

THE
HOLY BIBLE,
OLD AND NEW TESTAMENTS,

TRANSLATED OUT OF

THE ORIGINAL TONGUES;

AND WITH THE

FORMER TRANSLATIONS DILIGENTLY COMPARED AND REVISED.

NEW YORK:

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY,

INSTITUTED IN THE YEAR MDCCXVI.

1848.

Renovated in 1961 through an act of kindness and friendship by James Overall, a Christian gentleman.
J.L.B.

1086

FAMILY RECORD.

	Solid In.	Pints. In.
5	7.6
4	15.2
2	2.5
0	21.3
7	4.9

	Pints. In.	Pints. In.	Pints. In.
0	1.6
0	0.8
3	3.4
1	1.1
0	5.1
0	2.9

	S.	D.
1	16	5.1
34	5	8.6
1	1	10.3
	D.	F.
0	7	3
1	3	2
2	7	0
64	7	0
0	7	3
0	0	1.5
0	0	0.8
0	0	0.4

November
 December
 December
 January
 January
 February
 February
 March
 March

set to the 3d
 from the 3d wing, from the catch, from the

	DEATHS.	DEATH
	Wolf Virginia Vallandigham deported his wife over 25-1808 Lizzie Whitecide Lovell died May 25th-1893. Sue Good Lovell died June 4th-1893. Fannie G. Vallandigham was born Mar 23rd 1858 Annie Vallandigham was born Aug 9th 1862 Mary Vallandigham was born Jan 25th 1866 William Lunn was born Oct 15th 1860 A. C. Vallandigham was born Dec 16th 1823 Fannie M. Vallandigham was born June 15th 1827 Mary Virginia Vallandigham was born May 24th 1826 Mary J. Vallandigham was born Mar 17th 1829 Gracie Merrill was born May 26th 1848 Eliza Rose Merrill was born Aug 14th 1848 William Wilkins Merrill was born Jan 26th 1853 Fannie Vallandigham Lunn was born Jan 14th 1841 Miss Mary Lovell was born Dec 18th 1866 Albertina R. Smith married June 25th 1888 changed her name to Edna Carter born Jan 20th 1866	Fannie M. deported her Emily R. died Apr 1 Mary S. D. died Feb A. C. Vallandigham died Mar 20 8 o'clock 1872 William Lunn was drowned about 8 miles Lunn on Green June 16th 1871 A. C. Vallandigham Fannie M. M. marriage Dec A. C. Vallandigham Merrill - were May 25th 1872 A. C. Vallandigham Bowling over Oct 24th 1872 William Lunn Vallandigham Sept 21st 1872 Edna Carter born Jan 20th 1866

FAMILY RECORD.

DEATHS.	DEATHS.
Virginia Vallandigham died this life Dec 25 1853 in Whiteside Lovell May 25th 1893. Ford Lovell died 4th 1893. nie G. Vallandigham born Mar 23rd 1855 nie Vallandigham was Aug 7th 1862 Vallandigham was born 25th 1866 im Turner was born 15th 1862 Vallandigham was born 16th 1823 nie M. Vallandigham born June 16th 1829 Virginia Vallandigham born May 24th 1826 J. Vallandigham was Mar 17th 1829 Meredith was born Aug 26th 1848 Bell Merrill was born Aug 14th 1848 W. W. Merrill was born Jan 26th 1868 Vallandigham Luree was born 4th 18418 May Luree was born Dec 18th 1866 John Luree was born June 26th 1862 Edna Carter Lovell - 1892 born in 1891	Fannie Vallandigham departed this life June 7th 1854 Emily R. Vallandigham died Apr 13th 1854 Mary J. Vallandigham died Feb 6th 1895. A. C. Vallandigham, died Mar 20th 1896 - 8 o'clock 15 minutes William Turner Lovell was drowned in Lumberton river about 8 miles from Hendersonville Tenn. on Friday morning at 7 o'clock June 16th 1899 A. C. Vallandigham Mr. D. and Fannie Mr. Chambers were united in marriage Dec 18th 1848 A. C. Vallandigham Mr. D. and Virginia Merrill were united in marriage May 25th 1867. A. C. Vallandigham Mr. D. and George Bowling were united in marriage Oct 29th 1861 William Turner Lovell and Fannie L. Vallandigham were united in mar- riage 1st 1879. Funeral of John died 22 days after his death at 11 A.M. Oct 21st 1892 Edna Carter Lovell - 1892 born Jan 31 1891
	306

FAMILY RECORD.

