Tariff on Pulp Wood Divides Ingham Board of Supervisors

For some unexplained reason the tariff on pulp wood imported from Canada became a heated issue on the Ingham board of supervisors Monday.

By a vote of 10-12 it was finally pigeonholed. The 12 votes were cast in favor of referring the matter to the legislative committee.

The resolution came from Chippewa county. Supervisors there set forth that Chippewa pulp operations are shut down because of cheap pulp in Canada, pulp which comes into the United States without paying duty. The resolution asked county supervisors to appeal to U. S. senators and representatives to have tariff barriers raised against Canadian pulp.

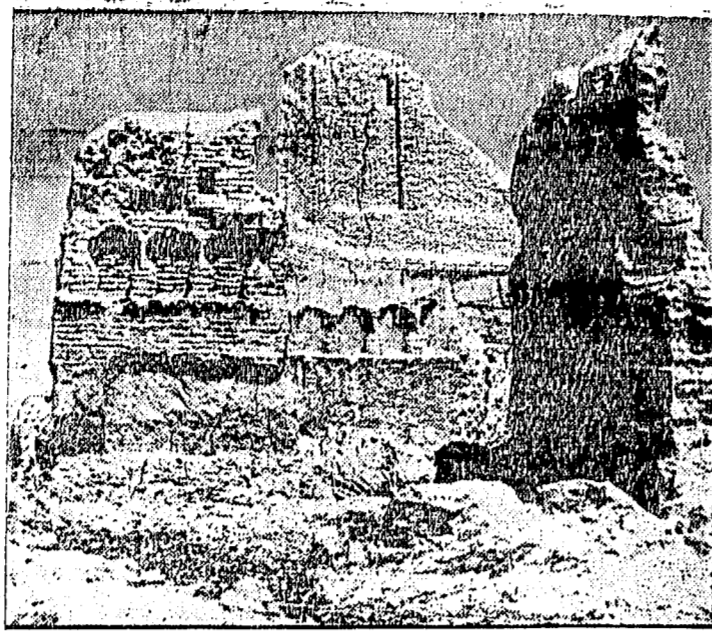

Supervisor Marshall Graham of Lansing moved that the Chippewa county resolution be placed on file without action. He declared that no member of the county board has any knowledge of the pulp wood situation.

Demanding that the issue be given to the legislative committee for study were Supervisors K. G. Brown, Rina Dell and Glen Leathman, Lansing; Clarence Clarke, Williamston; Frank Dakin, Mason; Hal Johnson, Leslie; Fred Marshall, White Oak; Clarence Puffenberger, Onondaga; Joseph Spears, Locke; Raymond Wilcox, Lansing township; C. O. Wilkins, Meridian; and Charles Woods, Ingham.

There were differences of opinions Monday afternoon on the sums allowed farmers for the killing of livestock by dogs. Supervisor Wilcox insisted the dollar top for chickens is too low. However, the board finally gave a vote of approval for the scale adopted by the livestock committee.

Supervisors authorized the payment of two cents per head as sparrow bounty through the month of December, January and February.

In mid-afternoon Monday the board adjourned until Monday, December 5.

Welfare Board Out from Under Hospital Lease

County May Sublease Convalescent Hospital to Sparrow or St. Lawrence

After January 1 Ingham county's board of social welfare will no longer operate what has been known as the county convalescent hospital. Before the board took it over three years ago it was the Lansing contagious disease hospital. Now it is used for the handling of polio cases exclusively. There are 50 beds available there.

The hospital on East Michigan avenue just east of the city limits was originally a contagious disease hospital. With the change in the quarantine laws and the drop in diseases calling for isolation, the city had no need for the contagious disease hospital. The county three years ago could use it because then state regulations made it almost mandatory to hospitalize indigent patients. The state regulations have now been changed and patients formerly housed in the convalescent hospital can be cared for at less cost in private convalescent and nursing homes.

At the October meeting of the supervisors Welfare Director Daryl Minnis estimated that the county will save $50,000 under the new arrangement.

The county pays Lansing $5,000 a year rent for the convalescent hospital. The lease runs for 10 years with the total rentals applying to the purchase price at the end of the period.

Although the social welfare board will have no responsibility for the hospital after January 1, the health committee of the supervisors will. Chairman Ward Vicary of the health committee is reported that his committee is already trying to sublease the hospital to either the Lansing St. Lawrence or Edward W. Sparrow hospitals. Negotiations have also been started looking toward the sale of the property outright, Supervisor Marshall Graham indicated.

Supervisors were unanimous in approving Supervisor Arthur Stoppel's motions to have the social welfare board released from the hospital management and to have the health committee assume control.

The state collected a total of $33,808,469.38 in automobile weight taxes for the first nine months of 1949. That's an increase of 2 1/2 million over the same period in 1948.

The accident happened at the Kirksey home, 2323 Baby road in Meridian township. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirksey, and their three children had arrived home. Mrs. Kirksey lifted Joll and an older brother Charles, 3, out of the car and stood them beside her, holding a three-months old daughter in her arms. She then reached back into the rear seat to get a jug of cider they had bought. She rather started to drive the car into the barn. Behind the car the mother found Joll with his head crushed by the right rear wheel. The parents believe the child fell or crawled under the car while the mother was getting the cider.

Eden Woman Asks Council to Pay $10 Injury Bill

Mrs. Eugene Caton of Eden is looking to the city to pay a $10 doctor bill which she incurred when she banged her head against the traffic light control box at the corner of Maple and Jefferson.

The east iron control box is located on a steel pole. The bolts holding the box in place are 1 foot, three inches from the ground.

According to the report of Police Officer Ralph Hall, Mrs. Caton struck her head on the box October 22 when she turned quickly after placing articles in her car parked on Jefferson alongside the Simone store. She cut her forehead and the bridge of her nose and bruised an area about her right eye. Dr. A. V. Smith took eight stitches to close the wound, the policeman said.

The council returned the claim to the city attorney for an investigation of the facts and a study of the liability of the city. He is to report at the November 21 meeting.

Boy Waiting for Brain Operation

Billy Allen, 6, is at the University hospital waiting for brain surgeons to perform an operation.

The operation was scheduled for Tuesday but was put off until later in the week in the hope that the boy would not have to have it. A consultation Tuesday night, however, led to the belief that the operation will be performed.

Billy fell from an apple tree at the W. O. Hall home on West Elm September 18. It was considered just a fall after X-rays failed to show any fracture. But trouble developed. The boy began to have severe headaches. Finally his eyes became crossed. Doctors in Lansing and Detroit failed to find the cause. Finally the boy was taken to an Ann Arbor doctor October 28. The doctor discovered evidence of brain injury and had the Mason youngster taken to the University hospital for an emergency operation.

Surgeons were standing by when the boy reached the hospital. They found that fluid from the brain cavity had seeped through the inner membrane and was pressing against nerve centers causing paralysis. By the time the boy reached the hospital his legs and arms were partially numb.

Following the operation the boy's temperature climbed until it reached 107. That was on October 30. It began to decline the next day and by Thursday of last week Billy was considered out of danger. He is now conscious much of the time. Doctors believe, however, they will have to operate to mend the membrane.

Aldermen Study Liquidation of Housing Project

Members of the veterans housing project committee of the city council are studying a plan for the liquidation of the project.

Under the terms of the agreement between the city and the federal government, the city was given the use of the five two-family dwellings for a period of three years, with the privilege of extending the use another two years. The three years will be up next February.

At Monday night's meeting the council received notice that action must be taken at once if the lease is to be extended beyond the three years.

Although the issue was left to the committee made up of Alderman John Taylor, Frank Launstein and Frank Evans, it was suggested that the lease be extended for a few months beyond February, so that as vacancies occur they not be filled.

Veterans occupying the dwellings on East Columbia pay $25 per month rent. The land is provided by Arthur W. Jewett, rent-free. At the liquidation of the project the land goes back to Jewett. The buildings must be razed. They can not be moved elsewhere and used for dwellings.

My Day... By SCHATZI
The Camera Clicking Dachshund

Since I've come to live at Kraas Studio, I've been secretly writing my memoirs—and I've convinced Helen and Ruth that people would be interested in my experiences and observations in a photographic studio. So many things happen here—your just wouldn't believe how much I see and hear—getting my nose into everything like I do.

For instance, I've heard people talk a lot about quality in pictures. Of course, a lot of people think that if a picture is a likeness—that's good enough. Really though, when you think of it—that isn't any more than you can do yourself with a Brownie, is it? You'll see what I mean if you look at the old-time photographs of your parents or grandparents. Those pictures were likenesses all right—often good and clear—and we're glad to have them—but how little of their warm and loving personalities were in those pictures!

When I listen to conversations around here—I know a portrait is more than that! It's more than a likeness—it's catching that elusive mood—that makes you dear to the people who love you. It's even more than that—it's using quality paper and chemicals and know-how—to make your portrait shine out—today and for many years—from a beautiful folder or frame.

Personally, I think more and more people are getting to understand about quality portraits. Sometimes I think Helen and Ruth get a little discouraged when they hear about people ordering half-dozen or more pictures from a "snapshot" done by some photographer who calls at people's homes, or sets himself up in a store to take so-called "free" photographs. Some towns and cities get themselves a reputation as an "easy" spot of thing—but the free photographers would soon stop coming if you just took their free photograph—and when you wanted to spend your good money, if you went to an established studio where you could get quality work.

Of course, it's kinda hard to write about quality—but when you're thinking about a portrait of yourself, or someone in your family—why don't you stop in and let me show you. Portraits are really like anything else—in the long run, quality pays for itself!

My—how I've gone on—have to go now and load film for the next sitting.

Safety Expert Revamps Courtesy Code

Because safety is involved, no well-mannered woman, says Traffic Expert Slutz, will accept a light from a man while he's driving a car.

Man has been helping woman through doors for centuries. But she should not permit it, according to Slutz, when the courtesy forces a man to enter or emerge from a car on the side of flowing traffic.

DON SLUTZ, managing director of the Detroit Traffic Safety Association, has laid out a code for women auto passengers. It violates many accepted standards of civility but, Slutz explains, "I think women would prefer a discourteous escort to a gallant corpse."

"My basic rule for women passengers," says Slutz, "is not to take offense at a male driver's disregard for the little considerations normally due her sex."

In the accompanying pictures the Chevrolet Motor Division has illustrated some of the Slutz ideas on manners.

November's Weather Record for Michigan

Forecasting by averaging the weather of the past is the aim of this Weather Record Map. Based on records of the U. S. Weather Bureau, some of which cover periods of 50 years and more, this Weather Record for November shows the average minimum temperatures and average snowfall for a number of states.

