Committee Continues School Survey

Mason's school study committee is continuing its survey of school building and curriculum needs.

At a meeting Tuesday night the report of the community growth sub-committee was accepted and from information in it a questionnaire is now being developed. The questionnaire will be sent to parents of all school children in the district and to as many others as can be reached by personal contact and mail. The report of the community growth sub-committee shows that the school enrollment will reach 3,463 by 1967. It is now 2,241.

To accommodate increasing enrollments Mason's school building program will have to be speeded up, figures gathered by the committee indicate.

The finance sub-committee, headed by Laurence Parker, and the site sub-committee, with Donald VanderVeen as chairman, are working out plans to jibe with the community growth sub-committee. A curriculum sub-committee has completed much of its work.

Those who receive the questionnaire will be asked to indicate their choice on building area schools in the rural parts of the district or retaining present neighborhood schools with older pupils being transported to Mason.

The school study committee was organized a year ago at the request of the board of education. Robert Ware and Mrs. Robert Seyfarth are co-chairmen. The meeting of the committee Tuesday night was at the Seyfarth home.

Mrs. Cappel said that Shawn, the 5-month-old dog, was on the porch in front of the door an instant before she heard the glass crash. She noticed the dog as she walked past the door.

Police Probe Rifle Shots

Mason police are probing 2 shots fired from a .22 rifle on or near S. Lansing street. Probing is right. They probed through a partition in the residence of Mrs. Elsie Cappel for one slug. Dr. Charles J. Hubbard probed down to the ribs of the Cappel German Shepherd to get the other.

Mrs. Cappel had just walked from one room to another past the door of her house at 1105 Lansing street Sunday afternoon when she heard a crash. She saw that a hole had been drilled through the glass of her front storm door. The house door was open. She also heard her dog yelp, but she did not connect the broken glass with the dog's yelp.

Police officers found that a .22 long rifle bullet had been fired through the storm door glass and that it had penetrated through one side of a partition in the house.

When the dog, which had first appeared to be only scared Sunday night, showed indications of injury it was taken to Dr. Hubbard's office. The veterinarian's examination disclosed that the dog had been shot. Probing located the bullet lodged next to a rib. The bullet was removed.

Neither Mrs. Cappel, her daughters nor neighbors saw any person with a rifle Sunday afternoon, they told officers. The police are working on the theory that the shots were fired from long range.

Mrs. Cappel said that Shawn, the 5-month-old dog, was on the porch in front of the door an instant before she heard the glass crash. She noticed the dog as she walked past the door.

Now He's Got No Beef at All

Howard Coy, Vevay farmer, has no beef because of the Ingham County News. Fact is, he's singing praises for the fast action he had last week when he advertised in the News to sell a half of beef he plans to butcher.

A steady string of phone calls convinced Coy that folks read the News want ads. He's got no beef—except the other half of that fat steer.

News want ads are rilled to 6,000 homes each week. Let a little want ad produce big results for you next week. Phone your ad to Mason OR 7-9011. You can charge it, too.

Circuit Court Calls Jurors

Sixty men and women are being summoned to report for jury duty at the March term of circuit court. Their names were drawn by lot at Mason Monday. They are to report in the circuit court rooms in Lansing Monday, March 10.

County Clerk C. Ross Hillard and Sheriff Willard P. Barnes did the drawing. Leonard C. Rouse, Leslie and William S. Seelye, justices of the peace, inscribed the names. Names of prospective jurors are furnished by township and city assessors. They must own property assessed for taxes.

Those whose names were drawn are:

Alaiedon—Wesley Thomas, Sam McMann.

Aurelius—Mrs. Edith Freshour, Cleo Depp.

Bunker Hill — Dorothy Harford, Branch Vicary.

Dellhi—Grace Graves, Frances Gault.

Ingham—Don Lipstraw, Mrs. Joleddi Barlow.

Lansing township—H. Stanley Hartman, Pearl Widman.

Leroy — Robert McFarland, Fred Huscio.

Leslie—John Paul Jupp, Russell Shaw, Locke—Earl West, Clarence Bennett.

Meridian—Fay Hartuff, Thelma M. Carlyn.

Onondaga—Erwin Rhines, Doris Kent, Stockbridge — Edna Sommers, Mabel DeCoste.

Vevay—Herbert Bailey, Mrs. Robert Sturman.

Whitfield — Richard Bowne, Walter Rindfleisch.

White Oak—Ida Oakley, Deo Wilcox.

Williamstown—Helen M. Farrell, Milo B. Clark.

Mason—Guy E. Adams, Mrs. Mary Walk.

Williamston (city)—Irene M. Oesterle, Clara Hathaway.

East Lansing—Stannard Baker, R. L. Boell.

Everett Orator Wins Contest

James Kakalik, a sophomore at Lansing Everett, won both the local and sixth district national high school oratorical contests at Mason Friday. The American Legion sponsors the contest which bears the approval of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

By winning at Mason Kakalik qualified for the zone finals in Owosso.

Ellen Doyle of Lansing St. Mary high school placed second at Mason.

They prepared orations on checks and balances of the U. S. constitution. Contestants at Mason were assigned the extemporaneous topic of federal courts.

Frank Schmitt, Jr., presided at the contests in Mason. Clyde Smith, sixth district committee man, presented the awards. He was also timekeeper. Donald Edgington, Frank Young and Nelson Brown were the judges.

Frondor Merger Comes Up Again

For the third time there will probably be a vote on annexation of the Frondor shopping area of Lansing township.

Four years ago Lansing township voters blocked annexation of Frondor to Lansing. Then last fall, after a battle between Lansing and East Lansing, township voters blocked annexation of Frondor to East Lansing. Residents of the area voted in favor of merger to East Lansing.

Annexation petitions are again being circulated in Lansing and Lansing township. They call for a vote on a proposal to annex to Lansing.

Annexation must obtain a majority vote in both the city and the township.

Frondor shopping area has an assessed valuation of $6,000,000. With streets and utilities all in stalled and developed and with only a few children to attend school, valuation of Frondor makes its annexation attractive to officials of the 2 adjoining cities and their school districts.

If and when enough signers are secured for the petitions they will be filed with the county clerk and placed before the board of supervisors. Other annexation petitions are on file as well as petitions calling for incorporation of Meridian township as a city. Supervisors agreed to hold off calling annexation and incorporation elections until the general election in November.

Army Summons 11 Young Men

Eleven young men are winding up civilian affairs in order to begin military service. They have received orders to report to the Ingham draft board next Wednesday morning at 7, to board a bus for the army induction center in Detroit.

Court Dismisses Robbery Charge

Judge Roy W. Adams dismissed armed robbery charges against Clarence S. Utley, 81, Monday morning.

The Onondaga man was charged with robbing Mrs. Evelyn Bunker, a neighbor, in November, 1956. Officers did not arrest the man until 10 months later.

December 7 Utley appeared before Judge Adams for examination but before the session was over Utley collapsed. The examination was postponed until Monday.

The only evidence against Utley was the testimony of Mrs. Bunker. Judge Adams ruled that it wasn't sufficient evidence to bring Utley to trial in circuit court.

Mrs. Bunker identified the man who entered her home at gun point and took $77 as about 35, between 5-5 and 5-8, garbed in overalls and wearing a stocking cap, immediately after the robbery. Utley was picked up on a disorderly charge 10 months later and Mrs. Bunker picked the 81-year-old man as the thief.

From the time of his arrest last September Utley denied any knowledge of the crime.

Remedies Don't Cure

Farm Problem Remains

Remedies so far applied to agriculture don't cure, Arthur Mauch of Michigan State University told Mason business men and farmers Tuesday night. He spoke at the annual soil conservation awards dinner staged by Mason, Kiwanis club.

Mauch showed no alarm over farm subsidies. He pointed out that industry and mining are subsidized by tariffs and business combines and that labor is subsidized by minimum wage laws and laws permitting unions to wield great economic power. Even the newspapers and magazines are subsidized by postage rates which do not meet costs.

"If all these other segments of our economy must be subsidized," Mauch said, "then it becomes unrealistic to ask the farmer to stand or fall on a free enterprise system."

"There are 6 alternatives for the farm problem," Mauch said. He listed them as:

"Do nothing" policy of letting the problem be solved on the open market;

Expand the market demand;

Control production, not in amount of land in use but in amount of commodity produced;

Transfer income direct to farmer;

Shift people out of agriculture;

All of the alternatives pose problems, Mauch said.

"In the long run, all programs intended to improve farm income by raising farm prices above the competitive market price levels, are self-defeating economically," Mauch said.

On the other hand, Mauch said, if programs are set up to actually control production so that it balances market demand, farmers and farm organizations do not like them. For programs to be really effective, they must control output.

"The program that seems most desirable to the individual farmer will depend not only on his knowledge of the facts but also on his set of values," Mauch declared.

"How important is good income—or stability of income?" Mauch asked, "How important is leisure time? How important is freedom from controls? How important are the social or political advantage of large numbers of farmers in a rural area? These are all important questions each farmer will need to consider in choosing a farm program."

Arthur Mauch

Answering those who suggest a "do nothing" farm program, Mauch said that would only allow farm income to drop even more although it would cause farm resources to be used more efficiently and would eliminate the costs and other difficulties of farm programs.

Expanding demand does not offer much hope of substantially easing the farm income problem, either, Mauch indicated. The expected increase of 20 per cent in per capita income in the next 10 years will expand per capita spending for food only 4 or 5 per cent and most of this increase will be for services and will never reach the farmer. Foreign countries can't be expected to buy more because most lack purchasing power and some of them are having surplus problems of sorts, too. Industrial uses are low-priced and would not aid materially.

Shifting resources within agriculture will not solve the problem when all commodities are in large supply.

"The trouble with shifting people out of agriculture is that only the poor farmers quit. The good farmers stay in agriculture, take over the land of the poor farmer and produce even more," Mauch said.

Expansion in research and education with special emphasis on marketing and utilization was suggested by Mauch as an aid in helping solve the farm problem.

He also suggested that the possibility of aiding farmers with an adequate credit program may have been overlooked in farm program planning.

"A long-term credit system which would not require a farmer to completely liquidate a mortgage in his productive lifetime might be help," he said.

"The roadblock to a real working farm plan is finding one economically sound and politically acceptable," he concluded.

Six Ingham farmers received awards from the Kiwanis club for their soil conservation practices.

Henry Buckingham, Aurelius; Hugh and Robert Oosterle, Leroy; Ludell Cheney, Vevay; and Irving and Daniel Steffy, Stockbridge, earned the approval of the soil conservation district officers for their farming practices.

Kiwanian Leon Alger presented the certificates of achievement to the winners.

County Limits Truck Loads

To prevent damage to county highways, weight limits are now in effect.

Steady sub-zero temperatures with comparatively little snow have sent the frost line down deep. County highways will suffer damage if heavy loads are hauled, warned Frank K. Evans, county highway engineer-superintendent.

To stave off damage, the county road commission has imposed weight restrictions. Restrictions became effective at midnight Wednesday. On gravel and black-top roads trucks are limited to 65% of normal loads. On concrete trucks are limited to 75% of normal loads.

Two weight-checking crews are on duty, moving over the 1,200 miles of the county highway system.

Although there has been no heavy snow, costs of snow removal in Ingham this year will be the second highest in 10 years. In January and February the cost of snow removal reached $50,000. For 4 winter months of the 1956 season snow removal cost was $73,000. In the 8 preceding years snow removal fell below $50,000.

Snow removal costs this year resulted from frequent light snows and almost continuous treatment with salt on ice-covered roads.

On tests so far made the frost line ranges from 2 to 4 feet, according to the type of subsoil and drainage conditions. Until the frost disappears weight limits will be in effect, Evans said.

State Lands Go On Sale Block

Two Ingham county parcels are on the list of lands to be sold to the highest bidder at the conservation department sale at the court house at Marshall on March 25.

A total of 88 pieces of property in Eaton, Hillsdale, Ingham, Jackson, Lenawee and Calhoun counties will go on the sale block.

The land is state-owned and minimum prices are set by conservation department appraisers.

Successful bidders will receive 30-day purchase certificates. After 30 days the deeds will be turned over to the successful bidders unless the former owners redeem the property by equalling the purchase price.

Most of the 88 parcels are city lots which have reverted to the state through failure to keep up with taxes. Government units involved will receive their equity in the delinquent taxes involved.

Calhoun county has the biggest share of the sale lands.

The 2 Ingham parcels are in Delhi township.

Extension Denied On Auto Licenses

On and after midnight Friday drivers run the risk of being ticketed by police if the cars they are driving do not have 1958 license plates attached.

There will be no extra time granted, warned Harry Chandler, Mason police chief.

"Car owners have had 4 months to acquire their license plates," the Mason chief said. "That ought to be long enough."

"New plates must be securely fastened to the front and rear of cars," Chief Chandler said. "This does not mean to rear window, leaning against windshield or laying on seat next to driver."

Boards of Review Meet on Monday

Township boards of review will be in session beginning Tuesday, March 4. The boards review assessments of property and check the rolls. Some boards will also be in session on Wednesday, March 5. State law requires boards to again be in session for a 2-day period beginning March 10.

Law doesn't require assessors to notify property owners of changes in assessments. It's up to individuals to find out for themselves. The split dates give board members time to investigate complaints.

The Mason board of review, like those of some other chartered municipalities, schedules its own reviewing dates. The Mason board will meet Tuesday, March 11, and again March 25.

Green Is for The Growing

Section C of the Ingham County News is dedicated to Ingham county's 1,500 4-H boys and girls this week. It's printed on green newsprint.

The color green was selected because it typifies growth—growth of the 4-H organization itself and growth of mental, moral and physical stature of 4-H club members throughout the United States.

People May Vote On Special Tax

Plans are being made for a vote on levying a special tax to set up a county-wide program for educating handicapped children. The vote will be called if a bill now in the legislature is enacted into law. It would permit special millage to finance a county program.

Rep. Ralph Young of Ingham's second district is one of the backers of the bill.

Ingham county has set up a steering committee to carry a campaign throughout the county if the legislation is adopted. A meeting of the committee has been called for Friday night in the conference room of the State Journal.

Letter Launches Crackdown On Cigaret Sales to Kids

Roy Dodge is a reformer without any intention beforehand of being one. His letter to the editor in last week's Ingham County News launched a drive against the sale of cigarettes to minors. His letter mentioned that few people heed the state law which prohibits sales to minors.

Mayor Paul D. Richards read the letter in the newspaper. He inquired of police officers if the law was being enforced, and if not, why not. The answer he received was that as of now a serious attempt is being made to enforce the law.

Here's what the Dodge letter has brought about so far:

Police notification to cigarette vendors that it is illegal for any person to sell or give cigarettes to any person under 21. The penalty is up to $50 in fine and up to 30 days in jail for each separate offense.

Official notification to pupils in the schools that it is against state law for any person under 21 to smoke cigarettes on any public highway, street or alley, park or other lands used for public purposes, or in any public place of business or amusement. Minors can be arrested for violations.

Notification to merchants that it is against state law for a pro-

Break in Cold Spell Gives Hospital Project a Push

Monday's warm weather brought construction workers out in droves at the Mason General hospital project.

The mild weather brought some troubles along, too. The hospital site is a sea of mud.

