America Complacent attitudes endanger life, liberty

by a concerned American

Being a first generation American citizen (by birth) the 4th of July means different things to me.

First and foremost it means that I am blessed with the opportunity to live in a country that offers me the choice and means to either be a success or a failure, with the end result dependent mainly upon my individual effort and desire to achieve a goal. This day also reminds me that the United States Constitution guarantees the right to exercise my inherent freedom of worship among others, freedoms many fellow human beings in other countries do not enjoy, primarily due to their living under a dictatorship or some form of repressive government.

Unfortunately, the 4th of July also reminds me of many real dangers which are quite evident by ones that many of us "Americans" choose either to ignore or pass off as someone else's problem. Hardly a day goes by that we are not bombarded by some form of news media (radio, television, newspaper, etc.) regarding subversion and unlawful activities conducted by disgruntled or communistic factions purporting to be defending or fighting for the American people's rights.

Americans: the 4th of July is not just a time to set off fireworks and make merry with friends. It is also a time to reflect on a great and proud past and the turbulent present of these great United States. Above all it is a time to pause and ponder on the kind of future we want for America. It is time for all true Americans to face up to the grim realization that if we don't start pulling together as a country to work within the governmental system to effect desired changes vice resorting to militant and violent confrontations, life and liberty as we know it (along with our beloved country) might just cease to exist because of our complacent attitudes.

SING A HAPPY SONG — LCpl Allen Benson, Company K, 3d Battalion, 3d Marine, 1st Marine Brigade, takes time out to strum a tune at Pearl Harbor June 24. Benson and Marines of 3d Battalion, 3d Marine, Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-165 and Marine Amphibious Unit Service Support Group-31 returned from their Western Pacific deployment which began in January. See page A-12 for story and photos.

Independence Day message

The following is the Commandant of the Marine Corps' Independence Day message for 1980:

"Today, as we celebrate the 204th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, it is appropriate to recall—and rededicate ourselves—to its meaning: We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness... and for the support of this declaration... we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

"The freedoms our country now enjoys were not bestowed upon us for all time, on July 4, 1776. On the contrary, they have been guaranteed, and safeguarded, by the consistent willingness of our armed forces to fight in defense of liberty.

"Today, I ask every Marine to join in reaffirming that historic pledge. In so doing, we join in saluting America on her 204th birthday, and we proclaim our readiness, as ever, to defend our nation and what it stands for."

Registration curbs theft

Bicycles are an economical means of transportation for many station residents as well as being recreational vehicles. The rising cost of gasoline has increased their popularity and because skyrocketing inflation has driven the cost of bicycles up, they are now prime targets for theft.

DURING THE first five months of this year, 68 bicycles were reported stolen aboard the air station. The total dollar value of these bikes was over $7,500. During the same five months, PMO received 43 bicycles that were either found by military police on patrol or recovered as a result of investigations conducted by military police and criminal investigation personnel involving bicycle larcenies. As a result of proper registration and the bicycles having been marked for identification by the owners, 16 of the bikes were able to be returned to the owners. The remainder of the bicycles have been retained at the provost marshal's office to be disposed of according to regulations which mandate that any bike valued over $25 will be held at PMO for a period of 90 days. After that time, the bicycles will be released to the Defense Property Disposal Office for auction.

Both Hawaii State and station regulations require that bicycles be registered with the state and with PMO. State registration is conducted at any satellite city hall at a cost of $3 per year. Registration aboard the air station is conducted at the H-3 Gate Pass and ID office. You must have your state registration and ID card to receive the station decal. Hours of operation for Pass and ID are from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

THE CRIME Prevention section advises that all bicycles be marked for identification with the owners' name and social security number. Engravers can be checked out on a temporary loan basis from the Crime Prevention Office located in the military police station, building 1096. This will assist the military police in identifying recovered bicycles and in returning them to their owners.

The Crime Prevention Office offers the following suggestions to help safeguard your bicycle:

1. Keep all paperwork on your bike and take photos to keep with the receipt. This is very helpful should you become the victim of a bicycle larceny.
2. Buy a good high-quality bike lock and use it.

3. Park and secure your bike in well-lighted areas at night. At no time should the bike be left unsecured and readily accessible to a thief.

4. Secure your bike in your quarters or in a proper rack if you live in a barracks overnight or when you will be gone for any length of time. If you must leave your bike outside and no racks are available, get permission to use some fixed object. Also, have a fellow Marine keep an eye on it if you will be on leave or otherwise out of the area for more than 48 hours.

5. Take advantage of secured storage spaces. It's best to check with your barracks NCO.

THE BEST defense against theft is prevention. Protect your property and help the military police protect you. If you observe a bicycle being stolen or have information regarding a stolen or lost bicycle, call CRIME STOP at 257-2123.

PRESENT ARMS — Members of Headquarters Company, 1st Marine Brigade join the brigade staff in rendering honors to the flag during a formal colors formation held Friday, June 20. By order of BrigGen W.H. Rice, commanding general, 1st Marine Brigade, formal colors ceremonies will be held every Friday at 8 a.m. at the flag staff courtyard in front of Headquarters Bldg. 215.

Parade and booths slated for July 4th

Kailua's Fourth of July festivities promise an exciting day with an explosive night.

KICKING OFF the day's activities will be the 32nd Annual Kailua Fourth of July Parade with Danny Kaleikini in the Grand Marshal's position. The parade, which proceeds 1.3 miles down Kainalu Drive through the center of Kailua, begins at 10 a.m. Theme for the 1980 parade is "Ohana: Hawaii's Pride, America's Future."

The procession will be composed of floats, marching units, horse units, motorcycle clubs, novelty entries such as clowns and a vintage fire truck pumper, and bands. Entries from the military include the Fleet Marine Force Pacific band, a joint service color guard, and a color guard and marching unit from the 1st Marine Brigade.

AWARD ceremonies for parade prizes will be held at noon at the Arts and Crafts Fair Grandstand. The Kailua Arts and Crafts Fair features almost 70 booths. Continuous demonstrations of the arts and crafts exhibited are scheduled during the hours of operation from 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. The Kailua Arts and Crafts Fair will be located at the Kailua Elementary School/Kailua Library parking lots.

A FIREWORKS display, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at the Kailua Beach Park, will provide an entertaining conclusion to the holiday.

Almost $3,000 has been contributed to the celebration by local merchants and individuals.

Fireworks

Safety a must in July 4th frolics

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following incident was an actual occurrence. Names have been changed to protect the privacy of the parties involved.

It was a Fourth of July afternoon. Sgt Daniels and his wife Margie were riding in the back seat of a friend's car. Daniels flipped a cigarette out the window but it blew back in and landed in a box of fireworks.

The fireworks ignited. Daniels shielded his wife with his body and absorbed most of the blast. The driver pulled to the side of the road to assist Daniels and his wife from the car.

After extinguishing the flames, the driver took Daniels and his wife to a hospital for treatment. Daniels suffered second and third degree burns to his hands, knees, legs, feet and ankles. His wife was uninjured. An accident and injury report said, if the fireworks had been placed in the trunk of the vehicle, the mishap could have been prevented. The report also labeled as the cause of the accident a lack of common sense.

Fireworks are as much a part of Fourth of July celebrations as candles and cakes are to birthdays. However, to ensure a safe and memorable holiday weekend, the following information is provided:

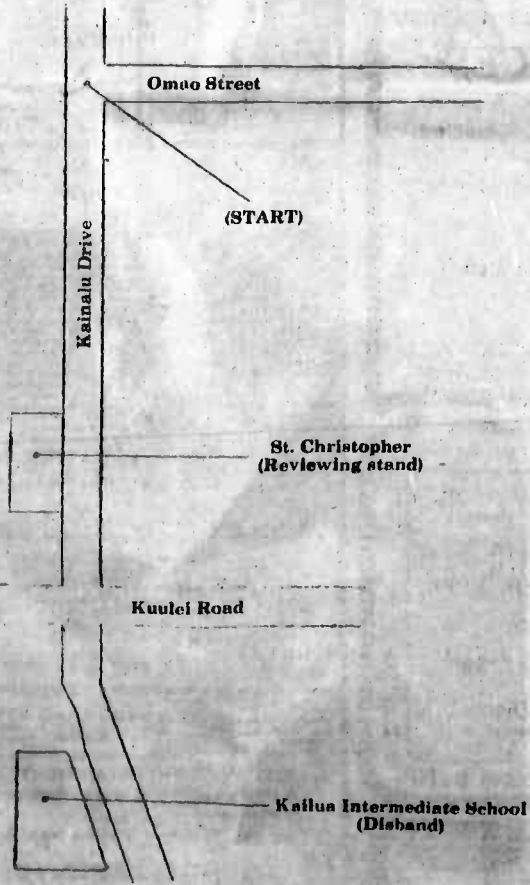

Possessing, using or introducing fireworks is strictly prohibited aboard MCAS Kaneohe Bay, while civil ordinances forbid the purchase or use of any fireworks in the civilian community by persons under 18 years of age.

