. It would be difficult to find an institution equally secure and well guarded.

$5,000,000,

All the Popular Forms of Insurance are adopted by the STANDARD. Premiums may be paid annually, semi-annually, or quarterly; they may be paid in all cash or one-third loan taken. The STANDARD believes in

Is conducted with all that thoroughness and business accuracy which eminently distinguish the MAYHEW BOOK-KEEPINGS, and have given them their wide-spread popularity throughout the nation. Its arrangements for thoroughness in all its departments are unrivalled. Especially is this true of its BUSINESS PRACTICE, which employs engraved representative money, and several hundred varieties of carefully prepared business papers, and is taught in the use of a valuable invention by one of its teachers that secures perfect accuracy in all the details of the student's work,—the only invention for this purpose ever awarded a patent. Under the direction of its experienced instructors, with these ample facilities, students readily acquire complete proficiency at the desk, or fit themselves in the best possible manner for an intelligent performance of the varied duties of the counting-room.

THE MAYHEW BUSINESS COLLEGE

Is supplying Business Colleges in several of the States and in the Canadas, with text-books, money and business papers. A large number of Teachers from various other institutions visit the Mayhew College with a view to becoming acquainted with its improved methods. The experience of its founder and his associates, its superior text-books, and its unequalled business practice, constitute this, in fact, a most valuable TRAINING SCHOOL for persons desirous of learning Book-keeping, whether with a view to practicing accountantship, to engaging in business, or to giving instruction in book-keeping in Business Colleges or other institutions of learning.

TUITION AND EXPENSES.

Scholarships, time unlimited, are issued to students at $40. Text-books, and all stationery required, cost about $8. All expenses, exclusive of board, (which may be had at $4 to $5 a week,) need not exceed $50 for the course.

To sound an alarm for fire, first open the circuit, which is done by turning the small handle off from the button near the centre of the instrument board; this will cause the hammer to sound upon the gong, showing that the instrument is in circuit and the line in working order.

Then with the key at the bottom of the instrument board sound ten (10), which is an alarm for fire, then pause, and then sound the number of the box.

These must be given three times in the order stated as follows:

Sound the alarm 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 (pause).

If the number of the box is 24, sound 1 1 (pause), 1 1 1 1, or if the number of the box is 43, sound 1 1 1 1 (pause), 1 1 1.

The pauses should be but about two seconds, or the time in which a person would ordinarily count three.

Care should be taken that the operation is distinct and at regular intervals.

After sounding the alarm and the number of the box, as above directed, wait a few moments, and if it has not been distinctly understood, a call may be made from some other locality for "repeat," which is 231, thus; 1 1 (pause) 1 1 1 (pause) 1. This being heard in the instrument, the alarm and number of the box must all be given again, as first directed.

Before locking the box, close the circuit, by turning the small handle on to the button near the centre of the instrument board; this must in all cases be done, and in no event must the circuit be left open.

The boxes must not be opened except to sound an alarm for fire, and the persons who are intrusted with the keys to the boxes are requested to report to the office of the Board of Fire Commissioners when any accident occurs, either to the instrument or boxes, or if any unauthorized persons are found tampering with them.

FROM THOMAS ARCHER, ST. JOSEPH:

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., April 25, 1870.

"MESSRS. HUBBARD & DAVIS,---Gents: The two hundred Verbenas came in good order and are certainly the most healthy stocky plants I ever saw."

FROM W. W. TRACY, AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE:

LANSING, MICH., March 7, 1870.

"The Verbenas arrived in good condition, and are quite satisfactory. I think they are quite as good, if not better plants than I saw any where East."

WATSON & BRUMMITT'SNEW*Photographic Gallery,*164 JEFFERSON AVENUE,*DETROIT,*MICHIGAN.

Being practical Artists ourselves, and doing all our own work, we have the advantage over Galleries that have to employ Artists to do the work, who usually receive one-half the price of the picture, which we propose to let the public have the benefit of. We respectfully ask that our work be compared with that of other Galleries, no matter what their prices may be.

☛ We will endeavor to be prompt and obliging, and, by so doing, we hope to merit your patronage.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or no Charge.
