Letter From The Director:

REAFFIRMING OUR COMMITMENT TO THE COMMUNITY

Dear Friend of the Museum,

There are many ways to measure success. As this Annual Report shows, 2019 was a resoundingly successful year by many of them. With your help:

- We exceeded our artMOBILE campaign goal, raising $50,000 to replace our oldest vehicle, a 1995 minivan that has clocked nearly 300,000 miles allowing this outreach program to continue.
- Our outreach programs expanded further into the New Bedford and across the SouthCoast with initiatives driven by the Community Foundation of Southeastern Massachusetts's Creative Commonwealth with Get Out & Art and Creative Courts.
- We concluded the second phase of our feasibility study with the campaign totaling more than $111,000 in incredibly generous contributions from friends of the Art Museum, Massachusetts Cultural Council, and the City of New Bedford's Community Preservation Act.
- We served more than 8,000 people in our galleries, it was our second-busiest year ever with 25% of our guests traveling from out-of-state and from as far away as Australia and Portugal.
- 40% of our total audience experienced exhibitions free or at a deep discount through our partnerships with AHA!, MCC Card 2 Culture, Museums for All, and Blue Star Museum, which provides opportunities for those facing barriers to experience the Museum.
- We received so many notes, emails and social media posts from our friends, near and far, thanking us for everything from a fun day and new memories to being a place where kids with special needs can play right alongside their peers.

We feel fortunate to have been part of the Art Museum’s incredible journey in 2019, highlighted by talked-about exhibitions and our fundamental commitment to education.

What is absolutely clear is that without our tremendous community—extraordinarily dedicated staff and volunteers, understanding neighbors, generous supporters, thoughtful friends and advisors, tenacious advocates, and a Board of Trustees that believe passionately in the Art Museum’s mission—our impact on the City and the region could not have as monumental. Please accept our personal thanks for being part of our story, and for staying with us as we continue to build a strong and vibrant future for New Bedford Art Museum/ArtWorks!. This is only the beginning!

Sincere thanks to all,

Ashley Occhino

EDUCATION & OUTREACH

Programs and Highlights

Autumn Glen Assisted Living - Offering art classes for seniors and Alzheimer's residents at the assisted living facility in North Dartmouth twice a month since 2016.

Cool Art Kids - February, April and Summer school vacation classes offering 2D, 3D, digital art & clay.
• NEW in 2019 a 3-week Teen Intensive Art Portfolio Development class.

Get Out & Art (NEW – pilot program!) - The Creative Commonwealth Initiative awarded two grants to organizations in New Bedford totaling nearly $30,000. The Get Out and Art! Summer Program is a pilot project in partnership with the New Bedford Housing Authority. The New Bedford Art Museum/ ArtWorks! and the Dream Out Loud Center were awarded grants to lead youth programming at two sites, Dottin Place and Ben Rose, twice a week for six weeks last summer for children ages 7–11. We led visual arts programs that took children around the world through art. Click here to learn more.

Girl Scouts Badges - We have been providing art programs for the Girl Scouts of Southeastern Massachusetts since 2015 as a place they can earn their art badges.

Harbour House Family Center - “Home is where the Art is...” was a ten-week collaboration between the Museum and Harbour House residents, where we provided free art programming dealing with family transition challenges.

Invest in Kids: Exploring My City Through Art - An after-school enrichment program for 4th and 5th-grade students from James B. Congdon Elementary School. Since 2009 we have welcomed students twice a week for 25 weeks to explore art in our studios, learn the history of New Bedford, and visit local landmarks.

Learning Studio: Early Literacy Through the Arts - Has been supporting parents and caregivers as their children's first teachers since 2010. This year we implemented arts-based early learning experiences with developmentally appropriate practices, building a foundation that supports future academic success at Irwin M. Jacobs Elementary School's Family Engagement Center.

Art Educators Professional Development Day - We provide professional development for art educators in collaboration with Southeastern Massachusetts Education Collaborative and Department of Art Education at the University of Massachusetts Dartmouth since 2010.

