Long Island University

1928

Herbert Raubenheimer inherited a dilapidated church gym, a student body of about 200 students and a handful of athletes when he became the first director of athletics when Long Island University opened its doors in 1927. When Raubenheimer resigned, an article in the Brooklyn Times on April 30, 1931, carried the headline, "Herbert Raubenheimer, Unaided, Put L.I.U. on Sports Map."

He began the basketball program in 1928 and single-handedly turned LIU into an athletics power with a non-stop routine of scheduling, outfitting, coaching and publicizing LIU's five varsity squads, spearheading attention-getting events and ultimately attracting outstanding coaches and athletes.

1935-37

Beginning with a 43-29 win over Catholic during the 1934-35 season, LIU began a 43-game win streak that lasted into the 1936-37 season. The Blackbirds posted an unbeaten season in 1935-36 going 25-0 and won the first seven games of the next year. The streak still stands today as the sixth longest in NCAA history.

1933

Jimmy Gladden becomes the first African-American to play basketball on the campus.

1942

Larry Doby begins his collegiate career on a basketball scholarship at LIU. Doby later became the first African-American to play baseball in the American League in 1947.

World War II

Simon Lobello, the leading scorer on LIU's 1941 NIT Championship squad, is killed in action during World War II.

1947

Former All-American Ossie Schechtman is credited with scoring the first basket in NBA history while playing for the New York Knicks against the Toronto Huskies. Schechtman played for LIU from 1938-41 and won two NIT titles.

1951-57

No basketball team, due to New York City point-shaving scandals.

1957-58

After a six-year hiatus, the LIU basketball program is reinstated and goes 12-6. LIU wins its first two home games to extend its home court win streak to 142 games. The streak dated back to a win over Mount St. Mary's during the 1934-35 season before ending with a 59-49 loss to Wittenberg.

1967

Former head coach Clair Bee is inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame. Bee led the Blackbirds to a pair of NIT titles and posted a 412-87 record in 21 seasons. His .826 winning percentage ranks as the highest in NCAA history.

1968 NIT

Led by All-Americans Luther Green and Larry Newbold, the Blackbirds become the No. 1 ranked small college team in the country by the AP. LIU won its first 20 games en route to a 22-2 record and a trip to the quarterfinals of the NIT, where its season ends with a 62-60 loss to Notre Dame.

Buck Lai (left), pictured with Saverio Picariello, helped resuscitate the LIU basketball program in 1957 while serving as director of athletics.

Larry Newbold (left) earned All-America honors in 1968 under the direction of head coach Roy Rubin, helping LIU advance to the NIT.

Jules Bender was awarded the first Haggerty Award as the top player in New York City in 1936.

1939 NIT Champions
The Blackbirds went 24-0 during the 1938-39 season and captured their first National Championship with a 44-32 win over previously unbeaten Loyola (Ill.) at the National Invitation Tournament.

1939
On Thanksgiving Day, 1939, team captain Dolly King played end for the LIU football team against Catholic University at Ebbets Field and then played 40 minutes of basketball at Madison Square Garden that night.

1941 NIT Champions
Clair Bee led LIU to a 25-2 mark in 1940-41 and its second NIT Championship in three seasons. The Blackbirds defeated Ohio, 56-42, in the final.

Clair Bee led LIU to unbeaten seasons in 1935-36 and 1938-39, as well as NIT Championships in 1939 and 1941.

Paul Lizzo

1972
Roy Rubin's 11-year run as head coach at LIU ends. He re-established the Blackbirds as a basketball power, leading them to three Tri-State League titles and three ECAC Division II titles. He also guided LIU to three NCAA College Division Tournaments where it captured two Eastern Regional crowns, in addition to appearing in two national NCAA Tournaments. Rubin's greatest accomplishment may have been guiding the 1967-68 Blackbirds to the No. 1 small college ranking by the AP and a trip to the quarterfinals of the NIT.

