Editor's Note

Happy New Year!

I made a lifestyle choice several months ago that changed my life in many ways. The items in my pantry no longer include canned goods, chips and Little Debbie cakes. My refrigerator is void of cheese, sodas and bread. The cookie jar has been replaced with a NutriBullet and containers of flavored protein drinks. As I downsized, the number of clothing items in my closet also downsized. Shopping for a new wardrobe isn't a bad thing, but it would be much nicer if I had a money tree growing in the backyard!

With my newfound health, I've decided to set a goal for the coming year. I plan to start and finish my first 5K. I think I can accomplish this feat if I put my mind and feet to it. And it won't matter where I place as I cross the finish line with a smile on my face because I will have accomplished what once was the impossible. I hope the goals you set for the coming year bring you great satisfaction, too!

The Role of a Lifetime

— By Melissa Swedoski

When Waxabachie High School senior Kaiden Maines recalled the night she won Best Actress in the 2015 State UIL One-Act Play competition, the words flowed from her as though she were reciting lines from her latest script. Channeling her phenomenal creative energy has put the budding thespian on track to a career on Broadway, but her roots run deep in her hometown. As she stands ready to take on the next big role in her life, she knows that her success and memories shared with friends and mentors will last a lifetime.

Reflecting on the night of the state performance, Kaiden recalled one memory vividly — dinner. The team had endured a 6:00 a.m. meeting for all eight 5A teams, with rehearsal at 3:00 p.m. When it was almost time to head to the University of Texas campus, WHS Theater Director Andy Reynolds asked if there was anything on the team members' minds. "We wanted to eat," Kaiden recalled with a laugh. "It's my favorite memory of the trip. In full makeup and costumes, we loaded the vans and went to McDonald's for dinner!"

Kaiden in the play Epic Proportions.

Auditions for the one-act play came after Kaiden had completed her run as Adelaide in the winter production of Guys and Dolls. Andy had chosen Anatomies, a dark comedy that included the role of Mary, who was a young, beautiful prostitute, for the one-act play competition. The part of Mary is the one Kaiden pursued. “I wanted to play her differently than the stereotypical lady of the night,” she explained. “I wanted to give her grit and purpose, and I won the role.”

All cast members had their lines memorized by first rehearsal, and Kaiden said it made all the difference. “From the get-go, it was a different feel than the past years,” she said. “We needed to go to state. The seniors really wanted it, and the whole team wanted it for them. We were always doing everything for the good of the team. That’s why we went so far. We were a complete ensemble.”

Advancing through zone, district, bi-district, area and region, the team was told repeatedly they had something special. When they finished warm-up before state performance, Andy told them he knew it, too. Waxahachie was last to perform, taking the stage at 10:00 p.m. in front of 1,500 people,

Robotic and One Day Joint Replacements

Baylor Scott & White Medical Center – Waxahachie offers robotic joint resurfacing, hip replacement and partial knee replacement. The use of the robot helps preserve as much of your natural joint as possible during resurfacing. If a joint replacement is required, the robot can provide an accurate implant fit.

For others, a One Day Joint Replacement Discharge may be the best solution to treat joint pain. The one-day difference includes pre-surgical education, innovative anesthesia and immediate physical therapy following surgery. These differences safely get you back in the comfort of your home within 24 hours after surgery.

Talk to an orthopedic specialist to determine the best way for you to walk away from chronic knee or hip pain. Call 1.800.4BAYLOR or visit BaylorHealth.com/WaxOrtho.

including all the other 5A teams. “I think state was our best show,” Kaiden said. “The crowd was amazing — it fueled our energy. Our final scene ended, and the crowd went crazy. We got a standing ovation, and we were almost in tears. We knew what we had done. We had given a state-champion-worthy show.” Individual awards hadn’t even crossed Kaiden’s mind. Everyone was waiting to see which team won.

As the cast awards were called, Kaiden said it crossed her mind that she might receive honorable mention, like two of her cast mates, with another named to All-Star Cast. As Best Actor was announced, Kaiden still didn’t allow herself to think she would win it. In that split second, “It was more of a Could I? thought,” she smiled in recollection. As her name was called, she found it “the most surreal moment, feeling complete shock. It was so sweet because it was so unexpected,” she shared. After receiving her medal onstage, she passed by Andy and her other director, Ryan Mullican, and her junior high director, Charity Mullican, giving out hugs to everyone. The team results were announced, as Waxahachie won first runner up at 1:07 a.m., the first time in history that a WHS team had placed at state.

Calling it her favorite high school memory, Kaiden praised the WHS theater department and its leaders. "I spent from fourth grade on waiting for what seemed to be the absolute highest you could get — WHS theater," she said.

Andy noted that the department's success over the last 14 years was due to the WISD administration's support for the fine arts. "From the very first day I was hired, in June 2002, WISD has had complete faith in me and allowed me to build this department my way," Andy explained. In fact, Superintendent Dr. Jeremy Glenn traveled to Austin the night before state to take the team out for a steak dinner, as he had promised. Andy also pointed to the addition of Ryan Mullican nine years ago. "Our success as a department can always be traced back to the fantastic relationship I have with Ryan," Andy said. "We make a good team." He noted the abundance of "super talented kids" in the district, including Kaiden, whom he met when she was in fourth grade.

