Separated by the narrowest of margins, a girl will lead the 1957 graduating class at Dansville Agricultural school, with a boy as salutatorian. Dorothy Dunsmore is the valedictorian, the faculty announced, with Roylyn Voss the salutatorian. The girls' average is 3.57, the boy's, 3.53.

Dorothy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Dunsmore, Dietz road, Roylyn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roylyn Voss, Sr., Williamson road. She entered Dansville Agricultural school from the Dart district and he from the Cady, both as freshmen.

Both have been leaders in extra-curricular activities as well as in scholastics.

The valedictorian has been in chorus for 4 years, had parts in both the junior and senior plays, served on the student council for 2 years, on the Bricks and Ivy staff, as librarian one year and is chairman of the chapel committee this year.

The Voss boy has been a leader in FFA for 4 years and a role in the junior play, was advertising manager of Bricks and Ivy, sang in the chorus 2 years, was librarian 2 years, participated in track 3 years and in his sophomore year played baseball and basketball.

After graduation from high school Dorothy plans to do secretarial work and Roylyn expects to enter Michigan State university to study agriculture.

Other top scholars and their placings are Barbara Cochrane, third; Wilmer Parson, fourth; Janet Briggs and Evelyn Townsend, tied for fifth; Eleanor Lance, sixth; Norton Rice, seventh; John Phelps, eighth; and Carl Minnis, ninth.

Ingham Dairymen Learn of Proposed Milk Control Law

Glynn McBride, MSU agricultural economist, played the role of the leader through a maze of state milk control laws and laws in Leslie Tuesday afternoon and never received a scratch. A year ago he discussed the futility of increased Class I fluid milk prices and was verbally stoned.

Tuesday he addressed members of the Mason local of the Michigan Milk Producers association at the annual meeting in Leslie. Claiming that Michigan State is on nobody's side, and only interested in helping farmers, "think through" state milk control legislation, McBride said the proposed law has no guarantee of higher prices for producers or lower prices for consumers. In fact, he said, surveys have shown no conclusive evidence that state milk control helps or hurts anybody.

It does set up another bureau and does permit state government to peer into farm and processing plant record books, he declared.

The proposed law has the backing of the Michigan Milk Producers association and the disapproval of some factions of MMPA. Michigan has had milk control laws before, McBride stated. He said that "permissible legislation" was passed in 1939 and several markets made use of the law, but it was ruled unconstitutional by the supreme court in 1940. It was also turned down on a state referendum ballot.

McBride also pointed out that 17 states have passed milk control legislation and 16 of them are making use of it. McBride pointed out that there were 26 states with milk control laws in 1933.

"Milk control laws are usually proposed because of too high retail prices, unfair trade practices, strikes and other unstable conditions and surpluses," McBride said. "If adopted by the legislature, the Michigan milk control law would forbid the 'unfair' practice of rebates to consumers for quantity purchases, would probably curtail out-of-state milk from entering the market, would provide more farm-producers statistics, give uniform producer prices and would tend to stabilize the industry."

"On the other hand," McBride said, "such control laws would tend to slow technical advances, kill incentive on the part of both producers and processors, reduce competition, be subject to politics, be difficult to administer and might not either improve farm prices or reduce the price of retail milk."

McBride said the proposed law would fix producer prices based on cost studies and would also fix retail prices and regulate trade practices. He also pointed out that the law would only provide for the state program and that it would be up to a vote of producers in given marketing areas whether or not particular markets would operate under the milk control law. Neither processors nor consumers could vote on the issue, he declared.

McBride said a majority of producers could adopt the law and a majority could also throw it out of their particular market.

The MSU professor also pointed out that the bill provides for a licensing and assessment scale for dealers which would amount to 3% per hundred weight and an estimated 7c per hundred weight assessment on producers who have not availed themselves of proper dairy inspection programs.

Democrats Sight Win in April Election

Last 127 Link Will Be Ready By Next Fall

Specifications being drawn up for the last link of US-127 between Leslie and the Jackson section recently let have a December 14, 1957, completion date.

Bids on the 9 miles of grading and drainage structures covering the relocation from Leslie south to be being taken Wednesday, March 6. The deadline is 10:30 that forenoon. They will be opened in the small auditorium of the Lansing Civic Center, according to a legal notice which appears on Page 7, Part 4, of the Ingham County News.

Bids will cover grading and drainage structures for 8,917 miles, with dual 22-foot concrete pavement.

To be let at the same time will be a contract for 5,468 miles of 21-foot prime and double seal on the west service road from Leslie north to Tomlinson road.

The successful bidder will be required to start work on the Leslie-Jackson stretch within 10 days after getting notice of award. He must start grading by April 1 and progress at the rate of 60,000 cubic yards per week. He must start paving operations by August 1 and complete the paving by October 15. Even though the road must be opened to traffic by December 14, the contractor will have until July 15, 1958, to finish up fencing and seeding and sodding.

Two other sections between Leslie and Jackson were let last month.

ADVENTURE BECKONS young women as well as young men. These 3 London misses are working their way around part of the world by stenography. They came to Mason to see a pen pal, the former Gloria Gorham, now Mrs. Kenneth Beatty. They are comparing food items in George's Market with those of London. That's Gloria Ball, Brenda Goodman and Marion Potter. They were guests at the George Gorham home. (Ingham County News photo.)

Mason Voters Must Choose 3 Candidates

In Mason's first city primary election Monday voters must choose 3 candidates from among the 7 who filed.

Actually Mason voters will be choosing 6, because the charter provides that double the number of candidates to be elected April 1 must be nominated at the primary. That will mean that only one of the council candidates will be eliminated.

The 7 candidates are:

Abe Cohn, 727 Roosevelt, Lansing teacher.

Emery Colby, 216 North Rogers, decorator, former city policeman.

Alfred Forche, 123 East Cherry, chemist at Wyeth Laboratories, Inc., presently mayor.

Gilson Pearsall, 334 East Elm, Lansing teacher.

Robert O. Schaeffer, 525 Holt, assistant county highway engineer.

Harry J. Smith, 512 S. Lansing, district salesman for Ashland Oil Co.

Robert Tear, 128 West Oak, owner of Western Auto Store.

Mason voters, despite the expected light vote, will have to be divided into the 3 precincts set up last year. Voters in the first and third precincts will cast their ballots at polls on the first floor of the court house. Those in the second precinct will vote at the city hall.

Polls will open at 7 Monday morning and remain open until 8 at night.

English Maids Visit Mason Pen Pal

On a sentimental journey to Mason last week came 3 English maids. They came to see a pen pal, Mrs. Kenneth Beatty (nee Gloria Gorham). For 12 years, before Gloria was quite 10, she and one of the English girls have been exchanging letters.

Miss Brenda Goodman, Miss Diana Ball and Miss Marion Potter, all from London, decided to see something of the world before it shrinks further. After graduation from high school they entered business colleges and secured jobs. They agreed to leave a year later to work their way through Canada and to return to England by way of the British West Indies. They saved enough in London to take passage to Montreal last summer.

After working in Montreal for several months they moved on to Ottawa and then came to Windsor, where they are now employed in offices. They came by bus from Windsor to Ann Arbor and on to Mason Friday and returned to their work in Windsor by bus Sunday night. Mrs. Beatty and Miss Goodman were the original pen pals.

Last fall Mr. and Mrs. Beatty drove to Ottawa where the 3 English working-tourists were then employed. The Beattys now live in Mt. Pleasant. They came to the home of Mrs. Beatty's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gorham, for the week end to be with the visitors from England.

After they see all they want to around Windsor and Detroit the young women plan to gradually work north and west, to the Canadian Soo, to Port Arthur or Fort William, to Kenora, to Winnipeg and on up to Calgary in Saskatchewan and over into British Columbia.

Visitors from England are not permitted to hold U. S. jobs, so from British Columbia the girls will have a long jump to Jamaica or Trinidad, where they will again seek work to earn their passages home.

The English girls like Canada and the United States. They were surprised at the numbers of French-speaking people in Montreal. They have enjoyed working and living in the melting pot of Windsor and Detroit. They are now prepared to mix with the great numbers of Ukrainians in Port Arthur and Port William and in the Canadian northwest.

The girls like Canadian wages too. Top wages of stenographers in London range between $15 and $18 per week. So far on their jobs in Montreal, Ottawa and Windsor the 3 English stenographers have found employment far more rewarding than in London.

While Gregg shorthand is the system most used in the United States, the British use the Pittman system. The girls have used that system so far in Canada and expect to get home on it sometime this year. They're not homesick yet, though. They are having fun and seeing many sights along the way.

The 3 young women say they will discuss the Suez crisis if Canadians and Americans insist. They pointed out, though, that they did not come to Canada or the United States on a political mission, but just to see the sights and get acquainted with the people. They may come back to stay sometime, not now, they said.

They spoke of the wave of emigration from the British Isles to Australia, Canada and the United States. They're not part of it at the present time, they insisted.

Hittle's Death Results in Quick Senatorial Primary

Even faster than the law contemplates is a vote called to pick candidates for the senate seat made vacant by the death of Harry F. Hittle.

A special primary for the Ingham-Livingston district has been called by the state election commission for Friday, March 1. Successful candidates will be certified for the April 1 biennial spring ballot.

Candidates for the primary must file their petitions not later than next Tuesday.

Lansing election officials and County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard have protested that the schedule ordered by the state election commission violates some provisions of the law. It does not allow time enough for prospective candidates to consider running or for voters to become acquainted with candidates, Hilliard said. Beyond that, there is not the legal interval between the date of filing petitions and delivery of absent voter ballots, not time enough between a possible recount in the February 18 election in Lansing voting machines and setting up the machines for the special March 1 balloting, and not time enough to permit new registrations for the March 1 primary, the county clerk said.

Elections Come Thick and Fast

Voices of the people are apt to grow hoarse. In Mason there are 4 elections scheduled within 6 weeks. Here's the schedule:

February 18, non-partisan judicial primary and city primary.

February 21, special election in Mason on renewal for 30 years of Consumers Power Co. gas franchise.

March 1, special senatorial primary election in Ingham and Livingston counties to nominate candidates for state senator.

April 1, biennial spring election.

It is quite likely, Quimby said, that Democrats will be in a majority on the supreme court after the April election and that Democrats will be in complete control of the state administrative board by electing state highway commissioner and superintendent of public instruction.

Quimby told of the importance of the Democratic program of gaining control of administration at state teacher colleges. The state board of education, he said, has control over the textbooks and the courses of study in the training of teachers. Quimby attacked George Dean, Republican candidate for state board of education, charging an alliance with Jimmy Hoffa, Teamster boss.

Resolutions adopted attacked the Lansing city employment tax proposal, demanded legislative re-apportionment, demanded enforcement of school integration and removal of racial discrimination in all fields, lauded Governor Williams and other Democratic state officers and pledged support to the governor for any office he may seek, praised Don Hayworth, former congressman, and county and state party leaders. They endorsed Orin K. Grettenberger of Okemos for re-election as treasurer of the state Democratic committee.

Ray Rapaport, county chairman, will head the Ingham delegation to the state convention. He

Festival Draws Mason Talent

Mason musicians have been entered in 15 of the events of the south central district solo and ensemble music festival at Lansing Sexton Saturday.

Nominated for the competition, announced George Murthum, director, are Nancy Bray, oboe and piano; Judy Leonard, clarinet and piano; Nancy Smith, Roberta Rice, Patricia Adams, Ruth Schmitter and Mary Arnold, flutes; Jackie Ryal, Connie Bell, Jo Lynne Cappo and Jerilyn Morse, clarinets; Claudia Siebert and Sally Schofield, saxophone; Sue Mumau and Carol Martin, trumpets; Mary Fiedler, baritone; and Bob Burgess and Don Williams, trombones.

Chamber Plans Meeting Tuesday

Members of the Mason Chamber of Commerce and others interested in Chamber activities will meet at Hall Memorial library Tuesday night, February 19, at 8. It will be the annual meeting and election of officers, according to Ray Perkins, president.

