

Be an angel of change.

Change the lives of people living with disabilities.

2006-2007 Annual Report

“We have but one life to live. We get nothing out of that life except by putting something into it. To relieve suffering, to help the unfortunate, to do kind acts and deeds is, after all, the one sure way to secure happiness or to achieve real success. Your life and mine shall be valued not by what we take ... but by what we give.”

From the
CHAIRMAN AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

WHEN OHIO ROTARIAN EDGAR ALLEN MET JIMMIE BODAK, a young boy who needed new crutches to walk, he was inspired. Allen's chance encounter, nearly 90 years ago, was the beginning of an international movement. Allen was a passionate advocate and believed deeply in the power of philanthropy, the love of humankind that inspires Easter Seals family of volunteers, donors, corporate friends, staff and their families as we work to change lives today.

Easter Seals is the leading non-profit provider of services for individuals with autism, developmental disabilities, physical and mental disabilities, and other special needs, with annual revenues of $1 billion. We offer help, hope and answers to children and adults living with disabilities, and the families who love them.

To meet the growing needs of people living with disabilities, Easter Seals has launched a bold new initiative. Vision 2010 is our commitment to serve five million people with disabilities through innovative services, providing solutions that change lives. Our efforts focus in four areas of great need: services for young children, for people with autism, for veterans, and for older adults.

Universal access to early diagnosis and intervention is essential for every child. Thirty percent of the 4 million newborns in 2008 will develop a significant disability by age 18. Easter Seals is advancing knowledge, creating networks of support and mobilizing communities to develop solutions for families – because every dollar invested in early intervention today saves $7 in additional special education and service expense later.

Autism has a staggering impact on families, school and healthcare systems, and our society. While others seek a cure or a cause, Easter Seals is expanding services to offer treatment that makes an enormous difference today. With our new partner, the Autism Society of America, we are developing models for care and support across the lifespan, heightened awareness, and sound public policy. Easter Seals offers expertise to individuals, families, caregivers and professionals so that individuals living with autism have the chance to lead productive and joyful lives.

Nearly 27,000 returning veterans with disabilities from Iraq and Afghanistan face formidable challenges as they transition back to civilian life. Easter Seals is creating community-based programs that address traumatic brain injury (TBI) and post-traumatic stress disorder, responding as entrepreneurs to the escalating needs of veterans and their families. Easter Seals also offers services including therapy, job training and coaching, camping and recreation, and support for families.

For our nation's older adults, the difference between adult day services and nursing home placement is dramatic, as a lifestyle choice and a financial reality. Easter Seals is teaching communities how to transform care, providing caregiver support and strengthening adult day and home-care systems.

We are passionate about helping more people.

Our heartfelt thanks go to our family and friends who support Easter Seals work and to our advocates who work to influence public policy, and to the millions of people who give their time, talent and resources to improve the lives of others in the true spirit of philanthropy.

CREATING SOLUTIONS, CHANGING LIVES.

Easter Seals is the leading non-profit provider of services for individuals with autism, developmental disabilities, physical and mental disabilities, and other special needs.

Today, as the international organization that Edgar Allen once envisioned, Easter Seals offers help, hope and answers to children and adults living with disabilities, and to the families who love them across the United States, Puerto Rico and Australia, through Ability First Australia. Through therapy, training, education and support services, Easter Seals creates life-changing solutions so that people with disabilities can live, learn, work and play.

But Easter Seals' work is far from complete.

- Nearly 54 million Americans live with a disability.
- Among our nation's uninsured, 20 percent are children and adults with disabilities.

- Almost 6 million schoolchildren have disabilities - and too many never finish high school.
- Once considered a rare disorder, autism is now diagnosed in one in every 150 children.
- Only 32 percent of working-age adults with disabilities are fully employed, compared with 80 percent of their non-disabled peers.
- As a group, people with disabilities are the poorest people in our nation.

Recognizing that Easter Seals has become the leading provider of autism services across the lifespan, Easter Seals is further developing this expertise by offering training and support to expand its services.

In April, for Autism Awareness Month, Easter Seals launched a media campaign to draw attention to its role in supporting families living with autism. Easter Seals' Autism Spokespersons Network, made up of national and local experts and national board members, spread the word. The goal was to connect Easter Seals with autism services through media and its respective audiences, emphasizing its role in providing treatments that help people with autism today. Easter Seals built autism.easterseals.com, introduced a blog, secured 257 million media impressions from print, radio, TV and online placements and an ad equivalency value of $2 million.

Clockwise from above: Easter Seals and Easter Seals Metropolitan Chicago hosted a groundbreaking ceremony in October 2006 for the new Therapeutic School and Center for Autism Research in Chicago. Working with the University of Illinois at Chicago and Rush Medical Center, the new facility will benefit children and young adults living with autism;

Easter Seals “wishes to be ... instrumental in effecting good .”

While with many this may be a vision, yet, with us it is reality.” EDGAR F. ALLEN, 1922

In July, Easter Seals formally announced its partnership with the Autism Society of America (ASA). Easter Seals and ASA bring credibility, a history of service to the autism community, and a common vision for how autism should be treated. Together, the two are developing initiatives that will improve the lives of everyone living on the autism spectrum.

Edgar Allen wrote that the realization of his vision was “charity for those who need it, a philanthropy which may be accepted without wounding self-respect.”

This spirit of philanthropy is at the heart of Easter Seals. This year, 400 new major donors joined Easter Seals family of philanthropists, adding millions to support its programs. They unite with the millions of individuals who support Easter Seals through the annual “seal” appeal, and special events that engage new donors.

Easter Seals’ Office of Public Affairs in Washington, D.C., is recognized for its expertise and leadership on critical issues for people with disabilities: access to health care, access and funding for autism services, employment opportunities, assistive technology, and the need for accessible housing and transportation.

One important statement about Easter Seals’ efficiency and stewardship of donor dollars is Easter Seals’ standing as first among the National Health Council’s member agencies for the percentage of program dollars allocated to providing direct services – a distinction Easter Seals has held for 27 years.

The profiles on these pages tell Easter Seals’ story. As Easter Seals 2008 Child and Adult Representatives, Scottie Gaither and David Owens and their families share how services made a difference in their lives. Scottie Gaither has autism and went to Easter Seals for early intervention and treatment beginning at age two. Today, he’s a second grader, a top student and an aspiring athlete. David Owens is legally blind and has mild cerebral palsy, and couldn’t find a job after graduating from high school. He went to Easter Seals for employment counseling and today is a guide at the Texas State Capitol, with a job coach at the ready to help. Brian Fitzgerald, Dr. Andrew Morgan and Ellen Harrington-Kane are dedicated professionals, innovators and leaders among Easter Seals’ 23,000 staff. Tom Ryan is Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of CSV/Caremark, and a leader among Easter Seals’ family of corporate partners, who give generously as philanthropists and volunteers to improve the lives of children and adults living with disabilities.