Kaiden portrays Wednesday Addams.

Kaiden's first introduction to WHS theater was Peter Pan, playing an Indian, chosen by Andy at an audition. She did summer productions at Ellis County Children's Theater with Gail Harrell, who is now Kaiden's vocal coach. In fifth grade, she was chosen to play the Munchkin Coroner in the WHS production of The Wizard of Oz, calling it her "big break with the high school kids." In sixth grade, she was an Oompa Loompa in the department's rendition of Willy Wonka, and in seventh grade, she began one-act play at Finley Junior High.

Andy said it has been gratifying to see Kaiden blossom into a talented young woman.

Now a senior, Kaiden has appeared in the fall production, Epic Proportions, and will play the Lady of the Lake in the winter musical, Spamalot. She plans to audition for the one-act play and the spring production and will begin applying and auditioning for dramatic academies, conservatories and colleges.

Last summer, she spent two weeks at The American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City. With students from all over the world, she found she had the foundation she needed. "What I learned at WHS really paved the way for me," she said.

"Kaiden has challenged me," Andy noted, "and I have challenged her for over 10 years. Kaiden will do this for a living for the rest of her life. She is a unique talent that rarely comes along in a teacher's career."

She does plan on performing, with her eyes set on Broadway, but there's more. "I want to direct at the collegiate level," she said. "I've been inspired by all my directors. They've shaped me into what I am, and I want to do that for other kids." NOW

SHAWLS

OF A SHAWL

— By Stephanie Marchbanks

Nothing warms like a hug — unless it's a shawl, lovingly crocheted and prayed over. And that's exactly the business of the Prayer Shawl Ministry of First Christian Church of Waxahachie. The ladies there create and deliver such warming embraces to needy and grateful recipients nationwide. The whole ministry was church member Kim McMillan's idea. In the fall of 2011, after reading about a similar ministry in another area, she thought, We need to do something for other people. Inspired and motivated, she rolled up her sleeves and got some women together to crochet after Bible study each Monday. And that was just the beginning.

To date, the ladies have made and donated nearly 200 shawls. Each spring, church members pack the wooly wraps for their yearly mission trip and distribute them to the disadvantaged. In Joplin, Missouri, after a tornado ravaged the area, they disbursed 64 shawls. The group passed out 24 shawls on two different trips to Good Samaritan Ministries in Los Fresnos, Texas. This outreach helps people who are crossing the border legally and are escaping terrible oppression. They also donated a number of shawls as gifts to be placed under the Christmas tree at the Juliette Fowler Home for the elderly in Dallas. But the specific niche group for the shawls is people being treated for cancer.

"People get really cold when they get treatment," Kim explained. "And a shawl is like God's arms around you."

And God is certainly consulted in the matter. The entire congregation, led by Senior Pastor Marcia Hagee, prays over the shawls, and not in just a cursory manner. "We spread all of the shawls out across the front of the church," Marcia noted. "All the children come, and they usually touch a shawl somewhere. And everybody links and is either touching a shawl or connected to someone who is."

Member Jane Acker thought the group's story should be told. In fact, she jumped into the ministry opportunity from the very beginning, with no hesitation. "It struck me as a worthy thing to do," Jane observed. "The ministry touches so many families and so many lives."

A cancer patient herself, Jane once witnessed a man receiving treatment who was so chilled he was literally shivering. The sight jolted her, and motivated her to tailor her service to cancer sufferers, in particular. "Knowing firsthand how cold you get during treatment, the idea was really special to me," Jane recalled. From that point forward, Jane took shawls with her to the oncology department where she was having follow-up visits for chronic lymphocytic leukemia, diagnosed in 2006.

The cancer connection honors yet another prayer shawl ministry member: Mickey Campbell. Mickey, also a malignancy victim, crocheted and passed out shawls at University of Texas Southwestern Medical center when she went for treatments. Mickey passed away in November 2014, a week before Thanksgiving.

But despite challenges such as the illness of group members, the effort continues strong. A dedicated but small group of women meet each Monday morning at 9:00 a.m. at the church to study the Bible and crochet or knit. According to Pastor Marcia, participants get as many benefits from the process as those on the receiving end. "The ladies sit and work, and knowing they are doing something for others releases something in them," Pastor Marcia indicated. "They talk more freely when occupied, and they are doing something for someone who needs healing." Pastor Marcia may not create shawls herself, but she supports the efforts. "I just cheer them on," she said, smiling.

Members agree they are blessed themselves as they work for others. Ministry member Marcia (pronounced “mar-see’-ah”) Gunn talks of her deep enjoyment in being involved. Marcia got to give a shawl she created to an aunt whose son died. “I have been surprised at how touched the recipients are,” she admitted.

And as the work proceeds, the stories continue about people overwhelmed with appreciation at receiving a shawl. Pastor Marcia took one to her mother when she was terminally ill with cancer. “Mom said that it was warmer than just the shawl, because she felt the arms of our congregation around her,” Pastor Marcia mused.

