

Storage Building Due to Replace Old Waterworks

Council Decides Location Is Satisfactory, City Settles With Floyd Watsons

Mayor Morrison named Aldermen W. Davis Post, Frank Launstein, Frank Evans and Gerald A. Parsons Tuesday night to study the storage needs of the city and to draw up specifications for a new building. The building, of steel or cinder block construction, will probably replace the Waterworks, now almost ready to topple to the ground, according to aldermen.

The Waterworks plant, abandoned as a waterworks 20 years ago, and as a power plant 30 years ago, is now being used to shelter two city trucks and two tractors. Other city trucks, pickups and equipment are stored in the open or in garages of employees.

At first a quonset type building was suggested. Later the aldermen agreed to seek bids on square steel types and cinder block construction.

Taylor Loses Battle

Alderman John Taylor lost out in his fight to have the proposed new city storage building erected on a different site than the one occupied by the Waterworks plant. He urged his colleagues to seek a new site out of deference to the people buried in Maple Grove cemetery. He declared that the storage building should be moved to the edge of town not only for the improvement of the residential neighborhoods but to give the city added storage space and to provide parking areas for any big pieces of equipment which the city may buy in the future.

Mayor Morrison at first suggested that the proposed building might be erected near the South Jefferson well. Later when he learned that the city holdings adjacent to the well are only a few square yards, he gave his support to the Waterworks location.

"Any building erected on the site will look better than the present one," the mayor commented.

To objections that the Waterworks area is sometimes flooded, aldermen replied that the new building can be set up higher with a fill made to protect against high water.

Rough estimates on the cost of an adequate storage building ranged from $7,000 to $8,000.

On motion of Alderman Parsons, the street committee will draw up specifications for a truck and will be in this country through November.

City Buys Property

Mayor Morrison reported his inability to get Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Watson, 924 S. Barnes, to scale down their price of $1,200 for a lot containing gravel. At a previous session the mayor was commissioned to discuss with the Watsons. Aldermen hoped the price would be slimmed down to $1,000.

The Watsons filed a claim against the city for gravel taken from their lot next to the city gravel pit. City officials investigated and learned that the contractor processing gravel for the city had dug into the Watson lot. The owners asked $800 for the gravel taken by the city and to sell the remainder of the lot for $1,200, with the price to cover the gravel already taken out. On recommendation of the mayor the purchase offer was accepted.

Property lines should be distinctly marked at the city pit hereafter, the council insisted.

Smith Is Named M.C. Dispatcher

Harlan Smith of Mason became dispatcher of the Michigan middle division of the New York Central September 1. He does the dispatching on the division between Jackson and Niles.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are planning on selling their home at 751 East Ash and moving to Jackson.

Smith knew quite a bit about railroading. His father, Frank Smith, now at Bay City, is a Michigan Central veteran. The son after graduating from Lansing Eastern studied at Michigan State and then became an apprentice telegrapher under his father. He was serving in Lansing when he entered the service, being assigned to the signal corps. He won a commission. After his release from the army, duty which took him to the European theater of combat, Smith resumed railroading, serving at Lansing, Mason and Jackson until he drew the dispatcher assignment.

At Mason Smith has been active in Legion affairs, having served as commander of Browne-Cavender post.

Ellsworths and Morrisons On Canadian River Journey

With a houseboat, a house trailer and an extra boat, Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Ellsworth and Mayor and Mrs. S. A. Morrison started the Canadian river Wednesday morning. They were headed for the Severn river in the Georgian Bay district.

Since June Ellsworth has been building his houseboat, and it's a dandy. The mayor lent a hand with the boat occasionally and also designed the rugged trailer by which the boat is transported on dry land. Actually the boat needs only a heavy dory to float on. It is built of plywood.

Forward is an enclosed cabin containing two comfortable sleeping bunks, a pilot house and chart room. Aft is a covered well deck with seats for fishing and space for supplies. There is also a gasoline stove. The power plant is a 6 h. p. outboard motor. A canvas awning covers the area outside the cabin.

The boat is 14 feet long with a beam of 5 feet, 4 inches. When loaded with supplies and with people, the boat draws only three inches of water.

The Morrisons have a house trailer with all the conveniences of home. The mayor himself would have liked to have built a second-story cabin on the Ellsworth vessel for he and Mrs. Morrison, but she demurred. She declared that she likes to fish from a boat but prefers her sleeping on shore.

Mrs. Ellsworth's son, Frank Wellman, lives at Severn Falls. The Ellsworth craft will be launched at the Severn bridge above Orilla.

Downtown Store Added to Collins Sales and Service

An expansion of the Collins Sales and Service automotive and appliance business to include a separate store for appliances was effected this week with the removal of the appliance stock from the Cedar street showrooms to the former Jewett appliance store on West Ash.

"Our growing business in both the automotive and appliance lines has made a move necessary," Collins said, "in order to do justice to both. The downtown appliance store will enable us to display home merchandise better and the needed room in the auto showrooms can be used to display increasing numbers of new car models."

Robert Felton, formerly associated with Dart & Cady and Consumers Power appliance departments, will manage the Ash street store. A formal opening has been scheduled for Friday and Saturday, September 16 and 17, although the store will be open for business before that time. Demonstrations will be made of new appliances and favors and gifts will be given to visitors, Collins said on the opening dates.

The new store is located in the Henson building in space recently occupied by the Jewett Appliance company. The Jewett stock has been sold to Perkins hardware. Collins is remodeling the store and placing new fixtures this week.

Turkish Librarian Visits in Mason

In Mason Saturday to see how the Ingham county library functions was Leibel Burk from the national library at Ankara, Turkey. Miss Burk has been in the United States for nine months, doing advanced work at the library of congress in Washington, D. C.

Miss Burk came to this country on a fellowship from the Institute of International Education, sponsored by the state department. She will be in this country through November.

While here Miss Burk also visited the Leslie branch of the Ingham county library.

TWO APPLES A DAY TO KEEP SHERIFF AWAY

Mother Nature's bounty with apples has been overdone in Michigan this year. If apple growers balance their accounts they'll have to employ the best marketing methods. They'll have to encourage everyone to double their consumption of apples because the production has been almost doubled.

Here in Ingham orchards the trees are laden with a record crop. The 10-year average yield in Michigan is 6,840,000 bushels. The 1949 estimate is 11,132,000. That's bad for growers. To make it even worse every leading apple state, even the drought-stricken New England states and New York, and far-away Washington are reporting bumper yields. Strange as it may seem, Washington looms as the No. 1 threat to the Michigan market.

The only salvation for Michigan growers is to increase the consumption of apples at home, and to hold that home market for Michigan apples, the best grown anywhere in the world.

The state apple commission, growers association, fruit wholesalers and all independent and chain food markets are cooperating with Michigan growers to meet the biggest and best crop on record.

There are no federal marketing supports for apples, peaches, plums and pears beyond the activities of the Surplus Commodity Corporation. SCC purchases will be made of apples for school and institutional use. Army and navy buyers will also be asked to stock up with fresh and processed apples. The apple juice industry will also be expanded.

To help Michigan people buy the best Michigan apples ever produced, the state apple commission and growers will stage a Michigan apple week from September 24 to October 1. National apple week begins October 30. The early event has been arranged in Michigan to get the Wealthy and McIntosh apples out of the way ahead of the marketing of Northern Spy and other winter varieties.

Another reason for an early Michigan apple week is because the season is about two weeks early everywhere and by the middle of September carloads of Washington apples will be rolling toward the eastern markets.

Minard Parley, secretary of the Michigan apple commission, will have posters and other store and newspaper publicity ready for the Michigan apple selling event within a few days.

Another step being considered by growers is to market only the biggest apples, with a minimum of 2 1/2 inches for small varieties and 2 1/2 inches for other varieties.

Tuttle, King, Blossom and Young apple orchards in the Leslie district are loaded with luscious fruit. So are the Hansen orchards in Aurelius, the Doune-Stitt orchard in Alameda and many other orchards. Some orchards, which have gone without spraying or other care for years are even bearing this year.

The 1947 crop in Michigan was 6,400,000 bushels, just about the 10-year average. Last year the production, dropped to 4,830,000. Not since 1939 has the marketing situation on apples been so acute.

According to G. N. Motts, marketing expert on the extension staff at Michigan State college, the normal Michigan production of apples is disposed of largely in Michigan and adjoining states. But this year the adjoining states also have bumper crops.

In 1947, Motts reported, the 6-400,000 bushels was disposed of

Clerk Mails Out Court Calendars For Sept. Term

Court Term Will Start In Lansing Monday, Jury Trials Begin Sept. 19

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard mailed September term circuit court calendars to attorneys Tuesday. The September term of court is held in Lansing. Next Monday is the opening day although trials will not start until Monday, September 19.

On the opening day the calendar is read, arraignments are made and trial dates are set.

The court is confronted with one of the biggest calendars in the past 10 years. The case numbers run up to 685.

NEW SCALE FOR JURORS

Jurors at the September term of court will be paid at the new scale fixed by the legislature: $6.00 instead of $4.00 per day and 6c per mile each day of attendance at court instead of 10c per mile for one round trip during the term. Under the new scale half-day wages will be paid when jurors are in court only half a day. Under the old rate a full day's pay was granted for a half-day. Mileage must be by the shortest route.

There are 41 criminal cases listed. Some of them are ordinance violation cases. On the jury civil calendar are 54 cases. Many of them are the result of automobile accidents. Four jury civil cases have grown out of improvements in the Landel metropolitan district. Property owners have brought suit against the district and the contractors, and the contractors have also brought suit against the county. The suit begun by the contractors, though, is on the non-jury list. Also on the non-jury calendar are two cases brought against the county as a result of highway accidents, the road commission being charged with negligence.

There are 101 non-jury civil cases, 14 non-contested chancery and 194 contested chancery cases besides 39 law and 86 chancery cases on the no-progress calendar. The no-progress cases are subject to dismissal because of lack of court action within the past year. Divorces number 127 on the contested and non-contested chancery calendars.

Names of 60 jurors have been drawn for duty at the September term. Jurors will receive the new rate of $6.00 per day and mileage for a round trip between their homes and court each day. The previous rate was $4.00 per day and mileage for just one trip between home and court for the term. The legislature changed the rate.

Annexation Issue Up for Decision By Supervisors

Ingham Board Scheduled To Meet at Mason Monday For September Session

Ingham supervisors will learn more about the proposed annexations of the Everett district and a West Mt. Hope section to the city of Lansing Monday. They will hear the report of a special committee named in August to study the Everett proposal in particular.

Petitions have been filed with the board of supervisors calling for a vote on annexation of the two areas. It is up to the supervisors to decide on the submission of the issue to voters and to set a date for the election.

Supervisors Marshall Graham of Lansing, John B. Fay of Delhi and John Patriarche of East Lansing were named to the special committee to study annexation. A committee from the Lansing city council is ready to report favorably on annexation from Lansing's standpoint, Lansing aldermen have said.

One angle that has taken much study is the Landel metropolitan district bond issue. All of Everett's area is included in Landel. It is estimated that $1,500,000 in Landel bonds will have to be paid off by Everett district residents whether or not they become Lansing city residents.

If the Everett annexation carries there will be only the southwest and the southeast corners along with the northwest section, a strip between Lansing and East Lansing and the two-mile area between the Michigan Central tracks and College road left in the township. It is estimated that the Everett district contains 14,000 residents.

Annexation can be carried out only if approved by majorities of voters in the area asking annexation, Lansing city voters and Lansing township voters. All three units must return majorities favoring annexation.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Woodland and family of 323 Steele street?

They moved into the house vacated by the Rex Fincounts on Sunday. There are four children, Jimmy, 4; Carol Lee, 3; Bobby, 1 1/2; and David, 5 months.

The Woodlands came from Williamson. He has worked with the Ingham road commission for a month. Previously he farmed near Williamson. They are originally of Lansing.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Woodland are graduates of the Everett high school. In fact, theirs was a high school romance. Woodland was in the marines for two years during the war. The Woodlands are Baptists.

Driver Wrecks Leslie Station

Lohman Loughner, 36, of Warren, Ohio, wrecked his car, injured himself, wife and son, and knocked down part of John Fagergervik's gas station north of Leslie Saturday night. The accident happened about 10:30 at the Hull road curve, where other mishaps have occurred the past month.

Lohman, his wife, Sarah, 29, and son, LeRoy, 14, were headed back toward Ohio after a vacation in Michigan. Loughner lost control of his car. It ran off the right shoulder of the pavement and traveled 100 feet before striking a Consumers Power pole. It then went on for another 60 feet to shear off a support pillar at the gas station and to knock down two gasoline pumps.

The power pole carried a high tension line and the tangled wire short-circuited. Leslie's fire department was called out to guard against the breaking out of fire and to keep people away from the wire.

Lohman was taken to the Mason General hospital with broken ribs. His wife and son were treated at the office of Dr. L. C. Kraft in Leslie for painful cuts and bruises. They remained in Leslie until Monday. The injured driver reported at the county jail after his stay at the hospital. Monday he settled with Justice of the Peace Roy Swenson, paying a $90.00 fine plus costs of $7.80.

Action is also being contemplated by the station owner and the Consumers Power company to collect damages.

Lohman insisted he was crowded off the pavement.

Girl Loses Life In Holt Accident

Cindy Lou Garnecky, 3, was fatally injured in an automobile accident at Holt Friday night. Her father, Edward Garnecky, 24, was seriously hurt. The mother was out and suffered a slight concussion. The girl's brother, Edward Joseph, 2, escaped with facial cuts.

According to sheriff's officers who investigated, the Garnecky car, a convertible, rolled over several times after colliding with a car driven by Frank L. Brown, 59, of Geneva, Illinois. The Garneckys were thrown from their car.

Brown pulled out from the Zesto ice cream drive-in stand a mile north of Holt, officers said, and swung across the boulevard into the southbound lane. Garnecky was unable to swerve his car to avoid the crash. The Garnecky convertible struck the rear of Brown's car and overturned. Brown was not hurt.

Rural Schools Started Tuesday

All rural schools opened on schedule Tuesday. County Superintendent Alton J. Stroud reported Thursday. There were teachers and accommodations available for all pupils.