It is illegal for persons to throw, ignite, fire or explode any pyrotechnic article within 1,000 feet of any convalescent home, hospital, home for the aged or animal hospital.

Explosing fireworks from or into any vehicle is also unlawful and reconstructing commercially manufactured fireworks is prohibited.

Persons convicted of violating fireworks ordinances are subject to a fine of up to $500, 30 days imprisonment or both. If minors are arrested for fireworks violations, their parents or guardians are subject to the penalty.

While transporting fireworks place them in the trunk of a vehicle or away from passengers. If stored, keep them in a cool place away from extreme heat and always out of the reach of the reach of young children.

COMMENDED FOR SERVICE — CWO-2 Thomas Ellenberg is decorated with the Navy Commendation Medal from BrigGen W.H. Rice, commanding general, 1st Marine Brigade, for outstanding service as the brigade safety manager. According to the citation since the inception of his water safety program there have been no drownings or need for emergency water rescue services aboard the air station.

Medal

Water safety program reaps reward

CWO-2 Thomas Ellenberg stood tall to receive the Navy Commendation Medal during ceremonies following morning colors June 20 at the flag pole in front of Headquarters, building 215.

THE CITATION reads in part "... During the 30 months prior to assuming his (Ellenberg's) duties, the Brigade experienced eight drownings and 107 emergency water rescues. Chief Warrant Officer Ellenberg quickly devised an innovative, far-reaching water safety program which is presented to each Marine reporting to the Brigade. Since its inception in July 1979 there have been no drownings or need for rescues," Ellenberg explained.

"Marines coming aboard the air station are not familiar with the Pacific waters. People from states not bordering oceans don't know how to react in riptides and undertows. The program I devised provides an overview of island beaches and water conditions, and how to escape the ocean if caught in one."

THE SECRETARY of the Navy also commended him for "... displaying outstanding initiative, exceptional managerial skill and superb leadership; he single-handedly arranged and hosted a safety course taught by the Director, Occupational Health and Safety Administration Institute. This resulted in an extremely cost effective method of training and, for the first time, provided the Brigade with a trained nucleus of safety specialists." The week-long course, held April 14-18, was attended by 44 individuals representing civilian personnel and different branches of the military on Oahu. The course reportedly saved the government an estimated $50,000.

HE PROUDLY stated, "I was the first warrant officer in my field. Now there's another one serving as a logistics officer. We are unique because the field is now closed to warrant officers. I guess you can call it making Marine Corps history."

The newly awarded medal will be placed next to Ellenberg's purple heart. Other medals he's earned include the Combat Action ribbon and five awards of the Good Conduct Medal.

Patience and cooperation soothe registration blues

by Sgt Phillip Williams

Oh, the joys of registering your vehicle aboard the air station! All that paperwork and information needed is a real bother, right? Wrong! Not possessing or maintaining proper paperwork on your vehicle can not only become an inconvenience when attempting to register aboard station, but costly as well.

to be even more expensive.

So now you're wondering, "What do I need to get my vehicle registered on station?" The following documents are required:

A valid driver's license;

A valid Hawaii state registration or out-of-state permit;

A Hawaii no-fault insurance card showing policy number and expiration date;

A valid safety inspection permit (the form as well as the bumper sticker), and;

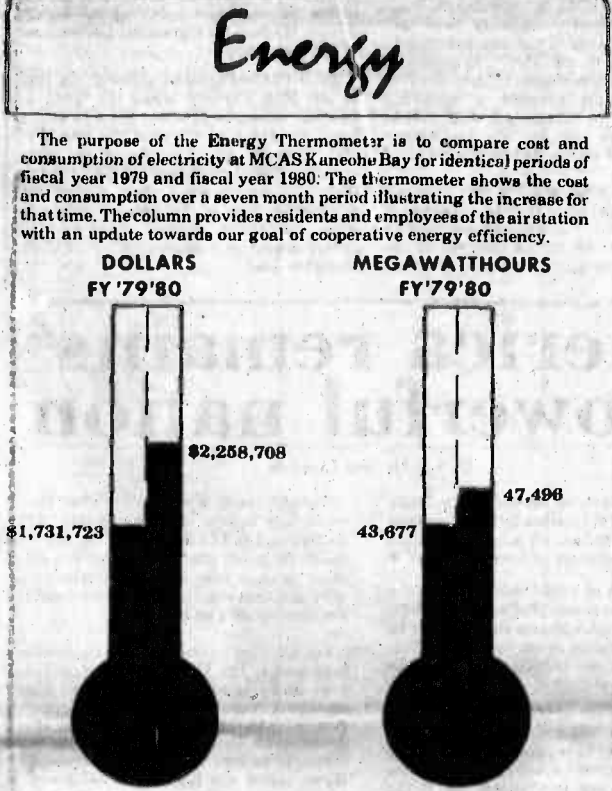

Valid military or civilian identification.

STATION and brigade personnel who bring their vehicles in from the mainland are allowed a 10-day period in which to register their vehicles.

Now that you have all the necessary paperwork, you're ready to register your vehicle aboard the air station, right? Wrong again. Members from the Pass and ID Section of the H-3 Gate ask that along with all the paperwork, an individual bring along some patience, a little courtesy, and if at all possible, a smile.

ARMED WITH this information, you're ready to get your vehicle registered. However, as an added precaution, it should be remembered that all traffic regulations aboard the air station are strictly enforced. So above all else, drive safely.

Korea Travel
The restrictions recently imposed on all nonessential travel to the Republic of Korea have been lifted, and normal travel has resumed.

However, in the case of those senior military visitors who will interact with Republic of Korea civilians or military officials, the country team policy is to approve visits of obvious or stated essential military business, and to defer orientation or protocol visits.

4th of July Hours
The Commissary Store aboard MCAS Kaneohe Bay will be closed Friday for the observance of Independence Day. Normal working hours will resume Saturday 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Teen Center
The Teen Center aboard MCAS Kaneohe Bay is sponsoring a Parents' Fun Night tonight from 8 till 10. All parents are invited to visit and see what the Teen Center is all about and discuss what plans have been made for Summer.

Accommodations
Service members are reminded that only those accommodations listed in Hotel Information Bulletin No. 29 are approved for temporary living allowance entitlement. Payment is only authorized when TLA approved accommodations are used. For information, contact the Housing Referral Office, 257-2181, or the Housing Referral Interservice Coordinating Office, Fort Shafter at 438-2801.

Blood Drive
Blood will be collected at the Out Patient Dependents' Clinic, Naval Regional Medical Center Branch Clinic, MCAS Kaneohe Bay at 7:30 a.m. on the following dates: June 30, July 14, August 18 and 22, September 22, October 20 and 27, November 24 and 28 and December 5.

Family Picnic
Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 282's Ombudsmen have announced a Family Picnic for the Fourth of July holiday. The Hale Koa Beach is reserved for this family event. Contact Ombudsmen Mrs. Teddie Williams or Mrs. Mary Garrison for further information. Refer to HMM 282's information sheets for phone numbers. A fun day is planned for all.

Dogs Banned
A recent memorandum forwarded to the commanding officer, MCAS Kaneohe Bay, has asked that all dogs be banned from the beaches aboard the air station. The request was made due to the increased number of loose animals on the beaches. It was also noted that the canines have a tendency to relieve themselves along heavily traveled areas of the beaches causing a potential health problem. Another major reason for the off-limit status of animals is the increased potential for animal bites inflicted on beach patrons.

Speed Limit Change
Motorists utilizing the Mokapu Gate to enter or exit the air station should be aware of a change in the speed limit. The limit outside the gate has been changed from 30 to 25 mph.

The lowered speed limit was put into effect to provide Kailua residents living on Mokapu Boulevard a slower and safer flow of traffic through their neighborhood. The new change also comes at a time when school is out in session and children are spending more time outdoors.

Exchange hours
All exchange activities will be closed Friday for the observance of Independence Day except the following which will be open holiday hours: Main Store, 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.; 7 Day Store, 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Bowling Center, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Bowling Snack Center Bar, 10 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.; Car Rental Facility, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Golf Pro Shop, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Golf Course Snack Shop, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Wiki Wiki Snack Shop, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.; K-Bay Hale Ohana, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Manana 7 Day Store, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Exchange activities will resume normal hours Saturday.

Learn to Swim
The Hawaii State Chapter of the American Red Cross begins its free summer swimming lessons for children and adults this month.