Scottie Gaither

Scottie Gaither is a “can do” kind of kid. He’s a bright, curious and determined second grader who greets everyone with an engaging smile.

He’s quick to talk about how he loves to swim and play soccer, and do things with his family, especially with his Dad.

Meeting 8-year-old Scottie today, it’s hard to imagine the toddler his family and friends recall, who was diagnosed with “severe autism” at age two. Last spring, he was named the top first grade student in his class, a distinction he takes in stride.

Becky Spear, his speech therapist at River Road Elementary School admires Scottie’s attitude. “He’s a bundle of energy, with a positive attitude who always wants to do his best. He’s really supportive of the other kids, and even a bit of a flirt.” He’s also still working to perfect his “s” sounds.

Shannon and Barbara Gaither had thought of Scottie as a typical newborn and toddler, reaching the usual developmental milestones much like his older sisters Sarah and Carly. And, then, at 16 months, he began to lose his language. It was the first clue for his parents.

Highly sensitive to Scottie’s significant language regression, they also began to see how Scottie struggled with any type of transition or change. His sister, Sarah, remembers his tantrums. “He knew exactly what he wanted, but he couldn’t communicate. He was trapped in his own little box.”

The Gaithers talked with Scottie’s pediatrician, who recommended they see a specialist in Atlanta, and they were off. When Barbara thinks of the first time she heard that her baby had tested “severely autistic,” she refers to it as one of her darkest times. Looking back, five years later, she’s very hopeful and grateful that Easter Seals offered early intervention and child care, just down the road from their home in Columbus, Georgia.

“He walked in with his mom and I fell in love instantly,” says Sandy Thornton, Scottie’s lead teacher at Easter Seals West Georgia’s pre-school, and she smiles as she thinks back on his then frequent tantrums. “He just hated change, but we worked with him.” Scottie’s days included occupational therapy to develop his fine motor skills and work on his sensory issues, and speech therapy to regain and expand his language skills.

Barbara says, “We immediately began to see changes, within weeks of Scottie’s starting at Easter Seals. We heard new speech. We saw new behaviors, and he began to enjoy other people and make eye contact. It was amazing, and wonderful.”

Easter Seals West Georgia

Easter Seals West Georgia's community services help children, adolescents and adults with disabilities achieve their maximum potential. Occupational, physical and speech therapists work alongside teachers in the daily children's therapeutic program that follows a curriculum based on learning through play, child-directed creative experiences, and development of life skills. Easter Seals West Georgia's Adult Day Services offer a caring and comprehensive program to assist adults in overcoming daily challenges. Participants practice and learn new daily living skills alongside their peers, work on improving their physical well being, build cognitive and social skills, and are challenged to function as independently as possible.

The Gaithers are champions of early identification and treatment for children who have autism. Barbara says, "If we had waited and written off his oddities until he went to school, we'd be so far behind. But Scottie was ready when he went to kindergarten, and we all knew how to help him make this transition."

Sharon Berger, CEO, Easter Seals West Georgia, calls Scottie "too hotty" and talks with pride about how he's not the same child she first met five years ago. "He's an independent little guy, with the skills he needs to cope. He's social, he's engaging, and a bundle of positive energy, and surrounded by a wonderful, supportive and loving family. We just love him."

And, today, according to Barbara, "Life at the Gaither house is as normal as any family with three active kids and two working parents can be."

2008 NATIONAL ADULT REPRESENTATIVE

Working as a tour guide at the Texas Capitol, David Owens shares his knowledge of Texas history with people from across the country and around the world. As the Easter Seals 2008 National Adult representative, David, 28, will soon be talking nationwide about a different topic: how Easter Seals changes lives. It's a subject he knows firsthand.

David was born with hydrocephalus, a condition that causes excessive accumulation of fluid in the brain. In David's case, the fluid put pressure on the optic nerve and caused impaired vision. Since birth, David has been legally blind. He also has mild cerebral palsy that affects his legs, making it difficult to walk long distances.

David underwent seven operations as a child. Growing up, he received physical therapy, occupational therapy and vision services through his local school district. However, after graduating from high school, David lost that support because he "aged out" of the federally mandated system through which special education services are provided.

"After you leave school, they kind of drop you," says his mother, Diane.

As David moved into a new phase of his life, he first tried finding a job on his own. The search proved frustrating.

"It seemed hard to find a job when potential employers would find out I'm disabled or visually impaired," David says.

Then, in 2001, David was referred to Easter Seals. Almost immediately, he was impressed by Easter Seals' individualized approach to vocational services. An Easter Seals counselor assessed David's interests, skills and goals, and also provided training to help him put his best foot forward on his resume and in interviews.

Easter Seals Central Texas, Austin

For 70 years, Easter Seals Central Texas, in Austin, has been providing services to children and adults with disabilities and their families. Now serving more than 3,000 individuals in 21 Central Texas counties, with quality, person-centered support, Easter Seals Central Texas offers comprehensive outpatient medical rehabilitation program, early childhood intervention, and workforce development with job training, placement and employment opportunities for adults. Easter Seals Central Texas sponsors Camp ESKIMO (Easter Seals Kids In Motion) for ages five to fifteen, providing fun for kids and respite relief for parents and caregivers.

Three years later, David is grateful to have a job he enjoys. Traveling to and from work via public transportation, he works five days a week giving 45-minute walking tours of the capitol, while weaving in facts about Texas history and state government.

David now looks forward to explaining how Easter Seals helps people with disabilities and other special needs gain greater independence. “I’m excited,” he says. “I think it’ll be a great opportunity.”

The process revealed that David had a knack for remembering facts and was interested in history, particularly the history of his home state.

Following up with contacts at the Texas State Preservation Board, Easter Seals helped David secure a job as a guide at the state history museum. When that position was eliminated 18 months later—a result of budget cuts—Easter Seals helped David find a new opportunity as a State Capitol tour guide.

SERVICES

Easter Seals provides exceptional services to meet the growing needs of children and adults living with autism and other disabilities.

Disabilities can occur at birth, from injury or illness, or from physical and mental changes experienced in aging. Working together, Easter Seals professionals share knowledge and best practices to meet the highest standards of excellence as service providers and non-profit leaders.