Seventh graders from the Button district in Alameda are being transported to the Douglas school. Butten, in the northwest corner of the district near the Lansing suburban area, was crowded while the newly-opened Douglas school has lots of room. The Douglas school was reopened this year after a long period when pupils were transported. All Alameda schools are in a unit system, operated by one school board.

INGHAM'S NEW TOWN HALL will look like this, if the town board enters into contracts as a result of the bids received Thursday night. The new hall will replace the one destroyed by fire February 7, 1947. Plans call for a one-story building of cinder block construction, with a brick front. The building will house a fire truck, branch library, township office, auditorium and kitchen. It will be located on the old site.

Ponds at Park May Be Filled To End Hazard

Colony at Horse Barn May Also Be Thinned To Improve Sanitation

Those three stagnant ponds at Rayser park in Mason may be filled in to eliminate a possible health hazard and an unsightly view. In place of the three ponds there might be one small one, small enough to be kept clean by a small creek flowing through it.

Mason's newest alderman, Frank K. Evans, at his first council meeting Tuesday night, suggested the elimination of the ponds. Evans is county highway engineer. In Ingham the county road commission serves as park commission, too, so Evans spoke with authority. He told his colleagues that the commission is considering the filling in of the ponds. It is impossible to keep the lower pond free of a coating of algae, Evans declared. He also pointed out that the ponds fill up with untreated sewage wastes from a section of the fairgrounds and with surface drainage water from the farms lying southeast of town.

While filling of the ponds might be opposed by people who have regarded them as historic, the change would be welcomed by those who now complain about their coating of green scum, Evans declared. He said that there is not enough water available from springs to keep the ponds cleaned out. To Alderman Gerald Parsons' suggestion that the city should provide water to augment the flow of springs, the engineer replied that the cost of such a program might prove prohibitive.

The ponds are not natural. They were dug out by William H. Rayner 75 years ago primarily to serve as a source for natural ice for the Rayner ponds, along with ice from the Brickyard pond, supplied Mason until the Lansing Ice and Fuel company opened a branch here in the 1920's.

When Rayner park was first bought by the county the south pond was developed as a place for children to wade and even swim. The ponds were dredged and gravel was hauled in. Despite frequent cleanings the ponds have never been safe for wading or swimming. The stagnant water is polluted at all seasons of the year.

The aldermen reached the Rayner park topic as a result of a discussion on odors at the disposal plant. Operator S. L. Demorest declared that some or most of the odors come from untreated sewage in Rayner creek and not from the disposal plant.

Too Many Settlers Alderman John Taylor said that the untreated sewage can be traced to the colony of horsemen at the county park stables. Some of the horsemen and their families stay in quarters there almost year around, Taylor reported. There are no sanitary sewer connections available at the stables, Taylor said. He also pointed out that the surface drainage from the stables goes into the park ponds.

Demorest told the aldermen that he understood some of the homes in Jewett subdivision are not connected to the sanitary sewer system. He said most of the residences north of Ash street now are served by the sanitary sewer system.

The disposal plant operator declared that another source of complaints on sewage disposal results from the occasional dumping of kraut or kraut juice into the sewage system at the H. W. Madison Co. plant.

"No unenclosed disposal plant can handle that kind of sewage without creating a stink," Demorest asserted.

Polio Drops Off In Rural Areas

Although the 1949 Ingham polio count climbed up to 123, the past week, there have been no new cases reported outside of Lansing and the suburban area. Last Thursday the count for the year stood at 112. Since then 11 new cases were reported, 10 in Lansing and one in the Everett area.

There was one fatality during the week, Mrs. Elizabeth Alber, 27, of Lansing. She was the mother of two young children.

Theresa Fortman of Mason is still in the police ward at the county hospital undergoing treatment. She is able now to use her right arm and hand and can move one finger on her left hand. Jimmy Rosebury, 7, of Aurelius is in the respirator at the hospital.

George Beaumont, 7, of Onondaga has been released from the Jackson hospital and doctors believe there will be no permanent ill effects. His sister, Marlene, 4, is now out of the iron lung but almost completely helpless. Doctors say she will need months of treatment to regain control of her limbs. The brother and sister were stricken at the same time that their playmate, Frank Stephens, 8, fell victim. He died.

Carol Ann Getter, 6, of Alameda and Betty Jane England, 8 1/2, of Aurelius are still in the Ingham hospital. An attendant Thursday morning reported the condition of the Getter girl as "about the same" and the condition of the England girl as "satisfactory." The Getter girl's brother, Herbert, 11, died August 22.

All Ingham schools opened on schedule, although some parents have kept their younger children home because of the polio situation.

The power pole carried a high tension line and the tangled wire short-circuited. Leslie's fire department was called out to guard against the breaking out of fire and to keep people away from the wire.

Harold Ware Gets Ace on Pond Hole

Harold Ware joined the hole-in-one club at the Mason golf course last Thursday by registering an ace on No. 6, across the pond. It was his first ace and gave him a 25 for the nine holes of play. He has been below 35 many times but never before put one in the cup from the tee.

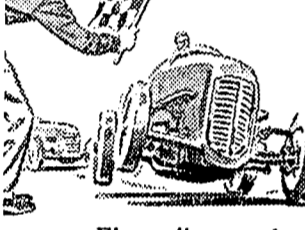

Dr. Russell DeMartin, Gus Eibert and Ware were playing a threesome. Eibert teed off first on No. 6 and reached the green. Ware then fired and his ball disappeared. Dr. DeMartin was sure it rolled into the cup and so all three went to the green without the dentist teeing off. Sure enough, Ware's ball was in the cup.

Army Officer's Wife Sees War's Aftermath

Mrs. Joel Richert (Beverly Jewett) had a stopover in Manila on her journey with her husband to his army hospital assignment in Sapporo, Hokkaido, Japan. He is an army doctor. Mrs. Richert wrote her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Jewett of Mason, to tell about the destruction still visible in Manila four years after V-J Day.

"Our transport had to thread its way through a channel lined by sunken Japanese ships to sail through Manila Bay," Mrs. Richert wrote. "At one time there were between 40 and 50 Japanese ships sunk in the bay. When the re-occupation came, the Americans had to dynamite the harbor to clear a channel. Many of the hulks have been cleared away but as many more lie rusting in the water, skeleton-like reminders of the war."

The destruction viewed in the harbor was just a preview of what was found in Manila, Mrs. Richert wrote.

"The old Spanish walled city near the waterfront was almost completely destroyed," the former Mason young woman reported in her letter. "One church was left. It is the most, crumby, badly-shelled San Augustin, the oldest in Manila, finished in 1606. Terms for American occupation of Manila were signed in the vestry of the church in 1898. The church has withstood five earthquakes. The abode brick with which it is built is quarried in the hills near and is used in its natural form."

"All Manila bears unsightly scars of war. Old army dumps have become homes. When the Japs came in the people retreated to the hills. Two years later when the survivors returned they found no one they knew. Property was unclaimed and unidentified. Any old piece of wood or metal was picked up to build shelters. Sewers and water mains were destroyed so today there is hardly any sanitation in the city.

"People who were in Manila before the war say it was known as the 'Pearl of the Orient.' Those who have been in Manila since the war report that much has been done to clean up the city but there's still a long way to go before the restoration is completed. The natives themselves looked clean and all over the city we saw clean washings laid out on the ground to dry.

"The Philippine Islands are limited in natural resources, industries and exports so most of the people have a hard time making a living. It is difficult to get ahead. The city does not have street cars so the people get around in cars and buses. The most popular and plentiful vehicle is the jeep, still identifiable in its converted form. Filipinos put a roof on it, fix benches in the back and hang brightly colored curtains around the edges of the roof. That makes the jeep a taxi. Traffic is extremely heavy and noisy.

"To make bad conditions worse, the Philippine government is corrupt, and funds are often misappropriated. There is a group of teen-age hoodlums who have never known better times. They make it unsafe for Americans to go out alone, and to even go out after dark in small parties.

"The only farming we saw was rice fields. The rice paddies and water buffalo were pictures right out of my third grade geography book. Much of the land is uncultivated and left to look shabby with weeds. They are supposed to raise sugar cane, hemp and a few other things in exportable quantities but much of the food needed has to be imported. The attempts we saw to raise corn appeared pitiful."

On a tour of Manila the army party was taken to Welfareville, an orphan village of 1,200 just outside of Manila. The army party saw Manila's famous buildings here—the "White House" and Santo Tomas University which was used as a prison under Japanese occupation.

"The sad thing about our tour," concluded Mrs. Richert, "is that many will speak with authority in Manila when they get back home, and really none of us is anymore qualified to judge the city. It takes an elevated ride around Chicago is able to know that city. To those of us who had never witnessed the destruction of war before, the tour did give us greater understanding and sympathy."

Aldermen Mull City Budget Cut

There is a possibility that the Mason city budget will be trimmed from a record $38,000 down to $30,000 next year.

Alderman Frank Dakin suggested such a possibility Tuesday night following the reading of City Treasurer Doris Austin's report. The city has a healthy balance of $47,000.

Intangible tax and sales tax diversion revenues from the state have exceeded last year's estimates to boost the city treasury.

Alderman Gerald Parsons reminded Dakin that the city may have to have a new well, which would preclude any budget cut.

The finance committee, headed by Alderman John Taylor, will start preparation of the city budget next week. It must be approved before the October meeting of the board of supervisors.

Alderman Dakin asked the council to consider the placing of a street light on Hall boulevard. Alderman W. Davis Post said that two lights might be needed. Both aldermen said that new houses are going to be built soon on the boulevard. Alderman Post finally decided that the best way would be for the street lighting committee to wait until lights now ordered are installed and then to survey the entire city again to see where or if more lights are needed.

In Justice Court

Frank McKenzie, arrested by Deputy Howard Trapp in Stockbridge, Saturday night on drunk and disorderly charges, pleaded guilty before Justice Roy W. Adams Tuesday and paid fine and costs totaling $17.00. He was also placed on probation for six months.

On Monday Lohman Loughner of Warren, Ohio, was assessed a $30.00 fine plus costs of $7.80, by Judge Adams. Loughner pleaded guilty to reckless driving at the Hull road curve north of Leslie Saturday night.

Prescilliano Samaripa of Stockbridge pleaded guilty Thursday morning before Judge Adams on twin charges of failure to identify himself at the scene of an accident and leaving the scene of an accident. The accident happened Saturday, two miles south of Stockbridge. The judge assessed a fine of $30.00 plus costs of $4.30.

FOREST CAMPBELL HURT
Forest Campbell is in the St. Lawrence hospital at Lansing with a broken hip. He was injured last Thursday when the car in which he was riding with Clifford Cave of Grant collided with another automobile. Campbell was taken to the Fremont Memorial hospital for treatment. He was transferred to the Lansing hospital Friday. Campbell underwent surgery Wednesday to have his hip set.

Principal Still Lacking at Mason

Arthur Benoit and Supt. James H. Vander Von are sharing the duties of high school principal at Mason. It may be a week or two before a principal is engaged, Vander Von said Thursday. The principal under contract asked for and was granted his release.

With the exception of principal, Mason had a complete staff when school opened Wednesday. The teaching staff is: Miss LaVeda Box, Mrs. Caroline Ragan and Miss Joyce Bush, first grade; Mrs. Winifred Beasley, Miss Mary Jane Cosgrove and Miss Betty Mirfield, second grade; Miss Marjorie Leary and Miss Marian Rathbone, third grade;

Mrs. Ruth Hall and Mrs. Cynthia White, fourth grade; Miss Ola Showerman and Mrs. Mina Howe, fifth grade; Mrs. Agnes Corner and Mrs. Jeanne Knapp, sixth grade; and Mrs. Inez Schmidt, kindergarten.

Miss Jeanne Alwood, math; Arthur Benoit, agriculture and mechanical drawing; Miss Joyce Bristol, speech, commercial geography and citizenship; Harry Cairns, science and math; Miss Evelyn Conway, Spanish and English;

Donald Edgington, history and government; Mrs. Dorothy Fink, Latin and English; Donald Fink, history and coach; Mrs. Phyllis Gunderson, home economics; Miss Lydia Horings, history and English; Mrs. Helene Howells, home economics; Mrs. Elizabeth Inig and George Murthum, music; Mrs. June Oesterle, commercial;

Mrs. Phyllis Perry, history and English; Mrs. Viva Riker, math; Mrs. Leona Simpson, commercial; J. Edward Soper, shop; Mrs. Helen Van Singel, science; Louis Lori, physics and chemistry; Elizabeth Clipper, physical education.

The superintendent reported Thursday morning that enrollment figures were still incomplete. He said that high school enrollment was below that of last year and he estimated that the total school enrollment will be about the same.

One slight drop resulted from a change in the Pink school policy. Seventh and eighth graders heretofore sent to Mason are now being taught at the Pink.

Gridders Engage In Scrimmage

With two weeks of practice under their belts, Mason high school gridgers are battling it out on scrimmages to see who will land those varsity spots.

Coach Lou Lori has a total of 63 candidates in uniform with a few more yet to report now that school classes have started. Out of all these Lori is left with only five veterans from last year.

Those in uniform now are Reed Montague, Ray Morford, Dan Lili, Doug Barr, George Ellison, Duane, and Don Scutt, Dick Spenny, Norman Lyons, Dr. Garver, Ronald Smith, Phil Parisian, Gene Every.

Clarence Randall, Clarence Otis, Bob Allan, Windy Fell, Ed Parker, Bill Wasper, Dick Scutt, Wayne Gabbert, Jim Heathman, Donald Aker, John Brown.

Those who are shaping up into the varsity at the present time are Howell, Lyons, Jennings, Gabbert, Kelly, Akers, Laxton and Evans at ends; Ellison, David, Welch and Ron Smith at tackles; Dick Thomas, Bob Thomas, Furtney, Wasper and Collar at guards; and Rieckly, Barr and Bunker at the center spot.

Strong backfield candidates are Dick Scutt, Don Scutt, Allen and E. Parker at quarter; Fell, Parisian, Brown and Mathews at the halves; and Garver and Every at full.

Lori plans on using both the T formation and the single wing. So far emphasis has been on offense, but the remaining week before the season opener against St. Johns will be devoted to defense.