According to Al Wellman of Norstrom-Myers, the general contractor, work will go at a slow pace until the frost is out of the ground.

The roof will be completed soon.

The windows are not due for another month but even if they were here they wouldn't be installed because the frost would be that much slower in leaving the ground inside the building.

Workers from J. A. Dart company are running duct work and finishing up odds and ends of the rough plumbing and heating.

There are lots of little things to do, though, until the crew has solid footing and the construction begins in earnest.

Target date for completion of the hospital is late in June. It will probably be later than that, though.

Al Rice, building coordinator for the hospital board, told directors that it would be better to be a month or so late than to rush the work and stand a chance of getting caught in more frigid weather with cement work.

Pledges are coming in on schedule to help with the construction bills.

Hospital Treasurer Albert Humphrey reported a slight drop in pledges for January but they are already beginning to pick up again.

City Shade Trees Undergo Surgery

Lumberjacks are swinging axes in Mason this week. Several trees have been felled in the southeast section of town. Others have been trimmed of deadwood and awkward limbs.

The tree-trimming and removal project is financed by the city. Councilmen asked residents who know of dangerous or diseased trees to notify the city clerk's office.

Most of the trees which have been removed were maples. A few were elms. No sign of the Dutch elm disease has been discovered.

Twenty-six years as secretary of Farmers Mutual is a long tour of duty. Officers, employees and their wives honored Louis Stid with a dinner Monday night. Director Ralph Hayner presented the brief case to the secretary. The group also honored Mrs. Fred Burroughs for her 24 years of service.

Munith Plans to Organize Boy Scout Troop Tuesday

Munith Mothers club will meet for its regular meeting Tuesday evening, March 4, at 8 o'clock in the all-purpose room of the school. Bob Burd, district Scout

Berean Members Join in Program

Berean class of the Munith Sunday school met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sharon Hartman with 23 in attendance. A cooperative supper was served at 7:30. All joined in singing hymns. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ford Miller at the piano.

Gerald Dixon, president, opened the meeting and Rev. James Craig led in prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Elsie Hartman; the treasurer's report was given by Will Archenbrom and a letter from India was read by Mrs. Fred Ford. The president appointed Mrs. Fred Ford and Mrs. Harold Harr to the flower committee and it was decided that the program committee should be the hosts assisted by some couple of their own choosing.

Mrs. Lloyd Harr and Mrs. James Craig had charge of the evening's entertainment, a game of hearts, with dice hand-made by the father of Mrs. Craig. The next meeting will be Friday evening, March 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Archenbrom with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harr assisting with the entertainment.

Ninety Attend Annual Banquet

Cub Scout Pack 329 had its annual blue and gold banquet at the school Saturday evening with an attendance of 90. After the dinner group singing was led by Mrs. Loren Stowe. Cubmaster Glen Curtis introduced the toastmaster of the evening, John Duszynski. Mrs. Victor Hoffman, representing the American Legion Auxiliary, presented an American flag to the pack. Wendell Jarrell gave a recitation of a creed. Harold Randolph gave a toast to the parents to which his father, Glen Randolph, responded. Den 3 gave the pledge to the flag. The history of scouting was given by the Cubs in Den 1.

At the awards ceremonies Larry Earl and Charles (Doc) Reno received bobate pins; Donald Musbach, Paul Stevens and Andrew Duszynski received their wolf badges; Gary Stowe, the bear badge and gold and silver arrow points; Carl Horning, gold and silver arrow points; and Roy Edmund Peters received his lion badge.

Curtis expressed thanks to the decorating committee, Mrs. Leo Ulanowitz and Mrs. Luman Clark and to all those who made the banquet a success. Announcement was made of the next pack planning meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Randolph at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, March 8.

Den 2 presented a skit on America.

Anniversary Observed

The open house honoring the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gearhart was well attended last Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Gearhart received many gifts. Mrs. Ford Miller and Mrs. Kenneth Musbach helped with the arrangements.

Farm Bureau Meets

The February meeting of the Munith Farm Bureau group was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hartman. The committee woman, Mrs. Hartman, gave her report on the last meeting, stating that Henrietta township was highest in the county in procuring 104 Farm Bureau memberships. Fred Ford talked on gleanings he had learned at Farmers Week. Gerald Dixon gave the minuteman's report, and Harold Harr led the discussion on civil defense. Plans were made to meet with Mr. and Mrs. Will Archenbrom in March. Refreshments were served by the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Hanneveld were guests of the Donald Clays in Jackson for dinner Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Hazebrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moeckel, is a patient at University hospital in Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bortles and family of Willis spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sally.

Harold Harr was in East Lansing Wednesday, where he and other members of the executive board of the Jackson County Farm Bureau attended a meeting in the Union building, on Farm Bureau insurance.

BEST OF PALS—Think this mouse is about to end up as a quick snack? Not a chance. The cat, Prince Mickey, a Russian Blue shorthair, and his rodent pal, Mousey, are the pets of Mrs. Evelyn Adams of New York. Strangely enough, they're friends.

CHESS COLD—It takes more than winter temperatures to check these chess enthusiasts in New York's frigid Central Park. The only way to keep warm is to keep moving but the player in the foreground at left seems to be frozen as solid as the stone table at which he's playing.

Justice Court

Judge Has a Busy Monday

Monday was a busy day in Judge Roy W. Adams' justice court.

In a jury trial Robert Puckett, Rives Junction, was found not guilty on a charge of drunk driving. Jay Coffey, W. C. Peters, Mrs. Ford Lenon and Arthur Carrigan served on the jury.

Judge Adams dismissed the case against Clarence Utley, 81, charged with armed robbery. The Onondaga man was charged with holding up Mrs. Evelyn Bunker in November, 1956. He wasn't arrested until 10 months later. He appeared before Judge Adams December 7 but the examination had to be called off when Utley was taken with a seizure.

Judge Adams bound Ronald Johnson over to circuit court on a charge of larceny from a building Monday. The charge was reduced from breaking and entering in the nighttime. Johnson is charged with breaking into a Dansville tavern and stealing beer last fall.

James Collins was found guilty of reckless driving Monday when he appeared before Judge Adams. He was assessed costs of $12 and fined $25.

Traffic cases reported settled in Judge Adams' court this week are:

Willadena Chivington, Lansing, speeding, $20.

Richard Little, Jackson, running stop sign, $4.

Richard Davis, Leslie, speeding, $8.

Roger Burnham, Jackson, speeding, $18.

John Wisler, Sturgis, speeding, $30.

Fred Schneller, Bay City, running stop sign, $4.

George Lockewicz, Mason, excessive speed, $5.

Chester Felton, Saginaw, running stop sign, $4.

Aurelius Center
Aurelius Center school has planned a roller skating party for the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades for Thursday, March 6.

Barnes school was closed 3 days last week as oil pipes to the furnace and water pipes were frozen.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Daily and Kathy spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Archie House.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith had Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Eldred House.

Ronnie House spent Saturday night at the Harold Smith home in Webberville.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strobel honored their daughter Sandra on her fourth birthday anniversary last Sunday with a dinner. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strobel, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Strobel, Betsy Ann and Donnie.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Daily and Kathy spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Archie House.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith had Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Eldred House.

Ronnie House spent Saturday night at the Harold Smith home in Webberville.

Bank Official Suffers Injury

Albert A. Humphrey, executive vice-president of Dart National bank, has an arm bandaged. While helping other bank employees and executives in remodeling operations at the bank Friday night, a panel of glass splintered and fell. A big splinter struck Humphrey in his arm, causing extensive bleeding. He was taken to Mason General hospital for first aid but was released within a short time to resume supervision of remodeling work.

The grill work and glass partitions which separated bank employees from customers was removed over the week end.

Group Shows Growth

Rev. W. B. Kolenda of the Mason Assembly of God reported that in the 1958 yearbook the Assembly of God are the 10th ranking denomination in Sunday school enrollment. The Mason group, which conducts services in the Vevay town hall, has a Sunday school enrollment of 24, the pastor reported.

Court Action Slows Down But Will Speed Up Soon

Circuit court trials slowed right down to nothing this week. Monday a justice court appeal case was scheduled but failure of the defendant, Haskell Bundy, to show up, sent jurors home. The case involved a Lansing ordinance violation. William L. Mackay, assistant city attorney, was on hand to present Lansing's side of the story.

Jurors will not report back for duty until Monday for what promises to be a busy week.

Two criminal cases are scheduled for Monday. John William Talbot will stand trial on a charge of driving while intoxicated, second offense. His attorney is Stuart J. Dunning, Jr.

The other case involves Carnell

L. Stubbs, charged with unlawful possession of narcotics. He is represented by John Wendell Bird.

Beginning Tuesday the jurors will hear a justice court appeal case of Kenneth Garland and a civil case growing out of an automobile accident. William A. Reynolds is the plaintiff and Douglas Heysler is the defendant.

The civil case of Lucille Driggs vs. O. C. Hartig is due to be heard Thursday.

Two judges are scheduled to hear cases in Mason every day except Monday when the board of supervisors will be in session.

Former Pastor Will Be Speaker

After a successful opening of Lenten service last Sunday evening, Ingham Circuit Methodist churches will present the second of the series at Northwest Stockbridge Sunday evening, March 2, at 8 p. m.

Rev. Carlton Foltz of Manchester will speak. He is a former minister of Ingham circuit. He is widely known in his denomination's circles for his interest in social action and for the cause of world peace. Providing special music for the evening will be the Dietrichs, a male musical group.

All former friends and the community are especially invited to attend this meeting. An opportunity to visit with Rev. Foltz and his family will be provided during the social hour after the service in the Fellowship hall of the church.

Former Resident Dies at Clare

Mrs. Harriet L. Haskell, 59, died Tuesday at Clare General hospital after a stroke Monday night. She had been in apparent good health until then.

Private funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon at Brian T. Fanning funeral home at Harrison. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, Harrison.

Mrs. Haskell was born July 4, 1898, at Shullsburg, Wisconsin, daughter of Charles and Hanna Stephens. On June 1, 1916, she married Gerald Haskell at Shullsburg and soon afterwards they moved to Ingham county. They lived on Williamston road, then on a farm on Meridian road near Mason. Mr. Haskell worked in shops in addition to farming.

In 1941 the family moved to Harrison where Mr. Haskell organized the Harrison Dairy. He sold the business shortly before his death a year and a half ago.

Surviving are 3 daughters, Mrs. Carl Baldwin of Holt, Mrs. Marjorie O'Dell of Albion and Mrs. Kith Bullard of Coleman; 3 sons, George of Lansing, and Kenneth and Robert of Harrison; a brother, Walter Stephens of St. Charles, Ill.; and 14 grandchildren.

Rites Are Conducted For Mrs. Beers, 83

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at Gorsline-Runciman funeral home for Mrs. Laura Beers, 83, of West Mt. Hope road, Lansing. Mrs. Beers died Sunday at a Lansing hospital after a long sickness. She was born at Dexter May 12, 1874, and had resided in Eaton and Ingham counties for the past 43 years.

Surviving are sons, Lester W. and Leo G. of Lansing, Harold A. of Brighton and Rev. Maurice Beers of Pontiac; 9 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren; and a brother, Carl Warner of Mason. Rev. M. Schuurmans of Lansing officiated at the rites. Burial was in Deepdale cemetery.

Four-H Keeps Growing

Ingham county has had a rapid expansion of 4-H activity during the past 10 years. Many clubs have been added to the roll and all clubs have added new members. The 4-H program has always been strongest in rural areas. It still is. However, more and more clubs are being formed in urban areas. Most of these urban clubs have girls as members. However, some craftsmanship clubs are organized for boys.

Hart District Joins Williamston

Voters in the Hart school district in Williamston township voted 13-11 to annex to the Williamston school district. Electors decided the issue Friday.

The Williamston board of education approved the annexation previously.

The county board of education will plan the details of the northwest Lansing school consolidation election when it meets Tuesday night in Mason.

Petitioners in Windemere, Stoner, Bretton Woods, Millet and Holbrook ask for the consolidation. If the proposition is approved the new school district would serve 2,500 pupils, making it the largest district in the county outside of Lansing.

Originally some of the districts expressed a desire to join the Lansing system but balked when they were told they had to annex politically in order to join the Lansing school system.

Petitions have been filed in some of the areas to annex politically. These will not be placed before the voters until the November election.

Some of the area in the proposed consolidated school district is in Eaton and Clinton counties. The bulk of the area is in Ingham, though, so the Ingham county board will set up the election machinery.

Votes from all 5 districts will be counted together to decide the issue. In order to pass, a majority of the votes must be cast for consolidation.

Rites Scheduled For Mrs. B. H. Field

Mrs. Manie E. Field, 82, died at Holt nursing home Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Field was taken to the nursing home a week ago.

The Aurelius woman was born in Ohio June 15, 1875, and came to Aurelius township with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Orr, when she was a child.

On May 5, 1897, she married Byron F. Field at the Kinneville Methodist church. The Fields spent the last 60 years on Aurelius farms.

Mrs. Field retired last year after serving many years as Ingham County News correspondent. She also was correspondent for Leslie and Eaton Rapids papers.

Survivors, besides the husband are: brother, Parker Orr; and a cousin, Miss Martha Thayer, Mason.

Funeral services for Mrs. Field will be Saturday, March 1, at 2 p. m. at Ball-Dunn funeral home in Mason. Rev. Raymond Norton will officiate. Burial will be at Greenwood cemetery, Aurelius township.

Bearers are Kenneth Lawson, Oscar Verburg, Earl Field, Donald Riddle and Charles Clickner, all Riddle, Jerry Field and Charles Clickner.

Obituary

Rev. Richard E. Bachus
Friends, former parishoners, ministerial brothers and the family of Rev. Richard E. Bachus gathered in the sanctuary of Chelsea Methodist church last Tuesday to express their last respects to this man of whom Rev. Charles Bragg said was a "prince and a great man in Israel."

For over 8 years Rev. Bachus was minister of the Ingham circuit in White Oak township. During this time he often stood at the side of his parishoners when they were stricken with grief and sorrow. He blessed the marriage vows of many couples. He dedicated their children in the name of the Master and on behalf of the Christian church.

Rev. Bachus was a faithful and loyal preacher of the Gospel. He was endowed with great personal charm and all who knew him learned to love him.

Even after his retirement from the active ministry 7 years ago, he continued to answer the call of his church whenever he was asked to do so. On the occasion of his 55th anniversary in the ministry last July, he was named pastor emeritus of the Ingham circuit.

No words, however eloquently spoken or skillfully written, can adequately express the true significance of his life. The community is a richer and finer place in which to live because of the life and the ministry of this man.

Fellow ministers who shared in the memorial services, along with Rev. Bragg who brought the ministerial tribute, were Rev. Shirley Kinde, Rev. Harry Coleman, Rev. Herbert Hichens and Rev. Frank Cowick.

Dr. Leach Speaks At PTA Dinner

Dr. Kent Leach, director of the bureau of school services and associate professor of education from the University of Michigan, was speaker at the Founders Day dinner sponsored by the PTA last Thursday.

Dr. Leach surveyed the Leslie schools in 1956 and made suggestions of improvements.

He commended the school system for adding more elementary music. He said the science laboratory the school has is excellent but there should be at least one more. He suggested additional shop facilities, more science courses and more art.

