

Wednesday Walk to Bendora Dam – 9 April 2008

Bendora Dam is one of Canberra's water storages and it dams the Cotter River. It is located in Namadgi National Park. Our trip there was via Bull's Head in the Brindabella Ranges and we returned via Wark's Road. We made one roadside stop on the way, where there was a sign denoting significant roadside vegetation. Plants of interest there were Bedfordia arborescens, Olearia stellulata, Astrotricha ledifolia, Boronia algida and two Coprosma species – C. hirtella and C. quadrifida. We did the loop walk from the Bendora Dam car park which took us to the dam then below it, following the river and crossing it at one point. Grevillea oxyantha ssp. oxyantha was in bud, as was Pomaderris andromedifolia ssp. confusa and Acacia pravissima.