Easter Seals affiliates across the country are increasingly providing services for children and adults with autism as, today, autism affects one child in every 150, making it more prevalent than Down syndrome, pediatric AIDS and childhood cancer combined. In early intervention and child care programs, in schools, in school-to-work programs for young adults, in employment and day services for adults, and in residential programs, Easter Seals is working with people of all ages who live with Autism Spectrum Disorders.

Easter Seals medical rehabilitation services offer help, hope and answers for people with disabilities. Teams of therapists, teachers and other health professionals work to find solutions and tailor services to meet individual needs. Easter Seals offers medical rehabilitation services through 323 programs in the United States and Puerto Rico, and in Australia.

Parents of infants and toddlers with disabilities and developmental delays find dedicated professionals eager to help their young children at Easter Seals' 214 child care and early intervention programs. Children with autism are among the fastest growing group served, with Easter Seals' expertise in using play and language to enhance their future success. Easter Seals pediatric rehabilitation programs give young children and their families the chance to meet developmental norms.

Easter Seals Child Development Center Network is the largest provider of inclusive child care in the United States. With nearly 80 centers, Easter Seals serves 7,000 young children and their families, in a setting where children with disabilities and special needs comprise 25 percent of enrollment. Easter Seals Child Development Center Network assures that quality child care will be available to all children and their parents, regardless of ability. Through a grant from the Goizueta Foundation, Easter Seals is training and developing a model for other child care providers to better serve children with disabilities in a variety of settings.

With more than 100 camping, recreation and respite programs, Easter Seals offers thousands of children, teens and adults with disabilities the chance to develop lasting friendships, test the limits of what they can achieve, play and have fun. Participants enjoy adventures and conquer new physical challenges in inclusive camping and community-based after-school and recreation programs.

Adults with disabilities seeking work and meaningful employment find opportunities through 154 Easter Seals job training and employment programs. Easter Seals professionals help people assess their skills, identify employment goals, create training and use assistive technology to meet personal goals. Easter Seals also works with business to support workforce development, as employment for adults with disabilities is a critical first step toward self-determination and financial independence.

Working with the U.S. Department of Labor’s Senior Community Service Employment Program, Easter Seals offers subsidized employment and training opportunities for adults aged 55 and older, many with disabilities, living at or near poverty levels. Many older adults, who become involved as trainees in community organizations, gain the skills to find new, unsubsidized employment.

Easter Seals adult and senior service programs are expanding to meet the growing needs of nearly 40 million older adults, who are acquiring disabilities though aging. As the nation’s largest network of Adult and Senior Services centers, Easter Seals promises caregivers a safe, enriching environment for their loved ones - and an alternative to more costly residential care.

To provide life-changing services and support for children and adults living with autism and other disabilities and special needs, and for their families, Easter Seals also partners with health and human service organizations as well as public and private insurers.

A participant in Easter Seals Adult Day Services enjoys a group fitness class; A camp counselor helps a young girl take a horseback ride at an Easter Seals camp; After returning from duty, veterans with disabilities look to Easter Seals for opportunities to connect back with their community, whether seeking recreation, support services or job training assistance.

MYRTLE M. AND TOM B. MEDDERS AWARD

Brian J. Fitzgerald

President and Chief Executive Officer, Easter Seals New Jersey

A sign on Brian Fitzgerald’s desk reads “The road to success is always under construction.” More than just an inspiring credo, it’s something Fitzgerald really believes, and it’s an outlook shared by staff and volunteers at Easter Seals New Jersey, thanks to his leadership and example.

Easter Seals
New Jersey

For more than fifty years, Easter Seals New Jersey has provided support through its statewide programs and services to individuals with disabilities. Believing that everyone has a valuable contribution to make to his or her community, Easter Seals New Jersey offers services geared toward helping more than 8,000 individuals with disabilities and their families remove obstacles along their path toward independence.

The 2007 recipient of the Myrtle M. and Tom B. Medders Award for Executive Leadership, Fitzgerald can trace his own path to success back to years spent in the military, when he enjoyed advising soldiers on how to transfer their military vocational specialties to positions in the civilian workforce.

Further inspired by his godfather, who’d had both legs amputated because of diabetes, as well as an aunt who taught people with hearing impairments, Fitzgerald earned a master’s degree in rehabilitation counseling. In 1974, he worked as a vocational rehabilitation intern at Easter Seals New Jersey and, from that point, he moved up the ranks of the organization until, in 1989, he became president and chief executive officer.

Since taking the helm, Fitzgerald has overseen Easter Seals New Jersey’s growth from a $16 million organization to a $60 million disability services provider. It’s an accomplishment he’s quick to share with past and present employees. “They’re the heroes who really deserve this award,” he says.

Having worked at all levels of the organization, Fitzgerald knows the kinds of challenges its 1,200 employees face and says, “I firmly believe everyone here has a contribution to make.”

Looking back over the years, he is particularly proud of the reserve fund he worked with the affiliate’s board to create from bequests and the sale of underused assets. Now totaling $3.7 million, it serves as a guarantee to 7,500 consumers that their services will be there for them. Those services include employment, camping and residential programs, and adult day programs – services that answer pressing needs across New Jersey’s 21 counties and that 90 percent of consumers say they are “very satisfied” in receiving.

Calling Fitzgerald by his first name when he visits service sites, those consumers are the reason the CEO still enjoys his work as much as he did as an intern fresh out of graduate school.

“People with disabilities want to contribute, they want to achieve,” he says. “Giving them the chance to do that is what makes me get up every morning. It’s a privilege and honor to do this job. This is such great work and I love doing it.”

Andrew M. Morgan

Medical Director

As medical director at Easter Seals Peoria-Bloomington, Illinois, Dr. Andrew M. Morgan works closely with children with disabilities and their families, in addition to being professor of clinical pediatrics at the University of Illinois College of Medicine at Peoria and medical director for pediatric rehabilitation at Children's Hospital of Illinois.

In his spare time, however, Morgan plays a different role—literally. For more than 30 years, he's performed in and directed community theater productions, counting portrayals in To Kill A Mockingbird and Fiddler on the Roof among his favorites.

For years, Morgan dreamed of combining his professional expertise with his personal passion. In 2004, he created The Penguin Project, which casts young people with disabilities as performers in a modified version of a well-known musical production each year.

Explaining the program's name, Morgan says: "Penguins are birds that can't fly, but they get along amazingly well despite what they can't do. Likewise, our kids adapt to challenges and don't allow their differences to interfere with their lives."