Mrs. Claude Smith gave a brief talk on the significance of Founders Day. A clarinet ensemble from the music department played several selections. Mrs. William H. Hart was program director.

Directors Complete Deal For Rural Phone Merger

Rural Telephone company with headquarters in Stockbridge finally completed the purchase of People's Mutual Telephone company of Leroy and Locke Saturday.

The merger ran afoul of a temporary circuit court injunction in January when a director of the Webberville company contested the legality of the sale. Albert Costea asked for and received the injunction January 4 but Judge Sam Street Hughes lifted the court ban January 9.

The Stockbridge company acquired the Webberville phone firm on a stock exchange basis.

The Webberville stockholders received 13 shares of Rural Telephone company stock plus a small cash differential for each share of the old stock.

With the addition of the 300 Webberville subscribers the Rural Telephone company serves 1700.

Lawrence Lindemer, president of the firm, set the goal at 2,000 for 1958.

Along with the merger of the companies, the 300 stockholders picked officers for 1958. Lindemer, Norman S. Topping, and Harold Hart were re-elected to the board. Other directors are Leonard G. Keeper, John T. Dancer, Sidney A. Beckwith and Charles H. Webb.

At the board of directors organizational meeting after the election Lindemer was re-elected president, Topping, vice-president; Keeper, secretary; and Mrs. Ora O. Craig, treasurer.

Plans are already underway to convert the newly acquired Webberville exchange to dial phones, Lindemer said.

The Rural Telephone company directors declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on stock issued as of December 1, 1957. The financial report showed that net earnings for the company for 1957 were $1 a share.

Assets of the company prior to Saturday's merger were $363,000. The phone firm serves Stockbridge, Munnith, Fitchburg and Gregory along with the newly acquired Webberville area.

Farm Bureau Discusses Civil Defense Pointers

Russell Rowe led a discussion of What Modern Farmers Should Know About Civil Defense at a meeting of the West Columbia Farm Bureau group recently. The club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rowe with 8 families and 3 guests present.

During the business meeting it was decided to donate to the International Farm Youth Exchange delegate fund.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served refreshments.

Red Cedar Farm Bureau members gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Jason Thursday for their February meeting.

Gladys Jason, woman delegate, gave a report on the civil defense meeting. She also stated that each group is requested to have a bake sale to raise money for kitchen equipment for the building purchased by the Ingham county Farm Bureau. Red Cedar group decided to give $1 per family at the next meeting instead of having a bake sale. One dollar per family was donated for the building fund.

Bette Bowen led the discussion, Civil Defense Becomes a Modern Farm Problem.

The hostess served refreshments at the close of the evening. The next meeting will be Thursday, March 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bowen.

Lions Welcome New Members

Wilmot McDowell and Richard Nelson were accepted for membership in Mason Lions club when their applications were considered Wednesday evening. McDowell is county 4-H club agent and Nelson is a county extension agent.

The club met at Mason Manor. A movie on the St. Lawrence Seaway, provided by the Michigan economic development department, was shown. Robert Ingham ran the projector, which, along with the screen, was provided by Al Rice Chevrolet.

Plans were discussed for the public perch dinner to be staged by the Lions club in March. Profits from the dinner will help fulfill the club's pledge to the hospital fund. Richard Mills is chairman, assisted by Raymond Collier and Jay Day.

Dr. Ted Vander Boll, Jr., and Robert Ware were appointed co-chairmen of the 1958 light bulb sale.

Staying Neat Can Be Fun

An attractive appearance helps provide a happy, positive attitude toward homemaking tasks, according to Coral Morris, Michigan State university extension specialist in home management.

To keep a neat appearance, dress immediately upon arising. This way the little woman avoids becoming the typical "pinhead" housewife in an old wrapper.

Select clothes in becoming colors and in easy-to-care-for fabrics. Look for styles that give freedom of movement while at work but are not so loose as to catch on things.

and carefully tended hands and nails should be a part of her daily beauty routine.

When there is rough, dirty work to do, dip fingers into a soft cake of soap or good hand cream before beginning the task. This will protect the nails and make hands easier to clean when the job is finished.

Housework is strenuous. Bathing frequently and using a deodorant will contribute to making an attractive homemaker.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Ronnie, who left us one year ago March 1. One year—How very long it seems Since I held you close—except in dreams. I miss your smile, your good night kiss. I never thought it could be like this.

"You were my special angel Sent from Heaven above. The Lord smiled down on me And sent an angel to love.

You were my special angel Right from Paradise. I know you were an angel Heaven was in your eyes.

You'll be my special angel Always in memory, I'll have my special angel Thru all eternity."

IN LOVING MEMORY of our little son, Joey, (Jonathan Ruhl) who left us 2 years ago on February 26.

Another year has taken flight Since God took you from here; And many are the loneliness days We've missed you, and shed tears.

Our home can never be the same The new joys come our way. We often sit and wish again. We could have had you stay.

God has been very good to us And sent us Bryan Lee. We wish that you could too enjoy. This new branch on our tree.

We've prayed and asked, if God above Sweet messages does convey. That to your precious little ear He'll tell you of our babe.

We've missed you so, these two past years And wondered many times If in a shorter time than known We shall once more, be joined. Mommy and Daddy

Question: I have one of the older houses, but it is in good shape. I paid $15,000 for it about a year ago. How much should I insure the house for?
Answer: If it was a new house, I would advise that you deduct the amount of the land and insure the house for full value. If it is an older house, I would advise that you insure it for 100% of the price that you can sell it for. An older house might be worth $2,000 per room, but if you have a bad loss, you will have to pay about $3,000 to $4,000 per room to build it back.

Nuns Uninjured In Car Crash

Sister Helen and Sister Immaculate Marie, teachers at St. James Catholic school in Mason almost didn't make classes Saturday morning.

While driving on Phillips road north of Hagadorn the car driven by Sister Immaculate Marie, hit an icy spot, jumped into the ditch, turned over and rolled through a fence.

The nuns were taken to Mason General hospital where they were treated for bruises and scratches and released. The car was badly damaged. They were returning to Mason from East Lansing.

Painters Plan Primitive Show

Primitive paintings by a dozen Michigan artists make up a new exhibition at Michigan State University's Union gallery.

The exhibition, titled "Some Michigan Primitives" is the first at MSU to concentrate on the individualistic art forms created by relatively untutored painters. It will be open daily through March 11 from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., including week ends.

Primitive painting is perhaps best known to most Americans through the work of Grandma Moses.

This style dates from the time of Henri Rousseau, a French customs agent who 50 years ago took up painting as an avocation and through his untaught efforts created a highly individual style.

A number of these artists, some of whom took up painting late in life, have worked and are working under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Seitz of Clare. Mrs. Seitz attended Michigan State where she studied art.

The Michigan artists included are: Grace McArthur, Rosebush; Edith West Pilkinton, Portland; Sali Franz, Saginaw; Stella LaMott, Leslie; Bertha Gardiner, Harrison; Ruth Blanchard, Donna Dunlap, Sam Sherwood and Lucille Williams, all of Clare; Leonard Kesi and Jack Sures, East Lansing; and Husted Meyer, Leland.

Several of these artists are grandmothers. Others were unable to take up painting earlier in life because of the demands of their work.

Owners of Boats Must Register

Starting Saturday, March 1, Michigan residents using boats or watercraft of any nature over 16 feet in length, and all motor-propelled craft (inboard or outboard) regardless of length, will be required to register their craft with the Michigan department of state.

The new law is designed to help curb theft, and the reckless operation of boats. Registration of the boat, with the requirement that the boat's registration number must be placed in 3-inch high letters (painted or otherwise) on both sides of the bow of the craft, should materially assist law enforcement officers in tracking down stolen boats for return to their owners; and should also aid the officers in identifying violators of boating regulations and marine laws. The new law provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to operate watercraft under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotics; or for any person to operate a watercraft in a manner such as to endanger the life and property of any person.

The registration will be applied for on a special application form prepared by the secretary of state and available through the designated branch offices of the secretary of state, sheriff's departments, and marine dealers. The registration fee is $2.00 and upon receipt of the registration application and fee, the department will process the form, return the registration certificate and assign a registration number.

Provisions are also made in the new law for the proper procedure to be followed in the case of watercraft accidents. The owner of any boat or craft operated upon any of the waterways of Michigan shall be personally responsible for any damage resulting from a wake created by negligent operation.

The new law also makes clear that no watercraft shall have in tow, a person on water skis, water sled, surfboard, or other similar contrivance after dark—that time being during the period one hour after sunset to one hour prior to sunrise. In addition, any person who permits himself to be towed shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Church Officers Meet

Officers of the Mason Presbyterian church will meet for breakfast Sunday morning for the second class in the role of the church at the local level. A series of 9 Sunday morning sessions will run through the spring and summer. Church trustees and members of the board of elders are attending the classes.

DANSVILLE EGGS are nourishing Governor G. Mennen Williams and his family. Mrs. Warren Mueller of Dansville is shown presenting Farmer Mueller's eggs to the governor to reward him for signing a proclamation making March "Michigan Egg Month." With the governor and Mrs. Mueller are Arthur T. Neilson of Rockford, executive director of Michigan Allied Poultry Industries, Inc., and Luther G. Klager of Bridge-water, the organization's president.

Letters to Editor

City's Capital Improvement

A certain man has a right to voice his claims, but we on the council wish that he had continued and mentioned 4 others because we were unanimous in our decisions in reference to the southwest sewerage problem this past year.

The edict of the state department of health makes it imperative that we in Mason meet our sewerage and water problems. Any work that the city has done is a capital improvement for the people of that area.

We, on the council, always welcome any suggestions that anyone in the community will give to us.

Doesburg Letters Are Read

I want to tell you how much I enjoy the letters to the editor. In fact, they are usually the first thing I read, especially Mr. Doesburg's letter.

Mr. Dodge wrote last week that he missed Mr. Doesburg's letter since he quit last year. I for one am glad he didn't. I certainly enjoy them. I'm just one of the few who believe that if it hadn't been for Mr. Doesburg's devoted interest in the killer of Mr. and Mrs. Herrick wouldn't have been caught.

Mr. Dodge also wrote about innocent people being killed by people who have heart attacks or fainting spells while driving. Look how many people die from speeding, and the new death trap cars.

A story I read recently about

A NEIGHBOR

Harry on Cigaret Smoking

Who could have missed seeing or reading the letters to the editor in last week's paper, big bold type, a good shot of ink, and plenty of good horse sense in the letters. And thanks to the editor for all the space he gave.

In the editor's editorial, and in a letter from Roy Dodge, they dealt with that little rascal they call the cigaret. The editor says, "sin is in the selling." Mr. Dodge says that in the cigaret law is antique. Well I will hop on the wagon and ride along with them until they kick me off.

Here is just my way of looking at our modern day cigaret smoking. If you don't smoke a cigaret don't start. But if you do, I want you to smoke, smoke, smoke another cigaret. Why? Ten years ago or more our legislators enacted a law taxing cigarets 3c per pack. Maybe at this late date there might be $50,000,000 in the pot. This was an emergency bill. The boys have all been paid, so if you and I smoke, smoke, smoke another cigaret for the next 10 years, and no wars, they could have better than $100,000,000.

Another reason why I ask those that do smoke to smoke, smoke, smoke another cigaret. In WASHINGTON, D. C.—SENATOR POTTER PLANS FOR ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY VOYAGE OF MAYFLOWER II. Mr. Henry Hornblower, President of Plimoth Plantation which owns the famous replica of the Pilgrim ship, discusses a Great Lakes Tour for the vessel with Senator Charles E. Potter, Republican of Michigan, and Messrs. Aurey Sirohpaal of Grand Rapids and Frank Davis of Bay City, members of the Mayflower steering committee. At a kickoff meeting held in Senator Potter's office, attended by fourteen Michigan and New York representatives, plans for a possible 1959 voyage geared to opening of the Seaway, got under way.

shoot the butt, and letting the last whiff of smoke out into the vestibule, I don't know what you and I could do about that. Maybe a shakedown now and then would load a school bus, with the feminine cork tips, or the filtered type, let alone the regulars.

With our PTA, Teen-Agers clubs, and many other organizations, have you ever heard any of them make a real issue of this serious matter? I don't think you have. I have not. But it is high time someone acts. It does not require laws. It takes horse sense, strict management, and discipline with teeth in it. So I think I will take that kid's cigaret so he will smoke one less.

HARRY H. DOESBURG, Stockbridge

Changes Were Prophesied

I was much interested in H. J. Evjue's letter, and I agree with the heading, "Marvelous Changes Impend." But surely it was no confidence that all the scientific knowledge came suddenly in this generation, just in time for Jesus' prophecy to be fulfilled: "Nation shall rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom and there will be famines and pestilences and earthquakes in different places."

Never before could this have been possible because of a lack of communication, transportation, etc.

This was to be the sign of Christ's presence, when He would sit on His throne and begin ruling, mist God's enemies, separating the Wheat from the Chaff.

No need to wonder, "What's this world coming to?" for it is recorded for us in God's word, the Holy Bible.

One world has gone down, but Noah and his family came out on good old "Terra Firma," and as Peter says at 2 Peter 3:13: People are willingly ignorant that God destroyed a world full of wicked people and the world that now is, has been reserved for the destruction of ungodly ones to

On the Road to Barbarism

Out of the "Bowl of Brass," the modern cauldron of national and international confusion of ideas and thinking, a few courageous and clear thinking minds raise their voices in solemn warnings and exhortations as to the nature of the present wild party at "Vanity Fair," and what undoubtedly will take place the coming day. Writes Dr. Pitirim Sorokin, dean of the department of sociology at Harvard: "All values are unsettled, all norms are broken. Mental, moral, esthetic and social anarchy reigns supreme. 'Crisis' is omnipresent and involves almost the whole of culture and society from top to bottom."

"The world has slowly grown accustomed to symptoms of moral decay. One misses the elementary reaction against injustice and for justice—that reaction which in the long run, represents man's only protection against relapse into barbarism." So remarked Dr. Albert Einstein.

We are moving, we are living, in a strange and dangerous time. We are threatened from without and from within. We are well aware of the nature and methods of the internal obstructionists and social and economic enemies who work within our social order, and they will have to be restrained in the near future in order that our democratic institutions may survive.

In a shrinking world we are being observed and scrutinized from hundreds of observation points. The manner in which the United States conducts its own household, will to a large extent, determine the world's economic and social pattern for the future.

The pattern we are following at present is neither edifying, inspiring or economically or socially sound or healthy. The social symptoms of the basic and chronic disease itself, which is economic and political, are terrific. During every 24-hour period 480 mental patients are committed to hospitals in the United States, 288 of them never leave alive, 1,000 divorces have been granted. Our divorce rate is 6 times that of Canada, 3 1/2 times that of England and 3 times that blame rest for all these human eruptions that are filling the city morgues and police blotters of America? Who's going to take the blame for the "killings" of the last 40 years? Society? The economic system? A world whose moral standards have been blown sky-high by war?

To the sons and daughters of this Republic, we would like to sound a warning, it is later than you realize, begin to think.