Perkins said that reorganization of the Chamber will be discussed. He urged both business and professional men to attend the meeting.

Delegates Back Ryan for Judge

In Mason Wednesday night delegates to the county convention prophesied gains in the April election. They endorsed Judge Theodore P. Ryan for support in Monday's non-partisan judicial primary. They backed Fred Tripp in Lansing's non-partisan mayoralty race. Delegates also flocked around Stuart J. Dunning, Jr., to sign his petition for state senator.

The convention was called to elect delegates to the state convention in Grand Rapids February 22 and 23. Ingham is entitled to 35 state delegates. Ingham Democrats doubled the number, giving to each delegate one-half vote.

Ingham delegates are going to the state convention unopposed. They threw off the unit rule.

Thomas Quimby of Grand Rapids, director of Michigan's workmen's compensation department and a member of the national Democratic committee, in his keynote address flayed Republicans and praised Democrats. He alluded to State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler as Chuckhole Charlie.

Democrats can not call Michigan a Democratic state, Quimby declared, until the party captures county court houses and town halls. In only 6 of 107 towns, Quimby said, have Democrats been in control of the legislature. Two of those years were in 1895 and the 4 years were at the crest of Roosevelt popularity—1932 to 1936, Quimby said.

Democrats should not rest until non-partisan means non-partisan Democrats and independent means independent Democrats, the keynote declared.

It is quite likely, Quimby said, that Democrats will be in a majority on the supreme court after the April election and that Democrats will be in complete control of the state administrative board by electing state highway commissioner and superintendent of public instruction.

Thief Snatches Wrist Watches

Somebody smashed the show window of Fink's jewelry store on Maple street in Mason Wednesday night or Thursday morning to snatch 3 wrist watches. In fact, he or they, broke 2 windows. An attempt to enter the store from an alley window was thwarted by a steel pane sash.

Charles Martin of Charlotte, wholesale deliverer of the Detroit Free Press, discovered the theft at 3:15 Thursday morning. He had drawn up at the curb to unload papers for Ware's drug store. He had seen Dallas Langham, city policeman, helping a motorist change a tire in the snow on Cedar street, and so turned back there to report his discovery.

Chief Harry Chandler took up investigation of the theft. He urged people to keep a sharp lookout for new wrist watches.

William Fink, owner of the store, described the watches as Bulova, man's 23-jewel automatic wind, leather strap and with plastic demonstration back; Bulova, woman's, Miss America, white finish, expansion band; and woman's Wyler, white gold, expansion band.

A Moses without a Beard

Larry Lindemer Leads Republicans

Michigan Republicans at their state convention in Detroit Saturday chose a Stockbridge Moses to lead them to the promised land. They chose Lawrence B. Lindemer, 35, a lawyer who practices his profession in Stockbridge on his own and in Lansing with the law firm of Foster, Foster, Campbell & Lindemer. He's also president of Rural Telephone Co., which serves Stockbridge, Gregg and Fitchburg.

For a man of 35 he's done a lot of things—and always well. He served Ingham as an assistant prosecutor under Charles MacLean. He served a term in the state legislature. During World War II he was an officer in the air force. In 1953 Senator Homer Ferguson chose Lindemer as his assistant on the second Hoover commission study in Washington. Lindemer continued as a special assistant to Herbert Hoover, chairman and former president. For the post of state chairman, the Stockbridge man had 3 seasoned opponents. He bested Verry J. Reynolds of Allegan in a showdown on the convention floor. He forced the retirement of J. Addington Wagner, Battle Creek former national American Legion commander, and Matthew Budger of Flint Friday night.

Lindemer convinced Republicans that the can reorganize the party from the township and ward level on up through county and congressional district units, welding it to stand against the Wayne county CIO and Democratic fusion movement.

The Stockbridge man is listed as an Eisenhower Republican, and a man anxious to hold the old guard in line while rounding up younger Republicans and independents.

Lindemer is a graduate of the University of Michigan law school. He came to Michigan from Syracuse, New York. He and his wife have 2 sons.

School District Saves Interest

Mason school district taxpayers were saved $200 by paying off a $50,000 note almost 2 months ahead of time.

The district borrowed $50,000 from the Dart National bank, using the 1956 levy in the 5-mill building and site fund as security. The $50,000 repayment was not due until April 1 but enough tax money and other school funds came in to pay off the loan Tuesday and cut $200 off the interest.

Another $50,000 note at the Dart National bank is all the school debt there now is against the district. That loan is secured by the 1957 building and site levy.

Justice Court Actions

Roy W. Adams, Justice of Peace

Richard Fensel, Lansing, pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams Saturday to carrying a loaded gun in an automobile, contrary to conservation laws. He paid $17.50.

Two men protesting traffic tickets stood trial before Judge Adams Wednesday. They were Dale Harrison of Mason, charged with failure to yield right-of-way, and Sigmund Nyquist, East Lansing, charged with speeding. Neither case was finished.

Ivan Duane McCann of Bunker Hill pleaded guilty Monday to illegal transportation of liquor. He was ordered to pay $30 or serve 15 days in jail. McCann pleaded not guilty to a drunk driving charge. He was released on $150 bond.

William F. Myers, Holt, pleaded guilty Saturday to a drunk charge. He was ordered to pay $30 or serve 3 days in jail.

Vivian Duane, Eaton Rapids, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge Monday. She was ordered to pay $15 or serve 7 days in jail.

Arlo Lillywhite, Weherville, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge Monday. He was ordered to pay $25 or serve 10 days in jail.

John W. Stephens, Stockbridge, pleaded not guilty Monday to a charge of furnishing liquor to a minor. He was released on $150 bond.

Traffic violation tickets reported settled in Judge Adams' court during the week were listed by him as follows:

School Scuffle Brings Death to Leslie Teacher

An hour after a teacher attempted to force a Leslie high school pupil to visit the principal's office the teacher was dead.

Lawrence W. Lee, Jr., 33, the teacher, died of a heart seizure. Ralph Kitchen, 17, a Leslie senior, and the teacher had scuffled. The affair took place Tuesday forenoon.

According to school officials, Kitchen left the study hall without permission. Mrs. Ernest Winkler, on duty with Lee in the study hall, said she reported Kitchen's absence to Lee, who had been out of the room. When Lee ordered Kitchen to go to the principal's office, Mrs. Winkler said, the boy replied, "You'll have to make me."

INQUEST ORDERED

Coroner Harry E. Leadley Wednesday afternoon ordered an inquest into circumstances surrounding the death of Lawrence W. Lee, Jr., Leslie teacher. The inquest will be conducted in the board of supervisors room in the court house at Mason, starting at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Winkler said the teacher and pupil scuffled out through the door into the hall. She left to summon Supt. Clarence VanderLinden, she said. Upon the superintendent's arrival, the man and boy broke, the boy going to the superintendent's office from where he was sent home.

Otto Heickel, high school principal, was on his way to confer with Lee while the scuffle was taking place. The principal said he noticed Lee first at the drinking fountain in the hall, gulping water and laboriously breathing.

A half-hour later at 11 Lee was engaged in giving tests to his third hour class. In 10 minutes he left the room. Within a few minutes Mrs. Glen Rearick, another teacher, met Lee in the hall. She said Lee did not return to his room and 10 minutes later the principal and Kenneth McKenzie, passing through the hall, heard someone in the teachers lounge, breathing heavily.

McKenzie and the principal found Lee unconscious, slumped down in a chair. Mrs. Margaret Kies and Mrs. Eva Morris of the county health department happened to be at the school. They went to the aid of the stricken teacher. Leslie doctors were not available so Dr. William E. Clark of Mason was summoned, along with Pulmotor equipment from Leslie funeral homes. Oxygen was administered for 45 minutes but there was no recovery. Dr. Clark upon arrival pronounced Lee dead.

Coroner Harry E. Leadley was summoned. Dr. Charles E. Black, Lansing pathologist, conducted an autopsy.

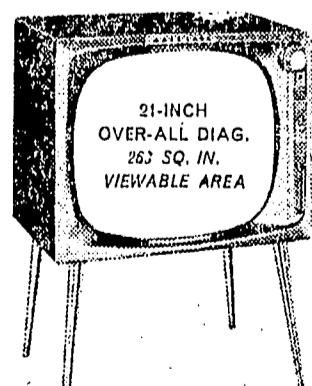

Lee was divorced. His parents were enroute to Florida. There are also 3 brothers, Don of Avon Park, Florida, and John and Richard of Midland. The body of the Leslie teacher was taken to Midland.

State Gets Cash For Rural Books

A federal grant of $10,000 for development of library service in rural areas has been received by the Michigan state board for libraries in Lansing, Michigan was the first of the 48 states to qualify.

The federal library services act is effective for a 5-year period. It allows yearly grants for each state library agency that submits a satisfactory plan. The funds are to be used to stimulate the state in the development of library service in rural areas. For the year 1956-57 the appropriation was less than the maximum allowed. However, if the full amount is appropriated the next 4 years, the total federal aid which Michigan might receive could be close to a million dollars.

Kiwanians Learn About New Look

Mason Kiwanians learned all about new looks in women not only their own wives and daughters but women in general Tuesday night. Mrs. Virginia Baird of the distaff side of the State Journal brought the word. It was the annual Valentine party of the Kiwanis club and with some few exceptions Kiwanians took their valentines, all fixed up pretty.

Virginia (using the delightful informality that goes with the new look of society) looked mightily new and fresh herself with her high-necked blue cotton dress, with three-quarter length sleeves, a full skirt, and a tucked bodice with all those little tucks edged in lace. The color scheme of blue was carried out with accessories, even to her spectacle frames which complemented her merry blue eyes. She wore an orchid, too, as though she were used to such style.

The gist of Virginia's message was what the Ph. D. said on TV until he took his $32,000 home to mama Tuesday night—that woman is superior to man. No man or woman at the party argued the point.

Now that women make up more than half of the labor force in the U. S., have 92 1/2% of life insurance benefits, choose the automobile in 62% of the cases, pick the home sites 78% of the time and the vacation spots 89% of the time, Virginia suggested that they be called upon to do more in public office. Such as serving on the city council, town board, school board and board of supervisors, she said. She's all for equal pay for women in every line they tackle—trades, professions and public office, which seems queer inasmuch as they get all the money to spend and to keep anyhow.

It was a good show that Virginia put on and made Mason people proud to be in good standing with Paul Martin. She mentioned the Ingham County News twice and even displayed a clipping, which was nice of her some people said.

In line with the Baird theory that the female is just naturally more endowed with talent than the male, 5 Mason maids demonstrated. Nancy Bray and Judy Leonard with their clarinets, Nancy Smith and Roberta Rice with flutes and Karen Knudstrup with her bassoon, if that is what it is, played melodiously. The girls were nice to look at, too, carrying out the valentine motif to perfection.

Kiwanis wives left banquet tables with the new look ascendant—clutching 96% of the potted geraniums and 98 1/2% of the miniature boxes of candy.

Champions Acclaimed in Wool Sewing Contest

Two Trips Abroad Are Top Prizes In $45,000 Event

LAS VEGAS, Nevada—A 17-year-old Idaho high school girl and a University of Arizona student are looking forward to two exciting weeks abroad this summer—their prize for being acclaimed national champions in the art of home sewing with all-wool fabrics.

The girls are Sharron Scheline of Donnelly, Idaho, and Helen Gee, 20, of Tucson. They were acclaimed grand prize winners in the tenth annual "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest after modeling their home-created fashions with 32 other state sewing champions in the National Fashion Revue—annual climax to the competition—held this year in Las Vegas.

The young women will receive two-week, all-expense-paid trips to Europe, via Pan American World Airways, and will enjoy a stay in New York and intensive tours of London, Paris and Rome as guests of the Wool Bureau and Pendleton Woolen Mills.

Top awards in the more than $45,000 in prizes offered in the annual competition are shared by twelve young women of high school and college age. Other national awards include scholarships, travel, U. S. Savings Bonds and Singer sewing machines.