BIRTHS	DEATHS
Edgar McNeill Born Oct 17-1876 Annie V McNeill Jan 14-1881 Elizabeth McNeill Born May 28-1903 E Howard McNeill Nov 5-1905 Benton Tennessee Co. Jas Bailey Born June 4-1888 Annie May Bailey Dec 3-1885 Florence C Bailey Aug 21-1905 Jas Lovell Bailey Dec 18-1907 - John William Bailey Feb 4 1916 New Portland Oregon Co. Mary Frances & husband San Bernardino Calif. Annie Elizabeth Bailey Nov 11, 1947 Nashville Tenn	Sol Lovell was given 25 Frannie V. Lance by his mother Nov 12th 1886 Sol was born Feb 1st 1886 — Jennie S. Lovell died Nov 20 1960
Melissa White Bailey July 23-1951 Laramie Wyoming
Mary Wilson Huddleston Sept. 28-1962 W. T. Anaheim Calif. William Bradley Huddleston Mar. 27-1970 Valley Calif.

DEATH COMES

Dr. A. C. Vallandigham at His Daughter's Home Near Mitchellville
Friday Morning

AFTER A MONTH'S SEVERE ILLNESS.

Biographical Sketch of Him—Descendant of a Noble Line of Ancestors.

FOR YEARS A CITIZEN OF FRANKLIN.

Dr. A. C. Vallandigham died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. T. Lovell, near Mitchellville, Tenn., early Friday morning, after an illness of about a month's duration. The funeral occurred Saturday from the Christian church in this city, with services by Eld. Godwin and Rev. G. T. Thompson. The interment took place at Green Lawn. Three daughters survive. They are Mrs. W. T. Lovell, near Mitchellville, Tenn.; Mrs. S. B. Richards, of Russellville, and Mrs. R. S. Wilkerson, of this city. A thoughtful solicitude for their welfare caused the provision of a policy on his life of $10,000, which will go to them.

Dr. A. C. Vallandigham, born Dec. 15, 1824, died March 20, 1866. Son of John and Anna Bainbridge Vallandigham, grandson of Lewis and Elizabeth Bruce Vallandigham.

Thus was Dr. Vallandigham related to Aymer de Valence, Earl of Pembroke, and guardian of Scotland under Edward, King of England; and also to the noble Bruce, whose heroic valor freed Scotland from English tyranny. His grandparents proved their patriotism in our own country's contest for freedom, Lewis and Elizabeth Vallandigham bearing all the hardships of war, and fighting side by side throughout the revolution.

After our Independence was established they immigrated from Virginia, about 1785, and joined the pioneers in settling Kentucky.

This is only one instance showing how the East gave abundantly its chivalry and strength with which to build the West. And it were wise. While we had demonstrated our strength against outward oppression, there was internal discord and as against that we were weak. It was the old tale of the twigs, together we could not be broken apart we easily rent. The twigs took the struggle with many val-dour and died in Jan'y. 1866.

Vallandigham was a man of fine presence and address. He was by nature impulsive and quick to resent wrong, but being magnanimous forgave as quickly and never cherished malice. His politeness was universal. Great and small he met upon equal terms and none there were so poor, or weak, or low that he would not do them reverence. Hence his friends were legion, and he gladly sacrificed his own for the pleasure of his fellows. He was a Democrat of the "old school." Internal differences disturbed not his loyalty. Neither abundance of silver nor scarcity of gold could divide him from his party, nor influence a step to right or left from "the path direct" leading to party supremacy. He was a member of the Christian church, a mason and an odd-fellow; and his life exemplified their teachings. He reckoned rapidly and concluded firmly, and being of strong convictions held his beliefs steadfastly, but was broad minded and liberal, allowing others their convictions as freely as he claimed his own. He has been a great sufferer for many years, and the stout-heartedness with which he endured disease while it "sapped his life away" was akin to heroism.