November, as a study of the map shows, brings the sharp bite of freezing weather in many areas. It is the time to look to the furnace, to refurbish winter wardrobes and to put your car in shape for winter months. When temperatures average as low as shown, you can bet your boots that there will be many days below freezing. So November is the time to be super-safe by loading up with antifreeze.

SMITH—We wish to gratefully acknowledge with deep appreciation the kind and thoughtful expressions of sympathy during the death of our husband and father. Evelyn Smith; also the kindnesses extended by Corinne Bros., Rev. Harold Reese, Harwood Hess for songs of comfort and the women of the First Baptist church for the lovely dinner. Mrs. Clayton Smith, Mrs. Helen McCConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Preston and Richard Smith and family. 45w1f

DENSMORE—We desire to thank our many friends, who have so kindly responded by telephone and personal calls, cards and flowers, while Mrs. Densmore was in the hospital, wishing her a speedy recovery. We are sure that this has contributed to her improved condition, as we believe she is steadily recovering. It has been very gratifying to her to know that we have so many friends in the community where we have lived many years. Again we say "Thank You." Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Densmore. 45w1p

WESTPHAL—We wish to take this way of thanking our many friends, old and new neighbors, and relatives for the lovely gifts, cards and letters and for the acts of loyalty shown on our golden wedding anniversary Sunday, November 6. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Westphal. 45w1p

CONSTRUCTING NEW MICROSCOPE—Mr. Claude Magnan, left, stands beside the microscope he is building which he thinks will magnify objects one million times. It will utilize the spray-off of atomic particles known as protons, and will therefore differ from the electronic microscope now in use. With this instrument, somebody ought to be able to find the needle in the haystack.

BABY, IT'S WARM DOWN THERE—You can't very well have a picture of an ice skater without ice skates, even in balmy Miami Beach. So the ice man came, lugging those two big cakes, just so comely Helga Brandt, Swiss skating star, could pose in character.

TIME CONQUERS—Only a miracle can save the oldest British warship afloat from destruction. HMS Implacable, only surviving ship of the Battle of Trafalgar except Nelson's flagship Victory, is scheduled to be stripped and sunk in the 90-fathom Hurd Deep, off Alderney in the Channel Islands. There are no funds to preserve the historic vessel. Above, workmen remove the bowsprit in preparation for Implacable's last voyage.

Seven million trucks and trailers are registered in the U. S.

Attention - Cattle Buyers!

Due to a misunderstanding regarding the registered Holstein bull calf offered to Kivans, we will sell this calf at our sale on Saturday, November 12, the entire proceeds to go to Kivans. We cannot understand how this was advertised as a steer as we called it a registered Holstein bull calf from the start.
We will also sell a few unregistered Holstein cows, fresh and springing. This will be a real opportunity for the farmers of the community.

FARM FIRE INSURANCE

—Protect Your Savings—
LET ME QUOTE YOU FARM RATES:

- Did you know that a 4-room prefabricated house with bath, located on your lot, and with no basement will cost about $6,300?
- Did you know that a two-car garage of fair construction will cost about $1,000?
- Did you know that a complete bathroom will usually cost $800 to $1,000?
- Did you know that a good heating system in a country home will cost about $1,000 (sometimes a little less, sometimes a little more)?
- Do you know—you may not have enough insurance on your house to buy a two-car garage, buy a heating system and buy a complete bath?
- LOOK AT YOUR PRESENT POLICY—
Farm Owners Mutual of St. Paul, Minnesota are noted for giving the farmer more fire insurance than most county fire insurance companies.
- Many farmers are changing over to Farm Owners Mutual. Many are adding more insurance, having their protection in two companies. This is permissible in most cases by only notifying both companies of the amount carried in the other company.
- Did you know that many people have about $1,800 to $3,000 on a house which it would cost $5,000 to $8,000 to duplicate. Check your policy and give me a ring for rates, premium and payment terms. Use your budget plan.

The present day craze of economic security for the individual, as typified by the $100 month pension plan granted recently by the Ford Motor company of Dearborn, appears to be bringing further economic insecurity to employers of small business firms.

"Little business" is watching the outcome of the United States Steel Corporation CIO tug-of-war over who is to pay for pensions and insurance.

Already the Bethlehem Steel Corporation has signed a contract whereby its 80,000 employees will be eligible for noncontributory pensions of a minimum of $100 a month after 25 years of service. This will cost the company 12 1/2 cents an hour per employee. As to social insurance, the company and employees will pay 2 1/2 cents an hour each in sharing the cost.

And if to oppose such new Utopian protection for the masses is to qualify a critic for the obnoxious label of "reactionary," then the business man must arrive at the philosophical catharsis recently expressed in "Trends," a journal of the National Association of Manufacturers:

"There has never in past history been any large state that controlled its citizens as completely as they are controlled in the Soviet Republic or even in modern England.

"It may be that the present tendencies toward centralization are too strong to be resisted until they have led to disaster, and that, as happened in the fifth century, the whole system must break down with all the inevitable results of poverty and misery before human beings can again acquire the degree of personal freedom without which life loses its savor."

State socialism and inflation go hand in hand.

It is high time that every American re-appraise the ultimate price of the inevitable outcome: Disaster for the nation and loss of freedom for the individual.

Two Tiny Nations Send 26 to MSC

Two tiny countries, riding the crest of a new prosperity with the discovery of vast oil resources under barren deserts, are training their future leaders at Michigan State college.

Iraq and Iran, nations which have lived on the fringes of desert wastes for centuries, are sending 26 selected students to the U. S. to learn of science and new ideas in the art of living. Seventeen of the Iranian students have enrolled for the fall quarter at MSC.

Both countries have arranged for subsidies for students here—students who will return to their countries to lead the rehabilitation of agriculture with irrigation; to study new veterinary techniques and the latest developments in animal husbandry, chemistry and other scientific fields.

