Convention on Biological Diversity	Rio de Janeiro 5 June 1992 -14 June, 1992	51/1995 Cm 2915
Ratification— Liechtenstein (with declaration*)	19 Nov., 1997
*Declaration
“The Principality of Liechtenstein wishes to reaffirm the importance it attaches to transfers of technology and to biotechnology in order to ensure the conservation and sustainable use of biological diversity. The compliance with intellectual property rights constitutes an essential element for the implementation of policies for technology transfer and co-investment.
For the Principality of Liechtenstein, transfers of technology and access to biotechnology, as defined in the text of the Convention on Biological Diversity, will be carried out in accordance with article 16 of the said Convention and in compliance with the principles and rules of protection of intellectual property, in particular multilateral and bilateral agreements signed or negotiated by the Contracting Parties to this Convention.
The Principality of Liechtenstein will encourage the use of the financial mechanism established by the Convention to promote the voluntary transfer of intellectual property rights held by Liechtenstein operators, in particular as regards the granting of licences, through normal commercial mechanisms and decisions, while ensuring adequate and effective protection of property rights.”

Ratification—

Czech Republic (with reservations*)

25 Feb., 1998

*Reservations

Reservation to the inclusion of the following species in Appendix II of the Convention: Canis lupus, Ursus arctos, Bubo bubo, Buteo buteo, Buteo lagopus, Accipiter gentilis and Falco tinnunculus with respect to the current proliferation of these species in the territory of the Czech Republic, with respect to the need for regulation of nutrition specialists and with respect to the current use of falconry. In the event of an emergency the regime corresponding to the species specified in Appendix II shall be applied to all the above mentioned wild fauna species.

Reservation to the inclusion of Capra aegagrus in Appendix II of the Convention with respect to the existence of breeding only in game-parks of genetically unsuitable animals of this species which is not indigenous to the Czech Republic.

Reservation to the inclusion in Appendix IV of the Convention of semi-automatic or automatic weapons with a magazine capable of holding more than two rounds of ammunition with respect to Act No. 23/1962 on gamekeeping as amended by later regulations and Ordinance No. 134/1996 on the Implementation of the Act on Gamekeeping, which permit the use of such weapons for hunting.

Note—

On 13 March 1997, the Secretary General of the Council of Europe, as depositary, received from the Government of Norway the following objection, dated 6 March 1997, referring to amendments to the Convention and interpretation with regard to Geographical coverage.

On behalf of the Norwegian Government the Directorate for Nature Management would like to notify an objection to the inclusion of the plant species Rheum rhaponticum L in Appendix I of the Convention. The reason why Norway has come to this conclusion is that Rheum rhaponticum L has been introduced to Norway, and that its inclusion in Appendix I from our point of view, comes into conflict with the objectives of Article 11-2b of the Convention, which call for the strict control of non-native species. According to our present state of knowledge Rheum rhaponticum L has been used as an ornamental and medicinal

CONSERVATION (continued) plant, and is thought to originate from Middle Asia. Finally, however, we would like to inform you that our objection does not imply that Norway at present have any intentions of changing her management practice concerning this species. Concerning the adopted list of marine species for the inclusion in Appendices II and III, Norway understands that these listings only apply to the geographical area of the Mediterranean Sea, as it is reflected in Article 1.1 of the Convention for the Protection of the Marine Environment and the Coastal Region of the Mediterranean adopted in Barcelona on 16 February 1976 and amended on 15 June 1995. It reads: «Article 1 GEOGRAPHICAL COVERAGE 1. For the purposes of this Convention, the Mediterranean Sea Area shall mean the maritime waters of the Mediterranean Sea proper, including its gulfs and seas, bounded to the west by the meridian passing through Cape Spartel lighthouse, at the entrance of the Straits of Gibraltar, and to the east by the southern limits of the Straits of the Dardanelles between Mehmetcik and Kumkale lighthouses.» This interpretation is also reflected in a letter from the Bern Convention Secretariat of 5 March 1997. Norway therefore understands that the listing of these marine species in Appendix II and III has no consequences for populations or parts of populations appearing outside this area. On this background we would like to emphasize the importance of a practice giving Parties the possibility of listing populations to the Convention. In a letter dated 7 August 1997, the Secretariat of the Council of Europe, as depositary, fixed a period of 90 days for the formulations of objections. As of 15 November 1997, no objection has been received by the Secretariat. Note— By a notifications dated 16 January 1998, and 16 March 1998, the Secretary General of the Council of Europe, as depositary, circulated copies of amended Appendix I—Strictly protected Flora Species, Appendix II—Strictly protected Fauna Species, Appendix III—Protected Fauna Species, adopted by the Standing Committee on 5 December 1997. Notes to Appendix II

On 3 December 1993 the Standing Committee to the Convention adopted the following Recommendation (No. 39 (1993)):

The Standing Committee of the Convention on the Conservation of European Wildlife and Natural Habitats, acting under the terms of Article 14 of the Convention Recommends that Contracting Parties take into consideration the following technical notes while implementing the Convention. Asterisks have been written where the name of the species has been changed to a more recent one, but the old name is kept in brackets. Footnotes have been used to update taxonomically some taxa.

