ASYLUM AND MIGRATION GLOSSARY

- A tool for better comparability -

produced by the European Migration Network

January 2010

The purpose of this EMN Glossary of terms relating to Asylum and Migration is inter alia to improve comparability between EU Member States through the use and common understanding of the terms and definitions contained herein.

The European Migration Network (EMN) serves to meet the information needs of Community institutions and of Member States' authorities and institutions by providing up-to-date, objective, reliable and comparable information on migration and asylum, with a view to supporting policymaking in the European Union in these areas. The EMN also serves to provide the general public with such information.

Following the introductory text, giving an overview of the EMN, how the glossary was developed and its format, the terms are presented in tabular form.

The glossary is intended to serve as a useful reference document for EMN National Contact Points (EMN NCPs) and their national network members, as well as for other practitioners in the field of asylum and migration.

Further information on the EMN, including its other outputs, as well as this glossary, may be obtained from <http://emn.sarenet.es>.

Preface

The need for the exchange of up-to-date, objective, reliable and comparable information to support the development of policy in asylum and migration was already identified in the 1999 Tampere European Council conclusions and still remains today an important objective. Indeed, the Stockholm Programme contains many elements for the better exchange of information between Member States across the wide range of asylum and migration policy developments. To achieve this most effectively, the information needs to be comparable between the Member States.

The European Migration Network (EMN) is one instrument developed by the European Commission, in co-operation with EU Member States, towards this goal. Its establishment through a Council Decision in May 2008, along with the previously adopted Regulation for Migratory Statistics in 2007, now provide a firm basis upon which the efficient exchange of information to support policymakers can be achieved.

One of the many activities undertaken by the EMN is the development of this multilingual asylum and migration glossary. The use and common understanding of consistent terminology presented herein serves to provide the means by which policymakers and practitioners in the Member States, as well as EU institutions, can better compare their national situation and experiences and harmonise policy concepts. This is further facilitated by the translations of the glossary terms into many other Member State languages. The significant number of terms, currently totalling some 300, also reflects the complex nature of asylum and migration and this publication serves also as a common reference guide.

Given the potential of the EMN Glossary, and knowing that it has been developed through the extensive efforts of EMN National Contact Points from the different Member States in a highly co-operative manner, I have no hesitation in encouraging its widespread use by policymakers and practitioners alike at both Member State and EU level.

EMN Glossary – a tool for better comparability

1. Introduction

The purpose of this European Migration Network (EMN) Glossary of terms relating to Asylum and Migration is inter alia to improve comparability between EU Member States through the use and common understanding of the terms and definitions contained herein. The glossary is intended to serve as a useful reference document for EMN National Contact Points (EMN NCPs) and their national network members, as well as for other practitioners in the field of asylum and migration.

The glossary has been developed by the EMN within the context of a Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group. It is the first stage of the development of this glossary, since other terms will be introduced, refinements made to definitions, and updates published accordingly. The glossary shall also be used in the development of an EMN Thesaurus, the purpose of which is to facilitate structured searching of the documents contained within the *EMN's Information Exchange System*¹.

In the subsequent sections, an overview of the EMN is first given, followed by an outline of the methodology used to develop the glossary. The glossary terms themselves are then given, consisting of some 300 terms discussed and developed in a highly co-operative manner by the EMN NCPs constituting the Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group.

The EMN would like to acknowledge the extensive efforts of the working group members and its appreciation for the permission given by other entities, specifically the ILO, IOM, OECD and UN to the use of terms and definitions which they had developed previously and which are duly referenced in the glossary. Likewise, the contributions permitted by the European Union Democracy Observatory on Citizenship (EUDO), funded via the European Fund for the Integration of Third-Country Nationals,² and the Towards Harmonised European Statistics on International Migration (THESIM) project, which was supported by the EU's 6th Research Framework Programme,³ are also much appreciated.

2. The European Migration Network (EMN)

The need to exchange information on all aspects of migration, in order also to contribute to the development of policy, was identified already in the initial development of a common EU Asylum and Migration Policy.⁴ This was further emphasised under the current Hague Programme,⁵ which reinforced the need for common analysis of migratory phenomena (the collection, provision, exchange and efficient use of up-to-date information). The European Migration Network (EMN) is one means towards this goal. More recently, the successor Stockholm Programme⁶ contains many elements for the better exchange of information between Member States across the wide range of asylum and migration policy developments. To achieve this most effectively, the information needs to be comparable between the Member States.