Home-sewn fashions created by this year's finalists presented a wide variety in fabrics—ranging from bulky woolen weaves, through tweeds of many weights and textures, to the lightest weight crepes and other smooth worsteds. Entries may be coats, suits, dresses or ensembles made from virgin wool fabrics.

Thousands of Girls Compete

More than 7,000 girls between the ages of 14 and 22 enter the wool sewing competition each year in the Western and Midwestern states. Following state-wide eliminations at which state champions are selected, the top home sewing experts appear each year in the National Fashion Revue—a highlight of the annual convention of the National Wool Growers Association.

Both top winners in this year's contest enjoy great interest in home economics studies. Miss Gee, who is senior national champion, is majoring in home economics studies at the University of Arizona. Miss Scheline, who is the junior national winner, will be graduated this spring from Donnelly McCall High School, and plans home economics studies and a career in fashion in the years ahead.

Miss Gee's award is for 8 suit of luxuriously textured rose and white wool tweed. Its jacket has a small shaped collar, a half-belt to provide back interest, and pockets concealed in the side seams. The skirt is straight and slim.

Miss Scheline's award is for a sheath dress of whisper-weight wool challis and bolero jacket of black wool crepe. ## Richard Peek Composes Own Cantata

Richard Peek, formerly of Mason, has composed the music for a cantata, St. Stephen. The first performance will be Sunday, February 24, at 4:30 p. m. in Covenant Presbyterian church, Charlotte, North Carolina. It is based on the New Testament story of the first Christian martyr. Dr. Warner L. Hall, minister of the church, wrote the text with Mr. Peek, director of music and organist there, composing the music. It will be performed by the Covenant choir with organ, strings, percussion and vocal soloists.

Mr. Peek is the grandson of Mrs. Harry Peek of Mason. He graduated from Mason high school, Michigan State university and received his master's degree from Union Theological seminary, New York, where he plans to return this fall to work on his doctor's degree in sacred music. The church has agreed to a year's leave of absence from his duties there to complete the work.

Canyon Press, Inc., of East Orange, New Jersey, and J. Fischer and Bro. of New York City have published 4 anthems of Peek's to date and Brod Music company, publishers in Charlotte, have commissioned him to write 3 anthems for them. Next month the organist will give recitals in Winston-Salem, Hickory and on the new organ at Queens college in Charlotte.

Judge Asks Divorce Delay

Postponing the filing of the written grounds for divorce until 60 days after the starting of the suit would not slow down the divorce process, but would allow a greater opportunity for reconciliation, Judge Theodore P. Ryan told the Lansing Civitan club at its luncheon meeting Monday.

Judge Ryan indicated that broken homes are one of the frequent factors in the backgrounds of youthful offenders coming before him in the circuit court.

"The relationship between the breakdown of the family unit and crime is too pronounced to be ignored," Judge Ryan said. "Providing the parties, particularly those with children, with an opportunity to voluntarily reconcile their differences would help this situation in some small measure."

Judge Ryan pointed out that under present Michigan law the bill of complaint is filed at the start of the suit, reducing to writing all of the personal and intimate skeletons of the family closet. This formal name-calling can increase the atmosphere of bitterness far beyond that previously existing and completely wreck any chance of reconciling, the judge pointed out. At the very least, an additional barrier has been created, he said.

"This procedural change of providing a 60-day cooling-off period before formal charges are made was recently adopted by Illinois," Judge Ryan said. "If its adoption in Michigan brought about just one lasting reconciliation, it would be worth it. My belief is that it would do much more than that."

During his talk, Mr. McNitt showed drawings by children of different age groups. He stated that children should be allowed to express themselves freely through drawings. It is better, he said, for them to create their ideas rather than give them exact patterns to color.

Mr. McNitt stated that even though art is hard work, it is not expensive to add to the school curriculum. Most important in a school art program, he pointed out, is a qualified instructor. A room large enough for adequate tables is necessary, preferably one with a sink. Mr. McNitt said, and a small amount of materials is needed.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Howard Schlichter, a committee was appointed to gather suggestions on how the money in the treasury should be spent this spring. The Atomic Man
Friday and Saturday
The many talents of Gene Nelson, famed first as an ice skater with Sonja Henie as a partner, then as a dancer with his former wife, Miriam Franklin, turn in a new direction in Allied Artists' drama, "The Atomic Man."
Nelson, starred with Faith Domergue and Joseph Tomelty, plays the role of a crime reporter for a London magazine who leads the police to the solution of a baffling crime with international aspects.

"Curucu, Beast of the Amazon," which is in color and stars John Bromfield and Beverly Garland, was filmed entirely in Brazil, most of it in the jungle that is its main locale. For moviegoers who like pictures that thrill, chill and shock them, they should see "Curucu, Beast of the Amazon."
A stand-out group of Hollywood headliners holds the center of the stage in this malleous, merry and musical expose of the foibles and frolics of the female of the species, headed by June Allyson, Joan Collins, Dolores Gray, Ann Sheridan and Ann Miller, with Leslie Nielsen and Jeff Richards as the men around whom the rumpus revolves.

BUTTON-SIZE NUCLEAR BATTERY—Five years of research has resulted in an atomic-powered battery which utilizes what was once considered a nuclear waste product as its power source. The tiny battery will deliver power over at least a five-year period. It is the forerunner, supposedly, of batteries for use in radios, guided missiles, hearing aids and even wrist watches. Joint developers Walter Kiddle Laboratories and the Elgin National Watch Company stress that more research will be necessary before something like an atomic watch will be possible. Promethium 147, the power source, emits fast-moving rays which are trapped in a specially designed phosphor, converting them to "atomic light." The light is captured by a photo-cell and automatically transformed into energy.

LIFE with the Zimmermans
Time: 9:15 a. m. Thursday
Place: Zimmermans

Janet: That program of Arthur Godfrey's this morning was pretty funny didn't you think, Zim?
Zim: You mean when he was telling about the hazards of a recreation room? It probably won't go over very big with a lot of people who have just built over a basement into a "rec" room. I had to laugh when he told about the woman who stepped into a sump pump wearing her best rhinestone slippers.

Janet: And how the company was met at the door by the host and ushered immediately to the basement like a bunch of ground moles.

Zim: I guess it's the modern trend of living but it seems like a awful lot of house going to waste.

Janet: It leads you to wonder if our modern decorating hasn't gone a little too far with functional designing. Folks would rather sit on an orange crate in a cozy made-over room in the basement than cope with the austerity and futuristic plainness of an ultra modern room.

Zim: I expect you can carry anything too far—over progress.

Janet: It could be lack of warmth usually attained by a liberal use of wallpaper. I've noticed a decided trend in the opposite direction by the younger set—they're asking for wallpaper.

Zim: I'd bank on their judgment—they're the ones who set the styles everyday.

Janet: When you think of all the stains that will wash off from Imperial washable wallpaper—mustard, finger marks, lipstick, ink, crayon and any number of things, it makes you realize that they are the smart ones for adopting it.

Janet and Zim together: Use Imperial washable wallpaper and live in your living room, folks!

Stockbridge Pulls Off Another Upset

Stockbridge's Panthers clawed their way to another upset victory Friday night that shook the Ingham county league. The Panthers tripped first place Williamston 62-59 and they did it on the Hornet court.

Not only did the Panthers improve their own chances in the fight to become champions, but they also helped out Dansville and Haslett. Stockbridge is now within sight of all 3 teams. The Hornets are still riding on top by virtue of having played more games. Dansville is next in line. Both teams have lost 2 games. Haslett and Stockbridge are tied for third with 7-3 records.

Either Dansville or Haslett are sure to be eliminated Friday night when they hang heads. Stockbridge also has a tough row to hoe Friday. The Panthers go against Okemos. The Chieftains have not won many games but they are a high-scoring bunch and capable of knocking off any team in the league.

Mason Outlasts Leslie Rally To Post Rough 52-48 Victory

Mason snapped its losing streak Tuesday night in a game at Leslie. The Bulldogs had a difficult time fighting off a late rally but they finally emerged with a 52-48 win.

With Red Caltrider sparking the attack, Mason snapped out of the point drought, though, and finished the third quarter with a sizeable 43-31 edge.

The fourth quarter was a wild affair with Mason attempting to freeze the ball and the Blackhaws rushing all over the floor and sometimes on it trying to steal the ball. Excessive fouling caused Bob Wood and Larry Hasbrouck to leave the game for Leslie and hurt the Blackhawk chances. With 35 seconds to go Mason had a 3-point bulge. John Collins added one more safety point on a foul shot. With 3 seconds remaining Mason regained possession of the ball and waited out the clock.

Aggies Bounce Back in Picture

Okemos, last year's champs, fizzled out Friday night in their come-back attempt. This Friday they will have a session with upset-minded Stockbridge. The Panthers are not counted out of the race yet. They are tied with Haslett for third place with a 7-3 record.

Jerry Wing was top man for Dansville. He scored 18 points. Keith Douglas was next with 15. Don McCabe played the important role for Dansville, though. He delivered 6 timely field goals and dominated the backboard work.

Jim Kreider had a good night for a losing cause. He tossed in 22 points. Teammate Max Creever had 17.

Haslett Defeats Fowlerville 70-45

Haslett swamped Fowlerville Friday night to stay in the thick of the Ingham County league race. The Lakers won 70-45 without working up much of a sweat. It will be a different story next Friday, though. Dansville will be the foe in a game booked for the Laker gym. Both teams are gunning for a must victory. The team that loses is eliminated from any title consideration. Dansville is in second place and Haslett is a few percentage points behind in third.

Fowlerville, still trying for its first victory of the season, will entertain Leslie. The Blackhaws have won only 2 league games in 10 attempts but they have pushed the winners every time.

Tuesday South Lyon will play a non-league game at Fowlerville. The Lakers had too much scoring balance for Fowlerville. Doug Jeechum topped the Laker attack with 21 points on 7 field goals and 7 free shots out of 9 attempts. Chuck Tabor followed him with 17 and Rollee Tiller scored 13.

Mason JH Teams Stretch Streak

Mason's 2 junior high cage teams kept on with their winning ways Friday afternoon. The seventh graders avenged the only defeat on their record by stopping Grand Ledge 37-25.

The eighth graders dumped Grand Ledge 30-20 to extend their victory string through 2 seasons.

Dean Dudley donned the hero robe for the seventh grade victory. He sank 3 foul shots in the final minute of play to pull the game out of the fire. Mason fought an uphill battle all the way. At the half Coach Maurice Strait's boys trailed 18-8. At the three-quarter mark they cut the lead to 23-20.

Mason's 32 Points Stops Morrill's Fangless Bulldogs

Grand Ledge registered its fourth victory of the season Friday night by whipping Mason 65-17. Of the Comet wins 2 of them have been at the expense of the Bulldogs.

Mason showed absolutely nothing except for a brief flurry in the third quarter when the Bulldogs narrowed the gap to 7 points.

Friday night will be another rough one for Coach Bob Cone's crew. They will entertain Everett. Every game is a must for the Vikings as they chase Holt down to the wire. Friday night Everett will not leave anything to chance.

Reserves Take 2 More Games

Friday the Mason reserves dumped Grand Ledge 43-24. Mason was in front all the way.

Bruce Horton topped the Mason attack with a 14-point performance. Jerry Willis delivered 12 points.

Tuesday night the reserves beat Leslie 59-39. Again Coach Keche's boys experienced no trouble.

Goose's Cagers Play at Lansing

Goose Tatum, the "Clown Prince of Basketball" and Marques Maynes, the world's most fabulous dribbler, bring their internationally famous Harlem Magicians to Lansing's civic center, Saturday night, February 23, for an exhibition game with Bill Spivey's star-studded Kentucky Colonels. Game time is 8:30.

Goose and Marques were the outstanding stars of the Harlem Globe Trotters for years. They played in 53 nations of the globe before more than 20 million people, and their fame was legend. Haynes broke away from the Globe Trotters to form his own club. It wasn't long before the Globe followed, and the result is the Harlem Magicians. Both Goose and Marques play the entire game, now, and the result is a most hilarious evening for all concerned.