Jane sent a shawl to a friend who lost a kidney to cancer, and she also mailed one to her daughter, who passed it along to a young doctor who has cancer himself. “He was really touched by that,” Jane reflected.

Stories roll out like the ripples in a pond. Jane told a friend in La Grange, Texas, about the prayer shawl ministry. Her pal was so taken with the idea that she started a similar enterprise at the First United Methodist Church there. “The need is so great,” Jane said, “that people are calling the church, asking for more shawls.”

And Pastor Marcia sees the ministry’s enduring power. “People may come and go from their churches, but wherever they travel or journey, the prayer shawl ministry is something they can take with them,” she pointed out.

Knitting and crocheting are skills to take and to pass on to a new generation. Jane taught her granddaughter, Rachael, to crochet on visits, in hopes that the longtime technique would not be forgotten. “I wanted it to be something that I taught her," Jane reasoned. "I think handwork is important, because it's personal. Something like that can bridge the generations."

As for open arms, additional members are welcome at the prayer shawl ministry. Potential participants do not have to be crafty, and they don't have to participate in both sections of the meeting. They can do either the Bible study or the shawl creating part of the meeting, with no study involved. Daughters of some of the members visit on occasion, and the ladies would enjoy seeing more new faces.

The shawls themselves are beautiful works of art in a variety of colors. Some are fringed, and some are not. All are soft to the skin. There is even a lap shawl design, for those who want the equivalent of a lap pet's warmth. And as a final touch, loving hands tie a tiny pewter charm, usually in the shape of a cross, to the shawl with a neat bow.

A prayer card attached to each shawl attests to the worship sprinkled liberally over the fleecy stoles. It reads: "May this prayer shawl that we made for you with love be the mantle and sign of God's healing presence. May it warm you when you are weary, may it surround you with ease in your suffering, may it comfort you when you are alone, and may it remind you of God's abiding love." The card is signed: First Christian Church Prayer Shawl Ministries with a final salutation saying, "P.S. We love you." And these ladies really do love those who receive the shawls — they really do. NOW

A Cowgirl's Dream

— By Sandra Strong

At Home With
Lesley Lawson

When the ranch in Luling, Texas, sold the very day Lesley Lawson listed it with her Realtor, that's the day she knew beyond a doubt that her new home would be in Waxahachie. "Prior to the sale of the ranch, I had looked at two identical spec homes on a Sunday afternoon," Lesley said. "When I looked out at the backyard of the second home, I instantly fell in love with the privacy it afforded." Since the home was not yet complete, Lesley was able to put her personal touch into the type of stone used, the paint colors and flooring choices prior to moving on July 24, 2014, just six months after the purchase. "I picked everything but the interior doors," she added. "They are plain doors, but I kept them."

Moving from Luling was no small feat. It took Lesley 14 roundtrips, four hours one way with good traffic and a large horse trailer, to transport her belongings to her new home. "I did have a little help with the heavier items," she admitted.

Lesley shares the Spanish/Texas inspired, four-bedroom, two-bath home with an office and a closed-in back porch area with her four-legged family members — one dog, Wrangler, and three cats, Socks, Bubba and Cinderella. Wrangler finds his comfort in the separated, enclosed back porch, while the cats take their leisurely naps in the screened-in greenhouse/sunroom. “They think they are in cat heaven,” she said with a smile. Her pets bring her great joy, as well as companionship.

The home is definitely a cowgirl’s dream. And the fact that she loves antiques and anything Western has only added to the overall rustic elegance she has so successfully been able to accomplish, not only in furnishings, but also in the details. “My sister and I enjoy shopping for antiques,” Lesley reiterated. “We had an outing in Athens that soon led to a Goodwill Store in Mabank. I bought a red lantern to match one I already had and a unique picture of an old map that I hung in my office.” Southwestern style abounds in every single aspect of Lesley’s home, from the furnishings and wall art to the tabletop decor and reading material.

Once Lesley had all her belongings in one place, she continued to make the home and its surroundings hers. One gentleman who lives in Lockhart, Texas, has built many of the larger pieces in the home, while Richard Wingo, a local builder from Midlothian, built her fence, a storage shed and the porches that run the length of the back of the home, as well as the unique screen doors and greenhouse/sunroom. “I told him about my ranch house in Luling,” Lesley said, referring to the second builder, “and he constructed the smaller replica cabin in back to match.” The cabin is used for storage and as a unique place for the grandchildren to play when they come to visit. “It’s not the man cave,” Lesley said with a grin, “it’s the she shed!”

The garage is where many of her inspirations come to fruition. They include several large pieces of furniture that Lesley has refurbished using a turquoise scraping method and a set of shutters she hopes to complete in the near future to use as room dividers.

Richard also designed the bridge out front and the display shelves above the large windows in the living room and kitchen. The next big project on Lesley's wish list is a pool. "Even though Richard has never built a pool," she confessed, "I trust him to build mine, if I decide to build one!" One day, Lesley would also like to do something artistic on the curved archway between the living room and kitchen. She's thinking of barn wood slats with a collage of the horses and cows she had while living on the ranch.