Council Bans Car Rides for Cop's Friends

Without mentioning any names, the city council Tuesday night placed a ban on companionship for Mason policemen. No persons, unless authorized by the council police committee, may accompany policemen in the scout car. That doesn't mean that people under arrest can't ride, the aldermen explained.

Alderman Gerald Parsons, head of the police committee, explained that several complaints have been lodged about friends accompanying a policeman in the city car.

City attorney O. J. Hood defended the companionship system. He said that two men in a car made it easier to convict traffic violators. The weight of the evidence is stronger, the attorney said, when two men are present in the police car and two men can testify.

Wed in Trinity Episcopal Church in Monroe

Miss Janyth Ann Paxson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Paxson of Monroe, and grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Niethammer of Millville, became the bride of Louis E. Pomerville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Pomerville, also of Monroe, on September 3, in Trinity Episcopal church.

The double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white baby mums. Seven-branch candelabra with lighted tapers, white girdoli and palms decorated the church. White satin bows marked off the family pews. White candles on huckleberry leaves burned in each church window.

Miss Ruth Hughes, accompanied by Mrs. Russell Ott, at the organ, sang "Psalms Angelicus" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a candlelight satin gown of victorian design, having a basque waist, long sleeves coming to a point in front and back. The back panel extended into a circular train. She carried an antique imported French ivory fan made of silk and lace. White roses decorated the base of the fan and the streamers attached. The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her fingertip veil of French silk illusion was fastened to a satin bonnet trimmed with a ruffle of veiling and white roses at either side.

Miss Barbara Paxson, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a gown of bright rose tissue taffeta with a matching half hat trimmed with baby mums. Miss Patricia Pomerville, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Ann Leighton, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids, wore identical gowns of turquoise blue tissue taffeta with matching half hats, also trimmed with baby mums. The rhinestone necklace, which each attendant wore, was a gift of the bride. They carried baskets of assorted colored baby mums.

Mr. Pomerville was attended by Aaron Paxson, brother of the bride, as best man. Ushers were Donald Cone, Hugh VanBrimer of Monroe and William Lomax of Lafayette, Indiana.

Mrs. Paxson wore a street-length gown of forest green crepe with brown shoes, hat and bag. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Pomerville also chose a forest green dress with brown accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Niethammer, two grandmothers and one grandfather were present. Mrs. Niethammer wore a gown of teal blue with gray and black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow baby mums.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the Masonic Temple. Punch, ice cream and cake were served.

For her trip Mrs. Pomerville wore a gray suit with pink and black accessories and a pink corsage.

Mrs. Pomerville formerly lived with her grandparents near Dansville where she attended school. After September 17, Mr. and Mrs. Pomerville will live in Kalamazoo where both attend Western Michigan college.

HONOR GRANDDAUGHTERS
Mr. and Mrs. James Hulett entertained at a family dinner Sunday evening in honor of the birthday anniversaries of their three granddaughters, Kathie Hulett and Marlena and Laura Kay McLeod of Lansing. Kathie and Laura Kay's birthday anniversaries were Monday. Kathie was two and Laura Kay was nine. Marlena will be three years old on September 11.

Junior Study Club Will Open Year's Work September 21
Mason Junior Child Study club has completed its program and plans for the 1949-1950 meetings. Officers for the year are: Mrs. Hubert Harrison, president; Mrs. Richard Morris, vice president; Mrs. John Hinson, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Robert Schaeffer, program planning chairman.

The first fall meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Joe Cappel on September 21. Coons Bookstore of Ann Arbor will demonstrate books and records for the home library.

Subjects for future meetings are "Community and Civic Responsibilities of Mason Parents," "Mental Health in Children," "Agreement and Understanding of Parents in Raising Children," "Development of Creative Potentialities," "First Aid in Common Emergencies," "Activities and Recreation for the Whole Family" and "Services of the State Health Department."

Tentative plans have been made by club members for a harvest party, a Halloween party, nursery school and field trip.

The style show sponsored annually by the club will be a feature of the year's program.

At Christmas Child Study members will repair toys, and at the December meeting the significance of Christmas will be stressed.

Afternoon Party Fetes Ohio Woman
Mrs. Wilfred Jewett entertained at a tea for her aunt, Mrs. W. B. McClintock of Columbus, Ohio, Friday afternoon from two to four o'clock.

Tea was served from a lace-covered table decorated with lighted pink tapers and an arrangement of pink and white snapdragons. Mrs. George Knight of Holt, a great niece of Mrs. McClintock, presided at the tea table.

Guests were present from Portland, Flint, Lansing, Holt and Mason.

IN SOUTHWESTERN STATES
Kenneth Palmer left Wednesday morning for Arizona where he will enter the University of Arizona at Tucson. Palmer was accompanied by Bob Greenough of Dansville and Jim Brown. They plan to visit the Grand Canyon and other points of interest in the southwest before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood G. Millard spent the Labor Day week end at West Branch and Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Widius of Detroit spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Lasenby.

Methodist Women to Open Fall Activities on September 14

Wednesday evening, September 14, is the date for the first fall meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist church. The meeting will be held in the church parlors beginning at eight o'clock. Mrs. John Shepard, who was installed as the new president of the organization at the June meeting, will conduct the meeting.

Hostesses for the evening meeting will be members of the Martha Mary circle. Mrs. O. H. Freedland will be the guest speaker. She will tell of her trip to Europe this summer when she spent three weeks touring the continent. Mrs. Louis Stid will give the devotions.

Members of the society may take a guest to the meeting. An executive board meeting will be held at the church Friday, September 9, at two o'clock.

Working with Mrs. Shepard during the coming year will be Mrs. Langley Rayner, first vice-president; Mrs. Frank Laumstein, second vice-president; Mrs. Alfred Porche, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Rathburn, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Bullen, secretary and promotion; and secretaries of church and social relations, Mrs. Don Snyder, Mrs. Abe Cohn and Mrs. Glen Dunn.

Department secretaries for the coming year are: Mrs. Leo Harrison, supplies; Mrs. Donald Curry, missionary education; Mrs. Louis Stid, spiritual life; Mrs. Mildred Easter, student work; Mrs. James Colton, youth work; Mrs. Donald Winkler, children's work; Miss Florence Miller, publications; and Mrs. Claude Post, status of women.

ENTERS NURSES TRAINING

PART OF ORDINANCE PASSED SEPTEMBER 15, 1949
The payment of the charges for water may be enforced by shutting off the water supply or by any action of the water department in the name of the City of Mason against such user, or both. Whenever the water rates or charges are not properly served by said system shall have been delinquent for more than 30 days, the City Clerk or such may be directed to issue a notice of the collection of such rates, shall have power to certify the amount of such delinquency to the council. The council shall then have power to order such delinquent charges to be spread on the next City tax roll, as part of the next City tax thereon.
This ordinance is verified by Statute in Act No. 124, Public Act of 1939.

Beaver Island Residents Bid Hunters to Shoot Small Game

There are rabbits, plenty of them to be hunted this fall on Beaver Island.

Archie Lafreniere, secretary of the Beaver Island Association of Commerce, has broadcast an invitation at the suggestion of the Beaver Island Game club to the state's hunters to do their hunting on the island this fall.

Not only have the rabbits reached the peak in numbers this year, but squirrels as well, Lafreniere said. Partridge hunting also is expected to be "normal or better" and no decline has been noted in the deer herd.

A few years ago rabbits all but disappeared from the island. With the cooperation of the native islanders who did not shoot them in the seasons when they were scarce, the animals have made a comeback and now are more plentiful than ever.

The best part of Lafreniere's invitation to the hunters to "come on out and get 'em" is the disclosure there isn't a "no hunting" sign to be found on the 16-mile long island that lies 32 miles off the Charlevoix point in Lake Michigan.

Accommodations for meals and lodging are available on the island at the King Strang hotel, at Lloyd McDonough's cabin camp south of St. James and at tourist homes. For those hunters who prefer to camp there are excellent campsites in every section of the island, with stores at St. James well-stocked with the necessities of a camp.

Beaver Island is reached by boat, which operates out of Charlevoix, sailing each morning at 9:15 and by air on planes that operate out of the Charlevoix airport whenever there are passengers to go.

For many years Beaver Island has been a popular hunting ground for deer hunters, but this will be the first season that small game has been sufficiently abundant to urge the state's hunters to come for that sport.

Beaver Island is inhabited by slightly fewer than 400 persons, of which approximately 175 are Indians, the balance virtually all of Irish extraction, which has given the land the name of America's Emerald Isle.

"The islanders are a friendly lot of people who enjoy visitors from the mainland. We are hospitable here and we want to share what we have with others, because we are a part of Michigan even if our homes do set far out into the big lake," Lafreniere said.

Beaver Island is a colorful community, rich in historic sites and lore. Still standing on the main street of St. James is the building that once housed the printing plant of the Mormon colony that occupied the island from 1847 to 1856 under the stern rule of King James Jesse Strang. There are approximately 20 other "Mormon" buildings still standing. Fishermen from old Ireland inhabited the island soon after the Mormons were forced out following the assassination of King Strang in 1856.

In recent years many thousands of tourists have visited the island.

THE INGHAM COUNTY NEWS Section 2

Alan Curtis Wins Washington Trip

Ingham county did right well at the state 4-H show. Three national as well as two state fair trips were won by the Ingham boys and girls. Alan Curtis was one of three from Michigan chosen for the National Junior Vegetable Growers association contest in Washington December 11 to 15.

Myris Singer of Dansville won a trip to the National Jersey show in Indianapolis in October. Jerry Jason of Vanhook will get a trip to the National Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Iowa, in late September. Ann Martineau of the Cavanaugh club and Elizabeth Carr of the White Oak club were awarded trips to the state fair in Detroit in dress revue and styles.

More than 150 exhibits were shown by the 125 Ingham 4-H boys and girls. Along with all the trips and honors Ingham youth brought back $300 in cash prizes. James Frost received a $25 award for honors in horses. Dan Gilchrist of Eden placed second in dress revue and won $15.

The Jason boy was third high in dairy judging. Miss Martineau was in the top 10 in the dress revues. Other Ingham winners included Elmer Phelps of White Oak, fifth in crop judging; Phil Hayhoe of Alameda, sixth in poultry judging; Aaron and Dallas Hyde, Four Winds, second in livestock demonstration; Russell Rowe and Richard Cheney, Four Winds, seventh in dairy demonstration;

Guinnessy Dolphus, Rabidoux, Vantown, ninth; Lawrence Stuckley, Childs, twelfth; Paul Kesley, Stockbridge, third in senior heifer calf;

Jerseys—Myris Singer, first on Jersey cow; Viva Haskell, fourteenth on junior yearling; Myris Singer, eighth for senior yearling; with county herd placing eighth;

Holsteins—Kenneth Rutledge, first on junior heifer calf and a reserve junior champion; Herbert Miller, third on senior calf; Donna Voss, eighth on junior yearling; Dick Bence, eighth on senior yearling; Jerry Jason, fourth; Larry Soule, eleventh; and Wayne Kern, eighth in senior yearlings; Leroy Soule, sixth on Holstein cow with the highest producing cow in the production class at 544 lbs. for a three year old; with the county herd placing third;

Ayrshires—Darwin Downey, second on his calf and third on his cow, with the county herd placing third;

Dairy showmanship—Jerry Jason, fourth in a strong class.

Beef cattle—Melvin Webster, second with beef heifer; James Frost, third with shorthorn fat steer; Joyce Bando, sixth on shorthorn fat steer, with all steers from Ingham county selling for 30c or better at the sale. The county herd placed fifth.

Sheep—Strong Bateman, third on aged Shropshire lamb, fourth on ram lamb, second on ewe lamb and ninth on yearling ewe; Rollin Blossie, first and grand champion on his aged ewe, second on ram lamb and tenth on ewe lamb; Jack Hushbrack, eleventh on yearling ewe, with the herd shown by the group placing second and the county flock placing second.

Hampshires—In Hampshires Ingham had nine animals, the flock placing first but with less competition than the Shropshire flock. Winners were: Aaron Hyde, third on aged ram, second on ram lamb, fourth on yearling ewe and fourth on yearling ewe, fourth on ram lamb, sixth on ewe lamb.

Elizabeth Carr received fourth on her Oxford ram, ninth on aged ewe and third on yearling ewe with Gordon Stee receiving sixth on his aged ewe. Melvin Showerman received a first and grand champion on his Corriedale lamb were transferred from special funds to the state's general fund.

Gasoline Tax
The proposed increase in the gasoline tax along with seven other related amendments to highway statutes were defeated, the main objection being, not the proposed increase, but rather, the basis of allocation of the proceeds of the highway taxes between the state, county, and local units of government.

Schools—Sales Tax Diversion
The general school appropriation bill, as required by the sales tax diversion amendment to the state constitution which requires the appropriating of 44 and 77/100 per cent of the total revenue from the sales tax for the last preceding year totaled, $2,094,203.80. That was based upon a total revenue for the year ending June 30, 1948 of $133,368,782.00. This was close to $12,000,000 in excess of that appropriation in the year 1948 which was based upon the total revenue of just over $157,000,000. Next year the legislature will be required to appropriate in excess of $87,000,000, inasmuch as the total revenue for the fiscal year just ended was approximately $195,000,000. While due to the sales tax diversion amendment to the Constitution the appropriation will be increased by some $4,000,000 in 1950, nevertheless it is anticipated that the state will enjoy a smaller total revenue under the sales tax. While estimates as to the total revenue during the present year vary, the estimate given by the budget office to the legislature was $180,000,000. If these estimates are correct, this will of necessity require either additional taxes or reduction of other appropriations. The 1949 legislature reduced appropriations below that recommended by the budget office, total appropriations being $278,000,000 as against recommendations of $290,000,000. This compared with total appropriations for the preceding fiscal year of $241,000,000 indicates that an increase in appropriations of $37,000,000 was made by the 1949 legislature.

The next article in the series will treat legislation having to do with labor mediation, unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation.

Horse showmanship—Lorene Proctor placed sixth.

In the poultry division Ingham was represented with nine pens. Winners were: Larry Zindel, first; Barbara Webster, first and second; Beverly Orr, first; Phil and Clayton Hayhoe, firsts; Shirley Moore, second; and Max Bence second. This gave the county six pens and three second placings.