Council Decision 2008/381/EC⁷ of 14th May 2008 established a legal base for the European Migration Network (EMN). The purpose of the EMN is to meet the information needs of Community institutions and of Member States' authorities and institutions by providing up-to-date, objective, reliable and comparable information on migration and asylum, with a view to supporting policymaking in the European Union in these areas. The EMN also serves to provide the general public with such information. It is co-ordinated by the European Commission in co-operation with National Contact Points (EMN NCPs) from each EU Member State. More information on the EMN, including its structure, activities, reports and studies, may be obtained from its website (<http://emn.sarenet.es>).

3. EMN Glossary and Thesaurus Development

One of the activities undertaken by the EMN, within the context of improving the comparability of information between Member States, is the development, firstly of an EMN Glossary, and then of an EMN Thesaurus. The purpose of the Glossary is to provide common definitions and understanding of terms in the field of asylum and migration which are then used, for example, in the formulation of queries and undertaking of studies according to common specifications by the EMN NCPs. The glossary shall also be used to develop further the EMN Thesaurus, the purpose of which is to permit the structured searching of documents within the EMN's Information Exchange System.

As the EMN is shaped through both a multinational environment and the multidisciplinary background of the complex field of migration and asylum, definitional and interpretative differences of certain terms are encountered, depending on various linguistic contexts and different approaches (politics, law, sociology) in which the terms are used. Because of the lack of universally accepted definitions, different groups of interest and bodies (e.g. governments, police and border authorities, governmental and non-governmental organisations) tend to use their own definitions, according to their perspective. To further complicate matters, there are not only within the same Member State different approaches followed, but also the usage of migration terms varies between Member States.

In order to ensure a unique use of terms when indexing documents and to facilitate the formulating of questions for the retrieval of documents in the EMN's Information Exchange System, a Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group was created within the EMN. As existing definitions in the field of migration and asylum are often vague, controversial or contradictory, and as there are, for many terms, no universally accepted definitions, the Working Group established a hierarchy in the source of definitions, the highest priority being for definitions given in the EU acquis on asylum and migration.⁸

8 Available from http://ec.europa.eu/justice_home/doc_centre/intro/docs/jha_acquis_1009_en.pdf

The priority in definitions used was, therefore, according to those given (highest priority first):

1. In EU Directives/Regulations/Decisions and then any definitions given in European Commission Communications, particularly those with proposals for directives; then
2. By other EU entities, including the European Commission's Eurostat, FRONTEX, Fundamental Rights Agency, National Contact Points on Integration, plus EUROJUST, EUROPOL; then
3. In European/International Conventions, Treaties and Protocols (e.g. on smuggling, trafficking, Palermo, from the Council of Europe, International Criminal Court); then
4. By glossaries developed by the ILO, IOM, OECD, UNHCR; followed by
5. Other relevant (EU) projects/entities (e.g. EUDO, THESIM).

Given this hierarchy, the initial focus has been on legal definitions from the EU acquis, which in turn gives more emphasis on asylum, refugees, (il)legal migration, and return. Further development of the glossary will include other aspects of migration, particularly sociological, integration, and economic related terms.

With the entry into force of the Lisbon Treaty, reference to the "(European) Community" should be replaced by the "(European) Union." However, in this glossary, the use of the term "Community" has been maintained when the definition used comes from EU acquis adopted prior to the Lisbon Treaty.

For some terms, preference was given in relating the term to either a person or to the process, depending on which term was more commonly used. For example, Highly Qualified Migrant is a term which is more commonly used than Highly Qualified Migration. Whilst trying to avoid too much redundancy, in some cases, both types of terms are given in order to recognise the possible use of them and to clearly indicate which is the source definition.

Where terms were sourced from other entities and taken from existing publications, permission was sought to use their terms. In some cases, it was considered necessary to modify some definitions to reflect better EU policy on asylum and migration, and this is indicated in the relevant entries.

The EMN Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group has met many times, each time typically for one day, approximately every 6 to 8 weeks, over the course of four years, discussing in some detail and in a highly co-operative manner the various terms. Members included primarily the European Commission and EMN NCPs plus, in some cases, national experts who were part of an EMN NCPs national network. Experts from the European Commission's Eurostat and Fundamental Rights Agency also participated in some of the meetings.