Studio Art Workshops and Classes - Throughout the year we have multiple offerings for adults, youth, and families in clay, digital arts, drawing, painting and more.

Teen Arts Council - Since 2001 through various iterations and name changes, our teens engage in leadership, develop art, career and life skills. They serve as ambassadors for the Museum through their participation in many community outreach events with our partners.

Teen Artist Internship Program - Since 2005 we have been pairing up teens who want to pursue a career in the arts with artist mentors in the community. The internship runs for 9 weeks and mentors and teens are given an exhibit and reception with a comprehensive catalog on the participants and the exhibit at the end of the program.

CREATIVE COURTS

2019 marked the official launch of Creative Courts, a transformative art mural-style court project by New Bedford Art Museum/ ArtWorks! and artist Maria Molteni. These colorful basketball courts will serve as beacons for community engagement, as they are public spaces that meet more than just one need.

Maria Molteni and the New Craft Artists in Action, actively engaged youth and teens from the neighborhoods in New Bedford and Fall River, running collaborative workshops to gather inspiration for the court.

Courting the Sky - Clasky Common Park, New Bedford, MA

This massive mural was created by Molteni and her crew of professional artists and designed alongside neighborhood youth, as well as, kids from our artMobile program. The title was inspired by the wonderful Standard-Times article by Linda Roy who described the court so magically and accurately. Learn how New Bedford's whaling history inspired the designs seen on the ground and from above!

Cosmic Court - Edmond P Talbot Middle School, Fall River, MA

In collaboration with teachers at Talbot, Molteni and New Craft Artists in Action visited art classes and hosted after-school workshops for students. Molteni noticed many circular, cyclical, planetary motifs among the drawings and used them as inspiration for this basketball universe. Complete with color wheels and diagrams! See how this court is a participatory teaching tool for the art classes who were studying light and shade!

Since 1995 the artMOBILE has served as a vital arts center on wheels. For many families in New Bedford, transportation is a major challenge and the artMOBILE successfully overcomes this challenge by bringing free, safe, constructive, learning opportunities to 1,000 youth right in the neighborhoods where they work and play each summer.

The clock was ticking and the community heard our call for help! New Bedford Art Museum/ArtWorks! raised $50,000 to purchase a new vehicle with storage for art supplies.

artMOBILE NUMBERS

- 20 site visits artMOBILE makes each week (parks, schools, youth centers)
- 24 years the Museum has operated the artMOBILE program
- 1008 youth served in 2019
- 28,434 youth served since 1995

This artMOBILE campaign was a success thanks to generous funders like The Amelia Peabody Foundation, Bristol County Savings Bank Charitable Fund, The Community Foundation of Southeastern Massachusetts - Rainy Day Fund, and all those who donated through our Patronicity crowdfunding campaign.

BKMAI

Barr-Klarman Massachusetts Arts Initiative

In October of 2018, New Bedford Art Museum/ ArtWorks! was selected to be part of The Barr-Klarman Massachusetts Arts Initiative – a $25 million investment in 29 arts and cultural organizations from across Massachusetts to strengthen their long-term financial health and ability to adapt to change.

This joint effort of the Barr Foundation and The Klarman Family Foundation is rooted in the belief that arts and cultural organizations have enormous potential to add value to the vibrancy, social wellbeing, and creative economies of their communities. Yet, amidst rapid change in our communities and broader society, organizations must also grow and change. Compelling artistic programming that engages diverse artists and audiences is necessary to remain relevant and to thrive... but it is not enough.

The overarching frame for this initiative is adaptive capacity with two focus areas of capitalization and cultural competence. Arts and cultural organizations need a sound operating model with adequate and appropriate capital, and staff and board members who embrace change and cultural differences.

New Bedford Art Museum/ArtWorks! and each participant in this initiative receives multi-year, unrestricted operating grants.