Rabbit—Irwin and Evelyn Jolis and Ted Noble exhibited the two pens, which all took firsts. Roy Proctor, Jerry Ruckert and Robert Lucke represented Ingham county in the third year exhibit of handicraft.

In the electrical third year exhibit Garth Larner, Elwyn Hanna and Stanley Larner won red ribbons.

Ingham's corn exhibit made by George Ellison of Mason; Gerald Brown of Eaton Rapids; Frank Frost, Williamston; Carolyn Lum-hart of Leslie and Gordon Monroe, Webberville, received a red ribbon placing.

Richard Hall received a blue ribbon for his potato exhibit. Placing second were Aaron Hyde, Richard Heag, Mackie Black, Larry Mills and Rex Abbott.

Ingham's first year canning exhibit received a white ribbon placing. Janet Hill, Kathleen Huttonbeck, Mary Ann Singer, Joyce Combs and Kathryn Kuhres were the exhibitors.

Second placings for the second year canning exhibit went to Sandra Starckland, Mason; Carolyn Stank, Hasket; Leda Shirley, Mason; Ina Baker, Leslie; and Richard Dodge, Eaton Rapids.

Third year canning blue ribbon winners were Ruth Combs, Williamston; Ann Martineau, Norma Elbert and Betty Clark, all of Mason.

Lansing Attorney Explains Laws Which Become Effective Sept. 23

Under the direction of Russell A. Searl, formerly of Mason, a series of articles has been prepared on Michigan laws which become effective September 23. Searl is chairman of the State Bar committee on legislation and law reform. The series has been prepared as a public service of the State Bar of Michigan. The articles are objective in nature and carry no comment on the relative worth of the legislation, but do present the most important facts to alert the people to the changes these laws represent.

On September 23 practically all of the 317 public acts passed at the 1949 regular session of the legislature and signed by Governor G. Mennen Williams will take effect. The purpose of this series of articles is, first, to refresh the public in regard to the general provisions of such acts on the eve of their effective date, and, second, to call attention to a number of acts of general interest, but which are not of sufficient importance to catch the headlines at the time of their enactment. Of the 341 bills introduced in the senate and 546 bills introduced in the house of representatives, a total of 331 were passed by both houses. Of these, eight were vetoed by Governor Williams, none of the vetoes being overridden, one was recalled by the legislature, and five applied to purely local situations and are classified as local acts.

Of the bills enacted, only one, Public Act No. 1, was initiated by petition. This measure would authorize the sale of colored oleomargarine. The initiation of bills by petition, although seldom resorted to, is authorized by our state constitution. Under the constitution, the legislature must either enact such legislation without amendment within 40 days from the date the measure is received by the legislature or else submit it to the voters at the next general election. The legislature chose to enact the bill.

However, it is still problematical whether this will go into effect on September 23, if at all.

Various associations of the dairy industry caused referendum petitions to be circulated and they have already obtained sufficient signatures which will prevent the measure from going into effect. This will cause the issue to be submitted to the voters at the general November, 1950 election. The referendum action was taken under the referendum provision of the constitution which provides that if a petition is filed with the signatures of qualified and registered voters equal in number to five per cent of the total votes cast for governor at the last election at which a governor was delected, the act shall not go into effect, but instead the issue shall be submitted at the next general election. Thus, the unusual situation is presented that the bill was originally initiated by petition under the initiative provision requiring petitions signed by eight per cent of the total votes cast for governor, but the effect thereof was withheld by obtaining referendum petitions from five per cent of the voters.

Constitutional Amendment
The legislature proposed but one amendment to the constitution which will also be voted upon at the next general election. This is a non-controversial amendment to the constitutional provisions having to do with qualifications of electors by striking out certain language which, with the passage of years, has become obsolete.

Taxes
No new taxes were adopted. However, the threat of a potential deficit in the general fund before the end of the fiscal year on June 30, 1950, cast its shadow over the deliberations of the legislature throughout the session. Instead of the corporation income tax proposed by the governor, the legislature insisted on waiting for the appearance of any actual deficit before imposing any new taxes.

Sales Taxes
A sales tax upon used cars was proposed but it was defeated by a coalition of Republicans and Democrats. Measures were, however, adopted to tighten up "loop holes" in the general sales tax statute, mainly by providing the Department of Revenue with additional auditors. By other measures, the proceeds of certain minor taxes were transferred from special funds to the state's general fund.

Book Talk
from Ingham County Library
Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason, every day except Sundays and holidays, 2-5 p. m., Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.

MISS MALLETT is for those who read HICKORY STICK and felt repelled by the fact that there were practically no good people in the book, that all school systems, all schools and practically everyone in the towns represented were scoundrels. Things don't all go well, there are politicians, and there are characters who are in the game for the publicity and money involved, but there are also those who teach because they think children are important. Chief of these is Miss Mallett herself, a very human individual, who enjoys her work and the students she has, and feels that she has really done something when she can bring out the capabilities of even one youngster once in a while.

LET LOVE COME LAST is the recent novel of Taylor Caldwell. It has appeared in one of the women's magazines and we think should be read by those whose philosophy is that the world is made for the children. The chief character is a man who has had little in his own youth of what is commonly called "the better things of life" and is determined that his own children shall have everything, whether it interferes with the happiness of those around them or not. As a result, instead of receiving the love and respect of his children, he receives only dislike, for they feel that as adults they would have been happier for discipline.

NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE is Mark Van Doren's new book on the New England novelist. Much has been written of him, and this too seems in readable form.

AFTER THE STORM is a novel based on this question, "Can a woman conceal her past from her own husband?" The heroine knew that her college professor husband would never have married her had he known of that past. For seven years she lived happily, but then to the same town came the man who had shared that past.

MURDER WITHOUT WEAPONS is for the mystery fans. When Lila Ash plunged to her death down an abandoned log chute, everyone thought it an accident—but not Jess Roden, country sleuth and sheriff.

This week with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bunker.

Mrs. John Avery returned home Tuesday evening after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Riley, vacationing at Houghton Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Riley and family, Mrs. John Avery and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Avery and girls had Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Avery. All spent Monday at the Avery home.

Gas Station Is Damaged
An automobile driven by Lohman Laughner, 36, of Warren, Ohio, at an excessive rate of speed Saturday night failed to make the curve on US-127 at its junction with the Hill road, a mile north of Leslie. The car left the highway, cut off a utility pole and then, after traveling 30 feet, hit the front of John's Mobile service station knocking down a brick and cement pillar and cutting off two gasoline pumps. Laughner and his passengers, suffered but slight injuries which were treated by a Leslie physician. The Leslie fire department was called to stand by in case the gasoline from the pumps became ignited. They also aided the Ingham county sheriff's department to direct traffic around the place of the accident. Laughner's car was demolished and he was ticketed for reckless driving.

Railway Agent Transferred
Sam Blair, who has been the Leslie agent for the New York Central railway for the past four years, has been transferred to the system's office at Bay City. Blair's son, Robert, will work for the railroad in its Saginaw offices. There has been no replacement agent sent to Leslie.

A community reception will be given the teachers of the Leslie schools at the high school Thursday evening, September 15.
The new bowling alley building of Floyd Lantz on North Main street is being painted white and the eight new alleys are being installed.
The parsonage of the Leslie Baptist church is being given a new coat of white paint.

Couple United Saturday
The marriage of Richard G. Mitchell of Leslie to Mrs. Ruth E. Smith of Jackson was solemnized at the home of Rev. Edward J. Cross, North Main street, Saturday evening. They were accompanied by Clarence Downs of Leslie and Aileen Mayrie Estey of Jackson. The newlyweds will make their home in Jackson.

Melon Brank Backfires
What to do with those melon branks when the inner part has been eaten was solved the other evening when four teen-agers decided that the proper disposal of them was through the windows of the Leslie school house, two miles east of Leslie at the corner of the Jameville and Wright roads. Of course, they thought that no one would discover their method of disposal. But a little sleuthing on the part of Deputy Sheriff Ralph Dersham led to the apprehension of a Leslie lad who informed him that the five others, two boys and three girls, were from Pansville. Pansville Henry Seibert, of the Jackson state police, put in turn rounded up the Danville pranksters with the result that the quartet will have to pay for the school house windows and see that the mess made by the melon branks on the interior of the building is cleaned up.

The September meeting of the Women's Union of the Leslie Baptist church will be held at the church Wednesday noon, September 14. Mrs. Bertha Reeder will be the program leader and Mrs. Emma Shaw will have charge of the devotional exercises, both of which will follow the fellowship dinner.

The Ann Marie circle of the Leslie Methodist church will meet Thursday evening, September 14, at the home of Mrs. Robert Parker. Mrs. Eugene Townsend will be the co-hostess and Mrs. Denzel Parker will be in charge of the program.

First Candidate for Governor Has Catchy Campaign Slogan

Take the government out of the red and the reds out of government. That's the catchy campaign slogan being put to work by Thomas Stephen Leith, mayor of Brighton. He is the first candidate to publicly announce that he's seeking the Republican nomination for governor next year. Leith is a builder, former college instructor and athletic director and owns farm lands and business buildings.

Thomas Stephen Leith

Thomas Stephen Leith, mayor of Brighton, firm and commercial land-owner, builder, ex-college instructor and athletic director has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. Mayor Leith's announcement was at a dinner of Livingston county supervisors of which the mayor is a member. The city council had passed resolutions urging his candidacy. He is backed locally also by Livingston Young Republican Voters club. "In the interest of Republican success at the polls next year," said Mayor Leith, "I pledge myself to make a thorough, vigorous and complete campaign, carrying it into each of Michigan's 83 counties."

Polio Foundation Asks Dimes and Dollars Now to Pay for Patient Care in Epidemic of Infantile Paralysis Throughout Country

With thousands of children and adults in hospitals today as the result of current widespread polio epidemics, and with as many new cases likely to develop in the months just ahead, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has launched a Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive to provide immediate funds for patient care.

The price-tag on this year's epidemic will be so enormous, according to Basil O'Connor, National Foundation President, that $14,500,000 must be raised to meet the national polio bill.

During 1948, when there were 27,908 cases in the country, the highest number since the record total in 1918, the National Foundation and its Chapters spent $17,000,000 in March of Dimes funds to provide epidemic services, he said. With even more cases this year, it looks as though it may cost $23,000,000 in 1949 to pay for part of medical and hospital care which families cannot pay themselves.

By the end of August, as much money had been advanced in epidemic aid to National Foundation Chapters whose March of Dimes funds have been exhausted by the cost of care as was sent in all of 1948. The nation's total number of cases now is as large as a full year's toll in previous years, with predictions for at least double that number before December 31.

Furthermore, it is estimated that a minimum of $5,000,000 will be required to continue caring for 1949 patients who still need clinic or hospital treatment. The National Foundation gives assistance as long as medical care is necessary, regardless of age, race, creed or color.

The money raised in the Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive will be used exclusively for services to polio patients in all states, Mr. O'Connor said. Contributions may be mailed to POLIO, care of your local Post Office.

"This emergency drive is our only hope of providing care for patients without slowing up scientific research and professional education programs of the National Foundation," Mr. O'Connor explained. "It is an ironical fact that this heavy incidence, severely taxing March of Dimes resources, comes at a time when the nation's leading scientists are more hopeful of finding an answer to the problem than ever before.

"Scientists working under 68 March of Dimes grants at top medical and educational institutions are waging the largest research attack ever attempted against a single disease in this country, supported by March of Dimes funds. We must not interrupt the search for a solution because of lack of funds. We must—and we shall be able to do both jobs—help pay for the care of the stricken while finding a means of prevention or control—if the American people contribute now to carry the work through until the next March of Dimes in January."

Progress since 1938 when the National Foundation was formed, was indicated by Mr. O'Connor as follows:

More than $23,500,000 has gone into a comprehensive research and education program, seeking control of polio and training of experts—virologists, orthopedists, pediatricians, public health physicians, nurses, physical therapists, and other medical workers—to make up the professional army now battling the disease in laboratories and hospital wards.

At least $58,000,000 had gone for patient care, prior to 1949, in payment of polio bills families could not meet themselves; in staffing and equipping polio centers for modern care and treatment, in establishing equipment depots in six strategic locations throughout the country from which respirators, hot pack machines, beds, crutches and other emergency supplies can be rapidly dispatched to hard-hit areas.

"We know now that fully 75% of those stricken make good recoveries if good treatment is available," Mr. O'Connor said. "Surely no one would deny a child a three-to-one chance of recovery because of lack of money."

The address is POLIO, care of your local Post Office. Send as much as you can—as fast as you can—today!

Charles Hazel-Ardeana Holmes Wed at Muskegon Baptist Church

First Baptist church in Muskegon was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon at four o'clock when Ardenna Marie Holmes became the bride of Charles E. Hazel. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holmes of 987 Catherine avenue, Muskegon. Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Hazel of 3243 Barnes road, Mason, are the bridegroom's parents.

Rev. Donald Gray of East Lansing heard the couple repeat their nuptial vows in a double-blessing ceremony. Reverend Gray also officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents. Baskets of white gladioli, palms and candelabra holding lighted tapers banded the church altar for the afternoon rites.

Henry Trentler was the vocalist. His selections were, "Pecanue," "I Love Thee" and "Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Irene Kolkema.

Patricia S. Harrell was the bride's maid of honor. Sisters of the bride, Catherine and Carol Holmes, were bridesmaids. Robert Droscha of Mason was the bridegroom's best man. Guests were seated by Norman Keesal of Chicago and Robert Maine of Mason.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white taffeta gown. The frock was fashioned with a light fitting bodice buttoned down the back to the waist, cap sleeves and full gathered skirt. There was a scallop trimming on the sleeves, neck and bottom of the wedding gown. She wore a fingertip veil which fell from a beaded tiara and her long fingerless gloves went above the elbows. She carried a bouquet of gladioli centered with an orchid.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore taffeta gowns styled similar to the bride's. Miss Harrell was attired in yellow and Catherine and Carol Holmes wore frocks of pink and blue respectively. Matching mitts and shirred ribbon tiaras completed their costumes. The three attendants carried bouquets of gladioli complementing their gowns.

A dark gray two-piece fall dress was selected by Mrs. Holmes for her daughter's marriage. She wore pink gloves and pinned to the shoulder of her gown was a corsage of pink gladioli. Mrs. Hazel chose a dark green crepe dress and black accessories for the wedding. Her shoulder corsage was also made up of pink gladioli.