Having already performed "Music Man," "Annie," and "Guys and Dolls" at Eastlight Theatre in East Peoria, the Penguin Project is now undertaking "High School Musical." Morgan and his wife, Kathy, are directing more than 80 young people. Half are artists with disabilities, age 8 to 21, and each is paired with a peer-mentor who does not have a disability. Together, the artists and mentors work toward a common goal: to create a high-quality production that amazes audiences.

Among those attending the annual productions are supporters, staff and friends from Easter Seals Peoria-Bloomington, which sponsors opening night. For the many Easter Seals clients performing on stage, it's a chance to display hidden talents and participate in an extracurricular activity like anyone else their age. Just as important, parents—often for the first time—get to watch their children perform, while the mentors learn about acceptance and, in the end, see they have lots in common with peers who have disabilities.

In recognition of his innovative approach to helping children with disabilities participate in the community, Morgan received Easter Seals' 2007 Lou Lowenkron Program Innovation Award.

Hoping the national recognition paves the way for other Easter Seals affiliates to establish their own Penguin Projects, Morgan says, "I think we've created an incredible magic that can be replicated elsewhere. We're showing that people with disabilities are capable of participating in community activities, if given the opportunity and some support. This experience is like no other. It's unbelievable what these kids are doing."

Easter Seals Peoria-Bloomington Illinois

Easter Seals started as a once-a-week clinic in a downtown Peoria storefront for just a few children more than 85 years ago. Today, it offers three service centers serving thousands of children and adults with disabilities and their families every year. Easter Seals Peoria-Bloomington provides pediatric, Autism Spectrum Disorder, clinical, family support, and screening & evaluation services for children and adults designed to improve functional as well as life skills. In addition, Timber Pointe Outdoor Center is a beautiful 170-acre accessible camp offering a variety of camping, educational, and recreational programs for children and their families.

Easter Seals' founder Edgar Allen believed we could create a nation where everyone is included. This is at the heart of Easter Seals' legislative advocacy and the significant role Easter Seals plays in shaping public policy at all levels of government.

This year, Easter Seals has advocated for the 2007 ADA Restoration Act, seeking to educate Congress and the public about the intent of the 1990 Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Easter Seals staff and volunteer leaders are working in partnership with other disability advocates to reinstate the full scope of rights afforded by the ADA to people with disabilities.

A new initiative, The 100 Visits, mobilized Easter Seals staff to reach out to federal legislators and create an emotional connection with them to Easter Seals mission and services for individuals and families with autism and other disabilities and special needs. Each of the 100 visits created an opportunity to emphasize the value and cost-benefit to society of funding essential services that promote the health, productivity and independence of people with disabilities and special needs. Among the initiatives addressed:

- Establishing programs and services to help fill gaps and remove barriers to health care, work and community living for military service personnel and veterans with disabilities.
- Expanding health insurance coverage to low income children through the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP).

- Advocating for the right to a free, appropriate public education for students with disabilities as intended in the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA).
- Encouraging Congress to embrace high expectations about the academic abilities of students with disabilities through the accountability system of No Child Left Behind.

- Championing legislation and funding to support families living with autism, Easter Seals led a coalition of organizations advocating for the Combating Autism Act and its full funding, and for the passage of the Enhancing the Independence of Individuals Living with Autism Act, with its support for treatment services and for family support.
- Advocating for increased access to long-term care services for people with disabilities and older adults.

“In our work, we seek the sympathetic friendship of all who agree that human sympathy for human suffering is the motive spirit of civilization.” EDGAR F. ALLEN, 1922

- Supporting increased funding for the Child Care and Development Block Grant to provide child care for children with disabilities, and advocating to maintain quality standards for the Head Start program as Congress debates revisions.
- Working with other human service organizations to protect funding for federal programs that serve people with disabilities.
- Collaborating with Congress, the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services, and other health and disability organizations to provide information about access to new prescription drug benefits and supports for seniors and people with disabilities who are insured by Medicare.
- Partnering with Easter Seals affiliates to educate state and local policy makers and advocate to further Easter Seals mission and services.
- Providing opportunities daily through Easter Seals Online Network for nearly 18,000 citizens to contact their legislators about important issues that affect the lives of people with disabilities and their families.

Easter Seals Project ACTION, with $3 million funded annually by the U.S. Department of Transportation, increased research, training and technical assistance activities for people with disabilities seeking accessible transportation and community transit providers. Easter Seals, in partnership with the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging, worked with Congress to create, fund and implement the National Center on Senior Transportation (NCST). Through the NCST, Easter Seals is taking the lead in developing new resources to increase the mobility of older adults.

Easter Seals focuses on the needs of families in rural areas through the AgrAbility, which fosters independence for farmers with disabilities, providing ongoing training, technical assistance and information to 23 programs serving 24 states, with more than $4.5 million in support from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and in collaboration with the University of Wisconsin Extension.

In 2006, Easter Seals Outstanding Advocate Awards honored legislators for their work as advocates for people living with disabilities. Honorees included U.S. Senator Gordon Smith, Oregon; State Senator Michael Madigan, Illinois; State Senator David Nelson, Iowa; State Representative Mark Cloer, Colorado; State Assemblywoman Barbara Matthews, California; and Donald E. Cole, Chairman of the Georgia Department of Human Relations Board.

Ellen Harrington-Kane

Assistant Vice President of Medical Rehabilitation and Autism Services, Easter Seals, Inc.

Ellen Harrington-Kane first glimpsed what Easter Seals was doing to serve people and families living with autism on July 22, 2005. It was her birthday and she was meeting with the founder of an autism treatment approach being offered at some affiliates. It made her begin to wonder about the impact Easter Seals was having nationally on individuals and families affected by what's been called the health crisis of our time.

Easter Seals, Inc.

Easter Seals is the leading non-profit provider of services for individuals with autism, developmental disabilities, physical and mental disabilities, and other special needs. For more than 85 years, we have been offering help and hope to children and adults living with disabilities, and to the families who love them.

Through therapy, training, education and support services, Easter Seals creates life-changing solutions so that people with disabilities can live, learn, work and play in their communities. Support children and adults with disabilities at www.easterseals.com

As a result, that day was also the birth of Easter Seals' national initiative to raise awareness about autism services and treatments available to individuals and families.

Harrington-Kane's curiosity spurred her to conduct a survey of all Easter Seals affiliates to find out how they were serving individuals with autism. A member of the national office's program and provider services team, she consults, trains and provides technical assistance to Easter Seals affiliates nationwide, so she was able to tap her extensive network and dig deep during her fact-finding mission.