H. J. EVJUE, Leslie

Riding the Bus

I came to Phoenix by bus. It was a beautiful day when I left Lansing. It was rather a rough trip the next morning. The brakes gave out and held us up a couple of hours. The next morning we were left in the dark out in the country on the highway. The motor refused to work. We had to wait until another bus came to pick us up.

We were 4 1/2 hours late getting to Albuquerque. So we all washed up, got some refreshments and started for Flagstaff. The heat went off so we were cold. I was glad I took my overcoat along. A woman and I were the only ones in our bus who were going to Phoenix. The rest were headed for the Rose Bowl football game.

Here I am sitting in front of my house on a beautiful green lawn. It's a swell day, very warm. The trees are starting to leaf out.

There are many Michigan people here in the valley of the sun. There were 135 at the last Michigan club meeting.

Vice-President Richard Nixon was here last week. The gathering was in the evening. There were about 5,000 spectators. He told them about everything that went wrong in this administration. I presume he will be telling us that this recession, that is in full swing, is the fault of Democrats.

The big day will be the 13th of March when we will have a parade here and also a big parade. The last week before the parade people are supposed to dress western. Those that don't are fined, and of course the fines all go for a good cause.

Red Cross Presents Entertainment

Ingham chapter of the American Red Cross is sponsoring the appearance of the U. S. Navy Bluejackets choir in Lansing Saturday night, March 1.

Blood donors, volunteer workers and contributors to Red Cross or the Community Chest are invited to a free evening's entertainment in Lansing Sexton high school auditorium.

The navy choir plus a group of local performers will appear in a special variety show being produced by Mrs. David Muehle under the sponsorship of the Ingham County Red Cross chapter.

There will be no charge for the performance which starts at 8:00 since public spirited organizations and individuals are paying all expenses.

Red Cross is arranging the show as part of "Operation Appreciation," a theme for the month of March when Red Cross thanks those who supported its program of service in the past.

Among those sponsoring the choir are Mason and Cass caterers by Gust and Steve Mellios; the Lansing Association of Insurance Agents in memory of Eugene N. Houck, former association president and active Red Cross volunteer; Oldsmobile division of General Motors Corporation; Howard Sober; Lansing board of education; and several others.

This little girl is one of the thousands of Americans who stay alive because their fellow citizens give their blood through the Red Cross. At the time the picture was taken, Cathy had received 85 transfusions for a bleeding condition.

Manufacturers Make Reply On Car Pricing Schedules

Three automobile companies who received letters from Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain on car prices and taxes have replied. He has heard from American Motors, Chrysler and Ford. He also wrote to Walter Reuther, UAW president.

In his letters the sixth district congressman urged: Extension for a year of the current UAW contracts with management; a re-evaluation of automotive price structures by the manufacturers; and repeal of the automotive excise tax.

George Romney, president of American Motors, replied, "We have been studying the causes of the present business decline insofar as they are ascertainable. We believe that the fundamental cause of the drop in automobile sales is the excess concentration of power in both industry and the union. The result of this excess concentration has been to force labor costs and consequently prices to such high levels that buyers are postponing car purchases."

"Furthermore, in our opinion, this excess concentration has resulted in a lack of product competition with the Big Three automobile manufacturers offering excessively bulky and costly vehicles. This point of view is expressed more fully in my recent statement to the senate subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly."

L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler, wrote: "Concerning automotive excise taxes, as you know the automobile industry has consistently opposed the singling out of the automobile for a discriminatory tax burden. We have never been willing to accept the concept that a product as essential to the progress and growth of our nation's economy should be treated the same tax-wise as are luxury items."

Henry Ford II replied to Congressman Chamberlain that he is taking the suggestions up with his colleagues and will come up with an answer soon.

Munith School Contract Let

By Mrs. Helen Beeman

The board of education of the Stockbridge Community schools voted to go ahead with the construction of a 6-room addition to the Elton Katz Elementary school at Munith.

At its meeting Monday evening the board awarded the contract to Nordstrom-Meyers of Lansing on the base bid of $93,624.00, less Alternate GC 2 of $1,182.00.

Missionary Group Studies Rivers

Phyllis Anderson was hostess to the Baptist Woman's Missionary Society Monday evening. Connie Anderson played some Gospel records. Psalms were read and prayer was offered by Esther Lombard.

The program theme for the evening was "Navigable Rivers." Marcella Cobb and Ethel Robeson were the readers and Phyllis Anderson, the drummer. Emma Lou Pomrenke took the part of the Haitian woman and was dressed accordingly. A brief historical and geographical sketch of Haiti was given. The work of a native convert reaching throughout Latin America was pictured.

Esther Smith had the reports read. The Secretary, Chardoris Frinkel, gave the minutes of the last meeting. Marie Rockwell stated in her report that dues for 25 members had been paid to the association.

Abbie Roepcke received notes of appreciation from the Christian center in Oklahoma and from Formosa for materials sent to them.

The quilt, given by Pearl Pierce and completed by the society, was given to a needy family in the locality.

Attention was given to the Missions Magazine Subscription Club.

Tentative plans were made for the meeting next month. Mrs. Bruce Moulton and Mrs. John Henderson, interpreters from Jackson First Baptist church, will be contacted.

Luda Marshall brought the new program packet to the attention of the women. She also gave some information concerning the love gift offering given by association last year. The total of $1,183.93 exceeded the goal which was set at $900.

The board also voted to delete some items and accept certain changes in construction suggested by the architect to adjust the final contract to the amount of $82,702.00, exclusive of architects fees.

Construction is to start on March 3 and the completion date is the middle of August so that the new rooms will be available for the opening of school in September.

Money for the construction is available in the building and site fund except for the architects fees. It will be necessary to transfer the amount of the fee from the general fund, to the building and site fund.

Reception at Wheatfield Honors Newlywed Couple

A reception Saturday evening at Wheatfield Gleaner hall honored Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Pless, newlyweds. The couple was wed at Walled Lake on February 3. Mrs. Pless is the former Janet Every. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Every, gave the reception.

White and silver bells decorated the hall for the occasion. White tapers in crystal candlesticks flanked the 4-tiered wedding cake which centered the white linen-covered serving table. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and decorated with pink roses. The bride's sister, Mrs. Wayne Engle, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Wayne Every, made the wedding cake. Mrs. Robert Every poured coffee and Mrs. Gerald Pulver presided at the tea service. Both are cousins of the bride. Seventy-five guests signed the register. Mrs. Earl Otis, aunt of the bride, assisted with reception plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Pless are making their home at 811 B Cherry Lane, East Lansing. Mr. Pless is a student in the school of police administration at Michigan State university and his wife works in the registrar's office.

Wedding Reception Fetes Lansing Singer, Musician

The Tice House was the scene of a wedding reception Sunday honoring newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coakley of Lansing. The bride, formerly Melba Jean Anteliff, sings with local orchestras, and her husband plays the saxophone in the Earl Henry orchestra. February 14 was their wedding day.

Mr. and Mrs. Kester C. Anteliff, parents of the bride, gave the reception. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Coakley of Stockbridge.

One hundred sixty attended the reception from Ionia, Belding, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Haslet, Stanton, Gregory, Saranac, Dimondale and Lansing.

Special guests were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Alzina Chadwick of Saranac and Mrs. Elsie Heppie of Ionia.

Mrs. Robert Anteliff made the 4-tiered pedestal cake for her niece's wedding reception. It was decorated with shaded roses. Miss Joan Dalton of Stanton and Mrs. Kester Anteliff, Jr., of Jackson cut and served the cake. Mrs. Richard Kelley of Lansing poured punch. Kay Lee Coakley, daughter of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Tice, cousins of the bride, acted as hosts.

Rebekah Coterie Stages Meeting

Fifteen members and 2 guests attended Rebekah Coterie meeting at the home of Mrs. Hoiden Stiles Monday evening. The group played pedro during the evening with prizes going to Mrs. Mable Wells and Mrs. Clarence Eifer. Mrs. Vern Collier received the door prize and Mrs. C. R. Beebe won the white elephant.

Mrs. Collier assisted Mrs. Stiles in serving apple pie with cheese and tea.

Mrs. Mable Briggs of College road will entertain Coterie members for their next meeting Monday, March 10. They will have a potluck dinner at noon.

4-H Sponsored Hoe-Down Uses International Theme

The countywide Hoe-Down Saturday evening at Mason high school gym was attended by 350 persons. The family party was sponsored by the 4-H Service club. Admission fee was a 2-cent pie per family and a donation in the kitty to cover ice cream expenses.

Chairmen of the event were Max Benne, Suzanne Thompson and John Coy. They planned a special international feature for intermission featuring International Foreign Youth Exchange delegates, foreign guests and 2 skits.

One skit showed Max Benne, IFYE delegate to Denmark last year, going through customs. The other depicted what Suzanne Thompson might encounter on her first date in Germany, where she will go next summer as an IFYE delegate.

Two Swedish couples and 2 Burnese men were present, dressed in native costume. They gave brief talks. Several IFYE delegates spoke briefly, slides were shown and articles from the countries were displayed.

Twenty-five attending took the suggestion made in the announcement and dressed in foreign costume. Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot

Rocks Beat Mason With Big Barrage

Mason spotted Resurrection too much of a lead Friday night. The Rocks ended up in front 79-65 in a free scoring contest.

Resurrection is tied with Holt for first place in the Capital Circuit with an 8-1 record.

The tie won't last long, though.

Friday night at Lansing Eastern the Rams and Rocks will fight to the finish in the final game of the season. The winner will pick up all the chips. The loser will drop back and join the rest of the pack.

Mason will wind up the season at Howell Friday. The Bulldogs are favored to add a victory and finish with a 4-6 record good enough for fourth place in the final standings.

The Bulldogs couldn't have picked a poorer night to take on Resurrection. Gary Fewless was even hotter than he was the first time the teams met. He swished 15 shots from out on the floor and added 3 free throws in 3 attempts to post a 33-point total. The last time Resurrection and Mason met Fewless scored 31 points.

It wasn't a one-man show for the Rocks, though. Doug Watters and Sam Eyde saved their best games for Mason, too.

Resurrection moved in front 19-16 in the first quarter. When the half ended the Shamrock lead had grown to 41-23.

Fewless started hitting on every shot in the third quarter and in spite of a 21-point surge by Mason the Rocks added 2 more points to their total.

Mason kept firing at the basket and pored 3 points off the Resurrection lead before the game ended.

The happiest note in the Mason camp was the return to action of Larry Wheeler. The Mason center was a little rusty after his 3-week layoff but should round into shape in time for the district tourneys.

Bruce Horton played one of his best games for Mason. He scored 8 field goals and 8 out of 8 free throws for 21 points and the Mason scoring lead. Jerry Willis was next with 13. Willis couldn't find the range until the second half. Tom Clipper had even rougher luck. He finished with 10 points.

Watters bagged 18 points and Eyde followed with 13. Resurrection scored 10 more field goals than Mason did.

The Howell game will be the final regular season appearance for Larry Wheeler, Dart Stone, Dennis Whipple, Mike Trudeau, Tom Clipper, Rod Caltrider, Bill Dietz and Mike Holbrook.

COME DANCE WITH ME—Apparently forgetting about the game, Syracuse Nats' Togo Palazzi rocks 'n' rolls to a private jive session in New York's Madison Square Garden. Actually, Palazzi is trying to wrestle the ball away from New York's Charlie Tyra. In the background are the Nats' Dolph Shays (4) and the Knicks' Willie Naulls (0).

Rams Take Vikings 38-35 In Spite of Bad Playing

Holt looked far from a world-beater Thursday night in posting a 38-35 decision over Everett.

Holt, plagued with injuries and sickness most of the year, expects to be in good shape Friday night. Don Livensberger, in and out of the lineup all season, is well again and should be ready to go.

All Holt has to do to win the championship is stop the eagle-eye shooting of Gary Fewless and find someone to give Doug Watters a battle on the backboards. The 2 Rocks are the key to Coach Paul Cook's success this year.

Against Everett Holt fired away with 64 shots, just about par for the course. The Rams will have to sink more than 14 when they meet Resurrection. That's just about the number of field goals Fewless usually puts in by himself.

Lloyd Bardsley gave Holt trouble Thursday night. The big Everett center scored 44 field and 8 free throws to pace the leaders Friday night at Lansing Eastern.

Both teams had trouble finding the range in the Lansing Section gym. The Rams scored 14 field goals and Everett dropped in only 11.

The victory might not be decisive but it did just as good a job for the Rams as if they had scored 3 times as many points.

The win brought the Rams a tie for first place with Resurrection and set the stage for the blue ribbon game between the set for 43 points in the first 2 quarters. At the end of the half Williamson led 43-23.

The Hornets went along with bench strength in the last half and added still more to their lead.

Eleven Williamson players contributed to the scoring. Gubry was high with 20 and Rathburn scored 16.

Bill Tesch topped the Fowlerville squad with 13 points.

Chieftains Win Contest Easily

Okemos moved one notch closer to a share of the Ingham County league title Friday night by stopping Leslie 76-66. Leslie just didn't have the weapons to compete with the fired-up Chiefs.

Ted Warner never looked better for Okemos. He swished 8 shots from the floor and bagged 12 out of 16 free throws for a 28 point total.

Joe Luttrell was next for the Chiefs with 12 points.

The game was over before it hardly started. In the first 2 quarters the Chiefs rolled to a 45-13 lead. Leslie came back in the third quarter to cut some of the edge off the Okemos advantage but in the last quarter the Chiefs went on the warpath again and shoved the score out of sight of the struggling Blackhawks.

Leslie didn't have a player in the double figures.

Okemos will finish out the season Friday night at Fowlerville. The Chiefs must win this one in order to earn a share of the Ingham County league title.

It may be rather crowded at the top. Stockbridge has already grabbed one leg of the trophy. Haslett and Okemos have good chances of joining the Panthers.

Leslie will provide the opposition for Haslett Friday night in the finale. The way Okemos swamped the Blackhawks, it will take a complete reversal of form to save Leslie from another drubbing by Haslett.

Viking attack John Sesney followed him with 10.

Everett moved in front 11-10 in the first quarter but Holt came on in the second to take a 21-19 lead. The Rams added 2 more points to the margin in the third quarter and then fought off the Vikings in the fourth with ball control tactics.

Dick Chapman topped the Holt attack with 15 and Dave Carpenter added 10.

Playoff Sites Shifted

District Tourneys Take Spotlight

With tournament time just around the corner Capital Circuit and Ingham County league teams are already buzzing with tourney talk. Tourney sites are shifted this year to make room for the new class A district playoffs.

Toughest Class B tournament is slated for East Lansing. Resurrection, Everett and Mason will join East Lansing.

Mason and Everett are both in over their heads. Resurrection lost only one game and looks better each time out while East Lansing is rated as one of the top basketball teams in the state.

The Bulldogs and the Vikings are counting on pulling surprises. The 2 underdogs take heart in the fact that the best teams don't always look that when tournament play starts.

The Class C bracket at East Lansing will feature some top teams, too. Okemos and Haslett are in it along with Williamson and Fowlerville.

The Lakers and Chieftains are apt to meet in a replay of their season closer Friday night. Williamson can't be counted out either. The Hornets have a high scoring outfit capable of upsetting the best of them. Fowlerville will have a hard row to hoe.

Over at Dansville the Aggies will be host to a Class D tourney.