But "death is the fitting end of all."

After the tender, loving attention of his daughters and sons-in-law, through the long watch of weeks, the light went out on Friday morning last. Thus was a life completed, thus a story ended.

"Strange is it not? That of the Myriads who Before us pass'd the door of darkness through,
None returns to tell us of the road,
Which to discover we must travel too."
"Can friend lose friend? Believe it not!
The tissue whereof life is wrought,
Weaving the separate into one;
Nor end hath, nor beginning; span
From source threads of destiny.
Finer than thought of man can see,
God takes not back His gifts divine, While day-soul lives thy friend is mine."

root, their pendant branches drooping to the West, banyan-like, found gracious soil, and soon their giant boles sent back life and vigor to the composite parent stem. It was the West that made us a nation strong, but this strength is largely due to the independence inherent in the race, enforcing the truth that the people are the source of power, and that society and its forms are growths and not creations.

Dr. Vallandigham was raised on a farm, a plain man, and never lost his hold upon the plain people. He graduated from the Louisville Medical College in 1845. Located in Owen county, Dr. A. C. Vallandigham, so long a citizen of Franklin, died at his home the 20th inst.

His last hours were cheered by the presence of his three daughters and his sons-in-law, Mr. Sam Richards, Richard Wilkerson and William Lovell.

For three weeks the Doctor was entirely helpless. His daughter Fannie was by his side night and day from the moment of his attack Feb. 1st.

At the critical turn in his case his daughters Anna and Mary and their husbands came to the rescue of Fannie and Mr. Lovell who were thoroughly exhausted by incessant vigil at the bedside for weeks.

The presence of his two daughters at this critical moment was as a visitation of angels, and so appreciated by the father. They took the place of Fannie, now helpless from fatigue, never to leave him for a moment until death closed the scene.

Death, under the circumstances, was robbed of its sting in some degree by the unremitting attention of the loving hearts of his family, daughters and sons-in-law.

"God help and comfort the hearts of his affectionate daughters.

Nothing was left undone that could be done by his three sons-in-law to alleviate his affliction.

Though the Doctor had his foibles, he possessed as noble a heart as ever throbbed in human breast, equalled only by the kindness of his loving-hearted daughters, who will ever be to me of blessed memory, as well as the mother who bore them. D.

moved thence to Woodford, thence to Warren and thence to Simpson in 1863. He was elected to the State Senate in 1867, and Public Binder of Kentucky in 1872. In 1848 he married Fannie M. Chambers, who died in 1853. In 1857 he married Mrs. Virginia Merritt, daughter of James Kelley of Warren county. To this marriage was born one daughter, Fannie V., now the wife of W. T. Lovell. His second wife died in 1859 and in 1861 he married Mrs. Mary J. Bowling, daughter of Miles and Mary Baird, of Scotch-Irish stock and born in North Carolina. There are two daughters to this union, Annie, now the wife of R. S. Wilkerson and Mary, the wife of Samuel Richards, of

5 of 6

Death of

Mr. J. I. dispatch of his brother Vallandigham died that Franklin.

Dr. Vallandigham years in the a record as and honor years he was his sister, many years health had time and he main closel

His Daughter

LINNESS.

—Descen-ce of

ANKLIN.

am died
ter, Mrs.
chellville,
ing, after th's dura-
red Satnurch in
Eld. God-
hompson
at Green-survive-well, near
s. S. B. and Mrs.
city. A their wet-fa porey
ch will go

iam, born 29, 1896.

ainbridge
of Lewis
allendig
gham re-ence. Earl rofan of

King of the noble
older friend tyrannved their country's vis and

and right lost the ence was xed from d joined Kentucky
ce showom and gir with
And it
a demonike out-
was in-inst that the pletter up to

Inselfield, Mrs. Mary Vallandigham died in Jany. 1895. Dr.

Vallandigham was a man of fine presence and address. He was by nature impulsive and quick to resent a wrong, but being magnanimous forgave as quickly, and never cherished malice. His politeness was universal. Great and small he met upon equal terms, and none there were so poor, or weak, or low that he would not do them reverence. Hence his friends were legion, and he gladly sacrificed his own for the pleasure of his fellows. He was a Democrat of the "old school."

