THE TRIANGLE OF EVIL IN THE OIL INDUSTRY OF THE REPUBLIC OF SOUTH SUDAN

By: Dr. Monykuch Maluk Anyar (PhD),

Map of South Sudan

Dec 30, 2015 (Nyamilepedia) — The trio that forms the triangle of evil in the oil industry in South Sudan comprises of Hon. Stephen Dhieu Dau Ayik, Mr. Moses Machar Aciek Ader Nyang, and their planner, Mr. Paul Adong Bith Deng. These people have common interest but different goals, their shared interest is to dominate and enrich themselves by taking as much money as possible, whatever the cost.

Before I elaborate on their evil activities in the oil industry, I am appealing to my readers and the people of the Republic of South Sudan to take this seriously, because it is for the interest of our Country South Sudan and the ruling party, SPLM. People were killed due to the formation of tribal militia funded by oil money, public funds squandered through sham schemes and contracts awarded to their relatives.

The people of South Sudan should have learnt from the Brazilian Petrobras oil scandal in which almost thirty people have been indicted most of them belong to the ruling Worker’s Party which Ms. Dilma Rousseff lead. Unlike Brazilian ruling Worker’s Party members which have been implicated, this trio group has little connection to the ruling party of the Republic of South Sudan, SPLM; Mr. Stephen Dhieu Dau Ayik, a former banker has not declared himself as an SPLM member officially, but found his way to the Upper Nile State cabinet as minister of finance after the CPA before he was appointed national minister of Petroleum and Mining. Some quarters believed that he was brought in by Pagan Amum in order to gain popularity among Jieng Padang Community of Upper Nile.

Mr. Moses Machar Aciek Ader Nyang , former Wali (governor) of Warrap State under Bashir’s National Congress Party did not make any declaration either, after being removed by Bashir from gubernatorial post, he returned to work as a civil servant grade 3 special in the Ministry of Energy and Mining, he swallowed his pride and accepted to be humiliated by Jalaba. After independence of the Republic of South Sudan he was shifted to Ministry of Petroleum and Mining as senior civil Servant before he was appointed as 1st Undersecretary of Petroleum. The same humiliation this time by Stephen was a kind of reward after having gone through marginalization and fund scarcity. Recently he was appointed as Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Nile Petroleum Corporation (NILEPET). It is amazing that this time he accepted to descended from 1st Undersecretary of Petroleum to a mere MD and CEO because of money.

Mr. Paul Adong Bith Deng, former NILEPET Managing Director was an African National Front (ANF) supporter or sympathizer. He was appointed in the early 2012 as NILEPET Managing Director, he was fast-tracked by some friends for their interest after having failed to secure Schlumberger head office in Juba. He went to Accra, Ghana to look for a job, because Ghana was cheap and affordable, something that angered his friends who worked very hard to make him return to South Sudan.

Having stated brief backgrounds about these gangs, it is crystal clear that their actions and motives have nothing to do with SPLM and should not be blamed on the ruling party because; initially they are not committed members. It is also very interesting to see how these people ganged up to form the triangle of evil in the oil industry in the Republic of South Sudan.

Mr. Stephen Dhieu Dau Ayik, a man with difficulty spelling the word “oil” the industry of which he leads as Minister was opposed to the appointment of Paul Adong as Managing Director, but after some lobby he reluctantly accepted. He might not have known Paul Adong’s personality; he was even labeling him as stubborn and hypocrite. After some few months they teamed up and formed the tribal front called Padaangism. The two men, Stephen Dhieu and Paul Adong hail from Jieng Section of Padaang from Upper Nile and Unity State respectively, Mr. Moses Machar Aciek from Warrap, seen as naïve, coward and selfish was marginalized, manipulated and used as puppet by the two guys in order to achieve their project of Padaangism.

Padaangism has gone well with Stephen and Paul, and for them to facilitate their project without hindrance, almost eighty per cent (80%) out of three per cent (3%) of the oil money that goes to the Ministry of Petroleum and Mining from production was transacted directly to NILEPET bank account so that they could dip their hands there without consent or approval of the 1st Undersecretary of Petroleum as the Accounting Officer. Most of the positions in the joint operating companies (JOCS) are held by Padaang including the Vice Presidents of the two big companies like GPOC and DPOC, which are Chom and Paul Adong respectively.