Note that some of the terminology contained in the glossary may not have an exact correspondence in all Member States, and the legal concept adopted at national level may not correspond totally or partially to the concepts expressed in the glossary. However, one consideration in the discussion and development of terms was for them to be of practical use at EU level, meaning that whilst the definition of the term might not reflect exactly that at national level, nevertheless it was sufficient to give at least the same broad meaning. In a similar vein, agreement on the preferred term to use (i.e. the term which should be used instead of the synonym), was reached, even though the synonym to the preferred term was more commonly used at national level for a Member State(s). For example, Removal is the preferred term to use rather than its synonym Deportation. Where this occurred, an explanatory note has been added to clarify in more detail the definition used and/or detailing more the specificities within a particular Member State(s).

For some terms, definitions had to be derived from others, or new definitions established by the Working Group.

4. Format of the EMN Glossary

Terms are arranged in alphabetical order. For each term, the translation into other Member State languages is given, along with the agreed definition plus the source of the definition. In the electronic version of the glossary, available from the EMN website, there is often a hyperlink to the original source document from which the definition was obtained.

Some terms have (brackets), in order to keep terms for the same aspect of asylum and/or migration together. In the Thesaurus, however, the correct order of words will be used. For example, Asylum (Right of) in the Glossary will be Right of Asylum in the Thesaurus. Terms are also given in the singular (not plural) and, to the extent possible, both the terms and their definitions are gender neutral, i.e. they apply equally to a man and a woman. In cases where there are different terms applying to a man or a woman, and noting also that there are technical difficulties in incorporating gender differences of terms in a thesaurus, male terms are used, also for the translation, in order to be consistent with previous approaches.

Discussion of the terms by the EMN Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group included also establishing the (hierarchical) relation to others. In order to indicate a relation to other terms, the following expressions are used and, when used, presented in the glossary in the following order:

Synonym: the meaning of the synonym can be regarded as the same as the term in a wide range of contexts, so that they are virtually interchangeable.

Broader Term (BT): indicates the relationship between a specific term and a more generic term. For example, Economic Migrant is a BT of the term Labour Migrant, which in turn is the NT.

Narrower Term (NT): indicates the relationship between a generic term and a more specific term. For example, Labour Migrant is a NT of the term Economic Migrant, which in turn is the BT.

Related Term (RT): covers the relationship between pairs of terms which are not related in a hierarchical manner, but are associated and the link between them should be made explicit in order to indicate that alternative terms might be used for indexing or retrieval of a document.

Whilst the glossary has been developed in English by the multilingual members of the Working Group, another factor taken into account was the need for translations. One feature of the EMN Glossary is to have translations of the terms into other EU Member State languages⁹ and translations of the definitions too (currently into French, German, Italian, Portuguese and Spanish) are also being done by the respective Member State(s). If it was not possible to provide a direct translation, then instead a translation was provided which better reflected the definition given. Another aspect, for some Member States, was that, when considered necessary (especially for legally defined terms), there could be more than one translation, depending on whether reference was being made to national law or the EU acquis. In these cases, more translations have been provided, with an indication as to the context (national or EU) in which they are used. In cases where there are no such indications, but more than one translation is given, the translations can be used synonymously.

When there were differences in the terms used for Member States having the same nominal language (e.g. Austria, Germany and Luxembourg; France, Belgium and Luxembourg; Netherlands and Belgium), the translations are provided with their respective Member State acronym to distinguish this difference. For example, the term Asylum Applicant is translated as Asylwerber in Austria (AT), whereas in Germany (DE) it is Asylbewerber and in Luxembourg (LU) it is Asylantragsteller. Otherwise, the acronym used is for Member States having the same national language (e.g. AT/DE/LU). For the reasons outlined previously, when relevant, male translations of terms were used by default.

⁹ Note that, at the moment, not all terms have translations in all Member State languages. This will be available in future versions of the glossary. Also for some Member States, it is not possible to provide a translation as the term is not used in a national context. In such cases, this is indicated by "No translation" or "No usual translation."