Big Bill Spivey, who leads the Colonels, is the "71" All-American from the University of Kentucky, who won the Helms award in 1951. Half-time entertainment is supplied by the Flying Nesbits.

Everett Moves Closer to Holt Rams With Overtime Win Over Charlotte

Everett had to go all out Friday night to stay within striking distance of Holt. It took a pair of free throws by Hugh Mallory with 3 seconds remaining to tie the game for Everett and another pair of free throws in the overtime period by Lloyd Beardley to give the Vikings a 59-57 victory over Charlotte.

The Vikings now have an 8-1 record. Holt has a 9-1 count. Everett will try to close the gap Friday night in a game at Charlotte, running a poor third in the circuit race, now has a 4-4 record. The Orioles will move to Grand Ledge for their Friday night game.

Tuesday night Everett will entertain Howell while Holt travels to Charlotte.

Morrill's 32 Points Stops Mason's Fangless Bulldogs

Star Comet guard, Keith Morrill, proved Friday night that he has fully recovered from his injury which forced him to sit out 3 games. He put on a one-man show against the Bulldogs which netted him 32 points on 13 field goals and 6 free throws.

He couldn't miss with his one-hand jump shot from 15 to 20 feet out. All of the Bulldogs took a turn at trying to stop him but not a one came up with the answer.

While Morrill was running wild, Mason had a hard time working in for any shots. Dick Wheeler topped the Bulldogs with 12 points. Rod Caltrider was next with 11.

Rams Continue Victory String

Holt continued howling over Capital Circuit opponents Friday night. The Rams dumped Eaton Rapids 64-48 for the ninth win of the year.

Friday night the Rams will take a vacation but it will probably be an uneasy one. While they are standing still Everett's Vikings have a chance to pull a little closer to the Rams. If Everett passes Mason Friday night—and they probably will—Coach

Ted Bauer will be in a position to put the pressure on Holt.

Tuttle Is Sure Thing

Again it was Bob Tuttle who sparked the undefeated Rams. He bagged 8 field goals and one free throw for scoring honors. He did falter in one department. He was off his usual pace at the free throw line with a 1-5 record.

Jack Durial gave the Rams a 2-pronged attack as he came up with his best game of the season along with 15 points.

Bob Cole topped the Greyhounds with 14 points. Dick Reese was next with 12.

Holt used second and third quarter rallies to good advantage against Eaton Rapids. The Rams were on the short end of a 12-8 score at the end of the first period but when the second quarter ended Holt was in its familiar position—in front. The Rams continued to roll in the third quarter and then crashed through the last period with the reserves doing most of the work.

Mason has troubles. The Bulldogs are bothered by a pressing man-to-man defense and have trouble working the ball in to the basket when they do move the ball up the floor. Mason has not shown a steady offense this year.

The Bulldogs can look sharp one minute and mighty dull the next.

Grand Ledge look over the lead in the first quarter and never let go of it. When the period ended the Comets were on top 17-8. At the half the score was 34-20. Mason made its best showing in third period then fell under the steady barrage by Morrill.

Allen topped Charlotte scoring with 20 points. John Crissman was next with 12.

BH Morehouse set the pace

Everett with 16 points. Jim Beardley followed with 12 and Lloyd Beardley added 11.

The Vikings won the game at the free throw line. They put down 15 in 22 attempts while Charlotte scored 5 in 17.

AIRHOUSE WAREHOUSE—A new warehouse, large enough to hold two million pounds of packaged goods, is supported entirely by air. Eighty feet long, 40 feet wide and 20 feet high, the "Airhouse" is made of a paper-thin tough vinyl-coated nylon fabric. The structure weighs about 400 pounds, should cost $2,000 and can be erected by three men in one hour. It should prove a help in the warehousemen's need for low cost, low maintenance, flame-resistant, temporary warehousing.

Honey Fairly Drips From Pecks' Refrigerator Door

It's been hard to let go of the refrigerator door handle lately! Along about this time of year it would seem that honey ought to run the slowest of any time in the year. So I bought a large jug of it and every one was real pleased. It surely did taste good. But how it dripped and ran and leaked and drizzled! Almost makes me resolve not to buy any more honey. . . . ever. Well, maybe not quite that drastic but at least I'll be glad when this is gone!

The girls cleaned their second chicken yesterday. They took a long time and enjoyed it immensely. But as in lots of things it is better if I don't watch. It looks as though someone besides the chicken is going to be butchered.

There always has to be a first time for anything. This second time was better than the first. I'm wondering, though, if they'll ever get over their curiosity and interest in trying to figure out how a chicken functions. They examine and probe trying to figure out which organ connects to which and what its purpose is. One of them ought to turn out to be a doctor or nurse surely! Maybe an animal doctor.

I sat for 15 minutes this morning while Sammy "combed" me, he calls it. The girls used to do the same thing and still like to fuss with my hair. But there is something about the way little folks pull a comb along in a slow tickling way that gives me goose-flesh. Almost makes every hair root tingle and stand on end. The only thing that kept me from calling quits this morning was Sammy's, "Mamma, you have such nice hair," repeated often with a rapt and loving face close to my ear. And the fact that my hair is such ordinary every day hair.

Wonder why we like to hear kind words even when we know they are not true. I do believe, though, that love casts a veil to hide imperfections. It's a blessed part of love that makes each of us see something beyond physical qualities. The next time you hear someone say they don't see what so-and-so sees in her or him maybe they are just looking at the body which is not the most important part of a person.

If you were blind you would not judge a person by his looks. They have an old saying about not "going into anything with your eyes shut." But I think that's a good way sometimes. You can look past outward appearances, which are not lasting anyway, and hear the tone of voice and thought processes that make up a person.

It is odd, isn't it, how 2 people can say the same thing to you yet one will make you grin and like it. . . . and the other one perturbed enough to bite a nail in two?

The evening banquet honored the 5 outstanding young men from Michigan with a keynote address by Senator Frank Church of Idaho. Senator Church is the youngest senator in the United States senate and is an active Jaycee of Idaho. His remarks were directed at the young men to encourage them that as in the days of the revolution there is a need for young minds to lead the nation and the world through this atomic age into a peace which will endure.

Okemos Places With Essay On Control of TB

"There is little change in the forms normally used by most taxpayers except for a few points of clarification and generally improved typography," Deane said. "These minor revisions are not likely to affect problems which were common to many taxpayers last year."

"Taxpayers referring to last year's return, while working with the 1956 forms and the new instruction booklet, should be able to come up with the right answers without too much difficulty. They can probably do a better job than they think."

Poor Prospects

As I watched the groundhog come out of his retirement to observe whether or not he could see his shadow, on February 2, a new version of that dateless tradition was revealed to me, which I would like to transmit to you under the title of "Michigan Taxpayer Day, circa 1957."

A Michigan taxpayer had been in hibernation all winter, in order to save on food and fuel, and came out on the second day of February, to see what the prospects were for spring, if any.

The first read the federal budget message, calling for 72-plus billion. Then he read the state budget message, calling for 400 million. Then he held up his pocketbook, and it was so thin it wouldn't make a shadow, and he crawled back in, remarking that "Spring wouldn't ever get here for the taxpayer."

MAX M. GRAHAM,
Williamston

Tax Suggestion

The state legislature is confronted with the tremendous problem of finding additional sources of taxes. The task may seem to be one that is almost insurmountable, but I do not believe it is one that has been fully surveyed, or if it has been fully surveyed, then it must be one that is being purposely avoided.

One thing that puzzles me is why some of the state legislatures fail to place a tax on beer that is comparable to taxes on other so-called luxuries to the average citizen. For example, the state tax on a package of cigarettes (which sells for 23c is 3c), while the state tax on a bottle of premium beer (which sells for 23c) is 3/10 of one cent. Why should the tax on beer be only a tenth the tax on cigarettes?

As I do not use either of these products, the tax upon them does not affect me, except as a citizen that feels that certain interest groups are being favored.

Perhaps the favoritism does not appear so pronounced when we talk about state taxes amounting to 3c on cigarettes and 3/10 of a cent on beer, however, it is much more graphic when we find that an individual who spends $100 on cigarettes pays about $13.05 in state taxes, while the person who spends $100 on beer pays only $1.64 in state taxes.

When so many problems arise from the use of beer it seems only logical that beer be taxed accordingly. Many beer-related problems could be cited: Highway accidents caused by beer drinkers; crimes committed while under the influence of beer; the recent Ingham county murder which left a large family of dependent children as charges of the state; the tremendous cost to the taxpayers of having discarded beer bottles and beer cans picked up along our highways. (Governor Craig, of Indiana estimated this expense in 1953 at approximately $1,120,000 for his state); the high cost of absenteeism caused by beer binges; as well as the increased inefficiency following such absenteeism.

If a source of revenue must be found to supply 50 to 60 million in additional taxes, the state legislature would do well to eliminate the favoritism shown to the beer-drinking segment of our population. By increasing the beer tax to the equivalent of the cigarette tax, approximately $67,000,000 will be secured. This source of revenue would be much preferred to the increasing of the sales tax which is a tax upon the necessities of life.

Foundation, Lansing

Honest Charges

It certainly was refreshing to read your editorial on teachers salaries last week. It's not only teachers but all the way through our economy. What would it save the Mason churches today if a bricklayer was paid by the number of bricks he laid or a plasterer by the number of square feet he put on and the same to painters?

I think how true it is what I heard at the Dansville Methodist church from a minister before the Men's Bible class. His subject was "Why I am not a Christian." He looked his audience right in the eye and said "You business men here; you know what your

Time is running out for Michigan motorists to obtain their 1957 license plates. The deadline is midnight February 28. Auto owners who have not purchased their plates by that time will be subject to a fine. Also, for the first time since 1943, Michigan cars will bear two plates. Be sure your car is equipped with a sturdy bracket so the front license plate can be fastened securely. Many front plates already have been lost or damaged because they were not attached adequately.

services are actually worth. Do you charge it? No, you will stick on all the traffic will bear."

I guess the present generation has forgotten the great president whose birthday we have just celebrated, Honest Abe, who returned money when he thought his services did not amount to what he received. When will all this come to an end, or where are we headed?

TAXPAYER

Trading Stamps

In regard to the trading stamp problem, especially in gas stations, it is very much a racket.

Would you like stamps for 1/10 of a cent each? If this is not correct, tell me, it varies. One company requires stamps from $120 of sales, another $144. One company requires 30c. be sent with each book for postage and handling besides the book must be sent first class mail. The merchandise value is probably about $1 per book, less postage. There may be a small advertising value to the merchant who wants to attract customers by fooling them—not with bargains or extra services.

Now when I pay cash I want a bargain. So I drive up to a cash gas station and what do I get? Not 2.9 gal. of gas for $1.00 but 3.4 gal. or about 1/2 gal. more or about 15% discount for paying cash. Besides I don't have to lick stamps. I would hardly kiss my wife for 1/10 of a cent each and they are supposed to be free. But I pay cash for those also and they just don't seem to fool her any more.

Let's trade only where no stamps are given and get our cash discount at the time of purchase either in extra services or extra merchandise.

The customer sure gets a licking when he licks stamps. No one wins but the stamp companies. They practically steal it—not quite.

ROBERT D. WARD,
St. Johns

Thanks Expressed

I want to thank Mrs. Leuter Gilman of Leslie for the few nice words in her letter of February 7, and for her mention of the civic interest I have tried to show in some of my letters to the editor of this paper.

She said joy was brief. It often turns into sorrow. By a few lines she had read in the paper. I endured a lot of sorrow in my long, one-man job, during my hunt for a man who had not had a drink but took the lives of 2 fine people. My joy came when I was in Baltimore and stood face to face with the man I helped to hunt, in the interest of Mrs. Gilman and in the interest of us all. That joy has remained with me ever since. It was faith, and with faith comes joy.

She asked me to inoculate the minds of men against liquor, declaring that my murder problems will thus be solved. She asked me to work for peace, and not legalized murder. Have you ever read any letters at any time that would make one think I operated a business such as murder incorporated? I am in a business that bears this title—"Justice for Us All." I am fully aware of the fact that man-made laws have no comparison to the laws of God.

