PREFACE

Ministers and justices who performed marriages within a county's jurisdiction were required to file a written record (return) of these events to civil authorities. The county recorder kept a register of the county's marriages based on these returns.

This book is a compilation of the earliest marriages filed for record in the Clay County, Missouri, marriage registers. The title of the book suggests that the marriages recorded took place in Clay County. Clay County was organized in January 1822, and the few marriages that took place before that date took place in adjacent Ray County, from which Clay County was formed, and were filed after the county organization date. The reader should also know that a small number took place outside the county but were filed for record here.

The marriages are presented in tabular form in the order in which they were entered in the marriage registers. Columns consist of name of groom, name of bride, date of marriage, date marriage was filed for record, name of officiant, and an indication of whether the Clay County Archives & Historical Library (CCAHL) in Liberty has the original return (R) submitted by the officiant for recording.

CCAHL is fortunate to have a large collection of original marriage returns. I compared these returns with the recorded marriages in the recorder's office for accuracy and completeness and in order to identify returns that had not been recorded and marriages that have an original return on file. Information missing is denoted by NG (Not Given).

The nearly 4,800 marriages that were copied for this publication came from Books A-E (1821-1881) and Colored (1865-1891) and from unrecorded returns on file at CCAHL.

The following table shows by register the number of marriages copied and percentage of extant returns:

Register	Period Covered	Number of Marriages (rounded)	Number of Returns (rounded)	Percentage of Returns Extant
Book A	5/3/21-2/24/42	870	230	26
Book B	12/27/41-1/28/64	1,650	790	48
Book C	4/12/63-3/29/77	1,190	880	74
Book D	2/15/72-10/22/78	380	315	83
Book E	2/10/74-12/2/81	430	395	92
Colored	9/18/65-10/20/91	255	190	75
Unrecorded returns		16	16	100
Total		4,791	2,799	58

After slaves in Missouri were freed (January 11, 1865), a separate book ("Colored") was kept in Clay County for newly sanctioned marriages. State law mandated that the names of children born before these newly legalized marriages be listed. Although the Colored register was meant to contain only those legalized marriages for 1865 and 1866, recording of Colored marriages (Colrd) in this register continued through 1891. The researcher will discover, however, that numerous Colored marriages were recorded in the regular registers instead and that some Colored marriages were recorded in both registers. Children (ch) of these parents are listed in the index under each parent's surname.

Every effort was made to copy all names and dates accurately and precisely. Spelling of the brides' and grooms' names was that written in the recorder's register. Variations in spelling were common. Where these variations in spelling were significant, both are entered, the name from the return enclosed in brackets ([]). Characters (letters and numbers) that were not legible are underlined. An exclamation point (!) takes the place of sic when a spelling or date that appears strange or incorrect has been copied verbatim. An example is the date November 31! Occasionally a marriage was recorded twice in a marriage register.

Some idiosyncrasies within registers need explanation. Book A has several page numbering sequence problems. There are two page 40s; this has been resolved by use of "40a" and "40b". Also, there are no pages numbered 41 to 49. Inadvertently positioned between pages 224 and 225 were pages 223 to 234. Finally in Book A, there are two page 194s; I changed the first 194 to "(193)". The first page in Book C is 48 because the register's index took up pages 1-47. Page 73 and 74 were blank.

Names in parentheses () in the bride's column indicate maiden name. When no name appears within a set of parentheses, this indicates that the bride was referred to in the record as "Mrs." Surname-looking names in a bride's entry (e.g., Mary Turner Smith) suggest that there was a previous marriage, but in copying these records I assumed nothing.

About 550 ministers and justices performed marriages filed during the subject period. These officiants are listed in the appendix.

The master index, as its name implies, covers all marriages entered in the recorder's registers, the names of children listed in the Colored marriage register, as well as the 16 unrecorded marriages found among the original returns at CCAHL. Besides the master index, there is a first-name index. In early records where slaves are named usually only first names are mentioned. In both indexes the letter and number are the book and page number in the original register; the researcher therefore can go directly from the index to the original register.

The researcher is encouraged to view the original record (register and return alike). In copying these marriage records I often saw rich genealogical detail, such as groom and bride's place of origin or residence, the location of the marriage if different from Clay County, the names of the parents of the bride and groom, the groom's occupation, witnesses, and location of wedding.

Researchers are fortunate to have the Clay County Archives & Historical Library's careful stewardship of many early Clay County records. In addition to the original marriage returns described, the facility has the county's early probate records, county order books, newspapers on microfilm, a large collection of title abstracts, and access to circuit court records.

Work is under way copying Books F through I, which when published will complete Clay County's nineteenth century marriages.

Pages (E) 83 and 84:

Original sheet was illegally cut out of official record, according to statement on substituted sheet by Recorder W.E. Eldridge in 1972, on which were listed names reconstructed by him from Book E's original index. Based on extant returns, compiler has reconstructed pages 83 and 84 for all but the two following names from Recorder's list.

CHAMBERS William [p. 84 on original index but no return found]]

CUTLER Nannie [p. 84 on original index but no return found]]