Immediately following the ceremony the newlyweds greeted their guests, who were present from Mason, Lansing, Leslie, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Chicago, and Mt. Pleasant in the church parlors. Bouquets of gladioli, pink and white crepe paper streamers and paper wedding bells decorated the church parlors for the occasion. Wedding cake, ice cream, coffee and punch were served by Betty Bromley, Shirley Radonacher, Beverly Bayer, Beverly Morey and Janet Kriesel. Nondes Morea of Leslie had charge of the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazel are honeymooning in northern Michigan this week. For traveling the new Mrs. Hazel chose a tan tweed suit, accented with dark brown accessories.

The bridegroom graduated from Mason high school in 1945. He is now attending Michigan State college. His bride, a graduate of North Muskegon high school with the class of 1947, has been employed at the Y. W. C. A. in Muskegon. When they return from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hazel will reside in East Lansing.

Mrs. Maude Merrill of Muskegon visited Mrs. O. H. Freeland, Mrs. Hattie Freeland and the John Shepards Tuesday and Wednesday. Charles Bartlett of Williamston visited his grandmother, Mrs. Elsie Bartlett, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Colonel Stanly was a guest of Mrs. H. J. Stanly at East Lansing Thursday.

FAMILY FOOD NEWS

CONSUMER EDUCATION PROGRAM
Agricultural Economics Section

If you are still planning to can tomatoes or make tomato juice, do it soon, advises Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist at Michigan State college.

Baskets of red, ripe tomatoes from Michigan fields and gardens will be in good supply in the retail stores until about September 15 as another of this season's "best buys."

"Eating one good-sized ripe tomato a day as a fresh vegetable," Miss Bodwell adds, "will provide you with half your needed vitamin C, as well as a good share of vitamin A."

In contrast to colonial days, when they were considered poisonous, tomatoes have gained high favor for their high vitamin C content, fine flavor and texture.

Miss Bodwell points out that vitamin C is the vitamin which prevents scurvy and builds strong teeth. This vitamin cannot be stored in the body—it must be supplied in the diet daily. Tomatoes rank with citrus fruits in our vitamin C. They are usually plentiful when citrus fruits are scarce.

We get the most good from tomatoes when we eat them raw and fresh, Miss Bodwell says. However, they keep most of their vitamin value when properly cooked or canned.

Here are some of Miss Bodwell's suggestions for buying and using tomatoes:

1. Buy mature, firm, uniformly ripe tomatoes, smooth and regular in shape. Try to avoid deep scars and cracks in the stem end.
2. Medium-sized tomatoes usually have the best shape, are easy to peel and slice. Smaller sizes are best for canning.
3. Tomatoes not fully ripe do not have to be kept in the refrigerator to preserve quality. Those about to turn ripe will ripen best at moderately cool room temperature, in either sunlight or shade.
4. Remember that tomatoes are easy to can, and may be put up either hot or cold. They make an excellent and economical winter vegetable supply from the fruit cellar.
5. For canning, plan on getting about 15 to 20 quarts from one bushel of fresh tomatoes, depending on the amount of waste.

Meeting Called Monday to Discuss New Okemos School Building

Public Forum

Next Monday night, September 12, at eight o'clock, there will be an open meeting in the auditorium of the Okemos Consolidated school for discussion of plans for a proposed new building. Here's a picture of the model of the building proposed.

Continued suburban development has made building absolutely necessary, school authorities point out. Children are now being housed in churches while three elementary rooms are being constructed. The three rooms will make up the south end of the west wing of the proposed plan. The money to pay for the three rooms now being built came from a special five-mill tax. This is the last year for spreading of the special tax.

To erect the building as shown in the picture will call for a bond issue of $285,000 spread over 15 years, with provisions made for an extra five years if a depression is encountered. The investment will call for a 13-mill building tax the first four years with a lesser millage ranging between 8 and 11 thereafter. The district is now debt-free and the 13-mill levy is only one mill more than in 1948, school officials explained.

School enrollment at Okemos has climbed from 248 in 1928 to 605 this year. Based on the present rate of growth the enrollment will reach 850 by 1954.

At Monday night's meeting a date will be set for voting on the building program. The vote will be taken sometime during the week of September 19, according to present plans.

Schedule Alumni Picnic

The 1949 meeting of the Holt school alumni will be held at the Potlatch park pavilion in Lansing on Saturday, September 10, six o'clock. All alumni, their families and friends are invited to attend. An informal picnic will highlight the evening. A short business meeting and a recreation program will follow the supper. Those attending are to take a cash to pass and table service.

Confer Masonic Degrees

Holt Masonic lodge No. 572 starts the new season with a full calendar. Thursday evening, September 8, the lodge will confer the first degree; September 15, the first degree; September 22, the first degree; and September 29, the second degree. The degrees will be conferred at 7:30 o'clock.

Cream Social Is Success

The homemade ice cream and cake social held on the lawn of the R. and Mrs. Lyman Armour last Friday night was a huge success.

Proceeds, amounting to $32, will be used to buy more equipment for the Presbyterian primary department of the church school, of which Mrs. Armour is superintendent.

Attend School Conference

Members of the Holt school faculty, their husbands and wives and the board of education left for Wadsworth Tuesday afternoon for a two-day conference. The two-day program included instruction for teachers in the use and operation of visual and sound equipment, and general and group meetings. School will open Friday morning.

Arrested for Reckless Driving

Robert E. Miller, 406 North Walnut street, Lansing, appeared before Justice of Peace Alvin Hartig Friday for reckless driving. He was fined $25 and costs of $2.50. He was ticketed by Deputy Robert Lorenzen of the sheriff's department.

Circle Meeting Planned

The Josephine-Rose circle of the Presbyterian Women's association will hold its next meeting with Mrs. Sarah Butler on Thursday, September 15. Co-hostess will be Nora DeLashmuth. Devotions will be given by Ethel Thorburn and the program, by Helen Knowles, will be on "China."

Legion Auxiliary Officers

To be installed September 15. New officers of the American Legion Auxiliary will be installed in the home economics room of the school house, Thursday, September 15, at eight o'clock. Mrs. Mary Darling of Howell, president of the sixth district, will be the installing officer.

New officers to be installed are: Mrs. Hazel Grimes, president; Mrs. Electa Quenby, first vice-president; Mrs. Vera Whipple, second vice-president; Mrs. Vina Haver, treasurer; Mrs. Marie Pratt, secretary; Mrs. Florence Blair, chaplain; Mrs. Margaret Reasoner, historian; and Mrs. Pearl Maugh and Mrs. May Walters, sergeant-at-arms.

There will be no social meeting for the auxiliary during the month of September. The 1950 dues are due, and each member is asked to give it to the secretary or president.

Garden Club Completes Plans

For Flower Show September 17-18. Holt Garden club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Nora DeLashmuth. Regular business was transacted with the president, Mrs. Mary Dixon, presiding. Final plans for the annual flower show to be held September 17 and 18 at the schoolhouse, in the home economics room, were completed. Any one having flowers, who would like to enter them, is asked to do so. Ribbons will be given and outstanding entries will receive awards.

Mrs. Ethel Nueffer is general chairman of the show with Maude Dulling as chairman of the reception committee and Mrs. Harriet Elicby as clerk. Nora DeLashmuth and Peggy Byington will assist the judges.

Lenore Boettcher reported on the club's exhibit at the county fair for which the club received first prize on its display of house plants. The prize was $15.00.

Appointed to the nominating committee during the business meeting were Lillian Langham, Peggy Byington and Etta Buck. The hostess served cookies and tea.

Aged Man Dies Tuesday

At Home in Lansing. F. E. Van Houten, 92, of Lansing, father of Mrs. Nellie Ellis, died Tuesday at his home.

Besides Mrs. Ellis, he is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. Nettie Shellhorn of Lake Odessa, Mabel Stone of Redondo Beach, California, and Kathryn Morris of Denver, Colorado; eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at 2:30 from Gorsline-Rumciman funeral home in Lansing. Rev. Wilson Tennant of the Brotherhood Temple Methodist church will officiate. Burial will be in Deepdale cemetery.

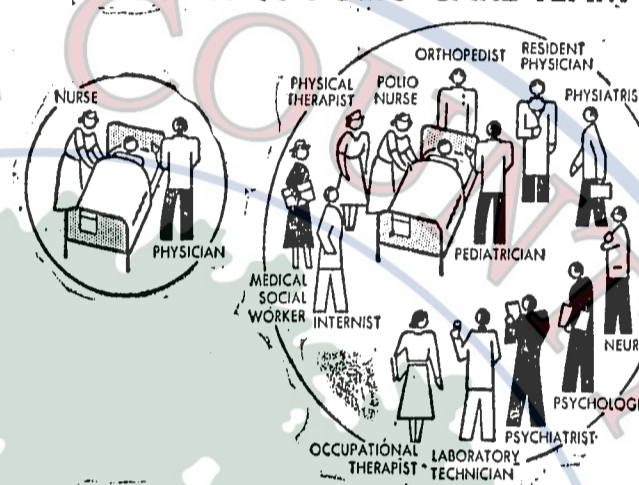

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Waters and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Altman of Leipsic, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Arland Coolman of New Augusta, Indiana, were week end guests at the F. F. Russell home.

Miss Ann Eaglin of Chicago arrived Saturday to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Blair. On Tuesday the Blairs and their guest visited his mother in Zeeland.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Karker attended the double header ballgame at Detroit Monday.

Past Noble Grand club of the Holt Rebekah lodge will meet with Mrs. Nettie Himeberger Wednesday, September 14.

GROWTH OF POLIO CARE TEAM

Medical care for polio patients is costing the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis more money than ever before because better treatment is available today than formerly, as the accompanying chart reveals. Until 1938 when the National Foundation was formed, a physician and a nurse usually comprised the best available care. Today, modern polio treatment may include 13 specialized services, provided by an entire TEAM of professional workers. This expanded care has cost National Foundation Chapters millions in March of Dimes funds. More money is needed immediately to continue these services. Support the POLIO EPIDEMIC EMERGENCY DRIVE to help care for today's POLIO patients. Send your contribution now to POLIO, care of your local Post Office.

Mr. and Mrs. Maclynn Kincaid and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morrison of Kalamazoo spent the holiday week end at the Mary Dixon home. While here they visited Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ralston and Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Kincaid of Lansing.

Mrs. Lydia Matthei of Junction City, Kansas, and Rev. and Mrs. Milton Matthei of Valley Center, Kansas, visited their cousin, Mrs.

Mary Alberts, and family from Tuesday to Saturday of last week.

Mrs. Elsie Munday of Lakewood, Ohio, is convalescing at the home of Mrs. Ida Phelps after a serious operation at the University hospital, Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mitchell and family of 1941 Chestnut street moved to Elsie over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jennings are visiting her mother at New Bedford, Massachusetts. Enroute east they also visited friends in Ulica, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Marston Dixon spent the holiday week end with her brothers in Coldwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Nickols and children spent the week end at Higgins lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holland and son, Michael, and Homer Phelps of Chicago were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Phelps on Schoolcraft street Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Tracey and children, Jane Ann and John, spent the week end with her parents in Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wade and family spent the holiday week end at Thornapple lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Langham were hosts at a birthday dinner in honor of Mrs. Flossie Griffin Tuesday evening. Other guests were Mr. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. William Griffin and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Budd.

Women of the Holt Presbyterian church are asked to meet at the church next Tuesday, September 13, with equipment to clean the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Black and children, Florence Elaine and Barbara of St. Clair Shores, visited friends in Holt over the week end. Mr. Black was a former member of Holt school faculty.

Miss Sarah Thayer, nurse in Ford hospital, Detroit, spent the week with the Alan Alberts family at their cottage at Holland lake. Other visitors at the cottage were Mr. and Mrs. Don Sheathelm of Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Morey and son, Jeffery, spent the holiday week end with her aunt at Brown City.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davis and daughter, Harriet Ann, and Mrs. J. M. Elberby are spending two weeks at Boyne Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Van DeLashmuth and children of Detroit spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van DeLashmuth, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mathias.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Smith had as their guests over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baxter and two daughters of Buffalo, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Singer and son of Lansing. Mrs. Baxter and Mr. Singer are the daughter and son of Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Guggenbiller spent Labor Day week end at Missaukee lake.

Mr. and Mrs. George Salm and daughter, Sue, and Mr. and Mrs. William Carlyon spent the holiday week end at the Ausable river.

Roger Parker, Tom Botsford, Arthur Hartig and Earl Tooker spent last week at a cottage at Almond Langham's resort at Houghton Lake. Mr. Botsford took the boys to the lake and Glenn Tooker brought them home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gower Chapman had as their guests at their cabin near West Branch over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaffer and Mr. and Mrs. William Tietz of Mason.

Questions Steer Story

Just where is the "unfenced square section" "two miles south of Leslie" where Joy Davis and Charles Swartout did their hunting? I think I know all the sections hereabouts and I know of none so deserted as the one designated. For my own information I would like to know just where it is. What highways bound this unfenced area? Show me.

As cross as usual,
E. J. CROSS

Not a Bum Steer

The unfenced section where we have hunted the steer is bounded on the west by the Michigan Central tracks, on the north by the Base Line road, and on the south by the Territorial road. On the east in State road. The only secure fences we found are those at the back of farms fronting State road.

An joyous as ever,
JOY O. DAVIS

Also Repairing Barn

As a reader of The Ingham County News it was with interest that I read the article under date of August 25, by Vernon J. Brown of his endeavor to restore the old homestead barn primarily because it bore similarities to my own latest endeavor of a like job.

In 1853, which date is a little too recent to let me in on Governor Williams' invitation to be his guest at the state fair, my grandfather, Daniel J. Perrine, came from the state of New York and settled on a tract of land 13 miles straight south of Mason. The northeast corner of the farm joins the southwest corner of the cement bridge that spans the noble Grand and on which I have spent my entire life, which, by the way, did not begin, as so many things did, during the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Ever since I purchased the interest of the members of my family, like Mr. Brown, I have had the desire to repair the old farmstead barn, which with the exception of the roof end that carried a Jackson Clothier ad, long since invisible, has braced the same winds and storms winter and summer for more than 75 years, without the soft touch of a painter's brush. All that has prevented me from doing so was the lack of extra cash, but at last I am in the fight.