Is there anything in the scriptures that gives man the right to take the life of your mother and your father or mine?

If you have read some of my recent letters, you have read about alcoholism. You base all crime on drink. This is rather far-fetched. But some crime is alcoholic. Killers kill for sex pleasure, and in many cases they are rather smart guys until the law reaches out to get them. Then they are cowards, or they are insane. I would not dare comment on the crime that took place in your village of late. It would be unjust, unfair to those involved, for it is soon due to be tried.

Alcoholism is a tremendous issue. We have our temperance organizations. Maybe you are a member, which is fine. Let us look the facts in the face. Have you ever given hypocrisy any thought in conjunction with liquor?

Churechianity is far from Christianity, and as the old song goes "Love Lifted Me," drunkards must be lifted not scoffed at when they are on the road up. They must be given encouragement. Have you ever lifted one? I have, more than once. To see an alcoholic back in society brings joy to overflowing, and takes every bit of sorrow out of the home.

Abraham Lincoln once said, "I am one of you." Let us be one of them with a helping hand. I will contribute my thoughts always to save the lost alcoholic. But I will also fight to see that justice prevails when unjust death comes to a citizen. For God said they are yellow, black and white but He also said they are precious in His sight.

Al Torrance's Death

Since I have been very ill since my husband's death, as well as a month previous, I have been unable to write the full particulars of his death to anyone except his son, Roy Torrance.

Alvin J. Torrance had a stroke on January 6 between the hours of noon and 2:00 while I was finishing some work for one of my customers. When I returned home he was lying on the floor unable to get up but in no pain and in full control of his mental faculties. He said he felt all right but that his legs would not hold him up so he just stayed where he was as he knew I would be home soon. I helped him into bed and called the doctor. The doctor said that his heart was in good condition but that he had had a stroke. Up to the time that he had the stroke he had been in good health ever since we came to California. He occupied his time working in his yard, helping me with household chores and playing with his German shepherd dog, to whom he was very much attached.

At about 8 o'clock Friday evening January 11 I changed Al's bed and gave him his medicine and made him comfortable. When I had finished he said, "God bless you, Al," and went to sleep, in what seemed to be a very natural sleep, and never woke again. At 3:00 a. m. Saturday, January 12 the doctor said he had gone.

Seeding Failure Affects Acreage On Many Farms

About 200,000 acres that farmers seed to legumes or grasses each year in Michigan are either total or partial failures.

According to M. B. Tesar, Michigan State university's farm crops department, this amounts to one-fifth of the million acres planted each year to forage crops, hay, pasture and silage.

Reason for this poor take is improper soil pH, or acid level; improper seedbeds; inadequate fertilizers; improper seed varieties; and poorly timed seeding.

To offset the poor seedbed, Tesar told Farmers' week visitors of the newer approach to better seedbeds—band seeding.

This method places a band of seed in the soil directly above a band of fertilizer which results in a shot-in-the-arm effect to the emerging seedlings.

Tests show that with this seeding method the amount of seed needed can be reduced by 20 per cent and still give grower a more vigorous stand which is better able to withstand drought, insects and competition from weeds and companion crops.

Another means of getting 15 per cent better stands is with the use of packer wheels towed behind the drill.

Tesar pointed out that these packer wheels pack on the area seed in 7-inch rows and not the spaces between rows, fewer weeds get started and soils absorb water better than when cultivated.

When alfalfa seedlings are made in winter wheat, the stands can be improved by 50 per cent by drilling in with the seed 100 lb of 0-20-10 fertilizer per acre.

This method, rather than broadcast fertilizer in March, proves more satisfactory, he said.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

MICHIGAN VISITORS have lent spice and sparkle to the past week in Washington.

From Mason came Max McCarn, Michigan commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Commander McCarn led a group of fellow VFW members into my office. The annual visit to Washington sponsored by the VFW certainly is a fine way to acquaint our congressional delegation with veterans' thinking.

Principal topic of our talks was my proposal for a permanent standing senate committee on veterans' affairs. The house of representatives has had such a committee for years, but somehow, in the senate, veterans have been bypassed. Their bills are parceled out between 2 senate committees. Both have a heavy workload of other duties and can't give the necessary priority to the problems of those who have served in the armed forces.

Certainly if the senate can set up a small business committee or a committee on labor and public welfare to handle the special problems of these interests, I can and should establish a committee to devote its exclusive attention to our 22 million veterans. These men and women, together with families and dependents, comprise almost half the population of the United States.

If my resolution is adopted, the new committee would consider all matters relating to veterans—their pensions, life insurance, compensation, vocational rehabilitation, education, hospitals, medical care, civil relief, and the readjustment of servicemen to civil life.

Ugliest visitor—and I use the word advisedly—hailed from Lake Huron. He arrived in a large glass jar of formaldehyde and was placed on my desk by John Farley, head of the U. S. bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife. The jar held a giant specimen of the sea lamprey, the killer whose attacks on trout and whitefish are costing Great Lakes fishermen $5 million per year. In the past I have exhibited this vicious eel-like creature before the appropriations committee. He has had a persuasive, if shocking, effect on the senators, and we've been able to secure funds to fight this evil pirate fish.

Farm visitors have expressed enthusiasm for my new bill to abolish the penalty for overplanting wheat, so long as the farmer uses that wheat on his own property for feeding or seedling. As the law now stands, a farmer may freely plant only 15 acres of wheat. Under marketing quotas, the farmer who overplants his allotment is penalized. He must either pay a cash sum of so much per bushel or undertake the expense of storing it. Certainly small farmers should not be forced to waste their excess wheat, nor should they be penalized for using it. I expect to push hard on this one.

The earliest recorded centennial farm dates from 1826. The farm is in Lenawee county. The Wheelan farm in Lenawee has been in the family since 1831. A member of the family was present at Michigan State. Now 84,

Angus Breeders Plan Conference

Michigan State university and Angus breeders of the state will be hosts to cattlemen from throughout the United States and Canada the second week in March when the National Angus conference convenes. The dates are March 10, 11, and 12.

A major attraction at this, the third annual conference, will be the opportunity for Angus breeders to discuss the advantages of progeny and performance testing. Giving his views on this and leading the discussion will be A. D. "Dad" Weber, dean of agriculture at Kansas State college, and cattle judge and educator.

Dean Weber will be the first speaker on the program, Monday morning, March 11, after a welcome by Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State university, and the response by John C. Gall, Upperville, Virginia, president of the American Angus association.

Labeled "A Blueprint for Aberdeen-Angus Progress," the conference is planned around 4 major points of interest to cattlemen: Progeny and performance testing, herd type classification, research and carcass evaluation.

Centennial Farmers Learn More About Pioneer Days

An interesting part of the Farmers' Week program at Michigan State was that devoted to centennial farms. There are now 800 centennial farms in Michigan, farms which have been in the same family for more than 100 years. The history of the state is written in the lives of those families and in the deeds which trace ownership back through the century, speakers said.

The earliest recorded centennial farm dates from 1826. The farm is in Lenawee county. The Wheelan farm in Lenawee has been in the family since 1831. A member of the family was present at Michigan State. Now 84, he admitted he has difficulty keeping up with changing times. There were about 250 present at the centennial dinner honoring members of families of pioneers. Among those who participated in the centennial program were Mrs. Ruth Smith and Mrs. Bertha Gudick of Ingham county, John Black and Edward B. Vansold of Kent county, Herbert B. Vansold of Freehold and Luman Hall and Robert Ward of Clinton county.

D. P. Varner, Michigan State vice-president, gave an address after the banquet. Lewis Bossen, secretary of the Michigan Historical commission, helped organize a Centennial Farm association.

ANSWER THIS QUESTION

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

Those words do come from the Bible. And they have sometimes been quoted to justify a man's lack of concern for the welfare of others.

When we quote Scripture we must be careful WHOM we are quoting!

It was Cain, the first murderer, who asked that biting question. God had said, "Where is Abel, thy brother?" And Cain was trying to escape the consequences of his crime.

Each of us is responsible for his brother's welfare. That is the very reason this feature is appearing in your newspaper.

You and your family need the spiritual resources our churches offer. In whichever Christian congregation you select there are waiting to welcome you many men and women and young people whose faith has taught them a deep concern for their brothers.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

February Is Cold Month Despite Added Daylight

February weather should turn out to be the coldest of the winter season, a University of Michigan astronomer declares.

Hazel M. Losh, associate professor of astronomy, says that this is due to the "lag of the season."

"The atmosphere acts like a blanket," Miss Losh explains, "and holds back some of the heat that falls on its surface. For some time after the winter solstice (Dec. 21), the northern hemisphere is losing more heat at night than can be replaced effectively by the sun during the shorter-than-average days. As long as this rate of heating falls below the rate of cooling, the temperature continues to drop. During February, also, the days are growing noticeably longer, the professor continues, until by the end of the month the sun will be shining for more than 11 hours.

The new constellation of the month is Leo (The Lion) climbing over the horizon just a little north of east after sunset.

"It is a group that one can not fail to recognize easily," Profes-

New Highways Will By-Pass Cities

By ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Association

What happens to a town when a major highway is routed around its limits instead of running "down the main street?"

This question will be raised with increasing frequency during the next 3 years when some 800 miles of new multiple-lane, divided highways are constructed across Michigan.

"Limited access" highways will form a large part of this construction program outlined last week by Highway Commissioner Charles C. Ziegler. These roads offer unequalled safety with divided multiple lanes, a controlled number of entrances, and by-passes around many towns and cities.

But merchants and villages depending on transients for much of their business are already beginning to voice fears that a by-pass would endanger their economic structure.

Fears may be unfounded. While Michigan's limited access highway program is still in its infancy (there are 169 miles of fully limited or controlled highways in the state) other areas have made exhaustive studies on towns bypassed by major routes.

A survey made by the United States Chamber of Commerce suggests a town is improved in every way by having a highway routed around it rather than down the main street. Reports from California and Texas confirm the results.

Highway department experts point out that no new businesses can be built along roads having limited access. Motorists must turn off at some point to eat, find lodging and purchase gasoline.

An example of the added boom to business recently occurred in Sturgis when the Indiana Turnpike opened just south of the Michigan state line. According to officials, even though Sturgis was 4 miles away from the turnpike, motel and hotel business increased 25% from persons who had to drive off the main highway to find lodging for the night.

Other advantages accrue to the bypassed town. The reduction of motorists and truckers who are just "driving through" should eliminate many accidents. The "home town" folks find they can once again go shopping without facing congested traffic and the long hunt for a parking place.

The picture isn't completely glowing. Several towns in Michigan are now by-passed and report differing experiences. On the one hand Parma lost 25% of its business when a highway by-passed it 2 years ago. On the other, Chelsea, bypassed some 9 years ago, grew beyond the most optimistic hopes.

The biggest factor seems to be adjusting to the new situation. Planning ahead can ease the "shock" that accompanies any sudden change.

For example, in Chelsea merchants worked as a group. "We decided we had to become as efficient as the new highway," says Chelsea President Anton Neilson. "Everybody decorated their restaurants and stores. Then when we were looking our best, we spent $1,600 apiece for 2 big signs out on the highway. We told people how to find us and what they would find."

Learning through experience, the residents of Parma now have a community improvement group. To back up their plans they have the friendly advice of the Consumers Power community development department headed by James Coates.

"The highway of the future will probably by-pass many towns. Experts advise: If it's your town, the time to start planning is now. Michigan's one-man grand jury may come in for some close scrutiny from the present state legislature. Latest to urge repeal of the controversial statute vesting grand jury power in one man is Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh.

"The system itself is contrary to the original principles of justice in this country," Kavanagh recently told the state legislature. "It concentrates in a single judge more power than was intended when we turned to English common law and the bill of rights as a foundation for our system."

Primary purpose of any grand jury is to obtain evidence and testimony that cannot be compiled under normal courtroom procedures.

The key to success lies in the power to grant immunity against prosecution to persons who testify. In many instances when it is hard to obtain evidence, a grand jury is the only means of reaching the "top man." Persons criminally involved only in a minor way can be granted immunity or "traded off" so that a strong case can be built against major offenders.