"What we learned was that we were doing a lot more than we imagined," she says. Indeed, the survey counted 60 programs serving more than 8,000 individuals – programs either developed specifically for people with autism or that included children and adults with autism along with other service recipients.

Indeed, a lot was being done, but Harrington-Kane knew Easter Seals could do more. She saw an opportunity for affiliates to learn from one another and improve their reach to people with autism. At the same time, she began championing the idea that Easter Seals needed to call more attention to its work in the autism arena.

Today Easter Seals is recognized as a leading autism service provider, thanks in large part to Harrington-Kane's vision and expertise. Recipient of the 2007 Robert E. Bradford Leadership Award, she's a national staff member who is leading Easter Seals to new and higher standards of excellence.

Harrington-Kane joined Easter Seals in 2002. Today, as assistant vice president of medical rehabilitation and autism services, she draws on more than 20 years experience as an occupational therapist and rehabilitation director, sharing her expertise in policy, program development, financial management, billing and coding, and service provisions.

Continually looking at how Easter Seals can improve and expand its services, Harrington-Kane is now exploring ways to assist military veterans with post-traumatic stress and Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) and those with mental illness.

Wherever she goes, she is impressed by one thing: "No matter how big or small the Easter Seals service offered, everybody is passionate about their work. They love what they do."

Tom Ryan

President and Chief Executive Officer
CVS Caremark

Running, jumping, swimming, riding a bike - most kids take these activities for granted, but many children with disabilities are faced with obstacles that prevent them from enjoying some of life's simple pleasures. Two years ago, CVS Caremark President and CEO Tom Ryan announced a landmark program that would not only channel the company's philanthropic dollars, but would unite its more than 190,000 associates around a single cause and improve the quality of life for children across the United States.

CVS Caremark All Kids Can, the company's five-year, $25 million commitment to making life easier for children with disabilities and their families, harnesses the full financial power of the company's charitable giving to support causes related to children with physical and developmental disabilities. There is also a full complement of related volunteer opportunities in which associates can participate.

"Children have always been at the heart of our charitable giving," says Ryan. "We're proud that CVS Caremark All Kids Can helps children with disabilities learn, play and succeed in life."

As an All Kids Can partner organization, Easter Seals has benefited from generous program grants. The funding has provided support for innovative programming throughout the country, which has improved the lives of hundreds of children with disabilities.

In 2006, CVS Caremark also became the national premier sponsor for Easter Seals Walk With Me. Since then, CVS Caremark associates and their teams have raised awareness and funding dollars, with a total of nearly $400,000 in 2006, and projected totals for 2007 of more than $650,000.

Although the CVS Caremark philanthropic focus is on children with disabilities, a variety of supplemental community programs are in place. For example, CVS Caremark Community Grants help support enhanced health care services, improved approaches to education, and healthier communities in which to live. Through the CVS Caremark Volunteer Challenge Grant program, annual grants are awarded to the non-profit agencies that its colleagues support through their volunteer time and efforts.

CVS Caremark has become recognized as a paragon of community service and philanthropy, so it's no wonder that PR News honored CVS Caremark All Kids Can as a model for corporate social responsibility this year.

The company was also honored with the 2007 Optimas Award for Partnership for its commitment to hiring people with disabilities and older adults. Through these efforts, CVS Caremark has created much-needed employment opportunities for people with disabilities and older workers who want to be economically self-sufficient and contribute to their communities.

Ryan attributes these successes to his organization's strong service-oriented culture. "At CVS Caremark, corporate giving and community involvement are integral parts of how we do business," he says. "We are tremendously proud of the impact we are making in our communities."

CVS Caremark is the nation's premier integrated pharmacy services provider, combining one of the nation's leading pharmaceutical services companies with the country's largest pharmacy chain. The company fills or manages more than one billion prescriptions per year, more than any other pharmacy services provider. Through its 6,200 CVS/pharmacy stores; its pharmacy benefit management, mail order and specialty pharmacy division, Caremark Pharmacy Services; its retail-based health clinic subsidiary, MinuteClinic; and its online pharmacy, CVS.com, CVS Caremark is helping build healthier communities and is a model of corporate social responsibility.

GIVING

The spirit of philanthropy is what inspires Easter Seals donors, who contribute their time, their expertise and their resources to improve the lives of children and adults with disabilities and the families who love them.

Easter Seals celebrates its friendship with individuals, corporations and foundations, who understand the impact of their gifts. They see the value of their contributions and know how children and adults with disabilities respond to the exceptional services their generosity makes possible. Easter Seals volunteers and donors say that giving makes them feel good. Easter Seals' efficient use of their contributions also is an important factor when making the decision to support Easter Seals' vision and the innovative services and programs that make it possible for people with disabilities to live, learn, work and play in their communities.

Colorado businessman Jake Jabs was honored as Easter Seals' 2006 Philanthropist of the Year. Since 1976, while building his American Furniture Warehouse into one of the largest furniture companies in the U.S., Jabs has contributed personal gifts of almost $2.3 million dollars to support Easter Seals services in Colorado, especially for the campers and the camp he loves. He's also been personally responsible for an additional $700,000 in gifts from others. And, every summer he spends time at camp - playing his guitar.

Easter Seals' individual giving programs recognize donors for their gifts and for investing in the future. Easter Seals celebrates its more than 3,600 Presidents' Council members, who contribute annual gifts of $1,000 to $25,000 to Easter Seals organizations nationwide. Easter Seals Legacy Society has 387 members, who contribute through planned giving and gift annuities. The Edgar Allen Founders' Society includes 266 donors whose gifts of $100,000 or more enhance the growth of Easter Seals services for years to come. With gifts of $500,000 and more, Easter Seals 15 Leadership Council members are providing critical support for new programs and services to meet the growing needs of people living with disabilities. Easter Seals' Chairman's Roundtable honors 33 philanthropists whose gifts of $1 million and more will help make Easter Seals' Vision for 2010 and beyond a reality.

In May, Easter Seals gathered its family of corporate partners to thank them for their contributions at Easter Seals' Celebration of Giving. With top contributing partners

“The realization of this vision is charity for those who need it, a philanthropy which may be accepted without wounding self-respect.” EDGAR F. ALLEN, 1922

Safeway Inc., Century 21 Real Estate, LLC, Food Lion LLC, CVS/Caremark and Friendly Ice Cream Corporation, Easter Seals received more than $21 million from corporate friends. Easter Seals' corporate family includes tens of thousands of employees who are volunteers and donors to Easter Seals in their communities. Many join the thousands of participants in Easter Seals' Walk With Me event.

