The name
Timberjack[®]

was first applied to a remarkable new 4-wheel drive articulated log skidder in 1961.
Since then, it has replaced horse, mule, ox and elephant over 25,000 times in 75 countries.

Because it's a trademark, you won't find Timberjack in the dictionary.
But it means a lot to people in the logging industry.

The Tree Farmer is a woodland manager. He knows that trees are a renewable resource and a valuable resource for the country's future. And so he grows and harvests his forest crop with an eye towards constantly renewing and replenishing his forests.

The Tree Farmer actively works with his forest protecting the land from fire, insects, disease and destructive grazing. He provides watershed protection, better food and habitat for wildlife, and opportunities for outdoor recreation.

We support the American Tree Farm System

The World's Largest Selling Chain Saw

Wood is nature's most versatile building material. Pound for pound, it's stronger than steel, light, easy to work with and unsurpassed in tone and texture. And, equally important, too, it's a good natural energy saver.

For example, the sun provides all the energy needed to produce wood free of charge. It takes less energy to convert wood into usable products than is needed for most other building materials. And wood is a better natural insulator than brick, masonry or metal.

Increasingly, wood is being used as an alternative to other, more costly energy resources. At Boise Cascade, we are installing advanced systems that efficiently burn leftover wood to generate the heat, steam and even the power vital to our production. In fact, our wood products operations now generate over 60% of their own energy needs, releasing more essential fuels like natural gas for other uses.

Our nation's energy problems can't all be solved with wood, but it's one of several good alternatives. We're working to make the best use of this renewable natural resource.

TRECODER

the better way for marking trees

TREE MARKING INKS

NO more hard settling. NO more shaking your arm off to get paint ready for use. NOW just shake TRECODER a few times and you are ready to mark trees without loss of time.

TRECODER is unique because it is an ink not a paint. It is scientifically formulated specifically for marking trees.

TRECODER is brighter in color for greater visibility, non settling for easier and faster application with better penetration and longer lasting. TRECODER makes gun cleaning easy. TRECODER tree marking ink comes in three grades—super long life, regular, and temporary. Also, try NEW TRECODER boundary marking inks which come in two grades—sprayable and brushable. The colors are bright and long lasting.

USE a new TRECODER spot gun to apply TRECODER tree marking inks and sprayable boundary marking inks. There is no reversible nozzle to fumble with and lose in the leaves or snow.

SMALL TALK

Generating Ideas

The forests of Maine have a great ability to regenerate themselves. As one generation of trees dies or is harvested, a new one comes naturally along to replace it.

At Great Northern, we're giving nature a hand so that our future wood supply is not only maintained, but will increase. And we're trying to be sure that subsequent generations of trees consist of species less susceptible to insect infestations.

At our Rice Farm Nursery, four miles down the Penobscot River from Millinocket, we're now growing some 2 million black and white spruce seedlings a year in a controlled greenhouse environment of over 11,000 square feet.

Twice a year, six-inch high seedlings are removed from the nursery and, with our facility at full production, we'll plant over 2,000 acres every year. Some of the planting is done by students who earn part of their college expenses during the summer, so we like to think everyone benefits from our investment in Maine's future wood supply.

We'd be pleased to send you a copy of our new brochure describing the Rice Farm Nursery. If you'd like one, just drop us a note at Great Northern Paper, Box N, Millinocket, ME 04462.

THERE'S A TREE IN YOUR LIFE

tree
is God's creation
every where on earth — in cluding Brooklyn.
It's said man once lived in trees. When he climbed down, life never again was to be quite so simple . . . yet only then did the tree get truly appreciated. For here was food and fuel and shelter. Then a weapon, a tool, a wheel—and transportation. And now it's floors, doors veneers, piers, baskets, caskets . . . rubber for gaskets. It's a handle for brooms, shovels, rakes . . . syrup on pancakes. It's paper and paints . . . tars, spars boxes and boxcars . . . storage bins and bowling pins. It's toothpicks and matchsticks . . . even plastics . . . material for distillation, lamination, insulation . . . windows for ventilation, and a thousand and one other we - can't - do - withouts. Yet few people look at a tree in the same way. To the woodsman it's a healthy rewarding life that leaves the bustle of the city far behind. To the small boy it's a favorite and strategic place - where you build a shack, sling a rope, spot a woodpecker, cut slingshots and fishpoles, hang old tires and tie-up 'enemies' To the naturalist it's probing a fascinating world of buds, blossoms, bark, branches, needles, cones and leaves . . . spectacles of color . . . and some 1,035 domestic species. (Yet to a baseball player it's as simple as a stick of second - growth ash, sized and shaped to "feel like a million.") To the artist it's inspiration . . . alone on a windswept hill, timberline patchwork on a mountainside, thick and verdant in a valley. To the homeowner it's beauty and shade and property value . . . also digging planting, pruning, edging, feeding and a lot of other weekend work. To the hobbyist and crafts - man it's a new bookcase, picnic table, panelled den, plywood shelves a chance to become down - right 'immortal' To the lumberman it's a bustling big business, measured by the billions of board feet.
But most of all, a tree remains what it was in the first place . . . man's ever-useful, everlasting friend For we'd sure be stumped
for a mighty
lot of things
in a world
without trees!
