
Birding in Ecuador

February 18th - March 17th 2012

by Helen Rijkers and Rob Gordijn (gordijnrob@gmail)

This report covers a 4 week independent birding trip to the following areas in the North of Ecuador:

- North West Ecuador (Mindo area) – 1 week
- Amazon (Sani, Gareno) - 1.5 week
- East slope Andes (Wild Sumaco, San Isidro, Papallacta) - 1.5 week

Introduction

After a four week trip to Northern Peru 6 months earlier, Ecuador seemed a perfect destination for the next long birding trip; we were already familiar with a lot of species and sounds that would be very helpful considering the enormous amount of species Ecuador has to offer.

Since Helen had a 3 month break in between finishing her master and starting a job, a plan was made: Helen would first spend 5 weeks at Las Gralarias as a volunteer for bird research (www.reservalasgralarias.com), and then Rob would come to Ecuador and we would spent the next 4 weeks travelling around trying to see as many species as possible.

Itinerary

Morning/afternoon	Night at
1 Arrival at Quito (11PM) after a 24 hours delay at Houston	Quito
2 5 AM bus from Quito to Las Gralarias, all day trails at Las Gralarias	Las Gralarias
3 Started at Bellavista and walked back while birding to Las Gralarias	Las Gralarias
4 7AM to 1PM Mashpi road, Mindo area in afternoon	Mindo
5 Paz de las Aves (6AM to 12AM), afternoon at Milpe	Los Bancos
6 Rio Silanche	Los Bancos
7 Mango Loma, 5PM bus back to Quito	Quito
8 9AM flight to Coca, travel and afternoon birding at Sani lodge	Sani lodge
9 Sani Lodge	Sani lodge
10 Sani Lodge	Sani lodge
11 Sani Lodge	Sani lodge
12 Sani Lodge	Sani lodge
13 Sani Lodge	Sani lodge
14 back to coca and by bus to Wild Sumaco lodge, 2 hours afternoon birding	Sumaco
15 Wild Sumaco	Sumaco
16 Wild Sumaco, 2PM bus to Tena	Tena
17 drive to Gareno lodge, afternoon birding at Gareno	Gareno
18 Gareno	Gareno
19 Gareno	Gareno
20 Morning at Gareno, afternoon bus to Baeza	Baeza
21 Huacamayos ridge, afternoon at San Isidro	Baeza
22 Huacamayos	Baeza
23 Huacamayos ridge, afternoon at San Isidro	Baeza
24 start at San Isidro, Huacamayos ridge, afternoon bus to Papallacta	Papallacta
25 Papallacta	Papallacta
26 Papallacta	Papallacta
27 Papallacta + travel to Quito	Quito
28 flight from Quito to Houston at 6.35 AM

Practicalities

Weather

The rainy season normally starts somewhere in March, but this year it had already started in January. Therefore the week spent in North West Ecuador was very wet, with rain every day. The east slope was supposed to be drier but also there we had a lot of rain. Only our stay in Sani was dry and sunny but in Wild Sumaco, Gareno and San Isidro precious birding time was lost due to the weather.

Transportation

Most of the transportation was needed in North-West Ecuador since there we wanted to visit many places in a short time period. We used public buses where possible. Otherwise we hitchhiked or arranged a taxi for part of the day. In Sani, Gareno and Wild Sumaco, all birding was within walking distance (in Sani we also travelled by boat.) At Baeza and Papallacta we made use of public buses again.

Guiding

Only in Sani and Gareno we used guides, the rest of the trip we birded by ourselves. Since we had experience with a lot of species in sights and sounds from previous trips to Peru and Costa Rica, this worked out fine.

Birding sites

North-West Ecuador

We had 6 days at the beginning of the trip planned to visit the Mindo area. We visited all the standard places such as Mindo, Milpe, Mashpi, Paz de las Avez, Rio Silanche and Mango Loma. Not standard was the two days visit to Reserva Las Galarias at the start, normally not visited by independent birders but since Helen had just volunteered here it was the logical choice.

