

WETLANDS FLORA SPOTTER

Tralee Bay Wetlands encompasses a mosaic of habitats. Wetland habitats support diverse plant and animal life, and play a vital role in protecting our environment from excessive flooding, improving our water quality and they also help in the storing of Carbon by absorbing Carbon Dioxide from the atmosphere!

How many species will you discover on your visit?

Common Reed
Phragmites australis
Giolcach

Bulrush
Typha latifolia
Coigeal na mban sí

Soft Rush
Juncus effusus
Geataire

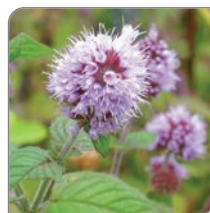

Grey Willow
Salix cinerea subsp. oleifolia
Saileach liath

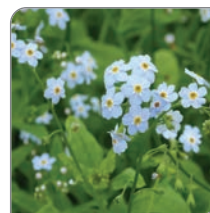

Dog-Rose
Rosa canina agg.
Feidhris

Yellow Iris/Yellow Flag
Iris pseudacorus
Feileastram

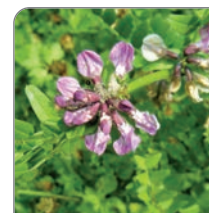

Water Mint
Mentha aquatica
Mismín mionsach

Water Forget-Me-Not
Myosotis scorpioides
Ceotharnach

White Water-lily
Nymphaea alba
Bacán bán

Bush Vetch
Vicia sepium
Peasair fhiáin

Common Ragwort
Senecio jacobaea
Buachalán buí

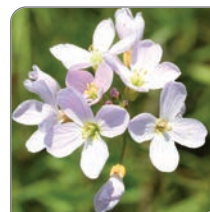

Greater Bird's-foot-trefoil
Lotus pedunculatus
Crobh éin corraigh

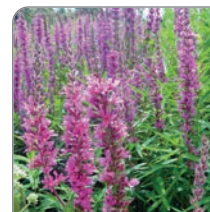

Brooklime
Veronica beccabunga
Lochall

Groundsel
Senecio vulgaris
Grúnlas

Cuckoo-flower/Lady's Smock
Cardamine pratensis
Biolar gréagáin

Purple-loosestrife
Lythrum salicaria
Creachtach

Rosebay Willowherb
Chamerion angustifolium
Lus na tine

Spear Thistle
Cirsium vulgare
Feochadán colgach

Dandelion
Taraxacum vulgaria
Caisearbhán

Black Bog-Rush
Schoenus nigricans
Sifin