- ¹ Mauremys caspica has been divided into two new species:

Mauremys caspica
Mauremys leprosa (Mauremys caspica leprosa)

- ² Coluber jugularis has been divided into two new species:

Coluber jugularis
Coluber caspius (Coluber jugularis caspius)

- ³ Coluber najadum has been divided into two new species:

Coluber najadum
Coluber rubriceps (Coluber najadum rubriceps)

- ⁴ Vipera lebetina has been divided into two new species:

Vipera lebetina
Vipera schweizeri (Vipera lebetina schweizeri)

- ⁵ Salamandra atra has been divided into two new species:

Salamandra atra
Salamandra lanzai (Salamandra atra lanzai)

⁶ Discus defloratus: This species is no longer recognised as a taxonomically valid species as it was described from a few specimens, now recognised as belonging to a different species of Discus.

*Declarations [Translation]
The Government of the Republic of Cuba declares, in conformity with article III(1)(a)(iii) of the Convention, that there is a colonial enclave in its territory—the Guantanamo Naval Base—a part of Cuban national territory over which the Cuban State does not exercise its rightful jurisdiction, owing to its illegal occupation by the United States of America by reason of a deceitful and fraudulent Treaty.
Consequently, for the purposes of the Convention, the Government of the Republic of Cuba does not assume any responsibility with respect to the aforesaid territory, since it does not know whether or not the United States has installed, possesses, maintains or intends to possess chemical weapons in the part of Cuban territory that it illegally occupies.
The Government of the Republic of Cuba also considers that it has the right to require that the entry of any inspection group mandated by the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons, to carry out in the territory of Guantanamo Naval Base the verification activities provided for in the Convention, should be effected through a point of entry in Cuban national territory to be determined by the Cuban Government.
The Government of the Republic of Cuba considers that, under the provisions of article XI of the Convention, the unilateral application by a State party to the Convention against another State party of any restriction which would restrict or impede trade and the development and promotion of scientific and technological knowledge in the field of chemistry for industrial, agricultural, research, medical, pharmaceutical or other purposes not prohibited under the Convention, would be incompatible with the object and purpose of the Convention.
The Government of the Republic of Cuba designates the Ministry of Science, Technology and Environment, in its capacity as the national authority of the Republic of Cuba for the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons and on Their Destruction, as the body of the central administration of the State responsible for organizing, directing, monitoring and supervising the activities aimed at preparing the Republic of Cuba to fulfil the obligations it is assuming as a State party to the aforementioned Convention.

The Republic of Chile wishes to emphasise once again its commitment to the principle of the peaceful settlement of disputes and the ban on the use of threats and force, in the sense in which the two principles currently apply. At the same time the Republic of Chile would reconfirm its agreement with the principle of free choice of the means of resolving conflicts in a peaceful manner.

European Convention on Extradition	Paris 13 Dec., 1957	97/1991 Cm 1762
Note— In a letter dated 3 December 1997, registered at the Secretariat of the Council of Europe, as depositary, on 5 December 1997, the Government of Austria made the following declaration: (See Treaty Series No. 81 (1997) Cm 3923 Pg. 8) The Government of Austria declares that Romania's declaration concerning Article 6, paragraph 1 (a) and (b) and Article 21, paragraph 5, of the Convention is interpreted by Austria in the way that persons who have been granted asylum in Romania will be placed on an equal footing with Romanian nationals only in the event of a request for extradition or transit through Romania's territory by the persecuting State and that, in that case, such persons will neither be extradited nor transited through Romania. The declaration by Romania concerning Article 6, paragraph 1 (a) and (b) and Article 21, paragraph 5, is compatible with the aim and purpose of the Convention only if the extradition or transit through Romania's territory to a third State of persons granted asylum in Romania is not refused solely on the grounds that those persons are treated as Romanian nationals.
Note— In a letter dated 2 December 1997, registered at the Secretariat of the Council of Europe, as depositary, on 5 December 1997, the Government of Israel made the following declaration: In regard to Article 23 of the Convention, the Government of the State of Israel requests that the documents to be produced by the requesting Party be translated into English or Hebrew.