Easter Seals sponsors have mobilized their employees, and their teams of walkers contribute to Easter Seals as they walk alongside Easter Seals clients and their families. CVS/Caremark is the national premiere sponsor for Easter Seals Walk With Me. Quixtar is the presenting sponsor. Century 21 is the founding sponsor, and MassMutual Financial Group is a regional sponsor. They join thousands of walkers and donors for the fun-filled family events.

This year, Easter Seals' staff gave $814,454 through Easter Seals' Caring & Sharing program. Since its start as a part of Easter Seals' 75th Anniversary in 1994, thousands of staff have contributed more than $7.8 million. These are dollars raised to create new services, to fund scholarships, to buy needed equipment and supplies, and to help meet the individual needs of the clients and their families whom staff know and work with every day.

Donors and interested visitors enjoy a Web presence with easterseals.com that provides up-to-date information about Easter Seals initiatives, including an autism blog, and links to Easter Seals organizations nationwide. It also gives visitors tips on how people can become involved and make a difference. And, this year, Easter Seals Online Network celebrated a milestone, with contributions from visitors to easterseals.com topping $1 million for the first time in a single year.

Easter Seals also benefits from millions of donors, old friends and new, who contribute to requests by telephone, mail, and online giving opportunities.

These gifts reflect donors' trust in Easter Seals' commitment to helping children and adults with disabilities and their families in their own communities

Grants from the Goizueta Foundation, Burger King's Have it Your Way Foundation™, the J.B. Heron Foundation, the Ludy Family Foundation, The Mitsubishi Electric America Foundation; the Retirement Research Foundation; and Johnson & Johnson provide critical funds for Easter Seals initiatives and innovative services.

This year, the family of Eugene Freedman made a second gift of $1 million to support Easter Seals' vision of services for older adults; Academy Award winning actress, Marlee Matlin, celebrates the launch of Safeway's April in-store fundraising campaign for Easter Seals. Pictured beside her is Mark Whitley, Chief Executive Officer, Easter Seals Southern California, and Marlyn Denter, director, Public Affairs, Vons.

Inspiring today. Assuring tomorrow.

The Legacy Society recognizes donors who have established planned gifts through their estates and gifts that create income and other financial incentives shared by donors and their loved ones. Legacy Society membership and related benefits are offered to individuals from whom such gifts have been received posthumously, as well as donors who have notified Easter Seals that their estate plans include the organization as a charitable beneficiary.

Deep gratitude is extended to all of our Legacy Society members and their families for leading the way for others in support of Easter Seals' mission.

†These donors have utilized estate and financial planning to make important philanthropic gifts benefiting Easter Seals now and in the future.

IN 2007, EASTER SEALS

Influenced the lives of 54 million Americans with disabilities and their families.

Engaged with 3.4 million volunteers, donors and the general public via face-to-face opportunities, Web site actions and online exchanges, mail and other correspondence.

Provided Direct Services to 1.2 million individuals with disabilities and their families in the United States, Puerto Rico and Australia.

In the fiscal year ending August 31, 2006, Easter Seals directly served over 1.2 million children and adults with disabilities or special needs and their families. Services address the needs of children and adults who are disabled at birth, through injury or illness, and by the functional limitations experienced in the aging process.

Each Easter Seals affiliate provides services tailored to its community's needs. Major services include:

EASTER SEALS 2006 TOTAL PUBLIC SUPPORT AND REVENUE OF $1,037,866,000 PROVIDE:

323 medical and rehabilitation programs offering physical and occupational therapy services, speech therapy and audiology, outpatient medical rehabilitation, social work/case management, nursing, mental health and early intervention.

154 workforce development programs providing vocational evaluation and assessment, work adjustment/employee development, job placement, employment planning, occupational skills training, senior community service employment program, school-to-work transitions, and community-based and supportive employment.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

August 31, 2006

NATURE OF THE ORGANIZATION

Easter Seals (the Organization) is a not-for-profit organization comprised of the national office and 84 intermediary health care agencies providing services to individuals with disabilities throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and Australia. The mission of Easter Seals is to continue to be the leading organization in helping children and adults with disabilities to live with equality, dignity and independence. Easter Seals and its affiliates are each separately incorporated under the provisions of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code in the United States and Section 50-5 of the Income Tax Assessment Act of 1997 in Australia and, therefore, exempt from taxation under present income tax laws.

SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Principles of Combination

The combined financial statements are compiled from the uniform audited financial reports of Easter Seals, Inc. and its affiliates. All intra-organizational accounts and transactions have been eliminated in the accompanying financial statements.

Basis of Accounting

Combined financial statements, prepared on the accrual basis, incorporate the requirements of the Financial Accounting Standards Board, which requires Easter Seals to classify its financial position and activities in accordance with donor imposed restrictions, as follows:

Unrestricted - Transactions that are not subject to donor-imposed restrictions or whose donor-imposed restrictions have expired.

Temporarily restricted - Transactions that are subject to donor-imposed restrictions that can be satisfied by actions of the Organization or by the passage of time.

Permanently restricted - Transactions subject to donor restrictions that they be maintained permanently by Easter Seals. Generally, such transactions allow the use of part or all of the income earned on the related investments.

Inventories

Inventories consist of donated items available for resale stated at net realizable value, raw materials, work in process and finished products valued at lower of cost or market using first in first out.

Investments

Investments in the accompanying combined balance sheet are stated at fair market value, and realized and unrealized gains and losses are reflected in the combined statement of activities.

Pledges Receivable

Easter Seals has pledges receivable from individuals and corporate entities. Pledges receivable are recorded in the period during which the pledge is made as public support contributions. Pledges to be collected at a future date are recorded, at the present value of cash to be received, as an increase to temporarily restricted net assets and are released to unrestricted support when the time or purpose restriction has been met.

Property

Purchased buildings, equipment and improvements are stated at cost. Donated property is recorded at the fair market value at date of receipt. Depreciation and amortization is provided primarily on the straight-line method based on the estimated useful life of the asset ranging from 3 to 40 years.

The Organization reports gifts of land, buildings, and equipment as unrestricted support unless explicit donor stipulations specify how the donated assets must be used. Gifts of long-lived assets with explicit restrictions that specify how the assets are to be used and gifts of cash or other assets that must be used to acquire long-lived assets are reported as restricted support. Absent explicit donor stipulations about how long those long-lived assets must be maintained, the Organization reports expirations of donor restrictions when the donated or acquired long-lived assets are placed in service.