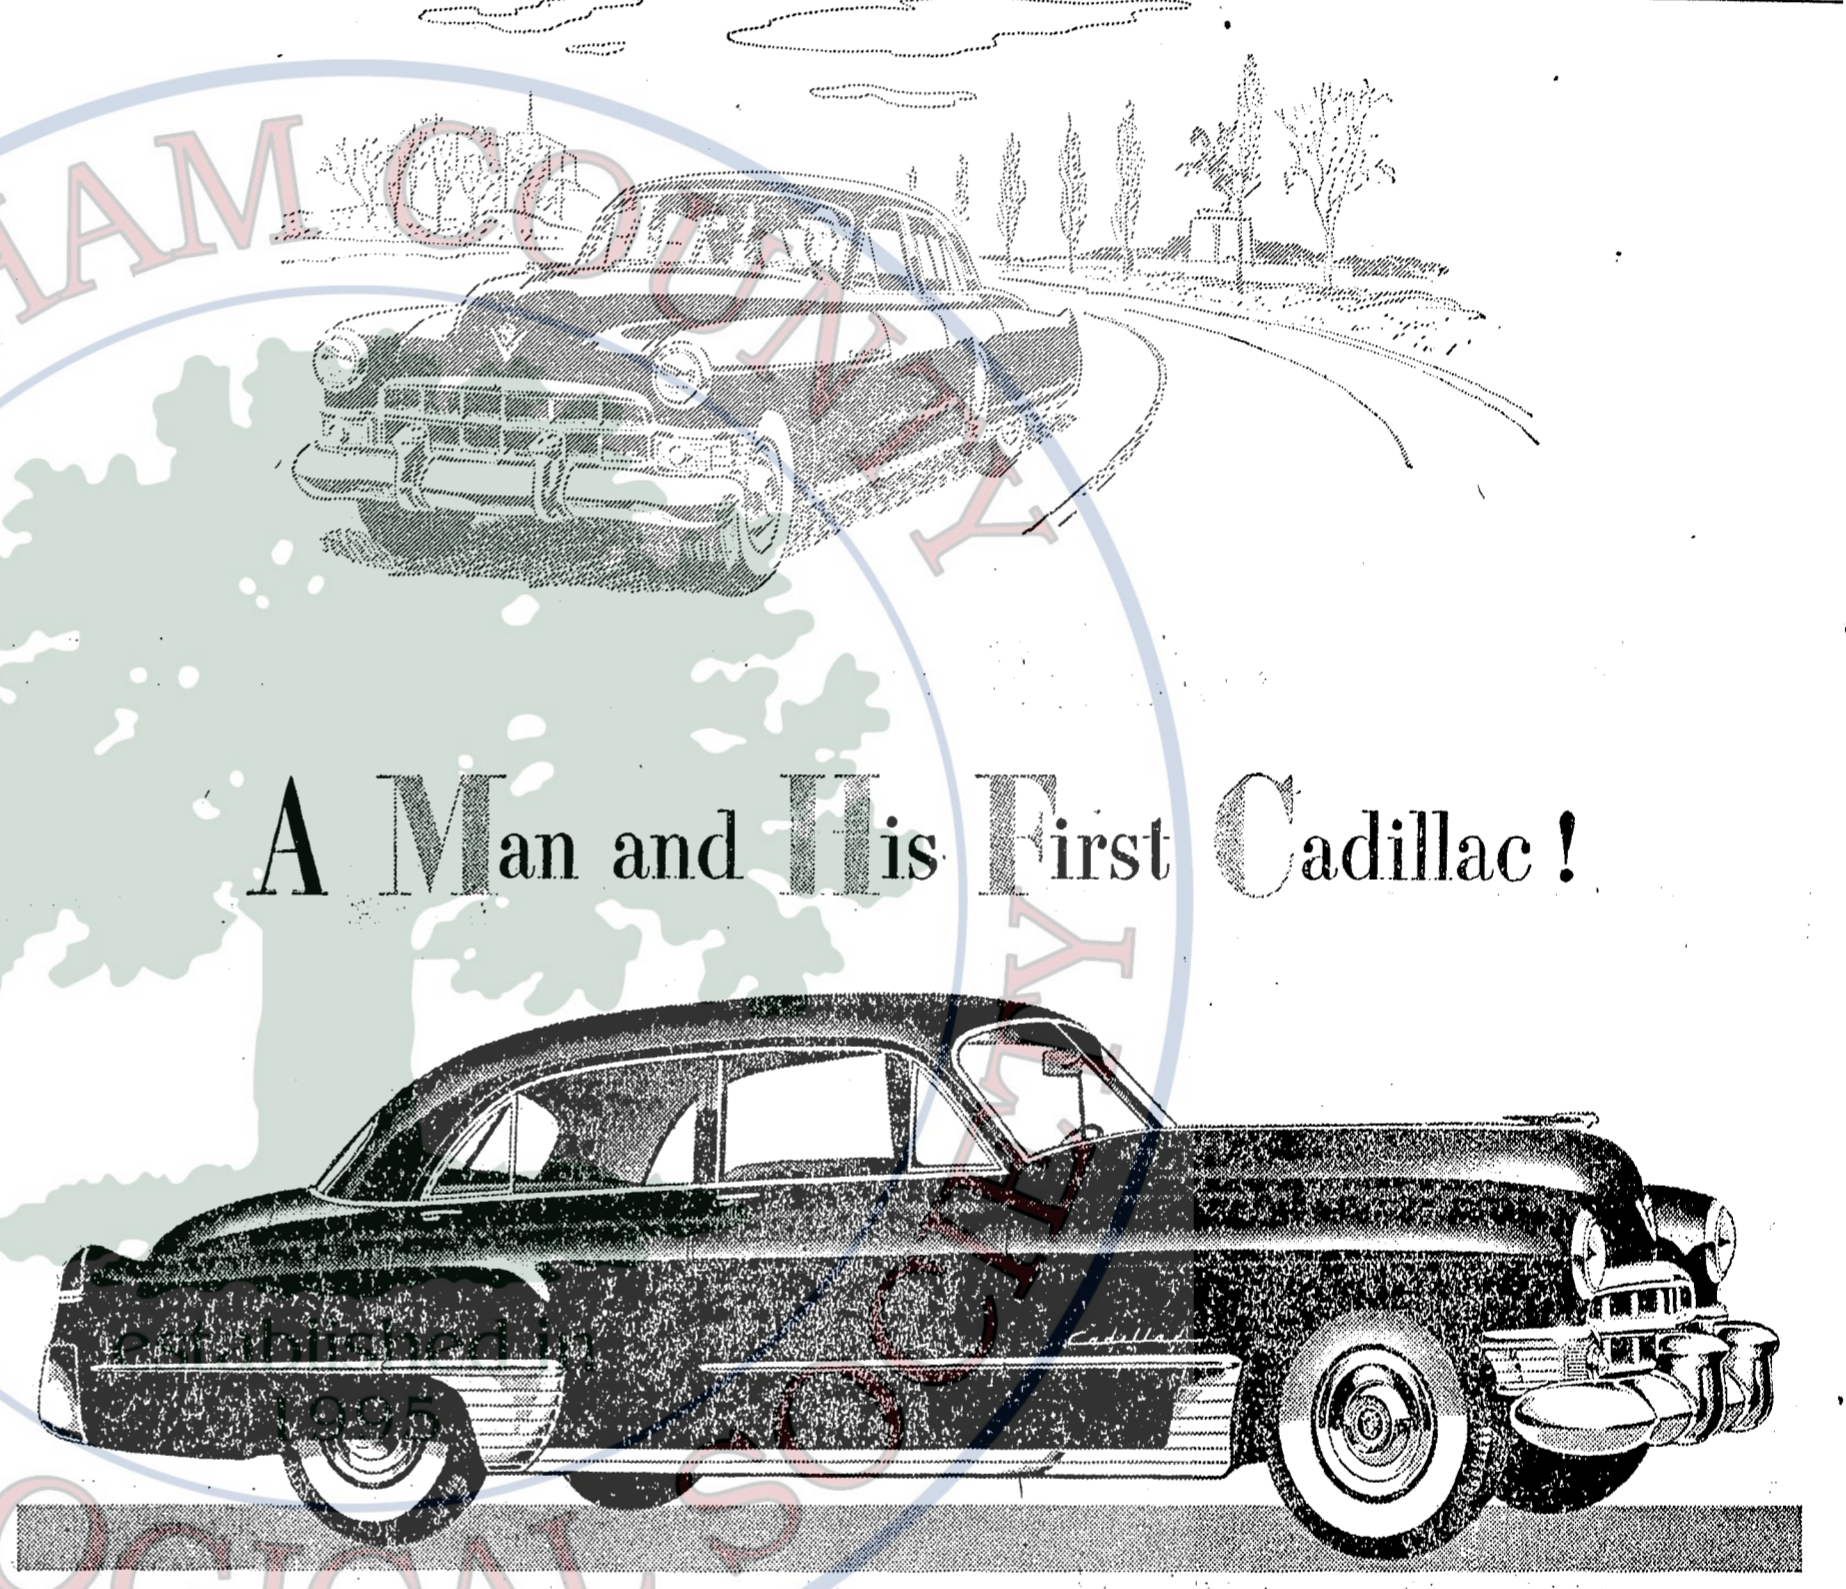

With the oil boom, the two countries for the first time have capital to improve their standards of living, said Dr. A. T. Cordray, counselor for foreign students. Education was one of the first goals, he added. Practical application of principles will come next.

Michigan State has an outstanding program of extra-curricular activities for foreign students from which they should gain valuable "know hows" of the American way of life. They are provided American roommates, taken on instructional visits of U. S. cities and institutions, and have an organization, the International club in which members are from all nations represented on campus.

A Man and His First Cadillac!

Seldom will you find a man in a happier state of mind than when he slides behind the wheel of his first Cadillac—and makes for the open highway.

It's a wonderful, wonderful feeling—as every Cadillac owner can attest.

Usually, it's the fulfillment of a long-cherished dream. And, of course, that means a glorious sense of achievement—with inspiring memories and a deep sense of personal satisfaction.

And, then, there are the immediate pleasures that press upon him...

... the feeling of pride that is inescapable when a man comes into possession of something which is so universally admired...

Yes, it's a great thrill for a man when he goes for his first ride at the wheel of his first Cadillac.

But it's only the beginning!

Day after day, year after year, he will have that same wonderful feeling as he rolls his Cadillac out into the street or highway. For the joy of Cadillac ownership is deep and abiding. Most owners find that it never leaves and seldom lessens.

Wouldn't you like to learn what it's like to sit at the wheel of a car that can mean so much to you? If so, come in today—for a ride that's a revelation. We may be able to make prompt delivery on the model you prefer.

... the feeling of confidence that comes from Cadillac's great reputation for quality and soundness and long life...

... the feeling of clarity that comes from the car's amazing responsiveness to throttle and brakes...

... the feeling of gratitude that comes from being able to surround himself, and all who ride with him, with every safeguard an automobile can provide.

And then, of course, there is the soft, satisfying rush of the miles—the easy, restful ride—the positive, effortless handling—the sumptuous and comfortable surroundings.

Home Fashion Notes

From Ann

Miss Ann Zimmerman

Second in basic importance to the use of color in a room is the use of lighting. When you plan the lighting of your room, think first of comfort and of the use you want to make of lights.

If it is a living room, think first of table lamps near comfortable chairs. Let them be high enough to shed a good light on a book and low enough so that the naked bulb won't bear at you. When you sit down beside it, think also of correct proportions in relation to the lamp table and nearby chairs. If you would have a lamp that is perfect for you, you must also consider color and style.

A wonderful selection of lamps is now available which meet the requirements of utility, fine styling and color. However, thought and planning must accompany your purchase. If you need help in selecting a lamp that is perfect for you, don't hesitate to call me.

Preventing rust is easier than removing it, say Michigan State college agricultural engineers. For long time storage, tools should be coated with heavy oil or light grease. For ordinary shop storage, see that tools are in dry cabinets and apply a little oil to the tools occasionally.

Number one test in your soil management program is keeping a regular check on lime reaction. This test should be made once every rotation. Michigan State college soil scientists say it's best to make it a year ahead of the legume seeding so that lime, when needed, can be applied well in advance of the seeding.

English Artists Coming to MSC

Two celebrated English artists, Peter Pears and Benjamin Britten, are coming to the Michigan State College campus in East Lansing. Pears, an internationally famous composer of the operas "The Rape of Lucretia," "Peter Grimes" and "The Beggar's Opera," will appear in the school in Michigan State college's music auditorium Tuesday evening, November 15 at 8:15 o'clock. Their program will include the songs of Henry Purcell and Gustav Mahler. Pears, accompanied by the composer, will also sing Britten's "The Holy Sonnets of John Donne" and a set of English folk songs.

Peter Pears, who gave up school teaching to become a singer, created the leading roles in his original Britten operas. Following his successes in these operas, he joined Britten in recital, and their combined popularity grew also in this medium. This year marks their first concert tour in the United States. Benjamin Britten is one of the few composers to find recognition in his own lifetime. He began composing at the age of five, but did not publish his works until 1932 when he was 18. He first gained notice in 1934, and in 1945 secured an immediate success with his opera "Peter Grimes," which was performed at Sadler's Wells in London. The work rapidly gained international fame with performances in most of Europe's leading opera houses, the Metropolitan in New York, and England's Covent Garden.

RED CROSS CHAPTERS MEET VARIED NEEDS OF SERVICEMEN

The Red Cross Home Service worker looked up from her desk to find an old man holding a telegram and twenty-five dollars.

"My boy wants to come home, but he hasn't got the money for such an expensive trip," the old gentleman said. "He has just returned from 2 years overseas service and is getting a leave before reassignment. His mother has been very sick and I think he might help her to get well. We are living on our family allowance and whatever money my son can send, but I've scraped together this $25. Can you give me enough more to bring him home?"

After verifying the facts, the Home Service worker sent a telegram to the Red Cross field director at the boy's camp, telling of the father's request and of the offer of the twenty-five dollars he could so ill afford. The following day she received an answering wire from the field director:

Under federal statute and regulations of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, the American Red Cross furnishes volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the armed forces and acts in matter of voluntary communication between the people of the United States and their armed forces.

"Return twenty-five dollars to father. Army granting emergency leave and arranging for air transportation home. We are arranging for maintenance and return transportation."

WHO'S Crippled?
SUCCESS STORY OF THE MONTH

When John Steensma lost his arms, amputee children and war veterans gained a new chance at "normal" lives. For the 27-year-old "hand" man, since his recovery has devoted his career to literally creating new skills and new interests for children and veterans who have lost arms and legs.

John Steensma
Ten years ago, when 72,000 volts of electricity ricocheted through John's body while he was climbing a high tension tower, he was given but a few hours to live. Steensma recovered following the amputation of both arms.

In recognition of Steensma's outstanding ability to rebuild his life and also aid others who suffered similar tragedies, the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults has presented the "Who's Crippled?" monthly citation to him.