Internal differences disturbed not his loyalty. Neither abundance of silver nor scarcity of gold could divide him from his party, nor influence a step to right or left from "the path direct" leading to party supremacy. He was a member of the Christian church, a mason and an odd-fellow; and his life exemplified their teachings.

He reckoned rapidly and concluded firmly, and being of strong convictions held his beliefs steadfastly, but was broad minded and liberal allowing others their convictions as freely as he claimed his own. He has been a great sufferer for many years, and the stout heartedness with which he endured disease while it "sapped his life away" was akin to heroism.

But "death is the fitting end of all."

After the tender, loving attention, of his daughters and sons-in-law, through the long watch of weeks, the light went out on Friday morning last. Thus was a life completed, thus a story ended.

"Strange is not? That of the Myriads who Before us pass'd the door of darkness through,
Not one returns to tell us of the road,
Which to discover we must travel too."
"Our friend less friend? Believe me not
The tissue whereof life is wrought
Weaving the skein into one,
Now end bath, no beginning; soon
Divided threads of destiny
Finer never thought of man can see,
God makes nothing; His gifts divine While the soul lives, her friend remains."

root, their pendant branches drooping to the West, banyan like, found gracious soil, and soon their giant boles sent back life and vigor to the composite parent stem. It was the West that made us a nation strong, but this strength is largely due to the independence inherent in the race, enforcing the truth that the people are the source of power, and that society and its forms are growths and not creations.

Dr. Vallandigham was raised on a farm, a plain man, and never lost his hold upon the plain people. He graduated from the Louisville Medical College in

HIS LAST HOURS.

(Contributed)

Dr. A. C. Vallandigham, so long a citizen of Franklin, died at his home the 20th inst.

His last hours were cheered by the presence of his three daughters and his sons-in-law, Mr. Sam Richards, Richard Wilkerson and William Lovell.

For three weeks the Doctor was entirely helpless. His daughter Fannie was by his side night and day from the moment of his attack
Feb. 1st.

At the critical turn in his case his daughters Anna and Mary and their husbands came to the rescue of Fannie and Mr. Lovell who were thoroughly exhausted by incessant vigil at the bedside for weeks.

The presence of his two daughters at this critical moment was as a visitation of angels, and so appreciated by the father. They took the place of Fannie, now helpless from fatigue, never to leave him for a moment until death closed the scene.

Death, under the circumstances, was robbed of its sting in some degree by the unremitting attention of the loving hearts of his family, daughters and sons-in-law.

"God help and comfort the hearts of his affectionate daughters."

Nothing was left undone that could be done by his three sons-in-law to alleviate his affliction.

Though the Doctor had his foibles, he possessed as noble a heart as ever throbbed in human breast, unequalled only by the kindness of his loving-hearted daughters, who will ever be to me of blessed memory, as well as the mother who bore them.

Dr. moved thence to Woodford, thence to Warren and thence to Simpson in 1863. He was elected to the State Senate in 1867, and Public Binder of Kentucky in 1872. In 1848 he married Fannie
M. Chambers, who died in 1853.
In 1857 he married Mrs. Virginia Merritt, daughter of James Kelley of Warren county. To this marriage was born one daughter, Fannie V., now the wife of W. T.
Lovell. His second wife died in 1859 and in 1861 he married Mrs.
Mary J. Bowling, daughter of Miles and Mary Baird, of Scotch-Irish stock and born in North Carolina. There are two daughters to this union, Annie, now the wife of R. S. Wilkerson and Mary, the wife of Samuel Richards, of Death of Doctor A. C. Val- lindsayham.

Mr. J. L. Rodman received a dispatch on Friday stating that his brother-in-law, Dr. A. C.
Vallandingham, former State Senator from Simpson county, had died that day at his home in Franklin.

Dr. Vallandingham served four years in the State Senate and made a record as a high-toned, honest and honorable man. For many years he was a frequent visitor to his sister, Mrs. Rodman, and had many warm friends here. His health had been poor for some time and he was compelled to remain closely at home.

6 of 6