The Learn to Swim program for ages six and over have beginner, advanced beginner, intermediate and swimmer classes. The classes will be held Saturday and Sunday mornings from 9 to 10 a.m. at the Diamond Head end of Ala Moana Beach Park near Magic Island. Students should meet for registration in front of Lifeguard Station 1 E, 30 minutes prior to the first class. Two sessions will be held this summer. The first runs from June 21 to July 30, the second from August 2 to August 31.

The Swim to Live program for adults will hold classes Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 5:15 to 6 p.m. at the same location at Ala Moana Beach Park. Registration will be 15 minutes prior to the start of each session in front of Lifeguard Station 1 E. Sessions will run from June 19 to July 19 and from July 23 to August 13. For more information call the Hawaii State Chapter of the American Red Cross at 734-2101.

What is your reaction to the new LES forms?

LCpl Glen Brown, Battery A, 1st Battalion, 12th Marines: "The new LES forms are easier to read and supply you with more information on your leave status."

PFC Robert Carver, Headquarters Company, 1st Marine Brigade: "They are definitely easier to read and not as confusing. The best thing is that they give you more information about your leave."

LCpl Jay Gerringer, Brigade Service Support Group, 1st Marine Brigade: "I like them because they have more information and are easier to understand."

Sgt Ernest Carter, Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron: "I like them, it's about time I understand how I get paid."

PFC Fred Jackson, Headquarters Company, 3d Marines: "I can understand them now. Everything is spelled out for you."

'I can' spirit still exists

by Stacy Taylor

Americans, Americans, we all claim to be Americans, but what is an American, who are we? The American Bicentennial Celebration is over but Americans are still looking back, searching. Searching for our roots, our souls, for a once simpler life. One place to look would be our name, American, Amer I Can. "I CAN," that's been our motto since the first pilgrim shouted "I CAN" into the thick forests of New England to the man who restored "I CAN" into the lonely desolation of the moon.

No matter where we came from in the old world, whether we be black, white or oriental, our roots in this country began with a few persecuted pilgrims who came from their homeland, eager for freedom in a strange and wild "new" world. Later the colonists during the Revolutionary War carried on with this same strong conviction. "I CAN" they shouted in the face of King George III as they defeated his British Army and declared their independence.

The root of our beliefs, of our freedom, the Constitution of the United States of America, also claimed this "I CAN" spirit. This document, written by a few men with high hopes and dreams, has come through with the promise of freedom and equality, of self-fulfillment. It has created a government for the people, but more importantly it laid the foundation for the Bill of Rights: "I CAN" worship as I please, "I CAN" talk freely, "I CAN" read and write what I want, "I CAN" assemble with whomever I please. These documents have thrust America and her many individuals forward with a loud cry of "I CAN." Onward we have marched, building a solid nation that has withstood many blows. And after 200 years of some very fast growing we are ready to catch our breath, to look back, and wonder.

After a time of great sorrow and misery, the Civil War, Americans were able to draw back together and work toward a more unified nation of equal men shouting together "I CAN." We rebuilt our shaky nation, through resolving the slave issue, then our industrial problems, and other social adjustments until we felt that we could tackle the problems of the world.

After World War I Americans faltered, unsure whether to continue building inwardly under the shields of isolationism or involving ourselves in the problems of the Old World by joining the League of Nations. The Depression added her burdens to these and not until World War II were we able to make some deliberate decisions and head straight ahead with a strong "I CAN."

As a World Leader we stand tall and proud, saying "I CAN" as we help others unable to live as comfortable as we do. We lead in the fight for "liberty" and "equality," carrying many nations' burdens on our shoulders. We back organizations such as CARE and the Peace Corps, helping needy everywhere. Our young men fight in other countries, helping them in the battle for "democracy."

Our "I CAN" spirit is ever present today. In the last century we have advanced in the many fields of science. Through the work of many men, such as Thomas Edison who tried countless times before he invented the light bulb, we have created many luxuries unknown to many other countries. We have also done what was considered an impossible dream just a few years ago, we have sent a man to the moon, and someday perhaps the dream of visiting another solar system will become a reality!

Movin' on

Uprooting and heading towards paradise

by Sgt Pepper Davis

When I received my orders to Hawaii I was very excited about being assigned to the 50th state but I also felt a bit hesitant.

JUST THINK. Hawaii. That meant beaches, luaus, beautiful women, Waikiki... the works! Still, I wasn't sure about going because I'd been at my California duty station for more than three years and, in a way, I had sprouted roots.

Well, my big day for departing the sunny, fun-filled West Coast state arrived. As I boarded the plane at the Los Angeles airport, I accepted the fact it was true... I was on my way to Hawaii!

The flight here was enjoyable, at least that's what I was told; I slept practically the entire journey. Finally the pilot announced: "Ladies and gentlemen, we should be landing at Honolulu airport in about 15 minutes."

FOR THE next 14 minutes, a thousand-and-one thoughts raced through my mind. "What are the Hawaiians like? How is the base set-up? Do the women really wear grass skirts?" Childish questions, as yet unanswered ones.

Upon landing I was greeted by my sponsor, the first person to welcome me to the island of Oahu. "Would you care for a beer?" he asked. I nodded and we proceeded to the pub.

He filled me in on what was in store for the next three years and I tried hard to convince myself I wasn't dreaming. I was really in Hawaii. Our thirsts quenched, we headed for Kaneohe.

AS WE DROVE through the city of Honolulu, I marvelled that the neighborhoods were no different from those on the mainland. I made a game of trying to pronounce Hawaiian streets names, but somehow I always lost.

"The Hawaiian pronunciation of names is probably unlike anything you've heard," said my sponsor. "For example, the name of the highway we're on is spelled, 144-144-k. But it's pronounced, leaky leaky," he said. He was right. I had never heard a pronunciation like that before.

WE ARRIVED at the air station within an hour. I was quickly settled at the Joint Reception Center. My sponsor stayed with me until everything was going smoothly, then he departed.

I sat on my rack and tried to imagine what life was like outside those gates. Though still in the states, it felt like I was in a foreign country. "Hey, are you new here?" I heard someone say. I turned in the direction of the voice and replied, "Yeah. I just got here a few hours ago. How 'bout you?"

"I've been here for a couple of months. I'm just here looking for someone."

"OH YEAH? Have you been out in town yet?" I asked.

"Just a couple of times. But if you go out, you have to be careful. It seems the people here don't like servicemen. Especially Marines," answered the tall, slim leatherneck.

As we talked, he related accounts of Marines being assaulted by residents and that even the youngest people are known to carry knives and pistols. All the beautiful visions I had about Hawaii seemed to change quickly. It appeared as if the accounts I'd heard on the mainland were true.

WE TALKED a little longer, then the Marine left. About an hour had passed when I realized I'd forgotten to ask his name. Oh well, I'll probably see him again, I thought. With that in mind, I called it a night.

The next morning I began my first full day on the island. As I went through the checking-in procedures, I asked several people their impressions of the island.

The general feeling was that the island was okay, but almost all the folks I quizzed mentioned the violence. Whether the tales were factual or false, I didn't know but I kept them in mind.

THAT EVENING I sat in the television room at the reception center watching the news. Wouldn't you know it, the first report I heard was of a little girl, abducted a few days ago, found murdered.

I thought, if little girls are being killed, then it must be rough for grownups. I quickly dismissed that kind of thinking as being merely hyper-sensitive and foolish. Besides, I've heard accounts of violence in other places. Why should Hawaii be any different?

But to me, there was a difference.

MY FIRST chance to venture off the base came a few days later when I received word that my automobile had arrived.

I hitched a ride with a friend and headed for Honolulu. It was a pleasant ride, and the island atmosphere was relaxing. "Maybe this place isn't that bad," I thought, but I still had my doubts.

As soon as I picked up my car I started back for Kaneohe. After driving for a while I discovered I was lost, and the more I tried to find my way, the more confused I became.

I travelled in circles before pulling into a gas station to ask directions. The attendant kindly pointed me to the right streets and in no time at all, I was going through the front gate.

I DID MORE thinking that evening and tried to convince myself that somewhere on this island there must be places to go without fear of being assaulted, robbed and hassled. I told myself the only way to find out was to go and see.

I did.

I got in my car and drove in whatever direction came to mind. I stopped in places and absorbed scenery that included sky-blue waters, majestic mountains and luscious vegetation. I discovered an island filled with an exciting history and, in harmony with the beautiful scenery, some of the world's friendliest and most helpful people.

THERE'S NO doubt in my mind that if I hadn't decided to see for myself, that Hawaii is basically the same as any other state with its share of problems. I'd still be locked in a world of pre-judged impressions that are unwarranted and unfair—to the residents and myself.