This monthly citation given by the National Society is part of a nationwide program designed to honor handicapped persons who have "outwitted" their handicaps through their courage and determination to live a normal, successful and happy life. The citation will be conferred by the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Eight months after the amputation, Steensma received his artificial arms. With no instructions in the use of these appliances and little encouragement, he mustered his determination to make the best of a bad break. His rigid schedule of self-training was so successful that within a year he was driving his own car.

When his job in a defense plant seemed at odds with his interests, Steensma decided to go to college and study for the ministry. Within two years he completed three years of college work, won the National Inter-Collegiate Oratorical contest, and married the pretty coed who had inspired him to continue his education.

In 1945 as war casualties filled the hospitals, Steensma left college to train disabled veterans at Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek, Mich.

He left this work to become associated with the newly established amputee training program inaugurated by the Michigan Crippled Children's Commission in 1946. Inspiring youngsters with his attitude toward crippling conditions, he taught them muscular coordination and walking rhythm.

Within a few months he had arm and leg amputees riding bicycles, roller skating, playing ball, and dressing and feeding themselves.

When children leave the Commission's Amputee training center, they are given periodic checkups until they are completely adjusted to their artificial limbs.

In addition to this work, Steensma has organized an adult training clinic which meets two evenings a week and Saturdays.

Automatically, through the tremendous job he has done in rebuilding his own life, Steensma has become one of the prime movers in getting others off to a successful physical-adjustment to a handicap. This, he realizes, is his job for keeps.

CONSUMER EDUCATION PROGRAM
MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE
Agricultural Economics Department

"With plenty of reasonably priced pork available, homemakers using more of this meat than usual this fall and winter will find it helpful to know something about the various cuts," advises Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist at Michigan State college.

The butcher makes all the retail cuts we see in his shop from eight wholesale cuts—ham, loin, side, spare ribs, fat back, picnic, Boston butt, and jaw.

Ham, from the rear leg, can be divided into several retail cuts. It may be sold as a half ham, either "butt end" or "shank end." Or it may be cut to make center slices, butt slices, or sold as a whole ham.

Many popular retail cuts come from the loin, the back of the hog—boneless loin roast, pork tenderloin, loin chop, and Canadian style bacon. In addition, there is the rib pork chop, butterfly chop, French rib chop, sirloin roast, loin roast, crown pork roast and blade loin roast. Pork chops, loin roasts and tenderloin are usually the more popular, and therefore the most expensive of the loin cuts.

There are two wholesale cuts from the side of a pig—the "side" and spare ribs. The "side" is sold in two forms—bacon and salt pork.

Spare ribs are a side cut familiar and popular.

The "bacon square" is the only retail cut from the jaw, or lower part of the lower jaw. Bacon squares are cheaper than side bacon, but are thicker and more fatty.

Boston butt, from over the shoulder in front of the back, produces smoked shoulder, butt, blade, pork steak, Boston butt and rolled Boston butt as retail cuts. Blade steaks, Boston style butt, and rolled Boston style butt are all fresh pork cuts. They are usually much cheaper than loin or ham cuts. Although they contain more fat, they are an economical buy if cooked carefully.

Picnic cuts, from the front shoulder and leg, furnish fresh, smoked, cushion, and rolled picnic shoulder, along with fresh shoulder are boneless cuts for roasts. Smoked picnic shoulder is frequently called "picnic ham" in butcher shops. Remember that it is not a true "ham."

With this wide variety, it's the wise homemaker who becomes familiar with pork cuts—and plans her meats budget accordingly. By using some of the less common cuts, variety can be added to menus while keeping meat costs low.

Timely Tips for Homemakers

How long has it been since the court room has seen as many women at one time as those who turned out for the officers training meeting on Monday? I was hopeful of a good representation, but the number that came was overwhelming. My only wish is that you all found this meeting as helpful and inspirational as we did.

We have received many requests for recipes using dried milk solids, and have found that the circular bulletin from the college is out of print. Here is a never-fail chocolate cake, which turns out just as good if the recipe is cut in half, and is equally good in layer or loaf forms. It is extra nutritious, too, since it has three times the amount of milk that could be utilized using ordinary milk.

Devil's Food Cake
2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
3/4 cup dried milk solids
1/2 cup shortening
1-1/3 cups granulated sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
3 squares chocolate
1 cup water
1 tsp. vanilla

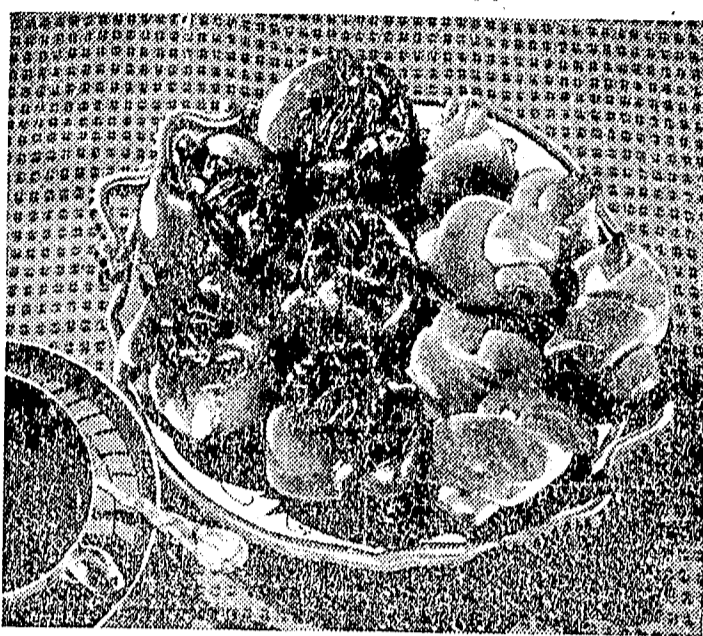

Sift flour once, measure, add soda, salt, dried milk, and sift again. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, cream together. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each. Add melted chocolate and blend. Add flour alternately with water, beating until smooth. Add vanilla. Use two 9-inch layer pans one and one-half inches deep, 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until done, or use 3 1/2 x 9 x 2-inch pan, also at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

Most of the extension groups are selling some very handy food choppers at a nominal price of 35 cents each. They look like cookie cutters with scalloped edges, and they really do the work. If you are interested, contact the office and we will get you in touch with the group nearest you.

Many of the groups are continuing to make metal trays. Some of the meetings being held this month are: November 9, Peppy Homemakers, with Mrs. Philip Cavender; November 10, Hawley group, with Mrs. Frank Cline; and Sandhill on November 15, with Mrs. Ruth Crapp.

November would be a good time to start choosing some trays and etched glassware from your groups that would make a nice display at the Christmas teas.

How to Make Michigan Apple Bread

A cup of apple sauce, like a cup of cold water, can make a big difference. Apple sauce does surprising things to breads; an improved texture, more stable moisture which means less stale bread, and for many, improved flavor.

Here is apple bread as loaf, bow-knot rolls, Parker House type and pecan buns.

2 cups milk
1 cake yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons fat (melted)
1 cup apple sauce
1 or 2 cups bread flour

Add yeast, sugar, salt and melted fat to lukewarm milk; then add the apple sauce. Mix well. Add 4 cups flour and beat until smooth. Add balance of flour or enough to make a dough that can be handled but not too stiff. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased bowl, cover, and set in a moderately warm place to rise until light. Knead, shape into loaves, place in greased pans. Cover and let rise until it doubles in bulk. Bake 450 F. for 10 minutes, then 375 F. until it shrinks from sides of the pan; about 40 minutes, depending on size of loaf. Remove at once from pan, and place on a wire cake cooler, or so that the air can circulate all around it.

Variations: This same dough can be made into all kinds of rolls. For instance:
Pecan buns: Into well-greased muffin tins place 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon brown sugar, small piece of butter or margarine, and add some pecan nut meats. Shape dough into cloverleaf rolls and place in pans. Let rise to double its bulk and bake 425 F. for 10 minutes, then 350 F. until done.
Low-knot rolls: Cut dough into small pieces and roll between hands until you have a thin stick, then tie as you would a knot. Place on a well-greased cookie sheet. Brush with melted shortening. Bake, and bake 425 F. for 10 minutes, then 375 F. until done.
Parker House shape: Roll dough thin. Cut with a round cookie-cutter. Cream with knife through center, and fold one-half over on the other half. Place on a well-greased cookie sheet and brush with melted shortening. Let rise, and bake 450 F. for 10 minutes, then 375 F. until done.

Washable Corduroy Is Practical For Each Member of the Family

Corduroy is a fashion note in fabrics this fall and is popular with mothers as well as with children of all ages because it doesn't muss, is warm, and can take a beating in wear.

Its popularity extends from babies, teen-agers and women to boys and men because there are several kinds adaptable for different uses states Mary Gephart, clothing instructor at Michigan State college.

Sport jackets and coats make use of the wide half-inch wale and the finest corduroy is so soft and fine it's lovely for the daintiest date dress or baby's overalls. It is seen in a wide range of lush colors as well as stripes and plaids.

Corduroy can be washed or dry-cleaned, but dyes used in corduroy make it a washable fabric. To launder a corduroy garment, first brush it well with a stiff brush to remove all loose dirt and dust. Wash the garment in a warm, not hot, soap suds, lifting the garment up and down in the water, rubbing soiled portions with a soft brush or between the palms of the hands.

Wash in a second sudsy water if required to get the garment entirely clean and rinse in clear, warm water until all the soap is removed. Take from the tub without wringing, or even squeezing, and carry to the line. Some types of garments can be buttoned on the hanger and in this way clothes pin marks can be avoided.

Shaking occasionally while the garment is drying will help to shake out excess water and remove some wrinkles. When thoroughly dry, brush the nap to restore its fluffiness. Ironing is not usually necessary, but the back side may be pressed lightly, if desired.

CAN ALL COOK BOOKS BE WRONG?

In all the best cook books, recipes calling for white granulated sugar specify just "sugar." Not cane sugar. Not beet sugar. Not sugar from any particular plant.

Why? Because all sugar for household use is sucrose, and sugar is sugar no matter whether it comes from sugar beets or sugar cane.

Leading Home Economists everywhere freely state that any supposed difference in pure sugars is simply a figment of the mind.

Dart & Cady Lists New Shelvador As Contest Prize

A revolutionary new design and the latest in features are incorporated in the new 1950 Shelvador refrigerator to be awarded locally by Dart & Cady, as part of the giant, national $2,000,000 "give-away" being conducted by the Crosley division, Avco Manufacturing corporation and its dealers.