Reserva Las Galarias - Helen had already spent 5 weeks on the trails of the reserve so although we only had 1,5 days we managed to see good species such as Yellow-breasted Antpitta, Cloud-forest Pygmy Owl and Hoary Puffleg. Highlight was a responsive Tanager Finch on the second day along the road towards Bellavista.

Mashpi road – We were lucky with the weather, since it was dry all morning. Bird activity was high and we saw all targets except Rose-faced Parrot and Choco Vireo. There is a closed gate after 1 km on the Mashpi road. We arranged access up front through Jane from Las Galarias and therefore we were allowed to continue after the gate on foot. Note that at the time the new lodge that is being built there was not open yet, so by now the situation might be totally different.

Mindo – Our visit coincided with the celebration of carnival and therefore it was really busy in town. The walk along the river did not produce any good birds since there were noisy people everywhere. We stayed in El Descanso, a small hostel with excellent feeders in the garden (a good alternative to spend a rainy afternoon).

Paz de las Avez – According to Angel this was his worst day ever. We did not manage to see any Antpittas...

Rio Silanche – We visited Rio Silanche by public transport but since we had to rely on buses and for the last part on hitchhiking we arrived too late at the watchtower. By then (9 AM) it was already quite hot and bird activity had slowed down.

Mango Loma – We took a taxi from Los Bancos (10 dollar) and arranged to be picked up again in the afternoon. The umbrella birds were giving their deep calls from the start of dawn, but since they are really shy we only managed to see a bird flying off from a tree. Birding in the dark forest was very slow so after a few hours we decided to give up on the small chance of seeing a ground cuckoo and spend the rest of the day on the ridge. This proved to be a good decision as we twice had a huge flock there with several new species.

Sani lodge

One of the less expensive lodges in the Amazon, with excellent birding. We opted for a tent but instead got a cabin for the same price. We had two guides (Spanish speaking) for our entire stay, which worked out really well. Both Fausto and Guillermo could imitate many species, knew a lot of territories and hence we managed to see almost 300 species in just 5 days.

Gareno

Very basic birding camp, at a 2 hours drive from Tena into the Amazon (little electricity, no running water and only Spanish speaking). The birding here was excellent however. We did all the birding with our guide Sandro. Target species such as Fiery Topaz, Pavonine Quetzal and Golden-winged tody-flycatcher were easily seen. Besides some muddy forest trails, birding along the road was also rewarding, although one day the activity could be very high and the next it would stay really quiet.

Wild Sumaco

A must visit for a lot of mid-altitude species on the east slope. We only stayed here for two days but we could have easily added more species had we stayed longer. We stayed at the new Biological station, opened only a few months previously. We definitely recommend this option to birders like us travelling on a budget. The rooms and food are good and you are in walking distance of all the excellent trails that Wild Sumaco has to offer.

San Isidro/ Huacamayos ridge

We stayed in Baeza for 4 days and visited both the Huacamayos ridge and San Isidro several times. The weather on the ridge was awful with rain, fog and wind almost constantly. Unfortunately we did not find the Greater Scythbill. At San Isidro lodge the weather was better, and on a clear afternoon/evening we saw both Andean Potoo and the mystery San Isidro Owl. We also joined the antpitta feeding at the lodge for one morning. We were told that watching the feeding is only open for guests staying at the lodge (but since there were not that many guests they made an exception for us).

Papallacta

We stayed at the village in a hostel and used the first day to walk up the valley, behind the thermals in search of Crescent-faced Antpitta, without success. That afternoon we went to Guango lodge where all target hummingbirds were easily seen. The second day at Papallacta we went up to the Antennas and searched for Rufous-breasted Seedsnipe. It was really cold, with fog and light rain now and then. After hours of walking up and down the slopes at the top without success we gave up and started descending. The day became even more frustrating when we heard that other birders had seen the birds that morning.

ANNOTATED SPECIES LIST

Subspecies

We have tried to accurately indicate the proper subspecies for all our observations, usually based on geographic locations with reference to The Birds of Ecuador (Ridgely & Greenfield), but based on the IOC World Bird List version 3.2.

[Species name] = not counted e.g. because of uncertainty in identification

+ = several

++ = common

+++ = very common

HO: Heard only

Combinations where relevant
