Redefining Community

THE GEISINGER COMMUNITY has many faces, many voices. We are physicians, nurses, researchers, and clinicians. We are business leaders, foundations, economic development agencies, corporations, and not-for-profit partners. We are civic, environmental, and patient care advocates. We are grateful patients, thankful families, and the neighbor next door. No matter what group we represent, all are united in the goal of optimum health and healing. Working together, we have made great progress. Looking ahead, we will meet future challenges and continue defining patient care quality — close to home — driven by innovation, research, and education.

To honor and recognize community generosity and a shared vision for a healthier tomorrow, donor lists for fiscal years 2012 and 2013 are proudly displayed at: www.geisinger.org/100/ROP.

Message from THE PRESIDENT

Dear Friends of Geisinger,

The story of Geisinger Health System began nearly a century ago through the generosity and uncompromising vision of our founder, Abigail Geisinger. Mrs. Geisinger was a remarkable woman with exceptional foresight and philanthropic spirit. She was determined to provide convenient, state-of-the-art care for anyone who needed it, regardless of their ability to pay. She embraced the importance of self-reliant families and understood that resources, like quality medical services, contribute significantly to the economic vitality of our communities.

Although the past 100 years have seen many changes in healthcare, helping every member of the community — including those who may be accessing care for the first time — remains at the core of our mission. Responding to ever-evolving challenges, while staying patient-focused, is only possible because of you. Your generosity and commitment to Geisinger, and your community, have enabled us to become one of the largest integrated health systems in the nation, while providing the highest level of well-being and quality of life for our patients, close to home.

We could not do it without you. Thank you for responding with the passion and foresight that have been hallmarks of Geisinger philanthropy. Future generations, healed through your gifts, will look to the past and marvel at your vision and generosity — just as we do Abigail's.

Sincerely,

Glenn D. Steele Jr., MD, PhD

PHILANTHROPY COMES IN TWO FORMS:

Gifts of time and money

Dear Friends of Geisinger,

When Geisinger's doors first opened, volunteers prepared and distributed food, washed blankets and bedding donated by the community, and cleaned the hospital. Today, Geisinger volunteers may spend time teaching arts and crafts or reading books. Others escort families to appointments or work in our gift shops. Still another group of volunteers gives of their time and talents to raise funds in support of The Centennial Campaign and the many communities we serve.

Extraordinary healthcare, close to home, is an amazing gift that Abigail Geisinger bestowed on her community nearly 100 years ago. It takes everyone, working together, to ensure a strong and vibrant Geisinger Health System, and we are proud to do our part to steward her remarkable legacy.

Volunteerism and philanthropy still form the bedrock of personal and community responsibility that promises greater opportunity for future generations. Your thoughtful generosity and commitment to make a difference for so many people — today and tomorrow — is truly inspirational.

As Margaret Mead said, "Never doubt that a small group of citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has." The following pages share just a few of the many examples of how small groups of passionate citizens are expanding access to quality healthcare for those who need it most.

On behalf of all of us at Geisinger, and the patients we serve, thank you for standing with us to pursue world-class healthcare, here at home. Thank you for your partnership to steward this exceptional legacy known as Geisinger.

Sincerely,

PHILANTHROPY HIGHLIGHTS

The Centennial Campaign: Redefining Boundaries

GEISINGER HEALTH SYSTEM will celebrate its 100th anniversary in 2015 with the completion of a system-wide campaign to raise $150 million.

The Centennial Campaign: Redefining Boundaries is driven by a bold call to action: invest in redefining patient care through innovation, partnership, and connectivity. Invest in Geisinger's commitment to redefine medical education and prepare tomorrow's healthcare professionals. Invest in groundbreaking healthcare research and discovery to accelerate the understanding of chronic and life-threatening disease. Invest in technology, infrastructure, and modern healthcare environments for the 21st century.

As of June 30, 2013

As of June 30, 2013, we have received $109.1 million in gifts and commitments toward the $150 million goal from many friends and supporters. Philanthropy of the Geisinger Family has made a significant impact, with commitments totaling $7.1 million toward the $10 million employee campaign goal.

Report on Philanthropy: Fiscal Years 2012 and 2013

For the two fiscal years ending June 30, 2012 and 2013, charitable gifts and commitments to Geisinger totaled $22.2 million from 20,267 gifts. During the same period, nearly 16% of our donors were Geisinger employees, giving back over $1.5 million to care for their community.

Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 2012

A total of 9,030 donors supported Geisinger, 94% partnering with gifts of less than $1,000.

Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 2013

A total of 11,237 donors supported Geisinger, 92% partnering with gifts of less than $1,000.

CREATING BRIGHT FUTURES

Ensuring a voice for every child in our community

THE AMERICAN PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION estimates that 39% to 85% of children witness community violence, 66% of children are victims of violence, and 25% to 43% of children experience sexual abuse by age 16. These events often cause behavioral disorders rooted in fear, anger, and sadness.

Susan McDowell has a special place in her heart for children, especially those who deal with difficult-to-diagnose psychological trauma. Her generosity and compassion for these children inspired the McDowell Integrated Behavioral Health Fund, supporting innovative care models that effectively respond to behavioral disorders in children.

When Ms. McDowell operated a home for at-risk children, she learned first-hand the challenges that traditional healthcare systems face when diagnosing and treating behavioral issues in children. She explains, "Many of today's youth are so full of fear or anger that they are unable to learn, unable to think clearly, and unable to make good choices or form healthy relationships." Ms. McDowell discovered that even when parents recognized the need for help, child psychologists were scarce and family physicians and school counselors often lacked specialized training. She saw an opportunity to improve health, well-being, and future potential for so many children in her local communities, and responded.

4 million children and adolescents in the U.S. suffer from a mental disorder that causes some degree of impairment to their daily lives.*

*National Alliance on Mental Illness, www.nami.org/Template.cfm?Section=federal_and_state_policy_legislation&template=/ContentManagement/ContentDisplay.cfm&ContentID=43804, visited 4/9/14

McDowell-funded pediatric psychology and psychiatry experts help children with a variety of behavioral and emotional issues, such as anxiety, depression, self-destructive activities, sleep disturbance, eating disorders, family conflicts, adjustment to illness or injury, and other physical and mental health challenges.

“It is my greatest wish that this program’s fresh perspective will provide a voice for children who don’t have a voice of their own. The evidence is promising: We believe this approach is improving young lives and, over time, will create brighter futures for many children.”

—Susan McDowell

The McDowell Integrated Behavioral Health Fund allows Geisinger to pioneer novel approaches for pediatric, psychological, and psychiatric care. The fund provides resources to respond to complex diagnoses and to provide individualized care plans for each child.

With Susan’s partnership, Geisinger is pioneering novel approaches for pediatric-focused care. As explained by Paul White Kettlewell, PhD, staff psychologist and director, clinical psychology residency program, “We moved the basic delivery system from the hospital setting to family clinics. Community clinics are more accessible for the families, and patients get help more readily through their relationships with primary care physicians.”

Child psychologists at the community clinics now provide advice to family physicians and school counselors, as well as refer local healthcare providers and school officials to more specialized resources. “We have been able to add adolescent psychologists to our care teams at the Pottsville, Selinsgrove, and Bloomsburg family practice clinics,” says Dr. Kettlewell. “This is a great step forward to integrate specialty services with family practice.”

NURSING CARE 2.0

More time for direct patient care

CREATING A NEW VISION for the way equipment, supplies, and medication are delivered to the patient bedside is driving process change. This change is giving time back to the nurses, to be focused on patient care.

The process of requesting equipment, supplies, and medications from inventory to the patient room has traditionally been the responsibility of the nurse, absorbing more than 1.5 hours of an 8-hour shift, which effectively steals nearly 20% of a nurse's day from actual patient care. Now, Deborah Petretich Templeton, Chief, Care Support Services, and her team in this newly formed division are reengineering a new standard of care.

Project HELP (Healthcare Enabled Logistics Program) is redesigning process flows, rethinking the movement of materials and supplies from warehouse to patient bedside, and creating a new healthcare standard for integration between support services and inpatient care. The pilot program has created a fresh collaboration — a new community — of supply chain specialists, nurses, and other clinician partners who are moving beyond traditional processes and assumptions.

As Ms. Templeton observes, "The patient typically doesn't have a choice about being sick or needing our care. But every day, we have a choice about how we support the delivery of that care."

The motivation for Project HELP grew from a 2010 study of 19 inpatient units and the emergency department at Geisinger Medical Center to determine appropriations of workload. Work sampling found that 19.8% of every nurse's week — almost 8 hours or 1 day — was spent gathering medical supplies, equipment, and medications...precious time away from direct patient care.

“I am passionate about continuous improvement, infusing new ideas into traditional healthcare and enhancing quality care for my community,” explains Deb. “That is why I established the Patient-Centered Care Transformation Fund in memory of my parents to support Project HELP.”