I did not have to do any digging or moving as Mr. Brown did but I did pay a mover $300 to jack up and level the old frame so as to repair the present foundation. I have this far removed the old siding from the south side and two ends and replaced with new siding on which my intentions are to try some paint. I also removed some oak siding that the elements had worn to a quarter of an inch. Last summer I surprised the north side by letting a painter spray it with paint and think it will go another 75 years. The job is not completed as yet as the roof has to be replaced but I have proceeded far enough to know the answer was right that was given to a farmer of my acquaintance who asked a contractor if he could remodel the old home and what the expense might be. He was told that it could be done without costing much more than the price of a new one but that he would have the consolation of knowing that at least a part of it was new.

WILL PERRINE

been spending a few weeks with her cousin, Mrs. George Thorburn, and other relatives in this vicinity, returned to their home the past week.

Michigan State Offers 'Oklahoma' On College Stage

America's record-breaking musical, "Oklahoma," will appear on the stage of the Michigan State college auditorium for three performances, Monday and Tuesday, September 26-27.

Now in its third year at Drury Lane Theatre, London, "Oklahoma" holds the house record in every city played in the U. S. and Canada, and holds the world's record for consecutive performances of a musical in a single city—2,246 in New York City.

The Rodgers and Hammerstein hit will be presented at 2:20 and 8:20 p. m. Monday, and 8:20 Tuesday evening. Seats will be on sale at the MSC Union desk starting September 12. The production is not a part of the college's regular lecture-concert series, and is one of two special numbers scheduled during the regular college year.

Mary Marlo as "Aunt Eller," the breezy frontier farm owner and social leader, takes the soprano lead in "Oklahoma."

Lower Small Town Living Costs Can Lure Manufacturing Plants

By Gene Alleman
(Michigan Press Association)

Everyone knows that it costs less to live in a Michigan small town.

The worker's dollar goes further.

That is why a lower hourly wage rate can buy just as much as a higher hourly wage rate in the big town. The worker usually has less distance to travel to and from work; he finds rents to be lower. He can purchase a home for less money. Even the carpenter's bill will be less. Foodstuffs are more reasonably priced, too.

And, as any manufacturer will tell you, lower labor cost is needed in a small town if the company is to compete with the low unit cost of goods produced in the city by big-volume mass production methods. Only a big plant can afford big machines.

It has been the experience of many Michigan small towns that industry prospers, and payrolls grow for workers, where a differential in labor cost prevails. Where union organizers induce the workers to demand city wages, production costs get out of hand. The plant often has to close.

These observations grow out of the "Michigan Mirror" survey of new industry in Michigan small towns, of which this is the concluding report. Belding lost a hosiery mill for just this reason. Baldwin's new industry to make bases and crates for Gibson refrigerators and General Electric stoves and deep freezers has been closed repeatedly because of excessive labor demands. A Muskegon firm proposed to open a foundry in Baldwin. When the labor situation at the Packing Material company came to a head, the Muskegon division located elsewhere.

At Oscoda a community progress club sponsored a "building boom" to provide a plant for the Oscoda Door Manufacturing company.

At Kaleva in Manistee county is a prime example of American free enterprise. Like the maker of the better mouse trap, William Mahtien developed a bait that caught fish. His home workshop has grown into an assembly line plant employing 70 persons at peak production. Seven salesmen were on the road last spring. The season's production by August 1 was 2,000,000 baits!

The Kaleva story is one of economic opportunity through individual enterprise and willingness to risk individual savings.

Other Michigan small town reports in capsule form:

Montague—Chamber of Commerce raised $5,000 for new foundry. Foundry employs 30 men. Machine shop may eventually employ 40.

Elk Rapids—Elk Rapids Packing company began operations July 12, 1948. This year approximately 4,000,000 pounds of sour cherries and 200,000 pounds of sweet cherries were packed. Total employment was 220 persons. Robinson Metal Products, employing five persons, produces a plywood paddleboat for water sports.

Birmingham—Asphalt pavement mix plant of Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., NYC. General offices and warehouse of Great Lakes Tractor and Equipment company.

Boscawen—Branch of Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee, producing electric welders, truck cranes and sugar cane loaders; 200 employees. Wells Crate and Lumber company, 50 workers. Fence company of America, rustic fences, pre-fab cabins, 75 workers. Jacobson Furniture company, 40 workers.

Boscawen—Glove company, branch of Chicago firm, 40 workers. Della Furniture company, insulation manufacturers Corp., 15 workers.

Ontonagon—New industry produces cement block called "Brickcrete."

Bellevue—Cheney Limestone company, extracting lime, crushing for agricultural lime, road chips. Nine employees. Rickman Roofing company, five to 12 men.

Greenville—Gibson 1949 wage figure is 250 per cent higher than comparable week of 1940. Federal Mogul also way ahead of pre-war.

Midland—Dow Chemical company is still expanding.

Grand Haven—Nine new local industries, none of them branch plants! A few examples: Michigan Plastic Products, Toys, aquariums.

Coldwater—Federal-Mogul Service, branch of Detroit firm, has expanded.

These examples indicate the opportunity still exists for new industry in Michigan small towns.

Comedy, Harmony and Action at Fox

Film fare for every palate is offered at the Fox this coming week. Dorothy Lamour, Brian Donlevy and Claire Trevor are together in Jack Benny's gangland farce, "The Lucky Stiff." Saturday, Coming Sunday and Monday is Doris Day in the tuneful "My Dream Is Yours." On Tuesday and Wednesday Kirk Douglas will appear in Ring Lardner's "Champion."

In Jack Benny's initial film production, the trigger-happy mystery comedy, "The Lucky Stiff," at the Fox Saturday, there's a definite change of film pace. In this uproarious film, based on the popular Craig Rice who-dunit, it's the women who get more than their share of rough treatment, while the man in their lives, handsome Brian Donlevy, is treated like the proverbial saint. The women are Donlevy's co-stars, Dorothy Lamour and Claire Trevor.

Miss Lamour plays a nightclub singer who is not only accused of murder, but tried and sentenced to die by electrocution. Poor Dorothy is sent to prison where she dons a dull prison gown, gets the traditional "hairdo" and, finally, makes the grim march to the chair. Later, in the interest of the unique plot, she comes back masquerading as a lovely ghost.

As for Claire Trevor, she plays the role of Brian Donlevy's long-suffering secretary in the film. She's in love with her boss secretly and has to coddle him while he carries a heavy torch for Miss Lamour and other lovelies.

On the other hand, Donlevy, as the astute attorney-detective, John J. Malone, has a fine time. All the women love him and he can take his choice. Even his "business is good—so good in fact that he can pluck $4,500 out of a geranium plant!"

Filmed in Technicolor, "My Dream Is Yours" is a gray new Technicolor musical with Jack Carson and Lee Bowman starred along with Doris Day. It will feature the Fox program Sunday and Monday.

The film tells the story of a radio talent huckster, played by Carson, who introduces a sparkling new songbird, Doris Day, on the airwaves. The case includes also Adolphe Menjou, Eve Arden and S. Z. "Cuddles" Sakall.

Production values are high, what with the eminent director Michael Curtiz at the controls and the Warner studio going all out to give the Technicolor film the same high type entertainment elements as some of the other big musical films which came out of the Burbank, Cal., lot in the last few years.

Frankie Carle and his piano, and Ada Leonard and an all-girl band, are but two of the added features woven into the picture. A novel sequence in the film presents Bugs Bunny, Warner's popular cartoon star, plus song and dance dream-land. Carson and Doris are also prominent in this production number.

"My Dream Is Yours," "Love Finds a Way," "Someone Like You" and "The Tie" are the four new Warren-Blane songs which are presented.

Lardner's Classic Filmed For more than 30 years, Ring Lardner's short story, "Champion," has remained a challenge to the screen. It has been numbered among the classics labeled "Too Roman and Too Alibright" as the three women in his life, United Artists is releasing the film scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday at the Fox.

Tensely emotional and cruelly realistic, "Champion" tells the story of Midge Kelly, handsome and ruthless, a king among fighters and a wrecker of other people's lives, in his unrelenting drive to the top. The three women in his life, the men who pluck him virtually from the gutter and raise him to fame and fortune, are left forever with the sordid bruises caused by contact with this idol of an adoring public. No one who knows him escapes uninjured.

Jungle Film Booked When a young girl is lost in the wild African jungles, many unusual things happen in Monogram's "Bomba, the Jungle Boy," due next Thursday and Friday at the Fox theatre. Adapted from Roy Rockwood's popular book of the same name, the picture co-stars Johnny Sheffield, who played "Boy" in the Tarzan film series, and Peggy Ann Garner. This adventure drama is filled with excitement. It depicts one of the Doris Day and Jack Carson in a scene from their latest Technicolor musical comedy "My Dream Is Yours." Lee Bowman also stars. The feature will be shown at the Fox on.

Jack Benny's first production effort is "The Lucky Stiff." Dorothy Lamour, Brian Donlevy and Claire Trevor are shown above in a scene from the Craig Rice mystery-comedy.

Marilyn Maxwell is one of the many women in the life of Kirk Douglas, boxer and woman fancier in the title role of the "Champion."

No Slump Appears In Property Deals

Property is changing hands at a fast pace in Ingham county, according to Mrs. Ethel L. Phillips, register of deeds. If there is a real estate slump it has not yet struck Ingham. Recording fees for August went above $2,300, and there have been only three other months in history when fees added up to that much.

The revenue of the register's office in August was $2,311.65. Recording of deeds came to $639.90, the highest since October of 1948; mortgage recording fees were $704.35 and chattel recording yielded $707.25.

May of 1946 with $2,342.55 in revenue is still high for the Ingham register's office with May of 1948 standing at $2,341.95, and October of 1947 reaching $2,329.35.

College Game Off At Howell Field

Wayne University and Bowling Green State University football teams will not clash at the Howell high school athletic field Friday night, September 9, as was planned.

The reason given for the cancellation is the difference in the amount of practice time between Wayne and Bowling Green in preparing for the contest. Lou Zarza, Wayne's head coach, pointed out that the additional time that Bowling Green had devoted to practice would give them a decided edge and would make the game uninteresting for the spectators.

"We didn't begin our drill until September 2," said Zarza, "and since I'd want my squad to look its very best for the Howell fans, I know that we couldn't possibly be ready."

That was the official excuse for calling it off. According to Detroit sports writers, however, the main reason was a dispute over the split of the proceeds.

The Mason Odd Fellows of Vevey lodge gathered at the home of Clarence Krey Saturday, forming a work bee to fill his silo. The Rebekahs served dinner to the 25 men at the I. O. O. F. hall in Mason at noon.

H. R. Anderson attended the 32nd division reunion at Grand Rapids over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Foote and family and Mrs. Bertha Hodges of Lansing were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Court and family of Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bedell and sons were dinner guests of Mrs. Myrtle Owens of Leslie Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osborne and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Noble and family left for Lake Saturday. Mr. Osborne returned home Monday. The others are staying on for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Droscha and family were Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Childs.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Krantz and Mr. and Mrs. William Klont were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Krantz Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bedell and family of Detroit spent Labor Day with Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bedell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Montel Snow and family spent the last week of August touring northern Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quevieve and family of Mason were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Henry Anderson, Mrs. Ralph Hewitt and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hewitt attended the Richard reunion at Turk lake Sunday.

Ralph Hewitt, who has been confined to his home with an injured knee, is able to be out again.

Northwest Ingham Mrs. Ami Terrill

Mr. and Mrs. James Cielkner of Dearborn called on Mrs. Ina Davidson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Adorf were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Zola Osborne and Grant Cliff. Last week callers at the Osborne home were Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes of Leslie, Mrs. Lillie Bailey of Dunsville, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Maiville of Dearborn and Mrs. Ina Davidson.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Maiville returned to Dearborn last Friday after spending a week with Mrs. Ina Davidson.

Grant Cliff, who spent the summer with his great-grandmother, Mrs. Zola Osborne, returned home Thursday to attend school at Michigan Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Ami Terrill spent from Wednesday until Monday at Gunn lake. Enroute home they called on Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Simpson at their new home, in Mason.

Ladonna Nims won high honors at the 4-H club show at Michigan State college last week with her floral entry.

Tanks holding water for tropical homes usually contain small fish put there to eat mosquito larvae.

Legislature Sets New Schedule For Recording of Legal Papers

Beginning September 23, a new schedule of fees will govern the recording of papers in offices of registers of deeds' all over the state. The 1949 legislature passed Act 32, which applies to all counties in the state.

According to Mrs. Ethel L. Phillips, the new schedule will create changes in recording fees but not necessarily any substantial overall increases. All fees in Ingham go to the county, Mrs. Phillips said. Schedules setting forth the new fees will be distributed before the operative date of the changed schedule.

Under the new system, the fees will be figured on a rate-per-page basis instead of a rate-per-100 words, which has been the custom for years.

Under the new law the fee will be computed at $1.00 for the first page and 75¢ for each succeeding page, unless the pages exceed 1000 words. In that event, the rate is doubled. A half-page is figured at 50¢.

This new manner of computing fees has been brought about by the use of photographic equipment as a means of copying legal papers. Practically 75 per cent of the counties and 90 per cent of the people of Michigan are served by photo-recorders in their registers of deeds offices now, Mrs. Phillips said.

The old system of figuring fees at a rate per 100 words basis dates back to the old days when records were copied long-hand and has carried through the years when they were copied by typing, the Ingham official pointed out.

Paul Robeson's Right to Sing

The entire United States and probably Russia too has been interested in the conflict over Paul Robeson's right to sing. It is likely true that the Robeson concert was arranged to engender conflict. That was probably part of the plan. Robeson addressed communist gatherings in France, Denmark and other European countries a few months ago. In those addresses he condemned the United States and lauded Soviet Russia. His utterances have come close to being treasonable. His concert was designed to foster strife.

Paul Robeson has a right to sing, despite his disloyal utterances. Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York did right in calling out extra state police and ordering sheriffs to provide extra deputies to guarantee Robeson's right to sing at his public concert.

Restoring This Planet

Near Bellevue in Eaton county next Thursday, September 15, men and machines will be working to restore a little piece of this planet. It will be a farm facelifting demonstration. Farmers and others who attend will see what can be done to restore and conserve the wealth of the soil.