Liberty endures

by Father John Newton

Pardon me if I wave the flag a little bit. Why one should have to apologize for waving his country's flag is a puzzle. Nevertheless the term "flag-waver" has become one of derision.

However, it is becoming more popular to be patriotic today. The tension of these treacherous, tedious times is reflected in the new surge of national interest in the concepts of freedom, democracy and human dignity. Americans are once again evaluating the importance of liberty and independence. The slumbering Minuteman spirit is once again on the move. The cry "The Redcoats are coming" is stirring the embers of national pride and is sparking a vigorous determination that the Star-Spangled Banner always will wave over the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Freedom, liberty, equality are not accidents of birth. They are not merely high-sounding words. They are hard-won realities. Only when each citizen of a free land sees and accepts a personal responsibility to strengthen and defend these treasures with his life, his fortune and his sacred honor, will they survive.

Each of us must stir his own patriotic zeal, his own devotion to duty, his sense of dedicated service. Each must consecrate all of his talents, all of his abilities to the successful attainment of the goal of liberty for all. No stone can be left unturned, no half-hearted effort will suffice. Each must contribute his best... not what is merely acceptable here and now... but the best he can do... now, and from now on.

There are those today who would still the voice of the Liberty Bell. They would, perhaps, take that blessed symbol of independence and beat it into a hammer and sickle, or form it into an ominous star, and paint it red. Somewhere deep in the heart of each American surges the same blood of patriots who secured for us the blessings of freedom.

A part of each of us rode with Paul Revere. We pounded the powder in the muzzle and pulled the triggers with the Minuteman at Concord, our toes touched down at Plymouth Rock, we painted our bodies for war and splashed the tea in Boston Harbor, we signed the Declaration of Independence.

Shall it be told to future generations, that in the 20th Century when the torch of freedom shone brightest, there was no hand to hold it aloft? That the hands of 20th Century Americans were too busy counting their money, turning the knobs on their TV sets, patting their fat bellies, pampering their well-deodorized hides to pick up their sacred heritage of independence and protect it? Forbid it, almighty God!

America remains a powerful nation

by Sgt Dennis Litallen

As we prepare to celebrate the 204th anniversary of our nation, let's all stop for a moment and reflect on what the future holds for this country of ours.

Each Fourth of July tends to recall the tales of our past accomplishments. Though I believe those past glories should never be forgotten, it makes sense to ponder what lies ahead as we rapidly approach the dawn of the 21st century.

We live in a time of difficulty. Recession, unemployment and inflation are running rampant. Our kids aren't getting the quality educational opportunities they once had. It's all very frustrating. As if the domestic situation isn't bad enough, our countrymen are still being held prisoners by Iranian militants while in Afghanistan the Russian bear is busily flexing its military muscles against a band of tenacious Afghan rebels. Those are trying times. The thing I feel is especially unfortunate is that many people no longer seem to care about what's happening. Some are abandoning the principles that made our country the greatest on earth.

Despite all these problems and others, I can't help but feel with our Independence Day fast approaching, that somehow we will pull through.

Many foreign countries are gloating at what they believe is the beginning of the decline and fall of the United States. How easily forgotten are the times we've helped other nations who desperately needed us. Why is it that some of these same countries are now writing us off?

Let all who follow this line of thinking take notice. The U.S. is 204 years old this year and has seen and weathered many problems. Many of them were as trying or even more so than those we face now. If you doubt that then talk to someone who managed to survive the Great Depression. We've taken our lumps but resiliency is synonymous with the word American. Ditto for the title "Marine."

We just happen to be a young country faced with a rather tough adolescence. Don't feel like you're alone, it's a confusing time for all of us. Anyone ready to count us out in making a foolhardy mistake.

There's an old adage in boxing that says anyone can be knocked down, but the truly great ones get up. The United States of America falls in that category. Think about that the next time you hear someone denounce our country. Happy Birthday America!

At Ease! - You've been selected Marine of the Month, not Crew Chief of the Century.

GOTCHA— Recon Marines are snatched into rubber boats by members of the 4th Force Reconnaissance Reserve Company, during their annual two-week active duty training at the MCAS Kaneohe Bay marina. Marines were dropped into the water from a speeding boat, and plucked from the deep in an exercise stressing speed and teamwork.

Training Recon reservists invade K-Bay Marina

by Sgt Pepper Davis

Approximately 70 reconnaissance Marines "invaded" the MCAS Kaneohe Bay marina Wednesday. Their mission: To train in various areas of reconnaissance operations and to maintain their reputation as a swift, silent and deadly force.

THE "INVADERS" were members of the 4th Force Reconnaissance Reserve Company of Honolulu. The training at the air station was a phase of their annual two week active duty training.

The reservists began this year's training June 14. The following days they were deeply engaged in reconnaissance-related subjects such as tower and helicopter rappelling, tactical penetrations, nuclear, biological and chemical defense, patrolling, basic demolitions and call for fire exercises. All cycles were conducted at the different military installations on Oahu.

The two exercises conducted at the air station, high speed casting and recovery, and helicopter casting and special patrol, insertion and extraction methods (SPIE rigging), perhaps best illustrated what reconnaissance is all about: getting info, and departing an area undetected.

As Capt Jay Dunn, company commander, explains, "As recon Marines our main job is to go into a given zone, scout around for information, then leave as quickly and silently as possible."

practiced their trade for an entire day. Divided into two groups, the Marines cast themselves one-by-one into the salty waters of the Kaneohe Bay from boats travelling at speeds up to 15 knots.

Once assembled in the water, the reservists, clad in fins, masks and life vests, awaited the return of the boat. As the vessel passed they were literally plucked out of the deep by Marines riding in a small rubber boat attached to the side of the recovery craft. The exercise was conducted repeatedly until the unit was adept at recovering each Marine on the first attempt.

That afternoon, a similar exercise was rehearsed. The reservists hoarded a helicopter and headed back for the bay. They dropped to the water in pairs while the "chopper" cruised approximately 20 feet above the surface. They assembled in the water and waited to be hoisted by the helicopter and transported back to shore. The drill was repeated until it was perfect.

"SINCE WE'RE a deep reconnaissance unit, we have to work in water," commented Maj George O'Dell, unit inspector instructor. He added, "Our job is centered around water, so we spend a lot of time in it."

"The methods we worked on are just two of the several ways we can enter an area to gather information," he continued. "For example, if we were going in by boat, all the enemy would know is that a boat was passing by fast. They wouldn't be able to detect the Marines casting into the water."

According to the major, when it's time for the divers to leave, they form in the water and wait to be recovered. He claims that whether the mission is conducted by boat or helicopter, it's designed to allow them to move fast and quietly.

AT THE DAY'S end, the Marines assembled for an exercise critique. All went well, according to O'Dell. He said, "I'm pleased with the way the unit performed. The exercises were highly successful. We like to keep busy during our two-week drills. It gives us a chance to get out and be 'real' Marines. Though these Marines are reservists from all walks of life," he concluded, "they've earned the right to wear the eagle, globe and anchor."

HELICO CASTING — Members of the 4th Force Reconnaissance Reserve Company jump into Kaneohe Bay while a helicopter cruises 20 feet above water. Helo casting, a maneuver used to insert and extract reconnaissance Marines in an enemy-held area, was conducted as part of the unit's annual two-week active duty training.

SAFETY

Proper running attire prevents heat injuries

by Sgt Pepper Davis

They're doing it everywhere. On roads, in the woods, across fields, up and down hills, on beaches and in parks. They're often strangers to each other, yet they're all familiar with the increasingly popular sport.

JOGGING is fast becoming the number one sport in America. It's an inexpensive activity that requires no athletic prowess, and can be enjoyed by people of practically all ages. According to "Joggers Bible," a quarterly publication on running, more than eight million people participate in some form of jogging program.

What makes all these people exert and strain their bodies in such a manner? Could it be that jogging is just a fad? The "in" thing to do? Or could it really have some beneficial effects on the body? Many doctors have answered this last question with a resounding "yes."

RUNNING IS more than a passing fad. In fact, it can prevent many problems from depression to heart trouble. To become a healthy jogger, it is wise to take some necessary precautions. Too much too soon could put your program on the back burner for awhile.

First, you should honestly evaluate your level of physical fitness before starting. For every year you don't stay in shape, you lose three years of conditioning.

If you don't have a history of illness or heart disease, you should be able to run, without being winded, on level terrain for 30 minutes. By increasing your running five minutes each week for three weeks, you can progress safely.

GOING TOO far, too fast, too soon is tabu for the beginning runner. Not letting the body adapt slowly to stress and conditioning leads to injuries. Most beginners are impatient and expect to see changes immediately. Some want to lose all their excess weight overnight. Instead, they should let their bodies develop naturally.