—Deborah Petretich Templeton
Chief, Care Support Services

The Project HELP team is reexamining internal care logistics against proven successes of lean manufacturing and continuous improvement pioneers, such as Deming, Juran, Ishikawa, Ohno, Ford, GE, and Toyota.

Project HELP engineers monitor and re-enact daily routines, gather and evaluate data, and pilot test a variety of models designed to reduce waste, increase value, and improve coordination of care — all while staying responsive to the needs of each unique patient. The result: best-in-class human and systems engineering approaches for optimum patient care, including some ideas that may even be ahead of the curve in the best lean environments.

With continued support, there is great potential for the future, including a model to redefine the way architects plan healthcare facilities — eliminating and reducing today’s logistical challenges through facility design. “Manufactured products are highly engineered. In comparison, the value of life should demand that healthcare delivery be engineered to an even greater degree,” states Kevin Capatch, Director of Performance Innovation, Care Support Services.

COMMITMENT TO COMMUNITY

Ensuring quality of life in central Pennsylvania

FOR MORE THAN THREE DECADES, the Charles B. Degenstein Foundation and Geisinger Health System have been partners with the shared goal of developing innovative healthcare for Pennsylvania residents. Degenstein Foundation funding has supported revolutionary healthcare projects, including numerous clinical service advancements, the Janet Weis Children's Hospital, Marcellus Shale Research Initiative, and world-class training opportunities for our healthcare providers.

Charles B. Degenstein was a modest and energetic man who worked hard to improve the lives of his neighbors. Following early business success with Weis Markets, Mr. Degenstein dedicated much of his time to community projects benefiting Susquehanna University, the town of Sunbury, and the greater Susquehanna Valley region. By 1975, inspired to make a more significant and personal contribution, he created a foundation to benefit the residents of central Pennsylvania. Today, the foundation still reflects his approach to life: use creativity to define problems and innovation to solve them.

Charles Degenstein's particular interest in unique approaches to healthcare matched Geisinger's mission to provide the best possible healthcare to all who need it, close to home. Together, we have collaborated on more than 20 projects in research, education, clinical services, facility construction, and community outreach. Mr. Degenstein is no longer with us, but through his generosity, and the prudent leadership of the Apfelbaums as co-trustees, the Degenstein legacy continues to enrich the health and well-being of the families and communities he loved.

The potential impact of Marcellus Shale drilling is significantly greater than any previous resource extraction — oil, coal, and forest products. Degenstein support through use of longitudinal clinical data collection and analysis, will provide an understanding of health impacts from natural gas drilling, if any, and inform optimum quality of life for Pennsylvania families.

Reflecting their mission to encourage conservation of natural resources and protect the environment, the Degenstein Foundation has partnered with Geisinger on past initiatives such as the Susquehanna River Watershed Project, exploring the topic of water quality in the vast Susquehanna River Basin.

Similarly, natural gas drilling in the Marcellus Shale rock formation has received much attention. Although the controversial mining practice has been employed for many years, there has not been a scientific, unbiased study of the effects, if any, on health.

With the support of partners like the Degenstein Foundation, Geisinger is in a unique position to lead a rigorous study to better understand how the health of the communities in the region might be affected. In collaboration with the Pennsylvania Department of Health, Guthrie Health, and Susquehanna Health, the project is set to evaluate patient data gathered from electronic health records of the three health systems, collect additional data through focused studies, and report findings.

“The Degenstein Foundation seeks innovative funding opportunities that benefit children, promote education, improve healthcare, and encourage conservation and protection of our natural resources. We are happy to be a long-standing Geisinger partner, supporting initiatives that improve the health of our communities.”

MAKING MIRACLES HAPPEN

Saving lives, giving hope

RE/MAX CENTRE REALTY HAS BEEN TEAMING UP WITH GEISINGER Janet Weis Children's Hospital and Children's Miracle Network (CMN) since 1997. Their annual CMN Golf Tournament raises more than $30,000 each year to benefit CMN and Geisinger pediatric services in the Centre County area.

Jason and Annie Foytack of State College never envisioned they would be one of the families to rely on CMN at Geisinger. After losing two babies within the first few days of life, they found themselves at Janet Weis Children's Hospital on New Year's Day 2009. Their third child, Caleb, arrived three months early and was transferred to the Danville neonatal intensive care unit (NICU).

He developed NEC (necrotizing enterocolitis), a gastrointestinal disease that premature babies often face. Not to be defeated, Caleb was soon breathing and feeding well and was able to go home after 52 days. In 2010, his brother, Liam, arrived two months early, following in his footsteps. Fortunately Liam had a relatively easy course and was able to leave the NICU after just 19 days.