The Calla Lily pottery she has displayed throughout the home was predominately purchased from 1993-1995 when she was living in Mexico. She's added many Western-influenced pieces that use horseshoes in the details, such as the horseshoe barstools and the hat/coat rack at the front entry to make for a dramatic merge between two distinctive styles, forming one that suits Lesley perfectly.

Her favorite place to be is on the couch in the living room where she relaxes, reads and reminisces, as she flips through a basket filled with photographic memories. Lesley finds great satisfaction in what she's been able to create for herself in such a short time. There is a unique story connected to each piece Lesley has collected over the years. Most of the furniture is from Mexico. The turquoise scraped furniture in the dining room was done by Lesley. Her love of Texas, Mexico and anything Western is apparent in the smaller details, such as the Texas bathroom with a horseshoe shelf, the hallway shelf with mirror and wrought iron detailing, the Texas star hanging on the wall in the guest bedroom and the cowgirl and cowboy that surround the upper section of the back door. One of her recent groupings in the living room features artwork her niece, Jeannie "DaiZ" Undercuffer, painted.

They include several framed postcards and a painting of the Bevo, the famous bull from The University of Texas at Austin who passed away the same day Lesley arranged and hung the grouping. It's these simple touches that made a house a home fit for the cowgirl Lesley represents.

The master bedroom is home to red scraped furniture that Lesley purchased. The bench and two chairs, engraved with the Calla Lily pattern, allow for a comfortable reading and/or relaxing area. The Texas flag quilt and matching pillow find their place atop the bed, alongside a "moo" cow she found on one of her shopping trips that she couldn't leave behind. The cowboy and cowgirl bath towels and the framed print of a cowboy bathing in the wilderness as his horse looks on completes Lesley's slice of cowgirl heaven.

Moving from a 29-acre ranch in the country to a 1-acre lot on the outskirts of an ever-growing city would be a big change for anyone, but Lesley knows without a doubt that she is in the right place. "This is home to me," she admitted. "Grandkids are so much more important to me than a 29-acre ranch."

After all the moving around Lesley has done in life, she finally feels right at home in Waxahachie. She's now just minutes from her grandchildren, who live in Midlothian. She's a few miles away from Farley Street Baptist Church, her new church home where she attends with her son and his family. The antique shops offer a smorgasbord of fun, while Campfire Creek Therapeutic Riding Center offers her quality volunteering time with horses and individuals. Lesley has a big heart for what she believes in, spanning from religion and politics to the way she chooses to decorate the world around her. She truly is a modern cowgirl living her cowgirl dream. NOW

TAMING NATURE

— By Melissa Swedoski

Charles Schuler loves the thrill of mountain biking and has the bumps and bruises to prove it. Mountain biking allows him to see nature in its raw finery, even if it means getting a torn bicep when distracted by owl watching. What he really loves is the challenge of the sport, and to facilitate that, he has worked for two years to craft the Hachie Trail, which winds through miles of dense vegetation along the creek side and private property that has been transformed by Charles and a determined group of volunteers, bringing an outdoor experience to Waxabachie unlike any other.

Before Charles and his wife, Stacey, opted to move to their new hometown in 2008, he was in San Diego, California, where he frequently took 20- to 30-mile rides over true mountains. "I hated it for the first several months because the San Diego area is nothing but hills," he chuckled. "Once you get used to it, you get to look around and see all the beauty around you, instead of focusing on the pain in your legs." Once he moved to Waxahachie, he found he had to use the trails created by other well-known Off Road Cycling organizations, and while the trails were fantastic, they were also long distances away and congested. After almost four years, Charles decided he needed a change.

"I finally called John Smith, the city's Parks and Recreation manager, and met him at Getzendaner Park," Charles recalled. "I told him my vision for a mountain bike trail in Waxahachie, and he said he couldn't do it." Ultimately, Charles started clearing the trails on the opposite side of the creek alone, but soon found the poison ivy and oak were tougher foes than he anticipated. In December 2013, when his employer's plant went on annual shutdown, he got a wagon, gas can, weed eater, saws and his bulldog, Allie, and secretly got to work, hoping to show John what it could be. After finishing a short section in early January, Charles called and met with John to have him go walk the trail with him. "When John said he really liked it, I again asked permission to build a trail. John's reply was simple, 'OK, build a trail.'"

From that moment forward, Charles began cutting through dense vegetation, enormous dead trees and vines to create the terrain mountain bike enthusiasts love. He also undertook an equally challenging endeavor for a shy guy: organizing the Waxahachie Mountain Bike Club. "In January, I started the bike club page on Facebook," he recalled, "and then I just stopped and spoke to people when I saw them on the concrete trail as they passed by, and by August of 2014, the volunteer total grew to eight."

In fact, the team was soon down to the last three-quarters of a mile and was determined to help Charles complete the trail on the anniversary day of when he started it. This was accomplished in one day, on December 23, 2014. "There was a big group," Charles said. "I got emotional. I was so proud!"