Using proper equipment is very helpful. Poorly constructed shoes often cause foot injuries and, of course, healthy feet are probably the most important asset in jogging. Shoes made specifically to take the punishment of running should be used.

COMFORTABLE, loose-fitting shorts or sweats are essential. Tight, cut-off jeans tend to make running more difficult and irritating. Nylon mesh uppers are suitable for warm weather, while sweat suits, hats and gloves are required for cold weather.

Now, let's see. You've had a check-up, bought the best shoes, and plan to start off nice and easy, so you're all set, right?

Not quite. It's advisable to choose a running style suitable for your body. A lack of knowledge about running forms is common among beginners. A majority of injuries to feet, legs, ankles, knees and hips occur because of poor running form.

A NOVICE should begin with short, shuffling strides. Overstriding or running on the balls of your feet leads to injuries and premature fatigue during running.

Your posture and hip position are equally important in preventing injuries and developing a better stride. While running, lift your ribcage. This also lifts your pelvis, stomach and back muscles and lessens strain.

No matter how healthy you are, beginner or marathoner, heat can cause you more trouble than you bargained for. Depending on your level of training, sensitivity to heat and the percentage of body fat you carry, it may take two weeks or more to get used to the high heat of summer.

As a precaution to overheating, you should learn to recognize the early warning signs of heat illnesses.

HEAT CRAMPS are muscle spasms caused by the loss of salt during perspiration. They don't normally last long but may return. An increase of salt on your foods should help prevent cramping recurrence.

Heat exhaustion is a more severe form of overheating. It occurs when there's extreme dehydration and the circulatory system is exhausted. Signs of this illness include cold skin, weak and rapid pulse, a faint feeling, nervousness and an extreme thirst.

If you experience these symptoms while running, stop. Lie down in a cool place and drink plenty of water unless you are nauseous.

Though heat ailments are runners' enemies, the most dangerous heat illness is heatstroke. It occurs when excess heat cannot be eliminated from the body. The pulse rate rises, the skin grows hot and sometimes dry. The body temperatures can rise to 106 degrees Fahrenheit or higher.

THE VICTIM becomes very irritable, aggressive and incoherent. Medical attention must be obtained immediately. The body temperature must be lowered if possible, by rubbing the person in ice. Although intense summer heat can melt asphalt, the properly prepared jogger can run all summer long without overheating.

A proper diet is also important in becoming a proficient runner.

Fruits and vegetables are preferred over processed meats. It's usually not a good idea to eat before running because food taken within three hours of running tends to lower the blood sugar rather than raise it, making the runner less efficient and more prone to fatigue. Liberal amounts of fluids should also be taken before, and if practicable, during the run.

REPEATED mistakes often lead to injuries and layoffs, which tend to discourage the beginning jogger. Learning to assist your body in adjusting to the pains and strains of running, will make the transition smoother and more rewarding.

RIGHT AND WRONG — GySgt Craig Fairbank (left) and Sgt Jack Ciesla of 1st Radio Bn., 1st Marine Brigade, illustrate proper and improper attire for joggers. Ciesla is properly dressed for jogging in Hawaii's humid climate, while Fairbank, by wearing a dark-colored, cotton top, may be prone to heat injuries. Though the island's temperatures and gentle breezes are ideal for joggers, light-colored clothing and properly ventilated tops will help combat heat illnesses.

CAN I HELP YOU? — Laura Mockler, cashier for the recently opened Barefoot Snack Bar, located poolside at the Kaneohe Bay Commissioned Officers' Club, patiently waits for young patrons to make their selections from the many treats offered on the menu. The snack bar provides a convenient service to swimmers and sunbathers by offering snacks and drinks.

Officers' Club adds poolside snack bar

LCpl Charles Marshall

Commissioned Officers' Club members and their guests can now enjoy poolside snacks thanks to the recent opening of the Barefoot Snack Bar June 19.

THE SNACK BAR, open Tuesdays through Sundays from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. offers hot dogs, chili, beer and soft drinks to sunbathers and swimmers lounging in the pool area.

The idea for the refreshment stand originated from Col Mel Sautter, commanding officer, MCAS Kaneohe Bay and was implemented by Lou Legarie, club manager, in an attempt to provide more complete service for club patrons.

Legarie states, "Col Sautter is interested in all the clubs in the club system. He creates the ideas, relays them to me and I put them into action. We've had the equipment and the space. I'm just putting it to use."

LEGARIE continued, "I'm really doing it for the children. Most of the officers are working during the day and their children come to cool off in the pool. Now they can get snacks and drinks without leaving the area."

Laura Mockler, Barefoot Snack Bar cashier,

commented, "I think the snack bar is long overdue. We should have a lot of business because the children will not have to go over to the Bachelor Officers' Quarters to buy their snacks. It really is more convenient for everybody."

LEGARIE HAS tentative plans of adding a canopy and more tables and chairs. "I'll add a hamburger grill as soon as the snack bar can accommodate it," he said. "Right now I have a shortage of electrical outlets, but I plan to have public works come and install more."

Voluntary bus service proposed

A study is being conducted to determine the feasibility of a "Park and Ride" Express Bus Service. If the system is established, an individual will be able to park at a military installation near his or her home and ride an express bus to MCAS Kaneohe Bay.

The service will be open to both military members and civilian employees. Anyone interested in this express bus system is asked to call 257-2303 with the following information. Your name, telephone number and organization.

What is the highest round-trip fare you would pay? ($2, $3 or $4).
At which base would you park your car?
Would you pay a monthly fee instead of a daily fare?
What are your working hours?

Can your working hours be changed to coincide with bus schedules?
In what area of Oahu do you live?
How much fuel (in gallons) will you save each month by using the proposed bus service?

Ponds

Ancient reservoirs provided fish

by Sgt Dennis Litalien

Marines entering MCAS Kaneohe Bay via the Mokapu Gate are greeted by expanses of water on both sides of the roadway. This area, one of special significance in the rich, historical past of Mokapu Peninsula, is known as the Nuupia fish ponds.

was a solitary, immense fish pond called Kaluapuhi. This body of water, like most areas of Mokapu Peninsula at that time was the property of royalty, and, as such, strictly taboo to commoners.

HALEKOU and Nuupia are said to be modifications of the original pond configuration. Hawaiian legend has it that Kaluapuhi was protected by a benevolent eel who guarded the sacred ponds against intruders. Local folklore also claims the eel formed the ponds by burrowing across the mile-wide neck of Mokapu Peninsula, seeking shorter passage from Kaneohe Bay to Kailua Bay. The eel was singled out by ancient Hawaiians for this role as eels were considered to have an inherent right to this guardianship position.

NUUPIA CUT obliquely across Mokapu forming an inlet separated from the sea on the eastern border by a ridge approximately 10 feet above sea level. On the western front, an artificial dike divorces the ponds from the calm waters of Kaneohe Bay.

At one point in history, the ponds were surrounded by groves of starch trees. It is from these trees that the name Nuupia is derived. The "trees" were actually enormous plants, bearing huge leaves and a large fruit similar to a potato in shape, but resembling a watermelon in size.

THE PONDS were originally owned by Queen Kalama and were temporarily held on a 10-year lease by Pilioli, high chief under Kamehameha III. They were sold to the U.S. government in 1943 for $90,000 and included additional acreage adjoining the ponds.

The ponds, or loko as they were called, are among the remaining permanent structures of ancient Hawaii. Today environmental specialists and engineers working aboard the air station watch the ponds closely, seeking to preserve their delicate ecological balance, historical significance. Marines are entrusted to safeguard them for future generations to appreciate.

HISTORIC WATERS - The Naupia fish ponds, cutting across the neck of Mokapu Peninsula were once the property of ancient Hawaiian royalty and kupa (forbidden) to the commoners of that period. The three man-made ponds are said to be enlargements of a solitary gigantic fish pond known as Kaluapuhi. Another pond in this vicinity, believed to have been called Muliwalewa, has been lost in history. The Nuupia fish ponds are among the few remaining permanent structures of old Hawaii.

COMING HOME — Marines from the 1st Marine Brigade's 3d Battalion, 3d Marines and Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-165 unload mounds of equipment and personal gear at the piers of Naval Station, Pearl Harbor, June 24. The units returned to Hawaii from a deployment that began in January.

Marines debark ship into loved ones' arms

by Sgt Dennis Litalien

Seventeen hundred Marines of the 1st Marine Brigade returned to MCAS Kaneohe Bay June 24 ending their six-month deployment to the Western Pacific, Indian Ocean and the Arabia Sea.

