After acquiring his business diploma at commercial school, Andreas Zdrenyk (1959) went on to obtain the Swiss diploma in business informatics. In 1991, he successfully earned his Master of Business Administration (MBA), specialising in finance and economics at the Cox School of Business, Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Mr Zdrenyk began his professional career in 1978 at Winterthur Versicherungen (insurance company). He gained his first leadership experience as head of Republic FS USA internal audit and as head of North America internal audit. Working as a financial controller, Mr Zdrenyk was responsible for various companies of the North America group division between 1994 and 1998. He changed to Zurich RE / Converium in 1998 where he held the position of Chief Financial Officer (CFO) from 2000 through 2006, at first at the Swiss company, and then at group and holding level. Mr Zdrenyk then went on to act as Chief Operating Officer (COO) from 2006 until 2008, positions which entitled him to become a member of group management. Following Converium's takeover by the French reinsurers, SCOR, Mr Zdrenyk changed to Glacier Re where he worked as Chief Risk Officer from 2008 through 2010. There he also worked as CFO / COO and was a member of group management until he decided to join FINMA.