MASON DRAWS GIANTS
How good is East Lansing? Mason will find out the answer to that question in its Class B tournament bid Wednesday night. The Bulldogs drew the Trojans for the 8:30 contest. East Lansing has a victory string of 15 straight and is rated as one of the state's top teams. Mason scammed the Trojans before the season started, though, and didn't look too bad.

The Aggies will be the favored team. Pottersville, Dimondale and Webberville have had only mediocre seasons this year.

Stockbridge will run a 6-team Class C tourney for the district.

Manchester and Stockbridge are the teams with the best regular season records. Other schools are Leslie, Chelsea, Pinckney and Springport.

Last year Manchester tripped up Stockbridge in the district finals and both teams have almost the same crews back. The Manchester team's offense is built around a 6-6 center.

Leslie, the other Ingham county league team in the running, has a rough tournament assignment. Holt and St. Mary will fight their district battles at Lansing Sexton. The Class C tourney there will toss Boys Vocational, Langsbury, Holt and St. Mary into the pit.

The Rams and Big Blues are the favored teams.

Along with the Class C bracket there will also be a Class D district title at stake.

Tomlinson Fights His Way To State Heavyweight Title

Mason's Alan Tomlinson accomplished Saturday night what he couldn't do last year. He won the Michigan state heavyweight Golden Gloves title.

Tomlinson drew a bye at Grand Rapids Friday night. In the semifinals he had trouble with Homer Trimble of Bay City but managed a decision. In the finals Saturday night he disposed of Vernon Starr of Flint.

Last year Tomlinson won the Lansing district title but lost in the state finals.

The state tourney win helped the Lansing Golden Gloves to their first state title.

Saturday night, March 15, Lansing will entertain the state tournament of Golden Gloves champions. The Grand Rapids winners will take on the Detroit champs in both novice and open classes.

Tomlinson was one of 5 Mason fighters who started out 3 weeks ago under the training of Dr. O. K. Pauley, Gene Hall, Ken Brown and Frank O'Berry were eliminated in opening fights. Doug Lamke lost out in the district finals.

Last year Gary Caltrider earned a state title at Grand Rapids. A bad nose kept him out of action this year.

Racing Ace Will Speak

A highway safety program, which will have been presented to nearly a million students in 1,400 high schools throughout the country by early spring, will be given to Mason students Wednesday, March 5, by an Indianapolis Speedway race driver.

Rodger Ward, who began his career in 1946 after flying P-38's in World War II and has raced in the famed Indianapolis Speedway classic 7 times, will conduct the lecture-demonstration. He is one of a team of 7 race drivers visiting the nation's schools with illustrated talks and a racing film, flannel-board demonstrations selections from racing experiences and comparing race track situations to highway driving.

Ward will, upon request, give student cars a safety inspection, advising on detection of functional defects that could lead to traffic accidents.

GLOBETROTTERS DUE
The Harlem Globetrotters will demonstrate their basketball tricks Wednesday night at Lansing Civic Center.

Panthers Win Title Share With 10-2 Season Record

Stockbridge finished its Ingham County league basketball schedule Friday night on the happy side. The Panthers took Dansville 60-48 and earned at least a share of the title.

The Panthers have 2 weeks to prepare for the district tournaments.

Dansville has one more game to go on the regular schedule. The Aggies will play at Williamson Friday before thinking about their tournament chances.

The Aggies will be in Class D again this year and will have the advantage of playing on their own floor for the district tournament.

Dimondale, Webberville and Pottersville will fight it out with Dansville for district honors.

Stockbridge, playing heads up ball all the way, left nothing to chance against Dansville. The Panthers finished with a 10-2 record in league play.

Now all Stockbridge has to do is sit back and await the outcome of the Haslett-Leslie and Okemos-Fowlerville games. If both Haslett and Okemos win the Panthers, Chiefs and Lakers will have to share the title. Chances are slim that Stockbridge can end up on top all alone.

Paul Spadafore and Pat Long were the top performers for Stockbridge against Dansville. Spadafore scored 17 points and Long added 16.

The Wireman brothers again surprised Dansville. Charlie bagged 13 and Glen contributed 10.

After a close first quarter Stockbridge spurred to a 31-19 lead at the end of the half and then coasted home.

If Dansville could have done better on free throws it might have been a different story. Both teams scored 22 field goals but Stockbridge bagged 16 out of 23 from the foul line while Dansville managed only 4 out of 15.

Hornets Sting Fowlerville With 72-38 Scoring Spree

Williamston never looked better than it did Friday night in whipping Fowlerville 72-38. The Hornets could do no wrong.

The victory gave Williamston a 5-6 record. Fowlerville is now far behind with a 2-9 count. Both teams have one more game to go.

The Gladiators will close the season against Okemos. The Chiefs will be out for blood so it is apt to be a rough night for Fowlerville.

Okemos must win in order to earn a share of the Ingham County league title.

Williamston will close out the season with Dansville. The Hornets have fourth place sewed up regardless of the outcome of the Aggie contest.

Against Fowlerville Friday night the Hornets scored enough points in the first half to win the game. With Chuck Gubry and Dick Rathburn pointing the way the Hornets bombarded the bas-

Junior Cagers Split 4 Games

Mason's junior high cagers are closing out the season with a rush.

In action Friday and Tuesday Mason accumulated a 2-2 record. Friday the Charlotte seventh and eighth grade teams beat Mason's contingent. Tuesday Mason took 2 games from St. Johns.

The final games of the season are scheduled for Stockbridge Friday afternoon.

Over at Charlotte the seventh graders lost 31-21. Mason was in front with some good first-half play but hit a cold streak in the second half and the Orioles went out in front.

Jim Phillips topped the Mason attack with 6 points, his lowest output for the season. Danny Ayers added 5 and Roger Harkness and John Kosier scored 4 each.

At St. Johns Mason put on a 2nd-quarter spurt which turned out to be good enough for the 29-16 victory. Phillips was back on the beam for the St. Johns game. He scored 12 points. Jim Bullen also made 12.

The eighth graders had the same problem as the seventh graders at Charlotte. They just couldn't find the range. The Charlotte eighth graders ended up on the long end of a 33-23 score.

Dean Dudley topped the Mason scorers with 12 points. Dave Arnold, usually a good point-maker, was shut out completely.

At St. Johns Arnold fared much better. He led Mason to a 37-26 win with 15 points. Tom Coss added 11. Mason led all the way.

4-H Leaders Plan Meeting For Celebration Kickoff

Kickoff for National 4-H Club week, March 1-8, is the 4-H Leader's meeting, a get-together for 300 local 4-H club members representing every county in Michigan.

Seven leaders from Ingham county go to the Michigan State University campus for the second annual 4-H Leader's meeting, reports Wilmot McDowell, county 4-H Club agent.

Those attending are Mrs. Kenneth Waite, Williamston; Mrs. Rolland DeKett, Eaton Rapids; Mrs. Hershell Head, Williamston; Mrs. Walter Kranz, Mason; Almon Lathrop, Stockbridge; Dallas Hyde, Mason; and June Taylor, Stockbridge.

Purposes of the leader's meeting are to provide discussion on 4-H leadership, to give local leaders recognition, to exchange ideas and to give local leaders inspiration.

The two day meeting is sponsored by the State 4-H Council, the cooperative extension service and the Michigan 4-H Club Foundation.

The leader's meeting opens Saturday morning, March 1, with Paul Miller, director of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, in charge. Afternoon keynote speaker is John Mount, assistant to the president at Ohio State University.

4-H'ers Learn Beef Business

Experiences gained from a 4-H Club beef project can help boys and girls in later life.

During National 4-H club week, March 1-8, 4-H'ers planning a beef project for the coming spring and summer begin organizing their activities.

Becoming skilled in cattle feeding and management are important phases of this project, points out Wilmot McDowell, club agent. Club members learn to feed calves so they economically convert farm forage and grains into beef.

They also learn principles of judging and selection of beef animals.

Principles learned in the selection of a few animals can later help the member choose his own herd.

Club members become acquainted with the financial side of beef production through purchasing the calf, feed and equipment; marketing the calf and keeping a careful record of all expenses and income.

Besides learning beef management practices, 4-H boys and girls have an opportunity to compete with others at fairs, shows and contests. They also learn to get along with people through club meetings and other 4-H activities.

Jerry Allen, Dansville; Bill Tower, Dexter Trail; Douglas Wilson, Stockbridge; Dan English, Mason; Charles Palmer, Leslie; Paul Keck, Williamston; Don Andrews, East Lansing; and Dick Dickinson of Okemos, are good examples of Ingham county 4-H'ers who successfully completed the beef project last year, McDowell said.

Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Dickinson, was selected as the outstanding 4-H beef feeder in Michigan last year. Dick won a week's trip to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago last fall with his beef project.

Girls Acquire Buying Skills

Sewing skill is only a part of the accomplishment in a 4-H clothing project today. Buying fitting and wearing clothes receive equal emphasis, according to Mrs. Shirley Goering, home demonstration agent, 4-H.

Club girls learn to select ready-made clothes in styles and colors that are suited to their personal coloring and figure. By learning to sew, the girls can recognize good construction in ready-mades.

Good grooming is important, too. For a good appearance the girls learn to keep themselves and their clothes looking trim.

Clothing projects offer girls opportunities in getting along with themselves as well as others, building pride in their work and developing self-confidence. Being able to sew also gives members an opportunity to have more clothes than if ready-mades were bought for the same amount of money, points out Mrs. Goering.

Diane Felton of the White Oak club and Ruth Ann Kahres of the Gunn club were outstanding in their clothing work last year. They were chosen from 500 clothing girls to exhibit their complete costumes at the 1957 state fair dress revue in Detroit. Ruth Ann won a scholarship to Michigan State University through her club work.

Lessons Include Family Happiness

Creating happiness within the family is one of the first things girls learn when they take part in the family living project, according to Mrs. Shirley Goering, home demonstration agent.

Happiness within families has to be created. Every member of the family needs to do something about it. Boys and girls in the family living project learn to think in terms of "What is my part in making my home a happy place?" This thinking helps them fit their own needs and wishes into the general family plan.

Project members learn how to budget their time by finding out how they spend their time and then deciding how they should be spending it.

They also learn how to save time when helping take care of their home, explained Mrs. Goering. Demonstrations show them how they can dust faster by using both hands, long strokes and covering the surface only once.

Nancy Haight, Webberville, is an outstanding Ingham county member who successfully completed the family living project last year. She received an "A" at the 1957 Ingham county fair and an "A" at the state 4-H show.

Winter Provides Better Fishing

Ice fishermen heard encouraging news from Paul H. Eschmeyer, assistant director of the Institute for Fisheries Research at the University of Michigan.

A current research project shows that the winter catch from at least one Michigan lake is far superior to the harvest during the longer summer season.

Subject of the study and the findings were Houghton Lake where an estimated 70,600 ice fishermen took 250,000 fish during the 3 winter months last year. In those same waters 126,000 summertime anglers only caught 174,000 fish from June through September.

Pike, blue-gills, perch, black crappies, large-mouth bass and walleyes accounted for the major portion of the catch each season. A similar study was conducted at Craig Lake near Coldwater several years ago and produced the same findings.

GRAINS HOLD STEADY

Grain futures have ranged from steady down to weak in Chicago this week. Soybeans have been showing strength.

Steady Growth

Youngsters Boost 4-H Membership

Four-H is big business in Ingham county. This winter there are 1,592 boys and girls enrolled in projects ranging from livestock to flower gardens. To organize and instruct these youngsters there are 295 volunteer local leaders and they're assisted by 113 junior leaders.

During 1957 boys and girls completed 3,100 projects. Five years ago the yearly total was 2,265. The 4-H program has steadily grown and now encompasses youngsters who live in cities as well as in the country.

Mac McDowell, county 4-H club agent, said even further strides in club growth will be experienced this year. He cited the new electrical club which is televised weekly from Lansing. Right now, membership in the TV series is 550.

There are 110 4-H clubs in Ingham and 33 of them are community 4-H clubs.

The 4-H program is regarded as one of the strongest youth organizations. In many communities, club activities have the active interest of both adults and youngsters.

There's a club activity to interest nearly anyone. McDowell said that community groups interested in forming 4-H clubs should see him for details.

There are 4-H clubs in Ingham with these projects: Corn, small grain, potatoes, vegetable and commercial gardening, flower gardening, hogs, dairy, beef, sheep, horse, poultry, rabbits, handicraft, electricity, conservation, food preparation, canning and freezing, clothing and home improvement, knitting, photography, safety and health, tractors and junior leadership.

EGGS ARE GOING UP

Egg prices will average about the same in March as in February. Farm prices will be in the high 30's and low 40's for Grade A large. Egg prices should average 10c above the same period a year ago until midsummer.

The past is gone, the future is unknown and you have only the hour at hand.

A Sure Sign . . . You're Going Places

We've watched hundreds of Ingham youngsters become useful citizens through the 4-H program . . . we salute the dedicated youngsters who will be tomorrow's top citizens!

Head - Heart - Health - Hands

No other group has higher ideals than a 4-H club . . . That's why the more than 1,500 youngsters who belong to 4-H in Ingham are among America's finest people . . . All of you 4-H boys and girls deserve the appreciation we have for your accomplishments.

Price Support Rates Stay the Same

By CARL COLLIN

Price support rates for 4 feed grain crops will be about the same as in 1957. Oats, rye, barley and sorghum grains will be supported at 70% of parity, as last year. However the actual dollars-and-cents rates will differ, reflecting changes in parity prices.

Actual rates on a national basis will be 61¢ for oats, same as 1957; 93¢ for barley compared with 95¢ last year; $1.10 for rye compared with $1.18, and $1.83 a hundred pounds for sorghum compared with $1.86 last year.

The 1958 rate for soybeans will be unchanged from the 1957 rate of $2.09 a bushel.

The rate for dry beans is set at $6.18 compared with $6.31 in 1957.

Other rates previously announced include wheat at not less than $1.78 a bushel compared with $2.00 last year; wool unchanged at 62¢ lb; milk for manufacturing purposes at $3.00 per hundred pounds compared with $3.25 and butterfat at 55.9¢ compared with 58.6¢ last year.

Cold weather in the south continues to take a toll on winter vegetables. Total harvest now appears about 15% smaller than in 1957. Greatest reductions will be in tomatoes, sweet corn, carrots, snap beans, green peppers, cauliflower and cucumbers. Florida crops have been hit hardest so far. Shipments from that state since December have been less than half those of a year ago.

Present indications are for a 50% decrease in lima bean output this year compared with 1957. Snap beans will be only half of last year's crop, broccoli will be down 17%, brussels sprouts 30%, cauliflower 46%; eggplant down 63%, peppers 64%, strawberries 44% and tomatoes down 70%.

It's interesting to note that the government is advising vegetable growers to reduce output about 5% for snap beans and sweet corn and 10% for green peas. This suggestion to growers is made on the basis of large supplies of canned and frozen snap beans, sweet corn and green peas now available.

California ranked fourth in number of cattle on feed on January 1. Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska headed the list in that order.

Cattle feeding in the west has made tremendous strides in the last 20 decades. While the eastern corn belt doubled its feeding volume, and the western corn belt added three-fourths to its volume in the past 25 years, the west stepped up its feeding of cattle by 3 times the volume. California's feeding has gone up fastest in numbers, according to National Livestock Producers magazine. Its cattle on feed inventory on January 1 was more than 500% above that of 25 years ago.