High on the best seller list is "Our Plundered Planet." That's a book that every person in the world should read. It shows how all the ancient civilizations perished because the wealth of the soil was wasted. Palestine was once fertile. Then it grew barren. That same thing happened to Greece, to Italy and to Spain. Once the hills and mountains were clothed with trees to hold back the water. Once the luxuriant grass prevented erosion. Then the trees were cut and the mountain slopes were plowed. The water ran off, taking the rich topsoil with it. Rivers became choked with silt. What were once great cities today lie buried.

The same thing happened in China. It is happening today in Central and South America.

In just a hundred years this vast continent has been denuded of forests. Its rivers are now filling up with silt. Lands once productive are now barren.

With the world's population increasing at the fastest rate in history there must be conservation of soil productivity and fertility or we'll all face starvation.

We know better than to wash away the topsoil. We know better than to choke our rivers with silt. We know better than to lay waste the greatest wealth ever inherited by any people. It's time we did better.

One good thing about soil conservation is that the farmer who practices it helps himself immediately. The benefits become apparent every time it rains and every time a crop is harvested. Those benefits increase with the years. True it is, the benefits are more apparent if entire communities practice soil conservation, yet there are benefits if just one man in a neighborhood practices it. Both he and his neighbors will quickly see those benefits.

Don't Blame England

No American should blame the English for coming over to get another "loan." Neither should Americans blame Tito, Franco, Chiang or any foreigner for trying to get "loans" from the United States. No one should be blamed for accepting gifts from Uncle Sam. Actually, blame should attach to any foreigner who doesn't ask for one of those "loans" which are never repaid.

No foreign statesmen can be doing his duty to his own country if he doesn't try to cash in at Washington. No foreign statesman can be considered as a good provider if he doesn't demand cash from Uncle Sam.

The men to blame for the squandering of U. S. funds are not the foreigners. They are the Americans who can't or won't say no.

The men to blame for the Washington squandering are the same ones who made such terrible mistakes at Yalta, Teheran and Potsdam. They are the same ones who turned friendly and helpless China over to the Russian Communists. They are the same ones who gave Poland and Czechoslovakia to the Russian Communists. After opening the doors of all Asia, the Middle East and Eastern Europe to the Russians these American second guessers are now trying to make us believe that a few more billion dollars here and there will close those doors.

Even Tito, an avowed enemy of the United States, is receiving aid from American taxpayers.

Tito, isn't to blame for trying and for getting aid. Neither are the others. They all recognize a soft touch.

Don't blame the political leaders of any foreign country for getting U. S. funds. Those leaders are elected and kept in power by their ability to serve their own countries. Things are different over here.

police in effective numbers are seldom called out to guarantee a man his right to work.

Here in Michigan, as well as in New York, the police usually look the other way when men asked to be guaranteed the right to work. The same groups which backed Robeson in his right to sing are the very forces which in New York and elsewhere insist that no one has a right to work unless a labor leader says so.

Robeson's followers have picketed the federal court where Communist leaders are on trial. Robeson's followers have been engaged in picketing in all the major strikes in the United States in the last 15 years. They have maintained that no one has the right to prevent picketing. Yet in the case of the Robeson concert those same forces have insisted that war veterans have no right to picket.

Wouldn't it be strange if the entire issue boiled down to this: That Robeson and anyone else has the right to stage a public concert anywhere and that any man or woman has the right to work anywhere, and to guarantee those rights government must provide adequate police?

Down by the Sycamore

Jumping at conclusions sometimes results in bad guesses. For 25 miles late Saturday afternoon my wife, Jim, Caroline and Margaret all joined me in speculating on the identity of the black haired woman with a black plume on her hat riding in the rear seat of Bob Ingham's car. We were headed north and had come up to the Ingham car. Never had we seen such jet black hair. Nor had we seen a plume which did so much bobbing and waving. We agreed that Bob should have had the front windows closed to cut down the breeze.

Finally at St. Louis we managed to cut out of the traffic and pass Ingham. It wasn't a black haired woman at all and she didn't have a plume. It was Junior Sisby's dog sitting on the rear seat. What we thought was a bobbing plume was the dog waving his tail.

I took advice from Floyd Harkness on the return journey home Monday afternoon. Instead of following crowded US-27 we swung south and east from Prudenville on M-18 to North Bradley, then southeast six miles on US-10 to strike M-30, south over M-30 to M-46, east 12 miles to M-47, down M-47 to M-78 and then southwest to the Lake Lansing cutoff and on to Mason. That trip over uncrowded highways is only about 25 miles farther than over US-27. We traveled leisurely through the beef cattle section of Gladwin county, down through the flat and fertile bean and sugar beet section of the Saginaw valley and through the pleasant towns of Gladwin, Beaverton, Merrill, Hemlock and St. Charles and bustling Owosso.

It was the first time any of us had been in Hemlock and we slowed down to see if girls' mouths ran a size or so bigger than normal. When I attended Larch street school in Lansing, Miss Williams warned us to always get the names of things straight or we might end up worse than we were. She told us about Mary who had a big mouth. Mary's mother took the girl to a doctor. The doctor ordered Mary to repeat the word "Spruce" 200 times a day for a month. He declared that the form of the lips in pronouncing Spruce would draw in the lips and make Mary's mouth appear smaller. A month later Mary and her mother returned to the doctor's office. Instead of being smaller, Mary's mouth was even bigger.

"I can't understand," the puzzled doctor sorrowfully said. "This is the first case I have ever had where the mouth has not grown smaller by saying 'Spruce'."

"Spruce! Spruce!" the mother moaned. "I must have forgotten. I had Mary say Hemlock."

Mrs. Claude Camp has a postal card showing how Leslie's Main street looked in 1910. The interurban track, then new, was down the middle of the unpaved street. Motormen and conductors from two Capital Limiteds posed with passengers and townspersons for the picture. Henry Liseney, then station agent at Leslie, was in it. At that time the Camps were living in Banff, Alberta, and the picture made them think of home. Mrs. Camp recalled last Friday when she ran across the relic.

The Leslie school board made a wise choice in selecting Mrs. William Grugel as principal of the elementary school. Mrs. Grugel (Lorraine Secord) entered the Ingham county normal after finishing Leslie high school. She was an outstanding rural teacher right from the start.

Mrs. William Schlack's luck may be turning. Last winter she lost three Mason store buildings by fire, her Rio Grande valley grapefruit crop by a freeze and her mother and other relatives in Belgium by death. To anyone less courageous the series of losses would have brought despondency. Mrs. Schlack went right ahead on the rebuilding of the Mason stores and with plans for another crop in the Rio Grande. Now oil has been struck just a mile away from her citrus grove and before spring the oil may be flowing from the Schlack grove. Then it will be an

Cities and Schools Spend Money Collected by State

By Vernon J. Brown

Vacation time is over for 1949 and soon we will all be thinking of the approach of cold weather and the long dark nights of winter. At the state capital, matters of government and more especially the fiscal side of state government are already coming to command more immediate and more serious attention than they have received since the beginning of the current administration on January 1.

To be sure, during the regular session of the state legislature public attention was focused somewhat on the prospective deficit in state revenues but because a state legislature is inclined to deal with realities rather than with possibilities, nothing was done.

No Deficit Yet
 In his inaugural message Governor G. Menren Williams pointed to a probable deficit, estimating it at somewhere about $25,000,000 by the end of that fiscal year. While complete and authentic figures have not yet emanated from the newly created department of administration, the probabilities are that the deficit as of last July 1 will be slight, if indeed there is any actual overspending of current revenues.

Now the governor is again pointing to a dire possibility of big deficits and has asked the Republican members of his official family, namely, D. Hale Brake, state treasurer, and Murl Aten, auditor general, just what they will do when the money runs out. He wants to know if, when funds available for general fund expenditures run low, certain bills will continue to be paid. The governor has also asked his own appointee, Robert F. Steadman, state controller, whether or not he will certify bills for payment in case such an emergency should arise. Still further fortifying himself against being held responsible for any financial crisis, the governor has asked the legislative general for his formal legal opinion.

Money Being Diverted
 The governor, it must be recalled, is a proponent of new taxes to be imposed on corporations to bolster a faltering state treasury depleted by diversion of most of the tax money coming from levies on retail purchases. This diversion is not something the state legislature devised. The diversion comes as the result of an amendment voted into the state constitution by the people, such vote following the filing of petitions signed by the electors of the state, ably led by mayors of cities and by board members and teachers of the public schools. The diversion was made all the more attractive by taking in township officials who had no particular use for the money but who now get about $8,000,000 a year more for spending than they ever dared to demand by way of a direct property tax.

New taxes provide one way out of the dilemma. With an ever-increasing welfare burden facing the state; with the insatiable greed of the school teachers already demonstrated, and the mayors of cities yapping at the heels of every governor, the legislators are hard pressed. They can well be excused for taking the easy way.

But the easy way is not the best way. Complete Overhaul Needed
 What Michigan needs and must have before it can hope to meet the legitimate demands made upon it is a complete overhaul of its revenue system.

There is more confusion in the public mind concerning state finance than can be found on any other public question. I have just finished reading a leading article signed by a well known newspaper writer in a Detroit Sunday newspaper. It is appalling how little real knowledge of state finance this writer reveals and how dense easy matter to turn on the heat when cold weather comes. And the royalty checks will also come in handy.

Teachers declare that the chief problem in teaching isn't teaching at all but the resistance to teaching, on the part of pupils, the lack of any or a proper desire to learn.

Olin Miller observed, "It's a great pity that things weren't arranged that an empty head like an empty stomach, wouldn't let its owner rest until he put something in it."

No matter how hungry we get we use some judgment in filling our stomachs. We choose what we think will agree with us. We don't chug starchy, carbonic acid, gravel or ground glass. Yet when our heads are empty we don't seem to care much what we fill them with. Offered at the schools, at churches and at libraries are wide selections of brain food—offered to any who ask for them.

Miss Mary Robinson of Leslie did one of the finest and bravest deeds that anyone could perform. For years Miss Frances Miller of Leslie wanted to drive to the West Coast. She was stricken with cancer of the throat and had only a few months to live. Doctors didn't tell her, but she might have sensed it. She wanted to take the trip anyway, "wanted to go if it killed her." Miss Robinson knew that Miss Miller was doomed, that she might die on the way out or she way back. But Miss Robinson went ahead with the trip just as it had been planned by Miss Miller. At every wonderful sight they saw Miss Robinson knew that her companion was having a last look. Miss Miller had indomitable courage, too. The two finished the trip, and a few days later Miss Miller passed away with her eyes still shining over the pleasures of her western trip.

his ignorance of the source and distribution of public revenues appears to be. Either this or he has been assigned the task of still further confusing the public.

If the retail sales tax is to be continued, the paltry sum still left for state use should be surrendered to the schools and to local governments and not a penny retained by the state for any purpose whatsoever. An intelligent campaign should then be undertaken to keep the public advised that the three cents it pays on retail purchases is for their own use to replace and supplant the property tax formerly sufficient for all such needs.

The state should divorce itself of all responsibility for direct relief for the poor. If the mechanics of state government be required to collect the revenues needed for direct relief such taxes should be of a special type easily identified by the tax-paying public so that responsibility can be placed on the spenders. It is not sufficient to merely place the blame on the agency which collects the money. Funds for direct relief can be allocated between the jurisdictions of the state so that the people of no unit need be penalized and so that bad welfare practices will be subject to local correction.

Grants in Aid Menacing
 Grants in aid whether coming from Washington or Lansing constitute a menace to self government.

Divorced from an involved state aid program and a program of tax diversion to cities and schools and townships, the state government will look pretty good lined up between federal waste and local profligacy. In fact, most folks will be surprised when, if ever, they learn just how much actual and legiti-mate state expenditures have increased during the past two decades, when compared with the startling increases in costs shown by cities and schools and the inconspicuous waste of public monies now going on within the townships of Michigan. Whatever the final answers which the governor may receive from his associates in state government, the challenge still stands for Michigan to face facts and get down to a complete overhaul job. No more tinkering will suffice.

Wednesday's inch of rainfall came too late to save the Ingham bean crop. There had been no rain to amount to anything for a week. Judge Archie G. McDonald of the Eaton-Barry circuit, who presided at the rehearing of Herman Kirschner's citizenship petition in the Ingham circuit, granted citizenship to the Leslie farmer. The U. S. Immigration service had opposed granting citizenship papers because back before the war Kirschner had been a member of the Nazi party in Germany. He testified that he had to join the party in order to hold his government job.

During the demonstration day, September 15, draglines and bulldozers will be assigned to the pond job and specialists will be at hand to answer questions concerning pond building, maintenance and how, what and when to plant fish. Likely enough, there will be lots of informal discussion on how to pull the fish out, but conservationists will undoubtedly stick to the technical aspects of putting in rather than pulling out the fish.

Among the other events are the construction of complete soil and water conservation systems showing the building and use of soil and water saving terraces, field diversions, contour strip cropping, sodded waterways, proper hand use, crop rotations that build soil, muck land development and use for general farming, how and where to plant and manage living fences of multiflora rose, benefits of farm game habitat, improvement and proper sawing of farm timber. Features such as the latest developments in centralized electric power installation, improved milk house construction and the demonstration of barnyard paving, are to be included in this great one day program.

Sheep Breeders Have Chance to Get Good Rams

Michigan sheep breeders will have an opportunity to purchase good purebred rams this year without driving long distances. Graydon Blank, Michigan State college sheep specialist, has announced plans for the annual ram day at Michigan State college to be followed by a ram truck visit into northern Michigan counties.

Purebred breeders will bring rams to the Michigan State college sheep barn on Monday, October 3, when buyers may personally make their selections and buy animals they need.

During the remainder of the week, a truck loaded with purebred rams will make stops in central and northern Michigan. Stops will be made at Ithaca, Clare, West Branch, Harrisville, Emerson and Gaylord. County agricultural agents have detailed information on the date and time of the stops. Farmers wanting a ram should contact their county agent in advance.

Blank says rams will be priced from $40 to $75, depending upon age and quality. He contends that ram prices have not gone up as much as market lambs. "If a good ram puts a few pounds more weight on each lamb in the crop it will more than pay the difference between the price of a good purebred ram and 'just any ram,'" Blank points out to farmers.