Today Caleb is an active five-year-old, excited about anything related to sports, especially Penn State men's basketball, and who plays basketball, soccer, and tennis. He is already reading and learning basic math as he looks forward to kindergarten. Liam, now three years old, does all he can to keep up with his big brother. He is completely fearless and will do most anything to make Caleb laugh.

In 2012, twins Olivia and Sophia Lies were born prematurely at 31 weeks. After four weeks at Janet Weis Children's Hospital, Olivia went home to mom and dad, Richard and Andrea Lies of State College. However, the large hole in Sophia's tiny heart required multiple procedures, open heart surgery, and six weeks of watchful care. "The doctors were phenomenal," said Mrs. Lies. "We will always be grateful for the decisions they made." The girls' grandmother, Ginger Swanger, is a REALTOR with RE/MAX Centre Realty.

Founded by Greg Copenhaver, REALTOR, the CMN Annual Golf Tournament has grown to be one of the largest CMN tournaments in the state. Greg, along with Annie Foytack, REALTOR and Committee Chair, received the 2013 Jack “Pap Pap” Dillman Award, given annually to an outstanding CMN at Geisinger volunteer in the region.

Every minute, 62 children enter a Children’s Miracle Network hospital for treatment. Each year, CMN hospitals treat 1 in 10 of the pediatric patients in North America.

In 1983, a telethon aired from Osmond Studios in Orem, Utah, raising nearly $4.8 million for 22 children’s hospitals and leading to the founding of Children’s Miracle Network Hospitals. The following year, Geisinger joined the national organization as a CMN children’s hospital, under the leadership of Dr. Thomas Martin, director of pediatrics, and Dr. Thomas Royer, medical director.

In 2013, with 170 children’s hospitals across the United States and Canada, CMN celebrated its 30-year anniversary with more than $4.7 billion raised for the children who need it most. “We have been honored to be part of the CMN family for nearly 30 years,” says Dr. Michael Edward Ryan, Chairman, Janet Weis Children’s Hospital. “With our remarkable staff and long-standing, faithful donors and corporate sponsors, like RE/MAX, it has been an amazing collaboration, giving health and healing to our smallest patients.”

ACCESS TO QUALITY CARE

Improving community health through strategic alliance

Finding convenient, quality healthcare is a challenge for a segment of the Scranton population. Now, innovative collaboration between community-minded partners is improving access to state-of-the-art care, close to home.

Geisinger-Mount Pleasant opened its doors in May 2014 to provide advanced patient services by highly trained specialists, with the convenience of a community-based setting. The outpatient center offers primary care and select specialties, such as women's health; pediatrics; ear, nose and throat (ENT); diagnostic imaging; and laboratory services.

Patients receiving care at Geisinger-Mount Pleasant are the fortunate beneficiaries of a public-private sector collaboration. Since 2004, the PA Race Horse Development and Gaming Act has authorized the Commonwealth Financing Authority to make direct grants to eligible entities. Assistance from the Northeastern Pennsylvania Alliance (NEPA), a regional community and economic development agency, as well as support from state and municipal leaders interested in improving regional healthcare, yielded a 2013 grant from the Gaming Local Share Account that allowed Geisinger to purchase cutting-edge medical equipment needed for the new facility.

We wish to thank and recognize the many Commonwealth and Lackawanna County leaders who partnered with Geisinger to improve the health and well-being of those living in Lackawanna County and surrounding neighborhoods.

Geisinger-Mount Pleasant

The 45,000-square-foot ambulatory care center is part of Geisinger's long-term plan to invest in accessible, quality care for all members of the Scranton community. The outpatient clinic is centrally located and accessible by public transportation, and the site allows for future expansion, based on community needs.

Geisinger-Community Medical Center is the only not-for-profit hospital in Lackawanna County, providing convenient access to exceptional healthcare, as well as charity care for those who are unable to pay.

The latest studies to evaluate patient services in Lackawanna County found that access to care, specifically primary care, remains a challenge for certain members of the community. Residents of the region are older, with 18.6% over 65 years of age, compared to the 15.2% state average, and have a median household income $6,000 lower than the state median of $41,000.

Geisinger's long-term vision and strategic plan for the Scranton region will ensure that community health needs are met and that convenient medical facilities and services continue to expand. Geisinger-Mount Pleasant offers an answer to the access challenge. This downtown Scranton location, with nearby public transportation, makes it easier for all members of our community to receive the best possible care.

“The Northeastern Pennsylvania Alliance (NEPA) is pleased to work with Geisinger to support our mutual objectives. Together we can significantly advance patient care and economic health of the Scranton region, enriching quality of life for all community members.”

