After Tuesday the 1st, please rake your leaves and pine needles about one foot away from the gutter/curb line to allow for water drainage. City crews and equipment are limited, so we need your help. Leaves will be picked up only once. Please do not put leaves in the street after city crews have completed your area and do not include bagged leaves, branches, debris or trash.

Pick-up will start south of Sherman Avenue and move north. We expect completion before December 9th. Follow our progress on maps.cdaid.org/leaf

LEAF-FEST DO'S & DON'TS

REMEMBER:
 Needles and Leaves ONLY!
 No branches, grass clippings or garden debris.
NO GARBAGE

- DO:
- KEEP leaves and needles on property until Tuesday, November 1st.
 - Please move cars off the street if at all possible during leaf pick-up.
 - Keep the leaves about one foot away from the curb line to allow drainage.
 - Be alert for leaf pick-up equipment traveling through your neighborhood.
 - Keep a safe distance away from leaf pick-up heavy equipment.
 - Recognize that we have a tough job to do in a very short window between when the leaves fall and when the snow flies.
 - City and private trucks are exempted from covering loads during the leaf pick-up period. Sweepers will follow city trucks to collect remaining/excess leaves.

DO NOT:

- Place bagged leaves in the street.
- Mix branches, debris or other trash in with the leaves.
- Miss the deadline...We only have time for one pass.

If you have questions or need additional information, please check the website streets.cdaid.org or call the Street Maintenance Information Line at 208-769-2233

Cool Solution for Quick and Easy Lunches

Life is complicated, right? So let's make one thing very uncomplicated. Why not put lunch on autopilot?

Here's the plan: We're going to make a bunch of delicious heat-and-eat burritos to stash in your freezer for a quick on-demand lunch, snack or dinner.

Compared with commercially frozen burritos, these taste better and are far healthier. Just look at the ingredients on frozen burrito packaging if you need further convincing.

You'll find that these belly-filling burritos are easy, inexpensive and delicious, and you get to choose exactly what to put in them.

You'll need burrito-size (10-inch) flour tortillas for this purpose. They come in packages of eight, so that's the quantity used for this recipe. If we're going to the effort of making burritos to freeze, might as well make a whole bunch, as this recipe easily multiplies.

The burrito rule of thumb is one generous cup filling for each 10-inch tortilla. If you're making eight burritos, you'll need eight cups filling.

One issue people have with making burritos at home is folding them so they don't burst and make a mess. My tip: Don't overfill them! A 10-inch tortilla can handle no more than 1

1/2 cups filling, and using less makes folding even easier.

How to fold a burrito: Warm the tortillas for easier handling, either individually in the microwave for 10 seconds each, or heat the whole package in the oven by wrapping the tortillas in foil and heating for 10 minutes at 350 F. Spoon fillings onto each tortilla just below the center. First, fold in the sides that are perpendicular to the lines of ingredients. Pull the bottom edge over the top, squeezing the filling toward you as you roll the burrito away from you. Continue rolling, leaving the seam at the bottom.

These quick and easy burritos make a delicious on-demand meal or snack.

How to freeze a burrito: Place burritos seam side down on individual pieces of foil. Wrap tightly in the same manner as you folded the tortillas. Use a permanent marker to date and label them. Place in a freezer-safe bag and freeze for up to three months.

How to heat a burrito: Take a burrito from the freezer, remove the foil and wrap in a damp paper towel. Place the wrapped burrito on a plate and microwave on high for 2 to 3 minutes, until heated through. You also can heat foil-wrapped burritos in the oven at 350 F for 20 minutes. That's best for heating several at once.

BEEF AND BEAN BURRITOS

Total Time: 40 minutes
Yield: 8 burritos

- 2 pounds (85/15) hamburger
- 1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce
- Taco seasoning, purchased or homemade, to taste
- 1 (16 ounce) bag frozen pepper and onion blend, defrosted
- 1 (15.5 ounce) can refried beans
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 cup shredded cheese
- 8 burrito size flour tortillas

Preheat a large skillet to medium-high; cook the hamburger until no longer pink. Drain excess fat and add the tomato sauce and taco seasoning, stirring to combine. Add the defrosted pepper and onions, squeezing most of the liquid out before adding, and cook thoroughly. Let cool.