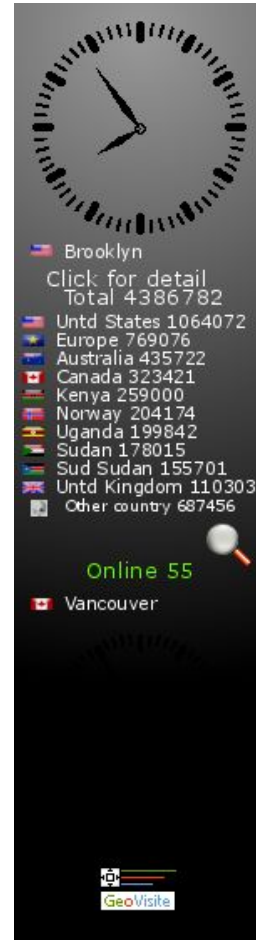

Thangrial Refinery Project was also hatched up by Mr. Stephen Dhieu Dau in order to squander public fund and also the Unity oil Refinery was also another fraudulence scheme leave alone Akon Refinery that was awarded to Asharef Cardinal.

Pual Adong did not hesitate to make up his mind on how to scoop as much as he could get, he created sham schemes that never yield fruitions. The L.P.G. which is a gas station and Depot at Jebel are well built and constructed, but the intentions for making these projects were not met. If the project did not meet the purpose intended for, then it is a sham scheme. These projects were made so as to get money out of them and to also create jobs for their folks. These are not small projects; in South Sudan if you want to get rich quickly, is to create more fraudulence projects, no auditing of course.

The Data Centre now the Training Centre was also meant for accommodation of their fellow folk who completed his PhD in 2013 in the Netherlands, now this man is a Director General in the NILEPET. One wonders just within two years or so, one has to become a Director General and there are a lot other folks who obtained their PhDs longed enough to be above Director General if that is the criterion, they are now still lingering down the company's payroll.

Moses Machar Aciek was left with no choice but to fight for his survival after having gone through humiliation, and all kinds of marginalization. He developed stooge behavior and managed to install his two sons in the industry. This manifested behavior met the consent of these two men; they liked it and he was incorporated into the group to be used as puppet and to also reflect their veneer image as non-tribal people. Machar was compensated by accepting to leave his higher position as 1st Undersecretary of Petroleum and descended to a lower oily position and in less than a week after his appointment, he airlifted his son, Deng Machar Aciek to Dubai, to go and cash five hundred thousand US Dollars (500,000 USD) as his compensation. What will be the fate of NILEPET in the days to come, given the fact that the man is a retired person and would want to fatten his bank account quickly before the apocalypse.

After the outbreak of war following the attempted coup by Dr. Riek Machar in 2013, Mr. Stephen Dhieu wrote to the Ministry of Defense and Veterans Affairs asking for the release of Padaang sons in uniform to go and defend the oil fields. This may sound well but he should have asked for more army around the production area not his tribesmen. He places himself in the command of that tribal militia and funds that by raising the operation cost. And for the sake of my readers not to have doubt I am now publishing the names below.

Dr. MonyKuch,
You are one of the most patriot Jenges ever.
Corruptions, corruptions-thievery of public monies must be exposed no matter who commits it period.

It's every patriot South Sudanese individual's national duty and obligation to boldly make public the robbers and thieves of our national resources incomes.

Thank Dr !

Dr. MonyKuch,

please halt naively dwelling on the fake coup narrative, ok !

You wrote like an intellectual individual who won't blindly buy into the Jenges' tribal mindset

Dr monykuach,we appreciate your article for letting us aware with corruption which took place in south Sudan by group of government officials and got away with fraud with no charge or being question by government, this a destruction of the country we all love. Because all those guys are jieng they will not face any charges while our people are suffering no clean water and food people are depending on UN while are stealing public money which suppose to go to the people who are in need.