The returning Leathernecks, members of the 3d Battalion, 3d Marines, Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-165 and Marine Amphibious Unit Service Support Group-31 departed Pearl Harbor in early January for what was to be a routine six-month float. That all changed however when the 31st Marine Amphibious Unit was diverted to the Arabian Sea.

The Marines began landing around 9 a.m. As the USS Alamo (LSD 33) appeared at the mouth of the harbor, the dockside at pier Kilo 5 exploded with delighted squeals and shouts from the waiting crowd of happy dependent wives and children.

The waterfront area where the ships made their arrivals resembled a gigantic family reunion as the travel-weary but grinning Leathernecks streamed down the gangplanks to greet their wives, children and sweethearts.

The Kaneohe-based Marines spent liberty time in such ports of call as Perth, Western Australia; Subic Bay, Philippines; Mombasa, Kenya; Olongapo; Singapore; and Thailand.

Final stop for the deployed Marines prior to their return home was Subic Bay, Republic of the Philippines. The Marines departed there two weeks ago on their final trek back to Oahu.

The incoming MAU was replaced in the western Pacific by 2d Battalion, 3d Marines and Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 262 MSSG-37 which departed Pearl Harbor back in late May.

The returning leathernecks were placed aboard truck convoys traveling from Pearl Harbor to MCAS Kaneohe Bay via the Likelike Highway.

FAMILY REUNION — SSgt Charles Davy, Company D, 3d Assault Amphibian Battalion, 1st Marine Brigade is covered with hugs and kisses from his wife Cynthia and son Charles Jr. upon his return to the MCAS Kaneohe Bay June 24. Davy, along with 52 other Marines of the Assault Amphibian Battalion, deployed for six months with the 3d Battalion, 3d Marines, in the Western Pacific.

SURPRISE, SURPRISE — Upon arrival at MCAS Kaneohe Bay, 1st Lt Craig Hudgins of Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron-165 grabs hold of a surprise bundle named Bryan. Hudgins saw his month-old newborn for the first time upon his return from a Western Pacific Deployment June 24. His wife Kathy and daughter Kim (right) greeted the lieutenant with a warm aloha.

Top sailors selected

Three sailors were recently selected as the Navy's Fiscal Year 1980 Sailors of the Year.

Chosen for honors were: Petty Officers 1st Class Charles Herrington, of shore command, Melvin Neighbours, Pacific Fleet and Donald MacArthur, of Atlantic Fleet. According to the Chief of Naval Operations, "They exemplify those men and women who have dedicated themselves to the defense of our country, through service in the United States Navy."

The new Sailors of the Year will each serve one year as special assistants to the Master Chief Petty Officer for the Shore Command and to the Master Chief Petty Officers of the Pacific and Atlantic Fleets.

Okinawa team trounces Hawaii Marines

The Okinawa Marines swept the Women's Fleet Marine Force Pacific Slow-pitch Softball Regional Tournament in three consecutive games at Camp Smith Wednesday and Thursday with scores of 12-2, 10-9 and 17-4.

The first game of the best three-out-of-five tourney was neck and neck until the Okinawa team exploded in the sixth inning racking up eight runs on four hits. 1stLt Felicia Ficca slammed a homerun for the Hawaii Marines in the bottom of the sixth but the game ended too soon for Hawaii to make a comeback.

The second game proved more exciting with the hits and runs see-sawing back and forth. Okinawa pulled it through in the fourth inning when CWO2 Shari Hodson blasted a two-run homer to centerfield. In the fifth Hawaii's LCpl Michelle Hickman nailed a homerun ball to make the score 10-9, Okinawa. The last two innings remained scoreless and Okinawa was once again victorious.

The Okinawa All-Stars annihilated the Hawaii team in the third game to clinch the Regional Title. They capitalized on eight hits to amass 13 runs in the first two innings of the ballgame. The Hawaii women were overwhelmed.

Women from FMF-Pac selected to continue to the All-Marine trial camp beginning in Barstow, Ca. July 5 through August 2 are: LCpl Joann Doan, Sgt Dreama Wills, Cpl Lisa Edgington, PFC Connie Stotler, LCpl Lisa Taylor, PFC Barbara Goins, SSGT Becky Kaupu from Okinawa and 1stLt Felicia Ficca and Cpl Cheryl Martin from Hawaii.

The camp is a 30 day trial period to select the team to represent the Marine Corps in Inter-Service competition August 3 through 8 in Little Creek, Va.

READY AND WAITING Sgt Fran Kuznir of the Hawaii All-Stars is set to go home during the final game of the Women's Fleet Marine Force Pacific Regional Tournament Slow-pitch competition held at Camp Smith Thursday. Okinawa's third baseman LCpl Nancy Hosterman is positioned for the play. The Okinawa Marines triumphed once again to remain undefeated in the tournament by defeating Hawaii 17-4.

Mediators achieve community rapport

Officials umpire youth baseball

Little League baseball has played an important part in teaching young boys and girls to be competitive in sports and in life. It's a physical and emotional game that in many ways mirrors the significant characteristics, problems and issues of social life in America.

Many people are involved in little league — parents, coaches, managers, fans and most importantly... the umpires. The umpires are mediators, fair and respectable figures of authority. They contend not only with the players, but also irate coaches and protective parents.

The Kaneohe Bay Officials' Association is heavily involved in officiating Little League baseball in the civilian community of Kaneohe. MSgt Jim Harris, association president, commented, "The group of Marines that umpire little league games represent people from the station who care about the community and are a part of that community."

"The association has achieved and maintained an outstanding rapport with everyone associated with baseball in Kaneohe. They are respected and have not encountered a single problem with parents, coaches or players this year," he stated. "Officials umpire games with kids ranging in age from eight to 18 years old. The most important divisions are the minor and major Leagues, eight to 12-years old because they are very impressionable.

All of the boys and girls play the game of baseball and also learning sportsmanship, love challenges, ways of handling victory and defeat and many other things which will help them out in this game of life," Harris added.

Sportsnotes

The Second Annual Avis Challenge Cup Tennis Tournament will be conducted throughout the month of July. Divisions includes Men and women's divisions, singles and doubles. Winners will receive plaques and their names will be published in Tennis Magazine. Call station tennis pro Mark Skillicorn at 949-7960 or 257-3520.

The K-Bay Soccer Team romped over the Wings by a score of 6-0 in Hawaii Ranger's Soccer League action at Waiatae Iki Field yesterday. The team now stands at one win, one loss and one tie. The next game is scheduled at Waiatae Iki Field, 4 p.m. July 6. Interested spectators should call Lt Bedworth at 257-3270.

Women Marines are needed to form a station track team to train and compete against other military women in an upcoming cross country race at Schofield Barracks. For more information contact Sgt Ed McKnight, Joint Human Affairs Office at 257-2841.

The next Intramural Golf Team Handicap Program at MCAS Kaneohe Bay will begin July 16 at noon. The program is slated to run for a period of about 12 weeks. Team size is limited to eight players and rosters should be submitted to Special Services sports section no later than 4:30 p.m. July 9. The last organizational meeting before the program starts will be held at the station Family Theater July 3 at 10 a.m. For further details, contact Special Services at 257-3135 or 257-3108.

A Chess Tournament is planned for MCAS Kaneohe Bay July 2-13. Persons belonging to the Marine Corps recreation fund on the island are eligible to participate. A tournament director is sought to coordinate the event. Contact Capt. David Bender at 257-2306.

The start of the second quarter Catfight Golf Tournament at the Kaneohe Klipper Golf Course will be signalled by a shotgun blast at noon July 29. The entry fee for each participant is $5 and will defray the cost of food, drinks and awards. All entries must be submitted to the MCAS Kaneohe Bay Special Services' Athletics Department no later than 4:30 p.m. July 25. For further information contact the department at 257-3108 or 257-3258.

The Hawaii State ABA Slow-pitch Softball Tournaments are scheduled as follows:
Men's "A" - July 4-6 at Ft. Shafter. A pre-tourney meeting will be held July 2 at 6 p.m. at the Ft. Shafter Bowl.
Women's "A" - July 11-13 at Ft. Shafter. A pre-tourney meeting will be held July 9 at 6 p.m. at the Ft. Shafter Bowl.
Teams interested must attend a pre-tournament meeting. Entry fee is $100. For additional information call Leroy Simms at 422-4454.

Honolulu Marathon preparations begin

The City and County of Honolulu, the Honolulu Marathon Association and the thousands of volunteers who make running a success invite you to take part in the eighth Honolulu Marathon. The number of runners in the annual race continues to grow, increasing from 182 starters in 1973 to more than 7,000 starters last year. This included the world's largest number of women marathon finishers, a total of 1,137. This year even more runners are expected to enter and special efforts are being made to preserve the warm aloha spirit that makes the Honolulu Marathon unique.

