ALBANY

Albany, the county seat of Linn County, is a city of 5400 people, beautifully situated on the Willamette River, a railroad center and the seat of important manufactures.

The location is unsurpassed. At this point the lines of the Southern Pacific and the Corvallis & Eastern Railroad Companies cross, giving Albany an important position commercially, 80 miles south of Portland, and about the same distance from Yaquina Bay, while only 65 miles to the east is the present terminus of the Corvallis & Eastern lines at Detroit, in the midst of a magnificent timber region.

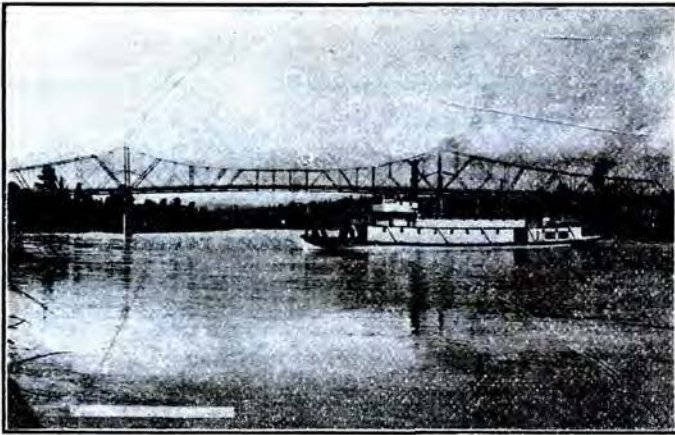

Albany is in the heart of the Willamette Valley, the trading center of Western Oregon's banner county in agricultural products, and in timber and mineral resources. Soil, climate and natural conditions tend to progress, and as the years bring gain to the farming communities round about, so is the business of the City of Albany increasing. Albany is, in credit and in respect of buying orders, in the first rank of Willamette Valley cities. Albany stores and ships more grain than any other Western Oregon town.

The founders of Albany selected a sightly and healthful site for a city. Drainage is perfect. Albany has a sewer system as good as any in the West. The city water supply comes from the Santiam River, a sparkling mountain stream. Public utilities are of a creditable order. A modern electric plant furnishes light and power at moderate cost. Albany is a home city, good to look at, attractive to the order-loving citizen desiring to live in a good climate, with good institutional advantages.

Albany is a supporter of schools and churches. The public schools are well equipped in every way. Three fine buildings, costing about $40,000, are the home of the primary and grammar grades of the public schools, while a High School course, accredited at the State University, is maintained. Albany College is of denominational origin, founded by the Presbyterian church, offering splendid opportunities for higher education to the young people of this section, many students from distant points come to Albany for its educational opportunities.

There is a well-equipped fire department, consisting of four volunteer companies, two steam fire engines, a chemical engine, and a hook and ladder brigade. The good work of this department is well attested by the fact that Albany has suffered no disastrous fires.

The water supply of the city, brought fourteen miles from the Santiam by canal and pipe lines, in addition to furnishing pure water for domestic purposes, affords abundant power for mills and other manufacturing enterprises at low cost.

The buildings of Albany are well and substantially built.

Stores and public buildings excite favorable comment in visitors. Many handsome residences, in beautiful grounds, are features of this place. Many new buildings are being erected at the present time, the cost of building here being very favorable from an owner's standpoint.

There are fourteen churches—Baptist, Catholic, Christian, Cumberland Presbyterian, Congregational, Episcopal, Evangelical, Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal, M. E. South, Linn County Court House.

Presbyterian, United Presbyterian and Universalist, several of these organizations with exceptionally fine buildings.

Albany has good hotels, four in number, an opera house with good seating capacity and modern theater arrangements.

The banks of Albany, First National and the bank of J. W. Cusick & Co., are among the strongest financial institutions in the state, doing their part toward the establishment of new enterprises and the maintenance of good commercial feeling.

Albany has a splendidly equipped woolen mill of large capacity, employing many hands; a chair factory, the largest on the coast; two fine flouring mills, excellent warehouse and elevator systems, a foundry doing high-class work, two ice factories, two creameries of large capacity turning out butter which has repeatedly taken honors in close competition, two sash and door factories and planing mills, a brewery, a carriage and organ factory, two tanneries, making excellent leather, a bottling works, and a number of smaller manufacturing undertakings, while the recent establishment of the Corvallis & Eastern machine and repair shops in Albany gives employment to many skilled mechanics at good wages.

Albany has two live and ably-edited daily and weekly newspapers, the Morning Herald and the Democrat.

Situated as this city is in a region favored by Nature in climate, natural beauty, convenience and wonderful productiveness, with fruit, grain, vegetables, hops and dairy products as the constant basis of trade, with property values still reasonable, with opportunities in so many lines of occupation attracting new capital and fresh brains and muscle from abroad, its citizens view the future with confidence, expectant of the growth and prosperity to which every sign points.