Michigan law provides for both the one-man grand jury and also a panel of 23 citizens to sit as a grand jury. However, only the former is given the power to grant immunity.

Kavanagh suggests that the immunity power be vested in the multiple-man grand jury. He hopes that a system patterned after federal court procedure can be established. This would call for a citizens' panel to sit regularly 4 times each year.

At present, the one-man grand jury is only called in special cases. This results in a great deal of publicity for the particular case.

Kavanagh stresses that he is not critical of grand jurors now sitting to hear cases in Wayne and Macomb counties. Abuses were abundant in the past, but he asserts that present judges are working "skillfully and impartially."

"It's the system that is wrong," he explains.

If You're Like Me

You didn't know why owners of private aircraft were reluctant to give free rides to their friends.

Several of my friends have their own airplanes but only one ever offered me a free ride. But, he's dead now.

At times I have wondered why the other fellows who own planes were a little bit "chintzy" about their invitations.

The reason is this: The owner and operator of an aircraft is liable for ordinary negligence should an accident occur and a guest passenger be injured.

Years ago this was true in the case of automobiles. Today, the defendant in an automobile accident lawsuit must be found guilty of gross negligence before he is liable to a passenger who was a guest in his car. The law that changed this situation is known as the "Guest Passenger Act."

They say that a guest law would discourage fraudulent claims of aircraft guests who pick up some "easy money." Ordinary negligence is not hard to prove if the guest and host cooperate to that end. A guest law would eliminate collusive suits for the purpose of collecting from the insurance companies.

There seem to be some stirrings toward changing the guest passenger law to place aircraft owners in the same category as automobile owners in regard to their liability.

Those who favor putting both on the same basis theorize that a non-paying passenger assumes certain risks that are inherent to aircraft.

The general idea is that the owner and operator of the plane will refrain from deliberately acting carelessly; and the passenger feels sure that the pilot will refrain from operating the aircraft in a grossly negligent manner because the pilot's as well as the passenger's life would be at stake.

Therefore, it is reasoned, the owner and operator should be liable only when he violates his trust and becomes grossly negligent.

Republicans Use Their Heads

Few men in politics — at least contemporary Republican politicians — ever won over the hearts and votes of party members as did Lawrence Lindemer of Stockbridge last week.

Even this didn't slow down Lindemer. His personality, record and plans for re-birth of Republicanism in Michigan buoyed him to a clear-cut majority as the convention roll was called.

Ingham Republicans were downright brassy in support of Lindemer. They formed parades in Detroit. They distributed literature. They cornered friends from far-away districts to tell about the man from Stockbridge.

Perhaps Ingham Republicans led the support of Lindemer only because they know him better. They know that here is a man possessing bubbling enthusiasm, follow-through and administrative ability coupled with integrity.

Michigan Republicans found out at the convention what many Ingham Republicans have known for a long time: Lindemer appears to be the secret weapon needed to revive the weakened state GOP.

The Appropriate Coin

Of all American coins, the one-cent piece bears the most appropriate engraving. It bears the image of Abraham Lincoln.

As pointed out in the Herald of Holiness, published by the Nazarene church, if President Lincoln had been given his choice of what coin he would choose for bearing his picture, he likely would have chosen the penny.

The wit and wisdom and grace and leadership of Lincoln came from the common coinage of rural, simple life and was developed through heartbreak and struggle, a writer in the church magazine said.

One cent will buy little in these days of inflation. Yet the penny, if it conveys to us some of the quality of the man in whose image it is coined, still has great value.

Brothers Are More than 3

Next week has been designated as Brotherhood Week. Of course, there are now so many special weeks, some 10 or 15 times as many as the calendar shows, that such designations have little meaning.

In this shrinking world that trio is not enough. Our present trouble at Suez and in the Middle East stems from quarrels between these 3 groups and another brother — the Moslems. That brother's culture stems from the same Old Testament as the one used by his 3 brothers.

During Brotherhood Week we ought to recognize and acknowledge this kinship throughout the world — not just among Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews. All men are brothers, and the proof is as apparent in medicine and other branches of science as it is in theology.

The County Branch Building

Once more the matter of a Lansing building for branch county offices is being discussed.

At a meeting last week there was discussion of the possibilities of the county buying the Michigan Millers building, a block north of the city hall on Capitol.

There should be a lot of discussion before any decision is made to buy or build a costly building in the center of Lansing's most congested traffic area.

Michigan Millers is moving out of the downtown section to find parking place for employes and customers. A lot of other business is moving away from the downtown section to find elbow room and parking places.

The bureau of social welfare and the Ingham Chest hospital are both located far from the business section. Their locations were chosen with an eye to the convenience of the people employed there or served there.

Other county branch offices in Lansing are rented. It's better to rent quarters to meet specific needs than to erect structures out of community pride.

There ought to be a lot of discussion and on all angles before there is any recommendation coming out of the committee appointed to study possibilities of purchase or construction of a costly building to house county branch offices in Lansing.

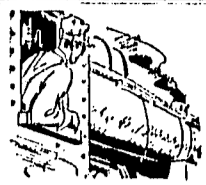

New Structures for New Needs

School officials and citizens committees are talking about new school buildings. But we're generally putting up the same old kind — putting them up brick by brick and using the same costly methods that have eaten up public funds in the past.

There's only one reason why architects don't employ new materials and new labor-saving techniques. That's because school officials, the most conservative people in the world, don't want to change. They won't buy new panel construction that goes up in half the time and half the cost.

Speak up. School officials like to talk about progressive education. Let's get some progress and lower costs in school construction.

Some of the fun of the newspaper business wore off Friday as a carload of newsprint was unloaded at Mason and as a little piece of paper was traded for 40 rolls of paper weighing 49,122 lb.

The 40 rolls were split into 10 of 6 pages and 30 of 8 pages, which was a mistake. Presently we're on a 26- and 28-page schedule which calls for 3 runs of 6 pages each or 2 runs each of 8 and 6.

This new carload of newsprint came from the far, far north, from the Abitibi mill on the Abitibi river at Troquois Junction, just this side of Hudson Bay. The paper route over the Ontario Northern railroad from Troquois Falls to North Bay, thence by Canadian Pacific to Windsor, and by New York Central from Windsor to Mason.

International Synonym for "Achievement"!

Mention the name "Cadillac" wherever you will—and in whatever part of the civilized world you might be—and you will find a common meeting-ground of understanding.

It is, in brief, a world-wide synonym for personal achievement!

And this is, we think, entirely logical. For over the years, the Cadillac car has played a vital role in the lives of so many of the leading citizens of every community where motor cars are seen.

Cadillac is, in fact, the almost predictable choice of those who choose without restriction.

This, of course, is not to say that a motorist need necessarily possess an abundance of this world's goods in order to enjoy the great and unduplicated satisfactions of Cadillac ownership.

Consider, for instance, the economy of buying a Cadillac. Several models are actually priced competitively with much smaller, lighter cars.

Consider the practical aspects of driving a Cadillac. The car is remarkably economical from a standpoint of both maintenance and operation.

And lastly, think of the wisdom of owning a Cadillac. Year after year, Cadillac returns a greater share of its owner's original investment than any other motor car in the land.

In other words, wisdom and practicality can lead you to the "car of cars" just as surely as prominence and prosperity.

We suggest that you come in soon—that you spend an hour at the wheel—and that you delay no longer in making the magic move to Cadillac.

We'll be looking for you—soon.

Certified Seed Is the Best Bet

By M. H. AVERY
County Agricultural Agent

Spring seedling time will soon be here and it will be well to get orders for seed in early. I would like to encourage each farmer to plan to use certified seed or seed close to certification for planting if purchasing any seed for planting this spring.

The new seed directory from the Michigan Crop Improvement association has arrived in the cooperative extension office and is available for the first time this year. The certified crop varieties and seed directory of seeds available are both in one booklet. This booklet lists the various varieties of seeds of each type of grain available for certification in the state and also the directory of farmers who have grown this seed and who have it available for purchase.

Since it costs as much to prepare the seed bed and to fertilize for ordinary seed as it does for certified seed it seems worthwhile to use the best seed available. The extra crop yield should pay good dividends for small extra cost for this better seed. I would like to mention a few of the newer varieties listed in the certification booklet for 1957.

Oats—There are 7 oat varieties listed but the Jackson oat is the newest and most highly recommended for this area. The Jackson oat is a high yielding, medium maturity, yellow oat with a high test weight. It is about one day later than Clinton in heading and about 4 inches taller. It is resistant to Race 7 of stem rust and moderately resistant to black stem rust.

Jackson is highly recommended for central Michigan where it has made an outstanding record. Other oat varieties listed are the Craig, Clinton, Clintland, Eaton and Donham.

Barley—There are 4 spring barley varieties listed—the Mars, a non-malting variety for muck farms and the Kindred, Montcalm and Moore for upland soils. All 3 of these are 6-rowed varieties. The Kindred and Montcalm are malting-type barleys and the Moore a non-malting type, or a feed barley. The Hudson variety which we have heard a lot about here is a winter barley and should not be planted in spring.

Soybeans—There are 5 varieties of soybeans listed. However, the one which looks best for this area is the Norechier. This is a new variety developed by the Wisconsin experiment station and the U. S. regional soybean laboratory cooperatively. It is recommended for both muck and upland soils in central Michigan where one wishes to plant wheat after soybeans. This means it could be harvested early. It is about 4 days later than Flambeau which is one of its parents but is superior to Flambeau for yield and lodging resistance.

The Chippeva is another new variety recommended for central Michigan and for an early soybean in southern Michigan. Plants are medium in height, stand up well and bear the pods reasonably well off the ground. It is about 5 days earlier than the Mandarin and 5 days earlier than Blackhawk. Both of these varieties are small sized beans.

For a field of white beans, the Michelle is still the bean to use for 1957. However we have information to the effect that a new variety, the Sanilac will be available in 1958 and will be superior to the Michelle bean.

In clovers there is just one recommendation, the Pennscoff red clover, a new variety of medium red clover from Pennsylvania with superior yield in the southern lower peninsula. It has more resistance to northern anthracnose than does the Kendall and most of the locally grown red clovers.

Alfalfa—The 2 alfalfa varieties now recommended for this area of the state are the Ranger and Vernal. Both of these are quite resistant to wilt which means that they will last a longer number of years than other varieties. According to Milt Erdman, seed specialist from Michigan State university, the Vernal is yielding considerable more per acre than the Ranger and he believes would be a good buy this year. It will run about $1.00 per acre more for certified seed of the Vernal variety, but the extra yield will pay for this extra cost several times.

An important cautionary measure in regard to alfalfa seed is that it be northern grown alfalfa seed or certified if coming from California. Much of our alfalfa seed now is grown in California and if certified will be winter hardy. However if it has been grown for a number of years in California, meaning that it will have lost its certification, it will be acclimated to warmer climate and would winter-kill in our area.

The new leaflet "Corn Hybrids Compared for 1957" is also available in the extension office and I would encourage farmers to get this leaflet before ordering corn seed for 1957 or to have to compare the various varieties since you may want to use more than one variety on your farm. In view of last year's early frost, I believe that many farmers will feel that they would rather have a few less bushels of dry corn of a shorter season variety than a later corn with taking a chance on being hit by frost.

In recent years Michigan hybrids have come to the front and are yielding very well in comparison with the older hybrids or established hybrids from other states. On table 5 of the Michigan Hybrid Bulletin South Central Michigan—Ingham County Trials, you will find a comparison of the Michigan hybrids with the other hybrids carried at the experimental plots near East Lansing. The yield comparisons and stock lodging and moisture per cent September 6 and October 1 will give you a good comparison of the various varieties.

It's no joke when Slim Ganaway out Aurelius-way says he's gonna monkey around. Slim owns a ring-tailed feller about 6 months old. This week the monkey is a patient of Dr. C. J. Hubbard. He (the monkey) injured his foot and asked Doc to fix it.