*Reservations and Declarations
Declarations The Republic of Croatia recognizes for an indefinite period of time, in accordance with Article 25 of the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, Article 6 of Protocol No. 4 and Article 7 of Protocol No. 7, the competence of the European Commission of Human Rights to deal with petitions addressed to the Secretary General of the Council of Europe by any person, non-governmental organization or group of individuals claiming to be the victim of a violation of the rights set forth in the Convention and its Protocols, where the facts of the alleged violation of these rights occur after the Convention and its Protocols have come into force in respect of the Republic of Croatia. The Republic of Croatia recognises for an indefinite period of time, in accordance with Article 46 of the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, Article 6 of Protocol No. 4 and Article 7 of Protocol No. 7 as compulsory ipso facto and without special agreement the jurisdiction of the European Court of Human Rights in all

In such cases the Administrative Court in principle decides in closed session. The relevant provision of the Croatian law referred to above is Article 34, paragraph 1, of the Law on Administrative Disputes, which reads as follows: "In administrative disputes the Administrative Court decides in closed session." †Reservations and Declarations [Translation] 1. The Republic of Moldova declares that it will be unable to guarantee compliance with the provisions of the Convention in respect of omissions and acts committed by the organs of the self-proclaimed Trans-Dniester republic within the territory actually controlled by such organs, until the conflict in the region is finally settled. 2. In accordance with Article 64 of the Convention, the Republic of Moldova formulates a reservation to Article 4, with a view to retaining the possibility of enforcing criminal sentences in the form of non-custodial forced labour, as provided for in Article 27 of the Criminal Code, and also administrative sentences in the form of forced labour, as provided for in Article 30 of the Code of Administrative Offences. This reservation shall be effective for one year from the date of the Convention's entry into force in respect of the Republic of Moldova. 3. In accordance with Article 64 of the Convention, the Republic of Moldova formulates a reservation to Article 5, paragraph 3, with a view to extending the validity of an arrest warrant issued by the public prosecutor as set out in Article 25 of Law No. 902-XII on the Prokuratura of the Republic of Moldova of 29 January 1992. The reservation shall be effective for six months following the Convention's entry into force in respect of the Republic of Moldova. 4. In accordance with Article 64 of the Convention, the Republic of Moldova formulates a reservation to Article 5 with a view to retaining the possibility of applying disciplinary sanctions to soldiers in the form of arrest warrants issued by superior officers, as laid down in Articles 46, 51-55, 57-61 and 63-66 of the Disciplinary Regulations of the Armed Forces, adopted under Law No. 776-XII of 13 March 1996. 5. The Republic of Moldova interprets the provisions set out in the second sentence of Article 2 of the first Additional Protocol as precluding additional financial obligations for the State in respect of philosophically or religiously oriented schools, other than those provided for in domestic legislation. 6. In accordance with Articles 25 and 46 of the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, the Republic of Moldova recognises the right of individual petition to the European Commission of Human Rights and the jurisdiction of the European Court of Human Rights, ipso jure and without any special agreement, on condition of reciprocity on the part of the High Contracting Parties in all matters

Note—
On 13 January 1998, the Secretary-General of the United Nations, as depositary, received from the Government of Spain the following declaration recognizing the competence of the Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination:
[Translation]
The Spanish Government declares, with regard to the provisions of article 14 of the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination, that it recognizes the competence of the Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination to receive and consider communications from individuals or groups of individuals within the jurisdiction of Spain claiming to be victims of violations by the Spanish State of any of the rights set forth in that Convention.
Such competence shall be accepted only after appeals to national jurisdictional bodies have been exhausted, and it must be exercised within three months following the date of the final judicial decision.

HUMAN RIGHTS (continued) “The Government of Sweden has examined the general reservation made by the Government of Saudi Arabia at the time of its accession to the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination. The Government of Sweden notes that the said reservation is a reservation of a general kind in respect of the provisions of the Convention which may be in conflict with the precepts of the Islamic Shariah. The Government of Sweden is of the view that this general reservation raises doubts as to the commitment of Saudi Arabia to the object and purpose of the Convention and would recall that, according to article 20, paragraph 2, of the Convention, a reservation incompatible with the object and purpose of this Convention shall not be permitted. It is in the common interest of States that treaties to which they have chosen to become parties are respected, as to their object and purpose, by all parties and that States are prepared to undertake any legislative changes necessary to comply with their obligations under the treaties. The Government of Sweden is further of the view that general reservations of the kind made by the Government of Saudi Arabia, which do not clearly specify the provisions of the Convention to which they apply and the extent of the derogation therefrom, contribute to undermining the basis of international treaty law. The Government of Sweden therefore objects to the aforesaid general reservation made by the Government of Saudi Arabia to the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination. This objection does not preclude the entry into force of the Convention between Saudi Arabia and Sweden. The Convention will thus become operative between the two States without Saudi Arabia benefitting from this reservation.”