Meanwhile, gather the rest of the ingredients and warm your tortillas. It's unnecessary to heat any of the other ingredients because we're freezing these. Evenly divide ingredients between the tortillas, and fold and freeze as directed above.

The easiest way is to assembly-line the process, with extra hands if possible.

Usually, when life is complicated, I'd suggest taking something off your plate. Instead, I'm suggesting putting something on your plate that's delectably easy. Buen provecho!

Donna's Day

Creative family fun

by Donna Erickson

Set Up a Nature Discovery Nook

Set aside a space on your kitchen counter or a table in your family room to showcase your kids' summer nature collectibles. Their own museum of natural wonders can be enjoyed by friends and family who come to your home. And when they do, the kids can tell them where they found the treasure, what it's called and something interesting that captured their imagination. Best of all, this collection zone will be a constant reminder of the time you spent together discovering the mysteries and beauty of the world we live in.

Add collected finds this fall and, for fun, classify and label them with small strips of index cards (date the excursion and describe the item), just like in museums. For example: "This nest fell off the oak tree in the backyard on a windy day. I found it behind the garbage can. I discovered yarn in the nest. I think the yarn came from the bird feeder that was hanging from our swing set last year." For such an item, encourage your child to find a book about nests or research them online. Find out what kind of bird made the nest and learn the likely color of the eggs that were in the nest at one time.

If your family traveled to new places this past summer, or if you plan to take weekend trips this fall, the items can also be displayed in attractive ways on the table. If you have collected sand from different beaches, for example, layer it in a clean, clear recycled jar. It's fun to see the range of colors and types of sand from beach to beach. And, it's a unique way to recall a trip to Clearwater Beach, Florida, in 2021 or Santa Monica, California, in 2022.

For indoor rainy-day fun, use some of the sticks and stones for crafting. Here are two ideas:

- Flat rocks aren't just for skipping across the surface of a lake. Make a turtle! Choose a flat oval stone for the body, and glue small ones underneath, stretching out to the sides to make four feet and a tail, with a larger stone for a head. Add two pebbles for eyes.
- Make a twig vase with a recycled tin can. Use shears to cut similar-width branches, an inch or so longer than the height of the can. Place two large rubber bands around the outside of the can, one near the top and one near the bottom. Insert branches side by side, as if building a twig fence around the can. Wind twine or raffia over the rubber bands to cover them, and then knot.

Fish And Game Officer Picks Up Alligator In New Plymouth

— Idaho Dept. of Fish & Game —

On the morning of Friday, Oct. 21, Fish and Game took possession of an alligator that was found by a New Plymouth resident the previous night. The alligator is currently being housed at a Fish and Game facility.

At approximately 8:30 p.m. on Oct. 20, Officer Brian Marek received a call from the reporting party, who said that they were walking their dog off SE First Avenue, south of New Plymouth, when they spotted something moving the brush and discovered the 3.5-foot alligator.

The reporting party loaded the alligator into a nearby horse trailer and called Fish and Game, who picked up the animal the following morning.

Fish and Game is investigating where the alligator may have come from, and anyone with information is asked to contact the Southwest Regional Office at 208-465-8465 during normal business hours; or the Citizens Against Poaching hotline at 1-800-632-5999.

"In all likelihood, this alligator got loose from someone, and we are interested in finding the owner," said Regional Conservation Officer Matt O'Connell.

Without proper permits, it is illegal to possess alligators (or any crocodylian) in Idaho, and it is illegal to release captive crocodylians into the wild.

Guinea Pigs Hide Signs of Illness

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My male guinea pig, Dale, was always healthy. He was fat and not losing weight. One day, we cleaned his cage and noticed that he was sticking his head out repeatedly and opening his mouth -- like yawning. The vet said to come in right away, and within five minutes of hanging up, Dale was dead. The vet looked at him and said he looked healthy and that maybe he had a heart attack or stroke, but I didn't see any symptoms. Any help would be great, because we have two others. -Julie G., via email

DEAR JULIE: Sadly, it often can be difficult to tell when a guinea pig is getting ill. They're very good at hiding signs of illness, and often they are acutely ill before their owners can tell what's wrong. It's clear that you pay close attention to your guinea pigs, as you were aware of Dale's weight and normal behavior.