THE COURSE starts at Aloha Tower,

Kapiolani Park bandstand to the Aloha Tower starting line on the morning of the race.

THE POTENTIAL size of the 1980 Honolulu Marathon may make it necessary to limit the number of entries. Early reservations, particularly for those desiring hotel accommodations, are highly recommended because of the large number of off-island runners and families expected.

The 26 mile, 385-yard marathon race will be held Sunday, December 7. The race will begin at 6 a.m.

To ensure that runners receive the recognition due every finisher, (accurate time, certificate and a finisher's t-shirt) entry through Waikiki to Kapiolani Park along Diamond Head, Kalaniana'ole Highway around Hawaii Kai and returns to Kapiolani Park.

Fifteen aid stations will be located at two-mile intervals. Unlimited refreshments will be available to runners and a physician or nurse will be in attendance at each aid station.

A non-refundable entry fee of $10 must accompany each application and be post-marked on or before October 20. Late entries will be accepted from Oct. 21 through Nov. 10 if accompanied by a check for $20.

The entry fee includes a certificate and t-shirt to all finishers and bus service from forms must be completed accurately and legibly, posted as early as possible but, again, no later than October 20.

The running number is very important. This will be the only means of identification for each individual runner. It is non-transferable and must be totally visible through all phases of the race, positioned squarely on the front of your running shirt.

FINISHING times will be most important to participants. Wearing the number properly ensures participants that time will be credited. The course record is 2:16:12 for men and 2:40:06 for women. The finish line will close at 1 p.m. for the awards ceremony.

Entertainment will be featured beginning at noon for persons waiting for friends or family members to finish the race. Individual picnic areas may be found and utilized along the course.

There will be a total of 17 awards presented. The highest will be the Mayor's Perpetual Trophy, awarded to the first overall finisher. Trophies will be presented to the first woman and man finisher.

FOR MORE information write the Honolulu Marathon Association, P.O. Box 27244, Chinatown Station, Honolulu, HI 96827, or call 734-7200 between 9:30 a.m. and noon Mondays or Wednesdays.

Haleakala towers over Maui

by Major Rick Stepien

CAMP H.M. SMITH — According to Hawaiian legend Hina, mother of the demigod Maui, complained frequently, that she could not dry her burk cloth because of the sun's rapid pace across the Hawaiian sky. Maui climbed to the summit of the massive volcano, Mt. Haleakala, and lassoed the sun, threatening to hold it in place until it promised to travel more slowly. It did and he released it.

the illusion of it having risen from the depths of Haleakala's enormous crater, hence the name, "House of the Sun."

From the fertile isthmus that joins it with the 5,800-foot Pu'u Kukui in the west, the slopes of Haleakala sweep upward through acres of sugar cane fields that blanket the lowlands to the verdant pastures and towering pines of Maui's ranchlands, or "upcountry".

At the higher elevations, the mountain gradually sheds its cloak of lush greenery and reveals jagged mounds of greyish-colored lava, virtually devoid of vegetation.

two expansive gups (Kaupo and Ko'olau) and the beautiful Kipahulu Valley at the eastern extremity.

THE INTERIOR of the crater has often been compared with a moonscape. The barren, sun-baked plains of the upper elevations are pockmarked with stately cinder cones that now bely the fiery fountains they once were. While some of the cones are quite large (600 feet), they resemble small piles of sand on the beach when placed against the backdrop of the crater that spawned them. In this area, rain washed through the porous ground as through a sieve.

In places the crater floor has enough consistency to permit rooting and there signs of life appear. Shrubs and bushes struggle for survival. At the lower elevations sparse vegetation evolves into dense rainforests. It is here that billowy clouds, formed by the cooling of warm trade winds that gently buffet the shores of all the islands, deposit their moisture. Through this tangled mass of tropical growth, much

Well before dawn each morning, cur headlights flicker on the slopes as tourists make their way up the narrow, winding, two-lane road to the summit. Forsaking a full night's sleep, these hearty souls endure the 90-minute drive and brave the near freezing temperatures at the top to view an event for which Haleakala is renowned—sunrise from the summit!

Seeing the morning sun rise above a blanket of clouds over the ocean and weave its colorful magic on the eastern sky is exhilarating. Except for the whirring and clicking of cameras a haunting stillness pervades the area. Observers become mesmerized as they watch the sky lighten and the sun peek over the distant clouds.

ATMOSPHERIC changes occur quickly in the crater. With little warning, clouds creep slowly over the rim and begin to devour the interior of the basin. Depending on the velocity of the wind, the vast depression can be completely enveloped in a misty shroud in short order.

... shrubs and bushes struggle for survival. At lower elevations sparse vegetation evolves into dense rainforests...

of which is unique to the crater, headwaters originating in Haleakala's once fiery caldera find an exit to the ocean.

THE MOUNTAIN streams that cascade down the rugged exterior of Haleakala form beautiful waterfalls and shimmering pools where tourists traveling the infamous Hana Highway find respite from the tiring drive with a refreshing dip.

For the adventure-some hiker, a maze of trails zig-zag through the crater and provide a unique opportunity to explore Haleakala's secrets. There are even cabins within the crater that can be reserved to provide overnight lodging for weary backpackers.

Caution is the keynote when hiking Haleakala. Fatigue comes quickly due to the high altitude. And the Sliding Sands Trail aptly describes the unstable footing hikers may encounter.

IN 1961, 28,600 acres of Haleakala were designated as a national park. Some sections were preserved as far back as 1916. As a result, many endangered species of plants and wildlife have been protected from extinction. The park today is one of the largest tracts of undisturbed native vegetation in the 50th State.

Most renowned among its plantlife is the Silversword (ahinahina). One of the few plants that can survive in the desolate environment of the crater's higher elevations, it is found nowhere else in the world. Its lifespan (which can be up to 25 years) is determined by the time it blooms. Nature has permitted this special plant to bear its seed-bearing flower only once and then it dies.

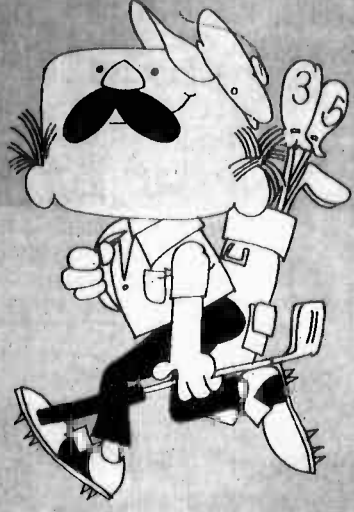

The state bird of Hawaii, the nene, is probably the most famous inhabitant of the Park. Almost extinct in the 1940s, this descendant of the Canadian goose, was preserved through the efforts of the State Department of Fish and Game and the Severn Wildfowl Trust of England. Native only to the islands of Maui and Hawaii, the endangered nene is slowly gaining in numbers and finds the undisturbed Haleakala a most suitable setting for its continued existence.

HALEAKALA is truly one of nature's most spectacular creations. Whether its peak is crowned with a lei of summer stars or a cape of winter snow, whether viewed by the dawn's first light or at sunset, Haleakala is another example of what makes these islands so unique and the Hawaiians so proud of them.

IVAN ROGOV LPD: Since the late 1960s, Soviet amphibious capability has steadily improved in response to their growing commitment to project a military presence abroad. A significant step was taken toward this goal with the introduction of the Ivan Rogov LPD to the Soviet Navy in 1978.

amphibian. With a length of 155 meters, a beam of 25 meters and a draft of 6 meters, the Ivan Rogov is the largest Soviet amphibian and the first two have helicopter facilities. Estimated displacement is 14,000 metric tons and it is believed to be capable of carrying the troops and equipment of a reinforced naval infantry battalion. Although, it combines the characteristics of both an LST and LPD, it is not intended for beaching in the traditional LST fashion.

Instead, it stands off the beach to disembark troops and equipment. Obviously troops, equipment and cargo can be discharged from its LST bow doors, and it is believed that its stern gate opens into a well that can be flooded for launching of landing craft and air cushion vehicles. The Ivan Rogov's impressive array of armaments include a twin 76mm gun mount, four 6-barrel 23mm AA gating guns, one SA-N-4 SAM launcher, and a shore bombardment rocket launcher. These weapons provide the ship with both a limited air defense and landing force fire support capability.

Sentries perform thankless duties

by LCpl Jeanette Stines

The squared away young Marines at the entrances to MCAS Kaneohe Bay perform more activities during the day than bending their elbows to wave a motorist through the gate or saluting officers and unescorted women. The snap and polish demonstrated by the gate guard is the first impression visitors have of the air station and often of the Marine Corps.