Note— On 26 December 1997, the Secretary-General of the United Nations, as depositary, received from the Government of The Netherlands the following objection concerning the declarations made by the Government of Thailand upon Accession. (See Treaty Series No. 41 (1997) Cm 3697 pgs. 15 and 16) “The Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands has examined the declarations made by the Kingdom of Thailand at the time of its accession to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights. With respect to the declaration concerning article 6 paragraph 5, the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands wishes to declare the following. It is grateful for the information on the Thai Penal Code, and has studied it with care. It notes that, as the Thai declaration states ‘in theory, sentence of death may be imposed for crimes committed by persons below eighteen years, but not below seventeen years’, thus no legal prohibition to impose the sentence of death for crimes committed by persons below eighteen years but not below seventeen years exists. Therefore the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands considers this declaration as a reservation. The Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands objects to the aforesaid declaration, since it follows from the text and history of the Covenant that the declaration is incompatible with the text, the object and purpose of article 6 of the Covenant, which according to article 4 lays down the minimum standard for the protection of the right to life.

On 14 August 1997, the Secretary-General of the United Nations, as depositary, received from the Government of Portugal the following declaration regarding the reservations made by the Government of Algeria upon Accession. (See Treaty Series No. 96 (1996) Cm 3528 pgs. 25 and 26)
“The Government of Portugal has examined the reservations made by Algeria regarding article 2, article 9, paragraph 2, article 15, paragraph 4, and article 16 of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women made at the time of its accession to the said Convention.
Portugal is of the view that these reservations which seek to limit the obligations of the respective State by invoking its natural law, may raise doubts to the commitment of Algeria to the object and purpose of the Convention and, moreover, contribute to undermining the basis of International Treaty Law.
According to paragraph 2 of article 28 of the Convention general reservations of such a kind are incompatible with the object and the purpose of the Convention and shall not be permitted.
Portugal therefore objects to the aforesaid reservations which will not preclude the entry into force of the Convention in its entirety between Algeria and Portugal”.
On 4 August 1998, the Secretary-General of the United Nations, as depositary, received from the Government of Sweden the following communication concerning the reservations made by the Government of Algeria upon Accession (See Treaty Series No. 96 (1996) Cm 3528 pg 25 and 26)
“The Government of Sweden has examined the reservations made by Algeria regarding articles 2, 9, 15, paragraph 4, and 16 of the Convention which seek to make these articles subject to the general reservation of national law. It is of the view that these reservations may raise doubts as to the commitment of Algeria to the object and purpose of the Convention.

In accordance with Article 8, first paragraph, of the regulation relating to the Convention of 1 July 1969 on the Mutual Recognition of Portable Fire Arms Tests, the Federal Republic of Germany enters a reservation against Decision XXIV-20 "Interpretative Note".
Grounds
In view of the substance and implications of that decision, the Federal Republic of Germany feels the need to examine it further and cannot therefore guarantee rapid transposition of the said decision into the national law on fire arms tests.
The Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany would be grateful if the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Foreign Trade and Development Cooperation of the Kingdom of Belgium could confirm that it has received the original of this Note Verbale.