The first leg ended at Lion's Park for a 4-mile trail, but Charles wanted more. He started talking to private property owners near the trail and found a few who agreed to let him use their land. The additions increased the trail to 8 miles one way, most of which is beginner level, with some intermediate sections added to help attract riders from other areas. "The biggest difference between runners or road bike riders is that we have to build our own infrastructure," Charles explained. "It's been really labor intensive." He noted that in some spots, the WMBC members had to construct bridges to span 18-feet over washed-out areas, with some being cut 8-feet deep. This had a positive, dramatic effect on the flow of the trail.

The experience strengthened the club, meeting for bike maintenance classes and holding a weekly group ride Saturdays at 9:00 a.m. "There are no fees, and it's open to everyone," he said. "The point is to get people on a bike." If you had a bad day, when you get on a bike and ride the trails, you forget all about it." The trail is also used by runners and hikers, other bikers, and even horseback riders. The volunteers created numerous spots on the trail to make it more challenging, including Beaver's Ridge and areas leading down into gullies and back up to the ridge. Then there's Cardiac, a half-mile stretch that goes up and down constantly, working the heart, lungs and legs.

Community volunteers joined the WMBC, with three Boy Scout troops performing Eagle Scout projects, adding signage and trail markers. In addition, there are safety markers, “so EMS can easily find a rider if they get injured,” Charles said. Charles also added that, “paramount to the construction of the Hachie Trail has been the volunteerism efforts and work ethic of Anthony Arredondo, DaWayne Elkins and Bob Shelton.” Charles also stated there were numerous other volunteers, and without the help of everyone, there would be no trail. Additional volunteers included: Tim Law, Scott Kimberling, Stephen Conner, James Garabay, Trigg A. Even, Bill Harvey, John and Michelle Jenkins, Brad Taylor, Jon Peeler, Olivia Michelle, Russell Williams and Brandy Reed Mayo. “I have to make it known that Bob Shelton’s father, who is now 90 years old and a decorated World War II veteran, put the rest of us to shame,” Charles said.

Mountain biking is a year-round sport for those who brave the elements, Charles said, and winter is a great time to ride. “It’s more scenic,” he explained. “You can see the drop-offs and the creek much better.” He noted that mountain bikers are respectful of the land and “want to maintain it and make it better.

We want to make it useful for everybody and have a good time doing it.” He added there is only one section of the trail on private property that is for mountain bikers only, meaning “no foot traffic.”

On the WMBC Facebook page, members ask questions, share tips and find riding partners for the trail. Club members are happy to share their knowledge. “People won’t run off and leave you,” Charles said. “If the faster riders get too far ahead, they will either slow down or stop. No rider gets left behind.” The Hachie Trail, although mostly finished, will always have new detours and/or additions added to make it more interesting. “When I first started the trail it was a selfish thing, because I wanted a place to ride,” Charles reflected. “But it has grown into this huge communal thing. I’ve met and worked alongside some really great people, and it’s just a labor of love. We want to put Waxahachie on the map for having great off-road trails. It’s there if you want it. # Nutrition With a Twist

— By Melissa Swedoski

The beginning of a new year spurs most to contemplate a lifestyle change, usually involving weight loss or gain, health conditioning and exercise habits. Consider for a moment that physical activity is only a small portion of achieving those goals. Nutrition — what you feed your body — is of paramount importance, regardless of the endgame.

Body Building

In order to slim your frame and gain muscle mass, it's crucial to eat clean, which means discarding most processed foods on the market. It's also important to increase daily calorie intake slowly, so the added food doesn't settle on the midsection.<sup>1</sup>

• What to Eat: Avoid fried foods, butter and refined foods, such as snack foods and fast food. Turn to fish, fowl, lean red meat, eggs, low-fat dairy, potatoes, yams, brown rice, whole-wheat bread, oatmeal and fruit. These foods are nutrient-dense, packed with vitamins, minerals and/or fiber.<sup>2</sup> Choose leaner cuts of steak and remove the skin from turkey and chicken. Grill or broil meats instead of serving them battered and fried.

• When to Eat: Mass-building is best supported by five to eight meals a day. Eat breakfast, lunch and dinner, then add high-protein snacks to keep your body on track. The extra meals have to become part of a daily routine, whether at school or work.

• How Much to Eat: For pre-workout, consume a whole-food meal and a liquid meal. The whole-food meal should provide a 1-2 ratio of protein to carbohydrates, with about 40 grams of protein from beef, chicken or fish and 80 grams from slow-digesting carbs like sweet potatoes, brown rice or oatmeal. The shake should contain 20 grams of whey protein and 40 grams of carbs. For after workout repair, consume 20-40 grams of whey protein and 40-100 grams of carbs, such as white bread or a baked potato. An hour later, eat a regular meal.<sup>3</sup>

Marathon Challenge

Endurance runners have a unique set of needs, as gastrointestinal issues rule during long runs.<sup>4</sup> As you determine how much your stomach can take over 15-plus miles, you will also train it to handle more calories and fluid.