5. Other Terms and Glossaries

For some terms, the definition is considered obvious or a definition in the broadest sense of the word may be used. For example, agriculture, construction, child care, city, civil war, (environmental) disaster, economic sector, education and language, elderly. A good reference for such terms is the ILO Thesaurus.¹⁰ Other (legal) terms in a broader context (e.g. for Burden of Proof, Policy, Social Exclusion) may also be obtained from, for example, the Oxford English Dictionary¹¹ and the Oxford Dictionary of Law.¹²

Other glossaries which were not used but are nevertheless useful sources of reference on more specific aspects are:

- Undocumented Worker Transitions Glossary¹³
- Glossary of Gender-related Terms¹⁴
- UNESCO's People on the Move Handbook¹⁵

These glossaries may have different definitions for some of the terms contained in the EMN Glossary, most likely because they have developed their definitions to match their specific focus.

Committee on Immigration and Asylum (CIA)

AT/DE/LU	Ausschuss für Einwanderung und Asyl	A European Commission lead expert group aimed at facilitating an informal exchange of views between Member State administrations and the Commission services on political and legal issues related to migration, border and asylum. Frequently the CIA discusses upcoming legislative or other proposals in order to “measure the temperature” of Member State feelings before submitting a formal Commission proposal. The CIA is also used as a forum for collecting information on the situation in Member States (via questionnaires) on selected policy relevant issues and a forum for the Commission to report to Member States on its activities. Participants from Member States are nominated on an ad-hoc basis; normally both “generalists” from the Permanent Representations and “specialists” from the capitals are present. NGOs and international organisations such as UNHCR or IOM are sometimes invited to join discussions of the CIA as active observers. Source: European Commission (DG JLS)

Ethnic Cleansing

AT/DE/LU	ethnische Säuberung	Means rendering an area ethnically homogeneous by using force or intimidation to remove from a given area persons of another ethnic or religious group, which is contrary to international law. Source: Final Report of the Commission of Experts established Pursuant to Security Council Resolution 780 (1992) Related Term: Genocide Note: The term 'ethnic cleansing' has frequently been employed to refer to the events in Bosnia and Herzegovina. General Assembly resolution 47/121 referred in its Preamble to 'the abhorrent policy of 'ethnic cleansing', which is a form of genocide', as being carried on in Bosnia and Herzegovina. ... It [i.e. ethnic cleansing] can only be a form of genocide within the meaning of the [Genocide] Convention, if it corresponds to or falls within one of the categories of acts prohibited by Article II of the Convention. Neither the intent, as a matter of policy, to render an area "ethnically homogeneous", nor the operations that may be carried out to implement such policy, can as such be designated as genocide the intent that characterizes genocide is "to destroy, in whole or in part" a particular group, and deportation or displacement of the members of a group, even if effected by force, is not necessarily equivalent to destruction of that group, nor is such destruction an automatic consequence of the displacement. This is not to say that acts described as 'ethnic cleansing' may never constitute genocide, if they are such as to be characterized as, for example, 'deliberately inflicting on the group conditions of life calculated to bring about its physical destruction in whole or in part', contrary to Article II, paragraph (c), of the Convention, provided such action is carried out with the necessary specific intent (dolus specialis), that is to say with a view to the destruction of the group, as distinct from its removal from the region. As the ICTY has observed, while 'there are obvious similarities between a genocidal policy and the policy commonly known as 'ethnic cleansing'' (Krstić, IT-98-33-T, Trial Chamber Judgment, 2 August 2001, para. 562), yet '[a] clear distinction must be drawn between physical destruction and mere dissolution of a group. The expulsion of a group or part of a group does not in itself suffice for genocide.

G8 Lyon/Roma Migration Experts Sub-Group

AT/DE	There is no usual translation	The G8 Lyon/Roma Group is a working group that debates and develops issues and strategies relating to public security in an effort to combat terrorism and transnational crime. The group also addresses legal themes and issues relating to transport. One of its Sub-Groups is on Migration and in particular on tackling illegal immigration within the framework, for example, of trafficking. The group prepares projects which are then submitted to the member countries and debated in the working sub-groups in order to ensure a shared approach in the G8 countries. It does this by working on "best practices" and on recommendations designed to safeguard public security. The conclusions reached in the course of these activities are then submitted for approval to the G8 group's interior and justice ministers at their annual meeting. G8 countries are Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Russia, the United Kingdom and the United States with the European Commission also attend meetings. Source: http://www.g8italia2009.it/G8/Home/News/G8-G8_Layout_locale-1199882116809_AppGiustizia.htm

