CCTV SYSTEMS

Installing a CCTV system is one of the best ways you can protect your home or workplace, at Denmans we can supply the right device from reliable manufacturers, we can help you decide the best system or stand alone camera to serve its purpose efficiently.

What sort of CCTV system should I choose?

IP (INTERNET PROTOCOL)

Commonly used in new installations, Internet Protocol cameras transmit data over a network cable in the same way you would connect a computer to a router. They are powered via POE (Power over internet) so the data cable transfers the audio and video plus power from the Recording Unit to the camera with minimal cable run and allows for easy install and setup

ANALOGUE

Analogue refers to CCTV cameras which transmit audio and video over Coaxial cable back to a Recording Unit, each camera requires a separate or combination power supply unit. Usually found in older installs, cameras can still be upgraded to higher resolutions using the existing cables and changing the recording unit/NVR

WIFI

WIFI Cameras can be added to your home network and only require a power cable, Audio & Video is stored on an internal SD card or in the Cloud. Usually there is no need for an NVR with WIFI cameras as video and alerts can be viewed on a smartphone or tablet. It is recommended that these cameras are installed in an area that has a strong wifi signal

CAMERA RESOLUTION

Most new camera systems are 2mp or 1080p minimum resolution, this is perfect for home monitoring and small outdoor areas. However when covering larger outdoor spaces or business premises consider upgrading to 5mp or 8mp (4K) for the facility to zoom in without losing detail

BUILDING REGULATIONS APPROVED DOCUMENT F:

Ventilation (2010 Edition), stipulates the provision of adequate mechanical ventilation rates in non-habitable rooms such as toilets, bathrooms, shower rooms, kitchens & utility rooms in domestic dwellings.

Once you have chosen the correct size fan as far as the performance requirements are concerned, it's then important to pick the correct fan for the correct application.

AXIAL FANS:

These fans are perfect where you are ducting the fan straight through the wall or on a small length of ducting up to 1 metre.

CENTRIFUGAL FANS::

A centrifugal fan is ideal where you need ducting in excess of 1 metre up to 3 metres in length.

INLINE AXIAL FANS:

Our standard Inline fans are ideal where you can fit the fans remotely & will perform up to a maximum 1.5 metres in ducting.

INLINE MIXFLO/ CENTRIFUGAL FANS:

When you need to extract over a distance greater than 3m these fans should be used to ensure adequate performance is achieved.

ERP RATINGSERP RATINGS

In the same way that fridges, freezers & other white goods now have energy labels, from September 2015 energy labelling has come into force for water heaters of a certain capacity, including those with an instantaneous heating design, such as electric showers. This will mean these types of products will need to meet minimum energy performance criteria & require an energy label showing their energy efficiency class & level of energy consumption.

The advertisement is split into two main visual sections. On the left, against an orange background, is a black high-visibility work jacket and a black and orange safety boot. On the right, a black and white photograph shows a person wearing work clothes and gloves, using a power drill on a metal block. The Scruffs logo is in the top left, and the headline and call to action are in white text on an orange background.

Scruffs is for the grafters. For those who are up at the crack of dawn, week in week out, putting the hours in - getting it done. We've got the workwear and safety footwear to make your life easier - up and under, in and out, on the job or down the pub - we've got you covered, head-to-toe