Feeding of cattle in California apparently is being done on a much bigger scale than in the corn belt generally. Scarcely 1% of the cattle there in January were in small feed lots of less than 100 head. Large feed lots in California are specialized and mechanized. They can handle up to 20,000 or more cattle at a time. They are throwing quite a challenge to midwestern producers who generally operate on a much smaller scale.

Top broiler producing states now are Georgia, Arkansas, North Carolina, Texas and Alabama in that order. It looks as if the commercial areas would boost their output again this year to new record levels. Output of chicks hatched for broiler industry was 11% larger in January than for the same month in 1957. Last year's production for the country was up 6% from 1956, and hatchery output promises to continue to run above year-ago levels in February.

The Iowa chapter of the National Farmers' Organization voted itself out of existence last week. The vote for dissolution ended months of wrangling between state and national officers on whether the organization should merge with the National Farmers' Union. State officers favored the merger, National officers were against such a union.

The number of all hogs on Michigan farms declined to 650,000 on January 1, 1958, compared with 706,000 a year ago.

Sows and gilts declined 2%, pigs under 6 months were off 7%, pigs over 6 months were nearly a fifth under a year ago. A 5% increase in number of sows and gilts on farms throughout the country tends to confirm earlier reports of only a modest increase in the spring pig crop.

Most market people now figure there aren't nearly as many hogs being held back to feed out wet corn as believed. All of which could mean less likelihood of a sharp drop in hog prices next fall. If USDA's estimates are reasonably correct, prices of hogs will be much more dependent on consumer's ability to buy pork next year than on an over-supply of market hogs.

Livestock needs a lot of water every day; 35 gallons per day are needed for each milk cow; 12 per beef cow, dry cow or horse; 4 per hog, 2 per sheep, and 4 per 100 chickens.

Number of turkeys on Michigan farms January 1 was unchanged from a year ago but there were 2,000 fewer breeder hens.

Government has been buying 18% more butter than a year ago to support prices of dairy products.

Chicago corn-hog ratio first half of this month was 17.6, highest on record for February barring only 1947. February last year had a ratio of 13.5, 2 years ago 9.8 and 3 years ago 10.8.

Start Is Easy In Sheep Clubs

Quick returns and low expenses are attractive features to 4-H club members in a sheep project, said Wilmot McDowell, county 4-H club agent.

A sheep project is especially good for youngsters interested in livestock, as the initial investment is not great. Also, lambs are easier for the younger members to handle than larger animal projects.

During national 4-H club week, March 1-8, Ingham county 4-H boys and girls begin planning their sheep projects for spring and summer. Either a breeding or feeding project may be carried out.

A breeding project begins with the purchase of one or more grade or purebred ewes. The project may start anytime before April 1. The feeding project consists of fattening 3 or more lambs to the proper market grade. This year for the first time Ingham county 4-H sheep members can feed lambs to sell at the 1958 fair.

To complete the sheep project, boys and girls should be enrolled in a 4-H club, attend club meetings regularly, exhibit one or more sheep at the Ingham county fair and turn in a completed project report with a story of the project work.

TED DANSBY, manager of Wil-Ru farm at Williamston, gives part of the credit of his herd's production records to such cows as Wil-Ru Burke Nancy. The 4½-year-old cow racked up 15,740 lb of milk and 716 lb of butterfat in a 314-day test period.

Top Herd

It's More Than Just Luck

By M. H. AVERY
County Agricultural Agent

Champions are both born and made at Wil-Ru dairy farm near Williamston. The herd, managed by Ted Dansby for the past 12 years, received top honors as a Dairy Herd Improvement association herd at the 1958 Ingham dairy banquet last month.

There are 110 registered Holsteins on the 540-acre Wil-Ru farm. Dansby is milking 48 cows now and feeds about 50 steers each year.

Many of the Wil-Ru bulls and heifers have joined other Ingham herds. The Nancy cow in the picture above is a daughter of Wil-Ru Admiral King, now at the MAEC barn at East Lansing.

Admiral King was the herd sire at Wil-Ru, but now a son of Admiral is being used.

It takes more than blue blood to make champions. Dansby constantly studies feeding techniques.

Dansby's hay is barn-dried and chopped. During the summer the cows are pastured at night on a rotated pasture, but during the day are kept in the barn and fed chopped grass and all the dry hay they'll eat. Dansby does not put a small amount of grass in the silo to feed when it's too wet to chop from the field or other conditions are not right. The dry hay is kept before the cows during the entire pasture season.

In winter the cows are kept in stanchions but on average days are turned out twice for exercise. The feed during the winter months is barn-dried hay along with silage from 2 upright silos filled with mostly corn silage.

The grain-feeding program includes home-grown feeds made into a 12% protein grain with soybean and cottonseed and a protein. The cows are fed about a pound of grain for each 3 lb of milk. Dansby admits that this is a high rate of grain feeding but this is a purebred herd. Some stock is sold for purebred purposes to other breeders and they want the herd to look their best at all times.

The herd is 14th in the state with a 5-year average. This 5-year average is 41 cows, 33,527 lb of milk and 513 lb of fat. The 1957 record was 42 cows, 14,642 lb of milk and 568 lb of fat average for the herd.

33 Ingham Dairymen Win MSU Herd Testing Honors

Thirty-three Ingham county dairy herds have received special recognition by Michigan State University for outstanding production in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association testing program.

These herds have averaged over 400 pounds of butterfat for the last 5 consecutive testing years, and the herd average has not been below 400 pounds for any one of the 5 years.

Ingham county had nearly 13% of all herds in the state receiving this recognition.

NEMATODES THREATEN
Michigan and Ohio plant pathologists have been conferring over steps to be taken to exterminate nematodes. The tiny, wormlike parasite invaded vegetable plantings in both states last year and did extensive damage. They attack commercial plantings of radishes, onions, carrots, lettuce, potatoes, and celery. Strawberries and sugar beets have also been damaged.
Only 8% of all herds in the state on the DHIA testing program are from Ingham.

Swine Projects Yield Profits

Project work in hogs gives Ingham county 4-H boys and girls an opportunity to learn about selection, care and management of swine. This year for the first time fat pigs and lambs will be sold at the 1958 Ingham county fair.

Boys and girls 10 years old and not over 21, as of July 1 this year, may become 4-H swine club members, if they are enrolled in a local 4-H club. Swine club members begin planning their spring and summer activities during National 4-H club week, March 1-8.

The swine project is among the most profitable and least risky of all 4-H livestock projects. Those just starting out will find that investing in a purebred gilt or sow is a good way to earn money quickly.

Besides learning swine management, project members learn to accept responsibility for their animals' care and develop business ability by having their own enterprise.

George Good, Okemos, had the grand champion pen of pigs at the Junior Livestock show in Detroit in December with his Berkshires. Joe Stid of Mason had the grand champion pen of pigs at the state 4-H show in Lansing in August with his Yorkshires; and Ted Noble of Williamston had the grand champion Landrace pigs at the state fair at Detroit.

Added Grain Makes Gains

Increasing the grain in beef rations will help speed gains and improve finish on cattle set for August and September markets, according to M. H. Avery, Ingham county agricultural agent.

Many farmers bought 400- to 450-lb calves last fall. Now that they are around 600 lb Bill Finley, Michigan State university beef specialist, suggests farmers raise the grain content in the ration to help cattle will be getting about 1 1/2 lb of grain for each 100 lb of live weight.

Ground ear corn or corn mixed with other farm grains will do the job.

In about another 60 days, the grain should be increased again. The ration should contain about 2 lb of grain per 100 lb of live weight.

It's a good practice to give each head about 2 lb of at least a 32% protein supplement per day to balance the ration.

Steers will still need 4 to 5 lb of legume hay a day even though they are getting extra grain along with the silage.

Provide plenty of fresh water, trace mineral salt and steamed feeding bone meal free choice to help speed gains. A dry, well ventilated barn will add comfort for these fattening steers.

Detroit Milk Dealers Ask 1c per Quart Cut

By BOB MYERS
A drop of one cent a quart is demanded by Detroit dealers in bargaining sessions with Michigan Milk Producers association. That would bring the farm price of Class I milk from $5 to $4.54 per 100 lb. It would compare with $4.90 during March last year.

Bargaining is for a contract to begin March 1.

Dealers argue that the Toledo Class I price is now 60c below Detroit. That gives the Toledo dealers a buying advantage of one and one-third cents per quart and they are using that advantage in the suburban areas where they compete.

MMBA bargainers know they can't avoid a cut, but hope to hold it to less than a cent a quart.

In a move to get united action by Midwest dairy co-ops, MMPA invited 6 major marketing organizations to a regional meeting in Detroit February 25.

In making that announcement MMPA President Glenn Lake said, "We hoped to accomplish 2 things at the meeting. The first was to strengthen and unite efforts of dairy farmers in the current fight to prevent a cut in dairy price supports April 1. The second major objective is to coordinate the efforts of dairy farmer cooperatives in the Midwest to secure more satisfactory milk prices for farmers in their respective markets through bargaining.

"We have long felt," Lake said, "that changing marketing practices makes it essential that farmers in broad areas work together through their cooperatives to get the best possible returns for the milk they sell."

"Such coordinated action is more important now than ever before," he added. "Dairies are playing farmers in one market against those in another to beat down prices."

Complicating the problem is the 23c cut in support prices coming April 1. That will have an immediate nationwide effect on all classes of milk.

MMPA, like nearly all dairy organizations, is opposing the drop. It is generally admitted, though, that chances of reversing the government action are slim.

If you give dandelions an inch, they'll take a yard.

Wilson Herd Again Leads County Dairy Production

The 25 registered Holsteins owned by Lewis Wilson of Mason were high with 62 lb of fat and 1674 lb of milk for January. The Wilson herd topped December test, too.

Forty-nine Ingham County dairy herds on IBM averaged over 40 pounds of butterfat in January, according to the report from Michigan State University.

The next high herd was that of Davis and Ellsworth whose 22 grade Holsteins averaged 52.7 lb of fat and 1595 lb of milk.

Two herds averaged 49.6 lb of fat each—Raymond Powell with 27 grade Holsteins averaged 1364 lb of milk and Harold Glynn's 12

Rest Helps Cows Do Job

Dairy cows, like humans, usually work better at their jobs after they've had a vacation.

Don Hillman, extension dairy specialist at Michigan State University, claims cows should not be rebred until at least 60 days after calving.

The cow's body needs this long to return to normal after the event.

Cows and heifers will come through the calving ordeal in better shape to enjoy their vacation if they are in good condition at calving time.

Good quality roughage and 2 to 4 pounds of grain fed 6 to 8 weeks before calving will usually put cows in good shape. If roughage is of low quality, or the cow is in poor condition, 10 to 12 pounds of grain may be needed the last month before calving.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ottoman and children spent Saturday evening with the Jack Richmond family in Gregory.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Cranna is assisting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith with the care of their twin infant daughters.

CATTLE SITUATION IS TIGHT

Supply of feeder cattle is expected to remain somewhat tight until summer. The recent demand for the few available head has pulled prices up $2 from October levels.

Egg Marketing Will Get Boost

Because of the abundance of high quality Michigan eggs available during the month, March has been set aside as egg month, to urge greater consumption of eggs at home and in public eating places.

The drive is spearheaded by the Michigan Allied Poultry Industries, Inc., an organization of producers of poultry and poultry products, in cooperation with the Michigan department of agriculture.

March is a season of flush egg production and is an appropriate time for people to eat more eggs. In 1957 Michigan poultry producers produced more than a billion and a half eggs. Better poultry breeds, greater understanding of poultry feeding, and improved methods of egg handling have greatly improved the quality of Michigan eggs over the past few years to a point where the state is recognized as one of the leaders in the egg industry.

Throughout the state there are approximately 85,000 farm families who derive all or at least part of their living from the production of eggs. The industry is so decentralized that there is not a county among the state's 83 counties that does not contribute to some extent to Michigan's annual production of a billion and a half eggs.

CHAMPAGNE FOR AUGUST—A real ham, "August" the hog is one big piggie determined not to go to market in Munich, Germany. Urged by trainer Hans Hopertys, August stands on his hind legs to beg. Performing the trick earns the 350-pound porker a glass of champagne and stays the most dreaded trick of all: suddenly turning into bacon and pork chops.

Parents Receive 4-H Salutes

"4-H Salute to Parents" is the theme for National 4-H Club week.

During the March 1-8 week of observance, 2,200,000 members of 4-H clubs will take a look at their past and their future in 4-H clubs and receive recognition for outstanding work.

The week provides members with a special occasion for evaluating past achievements and making plans for future activities on their farms, in their homes and in their communities. The public, especially parents, will be informed of the values of 4-H training.

Credit will be given in recognition of the important part played by local leaders.

The drive for new members and leaders takes on new enthusiasm as 4-H'ers reflect on their progress in 1957.

Particular recognition is to be given to local leaders who make local groups possible. In Michigan 10,000 adults are part of 4-H as volunteer leaders. In addition, 2,600 older club boys and girls assist as junior leaders.

In Michigan 61,000 carried 100,000 projects to completion in

Unusual Winter Affects Grains

Additional moderate to heavy rains, wet fields, and almost 2 months of below normal temperatures have resulted in limited growth and kept small grains in poor to fair condition over much of the area, extending from Kentucky and North Carolina to the Gulf. Elsewhere over the country, small grains generally continue in good to very good condition.

In the Great Plains area winter wheat has maintained earlier favorable prospects. The abundant soil moisture in the fall aided germination, promoted early development, and helped well-rooted plants to cover the ground with unusually heavy growth before dormancy. Subsoil moisture supplies are still generally good although surface moisture in portions of the western Great Plains needs replenishing.

Continued mild weather in the winter wheat areas of the Pacific Northwest has delayed dormancy and increased the danger of possible freeze damage. The season is 4 to 6 weeks advanced in much of Oregon and Washington.

Field preparation and the seeding of early oats is gradually getting underway in Texas and Oklahoma and has extended northward into western and southern Kansas. In most areas of the Gulf States soils are too wet for general field work.

The weather bureau's outlook for the 30-day period extending to mid-March calls for precipitation to exceed normal over the northwest quarter of the country and also along the Gulf and South Atlantic coasts. Subnormal amounts are indicated in the far southwest and also in the region of the Great Lakes. In unspecified areas near normal is predicted.

Dogs Kill Deer

Dogs fared better than a lot of hunters Saturday. Sheriff's officers ran across a dead deer on Meech road. A dog pack made the killing.

LAMB PRICES STEADY

Lamb prices have been fairly steady for several months. A moderate seasonal increase should come in March.

A paved barnyard is a big help in keeping a loose dairy housing system clean. It'll be easier to clean the yard if it is designed so the job can be done from the tractor.

Country & Town

I'll be a monkey's uncle

By JIM BROWN

"So you're related to Vernon J. Brown," said Orval Pelton, Mason science instructor. "I was visiting the professor to learn more about a bat he had captivated in his classroom."

I never dodge the issue when people point to me as a relative of Vernon Brown. I'm proud of the tie. "That's right," I declared. "Vernon Brown's my grandfather."