BROWNSVILLE

Was first settled in 1852 and incorporated as a city in 1875. It is beautifully located about halfway up the Willamette Valley at a point where the foothills come down to meet the level bottom land, and is the heart of a very prosperous farming and stock raising district. The town is about 22 miles southeast of Albany, the county seat, and 95 miles south of Portland, on the Woodburn-Springfield branch of the Southern Pacific Ry. and the Calapooia River. The country is rolling, the soil fertile and the thousands of sheep grazing upon the foothills and mountain slopes contribute to the general prosperity, which is largely augmented through the great manufacturing plant of the Brownsville Woolen Mills, covering several acres of ground, at the junction of one of the finest water power plants, whose constant and steady power puts into life the innumerable spindles and looms on which the famous Brownsville cloth and blankets are made. The Calapooia River, an excellent water power stream, also furnishes power to operate the flouring and planing mills. This ideal manufacturing spot has been forging steadily ahead for thirty years, and the splendid natural resources and shipping facilities assure its steady progress and growth. As a residential town, it has every advantage, there being 2 good schools with 7 teachers; Baptist, Christian, M. E. South, Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian churches. There are no saloons and the people are noted for their hospitality. The following organizations have local lodges here: I. O. O. F., Knights of Pythias and Modern Woodmen. The local bank is capitalized for $25,000. There is an opera house seating 500, an electric light plant, a live newspaper, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, W. U. Telegraph; also telephone service and mail daily. Stages run daily in summer to Crawfordsville and Sweet Home. Population about 1,200.

HARRISBURG.

On the Willamette River and the East Side division of the Southern Pacific Ry., 105 miles south of Portland and 26 miles south of Albany, the county seat. Settled in 1853 and incorporated as a city in 1860. It has at this time an assessed valuation of $200,000, with no bonded indebtedness, which is proof of the city's flourishing condition. The vicinity consists of rich prairie land, and is very productive in the raising of wheat, oats and barley, which comprise a large portion of the shipments from this point, while hop growing is becoming an important industry, and fruit and produce form no inconsiderable portion of the exports. Stock raising is also carried on, and the Harrisburg steam roller flouring mills have a capacity of 125 barrels daily. There is water power sufficient to run a number of mills and water works for the protection of the business section from fire. Religious denominations having churches here are Baptist, Christian and Methodist. There is a good public school, subscription library, an opera house seating 400, a weekly newspaper (The Bulletin), a cornet band, and lodges represented locally are A. F. and A. M., A. O. U. W., I. O. O. F. and W. O. W. Several steamboats call here for freight, and there is a free county ferry across the river. Mail daily. Wells Fargo & Co.'s Express; W. U. Telegraph. Population about 700.

LEBANON.

This progressive city was first settled in 1845 and incorporated as a city in 1891. It is situated on the South Santiam River, 92 miles south of Portland and 13 miles southeast of Albany, the county seat, and is the terminus of the Lebanon branch of the Southern Pacific Ry. The soil in the vicinity is rolling or level and a very fertile black loam. Coal and gold deposits exist, but are not worked. One of the chief industries here is paper making, the mill and equipment for that purpose costing $150,000, but wheat, flour, lumber and produce are also shipped out in quantity. Exclusive of the paper mill, there are in active operation a flour mill, planing mill, sash and door factory, and tannery, to run which there is abundant water power. The city, with an assessed valuation of $300,000, is also in possession of an up-to-date electric light plant, a public school (erected in 1890 at a cost of $7,000) with 7 teachers, 2 libraries with 400 volumes combined, an opera house and hall, each seating 300; a fire department, a bank and 3 newspapers, the Express-Advance (semi-weekly), the Criterion (weekly), the Advertiser (weekly), and contains Presbyterian, Baptist, Cumberland Presbyterian, Methodist and M. E. South churches. Fraternal and other organizations represented locally are A. F. and A. M., A. O. U. W., G. A. R., I. O. O. F., K. of P., K. O. T. M., L. O. T. M., M. W. A., Order of Eastern Star, Order of Pendo, Rebekahs, Royal Neighbors, United Artisans, W. R. C. and W. O. W. Stages run to Sodaville and Waterloo, fare 50 cents; to Sweet Home and Foster, fare $1. SCIO.

Was first incorporated as a city in 1866, and under amended charter in 1891. It is situated on Thomas Creek, a water-power stream, 72 miles south of Portland, 16 miles northeast of Albany and 2 miles northeast of West Scio station, on the W. & N. branch of the Southern Pacific Ry. The soil in the vicinity is a sandy, dry loam, level and rolling. Cattle raising and hop growing are engaged in to some extent, other industries being a planing mill and a sash and door factory. There is also a roller flour mill with a daily capacity of 125 barrels, which is run by power furnished by the river, the city electric and water plant being operated from the same source. The city has an assessed valuation of $150,000 and is progressive in all respects, having two Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist and Christian churches, a school with 4 teachers, a hall seating 200, a fire department, a bank and a weekly newspaper, the Santiam News. Stages run to West Scio and Munkers, fare 25 cents; has telephone connection, Wells-Fargo & Co.'s Express and mail daily.