However, guinea pigs can become ill very quickly. You were right to contact the veterinarian immediately after noticing Dale's strange behavior, which I agree, could have been a sign of a stroke or heart attack.

I'll refer to the late Peter Gurney's brilliant Guinea Pig Health Guide. One suggestion, which you may be able to apply to your surviving guinea pigs, is to have the vet listen to their heartbeat. A heart murmur can indicate valve problems. Another possibility is an undetected fungal or bacterial infection that got into Dale's system, eventually causing a heart attack. But as you pointed out, he showed no external signs of illness.

For this mystery, I'll turn to my readers. Any suggestions for Julie on monitoring her two surviving covies?

Closures And Restrictions Lifted On Several Western Montana Rivers

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

HELENA – While air temperatures remain hot, smoky conditions have caused water temperatures to cool down to meet the criteria to lift fishing restrictions and closures on several rivers in western Montana. The restrictions and closures were lifted, Wednesday, Sept. 7.

All restrictions on rivers in Region 2, including the Bitterroot and the Clark Fork, will be lifted. In addition, restrictions on the Gallatin and East Gallatin in Region 3, southwestern Montana, will be lifted.

Angling restrictions are implemented based on several considerations: stream flow, water temperatures, angling pressure and other angling restrictions in the area that may divert use to waterways where circumstances are increasing stress on the fishery.

Before you go fishing, please be aware of the conditions. Numerous other rivers in Montana are also under fishing restrictions. For a full list, visit FWP's website: <https://fwp.mt.gov/news/current-closures-restrictions/waterbody-closures>.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

- A border collie named Saul took a leaf out of another (albeit fictional) canine's book, being praised as a "real-life Lassie" when he led two members of a search party to his owner after the man was injured on a hike.
- Nutmeg can produce a hallucinogenic effect if taken in a high enough quantity.
- It's not just trees that help provide us humans with oxygen – about half of that in our atmosphere is a byproduct of photosynthesis from the microscopic sea algae known as phytoplankton.
- Rhubarb grows so fast you can actually hear it!
- Legend holds that when a pope dies, it's the custom to strike him on the head three times with a silver hammer to ensure he's really deceased.
- A survey revealed that nearly half of the unmarried gents polled washed their bedsheets a mere four times a year, instead of the recommended once per week. Singletons, there may be a lesson in there.
- Less than 14% of all M&Ms candies are brown.
- May never begins or ends on the same day of the week as any other month in any given year.
- Proof that crime doesn't pay ... even in space! Earlier this year, Canada passed a law allowing prosecution of crimes committed by the country's astronauts on the moon or on their way to it.
- The greatest number of people to play a single piano simultaneously is 23.
- For a reasonable $19.95, you too can buy alien abduction insurance from a Florida agent. Of course, to cash it in, you'll need to hand over a signature from an "authorized, on-board alien," and who knows if they can even write in English?

Two Grizzly Bears Euthanized After Repeated Conflicts In Upper Blackfoot

— Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks —

OVANDO – Wildlife officials euthanized two grizzly bears this week that were responsible for at least 10 conflicts in the upper Blackfoot Valley over the past two months.

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks wildlife specialists reported that the conflicts began in mid-July in the Ovando and Woodworth areas where the bears broke into three grain sheds. FWP worked with the property owners to install an electric fence at all sites to prevent more issues.

The bears moved on from that immediate area but stayed close to places where people live and recreate. Late last week, the pair broke into another grain shed, garage and barn in the Monture Creek area north of Ovando and then spent time around Monture Creek Campground and Monture Guard Station, in close proximity to people.