Donated Goods and Services

Easter Seals records in-kind support for various professional services and materials received. Contributed professional services are recognized if the service received creates or enhances long-lived assets, or is provided by individuals possessing specialized skills and would need to be purchased if not provided by donation. In-kind support includes the reported value of campaign print and media airings of its public service advertising. Donated goods and services received in 2006 are as follows:

(Dollars in thousands)	FY 2006
Donated goods	$12,456
Public service advertising	3,633
Other donated services	3,476
	$19,565

Joint Cost Allocations

Easter Seals incurred joint program service costs of $30,477,000 for informational material and activities that includes fundraising appeals. Fundraising appeals whenever appropriate, include information to educate and influence the general public by incorporating health and educational information in such communications. This effort helps people with disabilities to live with equality, dignity and independence. Accordingly, a total of $2,866,800, $14,772,600, and $12,817,600 was allocated to fundraising advisory, public health education and fundraising, respectively, in the accompanying Statement of Activities.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the recorded amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period.

International Operations

The Organization includes affiliated international entities. The financial reports of the international entities have been combined in the Organization's financial reports. Revenue and expense are displayed independent of domestic operations on the Statement of Activities. The Statement of Financial Position displays results of international operations separate from domestic operations. International operations in fiscal year 2006 consist of seven agencies in Australia known collectively as Ability First, Australia.

Other Items

The Organization recognized other revenue and expense items related to interest rate swap valuation, prior period adjustments, accrued pension liability adjustments and the international accounting treatment (Australia: adoption of AASB139) for available for sale financial assets. Translation adjustments related to the Ability First Australia operations are reflected in other items. Translation adjustments are based on the Interbank rate beginning July 1, 2005 and ending June 30, 2006.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENT

NOTE 1. NATURE OF ORGANIZATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of Organization: Easter Seals is a not-for-profit organization comprised of the national office and 84 affiliate local health care organizations providing services to individuals with disabilities throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. Our mission is to provide exceptional services to ensure that all people with disabilities have equal opportunity to live, learn, work and play. Our primary services - medical rehabilitation, job training and employment, inclusive child care, adult day services, and camping and recreation - benefit more than 1.3 million individuals with disabilities and their families each year through 550 centers nationwide, in Puerto Rico and Australia. Easter Seals, Inc. acts as a central service organization for these 84 affiliates. The accompanying financial statements do not include the accounts of these affiliates. Each affiliate is a separately incorporated entity, has its own independent Board of Directors, conducts service programs independent of those of Easter Seals, Inc. and maintains its own separate accounts.

Display of Net Assets by Class: The net assets of Easter Seals are reported as either unrestricted or temporarily restricted. Temporarily restricted net assets are created by donor-imposed restrictions on their use. All other net assets are legally unrestricted and are reported as part of the unrestricted class.

Easter Seals reports gifts of cash as temporarily restricted support if they are received with donor stipulations that limit the use of the donated assets. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.

Temporarily restricted net assets are available for the following purposes or periods at August 31, 2006 and 2005, respectively:

Time restricted	$ 1,504,200	$585,600
Charitable trust agreement	991,600	389,700
	$2,495,800	$975,300

Net assets released from restrictions were $204,500 and $165,100 for the years ended August 31, 2006 and 2005, respectively.

Tax Status: Easter Seals is qualified as a tax-exempt organization under the provisions of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and, therefore, exempt from taxation under present income tax laws.

Property: Furniture, fixtures, equipment and improvements are stated at cost. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred and expenditures for major renovations are capitalized. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which range from three to fifteen years.

Revenues: Easter Seals may accept donor-restricted contributions in keeping with the nature of its activities. Such contributions, along with the related investment income, would be recorded in the appropriate restricted classification as required by the donor stipulations.

Contributions received with donor-imposed restrictions that are met in the same year as the contributions are received are reported as revenues of the unrestricted net asset class.

Accounts receivable from affiliates: Affiliate receivables are carried at original invoice amount less an estimate for doubtful receivables based on a review of all outstanding amounts on a monthly basis. Management determines the allowance for doubtful accounts by identifying troubled accounts and by using historical experience applied on an aging of accounts. Affiliate receivables are written off when deemed uncollectible. Recoveries of affiliate receivables previously written off are recorded when received.

An affiliate receivable is considered to be past due if any portion of the receivable is outstanding more than 90 days. Interest is charged on affiliate receivables that are outstanding for more than 30 days and is recognized as it is charged. As required in the Bylaws, any unpaid affiliate receivable balance, which became due and payable within the fiscal year, shall be paid by October 25th of the following fiscal year. Non-payment of past due accounts may result in a reclassification of the affiliates' membership status.

In-Kind Support: Easter Seals records, as in-kind support, the reported value of campaign print and media airings of its public service advertising as well as other related services. Contributions of tangible assets are recognized at fair market value when received. In-kind support is summarized as follows:

	2006	2005
Public service advertising	$3,580,000	$490,300
Other	52,700	187,100
	$ 3,632,700	$ 677,400

The above amounts are offset by like amounts included in public health education expense in the statement of activities and changes in net assets, as well as in printing and media expense in the statement of functional expenses.

Use of Estimates: The preparation of financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results may differ from those estimates.

2005 Summarized Information: The financial statements include certain prior-year summarized comparative information in total only. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with Easter Seals' financial statements for the year ended August 31, 2005, from which the summarized information was derived.

Reclassifications: Certain assets and liabilities on the statement of financial position for the year ended August 31, 2005 have been reclassified, with no effect to the change in net assets, to be consistent with the classifications adopted for the year ended August 31, 2006.

NOTE 2. PLEDGES RECEIVABLE AND CHARITABLE TRUST AGREEMENTS

Easter Seals has received pledges from individuals and corporate entities. Pledges receivable are recorded in the period during which the pledge is made as public support contributions. Unrestricted pledges to be collected at a future date are recorded, at the present value of cash to be received using a 6 percent discount rate, as an increase to temporarily restricted net assets and are recognized as unrestricted support when cash is received.

Easter Seals was named as beneficiary to a trust in 1999. The principal amount of the charitable trust is $1,000,000 and is recorded at its present value using a 5.7 percent discount rate over a 23 year period.

Easter Seals was named in a Charitable Lead Trust in 2006. The principal amount of the charitable lead trust is $750,000 and is recorded at its net present value using a 4.98 percent discount rate with annual $75,000 amounts distributed over a 10-year term.