Pelton didn't reply, but at the time I noticed he gasped and swallowed hard.

Glancing around the classroom, I found out why the look of puzzlement on the professor's face. In the back row looking out the window was Vernon Brown. Not Grandfather Vernon Brown, but Nephew Vernon Brown. Namesakes are sometimes confusing.

The professor had the look of a man who had caged the wrong bat.

Two girls had a tussle over Police Chief Harry Chandler's abections last Tuesday. They had it out at the tie bar in Davis Men's Wear. Tuesday was Harry's birthday—I think he said his 22nd—and daughters Lynn and Diana had agreed to pool their pin money for Papa's present. Lynn wanted to give socks (size 14) and Diana held out for a tie. Their dollar wouldn't buy both. I don't know how the deadlock was broken, but Harry has a new tie. Next year he'll get the socks.

Paul Simson found his coat. He lost it in January and the only identification he could offer was knowledge of a horse chestnut in the lefthand pocket. The coat was returned—chestnut and all.

This is 4-H club week. Most special weeks don't mean much anymore. And it's probably because there are so many of them that mean little to anyone except their sponsors. But 4-H is different. This week a salute to 4-H is a salute to dedicated youth... to tireless leaders... and to helpful parents.

Striving for full utilization of Head, Heart, Hands and Health, the 4-H movement benefits both individual members and the country. Leaders in 4-H stress appreciation of accomplishment.

The 4-H ideals are a goal for all of us. We could well take a look at the lessons learned by 4-H boys and girls.

Checkup Shows Ration Shortage

The expression that it shouldn't happen to a dog is being interpreted literally by inspectors of the Michigan department of agriculture's foods and standards division. They report that Rover is being shorted on his rations.

It came to light when inspectors checked retail outlets for short-weight. In packaged dry dog food sections of stores they encountered interesting things involving different brands.

On 5-lb bags of dog food they found 4-oz. shortages. On larger bags the shortages ran greater. One lot of 25-lb bags proved to be 10-oz. short per bag. Another lot of 25-lb bags of dog food weighed out to be 2 lb short per bag. Dog owners were paying for 25-lb

WOOL PAYMENTS CONTINUE

Incentive payments on wool will continue through the April 1, 1958, to March 31, 1959, marketing year. They will again be based on a 62c incentive level. Unshorn lambs will also be eligible for payments.

PHEASANTS MANAGE WELL

"People don't need to concern themselves much over the 'plight' of pheasants in zero weather. The bird has a high resistance to cold and the ability to go for long periods without food. Tests have shown that pheasants can go as long as 30 days without food in 10-degree weather. One of the bird's best friends is the mechanical corn picker which leaves both food and cover in the fields.

It takes about 50 tons of grease to launch a large ship.

I sat on the sands, watching the palm trees, the city silhouetted against the sky. And as I did, suddenly the city wasn't there any more. I saw only the palms. It was like being transported to another time and place. I felt as if I were in old Jerusalem. It was the day when He was entering the city, and His devoted followers had strewn palm leaves in His path. In church, that morning, our minister had told us the story of Palm Sunday. Now I realized how much this message meant to me. Watching the palms, I realized that all of us need help in understanding life's basic truths. We find that help in the Church. Then we can dwell upon what we have learned until it has full meaning for us... as Palm Sunday, now, has for me.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Peck Youngsters Grow Frisky

By Mrs. Ray Peck

Maybe along about this time of year it's harder to behave... or something. Anyway Susy and Sammy have been mighty frisky. It was all building up to where it had to stop somewhere.

Right after supper last night the little guy was packed off to bed with loud wails. He wanted daddy to put him to bed, hug him, kiss him, cover him and tuck him in like he did every night. Pete has done this since he was 3 weeks old and it looked like he was never going to get acquainted with the baby if he were put to bed and off to the side for the evening before he came in from the barn or fields. He said more about how babies can learn to sleep other times so that their fathers can get to know them. So Sammy has waited up and is really his pal. We've all enjoyed seeing them play... and horse-play.

Until last night, I didn't know that Valentine parties excited 4-year-old boys so much. The girls were so proud and excited about taking him to school in the afternoon. They were excited when they came home but not for the same reason!

I hate to spoil mealtime, so waited, but before the dishes were touched to be removed from the table Mr. Sammy was off to dreamland. Pete went in to look at him when he came from the barn. How angelic he looked arms tossed out and feet peeping from the covers.

This morning Sammy bounced out of bed as chipper as could be. It was Saturday and he especially likes Saturday when the girls are home. They read to him, play games, and sing.

Only this morning Susy was not singing. What a grumpy. And she has always had the most wonderful disposition and sense of humor. We couldn't imagine what ailed her. She didn't improve any so after breakfast Sammy said, "Why don't you send her to bed? It made ME act better."

Susy was flabbergasted to think of having to go back to bed and she, too, shed big tears. When she awoke a couple of hours later she was a different acting girl.

And then the story came out. She has been reading in bed after they went upstairs. Those new Christmas bedlamps were very handy for that!

Last week Pete built a bookcase the length of the staircase wall at the end of their room.

They immediately collected their books from all over the crooks and crannies where they had to store them. We brought out Pete's and my books to add to already big smiles on their faces. Now they would see books the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night. If they were quiet enough they could read books in bed and have a whole of a good time. The secret lay in not making any noise.

No wonder Susy was cross. She has been reading away to her heart's content. I told them that they might better wake up a little earlier in the morning instead of so late at night. And what do parents say when their children ask why mothers and fathers do things that they do not want them to do?

They know that I read a bit every night. But I have a built-in timer that tells me from time to time that it is time to turn off the light. Children need their rest. It's one of the most important health rules to follow.

It looks as though the old-new idea of being sent to bed as the cure for all ills is not going to mean much to Sally. I heard her telling Susy that she wished she'd get sent to bed, that she wouldn't mind sleeping all day.

History surely does repeat itself.

Library Officers Meet at Mason

County and city librarians discussed the role of the library in serving the school Friday afternoon at Mason.

The library group also discussed service to adults and how these services should be improved. Additional discussion on these problems is scheduled for June.

Librarian Norman Bunker of Ingham was host to the group.

Other problems discussed Friday were library public relations with special emphasis on national library week beginning March 10.

Serving on a panel covering the public relations work were Mrs. Fannie Noonan, director of state aid for public libraries; Mrs. Marjorie Fedorowski, Cass county librarian; and Mrs. Mary Mitchell, officer of Michigan Library association.

County librarians from Ingham, Jackson, Cass, Macomb, Iosco, Arenac, Monroe, Genesee, Kent and Lenawee counties and librarians from Midland and Muskegon attended the meeting.

The April meeting will take up the financial support of libraries.

SHOWMANSHIP—Butler University's basketball team draws excellent houses in its 15,000-seat field house in Indianapolis, Ind. Besides the long legs of the players, the shapelier legs of Carol Nutt, 18 (foreground), of Stamford, Fla., and her fellow members of the "Butler Color Guard" have proved a good draw. The girls put on a full-fledged musical at half-time.

University Uses Talking Machine

Automation is speeding the teaching of languages at Michigan State university.

Machines being installed in a new language laboratory will provide students with automatic practice drills and lighten the load of instructors. The custom-built tape recorders to be used in the lessons already have been tried out in an experimental laboratory.

"The primary use of the laboratory is the teaching of foreign languages," stated Dr. Laszlo Borbas, its director. "But the facilities will be of great value also for such things as remedial speech work, phonetics research and teaching of English to many of our foreign students."

Michigan Ambassadors Seek Industry

By ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Association

Political hatchets are buried when Michigan's industrial ambassadors sing praises of the state in an effort to interest other manufacturers, both large and small, in settling in Michigan.

At a kickoff luncheon which sends 200 of the state's leading industrial leaders "abroad," the emphasis was on a "unity of spirit." It was pointed out numerous times that what Michigan has to offer is much more important than disagreements within the state regarding the labor climate.

These positive factors were listed as: trained people; clean government, free of graft; one of the best educational systems in the world; a good and improving road system; the long coast line and supply of fresh water.

State Trappers Prove Adequate

No increase in the number of state trapper-instructors will be necessary if Michigan's bounty system is abolished, according to Durward Robson, chief of the conservation department's field administration division.

The department has received several inquiries regarding steps necessary to handle predator problems if bounties are dropped by the state legislature.

Robson explained that the 8 trapper-instructors spend less than 2% of their time handling complaints of damage caused by bountied animals. Most of the trouble results from predation by protected game and furbearing animals.

The raccoon, a protected furbearer, usually is the leading culprit—causing more damage and predation than any other animal. Other protected species causing damage to farm crops, livestock or poultry include beaver, deer, bear, opossums, skunks, mink, weasels and woodchucks.

It was emphasized repeatedly that all Michigan citizens gain when the state secures a new industry; that everyone should be interested in seeing this accomplished.

Michigan's economy is developing as the biggest issue of the 1958 legislative session.

Records show that thousands have been out of work in industry and the pinch of decreased buying power is being felt by businessmen.

Effect on state government is difficult to assess, because of conflicting claims of rival parties.

Republican finance experts are working to develop a policy which makes sense to them; when the people are forced to tighten their belts, state government should do the same.

Senator Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) has charged that too many of Michigan's 30,000 employees are abusing coffee breaks and having breakfast on the job. He says the practice costs the state $15,000,000 per year. Other GOP leaders have suggested that the number of state employees can be reduced by not replacing those who retire.

Administrators deny abuses; point out that the cost of corporate operation is upwards and the same must be expected in the case of public administration.

Labor unions are fighting against new controls in Michigan.

There are bills in the legislature to prohibit the use of union dues money for political purposes, to outlaw the secondary boycott and to require audits of their funds, including tension and welfare money.

In the interests of partisan peace in an election year, most of the bills are expected to die—though nothing ever is certain in the legislature.

The audit of union funds bills are direct reflections of the Washington hearings which attacked Dave Beck, former Teamsters Union president.

The ban against the use of union funds for political purposes dates back to the 1956 election campaign when Republicans charged that Democrats used dues money improperly.

Democrats and labor leaders have denied the charge, claiming that no dues money is spent for political candidates or campaigns without a vote of the membership.

Right-to-know legislation is now in the house after passing the Senate with only one dissenting vote.

The bill as it passed to the house requires all state and local governing bodies, boards and commissions, to hold public meetings.

It permits "executive sessions" while public officials iron out "delicate" questions in private, but requires that all final decisions be made in public.

Price fixing on milk is all but dead for the 1958 session of the legislature.

Once a major question, it has evaporated as an issue before the outspoken opposition of the Michigan Milk Producer's association and other powerful farm groups.

Sentiment for price-fixing came following the milk strike 2 years ago when relations with dairies were strained by 2 major factors—the low price to farmers and the high price to consumers.

Since that time, farmers have gotten along with the dairies though they feel the middleman is taking too big a share from the product.

Old Yeller at Farr Sunday

With Old Yeller, co-starring Dorothy McGuire and Fess Parker, Walt Disney has brought to life one of America's finest regional novels. At the same time he has captured on film that most profound experience, the transformation of a boy into a man.

Old Yeller is the story of a boy and a dog in early Texas. From this simple pattern, however, emerges a picture of overwhelming magnitude as the boy is called upon to destroy the heroic animal who has saved his life.

Tommy Kirk, 15-year-old screen newcomer, plays the boy, Spike, a rough-tongued dog of exceptional appeal, holds the title role. Other top rate performances are provided by Jeff York, Kevin Corcoran, Beverly Washburn and Chuck Connors.

"Old Yeller" is Disney's Technicolor dramatization of the distinguished novel by Fred Gipson. Of the book one critic wrote, "Old Yeller" tells more than a story of a boy and his dog. It reveals an understanding of life itself, and no brief summary can do justice to its warmth and depth. This might also apply to the picture.

The film will be shown at Farr theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Richard Egan is starred in the top role of Universal-International's Slaughter on 10th Avenue, waterfront melodrama starting Thursday at the Farr theatre. The actor portrays a deputy district attorney who crusades against gangsterism on the New York docks.

Jan Sterling, Dan Duryea and Julie Adams have other starring parts in the picture which is based on the book, The Man Who Rode the Boat by William J. Keating and Richard Carter. A Harlem Globetrotters film will complete the double feature.

The Upper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Psalm 150.
Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise. (Matthew 21:1.)

A small boy 5 years of age attended Sunday school for the first time. Returning home he excitedly showed his mother a card on which was a picture of the Saviour as the good Shepherd. Underneath were the words, "God is love." His mother asked the child what was written, and what the teacher said about it. The child thought for a moment and then replied, "I think, Mummie, teacher said it was 'God has sent his love to you.'"

That was exactly what God did when He sent His Son to proclaim the great fact that God was a loving Father. Through Jesus, God sent His love to everyone on earth. In Jesus we see the condescension of almighty love "Fitting His stature to our need" that He might lift us up to His heaven.

St. Augustine once wrote about God's love for the individual: "Thou carest for every one of us, as if thou carest for him only; and so for all as if there was but one."

PRAYER
Thanks be to Thee, O God, that nothing in this world can separate us from Thy love. Neither death nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers — nothing is able to separate us from Thy love, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
The love of God passes all knowledge; it is so wonderful.

Constitutional Revision

Under Michigan's constitution the people are called upon every 16 years to vote upon the question of calling a convention to revise the constitution. The last revision was in 1908.

Although anything built in 1908 now seems old style, really as constitutions go a 1908 model is comparatively new. The U. S. constitution was adopted in 1787, the Magna Carta in 1215, the Mosaic laws in 1450 B. C.

Michigan has a sound constitution in most respects. Actually the constitution is sound in all respects. The unsoundness has come about with amendments adopted since 1930. There is no reason to believe that the unsoundness in the amendments wouldn't be perpetuated by any constitutional convention called for next year.

There is the 15-mill tax limitation. That was supported to cut taxes. It actually raised taxes for 90% of the people in Michigan. It cut property taxes only in rural areas but what was saved there was more than made up by imposition of the sales tax. In cities the 15-mill limitation never reduced the property tax and the sales tax, intangibles tax, business receipts tax and many other onerous taxes have all been added.

Even worse, the people were propagandized to write sales tax diversion into the constitution. That resulted in surrendering what little local governmental responsibility there was left to the state. There went local responsibility for maintaining schools. There went local responsibility for financing township government.

Civil service? That was written into the constitution as an amendment. That permits men and women who should be public servants to become public masters. That amendment now costs the people of the state of Michigan a million dollars a year merely to give tenure and fix high wages for state employees.

There is little possibility that a constitution approved by a convention this year or next would omit these provisions. If they were omitted there is little likelihood that the special interests now so well served by the amendments would permit adoption of the constitution submitted.

A constitutional convention would result in a huge cry and little wool. We'd end up with something about as bad as we now have and it could be worse.

We have demonstrated by our adoption of amendments since 1930 that we lack competence to deal with the fundamentals which a constitution should contain, and should only contain. We have been writing legislation into the constitution. There is every reason to believe that a convention called now to revise the constitution would include even more matters which should be legislative instead of constitutional. The people making the biggest noise for a constitutional convention are those with pet legislation in view.

Yes, that's the negative view of constitutional revision. What about the positive?

The positive approach would be to single out some of the amendments which have led us to the mess we're in and vote them out of the constitution one by one. That would not call for any constitutional convention—merely constitutional correction.