• What to Eat: Avoid empty calories. Focus on foods with the most nutrients per calorie, including whole grains and starches (brown rice, quinoa, sweet potatoes, oatmeal, barley, millet, rye, amaranth), lean proteins (fish, eggs, beans, Greek yogurt), healthy fats (avocados, nuts and olive oil), and unlimited fruits and vegetables.<sup>5</sup>

• When to Eat: For pre-workout, consume a light, energizing meal or snack one to two hours before a training run.<sup>6</sup> Vegetable juice 30 minutes before a workout is an acceptable substitute. The rest of the day, eat small meals every three to four hours to maintain energy levels.<sup>7</sup>

• How Much to Eat: When it comes to "carbo-loading," the amount a runner needs depends on how much training he/she does. For example, a 30-45 minute training routine will require 3-4 g/kg in a daily diet.<sup>8</sup> Keep a healthy balance and listen to your body. If you feel hungry, increase proteins and fuel as needed.

Losing Weight

Internet searches for “how to lose weight” are in the hundreds of thousands every month, resulting in good, bad and conflicting information. Sustainable weight loss is about healthy changes and losing body fat, which requires fewer overall calories and total exercise of at least 60 minutes, three to four times per week.

• What to eat: Nutrient-rich foods, such as vegetables, lean proteins and healthy fats in moderation are best. Half of your plate should be covered in fruits and vegetables — one-quarter with whole grains and the rest with lean proteins, such as meat, fish or eggs. Healthy fats like avocado or olive oil can be condiments or toppings.<sup>9</sup>

• When to eat: To make dieting easier, eat five to six small meals each day. Avoid thinking that skipping meals will result in faster weight loss because the body will adjust, leading to permanent metabolic alterations that promote weight gain instead.<sup>10</sup>

• How Much to Eat: To lose weight, calories consumed must be less than the ones burned. Daily number of calories needed varies based on age, height, sex, weight and activity levels. An active person could drop daily intake to 1,400-1,500 calories and lose weight. Those who are obese or have metabolic issues may need to be closer to 1,200.<sup>11</sup>

Gaining Weight

Even though being lean is usually healthy, being underweight can lead to fragile bones, hair loss, anemia and even a weakened immune system. The healthy path to putting on a few pounds is paved with small changes.<sup>12</sup>

- What to Eat: Use nutrient-rich foods including whole-grain breads, pastas and cereals; fruits and vegetables; dairy products; lean protein; and nuts and seeds. Add in smoothies made with milk and fresh or frozen juice.

- When to Eat: Eating when you're underweight can mean feeling full faster, so eat five to six smaller meals during the day rather than the traditional three. Add in a bedtime snack and occasional treats.

YOUR HEALTHY SMILE

Keeping teeth for a lifetime is life-changing for so many.

— By Sandra Strong

The offices at Main Street Dental Arts lend to comfort and beauty for the eyes, as well as the smile. The artwork displayed is quite unique — the caliber you could see in a gallery anywhere in the world. “We offer the feeling of old-fashioned dentistry,” Dr. Craig Smith said, as his wife and business partner, Deborah, nodded in agreement. “Our focus at Main Street Dental Arts is personal, general and cosmetic dentistry.” The overall goal is to create beautiful smiles, one mouth at a time.

Craig was born in Tehran. Nine years later, just five months prior to the Revolution, the family returned to Texas. Craig’s decision to practice dentistry was inspired by his father, an oil drilling manager, and the family dentist, Jack A. Wilson (aka JAW). It didn’t hurt that his great-grandfather was a pharmacist and his grandfather was a physician. “Dad was good with his hands, and Dr. Wilson always looked like he was having fun,” Craig explained. “I was impressed with both of them, and I knew I wanted to do something with my life that I enjoyed and where I found fulfillment.”

Craig and Deborah met while they were both attending college at Austin College in Sherman, Texas. They courted for a time and married on Valentine’s Day 1995. “We eloped at the courthouse in San Antonio,” Deborah shared. “He had patients he had to get back to. It was a great start to a great life!”

After working in other dental practices for several years, the couple decided to take a leap of faith into private practice. After looking at 30 different locations throughout Texas, Craig and

Business NOW

Deborah planted roots in Ellis County in the spring of 1996. "The selling point was the nature and community feeling we found here in Waxahachie," Craig said.

"You spend half your life at work," Deborah added. "So why not make work a place you really enjoy coming to each day?"

Main Street Dental Arts has been at its present location since day one, and Craig and Deborah have happily worked side-by-side from day one, too. In making their offices conducive to customer service that's second to none, Craig and Deborah seemed to have thought of everything a patient could need in order to relax. Each of the four patient rooms offers a flat screen TV, while three of the rooms look directly out to the Zen garden the couple created not only for patients but for themselves as well. "When you look out on the garden, it soothes you," Deborah said. "It's a nice environment that's proved to be calming for many of our patients."

TO CREATE BEAUTIFUL
SMILES, ONE MOUTH
AT A TIME.

General dentistry, from teeth cleaning to fillings, is mastered on a daily basis at Main Street Dental Arts. Bioclear, a minimally invasive and cost effective treatment that reveals a healthy and youthful smile, is becoming a more often asked for procedure. Craig is only one of two dentists in Texas who are trained and certified to offer the teeth whitening, smile-brightening Bioclear procedure.