"The new Shelvador," Bernard Cady said, "provides up to 23 percent additional storage capacity in the same size exterior cabinet. This new design provides close to two cubic feet of plus storage space at the convenience level, where foods are easy to reach without bending or stooping," he pointed out.

"The exclusive Shelvador feature," he said, "is the new refrigerator with sturdy white plastic shelves that are completely recessed within the interior of an extra thick insulated outer door."

"A unique feature," he said, "of the Shelvador CB-9 is the 'butter-safe,' a compartment for butter storage built into the door of the refrigerator. It is electrically heated and thermostatically controlled to keep butter at the proper spreading consistency. Constructed of white plastic, it is easily removable for thorough cleaning."

"An outstanding feature of this model," Cady stated, "is the separate horizontal freezer and frozen food compartments that hold up to 53 pounds of frozen foods and ice cubes. In the full-width freezer compartment, there is a freezer shelf with sub-zero temperatures for home freezing. The frozen food compartment provides extra space for ice trays and day to day supplies of frozen food."

"Among the many additional features," he added, "is the exclusive new door latch that provides for effortless opening of the door and a firm door-seal. Maximum shelf flexibility is provided by lift out and sectional shelves. The interior is finished with acid-resisting porcelain enamel. All models in the Shelvador line are powered by the Crosley electro-servo unit hermetically sealed and self-lubricated."

SWEET POTATO PIE

Sweet potatoes make a good pie filling that some people prefer to pumpkin. This is a good way to use left-over sweet potatoes advises Mabelle Ehlers, home economist at Michigan State college. Substitute the potato for the pumpkin in any good pie recipe. The addition of a little butter improves it and the sweet potato works up better if the sugar is mixed with it.

The Governor's Wife Makes 20c Pies

Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, wife of Michigan's governor, Mrs. Francis Sanders, chairman of the Home Economics Department of Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan, and three-year-old Wendy Williams set to work to prove that a delicious Michigan Apple pie can be made this year for less than 20 cents.

How much do you think it really costs to make an apple pie with choice Michigan apples? 20c-30c-50c?

Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, wife of Michigan's governor, and Mrs. P. G. Sanders, chairman of the home economics department at Wayne University, recently combined their mathematical and baking abilities to discover for us the exact cost of making America's favorite pie.

Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Sanders were as careful and as thorough as they possibly could be. They measured the exact amount of each ingredient used, and figured baking expenses to the fraction of a cent.

The results of "Operation Michigan Apple," as the women designated their experiment, were pleasantly surprising.

It was found that an apple pie, made with homemade pie crust and incomparable Michigan apples, costs not 50c, not 30c, but only 17c. Imagine that!

In other words, there are six delicious servings of America's favorite dessert for less than 3c a serving.

When apple pie is mixed with a ready-mixed pie crust, the cost is an additional 5c, for a total of only 22c.

With Michigan apples at peak flavor and in greater abundance than ever before, this is indeed good news for economy-minded housewives.

Listed below is the cent-by-cent breakdown of apple pie expenses as compiled by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Sanders, on the basis of prices in Detroit stores on October 8:

Pastry, two-crust, homemade
1 1/2 cups of flour (5lbs. @ 40c) 3c
1/2 cup hydrogenated fat (3 lbs. @ 75c) 5c (or 1/2 cup lard, 1 lb. @ 20c)
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
Total - 8c
Filling
1 lb. Michigan apples (16 lbs. @ 20c) 5c
3/4 cup sugar (5 lbs. @ 44c) 3c
2 tablespoons corn starch 1/4c
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon 1/4c
1/2 tablespoon butter 1/2c
Total 8 7/8c or 9c
Total cost of pie with homemade pie crust 17c
Pastry, two-crust, ready mixed crust
Ready-mixed pie crust 13c
Filling 9c
Total cost of pie with ready mixed pie crust 22c

Even if you are the type of apple pie lover who insists on "stuffing" the pie to the uttermost limit, you can add another pound of apples and still keep the cost far below any other of the popular fruit pies.

When you buy seed, take time to read the label to make sure you get adapted seed of good purity and germination, advise farm crops specialists at Michigan State college.

Proper tree spacing, proper pruning and spraying, and good sanitation practices are important in controlling peach brown rot.

Men and Missions Sunday at Methodist Church Nov. 13
Men and missions Sunday will be observed Sunday, November 13, at the Free Methodist church.

According to a recent report on the world mission situation, non-Christian areas of the world contain 1,400,000,000 people, or ten times the population of the United States. At the present time, 200 missionaries and 1300 national church workers are attempting the impossible job of evangelizing 15 million people in 39 Free Methodist mission areas. This means that only one missionary family or single woman missionary is available to each 75,000 people. The majority of these people are illiterate, undernourished and without doctors or hospitals. The native churches are made up of only one out of 70 members of the native population.

To meet this overwhelming need, the American people contribute less than one-tenth of their church offerings annually. It is to meet this appalling situation that the Free Methodist plan of prayer and "beyond budget giving" will be stressed in the local Free Methodist church next Sunday during the morning service.

A special program is being prepared for the occasion. There will be talks by future missionaries, Miss Virginia Wehr and Jim Young. Special music will also be included on the program.

Rich was a conductor on the "Marquette" railroad and was one of the oldest in service. Five weeks ago he was brought to the home of his daughter.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Tingay of White Oak and Mrs. Vida Seyfried of Lansing; a son, Cecil S. Rich, also of Lansing; a brother, A. L. Rich of Petoskey; and nine grandchildren. Leslie in Recent Issue
 Nearly a half-century ago, Leslie will find their pictures in the current issue of Life magazine which shows them examining many of the signatures signed to the letter of congratulation which has been sent to Judge Harold L. Medina, who presided over the trial of the 11 Communists in New York.

The magazine entitles the page, "Life Celebrates Leslie, Michigan" and introduces the picture in the following manner: "Leslie, with the outcome of the trial of the nation's 11 top Reds; and with Judge Harold L. Medina's conduct of the little farming town of Leslie, Michigan, decided to let Medina know how it felt. When the local Republican circulated a scroll citing him for 'your unbiased and entirely fair manner of presiding, for the fine courage you displayed more than 1,000 of the town's 1,400 citizens signed it, standing in line in the general stores, the barbershop, the bar and the primary to write their names on the separate sheets of which the scroll is composed.'" joined the names of many from other villages and cities in addition to those of Leslie people.

Big Gorilla Beaten By Panther Ruled Badly Outclassed

SPOKANE, WASH.—It was generally agreed that Barangu, a 312-pound gorilla, never had a chance in his two-hour death struggle with a snarling 185-pound black panther.

Zoo authorities and the owner of the two animals expressed the opinion that despite the weight advantage, Barangu was fighting far out of his class.

In fact, according to witnesses, the gorilla passed the entire two hours seeking to ward off the savage onslaughts of the enraged panther.

More than 400 persons were virtually hypnotized by the death struggle in a cage at a Liberty Lake animal show. When the battle was ended, the gorilla lay dead, mercifully murdered by show attendants.

Before the attendants shot Barangu, the panther had torn his arm off and inflicted numerous painful wounds.

It was probably the first time in history a gorilla had ever met a panther in mortal combat, according to Edward Johnson, Superintendent of the Woodland Park Zoo in Seattle.

The native habitat of the gorilla is Africa and the panther comes from Asia, he said.

Mrs. Ruby Smith, San Diego, one of the owners of the show, said that "Barangu was the loser from the beginning." The panther slashed at him with his claws and teeth while about all the gorilla could do was try to avoid him.

In Seattle, Johnson said gorillas are peace-loving animals who do not attack others unless attacked first. They are mainly vegetarians, he said.

Mason and Charlotte Divide Capital Circuit Grid Title

Mason had no trouble in disposing of Grand Ledge Friday night 35-7 to grab a share of the Capital Circuit title. Coach Lou Lori only had to work his regulars the first half on Grand Ledge. The reserves took over the second half and had very little trouble. The victory ended the conference season for Mason. The Bulldogs had one of their best years. Charlotte and Mason both ended up with identical records of four wins and one tie. The leaders tied each other.

Mason will have its hands full Friday night when Leslie will be in town to ring down the curtain on the 1949 grid show. Leslie has come a long ways since its one and only loss to Holt in the first game of the season. The Blackhawks have developed a scaring punch and are one of the stronger teams in the central part of the state.

Chief Blackhawk is Glen Tuttle. The Leslie speedster has racked up touchdowns after touchdowns all season. When the opposition comes up with what is thought to be the answer to Tuttle, Bill Knawin takes over the scoring. The Leslie team is big and experienced and above all, well-coached. The Blackhawks have been gunning for the Mason game all season. Leslie had an open spot in its schedule Friday. The Armistice Day game will be the last one of the season for both teams.

Dan Garver sparked the Bulldogs to their fourth conference win over Grand Ledge. The big Mason back ran hard and often. Denny Stolz also grabbed the attention with his fine pitching. Mason scored in every period except the third. In the first quarter Mason scored a six-pointer on a line smash by Garver. Minutes later Grand Ledge was stopped behind its own goal line for two more points on a safety.

Mason's big quarter came in the second. The Bulldogs rolled in 20 points when Ken Matthews, Stolz and Grover Akers all crossed the

League Leaders Both Ended With Victories Friday

Mason and Charlotte both did the expected Friday night and ended the season with the Capital Circuit crown between them. The Orioles marched to a 13-0 victory over a stubborn Eaton Rapids outfit while Mason ran roughshod over the Comets of Grand Ledge, 35-7.

The Bulldogs and Orioles ended the season with identical records of four wins and one tie. The tie game was the 6-6 deadlock the first conference game of the season.

Against Eaton Rapids the Orioles had to go all out. It looked at first as if it was going to be a tight night for the Orioles. Following the kick-off Charlotte marched the length of the field with Bob Peterson finally hugging the ball over. The kick for the extra point was good. Eaton Rapids stiffened its defenses and held the Orioles in check until midway in the second period when Dale Rolfe ended a sustained Oriole drive with a touchdown run. From there on out the Orioles were unable to score. Eaton Rapids had no attack to speak of, marking up only three first downs. Bill Cataline accounted for all three of them.

This is the fourth straight year that Charlotte has been on top of the Capital Circuit heap. In the three previous years Charlotte has owned the crown outright with Mason in second place in all three years.

Neither Charlotte nor Mason is claiming any mythical regional or state honors. The sad facts of the case seem to be that Capital Circuit football was not up to par this year. The league champs both found rough going outside the conference. Mason lost to St. Johns and Holt. Charlotte was tied by Ionia and dropped a game to Hastings.