Pity the City Kid

Rural area youngsters have turned the tables on city boys and girls. Time was when city cousins with their sacred "facilities" were envied. City youngsters had places to see and go.

But things are different now. There now seems to be an exodus from city congestion. Those who can afford to make the switch to suburban areas now do it in part because "it's a swell place for the youngsters."

Of course, we've known that all along. Youngsters have always had it better in small towns. And farm boys and girls have had it best of all. Not just because the schools are any better, the homes are any nicer or the playgrounds any bigger.

One of the big assets in rural America is the 4-H club program. Its worth is measured by the thousands of former members who are among today's leaders in agriculture, business and industry.

In Ingham county there are 1,500 boys and girls engaged in 4-H work. And here's why 4-H is the Big Switch from ordinary youth programs: The 4-H leaders never attempt to deceive club members by claiming that success in preserving Head, Heart, Hands and Health is anything short of hard work. The 4-H program is pointed in the direction of molding better citizens, better leaders and better workers. Club activities are built around home chores. Members are taught appreciation for excellence in doing little jobs well.

But 4-H programs aren't dull either. Through stiff competition, fun at the right time and a sense of dedication, both leaders and club members have a fraternal enthusiasm for 4-H.

It isn't that urban youth leaders don't see the benefits of 4-H work. They do. But because the projects built around farm animals, gardening and farming don't lend themselves to small apartments and hot concrete, city 4-H clubs just don't work.

Next week is 4-H club week. And because this organization still plugs the essential American values accenting Head, Heart, Hands and Health, we can do no less than support 4-H in every way.

Man-Years of Labor

"If the legislature adopts the $55.7 million dollar bond program I have recommended for state construction, it will mean between 5,000 and 7,500 man-years of additional work in Michigan," says the governor.

That's one way to put it. Here's another: "If the legislature adopts the $55.7 million dollar bond program I have recommended for state construction, it will mean between 5,000 and 7,500 man-years to pay off the principal and another 2,500 to 5,000 man-years to pay the interest."

Michigan needs many of the buildings recommended in the governor's program. But do our children and our grandchildren need to be burdened with such a huge debt?

The governor won't find many men willing or able to work 7,500 years, or even 5,000 years, to pay off a state debt, which becomes a private debt upon issuance of the bonds.

"Henry always fixes this rear mirror so all you can see is the car behind."

Down by the SYCAMORE

This page and all pages of newspapers, magazines and books are alive with the work of the world's great artists.

We use letters to convey thoughts or to hide thoughts. These letters we take for granted are more than symbols. They are beauty in action. They offer variety in shape and form.

Charles Pollock, professor of art at Michigan State university, knows his letters. He makes his students aware of the beauty of letters as designed by Bodoni, Goudy, DeVinne and other artists. His students use individual letters in exercises in drawing, perception and delineation. They study letter design in solving problems involving factors of space, shape and contour. They learn to assess and evaluate type faces in terms of esthetic design.

So if you want the work of a famous artist to hang upon your wall, cut out a p or a q, or a g, enlarge it, and you'll have a copy of one of the old masters. It is art in precise form. It may stimulate you or inspire or excite you with its beauty, its impact, its sense of motion, its symbolism.

One of the best ways to build up a collection of artistic letters is by subscribing to the Ingham County News. We employ only the best artists.

Up at the head of the list as a connoisseur of artistic letters is Wessels Bohnet, Dansville teacher and village clerk. He stopped in Saturday to secure choice letters from now until February of 1962. That puts him at the head of the Ingham County News subscription list.

Michigan State university is installing machines in its new language laboratory to teach students how to talk. I know a man who married one, but he has almost forgotten how to talk. He has only learned to listen.

It may be too much to ask Harlow Curlice to sit down with Walter Reuther and the rest of the state administration and work out profit-sharing, the guaranteed wage and TV political broadcasts. But Curlice and James M. Hare, secretary of state, ought to get together on auto license tags. They should work out a system where the holes in the auto tags match the holes in front bumpers. That would avert the necessity of taking a hammer and a spike to ram holes through the new plates so they can be affixed to the bumper.

Memory courses are enjoying another period of popularity—brought on by TV quiz shows no doubt. There might be just as much profit in a forgetting course, a $64,000 prize for the person who can forget what happened in the stock market crash of 1929, the bank closings of 1933, the leaf-raking of 1934 and 1935, the recession of 1937, Pearl Harbor, Yalta, Potsdam and the 5-per-centers.

Most people have more they want to forget than they have of what they want to remember. There may be a science and a system to forgetting just as there is to remembering.

I can't remember what I was going to write in this paragraph. So remember to forget it.

Forty years ago one of my best friends and constant companion was Chas. (Hook) Downs, late of Blowing Rock, North Carolina. We had both survived boot camp on Parris Island where all those mean old sergeants were.

Two weeks ago Hook's younger son, also Chas., joined the staff at Michigan State university as a science writer. He and his wife came over Sunday and I told them about some of the doings of their pappy. The son may now become a fiction writer.

Removal of the bars between the public and the tellers' cages in the Dart National bank is all for the good. It will give a sense of freedom to the tellers and clerks who have hitherto spent their days behind bars; and it will give the public a better view of the attractive women that the directors hire to handle money.

Removal of the bars may also lead the public to assume that it will be easier for them to get their money back.

Most people misquote the gospel on money. Paul never told Timothy that money is the root of all evil. He said, "The love of money is the root of all evil."

Bernard Shaw came up with a different theory, one that is generally accepted today: "Lack of money is the root of all evil."

Do You Know About IGY?

Have you heard about IGY? IGY is the talk of Ingham county, or so it seems at the Ingham county library, where books on astronomy, space travel, rockets and missiles, weather and the Antarctic have been in great demand. IGY stands for International Geophysical Year, which began last July and runs through December, 1958.

One of the most popular books deals directly with preparations for the IGY. It is Operation Deepfreeze, written by George J. DuFek, commander of the U. S. Naval Support Force Antarctica. It is an exciting account of the largest joint enterprise undertaken by scientists in establishing bases to further American IGY programs.

This is far from being an exclusively adult interest. Young people have been borrowing Robert Baker's Introducing the Constellations, a basic book for beginners of any age. Baker's Introduction to Astronomy is another clear and easily understandable book in the field.

Rockets and interplanetary flight have come in for the greatest amount of attention in the light of recent developments. The definitive work on space travel is Willy Ley's recently revised book, Rockets, Missiles and Space.

Hermann Oberth worked with Wernher von Braun on the Nazi V-2 rocket and is now working with him again in the United States. His book, Man Into Space, is a clearly stated speculation on new projects for rocket and space travel. A popular account of rockets and space flight is George Stine's Rocket Power and Space Flight.

Arthur Clarke's Making of a Moon is an interesting account of the earth satellite program.

Almost 1,300 pages of authoritative information for photographers is provided in The Focal Encyclopedia of Photography, now in the reference collection. This book attempts to cover completely the vast technology of photography and follows up all its uses for picture making.

With the exception of photography, no hobby has probably attracted more interest in recent years than high fidelity. This increasing interest has maintained a lively demand at the Ingham county library for books on Hi-Fi and record collecting.

One of the most understandable guides to Hi-Fi is the Hi-Fi Handbook, by William J. Kendall. Aspects of selecting, assembling and installing Hi-Fi equipment are also given excellent coverage in Martin Mayer's Hi-Fi.

Other books on high fidelity include Low Cost Hi-Fi, by Donald Hoefler; Home Music Systems, by Edward Canby; and the new journal of the subject, High Fidelity Magazine.

Helpful books are also available to Hi-Fi fans who need assistance in building well-rounded collections of long-playing records. They include such titles as How to Build a Record Library, by Hyman Taubman; the High Fidelity Record Annual, and the Saturday Review Home Book of Recorded Music and Sound Reproduction.

Alan Levey knows one reason why the morale of the army is low. Or so he claims. It's because of Saturday morning inspections. Army brass say this great institution keeps up morale. Grandpa Is Right

Earth Is Growing Warmer

Over the last 40 or 50 years the earth has been getting warmer, the National Geographic Society reports.

The change is gradual and there have been short-term reverses, but science has proved grandfather correct: Today's winters are not as cold as those he knew as a boy.

Warmer weather has both advantages and disadvantages.

A New Yorker who awakes to the liquid evidences of the mockingbird, once the avian symbol of the south, or the Canadian wheat grower who finds farming possible 50 miles north of the former limit may be delighted.

A different view may be taken by a New England waterman who finds tropical green crabs threatening his clam beds, or the skier who is forced to go farther and higher to find snow.

All forms of wildlife have been affected. Turkey vultures soar in western Massachusetts, where they were not seen 15 years ago. White egrets stalk the Middle Atlantic marshes. In South Dakota and Minnesota, the cardinal lashes at ever more northerly points.

Reports indicate that the moose and the polar bear, as well as the common opossum, are finding haunts well north of their former ranges.

Ocean dwellers are changing their feeding grounds. Warm-water fish have been moving up the California coast. Dolphin were taken last year as far north as Oregon.

Weather patterns have been disrupted. Last year, for the first time in history, a hurricane struck Hawaii. At Point Barrow, the northernmost part of Alaska, the ice went out earlier in 1957 than ever before.

Changes have also taken place on the Atlantic. The life of the Greenland Eskimo has been revolutionized. When seals were plentiful, the Eskimos used seal skins for clothing and shelter, and oil for lamps.

When warmer weather drove the seals north, the economy was wrecked. But codfish moved north, too, and became plentiful near Greenland. The Eskimos turned to fishing, which offered income, but not all the uses of the seals. They were forced to convert to a money-based economy.

As the world's icecaps melt and glaciers become smaller, more water is released to the oceans. The sea level has been rising an eighth of an inch a year. If it continues, some coastal cities eventually may have to build dikes.

Climatologists differ on the cause of the warming. Some see the change as part of the ice age cycle, with the ice retreating as it has several times before.

Possibly, climatologists hold, gradual clearing from the atmosphere of the dust thrown up by huge volcanic eruptions of the past, such as Krakatau (1883) and Katmai (1912), has allowed more of the sun's heat to strike the earth. Other theories tie the change to sunspot cycles, or to an increase in carbon dioxide in the air caused by man's burning of fuels.

Will the trend continue? Again there is dispute. Some scientists forecast a century of warmer weather. Others, noting increases in the size of certain glaciers, believe the cycle may have reached its warmest point, and is about to reverse itself.

It costs some $300 per mile to push a super market cart around, someone has figured.

Nation's Woodland Wealth Now Shows Steady Growth

America's green mantle of forests, shredded by a growing nation hungry for raw materials, is spreading once again.

More wood is being grown than cut. Last year, more than one billion trees were planted. Trees have become a farm crop like cotton or corn.

Owners of small woodlots—who control 60% of the nation's wood resources—are becoming more and more aware of the possibilities of well-managed forests.

Indicative is the growth of the Tree Farm System—a private program to encourage good forestry. It is sponsored by the American Forest Products Industries, Inc., an association of wood users, which offers professional advice and arranges technical assistance for woodland owners.

The number of acres in the program has grown swiftly since it began in 1941. In February, 1958, it topped 45 billion. Moreover, Tree Farm officials estimate an equal amount of well-handled forest acreage has not been registered in the program.

Even a few acres of woods can give a steady income. Careful thinning operations produce poles, pulpwood and firewood from trees that would be poor for lumber, and afford the good trees a better chance to grow. Christmas trees are also harvested in the early stages.

By-products from tree farms include turpentine, maple sugar, ferns, herbs and medicinal plants. Tree farming offers other benefits. Game thrives, providing sport and food.

Soil is conserved. Wooded lands soak up rain, deterring runoff and helping to regulate the water supply, which in the words of President Eisenhower, "is becoming our most precious natural resource." Last year one of every 4 Americans was affected by water shortages.

As a crop, trees have some distinct advantages. They need not be harvested at a given time; the grower can wait for a favorable market. Often, trees grow well on land unsuitable to other crops. A farmer can work his wood lot in slack seasons.

U. S. Satellite Bears Famous Name

The army's earth-orbiting Explorer, in purpose and in name, carries on a dazzling tradition of conquering the high unknown.

The name of the first American satellite, launched by rocket from Cape Canaveral, Florida, was chosen by President Eisenhower from a list of suggestions submitted by the army.

His selection was fitting. The satellite's historic antecedents—in name — were high-altitude research craft associated with the United States military.

In the mid-1930's, the army air corps and the National Geographic Society joined forces to send instruments and observers to the top of the earth's atmosphere.

Explorer I, a huge balloon inflated with hydrogen, rose above the Black Hills of South Dakota on July 28, 1934, with Captain Albert W. Stevens, Captain Orvil A. Anderson, and Major William E. Kepner. The vehicle reached 60,613 feet before a sudden rip brought it down.

On Armistice Day, 1935, Explorer II lifted gently from the Stratobowl near Rapid City, S. Dakota. Cramped in a gondola beneath the biggest balloon ever built, Stevens and Anderson soared to a record-shattering height of 72,395 feet.

For an hour and 40 minutes they dangled more than 13 miles above the earth—higher than man had ever risen before.

Millions of Americans huddled about radios, listening to the faint voices of the 2 men, just as present-day observers have maintained an alert for radio signals of the Russian and American satellites.

Explorer II carried a ton of scientific instruments and brought back unparalleled data. It added to knowledge of cosmic rays; of ozone in the upper air; of light, chemical, and electrical conditions there; of living spores above 70,000 feet; and of radio transmission from extremely high altitudes.

General H. H. Arnold wrote, before his death in 1950, that the flight "bore fruit in World War II far in advance of what was imagined to be the results at the time."

Explorer II's altitude record for manned balloons remained unbroken for 21 years. In 1956 and 1957, air-men went higher in both balloons and rocket planes.

Another namesake, Explorer III, is destined for another daring experiment but is still untried. Two air force parachutists plan to take the new balloon 90,000 feet or higher and jump—to test the survival of flyers forced to eject from rocket planes.

Curiously, the name Explorer seems to belong exclusively to the space age. In centuries gone by, famous ships of exploration have borne brave names — Endeavor, Resolution, Adventurer, Discoverer, Challenger, and Investigator. But history shows no major Explorers other than the instrument-packed craft that have soared into the sky's frontier.

The gondola of National Geographic's Explorer II is preserved in the air museum of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C. But it is unlikely that the new Explorer will ever return, intact, from its historic journey.

Hunting Season Closes

The last day for rabbit and hare hunting in Michigan is March 1, while bobcat hunting in the northern Lower Peninsula ends March 15. Foxes, coyotes, wolves, opossum, porcupines, weasels, red squirrels, starlings, crows and English sparrows can still be hunted.

Many a wife will admit that the only sensible thing their husband ever did was to marry her.

When you get injured it's usually the other fellow's fault. Injuries, whether minor or serious, have a cause.

While an amusement place owner must exercise reasonable care for his patrons' safety, he is not an insurer of your safety.

So, if you accidentally fall in a place of amusement, don't immediately lay the blame on the proprietor.

The general rule is that people who visit a place of amusement may assume that it is maintained in a reasonably safe condition.

Of course, there are many laws dealing with the placing of blame for injuries you might incur.