Republican convention highlights: George Fogle, that Alaieton township orator, gave a seconding speech in behalf of Frank Merriman who wants to be a member of the state board of agriculture. Ed Blackmore of Leslie and Mrs. Blackmore and daughter were at the convention. Ed led the Lindemere parade through the lobby of the Statler hotel. Howard McCowan, Mason attorney, was credited with supplying some pretty dense smoke in some of those smoke-filled rooms. You can buy a ham sandwich for 50c and a cup of coffee for 25c in the basement of the Henry and Edsel Ford auditorium. Probably Henry would have gone hungry rather than paid those prices. Mrs. Robert (Patty Walcott) Foster of East Lansing gave beautiful support to her father-in-law, George Foster, candidate for state highway commissioner. Patty is a vote-getter wherever she goes. Grandma and Grandpa Walcott took care of little Carol Jean Foster while the rest of the Fosters were sewing up the election in Detroit.

The Helen Keller story on television last week gets my vote for being top entertainment. But those commercials! Billed as a Playhouse 90 performance, Playhouse 15 would have been closer to the truth. By actual count WKZO-TV of Kalamazoo forced the captive audience to sit through 11 commercials which must be some sort of a record. Even Helen Keller seemed annoyed.

Mothers! Throw away your Dr. Spock bibles and the rest of that junk prepared by childhood "experts." Guide your youngsters to successful manhood and womanhood by reading the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Robert Paul Smith in the article, "What Happened to the Magic of Childhood," claims that youngsters are so regimented in play programs that they don't have time to play.

There's satisfaction and character-building in just walking railroad rails, kicking stones, flying kites and playing hop-scotch and mumbly-peg. Nowadays, the experts think the kid is an odd-ball if they catch him under a shade tree watching the clouds roll by. We've got to organize these days.

It's bad for kids to hang on mother's dress until the ripe old age of 5. They've got to be sent to play programs as soon as they can toddle. For we've got to organize and supervise and victimize so the "experts" say.

Plant Diseases Are Expensive

Plant diseases cost farmers in the United States an estimated 2 1/2 billion annually. Nearly 35 million is spent on purchases of fungicides alone, according to Howard S. Potter, Michigan State university extension plant pathologist.

Potter sees future developments in chemical control of diseases chiefly through the treatment of soil instead of with surface protection of foliage, fruits and seed.

Antibiotics show promise for systemic vegetable disease control for bacterial diseases of corn, tomato, potato and bean plants and for early blight, a fungus disease on tomatoes.

Rural Families Buy Insurance

More than 3 out of every 4 farm families in the United States are covered by life insurance, according to a recent study by the survey research center at the University of Michigan.

Sponsored by the Institute of Life Insurance, the survey showed that, among rural families, 77% of the men own life insurance. More than half the women and children in rural families also have some form of life insurance.

Most rural families purchased their policies from life insurance companies, while the balance secured their coverage through servicemen's policies, fraternal or assessment insurance.

For the entire nation, the survey disclosed more than 7 out of every 10 persons own some form of life insurance. This means there are 115 million policyholders in the United States.

Weed Control For All Year is In Offing

Prospects are good that farmers will have a chemical weed killer that will have effect from planting time to harvest.

So close it, in fact, that one such chemical is adapted specifically for corn, says S. K. Ries, horticulturalist at Michigan State university.

He said there is a trend in weed control research towards this end. Only a few years ago most researchers felt that chemicals should be selective post-emergence control.

But recent tests have shown that this is probably not the most practical method. Newer types should be applied at planting time, or near emergence time of the seedlings. Then, for the balance of the growing season, effective weed control should be assured without added expense of extra control methods such as cultivation or hand weeding.

Aim is to have a residual toxicity—long lasting poisonous effect to newly sprouted weeds. Then with such an effective means of weed control the weed pest can almost be forgotten once weed killer is put on soil.

Dairymen Choose Hodge as Leader

Ward Hodge of Snover has been elected president of the American Dairy association of Michigan succeeding Ivan Maystead, of Osseo.

Hodge, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, and who represents the Farm Bureau on the association's board of directors, was elevated to the presidency from vice-president's post during the 15th annual meeting of the American Dairy Association of Michigan at Michigan State February 1.

Other officers named were: Ernest Girbach, of Saline, representing the Michigan Milk Producers Association on the board of directors, vice-president; John Strange, of Grand Ledge, representing producers at large, treasurer; and Charles E. Stone, of Lansing, secretary, who was again named manager of the association. Both Strange and Stone were re-elected.

New members named to the board of directors were Andrew R. Jackson, of Howell; George W. Austin, of Ovid and Henry M. Hewitt, of Elkton. Jackson and Austin represent the Michigan Milk Producers association and Hewitt the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative.

First Stop Is at 9:30 A. M.

Dairymen Schedule Dairy Tour Tuesday

Ingham dairymen should mark Tuesday, February 14, as visiting day, advises Ken Brown, assistant county agricultural agent. That's the day dairymen are scheduled to tour 4 top dairy farms in the eastern section of the county. Over 150 persons are expected to attend and discuss dairy herd management and housing.

First stop will be at 9:30 a. m. at the Jerry Jorgenson farm. The Jorgenson farm is located on Moyer road just west of Morrice road and about 3 miles north of Weherville. Last year Jorgenson's 37 cows averaged 13,560 lb of milk and 503 lb butterfat. The station-type barn has recently been expanded to 52 stalls and and good use is being made of labor saving equipment.

The tour will move south to Lawrence Stowe's at 10:45. The Stowe farm is on Stockbridge road between Frost and Dennis roads and is a large scale operation with 610 acres of cropland. A 55-cow dairy herd is the main livestock enterprise with hogs and poultry as additional projects. During the past year this herd produced an average of 13,207 lb of milk and 472 lb of butterfat, Brown said.

Hungry tour members can get both food for stomach and mind at noon at the Millville church hall. The Millville Ladies Aid will sell lunches and extension specialists will give short talks. Dairy Specialist Frank Gendron and Agricultural Engineer Richard Pfister of Michigan State university will be on hand to provide the latest information of interest to dairymen. Time will be allotted for a question and answer session.

From Millville the tour will proceed at 2:00 o'clock to the Westphal farm operated by L. D. Marshall. This is located 1 1/2 miles east of Stockbridge on M-106 just over the county line in Livingston county. Marshall is using loose housing effectively with a 60-cow herd, according to Brown. He has an efficient rough-

Tiling Pays In Better Crop Yield

Money invested in tile drainage can pay off better than three to one, according to C. R. Hoglund, Michigan State university farm economist.

Returns from drainage investment, Hoglund says, come from a combination of improved drainage, use of more fertilizer and production of higher value crops. Crop yields have been increased as much as 20% to 100% by installing good tile drainage, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

Investment in a complete tiling system in the Saginaw-Thumb level land area, for example, will range from $80 to $150 per acre, Hoglund says. A recent study shows that tiling investments have been paid off in 6 or 7 years from the increased returns resulting from higher crop yields.

In some cases, it may be more profitable to invest in tile drainage than to purchase feed for extra dairy cattle, Hoglund says. Tiling 80 acres of poorly drained crop land could make it possible to keep more cows on a 150-acre dairy farm in southern Michigan. This would raise the net income about $1,900 for tile investment, 8 more cows, additional housing and equipment.

Buying feed for these cows instead of growing it would add only an estimated $500 to net income, Hoglund says.

Many Acres Grass Seed Are Failure

About 200,000 acres of legume seedings made in Michigan each year are either total or partial failures.

These failures amount to one-fifth of the one million acres planted each year to forage crops, hay, pasture and silage, according to Milo B. Tesar, Michigan State university farm crops specialist.

Reason for this poor take, he said, is improper soil pH or acid level; improper seedbeds; inadequate fertilizers; improper varieties and poorly timed seedings.

To offset the poor seedbeds, Tesar suggests trying the newer approach to better seedbeds—band seeding.

This method places a band of seed in the soil directly above a band of fertilizer which results in a shot-in-the-arm effect to the emerging seedlings.

Tests show that with this seeding method, the amount of seed needed can be reduced by 20% and still give growers a more vigorous stand which is better able to withstand drought, insects and competition from weeds and companion crops.

Another means of getting 15% better stands is with the use of packer wheels towed behind the drill.

Tesar pointed out packer wheels pack only the area seeded in seven inch rows and not spaces between rows, fewer weeds get started and soils absorb water better than when cutpacked.

When alfalfa seedings are made in winter wheat, the stands can be improved by 50% when drilled in with the seed 100 lb of 0-20-10 fertilizer per acre.

This method, rather than broadcast fertilizer in March, proves more satisfactory, Tesar said.

Peach Growers to Meet

Producers, processors and others connected with the peach industry will convene at St. Joseph from February 17 to 21 for the 16th annual meeting of the National Peach Council. Attendance is expected to reach 250. The 4-day program is studied with high names in the peach world representing all phases of the industry, according to Harry Nye, of St. Joseph, council president.

13 Herds Hit 30-lb Mark For January

Thirteen herds in Ingham No. 6 Dairy Herd Improvement association tested by Ray Launstein and Ted Noble averaged over 30 lb of butterfat for January.

Other high herds were Stanley David, 17 grade Holsteins, 43.5 lb fat, 1,098.2 lb milk; Smith & Fay, 24 grade Holsteins and Guernseys, 40.6 lb fat, 981.4 lb milk; V. F. W. Home and Ron Boomer, 50 registered and grade Holsteins, 39.7 lb fat, 1,139 lb milk; Eugene Lyon, 25 Jerseys, 39.6 lb fat, 763.6 lb milk; Lyle Glenn, 40 grade Holsteins, 37.8 lb fat, 1,095.2 lb milk; Ted W. Fay, 20 grade Holsteins and Guernseys, 37.4 lb fat, 905.1 lb milk;

Wayne Wilcox, 36 grade and registered Holsteins, 37.1 lb fat, 974.4 lb milk; Pfister & Brown, 28 grade Holsteins, 34.9 lb fat, 945 lb milk; Henry Mier, 20 grade Holsteins, 34.4 lb fat, 903.5 lb milk; Gail Thorburn, 30 grade Holsteins, 33.3 lb fat, 982.3 lb milk; Wieland & DeKett, 41 grade Holsteins and Guernseys, 31.7 lb fat, 797.8 lb milk; and Myron Whipple, 16 grade and registered Holsteins, 31.6 lb fat, 908.1 lb milk.

High individual cows were: Mature class, over 5 years: William Freimuth & Son, registered Holstein, 88 lb fat, 2,149 lb milk; Wieland & DeKett, grade Holstein, 89 lb fat, 1,940 lb milk.

Under 5 years: William Freimuth & Son, registered Holstein, 87 lb fat, 850 lb milk.

Nation's Angus Breeders Meet

Aberdeen-Angus breeders, scheduled to hold the annual conference at Michigan State university, March 10-12 will discuss a national progeny and performance testing program for their breed.

According to conference officials, this is the first time in American beef cattle history that a breed organization has considered adopting such a program.

Angus breeders attending the conference will first discuss the value of classifying the offspring of their animals, then will evaluate Angus steers "on the hoof and on the hook" to learn more about carcass value and later will be brought up to date on research to eliminate dwarfism in beef cattle.

Milkshed Specifications Vary

One of the farmer's main problems when he equips a milk house and dairy barn is doing the job in a manner acceptable for any milkshed in the state. There are areas in the state served by more than one milkshed. Planning problems include requirements of floor slope and drainage, construction details for walls, roofs and ceilings, area and space requirements, and specific factors which will vary from area to area in the state.

HAPPY AND HEALTHY — That's the story presented by these 6 1/2-year-olds, who are the Michigan Heart association's King and Queen of Hearts. But it wasn't always that way! These Detroit youths, Douglas McCneeley and Brenda Elkins, were born with serious heart defects which would have cut short their lives. However, heart surgery corrected the defects, and now both present visual proof of the current theme: "Heart surgery can not only be successful, but it can be done right here in Michigan."

Holsteins Yield Above 100,000 Lb

Many Holsteins from Michigan are listed among cows which have gone beyond the lifetime production mark of 100,000 lb of milk.