Additionally, through a grant to TDC, a nationally recognized nonprofit consulting and research group, organizations also receive customized training and technical assistance. The Museum and fellow arts organizations, New Bedford Symphony Orchestra and The Zeiterion Theatre have the unique and honored status of representing the only city outside of Boston to hold more than two grant recipients.

“It clearly speaks to the terrific work that’s going on in Southeastern Massachusetts,” said Stefan Lanfer, director of communications for the Barr Foundation. “There’s clearly a lot of talent and commitment to the arts,” Lanfer noted that clusters of awards went to other geographic areas as well. Neighboring communities receiving awards include Great Barrington-Stockbridge, Boston-Cambridge, and Provincetown-Truro.

Over the past year, our Board and staff have been working closely with consultants and representatives from the two foundations to develop and implement a Theory of Change, which will be the basis for our work over the next four years. Specifically, BKMAI funds will support the Museum’s capitalization and will enable us to focus on several core activities, including heightened support from the community, strengthening the Museum’s sustainability and policies, and evaluating the possibility of expanding the Museum’s physical footprint.

For more information about the Barr-Klarman Massachusetts Arts Initiative, including the ideas underlying the effort, key elements of the experience for participating organizations, selection criteria, and evaluation findings, visit: www.barrfoundation.org/what-we-do/barr-klarman-massachusetts-arts-initiative.

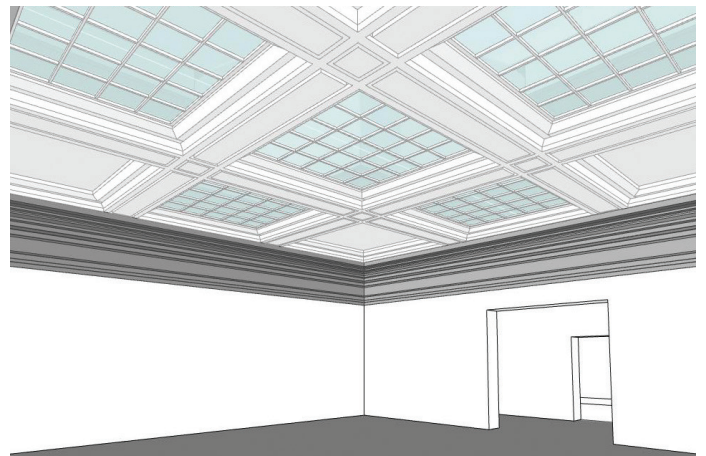

FEASIBILITY STUDY

In partnership with the Mayor's Office, New Bedford Art Museum/Artworks! is undertaking a multi-year feasibility study to renovate the Anthony S. Catojo Jr. Building to create gallery and education spaces.

This study, funded by the New Bedford Community Preservation Act; the Cultural Facilities Fund, an arm of the Massachusetts Cultural Council; and private donors is being conducted as part of a larger process during which we will explore the Museum's growth potential. One of the major components of this investigation is the incorporation of the building's second-floor into the Museum's footprint.

The City of New Bedford has invested both financial and human capital in promoting arts and culture for residents and tourists alike. After receiving the Massachusetts Cultural Council's Commonwealth Award in 2016 for the most creative city in the state, the City passed a home rule petition to create an arts and culture fund line item in the City's Annual Budget. Margo Saulnier has since been hired as the creative strategist at the Economic Development Council. The city has also added to the robust Tourism and Marketing Office and created a new masterplan for Arts and Culture.

An expansion of the Art Museum is in perfect alignment with the goals set out in the Arts and Culture Plan, as it enhances access to the arts for tourists and residents, including youth. The Museum has carefully considered the timeline to accomplish this project over the next several years and it is essential that this phase accomplished without delay.

The current City administration is supportive of this feasibility study, which is a necessary step in the larger project. The envelope of the building has been under remedial care for years and this project would address the structural integrity of the building. This renovation and expansion would solidify the building's use for future generations, as well as contribute to the conversation and preservation of the City's Art Collection.