Migration

AT/DE/LU	Migration	In EU context, migration is a broader-term of an immigration and emigration, i.e. the action by which a person either: (i) establishes his or her usual residence in the territory of a Member State for a period that is, or is expected to be, of at least twelve months, having previously been usually resident in another Member State or a third country; or (ii) having previously been usually resident in the territory of a Member State, ceases to have his or her usual residence in that Member State for a period that is, or is expected to be, of at least twelve months. In Global context, this refers to a process of moving, either across an international border (international migration), or within a State (internal migration). It is a population movement, encompassing any kind of movement of people, whatever its length, composition and causes; it includes migration of refugees, displaced persons, uprooted people, and economic migrants. Migration (Circular)

AT/DE/LU	zirkuläre Migration	The two main forms of circular migration which could be most relevant in the EU context are: (1) Circular migration of third-country nationals settled in the EU This category of circular migration gives people the opportunity to engage in an activity (business, professional, voluntary or other) in their country of origin while retaining their main residence in one of the Member States. This covers various groups, for instance: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Business persons working in the EU and wishing to start an activity in their country of origin (or in another third country); and • Doctors, professors or other professionals willing to support their country of origin by conducting part of their professional activity there. (2) Circular migration of persons residing in a third country Circular migration could create an opportunity for persons residing in a third country to come to the EU temporarily for work, study, training or a combination of these, on the condition that, at the end of the period for which they were granted entry, they must re-establish their main residence and their main activity in their country of origin. Circularity can be enhanced by giving migrants the possibility, once they have returned, to retain some form of privileged mobility to and from the Member States where they were formerly residing, for example in the form of simplified admission/re-entry procedures. This category covers a wide array of situations, spanning the whole spectrum of migrants, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Third-country nationals wishing to work temporarily in the EU, for example in seasonal employment; • Third-country nationals wishing to study or train in Europe before returning to their country; • Third-country nationals who, after having completed their studies, wish to be employed in the EU (for example as trainees) to acquire professional experience which is difficult to obtain at home, before returning; • Third-country researchers wishing to carry out a research project in the EU; • Third-country nationals, who wish to take part in intercultural people-to-people exchanges and other activities in the field of culture, active citizenship, education and youth (such as, for example, training courses, seminars, events, study visits); • Third-country nationals who wish to carry out an unremunerated voluntary service pursuing objectives of general interest in the EU. Source: COM(2007) 248 final

Migration (Crude Rate of Net)

AT/DE/LU	rohe Netto-Migrationsrate	The ratio of the net migration during the year to the average population in that year. The value is expressed per 1000 inhabitants. The crude rate of net migration is equal to the difference between the crude rate of increase and the crude rate of natural increase (that is, net migration is considered as the part of population change not attributable to births and deaths). Migration (Exploitative)

AT/DE/LU	ausbeuterische Migration	This term is not common, and should not be used. It is added for the sake of completeness only, see Exploitation, Forced Marriage, Trafficking in Human beings and Smuggling of Migrants. Refers to a broad spectrum of exploitation that migrants may be confronted with, like trafficking, smuggling or exploitative labour of a person in a country of which he or she is not a national. The protocol against trafficking mentions various forms of exploitative labour (namely "prostitution of others or other forms of sexual exploitation, forced labour or services, slavery or practices similar to slavery, servitude."), but it is very difficult to draw a line between 'real' exploitation on the one hand and poor wages, poor working conditions, social pressures, discrimination etc. on the other hand. However, all these situations following migration can be called exploitative migration. Source: UNESCO Glossary of Migration-related Terms

Persecution (Group)

AT/DE/LU	Gruppenverfolgung	This is a general concept which has no legal definition in the Member States. "Group" is interpreted broadly and can refer to persons of a particular religious belief, social (e.g. homosexuals), and/or coming from a particular region within a country. In any case, whilst a group may be persecuted, asylum applications are addressed on an individual basis in the Member States, and not all together as one group. The concept given here is taken from that developed in rulings of Germany's highest administrative court. Refugees are entitled to asylum in Germany, if they are suffering political persecution as individuals and if they are members of a section of the population (a Group) that is suffering oppression or is threatened as a whole in its home country according to one of the criteria defined in the Geneva Convention to an extent that the members of such group are not only covertly or potentially at risk, but quite tangibly and imminently; this is the concept of group persecution. If group persecution applies it is generally assumed that each member of such a group may fall victim to acts of persecution himself or herself. Thus the term helps to lend credibility to the claim of the existence of political persecution. An assumption of group persecution requires a certain intensity of persecution to warrant the general assumption of the individual persecution of each group member, irrespective of whether an individual has indeed been the victim of such persecution. This requires a threat emanating from so large a number of violations of rights protected by asylum law that it goes beyond separate individual infringements or a large number of individual infringements, but rather constitutes acts of persecution in the specific territory aimed at the group as a whole which increase, are repeated and spread to such an extent that there is not only a possibility, but a direct imminent danger of becoming a victim oneself for any member of such group. With consideration to the general principle of subsidiarity in refugee law, group persecution will only entitle a refugee to protection abroad, if the danger is present in the entire territory of the country of origin, i.e. if there is no internal alternative for protection. For the purposes of the danger of persecution after return such an internal alternative must be reasonable and accessible from the country of refuge. Source: Definition according to the consistent practice of the Federal Administrative Court since its ruling of 15 May 1990 - 9 C 17.89 recently confirmed by the Court's ruling of 18 July 2006 - 1 C 15.05. Related Term: Determination of Refugee Status, prima facie refugee

