From the Chief Executive Officer

I have to admit that May has always been my favorite month. As a child, May was my favorite simply because I was born in May, and who doesn't love a birthday cake? Growing up in upstate New York, I always looked forward to May due to the fact that the weather significantly improves from the usually frigid, gloomy winters. Of course, I also admire May as we celebrate our mothers and many college graduates.

With that being said, I need to congratulate my daughter Jillian, who will graduate from Regis University in Denver, Colorado with a degree in physical therapy this month. When she first started college, she began studying electronic media, following in her father's footsteps. But after her first year, she realized she didn't like lugging around heavy television equipment and having 3:00 a.m. radio shifts on the other side of campus.

Jillian had injured her knee in high school. She was treated by a physical therapist and saw firsthand how they help improve everyday people's lives. So, she turned to a major and future profession where she felt she could help people daily. After graduating from Ithaca College, she moved to Denver to get a Doctorate in Physical Therapy and will begin her job in Denver this summer. Congratulations, honey. Dad is so proud of you.

The experience with her physical therapist had a significant impact on Jillian's life. And this month, WHRO hosts the Great Computer Challenge involving teams of students throughout the region. This competitive opportunity for students in Kindergarten through 12th Grade to demonstrate their knowledge of various computer applications and programming skills has been held at Old Dominion University for 38 years. I have to wonder how many of those students that had a chance to compete in software programs and jargon went on to study and work in the tech and computer field. To learn more about the Great Computer Challenge, visit whro.org/GCC. Wishing the best of luck to this year's competitors!

I'll celebrate my birthday this month at our WHRO News Pub event at Tradition Brewery in Newport News on May 25th at 6:30 p.m. The WHRO News Pub series of events are planned and hosted by the WHRO newsroom and have become an exciting way to discuss the state of local journalism in our area. Join us for a beer, have some interesting conversations, and meet some of the WHRO staff. The wellbeing of a community is influenced by the content and quality of local journalism! Local journalism is important. To learn more about this event, visit whro.org/events. I hope to see you there.

And, of course, in May we celebrate Memorial Day, and the veterans who made the ultimate sacrifice. We say thank you to the heroes who courageously gave their lives in fighting for our country, gone but never forgotten.

Once again, I want to thank you for your continued support. It is your faithfulness and generosity that makes our work possible. Thank you for helping keep public media strong in our community!

American Masters: Nam June Paik

Tuesday, May 16, 9:00 p.m.

See the world through the eyes of Nam June Paik, the father of video art and coiner of the term "electronic superhighway." Experience the acclaimed artist's creative evolution, as Academy Award nominee Steven Yeun reads from Paik's own writings.

Cinema 15: Fiddler on the Roof (1971)

Saturday, May 20, 8:00 p.m.

A lavishly produced and critically acclaimed screen adaptation of the international stage sensation tells the life-affirming story of Tevye (Topol), a poor milkman whose love, pride and faith help him face the oppression of turn-of-the-century czarist Russia.

National Memorial Day Concert 2023

Sunday, May 28, 8:00 p.m.

Tune in to the 34th annual broadcast of America's national night of remembrance, featuring an all-star line-up to honor the service of our men and women in uniform, military families, and those who have given their lives for our country.

Lidia Celebrates America

Tuesday, May 30, 9:00 p.m.

Lidia Bastianich, travels from big cities to small towns in rural America to share the inspiring stories of first, second, and third-generation Americans forging their own way, and shaping the shifting definition of what it means to be an American.

AAPI Heritage Month on WHRO

May is Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage month. Throughout the month we'll highlight music from AAPI composers and performers; here are a few of the figures that we'll celebrate.

One of the most famous classical musicians in the world, Yo-Yo Ma was born in Paris in 1955, and moved to NY when he was 7. His family had previously moved from China to Paris during the Chinese Civil War. He began playing cello at age 4, and by age 5 he had already performed for Dwight D. Eisenhower and JFK. He and his sister made a TV appearance at an event with Leonard Bernstein, and Yo-Yo Ma was introduced by Isaac Stern on The Tonight Show with Johnny Carson at the age of 9. His Silk Road Ensemble seeks to bring together the music of the countries historically linked by the Silk Road.