The bears were exhibiting bold behavior that indicates they were conditioned to unnatural food sources. This is a habit that is very hard to break and causes human safety concerns, as bears actively pursue food and other attractants in and around homes, ranches and other occupied areas. Unfortunately, when bears become so food conditioned, the only way to prevent further conflict or peril is through euthanization.

In consultation with the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service (USFWS), FWP crews set traps in the area, just north of Ovando. They trapped the bears late this week, and both bears were euthanized. Grizzly bears are protected under the Endangered Species Act, and the USFWS has final authority regarding management actions.

FWP and USFWS specialists work to help landowners and communities avoid bear conflicts. Montana is bear country with populations of grizzly and black bears that frequent higher and lower elevations, especially river corridors.

If you see a bear or sign near your residence that may result in a conflict, call your local bear specialist at the contact number found on FWP's website: fwp.mt.gov/conservation/wildlife-management/bear/contact.

For more information on living, working, and recreating in Montana's bear country, visit the FWP Bear Aware webpage at fwp.mt.gov/conservation/wildlife-management/bear/be-bear-aware.

KOVELS Antiques & Collecting

By Terry and Kim Kovel

Bell Toys

Bell toys, a type of pull toy that had moving parts that rang a bell, were made in America just after the Civil War. The Gong Bell Co. of Connecticut made the first one. It was an iron four-wheel platform, holding a bell and an animal. The animal kicked or hit the bell when the platform moved. A popular bell toy featured an elephant that stepped on the bell to make it ring. The 9-1/2-inch-long toy is made of decorated metal. It was estimated to be worth $800 to $1,200.

This bell toy elephant has the tip of his trunk up, signaling the good luck he rings. The 19th-century toy was offered for sale several years ago at a James Julia auction.

Later bell toys used wood, tin or other metals and added realistic hair or animal hide. The toys were all painted. The 1880s and 1890s were the golden age for bell toys, and in the 1900s copies were made of metal and eventually plastic. Today, bell toys are wood or plastic made by Fisher Price or Playskool.

tureens and more. A new salad plate costs $40. Leaf-shaped dishes of all ages are popular with collectors, but only those made of porcelain or after 1900 should be used to serve food.

Q: I have dishes with bowls that look like heads of lettuce and plates that are a single lettuce leaf. They are marked with the signature "Dodie Thayer." Can you tell me anything about them?

A: Large leaves probably were one of the first "plates" used at a feast. So it's not surprising that plates were shaped like cabbage or lettuce leaves by the 1600s. Leaf-shaped European majolica plates were made by Delft, and by the 18th century they also were crafted by English potteries Wedgwood, Longton Hall, Chelsea and Minton, and French potteries Jacob Petit and Palissy. There was Etruscan Majolica from Pennsylvania, and modern giftware items like California Dodie Thayer ceramics.

This Palm Beach dishware was made during the 1960s and '70s. Dishes were made from molds of actual cabbage or lettuce leaves, or full heads of the vegetable. Pink, red, yellow and green sets were made. They are signed with the artist's name. Recently, the Lettuce Ware dishes were reproduced for the Tory Burch shops in green or white. Full sets are made with cups, plates,

Meringue Ghost Cookies So Easy It's Scary

Meringue is a light, airy and beautifully sweet French dessert made from stiffly whipped egg whites and sugar. Many people think it's a very difficult and temperamental technique, yet it's actually quite simple. When you see how easy and inexpensive this is, you'll never buy meringues from the bakery again!

To make our adorable little ghost cookies, we need hard meringues. This is meringue that has been baked in an oven. They are solid to the touch and light as air. They can shatter when you bite into them, then dissolve pleasingly on the tongue. Hard meringue can be eaten as a confection, a cookie or used as a base for other desserts.

Making meringue is easiest with a stand mixer, but I've used a hand mixer with no trouble. I wouldn't try to whisk meringues by hand; it's too much work for a Diva.

It's extremely important to keep the yolks separate from the whites. Any fat from egg yolk will prevent egg whites from beating properly.

To avoid an accident, use the three-bowl method. Separate each egg white into a cup or small bowl before transferring the yolk to a second bowl and the whites to a third bowl. Use any white that has even a speck of yolk in it for another purpose.