In a note dated 26 September 1997, received by the International Maritime Organization, as depositary, the Government of the Philippines stated: The STCW '95 entered into force on 01 February 1997. Recognizing the importance of determining the Administration for purposes of the STCW '95, His Excellency, the President of the Republic of the Philippines, issued Executive Order No. 396, dated 30 January 1997, designating the Maritime Industry Authority (referred hereto as "MARINA"), as the Lead Agency in the implementation in the Philippines of the STCW '95. The MARINA has been issuing Endorsement of Certificates to Filipino seafarers under and pursuant to the STCW 1978 Convention since 1988 and up to the present, and will continue to do so including all transitional measures as regards issuance, recognition and endorsement required by STCW 1978. All other requirements of STCW '95 which have become mandatory on February 1, 1997, are being required and approved by the Administration in conjunction with the other relevant government agencies in the Philippines. Specifically, the MARINA has already prepared and adopted its Quality Standards System (QSS) Manual governing the issuance of Endorsement of Certificates required under STCW, in accordance with Regulation 1/8 (.2). To ensure that the mandates of all relevant government agencies are carried out in accordance with timetables and the STCW '95, the MARINA has submitted to His Excellency, the President of the Philippines, the required Quarterly Report, including delineation of the responsibilities of each government agency, providing specific dates of accomplishing these responsibilities under the Regulations of the STCW '95, which include the identification of maritime schools and training centres which are authorized and qualified to offer the courses or programs in compliance with the STCW '95. Mandated to provide overall policy and operational directions in the implementation of the Revised Convention, all policy issues are resolved in the STCW Executive Committee (ExCom) created under Executive Order No. 396. In order to expedite the resolution of issues, the ExCom established the Technical Committee composed of representatives from the members to ensure effective, prompt and close coordination/interaction between and among the member-agencies. To further ensure the coordination efforts of MARINA, the ExCom Secretariat is established in the MARINA composed of MARINA Senior officials and under the direct supervision of the MARINA Administrator to provide technical, administrative and support services in the implementation of the Revised STCW '95 Code. In closing, the Philippine Administration of the STCW '95 is exerting its utmost best in close coordination with government agencies responsible for education, training, licensure, and health examinations, to ensure that all Filipino seafarers are properly certificated, qualified, competent and medically fit for the performance of functions onboard sea-going ships in accordance with the STCW '95.

Note—
In a depositary notification, dated 6 February 1998, the International Maritime Organization, communicated the text of the following Statement from the Government of Germany.
The ships which have been granted authorization in accordance with the statement are Bonn Express, Heidelberg Express, Hannover Express, Leverkusen Express, Dresden Express, Hoechst Express, Ludwigshafen Express, Essen Express, Stuttgart Express, Hamburg Express, Cap Finisterre, Cap Polonia, Cap Trafalgar and Cap Roca.
1. The Maritime Safety Committee, at its sixty-first session, endorsed the new series of STCW.5 circulars for disseminating information received from Member Governments on the conduct of trials or the objection to particular trials or the authorization of an operation after successful trials in accordance with regulation I/13 of the 1978 STCW Convention, as amended 1995.
2. Germany has carried out trials on a bridge watchkeeping system during periods of darkness under defined conditions on advanced ships. The result of the trials have been submitted in accordance with regulation I/13, paragraph 5 and have been updated regularly (NAV 38/8, NAV 38/INF.5, NAV 39/7, NAV 40/10/1). In the updated final summary report of the German field trials, which will be submitted to the Organization (MSC 69/INF.6), it has been confirmed, that no casualty due to solo watchkeeping during periods of darkness had happened within the trial phase of ten years.
3. Furthermore a comparative risk assessment of different scenarios has been performed by the German Institute of Ship Operation, Maritime Traffic and Simulation, ISSUS, in order to substantiate the empirical results of the field trials. The outcome has also been submitted to MSC 66 (MSC 66/7/4 and MSC 66/INF.15).
4. Germany concludes, on the basis of both trials and risk assessment, that the bridge watchkeeping system provides at least the same degree of safety and pollution prevention as provided by the STCW regulations on watchkeeping.
5. In accordance with regulation I/13, paragraph 8 STCW 95 Germany has therefore permitted the vessels mentioned in Annex, all flying the German flag and fulfilling the requirements of IMO (MSC/Circ.566) as well as the additional German national provisions on a bridge watchkeeping system for periods of darkness on advanced ships, individually to continue to operate this system pending a decision of MSC 69. For each vessel an exceptional authorization has been issued.
Note—
In a depositary notification, dated 13 January 1998, the International Maritime Organization, communicated the text of the following statement from the Government of The Netherlands:

1. Representatives of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Federal Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia met in Belgrade on 14 October 1996 to consider the position of bilateral agreements and arrangements between the two countries.
2. It was recalled that, in a Declaration of 27 April 1992 the Federal Government of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia had affirmed that it would strictly abide by all commitments that the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia had assumed internationally. It was also recalled that, on 10 April 1996, the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs had sent a message to the President of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in which inter alia the United Kingdom had confirmed that, as appropriate, it regarded treaties and agreements in force to which the United Kingdom and the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia were parties as remaining in force between the United Kingdom and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia
3. In light of paragraph 2 above, representatives of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Federal Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia confirmed that the bilateral agreements and arrangements that were in force between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and which are listed below remain in force between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, without prejudice to the possibility that other bilateral agreements and arrangements might remain in force between the two countries in accordance with international law.