The personal relationships Craig and Deborah continue to establish mean a great deal to them. "We treat one patient at a time, getting to know them on a personal level," the couple said simultaneously. "We treat each patient exactly the way we like to be treated." NOW

Tips for Retirement Investing

Saving for retirement is a huge financial responsibility, and it does not end when you collect the last paycheck from your employer. You will need to make sure your retirement investing plan meets your changing needs in the future.

The money you've saved will need to last awhile. According to a September 24, 2012, report (PDF), the National Center for Health Statistics reports that a 65-year-old man is expected to live another 17.3 years, to just over age 82. A 65-year-old woman is expected to live another 20.0 years, to age 85.

In retirement, your financial needs may change. Most retirees want their money to last throughout their lives, to keep pace with inflation and to support their current spending needs.

Investment Funds

Bond funds are one choice for many retirees because they are managed to generate regular income payments. This money can be used to help fund your retirement spending needs. Bonds generally have less risk than stocks, although they do have some risk.

Stock funds are designed for long-term capital appreciation. These are often used to help people save for retirement, and they may make sense for many people after retirement. That's because in the long run, stock funds are better at outperforming inflation than bond funds are. The prices of the things you buy are likely to go up while you are retired, so you'll want your income to go up, too. Incorporating investments that have the potential for capital appreciation into your retirement investing can help your overall portfolio keep pace with inflation. Keep in mind that all types of investing involve risk, including potential for loss.

Educate Yourself

Because investing is a lifelong pursuit, you'll want to learn as much as you can so that you can adapt your investments to your changing life needs. Whether you are currently retired or just hope to be some day, your investments will need your care and attention. NOW

Enjoy Pregnancy Without Foot Pain

“Oh, my aching feet!” is a phrase you hear often from pregnant women. But, are sore feet a symptom they must just deal with during pregnancy? The answer is, “No.” There are many remedies available to help alleviate foot pain.

Women often experience foot pain during pregnancy because of increased weight, foot instability and swelling. In the last four years, I’ve seen an increase in pregnant women with foot pain because more women than ever before are active, even running marathons, during their pregnancies. I recommend the following guidelines to help reduce foot pain during pregnancy:

- Painful, Swollen Feet. Pregnant women often experience throbbing, swollen feet due to excess fluid build up (edema) in the feet from the weight and position of the baby. To reduce swelling, put feet up whenever possible, stretch legs frequently, wear wide comfortable shoes and don’t cross your legs when sitting.

- Arch Pain. Pain in the arch can be due to both arch fatigue or over pronation (or the flattening of the arch). Over pronation causes extreme stress to the ligament (the plantar fascia) that holds up the arch of the foot. The best way to prevent arch pain is to stretch daily in the morning and before and after any exercise, don’t go barefoot and wear supportive low-heeled shoes.

- Ingrown Toenails. Excessive stress from tightly fitting shoes causes painful ingrown toenails. Give your feet a break. Wear wider shoes during the last trimester of pregnancy to avoid ingrown toenails. If you do experience an ingrown toenail, avoid attempting “bathroom surgery.” Repeated cutting of the nail can cause the condition to worsen over time. It is best to seek treatment with a foot and ankle surgeon.

It is also not uncommon for women to experience a change in their foot size during pregnancy. A permanent growth in a women’s foot, up to half a size, can occur from the release of the same hormone, relaxin, that allows the pelvis to open to deliver the baby. It makes the ligaments in your feet more flexible, causing feet to spread wider and longer.

Pregnancy and pending motherhood should be a joy. If foot pain persists, your foot and ankle surgeon can provide relief with conservative treatments, such as: physical therapy, foot orthotics, supportive shoes and minor toenail procedures. NOW

Protecting Our Four-legged Friends

— By Rachel Smith

The unending search to find homes for unwanted or abandoned animals breaks the hearts of pet lovers. Most people have a tender spot toward animals, but as much as they love pets, many cannot afford them, or aren't capable of owning them. Humane societies euthanize animals on a regular basis due to the overwhelming number of animals that run away from home or are left by their owners each year. Pet overpopulation occurs on a large scale, and the costs for pet care can skyrocket when unplanned litters arrive. A female dog, with her offspring, potentially produces hundreds more puppies within seven years. A female cat, with her offspring, potentially produces thousands more kittens within seven years.<sup>1</sup> However, there is a solution to the chaos.

Many people overlook the benefits of spaying or neutering their pets, which can reduce overcrowding in homes with animals. Some pet owners view spaying and neutering negatively, yet this procedure can enhance your pet's behavior and lifespan.

According to Spay USA, there are numerous advantages to having this procedure done:

"Benefits of Spaying (females):"

- No heat cycles, therefore males will not be attracted.
- Less desire to roam.
- Risk of mammary gland tumors, ovarian and/or uterine cancer is reduced or eliminated, especially if done before the first heat cycle.
- Reduces number of unwanted cats/kittens/dogs/puppies.
- Helps dogs and cats live longer, healthier lives.

"Benefits of Neutering (males):"

- Reduces or eliminates risk of spraying and marking.
- Less desire to roam, therefore less likely to be injured in fights or auto accidents.
- Risk of testicular cancer is eliminated, and decreases incidence of prostate disease.
- Reduces number of unwanted cats/kittens/dogs/puppies.