It's easiest to separate eggs when they're cold, but let the whites come to room temperature before using.

FRENCH MERINGUE COOKIES

Yield: 36 cookies
Total Time: 1 hour 50 minutes
3 egg whites, room temperature
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Preheat oven to 225 degrees. Line a sheet pan with parchment paper.

Beat the egg whites and cream of tartar in the mixing bowl of a stand mixer (or a metal or glass bowl with a hand mixer). Use the whisk attachment on high speed and whip eggs until they hold soft peaks.

www.JasonCoblentz.com

These meringue ghost cookies are fa-boo-lous

Reducing the speed to medium and whisking constantly, add sugar 2 tablespoon at a time, whisking after each addition, until sugar is well dissolved before adding the next. Continue beating until whites are glossy and stand in stiff peaks. Add vanilla and blend one final time.

Aiming for around 2 tablespoons per cookie, pipe or spoon your meringue onto a parchment-lined baking sheet.

To create ghosts, with a piping bag and a large round tip, use a motion like making a soft serve ice cream cone. If you don't have a piping bag, you can use a zip-top bag with a small corner cut off. That's what I used for the photo. Easy!

Bake for 30 minutes then turn the oven off. Leave them there until completely dry, between one and two hours. Another name for meringue cookies is "Forgotten Cookies," as they can be left in an oven for long periods of time after the cooking is done.

To decorate as ghosts, use melted chocolate and a toothpick to draw faces.

Warning! Cooked meringues cannot be refrigerated or they will become soggy like cardboard. But they will keep for at least a week if you store them in an airtight container.

Now that you know how to make meringue, there are so many ways to enjoy it. For example, little one-bite meringues are called kisses and are eaten as a sweet little confection. They are often made with chopped nuts, cherries or coconut. Alternatively, you can shape them into dessert shells that you fill with ice cream, custard, whipped cream or fruit.

Enjoy your fru-ghoul and fa-boo-lous ghosts, and happy Halloween!

Pets

Pets of the Week: Smudge and Penny

— Companions Animal Center —
formerly Kootenai Humane Society

Hey, I'm Penny. And I'm a 1-yr-old Shepherd mix gal. I'm young and enjoy the company of other friendly dogs. I'm looking for an active, fun-loving family who will treat me like part of the clan. I would love adventures in the great outdoors, playing in the backyard, and hanging with the family on movie nights. I have been spayed, vaccinated, and microchipped.

Meet Smudge! She is patiently waiting for someone to fall in love with her. Smudge is a sweet 10-yr-old who is quiet, a little bashful, but very well-mannered. She is looking for a calm-environment home with someone who adores her and will shower her with love and attention. Smudge is spayed, vaccinated, and microchipped.

CYT North Idaho presents the Northwest Premiere of The Lightning Thief, The Percy Jackson Musical

— CYT North Idaho —

When teenager Percy Jackson discovers he's a demigod, he and his friends embark on an epic journey to find Zeus's missing lightning bolt and prevent a war among the Greek gods.

As the half-blood son of a Greek god, Percy Jackson has newly-discovered powers he can't control, a destiny he doesn't want, and a mythology textbook's worth of monsters on his trail. When Zeus's master lightning bolt is stolen and Percy becomes the prime suspect, he has to find and return the bolt to prove his innocence and prevent a war between the gods. But to succeed on his quest, Percy will have to do more than catch the thief. He must travel to the Underworld and back; solve the riddle of the Oracle, which warns him of betrayal by a friend; and come to terms with the father who abandoned him. Adapted from the best-selling book The Lightning Thief by Rick Riordan and featuring a thrilling original rock score, The Lightning Thief: The Percy Jackson Musical is an action-packed mythical adventure "worthy of the gods." (Time Out New York).

CYT North Idaho will present 8 performances of The Lightning Thief: The Percy Jackson Musical, Friday, November 11th to Sunday, November 20th at the Salvation Army Kroc Center in Coeur d'Alene. See www.cytnorthidaho.org/Shows or call 208-660-9870 for tickets and more information.