1981, 1984 NCAA Tournaments
1982 NIT
Paul Lizzo coached the Blackbirds from 1975-95 and amassed 245 wins, the second-most in LIU history. He led LIU to the school's first NCAA appearances in 1981 and 1984. As an assistant under Roy Rubin he also guided the 1981-82 squad to the NIT for the first time since the 1967-68 season. From 1980-84 he led the Blackbirds to a solid 78-41 record.

Roy Rubin (right) and LIU celebrate a win during the 1967-68 season.

Sherman White is named to the Madison Square Garden 50th Anniversary Team, along with Elgin Baylor, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Oscar Robertson, Bill Russell and Jerry West.

2006
Long Island University completes construction on its state-of-the-art Wellness, Recreation and Athletic Center. The $45 million facility becomes home to the Blackbirds' basketball teams and includes a 2,500-seat arena, an NCAA regulation pool and a modern fitness center and weight room. LIU defeats Sacred Heart, 63-60, in its first home game in the facility on Jan. 26.

1998 NIT
Led by Charles Jones and Mike Campbell the Blackbirds post a 21-11 record and average 96.9 points per game. LIU earns an invitation to the NIT, marking the first back-to-back postseason trips since 1981-82. The Blackbirds go on to drop a narrow 95-92 contest at Dayton.

1997 NCAA Tournament
Powered by the highest scoring offense in the country at 91.5 points per game, LIU wins the Northeast Conference and advances to the NCAA Tournament for the third time in school history. The Blackbirds push Villanova before falling 101-91.

Clair Francis Bee (1896-1983)

Clair Bee coached basketball at Long Island University and Rider University for a total of 21 years, compiling a career record of 412-87. His .826 winning percentage is the highest of any coach in NCAA history. In 18 seasons at LIU he posted a 360-80 mark, including undefeated seasons in 1935-36 (25-0) and 1938-39 (23-0). In seven postseason trips to the NIT he led the Blackbirds to championships in 1939 and 1941.

The Grafton, W. Va., native remains the fastest coach in Division I history to reach 200 and 300 wins. A devoted teacher of the game, he also helped LIU post a 43-game winning streak, which was an NCAA record at the time.

By the time he left coaching in the 1950's, Bee had already begun writing the Chip Hilton series, which is considered the top sports fiction series ever written. In 1967, he was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., but his coaching influence remains intact today. He is credited with developing the 1-3-1 zone defense, the three-second rule and advocating the adoption of the NBA's 24-second shot clock.

In February 2000, he was inducted with the inaugural class of the LIU Athletics Hall of Fame. His daughter, Cindy Farley, was on hand to accept the honor posthumously for him.

The Buzz on Bee

- Career record of 412-87 in 21 seasons at LIU and Rider.
- Highest winning percentage (.826) of any coach in NCAA history.
- Enshrined in six halls of fame including the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, Madison Square Garden Hall of Fame and the inaugural class of the LIU Sports Hall of Fame.
- A 43-game win streak at LIU ranks sixth-longest all-time in NCAA.
- Led LIU to seven NIT tournaments, including championships in 1939 and 1941.
- Over a 13-year span, his teams compiled a 222-3 home record.
- Coached LIU to two undefeated seasons (1935-36 and 1938-39)
- Nicknamed "The Innovator" for helping develop the 1-3-1 zone defense, the three-second rule and advocating the NBA's 24-second shot clock.
- Cofounded the acclaimed Kutsher's Sports Camp.
- Authored over 50 books, including the critically-acclaimed Chip Hilton's Sports Stories for Young People.

The Coach Clair Bee and Chip Hilton Awards were created by Chip Hilton Sports and the NCAA Foundation in 1996 as a way to honor the memory of Clair Bee, who had a great impact as a coach, administrator, innovator and teacher. The awards promote positive character in basketball, which were hallmarks of Bee and his teams.