- Decreases aggressive behavior, including dog bites.
- Helps dogs and cats live longer, healthier lives.”<sup>2</sup>

One reason people refrain from spaying or neutering their animals is out of fear that they will lose them during surgery. However, this procedure is very routine and humane. Spaying and neutering keep the pets out of danger from severe issues that are liable to pop up in their later years. Veterinarians say spaying or neutering pets up to their eighth week prevents various reproductive cancers, such as prostate or breast cancer. Males, if neutered, are less aggressive toward other animals and people. If spayed or neutered, a cat will have less of a need to spray. The cost for an animal to have this procedure is significantly less than the cost to fix the damages caused by misbehavior and supporting a litter of kittens or puppies, plus the extra expenses required to find homes for them. Yes, spaying and neutering may be an unworthy expense in the eyes of some, but it can provide positive changes to a pet's life.

If you are considering adopting a pet, it is important to remember that each animal has unique needs depending on its environment. Costs for a pet can be extensive if a future owner is not careful. It is important to fully understand the breed of dog or cat you plan to adopt, and what its strengths and weaknesses may be. Take the necessary effort to research what is needed to support them. Some animals attract fleas, require more attention or may not be suitable for the living space an adopter has. Making sure to meet their exercise and food intake needs is also imperative. Visit your local veterinarian for more information on how to go about properly caring for your pet or planning for your next one. NOW

In the Kitchen With Valerie Hoerber

— By Sandra Strong

Valerie Hoerber's parents realized her cooking ability when, at age 7, Valerie cooked rice for the first time. "My father would have me smell herbs to learn their differences and uses," she shared. "He also exposed me to many cheeses, wines and beers." Helping her father in the kitchen, whether it was pancakes or a full-course dinner, was something she loved to do.

Those early lessons are the foundation Valerie took into adulthood as she enjoys preparing Italian and Middle Eastern cuisine today. "Middle Eastern has lots of vegetables and lean meats," Valerie explained. "Italian is my comfort food." The most memorable disaster she's had in the kitchen is when she allowed eggs to boil dry. "They explode, and you have egg shrapnel all over the kitchen. What a mess!" NOW

Bruschetta

10 slices ciabatta bread
1/2 cup olive oil
2 tomatoes
1 clove garlic
1/4 cup fresh basil, chopped
1 tsp. balsamic reduction
4 Tbsp. Pecorino Romano

1. Slice bread and brush with oil. Toast on grill over charcoal or broil in the oven. When toasted, remove and set aside.
2. Chop tomatoes. Add garlic, basil and reduction; stir until mixed completely.
3. Place mixture on top of bread slices. Sprinkle with Romano. Bake at 350 F for about 5-7 minutes before serving.

Pasta Ali Olia

1 13-oz. box angel hair whole wheat pasta
3/4 cup olive oil
8 cloves fresh garlic, finely chopped
1 cup Pecorino Romano
3/4 cup fresh curly parsley, chopped
Salt, to taste
Black pepper, freshly crushed, to taste
2 pinches red pepper flakes

1. Boil pasta and then strain. Add all other ingredients, mixing well. Best if made several hours in advance, or even a day in advance. The extra time allows the dish to be nice and garlicky.

Herb Cheese Stuffed Chicken Marsala

2 Tbsp. butter
2 cloves garlic
8 oz. Portabella mushrooms, sliced
1 8-oz. jar mushroom gravy
1 cup CRIBARI Marsala wine
3 cups Italian breadcrumbs
4 eggs
1 cup milk
3 chicken breasts
9 Tbsp. palm oil
4 oz. Boursin herb cheese
20 leaves fresh basil

1. Sauté butter, garlic and mushrooms in a large pot. Once cooked, add gravy and wine. Let simmer for 30 minutes, at least, on low heat.
2. Set breadcrumbs out in a big bowl. Whisk eggs and milk in another bowl. Take chicken, cover with Saran wrap and a towel. Hit with a meat mallet until fairly flat.
3. Cut chicken into thirds. Dip each piece in the egg/milk mixture. Dredge in the breadcrumbs; place them on a cookie sheet.
4. Once all chicken is breaded, put 4 Tbsp. of palm oil in a pan. Heat up and then add the breaded chicken. Sear both sides and place back on the cookie sheet. Add more oil if needed until all chicken has been cooked.
5. Place cookie sheet in a 350 F oven; bake for 30 minutes. Once done, take the cheese from the refrigerator and allow it to soften. Lay a piece of chicken down on the serving plate; top with cheese. Add another piece of chicken and then smother in mushroom sauce. Top with basil and serve.

Chocolate Irish Cream Fluff Pie

4 Hershey's candy bars, plain milk chocolate
1 8-oz. container Cool Whip
1/8 cup Bailey's Irish Cream
Chocolate pie crust
Hershey's Chocolate Syrup

1. Melt candy bars in a double boiler. Once melted, fold into the container of Cool Whip. Add Irish cream.
2. Pour mixture into the pie crust. Put pie in the freezer. When ready to serve, drizzle chocolate syrup on top.