Mason and Charlotte had average teams which happened to be better than Eaton Rapids, Everett, Grand Ledge and Howell. The Bulldogs and Orioles are bona fide champs all right but the territory over which they hold sway is limited.

The Bulldogs have done well. With a tight backfield and an experienced line they developed into a hard-charging, accurate blocking and precision tackling team. The team played the best and has had the best spirit of any team in the last decade at Mason. It is a credit to the school and to Coach Lou Lori.

Final standings for the Capital Circuit race are:

Team	W	L	T
Charlotte	4	0	1
Mason	4	0	1
Howell	3	2	0
Eaton Rapids	1	4	0
Everett	1	4	0
Grand Ledge	1	4	0

Holt Ramblers Register 65-0 Over Haslett

Holt high school rang down the curtain on Ingham County league grid play for 1949 with a 65-0 Haslett scalp dangling from its belt. The top-sided victory left no doubt as to the superiority of the Rambler team.

The Holt-Haslett game was the only conference tilt played in the Ingham County league Friday. Fowlerville took on Howell of the Capital Circuit, and came out on the short end of a 12-7 score after leading the Highlanders up to the final quarter.

Against Haslett, the Ramblers registered in every quarter with their biggest tally coming in the wide-open third period with a total of 24 points to their credit. Bruce DePue put on a one-man show with six touchdowns and added two extra points to account for 38 of the 65 points. In recording the big total, DePue, one of the best backs in the area, reeled off a total of 251 yards against the Lakers. Other Ramblers who broke into the scoring column were Bob Haines with two touchdowns, Gene Pearce and Bill Alberts. The only effective weapon the Lakers had was their air arm. The Lakers accounted for 165 yards by passing.

Holt has the Ingham County league crown with no strings attached. The only blemish on the 1949 slate of games is the 12-7 Fowlerville tie of last week. Leslie is runner-up with six victories and a lone defeat at the hands of Holt in the first game of the season. Fowlerville and Williamston follow the two leaders in that order.

Final standings are:

Team	W	L	T
Holt	6	0	1
Leslie	6	1	0
Fowlerville	4	1	2
Williamston	4	2	1
Okemos	3	4	0
Haslett	2	5	0
Stockbridge	1	6	0
Dansville	0	7	0

Fish Population Grows At Augusta

Fifteen years ago Augusta creek running through the Kellogg creek produced no fishing and no trout. This year, according to Walter Lemmien, Michigan State college forester who is in charge of that forest, 850 trout were caught by 580 fishermen who spent close to 3,000 hours fishing on the stream during the season.

He cites that the installation of various barriers and cover has caused trout to stay in the stream and breed there. A total of 2,150 trout were planted in the stream during the season and the catch this year represented 40 per cent of the plant—considerably above the Michigan stream average. The study was part of a research project of the Michigan agricultural experiment station to determine how streams can be improved.

While a large number of trout are still evident in the stream, Lemmien believes many of the trout that were planted were caught by predators or have moved up or down stream beyond the forest.

By deepening and providing cover for trout, Lemmien believes the trout loss from natural causes and herons and kingfishers can be cut. Hunting and trapping will reduce the turtle population. Adjusting these practices will make it possible to harvest by recreational fishing at least half of the legal-sized trout planted in both the stream and the neighboring pond.

Return of a Champion

"The Duke of Chicago," coming to the Fox on Thursday and Friday, revolves around the difficulties of a former undefeated middleweight champion who is forced to return to the ring in order to earn some quick money to save his book-publishing business from ruin.

Tom Brown enacts the title role and blonde Audrey Long contributes strongly as the girl who believes in her man despite anything that happens to him.

During the movie, which is told in the same length of time that it takes to fight a 15-round bout, the behind-the-scenes story of a championship prizefight is told. "Duke of Chicago" emphasizes the clean side of boxing, pointing out that the majority of fighters are honest and clean-living men.

Records show that almost half of all the money American consumers spend for goods and services goes for products that originate on the farm.

Minding the Baby

Len Gorcey, Huntz Hall and the other Bowery Boys are hilarious to watch as they wash clothes and take care of baby diapers in their laundromat in "Hold That Baby," coming to the Fox on Thursday and Friday. In one of the bundles, Hall finds a baby which Anabel Shaw has secretly left on her premises to hide him from her neurotic aunts. The latter manage to have Anabel confined to a sanitarium, so they can get the large estate left by their brother to his infant grandson, Mobster Frankie Darro discovers that the baby the Bowery Boys are watching in the newspaper, the aunts agree to pay the mobsters $50,000 if they prevent the baby's discovery until after the will is read. If the infant is not present at the will reading the estate goes to the aunts. But with a few clever tricks that are at once exciting and amusing, the Bowery Boys outsmart the schemers.

"The Last Bandit"

"The Last Bandit," coming to the Fox on Saturday, relates the unusual and intriguing story of the notorious Plummer Brothers, Frank (William Elliott) and Jim (Forrest Tucker), erstwhile outlaws of the Missouri badlands.

A break occurs between the brothers when Frank determines to live down his infamous past and heads for Nevada to begin a new and honest career as an employee of the Western Central Railroad. The cynical Jim, little impressed with Frank's reformation, plots to make use of his brother's newly-won respectability by tricking him into assisting with the robbery of the company's gold train.

To dupo Frank into becoming his accomplice once again, Jim sends his sweetheart, Kate Foley (Adrian Booth), out to Nevada as a lure. The plot works perfectly, and Jim carries off the spectacular feat of hijacking an entire gold train and hiding it in a cave.

Kate has fallen in love with Frank in the meantime, however, and she risks her life to help him undo Jim's crime.

American Frontier Story

With the American border of a hundred and fifty years ago as its setting, RKO Radio's "Rachel and the Stranger" co-stars Loretta Young, William Holden and Robert Mitchum in an exciting story of romance and adventure.

Holden portrays an Ohio frontiersman who, when his wife dies, decides to marry again for his son's sake. Matrimonial resources at the nearest frontier settlement are limited, but he purchases a pretty young bondswoman (Miss Young) for twenty-two dollars, marries her, and brings her to his lonely cabin.

The boy, suspicious and resentful of the intruder, spurs her efforts to be friendly, and even her new husband largely ignores her. But this situation changes when a roving hunter, (Mitchum), an old friend of Holden's, drops by for his semi-annual visit. His attentions awaken the bondswoman's unsuspected talents, and he quickly becomes interested in her to the point of offering to buy her from her husband. This ensuing crisis, complicated by an Indian attack on the cabin, spectacularly resolves the situation. The film will be shown at the Fox on Sunday.

Highway Postal Cars Are Needed

Railroads and the mail service grew up together. That may be the reason why postal officials until now have seemed willing to let them grow old together and to languish and die together.

Once, and not too long ago, there was good railway mail service linking town and country, and town and town. That was when railroads operated several trains a day between Lansing and Jackson, and Jackson and Stockbridge, and Jackson through Onondaga and Eaton Rapids to Grand Rapids. The railroads had to curtail that service when people took to the highways.

With the decline of passenger train service there has naturally been a decline in railway mail service. Even the truck mail service which serves Ingham county well north and south has a tendency to follow abandoned rail routes instead of striking out across country like highways do.

If any of us want to go to Stockbridge we don't first drive to Jackson and then head for Stockbridge. If we want to go to Fowlerville we don't go to Lansing first. If we want to reach Eaton Rapids we don't first go to Lansing or Jackson. Yet that's the way our letters go.

A Stockbridge rural mail route comes to within two miles of Dansville. Yet a letter mailed on that Stockbridge route to a Dansville addressee must now go back to Stockbridge and then to Jackson and from there to Mason before it starts toward Dansville. A journey that might take half an hour by foot sometimes extends to three days by mail.

From Mason to Onondaga or Eaton Rapids, from Mason to Fowlerville, from Leslie to Stockbridge or Onondaga, the present mail service is not adequate.

Some way should be provided to haul mail quickly between Stockbridge, Dansville and Mason, between Stockbridge and Leslie, between Mason and Onondaga, Eaton Rapids and Charlotte, and between Mason, Williamston, Webherville and Fowlerville.

The postal service has recognized the inadequacy of mail service between small towns but until now hasn't done, perhaps hasn't been able to do, much about it besides letting contracts to truckers along the old rail routes. Now the postoffice department is doing something about it. Starting November 15 there will be a new service in the territory between Grand Rapids and Saginaw. All the small towns in the long stretch between the two cities will be linked by a highway mail coach, just like railway mail coaches except that steel rails won't be used.

The Grand Rapids-Saginaw innovation is a hopeful sign that better mail services will soon be provided for small towns in this area.

The New College Plan

The length of time a boy has gone to school and the courses he has taken will mean little if a present experiment in education proves successful.

Ten or 12 Michigan high schools have entered into a deal with colleges to toss specific courses out of school windows so far as college entrance is concerned. Under the new plan for college entrance from the high schools selected there will be only one question asked about the prospective college student. Is he capable of doing college work?

Educational values change frequently. Only 20 years ago eighth grade examinations were required before rural boys and girls could enter high school. The legislature ended that, on the theory that high school education should not be limited to those who could pass the examinations. All colleges used to have comprehensive entrance examinations. They were ruled out except for select schools in the East. Now almost anyone can go to high school and college and most of them do. Standards have been abandoned on high school graduation and college entrance. That's one reason why the first two years of college is about the high school level of a generation ago.

At first thought, the new plan seems to be a continuation of the present standard-less system. Yet maybe it's a return to a program to require that young men and women who enter college be able enough and mature enough and serious enough to do the work, without paying any regard to high school standings, which have come to have little meaning.

There are high school educators who insist that certain courses of foreign language, higher mathematics and various other studies must be pursued and passed before a boy or girl can go on to college. Presumably, though, there are millions of people who have never worked out a problem in geometry or even algebra after leaving high school, and even more who have said not a sentence of the French or German they so laboriously learned. On the other hand, many high school graduates have been turned back in college because of their lack of proficiency in mathematics and in other basic subjects.

It probably all boils down to something like this. If a student forms sound study habits, if he is apt, ambitious, determined, his high school subjects, whether they ran to agriculture, home economics, foreign language or mathematics carry little weight in college. The new plan probably means that colleges are anxious to get serious students regardless of what they studied in high school. Study habits may count for more than the present ritual of 13 years in kindergarten, grade school and high school.

Under the experimental plan a college official will ask high school principals, "Is this boy able to do college work? Does he honestly want to learn?"