GATE GUARDS are military policemen whose primary duty is to control access to the air station. They are more than mechanized flagmen. When an MP looks at a vehicle he checks the decal on the front for validity. When the Pass and ID Office is closed the gate guard issues temporary passes. He also stops pedestrians entering the air station to check their identification and purpose for entering. The gate sentry stops young children leaving the air station and records their name, age parents' name and destination. A log book is maintained by the sentry to record the day's activities. Specific details are found there but general work is the order of the day.

"On weekdays our busiest times are between 11:20 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 6:30 till 7:30 a.m." remarked Cpl Kenneth Haney, sentry at the H-3 guard hut. "Mornings and lunch time are the heaviest times traffic-wise and also represent the period when we encounter frequent requests for directions. This tends to tie up traffic at the gate.

"PAYDAY traffic is heavy all day with people going on and off the air station to cash their paychecks, eat out and leave for the evening," he continued.

Each day these Marines perform all routine police functions within the limited space of the guard shed and immediate vicinity. The quick look a sentry gives an approaching vehicle ascertains more than the color of the decal. The once-over reveals discrepancies such as cracked windshields, broken or burned-out headlights; expired or license plates; even worn tires. The sentry will usually call the operator's attention to the discrepancy and issue a warning to get it fixed.

GUARDS ISSUE citations for offenses they see or become aware of while talking with an individual. Speeding, driving under the influence of intoxicating substances and hazardous conditions of vehicles are a few of the reasons gate guards issue tickets.

Sentries also stop taxis coming on base to check their destination and to identify the passenger. The passenger may be required to pay for the fare at the gate in order to prevent the possibility of an accusation of nonpayment.

"We provide directions to various locations on and off the air station," said Haney. "Tourists often find themselves stopped at the gate wondering how they got there. We give them directions to their destinations, if possible, or at least head them in the right direction. Visitors to the air station receive simple directions or a map showing how to reach their destination," he concluded.

"IGNORANCE is our biggest problem here," commented Cpl John Falchetti, III. "Not ignorance from the tourists but mostly from people working or living on base. The comment 'I didn't know that' is really over-used. That's the response we generally receive after we issue a warning or ticket."

In the near future gate guards will assume a new duty. They will become responsible for random speed checks using radar guns. Radar checks for speeding along the street from the traffic lights to the gate catch people by surprise. Also few people realize that the air station's jurisdiction extends all the way to Kaneohe Bay Drive and that the motorist who speeds up as he passes the gate can be clocked and reported to Honolulu Police Department for ticketing.

THE LONELIEST shift for sentries is from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. The Mokapu Gate sentry may see only the guard walking fence duty during the majority of his shift. The H-3 Gate sentries handle little traffic during those hours.

Gate sentries are especially cautious after dark due to the fact that they are spotlighted in the duty sheds and cannot see clearly approaching pedestrians or vehicles—especially when the motorist fails to turn off his headlights.

"The tensest moments come when a vehicle approaches and stops just outside of the sentry's visibility," explains Haney. "While it is usually a friend dropping off a Marine at the gate, you can never be sure what is going to happen." ALTHOUGH it would seem difficult to miss seeing the guard in his distinctive blue uniform, green uniform or camouflage utilities, close calls do occur.

"I've had two instances when the only way to avoid being hit was to move out of the way of the vehicle. Once, a motorist took a liking to my right foot and the other time a pipe protruding from a truck almost clipped my head," recalled Falchetti.

GySgt Philip Johnson, staff noncommissioned officer-in-charge of the gates and vehicle registration section of the Provost Marshal's Office emphasized, "These men are well trained and receive little credit for the job they do. Most people take the time to complain if a sentry is slow performing his job but few sentries receive compliments on a job well done."

GATE GUARDS are there for protection, not harassment. The delays at the gate, the tickets, the smiles and the summons to proceed are all part of the sentry's job.

THIS IS THE WAY — Cpl Kenneth Haney, gate guard at the H-3 Gate entrance to MCAS Kaneohe Bay, HI, waves oncoming traffic through the gate.

FRIENDLY REMINDER — Cpl Kenneth Haney, sentry at the H-3 gate, reminds a motorist of the pending expiration of the safety inspection sticker on his car. Sentries offer reminders as a courtesy. They frequently call motorists' attention to pending expiration license tags, low tires, lights left on and minor discrepancies. Gate sentries are military policemen from the Provost Marshal's Office aboard MCAS Kaneohe Bay.

Rick's Review

ALL THAT JAZZ, starring Roy Scheider, deals with a man's life involvement in the preliminary work of producing a Broadway show. Probably best known for his roles as the sheriff pitted against sharks in Jaws and Jaws II, Scheider is larger-than-life as the choreographer.

As a casting choreographer, Scheider has ample opportunity to use his position to get women into bed by promising them dancing parts in his productions. The feeling viewers receive is that he does not use his position for this purpose when same time he does not discourage any woman from using sex as a means to obtain a part in the show. He just enjoys what is offered to him on the proverbial silver platter.

THE MOVIE appears to be an advertisement for antacid drinks, eye drops, amphetamines, non-filtered cigarettes and the American Cancer Society. Scheider starts each morning with a shower (the cigarette gets wet), an antacid, mouthwash, eye drops, an "upper" and a look in the mirror followed by the comment "It's show time." The rest of his day is spent vacillating between cigarettes and uppers.

SCHEIDER'S LIFE is a whirlwind of activity. He juggles his time between editing a film special on a stand-up comedian, choreographing a show starring his ex-wife, spending time with his daughter and maintaining an affair with his semi-permanent live-in roommate.

This movie is unique in its treatment of life. Viewers see Scheider's life from the inside-out and the outside-in at the same time. Not only are you aware of what is happening on the screen, but you are aware of what is going on in Scheider's mind.

HE IS seen in dream-type sequences with a beautiful woman throughout the movie. Their series of question-and-answer exchanges, similar to therapy sessions between a psychologist and a patient, contribute greatly to an understanding of the movie.

The explicit portrayal of medical treatment required when Scheider suffers a collapse and heart attack may offend some moviegoers; but the overall effect outweighs the minor inconvenience. Scheider's road to recovery allows viewers further insight into his character.

THE choreography is fantastic and makes for enjoyable viewing due to the emotions aroused during the sequences. Songs are well worded and require careful attention to receive the entire significance.

To quote from the movie, make sure you are there when "It's show time" folks. The film is well worth seeing and tends to be very thought provoking.

Consumer's Choice

EDITOR'S NOTE: Consumer's Choice is a bimonthly column designed to bring various aspects of a subject to the consumer's attention. One subject will be covered each month. This issue of Consumer's Choice will discuss opportunities available to personnel preparing for retirement, and how young Marines planning to make a career of the Marine Corps should prepare.

Retirement is a phase for which every career Marine should plan. It doesn't mean the end of your life, nor does it mean the end of your consumer power. In fact, as a retired person you have the advantage in planning more ways of spending the profits you've earned over the years.

EXPERTS SAY that the people who enjoy retirement the most are those who begin with a positive attitude and realistic expectations. A major factor is how much actual planning is done before the retirement day.

To plan the right strategy, you may wish to look into pre-retirement counseling. Your career planner offers this service, as do colleges. From time to time universities sponsor classes and seminars to help you prepare for retirement.

Often these classes cover medical aid programs, wills and estates, family relations, effective use of leisure time, ways to increase retirement income, Social Security and other subjects that can be helpful in your future.

YOUR UNIT career planner should be able to direct you to counseling services that might make a real difference in your outlook. Don't let the job title fool you. Services provided by a career planner can be helpful to those ready for retirement regardless of his or her age.

The old stereotype of a person "put out to pasture," to live out the remainder of his or her life in idle pursuits, is thwarted by the growing numbers of highly active retirees.

STUDIES SHOW that retirees who return to work usually perform as well, or even better in some cases, as their own grandchildren. People are gradually becoming aware of the fact that more energy is consumed and more tension generated by boredom and relentlessness than by work. As a result, more and more retirees are seeking and finding second jobs. On the average, most retirees have more skills and experiences from which others can benefit.

If you decide to work, ask your career planner the amount of annual income you can earn without jeopardizing your social security benefits. Generally you lose one dollar in benefits for every two you make over the limit. After the age of seventy-two, there is no limit on your earnings. An employment counselor can be an asset in helping you find the type of work suited to your needs.

THERE IS plenty of volunteer work available in outer communities in which you can engage as well. Many organizations, strapped for funds, are desperate for volunteers.

Planning for retirement should include a careful assessment of your financial needs and resources, health insurance coverage, and some really hard thinking about the place you are going to live and your occupation. Develop a positive attitude towards retirement. Planning should be the major consideration. Unfortunately, it is difficult to project the future crisis in the cost of living.