Sheep breeders may also be interested in the annual ram and ewe sale at Marquette on Friday, October 7, Blank believes. It will be the sixteenth annual sale by the Thumb Sheep Breeders' association.

FFA Chapters Again Win Honors

Midland and Alma high schools continue their supremacy in Future Farmer achievement in Michigan.

Accomplishments of these two FFA chapters earned them gold plaques and cash awards of $50 in the 1948-49 competition and the right to represent Michigan in the national FFA meet chapters during test this fall at Kansas City, Mo. Chapters at Sandusky, Cassopolis and Lakeview high schools, also earned gold award ratings in the state contest, sponsored annually by A & P Food Stores which provide cash awards of $425 and gold, silver and bronze plaques for the 15 winning chapters.

This is the fifth year that these two chapters have finished 1-2 in the state.

The awards were made at the luncheon last week in Detroit where the 105 officers and advisors of the winning chapters were guests of the food chain on a market survey tour.

Silver plaques and $25 were awarded to Williamston, Marlette, Ithaca, Owosso, and Fremont. Bronze plaques and $10 went to Grand Blanc, Ovid, Yale, Cedar Springs and Barryton.

The FFA is an organization of farm boys who are studying vocational agriculture in high school under a program supervised by the State Board of Control for Vocational Education. The state's 200 chapters has a membership of approximately 8,000 boys.

In carrying off state honors, the Midland chapter's 59 members earned a total of $28,534 during the past year from their supervised farming program, averaging two projects per member. Lynn Heatley is chapter advisor. Alma's 81 members earned a total of $5,000 from their 155 productive projects. Thirty-one of the boys had an income of more than $200. Maynard Christensen is chapter advisor.

Foods specialists at Michigan State college recommend making small amounts of jelly at a time. For best results combine slightly underripe and ripe fruit. The underripe will furnish pectin and acid, and the ripe fruit will contribute color and flavor.

HATCHERYMEN TO MEET

Some of the nation's leading poultry and hatchery authorities will appear on the program for the annual Michigan Hatchery conference at Michigan State college, September 14 and 15. Howard C. Angel, secretary of the Michigan Poultry Improvement association, says around 30 may attend. Annual meetings of the poultry improvement association as well as the Michigan Record of Performance association and Michigan Turkey Improvement association will be held during the two day session.

Farm Tools Lost In Ingham Blaze

William Favorite on M-36 two miles west of Mansville lost an almost new tractor, combine, mowing machine, cultivator, cement mixer, manure loader and other farm tools and an automobile last Thursday night. He had $1,200 insurance on the contents and $200 on the garage and toolshed where the tools were housed. It will take all of his insurance money to replace the tractor alone.

The house and barn were also on fire at one time but they were saved by Ingham township, Mason and John Bean company firemen.

Cause of the fire is unknown. The insurance coverage is with the Ingham County Farmers Mutual.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Palmer and their three children first saw the fire about 9:30. Mrs. Palmer is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Favorite. The Palmers had been at the Harlan Smith home and had decided to drive on out to the Favorite farm. When they reached the crest of Kivans hill east of Diamond road they saw the flames leap up. They recognized immediately their buildings on the Favorite farm were on fire and drove furiously to reach the scene.

Favorite was home alone and had gone to bed. Palmer telephoned the Ingham and Mason fire departments and tried to salvage the tractor and some of the tools. It proved impossible. Flames blocked the exit from the building although they did not then envelope the tractor and car. A minute later the interior was a mass of flames and before help arrived the house was on fire.

Thursday forenoon Ingham township firemen helped save the home on the Elmer Frost farm in Wheatfield. Fire started where a stovepipe went through a partition. Ten square feet of flooring, and a section of siding were burned away and the wallpaper in two rooms was burned off. Damage was estimated at about $200 with coverage of $1,500 in the Farmers Mutual. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cline occupy the Frost house.

Feeder Outlook Meeting Planned

Extension Specialist Don Stark and Bill Finley of Michigan State college will attempt to answer the question of "What's the outlook for the feeder cattle business?" at a meeting set for Wednesday night, September 14, at 8:00 p. m. in the supervisors' room of the county building.

Arrangements for the meeting have been made by County Agent Don Curry. This session cattle feeders will have to give special attention to all angles of their business if they are to show a profit at the end of the year.

The demand for cattle will be exceptionally strong and the supply less than in previous years. These factors will tend to cause feeder prices to be high. On the other side two good crop years have built up the supply of feed grains and roughage on hand to feed out cattle.

As farmers interested in the livestock business are invited to attend the meeting and discuss the problems confronting livestock feeders.

Purebred Dairy Cattle Breeders Dehorning Herds

Several Michigan breeders of purebred dairy cattle have subscribed to a program of dehorning their animals. Nearly 75 Guernsey breeders in the "Thumb Area" of Michigan have already adopted a plan to dehorn all heifer calves, according to Dr. Earl Weaver, head of the Michigan State college dairy department.

Farmers who have lost valuable animals or seen cows' production capacity lowered through damage to an udder by horns from another animal have reached the conclusion that production is more important than looks and tradition, Weaver remarked.

John Brecheisen, Dryden, president of the Thumb District Guernsey Breeders' association says: "The simple fact that horns should add or subtract the true value of an animal is strictly a condition of the mind. The primitive cow was in great need of her horns for protection. I hardly believe that this factor is adequate to encourage horned cattle today."

Dr. Weaver says some other breeders, even of Ayrshires, are eliminating horns from animals in their herd.

The Michigan State college dairy head recommends that dehorning should be practiced with young cattle to avoid a more severe operation which is necessary with adult animals.

Itchy Pigs Can Rub Off Profit

Itchy pigs soon rub off profit dollars, Michigan State college livestock specialists contend. That's why they believe that hog mange, mites and lice can mean the difference between a fair profit and perhaps a loss in the swine raising business.

Entomologists at MSC say it's safe to spray your swine with benzene hexachloride, also called BHC, if you do at least 30 days before marketing or butchering. The chemical does an effective job of ridding the pigs of the parasites if animals are thoroughly sprayed as well as on their backs.

Parasite-free pigs spend more time eating and gaining weight and less time scratching—and that's where profit making enters into the picture.

When freezing peaches a crumpled wad of waxed paper placed under the lid of the container just before closing will help to hold the fruit under the strip. This will prevent the peaches on top from browning, advises Dr. Pauline Paul, Michigan State college frozen foods researcher.

Poultry Contest Winners Named

Champion meat chicken producers among Michigan boys and girls were named at the state 4-H club fair at Michigan State college.

Three top winners of the state youth Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest, in which 72 young poultrymen from eight counties participated, were Allen Seyfred, of Galien, whose entry of 12 White Rocks weighed an average of 4.60 pounds at 14 weeks of age; Jerry Sietema, of Grand Rapids, with an entry of Rock-Red cross which averaged 5.80 pounds, and Bruce Bergy, of Alto, for his entry of New Hampshires averaging 5.86 pounds.

These three will receive the contest grand award, provided by A & P Food Stores, of a week's trip to the Eastern Shore broiler area, the United States department of agriculture experimental farm at Beltsville, Md., and Washington, D. C.

J. M. Moore, Michigan State college poultryman and chairman of the state contest committee, said more than 12,000 fryers were produced in the program, which grew out of the national Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest, sponsored by the food chain for the past four years. The Michigan Allied Poultry Industries, Inc., shared sponsorship in the state contest and gave cash prizes totaling $150.

Winners of fourth through tenth, respectively, were Judy Patterson, Grand Rapids; Marcia Foss, New Haven; Dale Johnson, Patty Lundy and Morse Deming, all of Alto; Robert Peever, Eau Claire and Bob Chapman, Route 1, Kalamazoo. All these entries were White Rocks.

Young Bergy raised 350 chickens at a cost of 19.2 cents per pound of grain and realized a net profit of $200.50. Sietema's profit was $118.80 and Seyfred reported $68.74.

Judges of the contest were E. G. Garlinger, Lake Odessa; Joseph Walzinski, assistant supervisor, State-Federal Poultry Cradling Service, Lansing, and Dr. Larry E. Dawson, poultry department, Michigan State college.

Spectators at Face Lifting Are Offered Ringside Seats

Spectators at the face-lifting of the Don Kieser farm near Bellevue on September 15 are assured a moving ringside seat by the Thornapple-Grand soil conservation district directors. It will be like the old-fashioned hay ride, except modern tractors and low slung rubber-wheeled wagons will be used. Everybody will have a chance to take the trip. After the round of demonstrations each will have freedom to go at will to any favorite demonstration.

This transportation has been made possible by the cooperation of the many implement dealers and farmers interested in making the day a huge success.

Lecture stops will be made at intervals to allow for the explanation of the demonstrations. Lecturers are being provided with field amplifiers to raise their voices above the din of the tractors, bulldozers, draglines and sawmill.

Spectators at the face-lifting of the Kieser farm will see done in five hours the complete alteration of a typical Michigan farm to a soil and water conservation system.

Listed on the program for this September 15th event are the construction of terraces, surface water escape ways, diversions, contour strip cropping, muck land development, timber sawing, living rose fences, a farm pond, a modern milk house, a paved barnyard, and the "May pole" or centralized power service installation. Modern power equipment will be in full operation throughout the day. Farmers will have an opportunity to see all makes of equipment in operation.

The program starts promptly at 10:00 a. m. Ends at 4:00 p. m. Spectators are advised to come early to get parking space and be on hand for the opening event.

Water for fire protection, for livestock, for fish and for just plain fun, will be possible by the building of a farm pond.

Announcement of their plans to include pond building in the "face-lifting" operations have been held by the Thornapple-Grand soil conservation district directors pending results of tests being made by U. S. soil conservation engineers. Test holes into the deep subsoil of the Kieser pond site have been under observation to determine the presence of underground seepage.

Local Women Return From European Trip

Miss Margaret Curtis and Mrs. Marion Davis returned September 3 from a 60-day tour of western Europe. They spent four days in London with side trips to the Shakespeare country and Windsor castle. From Amsterdam a trip was taken through the farming section and to the island of Marlicen in the Zuider Zee where people still dress in native costume. After spending a week in Brussels, Belgium, Lutereau, and Interlaken in Switzerland the party toured Italy for 16 days. While in Rome they had an audience with Pope Pius at Castle Gondolfo. From Naples they took trips to Pompeii and the site of Capri. The remainder of the time was spent in France. There were 28 persons in the group representing 10 states and 15 colleges in the United States. The courier was Captain Head James of London, a retired British army captain.

Common Cold in First Place As the Cause of Absenteeism

Colds will cause more absenteeism from school, office and industry during the next few months than all other communicable diseases put together, according to Dr. Roscoe Lanting, medical director of the county health department. The average person will have two or three colds before Easter, Dr. Lanting said. Colds usually become widespread about the time cool weather forces people to start heating their homes, schools, office buildings and factories in the fall, and they continue to be prevalent until spring. They decline a bit in December after the first wave has caught most of the susceptible; they increase again in the early spring. Colds are caused, not by changes in the weather, but by a filtrable virus, a germ so small that it is spread from the mouth of an infected person when he speaks, and hitches a ride on particles of dust in the air. The cold virus attacks the mucous membranes of the nose and throat, especially those dried out in overheated rooms. Schools, and office buildings should maintain evenly heated rooms with a temperature kept between 70 and 72 degrees. The virus irritates the membranes which secrete an additional supply of mucous in an attempt to get rid of the irritant. This results in "sniffles," the early symptom of a cold. Sneezing and coughing and other involuntary efforts to get rid of the irritant, throw out myriad small droplets of mucous filled with the cold virus. These get on the hands, handkerchiefs, pencils, telephones and other articles, and some of them float about on particles of dust in the air. When the throat and nose are sufficiently irritated and especially if a person is tired, run-down or chilled, other germs attack in the wake of the cold virus. These germs are also spread by coughs and sneezes, and the cold hangs on and on. Complications of colds may include mastoid, sinus, ear or tonsil infections, as well as pneumonia or influenza. Many other ailments follow readily in the path of the cold. The person with the first sign of a cold should go to bed. His doctor can give treatment to help ward off secondary invaders, and prevent complications. When a cold-infected person cannot go to bed, he has a definite obligation to protect others from his illness," Dr. Lanting said. "He should cover his nose and mouth with disposable tissue when he coughs or sneezes, and carefully dispose of all discharges from his nose and throat. He should stand far enough away from others that he will not spray them with his cold virus. Ten precautions which will help to cut the number of serious colds this winter are as follows: 1. Stay away from the person who has a cold and stay out of crowded places during cold epidemics. 2. Try not to get overheated or chilled. 3. Avoid sitting in dried out, smoky, chemical or dust-laden air. 4. Dress according to the weather and according to the temperature in which you must work. 5. Get plenty of sleep. Avoid fatigue. Rest when you are tired. 6. Eat regular, well-balanced meals and drink plenty of water. Wash your hands before eating or handling food. 7. Avoid articles which have been exposed to cold germs or handled by people who have colds. 8. Get some outdoor exercise each day. Let sunshine into your home, office, school or factory. 9. Go to bed at the first sign of a cold. 10. Call your doctor if the signs persist. Follow his advice. Avoid self-medication. A 1948 Supreme Court ruling stated that passengers in automobiles are immune to search without a warrant, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

Michigan Plants More Trees Than Neighbor States

Michigan farmers and private landowners reforested nearly 10,000 acres of land in 1948 to lead the nation in tree planting. The state is a wide margin ahead of all other states in the United States, Dr. Paul A. Herbert, head of the forestry department at Michigan State college, says only two southern states outplanted Michigan.

"This record explains in part why there has been a shortage of forestland stock available in Michigan. The enthusiasm of our citizens to plant trees has outstripped the capacity of our nurseries," Herbert commented.

He reports that this fall and next spring, approximately 14 million trees are available to planters in nurseries of the Michigan department of conservation and Michigan State college. He doubts, however, that even this big supply will fill the demand, and urges growers to obtain price lists and orders as soon as possible.

Michigan farmers and other individuals planted twice the acreage that was put out in Wisconsin 10 times the acreage planted in Minnesota. U. S. forestry service figures show. Large plantings in industrial organizations in northern states were the cause of the states exceeding Michigan's total, the Michigan State college forestry head relates.