NOTE 3. INVESTMENTS

The investments of Easter Seals are stated at fair market value, based on quoted market prices as of August 31, and are comprised of the following:

NOTE 4. LONG-TERM DEBT

As of August 31, 2006, Easter Seals had available a $4,000,000 bank line of credit. Borrowings outstanding under the line are due on demand and are collateralized by certain investments. Easter Seals had $258,100 and $0 outstanding balance under this line of credit as of August 31, 2006 and 2005 respectively. On October 20, 2006, the bank line of credit was amended to increase the amount of maximum credit to $6,000,000.

Easter Seals has a $5,000,000 long-term note payable from the same commercial bank, which is due in monthly principal installments of $58,824 plus interest at 4.90 percent through September 30, 2010. The note is collateralized by certain unrestricted investments held by the Organization. The balance of the note payable was $2,882,400 at August 31, 2006.

The future maturities of this note as of August 31, 2006, are as follows:

Year ending August 31,
2007	$ 705,900
2008	705,900
2009	705,900
2010	705,900
2011	58,800
	$2,882,400

NOTE 5. DEALINGS WITH AFFILIATES

Notes and accounts receivable balances from affiliates, after allowances for uncollectible accounts, at August 31, 2006 and 2005 were $589,600 and $799,700, respectively. These amounts are classified in current assets based on expected payments.

As of August 31, 2006, Easter Seals was guarantor of the bank debt of an affiliate, Easter Seal Society of New York. The maximum guarantee is $115,200 and the amount of the debt outstanding as of August 31, 2006, was $91,700

NOTE 6. AFFILIATE FUND-RAISING

Easter Seals performs fund-raising activities for its affiliates. Amounts included in contributions, program development (awards to affiliates), public health education, and fund-raising relating to these fund-raising activities in the statement of activities and changes in net assets for the year ended August 31, 2006, were $45,351,600, $9,999,700, $14,772,600 and $12,817,600, respectively.

NOTE 7. ALLOCATION OF JOINT INFORMATION COSTS

For the year ended August 31, 2006, Easter Seals incurred joint program services costs of $30,477,000 for informational materials that included fund-raising appeals. Of these costs, $2,886,800, $14,772,600 and $12,817,600 were allocated to fund-raising advisory, public health education, and fund-raising, respectively, in the accompanying statement of activities.

NOTE 8. PENSION PLAN

Easter Seals has a defined benefit pension plan covering substantially all of its employees. Benefits are based on years of service and the employees' final compensation. Easter Seals' funding policy has been to contribute annually an amount equal to at least the minimum amount required under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. The following table sets forth the plan's funded status and amounts reflected in Easter Seals' statements of financial position at August 31, 2006 and 2005:

NOTE 9. LEASES

Easter Seals has an operating lease for its corporate headquarters which has been in effect since September 1993, and provides for annual base rent plus a pro rata share of real estate taxes and other operating expenses. This lease expires in January 2009. Rent expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the life of the lease and was approximately $148,000 for the years ended August 31, 2006 and 2005. In September 1999, Easter Seals entered into an operating lease for additional space at its corporate headquarters. This lease expires in January 2009. Rent expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the life of the lease and was approximately $115,000 for the years ended August 31, 2006 and 2005.

The landlord for the current office space is paying all remaining occupancy costs of the Organization's former lease. This payment is in the form of a rent abatement and covers the remaining term of the former lease.

Easter Seals has a new operating lease in effect for the office space in Washington, D.C. effective July 2006. The lease provides for annual base rent plus a pro rata share of real estate taxes and other operating expenses as defined in the lease. This lease expires June 2017. Rent expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the life of the lease and was approximately $84,000 for the year ended August 31, 2006.

NOTE 10. PRONOUNCEMENT ISSUED BUT NOT YET ADOPTED

FASB Statement 158, Employers' Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans, requires an employer to recognize the overfunded or underfunded status of a defined benefit postretirement plan (other than a multiemployer plan) as an asset or liability in its statement of financial position and to recognize changes in that funded status in the year in which the changes occur through changes in unrestricted net assets. This Statement also requires an employer to measure the funded status of a plan as of the date of its year-end statement of financial position, with limited exceptions. The requirement to recognize the funded status of the plan is effective for the fiscal year ending August 31, 2007. The requirement regarding the measurement date of plan assets and benefit obligations is effective for the fiscal year ending August 31, 2009. The adoption of this Statement will have a material effect on the Organization's financial statements.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT FOR EASTER SEALS, INC.

To the Board of Directors of Easter Seals, Inc.
Chicago, Illinois

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of Easter Seals, Inc. (an Ohio not-for-profit corporation) as of August 31, 2006, and the related statements of activities and changes in net assets, functional expenses and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Organization's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Easter Seals, Inc. as of August 31, 2006, and the changes in its net assets, its cash flows and its functional expenses for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated November 3, 2006, on our consideration of Easter Seals, Inc.'s internal control over financial reporting and our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.

OUR VISION Edgar F. Allen, 1922, Founder of Easter Seals

The National Society for Crippled Children aspires to assume a responsibility and to discharge a duty. It wishes to be instrumental in effecting good, – intelligent in the application of help to those who are themselves helpless. It wishes to see repaired the tragedies of nature and accidents which are registered upon the bodies of little children. It wishes to see that the bent are straightened, the broken repaired, and the work strengthened.

While with many this may be a vision, yet, with us it is a reality.

We can show you the mysteries of a horribly mis-shapen pair of feet changing under the skill of the surgeon to a set of normal feet, and a pitiful, hobbling child converted to a romping, racing youngster.

We can show you the mystery of a distorted back, emerging gradually, but surely, from mis-shape to true-shape; from crookedness to straight-ness; from a curve to a line.

We can show you the mystery of a human being; the home of an immortal soul, supposed to be created in the image of God Himself; coming to a hospital walking on hands and feet, and some months later standing upright, looking his fellows in the face and out of the fullness of a grateful heart, saying “This is the first time I ever stood erect”.

The realization of this vision is charity for those who need it, a philanthropy which may be accepted without wounding self-respect. It is a benefaction for the curable young who lack the price of remedy.

Yes, more than this. We hope not only to contribute to the building of brighter souls in sounder bodies, but also to light new glows in the hearts of the parents of the crippled. Is there one of us who by the grace of God is more fortunate, that can sound the depth of a mother’s pain when she observes the children of others delighting in the gifts of play while her own remains footbound?

In our work for crippled children we seek the sympathetic friendship of all who agree that human sympathy for human suffering is the motive spirit of civilization. The accomplishment of this object, this hope, and this aim is our desire, and we trust that the year 1922 will make it a reality in thousands of lives and hearts.

Easter Seals' mission is to provide exceptional services to ensure that all people with disabilities or special needs and their families have equal opportunities to live, learn, work and play in their communities.
