

Southern Bullfrog, Eastern Banjo or Eastern Pobblebonk Frog

Limnodynastes dumerilii

When to look:
August to April

Grey to olive green, dark brown or black back, with dark marbling or flecks. Warty or rough back

Listen to call: a single 'bonk' or 'plonk' that is usually repeated every few seconds

Pale yellow stripe that runs from eye to arm

Prominent gland on outer back leg

Similar species:

Northern Banjo Frog (L. terraereginae): has red colouration around its groin. Giant Banjo Frog (L. interioris): has a bright orange or yellow belly with no mottling. Common Spadefoot Toad (Neobatrachus sudelli), Giant Burrowing Frog (Heleioporus australiacus) and Mallee Spadefoot Toad (Neobatrachus pictus): don't have the gland on the outer side of hind legs.

Images courtesy of Stephen Mahony