

Silit

KOCHEXPERTEN. SEIT 1920.

Culinary experts. Since 1920.

The world is changing daily. And we change with it. Needs that were urgent 80 years ago have different significance today. There are new needs now. Many innovations have stood the test of time and will continue to be successful in the future.

Since its market launch in 1920, Silit has consistently changed the world of cooking in a sustainable manner – from the invention of the first Sicomatic® pressure cooker in 1927 to the development of the unique functional ceramic Silargan®, which is setting new standards today in health-conscious cuisine.

Only those who are in a position to listen are really in tune with the times. Only those who continuously scrutinise the tried and tested can really redefine it. And only those who know processes very well can offer truly optimal solutions.

Extensive knowledge and our vast experience in more than 80 years of company history repeatedly produce new ideas that make cooking easier, faster, more enjoyable, healthier, more natural and more energy-efficient. From preparing fresh, high-quality ingredients to the perfect roast, boiling and gentle cooking to stylish serving and secure storage: discover the entire world of Silit. In excellent quality – Made in Germany, sophisticated functionality and award-winning designs.

All of this makes Silit your culinary experts. For a healthy lifestyle and natural-tasting cuisine in your kitchen. With delight and passion. Reawakened every day. For as long as people keep changing, our story will not be over.

✓ PARTICULARLY LOW ENERGY CONSUMPTION

✓ TEN-YEAR GUARANTEE

Cooking enjoyment with Silit.

Sometimes it is the simple things that make life worth living. A pot and fresh ingredients – an endless variety of ways to spend the day. And many opportunities to make life as pleasant as possible. This begins with something as simple as cooking pasta: with the Vitaliano pasta pot made of Silargan®, your noodle water will no longer boil over. This is because the practical boil-over protection simply leads rising water back into the pot.

The Nature Colours cookware series made from Silargan® convinces with refinement in the details: the show-stopper is the stainless steel control lid with the steam exhaust and pouring function. For added safety and convenience when cooking.

Whether Monday or Sunday, lunch or a candlelit dinner, savoury or sweet, for single dishes or sophisticated menus for guests: discover our diverse families of pots and pot series in various materials, elegant designs, new fresh colours, variations, sizes and equipped with ingenious, tried-and-tested functions. They are the perfect basis for your daily smaller and larger cooking projects. And they are surely just as diverse as life itself.

Deliciously controlled – with Nature Colours and Control Lid

It is the details that make life worth living. Or making a pot and fresh ingredients into something very special. We have developed new unique cookware with the Nature Colours cookware series made of Silargan®. The highlight is the stainless steel control lid with a refined steam exhaust and pouring function – for even more perfection and safety when preparing your food in a taste-neutral way.

Pressure cooking with the Sicomatic®.

If an invention hits the nerve of its time, makes life easier and promises many people major benefits in the long run, then it is a truly groundbreaking innovation.

In 1927, the invention of our Sicomatic® pressure cooker was a world novelty. Today, it is an indispensable part of the modern, health-conscious kitchen. For cooking in an airtight closed system preserves the valuable vitamins and minerals. The natural colours and characteristic taste of the food are preserved – you therefore cook your carefully and lovingly selected ingredients in a particularly gentle manner that provides genuine taste.

Thanks to a simple principle, valuable energy is saved through pressure cooking. If you heat liquids in a closed pot, steam forms, which creates pressure and therefore increases the temperature. Cooking times are thus reduced by up to 70 per cent.

A product that has been in the product range as long as our Sicomatic® has passed the hardest of all endurance tests many times with flying colours: everyday life. Time and again we have adapted the Sicomatic® to changing needs. Simple operation, convenience, technical sophistication and a high standard of health and enjoyment: more than 80 years of experience are behind this product, which is inextricably linked to our company history.

The Sicomatic® t-plus made from Silargan® is available in these colours:

The gentle way: cooking with steam.

For centuries, steam cooking has been considered as the healthiest method of cooking. Even in Ancient China, dishes were prepared gently in this way. Due to the rising water vapour that surrounds the ingredients from all sides evenly, the food retains its natural nutrient content and vitamins. Vegetables cooked in rising steam remain crisp, poultry remains juicy and fish does not fall apart. The food has a snap and is also purely visually a pleasure, because its characteristic colours are preserved.

With the ecompact® roasting and steaming system by Silit, we have perfected this old principle of preparation. In this way, several ingredients can be prepared simultaneously without the flavour of one food being transferred to another. The gentle process preserves the food and leads to a special development of their flavouring agents. Because no water comes into contact with the food, even water-soluble nutrients are not lost.

Steam cooking is the ideal preparation method, especially for the varied, balanced and health-conscious kitchen, in which great care is taken in the selection and quality of fresh ingredients. It stands for simplicity and originality like no other, because the food convinces with its own characteristic flavour. Fat, salt and spices can be used sparingly. Steam cooking is best suited for all of those who love natural enjoyment.

Hot and gentle frying.

Sometimes it is simply about being flexible. Finding the perfect solution for a very specific task. For a good chef is known by his selection of tools. Perfectly roasted steak, perfectly cooked vegetables or crispy potato dishes: whatever you have planned for today, we certainly have the right pan for the job.

Pans made from functional Silargan® ceramic are ideal for everything that can be seared, everything that you would like crispy on the outside and juicy on the inside. Roasting naturally while saving energy? Nothing is easier than that. The Silargan® pans have the best frying properties, because the drawn-in-one-piece steel core and dark interior conduct heat quickly and transfer it to the contents of the pan.

Our non-stick frying pans are particularly well-suited for delicate food such as fish, egg dishes, batters or vegetables. The CeraProtect® coating allows for healthy and gentle frying with little fat. Nothing sticks to the smooth surface and the food glides out of the pan very easily. The versatile range of Silit pans, including practical accessories such as the splash guard lids or the ergonomically designed turners, therefore offer the best prerequisites for your varied frying tasks. Or in short: it makes frying fun – every day.

Universal and healthy

Woks are probably the most versatile type of all-purpose cookware. You can use them to stew, fry and steam food. Asian stir-fries involve frying finely chopped or diced ingredients in a bit of oil at high temperatures while stirring constantly until they are firm to the bite. The extremely short cooking process ensures optimal preservation of vitamins and aromas. The high-quality, perfect craftsmanship and excellent functionality of Silit stainless steel woks guarantee many years of wok enjoyment.

Bon appetit for gourmets

Herbs and spices lend your dishes that special flavour. Ready-to-sprinkle herbs and spices have to be pre-ground, thus losing their aroma very quickly. The perfect solution: Silit spice mills release essential oils in the process of grinding dried herbs, lending them an aroma every time that gives them the character of freshly picked herbs. The secret of Silit spice mills is the CrushGrind® grinding element made of high-quality ceramic. Modern ceramic is harder than steel, non-corrosive and wear-resistant and thus tasteless. There is a ten-year guarantee on the grinding element.