The principal will be asked to say yes or no, not merely to fill out a form setting forth that John entered kindergarten in 1935 and went on through school to graduate in 1949 after being exposed to algebra, Latin, typing and social science.

Under the experiment those who want to learn may be separated from those who merely go to school.

Employer Responsibility

Most successful businesses accept their responsibilities of directing those who work for them.

On Tuesday Mason elected a mayor and three aldermen. Actually, the voters hired the three men to work for the community. It is now up to the voters to assume and carry out the responsibilities of employers.

That responsibility is not carried out by besifing and bellyaching after the council does some unpopular act. It is carried out by taking and holding an interest in city affairs and helping our employees to arrive at some of the answers to local problems.

Regardless of how any of us voted Tuesday or who was elected, we should all work together now for the good of the city.

Farmers, Too, Pay Farm Subsidies

By Vernon J. Brown

Word comes from Berrien that the Farm Bureau of that county has adopted a resolution in opposition to all federal crop supports and controls over price and wage levels. The resolution was passed at the annual convention of the Berrien County Farm Bureau and will be forwarded to the state bureau at Lansing to be considered at the annual state convention of that organization.

At first this would appear as an indication that farmers are beginning to revolt against the regulation under AAA, and the PMA as it is now called.

A quick look at the facts however soon dispels any such notion. The Berrien Farm Bureau action simply points out once again how selfishly most public questions are approached. Six basic crops are blanketed under the farm price subsidy plan, namely, corn, wheat, rice, cotton, tobacco and peanuts. Except for an exceedingly small acreage of corn and wheat, none of these crops interest Berrien farmers. Even with butter, potatoes, eggs and wool included as secondary beneficiaries, Berrien county farmers are still out in the cold. Their crops are confined largely to small fruits, berries and garden crops, none of which are included in any farm price support plan.

Supports Keep Prices Up

Price and wage supports raise prices or keep high prices up. This makes commodities cost more to the consumer. As to those farm crops under price support, Berrien county farmers are consumers, not producers. They are buyers, not sellers. Hence they are against price and wage supports.

Not the resolution at least indicates that farmers somewhere are reasoning things out and are daring to speak their minds.

A college economist, speaking in Mason last week, pointed out that nearly 75 per cent of Michigan's farm income is derived from livestock, including dairying. Add to this the income from fruits and garden crops and the wonder grows that more is not heard here in Michigan in opposition to farm controls, parities and subsidies. Michigan farmers as a whole are penalized today as they have been from the very first of AAA and as they will continue to be penalized under the so-called Brannan plan with which Congress is struggling and under which farms would be controlled as to size and use. Bigness in farming, it appears, is as dangerous to the welfare of mankind as is the A & P grocery chain and the other big corporations now under suspicion by the federal government.

Farmers Feel Good

A good many farmers I have talked to seem to think they are sitting pretty easy in the tax picture. So they are, as far as direct property taxes, sales taxes and income taxes are concerned. But the trouble is they pay a lot of taxes they are not told of. The North-east Farm Foundation has just completed a study of what the farmer actually does pay in taxes of all kinds. The results are easy to remember. It takes 30 cents of every dollar of the farmer's income to pay all his taxes, hidden and open. The record for all the people of the United States, all classes and all income levels, stands at 25 cents out of every dollar produced, earned or gained in profits.

Secretary Brannan, in an article appearing recently in a national magazine, talks glibly of the national income and the ability of a high income people to consume the food the farmer raises. Most economists, and on the governmental payroll, agree this could be so if the national income could keep ahead or even abreast of taxes. The hard facts are that the national income is not keeping abreast of the demands of the tax collector nor will it under any circumstances now foreseeable.

Since the early 30's this country has been dosed with one politico-economic nostrum after another. Pay have forgotten about all the various alphabetical outfits that sprouted and grew up among us during the 10 years preceding the outbreak of World War II. Most were of either the pump priming or the social welfare variety.

Relief Costs Soar

Here is another set of figures not hard to keep in mind:

Disregarding all the "under long-time forms of public relief such as social security, unemployment insurance, and similar and spending the word of the financial analyst of the United States department of commerce as our authority, let us look at that side our national economy.

In 1934 during the darkest days of the world-wide depression there was paid out in direct relief in this nation the staggering sum of $746,000,000.

In 1948 at the height of the greatest upsurge of industrial employment this nation has ever experienced, the cost of direct relief was almost one billion greater or in figures it stood at $1,727,000,000.

I am not an economist and probably I do not understand all these modern trains, but I have a feeling that when we tax ourselves to keep prices up and they get beyond the reach of the industrial worker, and then we raise his wages to match the cost of living and add the wage increase to the price of goods and add on pensions and out-of-job pay and direct relief and keep on without end we will finally tax the food off the tables of all of us and wind up a poverty stricken nation.

One of the best things about the 4-H club program is that youngsters learn to entertain themselves. At achievement day in Mason last Thursday night there were three good acts. Betty Keppeler, Suzanne White and Mary Miesner of Stockbridge as the Methodists; Neale Munsell, Wayne Chell and Phil Arnold, billed as the Dansville Paulistans; and Joan Cole, Tom Olney, Jack Cleaves and Bernard Harper, the Onondaga musicians.

The Stockbridge trio mixes good looks and sweet harmony. The Dansville boys have their act down pat and the Onondaga group plays: faithful hill Billy songs on piano, fiddle, guitar and electric guitar.

Did you ever read about a place for the first time and immediately run across it again? I had never heard of Montego Bay, Jamaica, until last Thursday forenoon when I wrote of the death of Mrs. Harold Lyons. That's where she was born, where she went to school and where her parents and brother now live. Thursday night I was reading the Saturday Evening Post and there was a full-page ad showing tourists reclining on the beach at Montego Bay.

No woman in Mason had more friends or deserved more than Mrs. Lyons. Life was not always easy for her here. Brought up in the sunshine and warmth and beauty of Jamaica, she must have occasionally been homesick here amid the snow and cold and some times amid the chill of racial prejudice. There must have been many times when she wished she was back at Montego Bay. Yet she never uttered a word of complaint. She was an ideal mother, glorying in the accomplishments of her children and bringing them on to an appreciation of the best life has to offer. She saw two sons graduate from Mason high school. Another son and a daughter are now in high school. And she gave loving care to another who was not able to attend school. Mrs. Lyons and all the family have done more toward improving race relations than a thousand Paul Robesons and Walter Whites.

Temple Christian is building his own brick house. He's a bricklayer and a good one, and decided logically enough that if other people can afford to hire him to lay bricks he should be able to afford a brick house for himself and Betty. Temple's parents could not have made a happier choice in a name. It's as musical as cathedral bells. I had hoped that Temple Christian would be able to trace his ancestry back to the South Pacific Christians of Mutiny on the Bounty fame, but it didn't work out that way. Mason's Temple Christian comes from a long line of Fowlerville Christians, and so far as he knows none of them ever served with Captain Bligh on the Bounty.

Caps are making a slow comeback for men. Several were in evidence at the Michigan State-Notre Dame game. Walter Kuras of Ludington was one of the winners. He came on to Mason to spend Saturday night. As one of the few dress cap wearers on Mason streets in several years, I interviewed him. He reported that some of the best shaped and most knowing heads in the Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Ludington areas are now adorned with cloth caps instead of felt hats. He attributes part of the cap renaissance to the return of convertibles. He drives one himself, and finds it easier to keep a cap in place than a hat. For winter wear he is having fur earflaps built in.

Edmund (Cy) Young of Dansville, who helped teach his nephew Dave Diehl football, has the distinction of having helped trim Notre Dame. It was back in 1915 when Cy played end for what was then MAC that the East Lansing institution downed N. D. 13-7. Cy played a big part in that ball game.

DEEP IN MY HEART is a story based on the life of Sigmund Romberg, well known composer of such operettas as "MAYTIME," "STUDENT PRINCE" and "DESERT SONG." Written by Elliott Arnold, it reads almost like fiction, and has the basic good quality for any biography, and serves as an inspiration to others. Romberg's parents thought of music as a pleasant pastime and family hobby, but not as a career, so he was sent to school to become an engineer. For some time after he came to America he wrote songs for other's plays, but in time found his own place in the theatrical world. The list of songs written by him is almost incredible. Teen-agers as well as adults will find it good reading.

BUBBLING SPRING by Ross Santee is the type of western which we wish could be written more often. It is written by a cowboy by adoption and he writes of the people who made the west as though he really knew how they lived. Illustrated with his own black and white drawings, it will satisfy again the boys who want action stories, and the men who read only westerns.

LONG LOVE is one for the readers of romantic fiction. It is the story of the courtship of a couple who are very different. Because they are deeply in love they stick together and make a good life for themselves and their family. It's good wholesome reading for anyone. John Seeger has a way of writing of the ordinary individual which makes him seem like one's own next door neighbor.

A LARGER local telephone calling area for Mason

NOVEMBER 22 will mark an important improvement in telephone service for Mason . . . the introduction of extended area service.

On that day, Mason's local, toll-free calling area will be enlarged. Mason telephone subscribers will be able to reach 43,000 telephones without toll charge . . . 25 times as many as they can today.

Mason telephone subscribers will be able to call and be called by LANSING, DANSVILLE and HOLT subscribers without toll charge.

Through the years, a natural community of interest has been built up between Mason and each of these communities. Friendships have developed. People buy and sell back and forth. The life of Mason has become linked with that of the others.

In communities where extended area service already has been introduced, the number of calls between the communities involved has increased two to five times. With Mason's enlarged local calling area, telephone service will be geared to modern telephone needs and will become more valuable and useful than ever.

New monthly rates, to be the same as Lansing rates, will become effective November 22 when Lansing, Dansville and Holt telephones are included in the local calling area.

Prior to November 22, Mason telephone subscribers will receive complete information on extended area service, including the new rates. Please watch for this material. It will help you to understand the new service and its advantages.

So Wilson Held Up the War For Fast Shorthand Lesson

By BILLY ROSE

During the closing days of World War I, I took the President of the United States out of play for 15 minutes. I did it with my little shorthand pencil.

At the time, I was working for the War Industries Board in Washington as a stenographer, and running out to get chocolate sodas for Mr. Baruch, its chairman.

A few days before the Armistice, a Board executive handed me a letter and told me to deliver it to the proper party. The proper party was Woodrow Wilson.

The White House that day was a jumble of senators, Cabinet members, ambassadors and important brass. News of the Armistice was expected any hour, and the tension was like the last few seconds of the Dempsey-Firpo fight.