Protection (Humanitarian)

AT/DE/LU	humanitärer Schutz	This is a form of protection nowadays normally replaced by Subsidiary Protection, except in the United Kingdom. In other Member States, see notes below, this is either not used or, in the case of Germany, is a different concept from Subsidiary Protection. It is added here for completeness and the term Subsidiary Protection should be used. Source: UK Immigration Rules - Section 339C Narrower Term: Quota Refugee Related Term: Subsidiary Protection Notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. UK has opted into the Qualification Directive (2004/83/EC) but does not (legally) use the term Subsidiary Protection. It is believed that the inclusion of Humanitarian Protection within the UK Immigration rules fully transposes the Subsidiary Protection provisions of the Qualification Directive into UK law. Humanitarian Protection is defined as protection given to someone under the terms of the European Convention on Human Rights. It is not the same as asylum, which may be given only to those who are fleeing persecution, under the terms of the 1951 United Nations Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees. 2. In DE, Humanitarian Protection and Subsidiary Protection are different concepts. Humanitarian Protection is the reception and residence of refugees under international law or on humanitarian or political grounds, as laid down in Residence Act Par 22, 23. So the definition of the UK is not applicable to Germany. 3. In EE, LV this term is not used. 4. IE have also opted-into the Qualification Directive, and also use the term Leave to Remain. AT and ES use a similar expression, namely Residence Permit on Humanitarian Grounds.

Refugee Status (Group Determination of)

AT/DE/LU	Gruppenfeststellung der Flüchtlingseigenschaft	A practice by which all persons forming part of a large-scale influx are regarded as refugees on a prima facie basis. Group determination ensures that protection and assistance needs are met without prior individual status determination.
BE(FR)/LU	reconnaissance collective du statut de réfugié
BE(NL)	groepsgebonden erkenning van de vluchtelingenstatus	Refugee status must normally be determined on an individual basis, but situations often arise in which large populations have been displaced under circumstances indicating that most members of the population could be considered individually as refugees. In such situations, the need to provide protection and assistance is often extremely urgent and it may not be possible for purely practical reasons to carry out an individual determination of refugee status for each member of that population. Recourse is therefore made to so-called group determination of refugee status, whereby each member of the population in question is regarded prima facie (in the absence of evidence to the contrary) as a refugee. In other words, the presumption is that individual members of the population concerned would be considered as refugees in need of protection.

The option of repatriation is bestowed upon the individual personally and not upon the detaining power. Resettlement

AT/DE/LU	Neuansiedlung	Within an EU context, this means the transfer, on a request from the UNHCR and based on their need for international protection, of a third-country national or stateless person, from a third country to a Member State, where they are permitted to reside with one of the following statuses: (i) refugee status within the meaning of Article 2(d) of Directive 2004/83/EC, or (ii) a status which offers the same rights and benefits under national and Community law as refugee status. In a global context, it is defined as the transfer of refugees from the country in which they have sought refuge to another State that has agreed to admit them. The refugees will usually be granted asylum or some other form of long-term resident rights and, in many cases, will have the opportunity to become naturalized citizens. For this reason, resettlement is a durable solution as well as a tool for the protection of refugees. It is also a practical example of international burden- and responsibility sharing. Source: Derived from Article 3 (1) (d) of Decision 573/2007/EC of the European Parliament and the Council UNHCR Master Glossary of Terms Related Term: Quota Refugee