Among them are 3 from Ingham and another from Livingston.

In the newest list are Maplecrest Betty Marathon, 107,667 lb of milk and 4,154 lb of butterfat in 2,717 days; and Maplecrest Betty Marathon, 103,091 lb of milk and 3,881 lb of fat in 2,518 days; both owned by Charles J. Davis, Onondaga.

Another is Willow Hill Rainbow Sir Boss, owned by Howard Barton estate, Lansing. She is credited with 101,416 lb milk and 3,606 lb of butterfat in 2,413 days of official test.

Rare Birds Survive
America's whooping cranes—probably the world's most publicized birds—total about 24 in number. The rare birds have completed their long migration from near Great Slave lake in Canada to their winter home in Aransas national wildlife refuge in Texas. Twenty-three of the big birds are at the refuge and another has been located on a nearby ranch. Last year there were 28 cranes on the refuge.

Herd Receives Name
Gilson R. Pearsall, Mason, has been given the privilege of the exclusive use of the name "Sky Haven" as a herd name in registering his purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle. This prefix name is granted and will be recorded by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Over 1170 prefixes were reserved for breeders in 1956.

Honey Production Hits 10-Year Low

By CARL COLLIN

Honey production in Michigan last year was the lowest for 10 years. Poor weather conditions cut down bee activity early. Last year's crop was almost a third lower than the previous year's large output. Michigan ranked seventh among all states in total production. California is by far the top producing state with Minnesota second, and Florida third.

There's a move on to make potatoes eligible for the acreage reserve in the soil bank. Similar action is being taken for some other crops. Diversions from allotment crops have slopped over into feed grains, potatoes and to some extent soybeans and other crops. So producers of some "non-basics" are trying to show they have been hurt by acres diverted from wheat, corn, cotton and other basics.

Clifford Hope, former GOP member of the house agriculture committee, now in private law practice in Kansas, said at a meeting that this country in too many cases had started at the wrong end in water conservation measures. He explained: "Instead of holding the water near where it falls and storing it in the ground where it will be ready for use when we need it, we have spent nine-tenths of our funds building great dams and reservoirs to hold water which should not have gotten away in the first place."

As an indication of what the drought is doing in the southwest, private crop forecasts indicate the combined 1957 wheat production in the Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico area may drop below 143.3 million bushels. Kansas alone produced this amount last year. The total for the 5 states in 1955 was 255.8 million bushels.

The American farmer is getting older! Census figures show the average U. S. farmer today is 50 years old. In 1954, the average was 49.6; in 1950, it was 48.3; and in 1940 it was 48.

USDA is again in the egg market, trying to bolster prices. Last week the government bought 14.

000 cases of 30 dozen each. Prices ranged from 36 to 40c. The eggs will be donated to the school lunch program. Purchases probably will hit a higher clip, the average weekly take expected to be around 4-50 thousand cases.

A Penn State student studied every type of farm accident inside and outside the home in nearly 2300 Pennsylvania farm families, and he found that Wednesday and Saturday are the most dangerous days. The most dangerous time of day is in the afternoon, between 2 and 4. Machinery causes more accidents than tractors. Hand tools are also major offenders.

Only 55% of the young people who enter high school receive diplomas. That's an improvement over 10 years ago, when only 40% were graduated. There's reason to suspect that more youngsters in rural areas quit high school early than do city pupils. Looking into the future, the U. S. office of education says the number of high school students who become "drop-outs" can be expected to increase in the next few years.

The corn-hog ratio on January 15 stood at 14.1 compared with 13.3 a month earlier, and the long-time January average of 13.5. Because of this favorable feed ratio, there is a growing feeling among livestock people that farmers may step up their hog production. In some areas this is known to be true. Livestock journals and marketing experts already are warning against an explosive build-up of hog numbers which could cause a damaging quick return to oversupply in hogs next year.

Miscellaneous... USDA has extended the deadline for farmers to sign contracts to take part in the conservation reserve phase of the soil bank program. The extension is from March 15 to April 15. Officials who are responsible for handling grain storage facilities for the CCC hope to get by without buying more bins this year, even though the government will have to take over a lot of corn in some areas. USDA hopes to export about 450 million bushels of wheat for the marketing year ending June 30.

Various livestock ailments cost farmers about $2.7 billion a year in lost livestock production. Mastitis accounts for $227 million, hog cholera $30 million. The nation's livestock veterinary bill in 1956 was nearly $170 million. The American Veterinary Medical Association believes farmers saved nearly $1 billion as a result of this veterinary bill. Pigs are among the world's most neurotic creatures, according to a gent who is England's only full-time pig hypnotist. (Don't ask me why he has this unique job!)

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 4 Claim All Exemptions for Yourself and Dependents

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Michigan Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Many people overpay their taxes because they cheat themselves on their personal exemptions.

Here is how to count your exemptions (each one takes $600 off your taxable income):

One exemption for yourself, two if you are 65 or over, two if you are blind, three if you are both 65 and blind. The same applies to your husband or wife.

If your husband or wife died during 1956 you can still file a joint return claiming the exemptions, including those for age or blindness, to which the deceased would have been entitled at the time of death.

Who Qualifies
One exemption of $600 can be taken for each person who fits the definition of a dependent. This $600 is not doubled for age or blindness, however, as in the case of your personal exemption.

To count for an exemption, the dependent must:

- (1) Have less than $600 gross income for 1956 (except that this does not apply to your child if he is under 19 or is a full-time student).
- (2) Have received more than half of his support from you, unless you file a Multiple Support Agreement (see below).
- (3) Not file a joint return.
- (4) Be either a citizen of the U. S. or a resident of the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Canal Zone, Panama and in some cases, a serviceman's child living in the Philippines.
- (5) Live with you (absence while attending school does not interfere) or be a close relative as defined in the instruction book or be a cousin receiving institutional care for a mental or physical disability who had lived with you before going to the institution.

Multiple Support Agreements
If you shared with others in the support of a dependent, but none of you provided more than half the support, you may still be able to arrange among you for one of the group to have the $600 exemption. You might agree, for example, to take turns in having the exemption from year to year.

The one who claims the exemption must have contributed more than 10 percent of the support, and he must be a member of a group who altogether provided more than half support, and that person must have been entitled to claim that dependent except for the requirement of providing more than half support.

In order for one of the group to have the exemption all other members of the group who contributed more than 10 percent must sign declarations that they will not claim the dependent. The Internal Revenue Service provides Form 2120 (Multiple Support Agreement) for this purpose.

Children and Disabled Dependents
There is a deduction of as much as $600 for care of children under 12 while the breadwinner works. This child-care deduction is available to mothers, widowers, divorced and legally separated persons, who are allowed to deduct expenses paid for the care of a son, daughter, stepson or stepdaughter under the age limit. This regulation also applies to any dependent of any age who is mentally or physically incapacitated.

A working wife is entitled to this deduction if her husband is physically or mentally incapable of providing support. Where the husband is not disabled, the working wife may also take the child-care deduction only if a joint return is filed, and the $600 limit must be reduced by the amount of the couple's gross income exceeds $4500. It should be kept in mind that you can't take this deduction if you take the standard 10 percent deduction.

The instruction book which comes with your tax form gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult a properly qualified adviser if you decide to seek outside help.

Next Article: Personal Deductions May Cut Your Tax Bill.

Farmers with Forest Lands Receive Help from Abitibi

Michigan industry, being dependent upon wood produced in farm woodlots, is beginning to enlarge its service by additions of forestry advisors for farmers. One such firm is the Abitibi corporation at Alpena, according to Jack Auden, the firm's forester.

Besides buying wood for the firm, foresters serve as consultants to the woodland owner. This move is made in view of the need to help and advise woodland owners by the industry in order to help assure the industry of a long-time supply.

Auden said that returns industry expects from this move will come back to them many times in future years of good woodland management.

With continuous planting of corn, farmers will have to apply about one pound of nitrogen for each expected bushel yield.

PTA Members Vote to Form Two Groups

Stockbridge PTA voted to form a separate PTA for the new Emma L. Smith elementary school which would include the 8 merged schools in the Stockbridge area at the meeting last Wednesday evening. It was voted to have the Munith Mothers club continue as a club in lieu of a PTA there or of being a part of the Stockbridge PTA. Gregory will continue to have his Parent-Teacher organization instead of being a part of the Stockbridge PTA. Robert Stoffer, head of Gregory PTO, said they might form a parent-teacher association, changing from the PTO so that a PTA council could be formed as a liaison group to coordinate the activities of the 2 groups. It was voted to have a separate PTA for the junior-senior high in Stockbridge which will meet no more than 4 times a year. The present PTA under President Robert Camp will meet in March to appoint nominating and planning committees for both groups. They will be voted on at the April meeting and installed at the May meeting, to begin functioning when school resumes in September. Mrs. Kenneth Otto of Jackson, field director of district No. 4 for the Michigan PTA, urged members of the Stockbridge PTA to take some of the $394.12 in the treasury and send a delegate to the state convention in Traverse City in April.

The boys chorus sang, under the direction of Miss Nellie Stephens. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Chris Wintergrod. Mrs. Ralph Anderson, Mrs. Tom Collings, Mrs. John Horst and Mrs. Arthur Smith.

The Mothers' March of Dimes in Leslie and Leslie township, under the direction of Mrs. John S. Gings, netted $530.74, $14 over last year's march. Most villages within Ingham county did not show an increase over last year, reported Mrs. Gings. The Blue Crutch sale totaled $30.85. It was under the supervision of Polio Representative Jack Houghaling and Scoutmaster Earl Miller.

School collections and canister collections have not been reported as yet. Both collections were thought to be highly successful.

Strawberries Pay Out

A strawberry grower from Lake Leelanau told farmers attending Michigan State University's Farmers' Week, that Cat-skill strawberries successfully fit into a fruit rotation. David Spinkton points out in his strawberry production scheme, fertilization plays a heavy part. "We fertilize heavily not only with chemical fertilizers but turn under large amounts of green manure." Another point of importance to his fruit operations is that with the strawberry plantings he is able to supply 8 weeks of continuous work to his farm workers.

Here's What MICHIGAN STATE Says About

FERTILIZER

Growers still do not use enough fertilizer!

This is shown in soil test records kept in 55 soil testing laboratories throughout the state.

And, these records show that actual soil need runs to half again as much fertilizer as is being put on fields.

This was revealed by J. A. Porter, soils man at Michigan State university, when talking to growers attending Farmers' Week.

Where farmers miss the mark, he said, is in selecting the right fertilizer grade or analysis.

Even though straight nitrogen is gaining popularity in the state, most of our crops could use 9 TIMES MORE ammonia nitrate, sulfate of ammonia, anhydrous ammonia, urea, nitrogen solution, and others.

From the standpoint of straight nitrogen, 6,000 tons are used in the state. But, by the way the crops respond, soils men maintain that the 6,000 tons now used could be boosted to 70,000 tons.

Soils testing records show that farmers could also profitably use more of the high phosphorus fertilizers.

Some of these include formulations as: 3-18-9 or 5-20-10.

Edison Exhibits Are Featured at Dearborn Museum

A special exhibition commemorating the 110th birthday anniversary of Thomas Alva Edison, one of America's greatest inventors, began this week at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

Edison was born February 11, 1847, at Milan, Ohio.

Divided into 5 major sections, the display covers his youth and early experiments; the Menlo Park period, 1870-1884, called the golden age of his inventive work; the years at West Orange, N. J., 1887-1914; his time in Florida; and his late years, including his friendship with Henry Ford.

Altogether, there are more than 100 items—original inventions, models, photographs, letters, papers and other Edison—in the main Edison collection in the museum and in the Edison buildings in Greenfield Village.

Edison's inventions in the museum display include: An electrographic vote-recorder and register, on which he was granted his first patent in 1869.

Intended for a legislative body, it was years ahead of its time and hence, from a practical standpoint, completely unsuccessful.

His electric motograph transmitter which improved Alexander Graham Bell's magnetic telephone.