I handed the letter to one of Mr. Wilson's secretaries, and was asked to wait in case of a reply. A few minutes later the secretary returned, looking puzzled. "The President would like to see you," he said.

I got trembly inside. I was pushing 18 at the time—fresh out of the East Side, and also plain fresh. But my dealings with Presidents had been limited to the one I had seen on dollar bills.

Mr. Wilson smiled when he saw me. "I understand you're quite a shorthand writer," was his greeting.

MY TREMBLES vanished. I knew the President was a shorthand writer of sorts—the tachygraphy magazines were always bragging about it. "I hear you're pretty good yourself, Mr. President," I blurted out.

Mr. Wilson blushed prettily. "I don't get much chance to practice these days," he said, like a fisherman apologizing for a six-inch trout. "Mr. Baruch tells me you can write 200 words a minute. I wonder if you'd give me a little demonstration."

He handed me a pad and a pencil, and picked up a New York newspaper on his desk. Then, in his clipped, precise speech, he read one of the editorials at about 150 words a minute. When he had finished, the President said, "Now let's hear you read it back."

Well, as every stenographer knows, it's the reading back that counts. I shot the editorial back at him a good deal faster than he had dictated it. And then I started at the bottom of the page and read the editorial backwards.

Wilson chuckled. He asked me questions about Gregg shorthand—he was a Pitman writer. By this time, I was patronizing him a little—the caddy who shoots a 61 isn't self-conscious when he discusses mashie shots with a Rockefeller.

I PICKED UP the New York paper and handed the pad and pencil to Mr. Wilson. "I wonder if you'd mind writing for me, Mr. President," I said.

Wilson rubbed his glasses on his sleeve. "Don't go too fast," he warned.

I read the editorial at about one hundred words a minute, and then asked him to read it back. When I told him he had made no mistakes, the President sighed like a kid who has just finished playing "The Blues Waltz" for Paderewski.

I picked up his notes. "If you don't mind, sir," I said, "I'd like to keep them."

Woodrow Wilson reached for my shorthand notes. "We'll exchange," he said.

I walked out of the White House and floated back to my office via the rooftops.

I had no sooner gotten to my desk than the phone rang. "Mr. Baruch wants to see you," said his secretary.

"Pretty good for Delancey street!" I said to myself as I walked down the hall. "Woodrow Wilson and Bernie Baruch in one hour!"

The girl in Mr. Baruch's office looked up as I bounced in.

"The boss wants you to get him a chocolate soda," she said.

Isn't America A Wonderful Country!

All over the world today there are people teaching bitterness and hate.

Here in America we have learned to live together in friendship.

For us here at A&P, it has been a wonderful and thrilling experience to get from those with whom we compete day after day such astounding evidence of friendship and respect.

The things that have happened since the anti-trust lawyers from Washington brought suit to destroy A&P have amazed us.

While we sincerely believed that we had earned the friendship of millions of consumers for whom we have provided better food at lower prices, and the friendship of millions of farm families for whom we have provided a better market for their produce, we were not prepared for the avalanche of offers of support.

But most of all, we have to confess that we had underestimated the fine sportsmanship of many of our competitors all over the country.

Can anyone believe that these competitors would rush to our defense if, as the anti-trust lawyers allege, we had been trying to put them out of business?

We and they have fought hard for business.

There are nearly 350,000 individual grocers competing with us. They have a larger share of the nation's grocery business today than they had ten years ago or twenty years ago.

Many of them do as good a job as we do, and they make it plenty tough for us.

Now, day after day, these same competitors are letting us know that they are in our corner.

All we can say is, thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Isn't America A Wonderful Country!

Who hollered for Uncle?

Who wants him to break up A&P?

COULD IT BE INDEPENDENT GROCERS? Doesn't seem likely. In ten years America's independent storekeepers almost tripled their business. In 1938 they did just under 5 1/2 billion dollars worth of food business. Last year the independent storekeepers handled over 15 billion dollars worth of food.

WHOLESALE GROCERS? Hardly. For many of them are directly or indirectly engaged in or supporting some form of voluntary or cooperative chain to match chain economies.

THE EMPLOYEES? That would be funny—except that some folks probably believe it. Actually, less than 25 years ago many food chain stores could have paid all expenses—rent, heat, light, wages, etc.—out of the money a store manager alone gets paid now. And the store manager of 25 years ago would have been happy to get what a clerk gets today.

PRODUCERS? Well, take farmers. Certainly part of their prosperity must be attributed to the markets that big chains create for them. The big chains buy the entire pack of many a canner. These canneries pack the farmers' crops. What would the farmer do with his highly perishable crop if the food chains were eliminated as big volume buyers?

COMPETING CHAINS, MAYBE? No. Practically every chain in the grocery business had more sales last year than the year before. One chain that we know a lot about increased its food business 21% last year and is up 19% in the first eight months of this year.

THEN IT CERTAINLY MUST BE THE PEOPLE! Like fun. If the people hated food chain stores, would they have spent 9 1/2 billion dollars in them last year? Folks like the low prices and high standards of chains—and the better the chains are run, the better folks like them.

Does This Sound as Though We Need Help? Thorofare Super Markets came into existence 10 years ago. The food chains Thorofare replaced were doing about three million dollars worth of business a year. Housewives liked our policies well enough to boost their purchases in our 90 stores to about 30 million dollars a year.

We call that a vote of confidence. And we're going to keep right on proving that as long as we stick to good brands and better-than-average selections at rock-bottom prices, we can compete with anybody in the business. And keep right on growing, too!

We don't believe any chain will be punished for being efficient, or for pleasing housewives so well that it is forced to grow.

We, too, believe that it is a storekeeper's duty to bring the public the best food at the lowest possible prices, and hope to see the chain store way of doing business vindicated.

And as long as the producers, the employees, the customers, the wholesale grocers, the independents and the competing chains thrive so well, we will continue to think it's a good way to do business.

Dairy Records Show Best Cow In Farm Herds

Have you ever wondered how your "best cow" or lowest producer compared with cows on other Michigan dairy farms?

Records of the income and costs of milk production on other farms will help you with the comparison, says Timothy Hodge, Michigan State college agricultural economist.

Hodge summarized cost and income records from the Detroit Milk shed in an article in the October issue of Michigan Farm publication. Records were supplied monthly during 1948 by 83 farmers.

To keep a cow one year, it took about 2 tons of hay, 2 1/3 tons of concentrates, 2 1/2 tons of silage and 160 days of pasture. Cost of these feeds was $169. Labor, $107, and other costs, $74, brought the cost per cow for one year was $491. Thus each cow made a net return of $41.

Feed accounted for about one-half the total cost per cow and labor for about one-third of the total cost. Other costs include items such as electricity, bedding and veterinary expense.

Hodge suggests watching these factors which determine returns per hour of labor: 1. production per cow; 2. price received for milk; 3. reducing labor costs with improved chores routines and efficient barn layout; and 4. size of herd.

Partners with herds of 20 or more cows can spread costs of labor saving machinery over more animals, Hodge explained. And the average price received for milk can be increased by producing more of the milk in the fall, during seasonally higher prices.

Outlook on Farm Is Radio Feature

What's in store for Michigan farmers in 1950? Extension specialists of the Michigan State college agricultural economics department will try to answer this question on November 14 in a panel discussion over radio station WKAR.

Chairman Art March will lead the discussion of prices, business trends, income factors, and land investment. The program will be heard from 1 to 1:30 p. m. and re-broadcast over WKAR-FM at 7:30 p. m.

Bulls Exercised By New Device

A specially designed exercising device which will safely handle 16 bulls at one time is an interesting feature for many visitors at the Michigan Artificial Breeders laboratory on the Michigan State college farm near East Lansing.

The overhead moving trolley is operated electrically and supplies daily exercise for the more than 70 bulls owned by the 20,000 Michigan dairy farmers who are members of the group.

Many groups of farmers and dairymen from over the state visit the laboratory to look over the animals and the many labor saving devices operating there.

A. C. Baltzer, extension dairy specialist, reports that 144 different local artificial breeding groups are now receiving service from the laboratory. Baltzer says that no where else in Michigan can be found such a large group of proved dairy bulls of the Holstein, Guernsey, Jersey and Red Danish breeding.

Farming Requires Capital

We read with some interest that mechanical and other aids to farm productivity have been worked out by a banker-economist and some college professors, but the question that arises in connection with labor-saving farm gadgets is the expense involved for the average farmer.

It is comparatively easy, as the chemists know, to create new products or substitutes for natural ones. The test of the process is the amount of money it costs. The same thing applies to many power and mechanical aids to farming. They can serve the cause of agriculture only if they are priced low enough to be available to those that need them.

There are many instances in which power and machines will cut labor costs on a farm but machinery and motors cost money. As surely as farmers get the capital necessary to improve their farming equipment, they tend to do so. In fact, the problem facing many farmers today is a source of credit for the purchase of the labor-saving devices they need if they are to operate at a profit.

The trend of farming operations over the past few decades has demonstrated that farming is becoming a business for the investment of capital. The time has about passed that a man can take a tract of land and, by his efforts, secure a living from the soil. Correct farming requires the capital necessary for operations, as well as that needed for the purchase of machinery, equipment and other gadgets.—Clinton County Republican-News, St. Johns.

Yield of 1,000 Bushels An Acre Is Potato Record

Don't claim the election until all the precincts are in. Politicians have found that to be good advice.

P. O. L. O. championships, too, shouldn't be claimed until all parts of the state are heard from in this state of Michigan. A Kent county yield of 853 bushels recently reported topped all previous Michigan records. But now reports from Marquette county in the Upper Peninsula show a yield of more than 1,000 bushels an acre.

Paul Van Damme in south Marquette county produced a yield of 1,038 bushels an acre on a six-acre plot. The yield was checked by R. H. Kaven, Marquette county agricultural agent, and William Cargo, crops specialist for the Michigan extension service.

Van Damme got his early potato growing training from his father, Jules Van Damme, who once won the state premier potato grower honors. But here's how he got more than 1,000 bushels to the acre:

He cleared some new land in the spring of 1948 and last fall planted rye, using 600 pounds of 2-12-12 fertilizer at planting time. In May he plowed under the rye for green manure and planted 40 bushels of certified Russet Rural seed potatoes to the acre, using 1,000 pounds of 3-12-12 fertilizer for each acre. Rows were 32 inches apart and potatoes were planted 9 inches apart in rows. During the season he cultivated when necessary and sprayed against disease and insects a total of 17 times. No irrigation was done.