The Coach Clair Bee Award honors the active Division I men's basketball coach who made the most significant positive contribution to his sport during the preceding year. The winner reflects the character and professional qualities of Bee, a Hall of Fame coach whom many consider the best technical basketball coach in history and a man who cared deeply about his players' well-being. The criteria for the award involves actions that inspire, motivate, coach and educate their teams to achieve their fullest potential and demonstrate outstanding character.

The Chip Hilton Award is given in recognition of a college player who meets the competitive and ethical standards that were the theme of the 24-book Chip Hilton series. Criteria for the award involves athletic skill, team spirit, personal discipline and integrity, respect of university and athletic authority, service to others, team leadership and accountability to family, coaches and the university.

The selection committee features some of the most respected names in college basketball, including former coaches Dean Smith, Dave Gavitt, Pete Newill and Bobby Knight and TV commentators Billy Packer, Jay Bilas and Dick Vitale. The awards have honored coaches and players from across the basketball landscape such as Jim Phelan of Mount St. Mary's and Duke's Mike Krzyzewski, as well as Tim Duncan from Wake Forest and Hassan Booker of the U.S. Naval Academy.

Blackbirds History

NCAA Tournament History

Long Island University's storied basketball history includes three trips to the NCAA Division I Tournament. The Blackbirds earned their first trip to the NCAA Tournament by defeating Wagner, Fordham and Iona to capture the 1981 ECAC Metropolitan playoffs. LIU entered the tournament as a 12-seed and was led by Riley Clarida and Eric Short. In the first round LIU met fifth-seeded Virginia Commonwealth in Oklahoma City and fell to the Rams, 85-69.

Led by Carey Scurry, the nation's leading rebounder, the 1983-84 Blackbirds posted a 20-11 record and made the school's second trip to the NCAA Tournament. LIU entered the tournament with a six-game win streak before falling to Northeastern, 90-87, in the preliminary round in Philadelphia.

The Blackbirds returned to the tournament in 1997 with the nation's highest-scoring offense and a final record of 21-9. LIU played a strong schedule and boasted an upset of St. John's, 76-73, in the season-opener, as well as the nation's leading scorer in Charles Jones who averaged 30.1 points per game. The Blackbirds dropped a hard-fought 101-91 decision to fourth-seeded Villanova in the first round in Winston-Salem, N.C.

NIT Tournament History

Under the tutelage of Clair Bee, LIU earned seven NIT berths. Beginning in 1938 the Blackbirds made five consecutive trips to the tournament. The 1939 team capped an undefeated season by winning LIU's first championship with a 44-32 win over Loyola-Chicago. The title game featured the only meeting in major-college history between two unbeaten teams in a national postseason tournament. The Blackbirds captured their second NIT crown in 1941. In the semifinals, LIU snapped Seton Hall's 42-game win streak with a 49-26 win. The Blackbirds defeated Ohio, 56-42 in the title game. LIU was heavily favored to win its third NIT in five years in 1942, but suffered a first round defeat by West Virginia. LIU also earned NIT berths in 1947 and 1950, but fell to Kentucky and Syracuse in the first round both times, respectively.

The 1968 squad entered the NIT as the top-ranked small college team in the country and advanced to the quarterfinals before falling 62-60 to Notre Dame. LIU made return trips to the NIT in 1982; and most recently, 1998. The Blackbirds fell to Dayton 95-92 in their last visit to the postseason.

Operation Rebound

Following a six-year hiatus, the LIU men's basketball program returned to action in 1957 through a program dubbed, "Operation Rebound." The revitalization was carried out by Buck Lai, who was serving as director of athletics, as well as the school's head baseball and basketball coach at that time.

LIU and several other New York City schools were involved in a point-shaving scandal that rocked the basketball scene in the metropolitan area. The entire LIU athletics program was dropped during the six-year recovery period before Lai led the Blackbirds back into action for the 1957-58 campaign.

Lai's efforts earned him induction into the inaugural LIU Athletics Hall of Fame class in 2000.