Grammy-winning composer Tan Dun is perhaps best known for his score for the film Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon. Tan Dun was born in a village in Hunan, China in 1957. Growing up during the cultural revolution, he was discouraged from pursuing music, so he worked as a rice planter. He played music with others in his commune, and after a ferry accident, he was called in to play and arrange for a Peking Opera troupe. From there he attended a conservatory in Beijing and became a doctoral student at Columbia in NY, where he studied with Meredith Monk, Philip Glass, and John Cage.

Queen Lili'uokalani of the Hawaiian Islands was the last Hawaiian monarch before the US annexation in 1898. A gifted composer, she compiled traditional Hawaiian songs, keeping traditional native poetics while introducing Western harmonies. While imprisoned in the Iolani Palace she was separated from her people. She feared she would never be free and wanted to make sure the stories of her people would not be lost. She had no access to instruments, but she could still compose with her voice. One song she wrote down was the Kumulipo, the creation story of her people passed down orally by her grandmother. Three songs made it out from her prison and were printed, including the famous lovers' goodbye, Aloha 'Oe.

Join us to enjoy music by these artists and many more!

Celebrate Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month

Every May we take extra time to celebrate Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) Heritage Month by shining a light on AAPI experiences and filmmakers.

The first 10 days of May—later expanded to include the whole month—was chosen by Congress in 1977 to commemorate the immigration of the first Japanese to the United States on May 7, 1843, and to mark the anniversary of the completion of the transcontinental railroad on May 10, 1869. The majority of the workers who laid the tracks were Chinese immigrants.

Enjoy these programs on WHRO TV 15 throughout May.

Rise Against Asian Hate: One Day in March

Tuesday, May 2, 10 p.m.

Explore the fight against Asian American hate following the March 2021 mass shootings at three spas in Atlanta. Examine how this critical moment of racial reckoning sheds light on the struggles, triumphs and achievements of AAPI communities. The film is narrated by Sandra Oh with music by Jon Batiste and Cory Wong.

American Masters: Nam June Paik

Tuesday, May 16, 9 p.m.

See the world through the eyes of Nam June Paik, the father of video art and coiner of the term "electronic superhighway."

Fanny: The Right to Rock

Monday, May 22, 10 p.m.

Fanny: The Right to Rock reveals the untold story of a Filipina American garage band that morphed into the ferocious rock group Fanny, who almost became the female Beatles. Features Bonnie Raitt, Joe Elliott.

Independent Lens: The Donut King

Monday, May 29, 10 p.m.

An immigrant story with a (glazed) twist, The Donut King follows the journey of Cambodian refugee Ted Ngoy, who arrived in California in the 1970s and, through a mixture of diligence and luck, built a multi-million dollar donut empire up and down the West Coast.

Nature: Pandas Born to be Wild

Wednesday, May 31, 10 p.m.

Unlock the mysteries of wild pandas whose counterparts in captivity are known for their gentle image. Journey through the steep Qinling Mountains with filmmakers, scientists and rangers to witness pandas' startling courtship and aggressive behaviors.

If binge-watching shows is more your style, check out the film series 'Asian Americans' on WHRO Passport.

Asian Americans is a five-hour film series that delivers a bold, fresh perspective on a history that matters today, more than ever. As America becomes more diverse, and more divided while facing unimaginable challenges, how do we move forward together? Told through intimate personal stories, the series will cast a new lens on U.S. history and the ongoing role that Asian Americans have played. Stream it now at whro.org/AsianAmericans

Meet the Newest Members of Our WHRO News Staff

In January, WHRO offered a unique opportunity to music lovers when we liquidated tens of thousands of CDs and vinyl albums from our library. The giveaway sparked a frenzy that had people lining up outside the WHRO studios at 5 a.m. and had the radio staff sorting albums for weeks. The giveaway cleared space in our library to create new offices for our expanding journalism department, and we've created quite a staff to explore and report on local and regional news and public affairs.

