

Can the British Get Britain for Nothing? A Reply to the Impossibilists. 1d.
The Crowning Glory of the Victorian Era. A Discussion of Evolution. 1d.
The Only Way with the Land. The Socialist View. 1d.

Algernon Charles Swinburne. An Anniversary Study. 1d.

Dante Gabriel Rossetti as Poet. "The World, the Flesh, and the Devil." 1d. In blue linen cover. Interesting sidelights on Morris and Swinburne.

The Evolution of the Fourth Estate; or the Historic Basis of Labour Representation. Fourth edition. 1d.

Mr. Leatham is not unknown to readers of The Clarion. He is the author of many stirring pamphlets; but he has done nothing better than this Evolution of the Fourth Estate. He has the historic instinct, has read widely, and writes with force and vivacity.—A. E. FLETCHER in The Clarion.

Was Jesus a Socialist? Eighth edition. 1d. Often attacked, never answered.

The Peasants' Revolt, or the Tragedy of a Nation. 1d. Second edition.

Admirable. . . . Very helpful.—A. E. Fletcher in The Clarion. Masterly.—Justice.

The Story and the Meaning of the Commune of Paris. Fourth edition. 1d.

Entirely admirable.—The Clarion.

In Byron's Country. 1d. Second edition. Illustrated.

Has a charming literary flavour.—Bon-Accord.

The Revival of England. 1d.

The Truth About "Hamlet." 1d. No. 1 of Shakespeare Studies.

"The Merchant of Venice." A Criticism. Second edition. 1d. No. 2 do.

What is the Good of Empire? 1d. Second edition.

Written in excellent style, and forcibly argued.—Labour Leader.

James Thomson ("B.V."), the Laureate of Pessimism. Antique paper. 1d.

An account and criticism of a great boycotted poet.

The Renaissance: Its Causes and Some Results. Antique paper. 1d.

The Place of the Novel. 1d. Second edition.

A vigorous protest against the absorbing interest in the novel manifested by the reading public, and a vigorous protest, too, against the comparative worthlessness of the average work of fiction. . . . Well worth perusal and study—and attention too.—Free Press.

Like everything from the pen of Mr. James Leatham, there is about it a freshness of thought and an independence of all stereotyped styles of expression.—Fraserburgh Herald.

Robert Burns: Scotland's Man. 1d. Second edition.

Racy, pungent, and enthusiastic.—Aberdeen Journal.

The Treatment of Robert Burns: What it Was, and What it Ought to Have Been. 1d. Second edition.

Written in an original, racy, and vigorous style, and shows Mr. Leatham's thorough acquaintance with the subject.—Aberdeen Evening Express.

We have much pleasure in recommending these two discourses as the best of their kind we have seen for many a day.—Kirriemuir Observer.

An Up-to-Date View of the French Revolution. Second edition. 1d.

The Class War. 1d. Seventh edition. With portrait and new preface.

Makes one wish to get up and straightway do something.—R. BLATCHFORD, in Clarion.

The Scope and Function of a Literary Society. 1d.

Songs for Socialists. 45 songs. 1d. The tunes given.

The Soldier's Bible. A clever homily on the pack of cards. Handy pocket size. ½d. 13 copies, post free, 5d.

* * * Send a Shilling P.O. for any 12 penny pamphlets you choose from this list.

All Penny Pamphlets are supplied at 9d. per Dozen of 13; 8s. per gross of 156.