Please meet the newest members of the WHRO News Staff:

Connor Worley is from Poplar Bluff, Missouri, and is a graduate of the University of Missouri and Arizona State. A sports fanatic, he played basketball in high school and wrote for the Columbian Missourian. Before landing at WHRO, he created audio features for news and covered the Phoenix Mercury and Phoenix Suns.

Steve Walsh is the military and veterans reporter at WHRO. He works with the American Homefront Project, a national collaboration between public media stations and NPR, which looks at military and vet issues. He has also worked for Lakeshore Public Radio in Gary, Indiana, and Chicago Public Radio, where he was a host producer with Vocalo.org, a project to open public media to more diverse audiences. Additionally, his wife Debbie loves Halloween—which hopefully explains all of the body parts they have packed away.

Laura Phillion comes to WHRO directly from a post-grad internship at Alaska Public Media, the NPR/PBS affiliate in Anchorage, Alaska. While there she covered a range of stories including homelessness, city government and the environment. While in college Laura spent two summers writing and editing for The Chautauquan Daily at the Chautauqua Institution in New York, where she covered the arts.

And the true newest member of the WHRO News family is Maggie Murphy, daughter to our news team member Ryan. She was born January 31, and she is just perfect.

Want to weigh in on the state of local journalism and share what you want to see in the news? Come out to our monthly News Pub gatherings and meet our growing news team. Our next News Pub gathering is May 25, at 6:30 p.m. at Tradition Brewing in Newport News. Register to attend at whro.org/events.

We hope everyone is enjoying the vinyl they grabbed back in January. We've made good use of the space it use to occupy. Our talented news team now anchors itself there and makes sure the WHRV listeners are up to date with local, regional and state happenings.

Extending Student Learning at Home: Resources for Families

eMediaVA's home education resources add fun to distance learning and home learning.

Looking for excellent, free resources for learning from home? Whether a child struggles with specific content topics, missed school, disabilities, social-emotional needs, or just wants some fun learning activities to do with friends or family, eMediaVA is one-stop resource.

Below are 5 of my favorite resources from eMediaVA and PBS to share with families to support at-home learning opportunities:

“Learn and Grow with WHRO” (K-3rd grade) and “Continue to Know with WHRO” (4th-7th grade) were developed during the global pandemic to provide instruction to students at home by Virginia educators. These engaging lessons are about 13 minutes long and provide an activity to reinforce learning after watching the lesson. Although created during the pandemic, these video lessons are still helpful for families to extend their child’s learning at home.

Another great eMediaVA series is “Teachable Moments.” The videos are geared toward K-5 students and include many resources for families. Some videos are STEM activities that promote collaboration and problem-solving with families. Others emphasize the importance of visual arts, performing arts, health, wellness, or content-related materials. My favorite “Teachable Moments” resource focuses on social-emotional wellness with activities like role-play and making a stress ball. Each video has links for handouts, activities, and other supporting materials. This series will support families in extending learning experiences in core content areas, and can also provide students with additional real-world resources.

Other resources on eMediaVA are made specifically for parents or guardians. “REACH” REACH is a self-paced interactive reading program to engage parents and children as at-home reading partners. Designed by classroom reading specialists and aligned with kindergarten through third-grade standards, these self-paced interactive lessons are enjoyable for all ages. I recommend this resource for parents on Digital Citizenship!

“PBS Kids for Parents” is a series of documents to help parents or caregivers have tools to have honest conversations with their children. Explore parent resources to help you raise kind, curious, and resilient children.

“Move to Include” has videos about creating environments to be inclusive of people with disabilities. This specific video provides home and family strategies for children with autism.

These resources are helpful to educators when looking to provide families with support. A quick search on eMediaVA will deliver even more videos, handouts, and activities.

DRIVEN TO help others thrive and succeed.

Deeply rooted in the Hampton Roads community for 59 years, Checkered Flag is devoted to giving back to the thousands of loyal customers in our community. To that end, we partner with over 65 local educators, charities and community services to create economic opportunity, improve public health, education, and perhaps most importantly of all, inspire civic engagement and service. We'd like to help everyone in our community live their best life.