EDUCATION COLLABORATIVE

Investing in quality care for tomorrow

DEMAND FOR CERTIFIED REGISTERED NURSE PRACTITIONERS (NPs) and advanced practice providers — such as physician assistants, nurse midwives, and nurse anesthetists — is increasing as the nation faces new models of healthcare delivery, clinician shortages, increased demand for services, and decreased state and federal grants to support education.

Today, nurses and nurse practitioners are assuming more expansive responsibilities, and our ability to provide an educational experience to support their emerging new roles is essential. Recognizing this, The Donald B. and Dorothy L. Stabler Foundation partnered with Geisinger and generously helped to launch a new program: the Nurse Practitioner Clinical Collaborative Initiative. This program is an educational collaboration with Bloomsburg University. The goal is to increase access to care for thousands of patients by annually training 70 nurse practitioners in central and northeast Pennsylvania.

This project was built on the successful training program for Bloomsburg University student registered nurse anesthetists who are being mentored by a Geisinger nurse anesthetist (CRNA). A CRNA must complete extensive education and training and can receive certification to practice in all 50 states. In more than two-thirds of the nation's rural hospitals, CRNAs are the only providers of anesthesia, making them an essential member of the health professional team.

Geisinger is currently one of only 14 institutions nationwide that has attained a six-year joint accreditation certification for accreditation of a healthcare team by:

1 of 14

- The Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education
- The American College of Physician Executives
- The American Nurses Credentialing Center for inter-professional continuing healthcare education

Joint accreditation status is important because it supports the way we must provide patient care today — through inter-professional teams comprised of physicians, nurses, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, nurse anesthetists, midwives, pharmacists, and others.

“We recognize the importance of educating nursing students and providing continuing education for nursing professionals,” says Susan M. Hallick, MHA, BSN, RN, NEA-BC, executive vice president and system chief nursing officer.

Geisinger partners with Bloomsburg University for on-site classes and training for those who are in pursuit of BSN, MSN, CRNA, and NP degrees.

With donor support, we look forward to expanding the number of opportunities for Bloomsburg University NP students to train with Geisinger by 10% each year, through increased resources that can be dedicated purely to educational endeavors. The proposed model is an exciting concept that shows promise of win-win results: making valuable nursing time available for training activities, without impacting patient care resources. Plans also include investment in the latest technology and virtual simulation laboratories to improve hands-on skill and confidence.

The Stabler Foundation is helping to prepare the nursing workforce of tomorrow by investing in our nursing students today.

The Donald B. and Dorothy L. Stabler Foundation was established by Mr. and Mrs. Stabler in 1966 exclusively for charitable, religious, scientific, literary, or educational purposes.

A TRIBUTE TO COMMUNITY HEROES

“Volunteers do not necessarily have the time; they just have the heart.”

—Elizabeth Andrew

VOLUNTEERS ARE THE BACKBONE OF OUR COMMUNITY. They are unsung heroes who give of their time, talents, energy, and personal resources to improve life for their neighbors. At Geisinger, our Auxiliary members exemplify what it means to be community heroes.

To the more than 550 members of our seven Auxiliary organizations, Thank You!

Together, your commitment ignites greater hope and promise than any one person could create on their own.

Imagine, for a moment, Geisinger without our Auxilians. In just the past year alone, tireless dedication has yielded more than $935,000 in donations to a variety of patient care projects, ranging from pediatric dentistry, to surgical tables for the physically challenged, imaging software, telemedicine expansion, cancer research, medical education, and much more.

Year-round events and activities form opportunities for inspiration and collaboration between community leaders, volunteers, and the Geisinger Family — everyone connected by the passion to improve quality of life for others. Whether a formal gala, wine tasting, golf tournament, or consignment shop, the following community-based organizations strive to create

GIFTS TO GEISINGER

July 1, 2011 to June 30, 2012

Geisinger is grateful to the 9,030 donors — individuals, employees, businesses, and foundations — who partnered with us in 2012 to support The Centennial Campaign and give back to their communities. Donor support is providing better access to quality care, improving health and well-being, and enriching the lives of millions of patients, close to home.

GIFTS TO GEISINGER

July 1, 2012 to June 30, 2013

Geisinger is thankful for the 11,237 donors who shared Geisinger's vision and mission and generously partnered with us in 2013 to realize innovative care programs, excellent medical education, leading-edge research, and modern healthcare facilities. Donor support is extending convenient, quality services to more families and more communities, regardless of the patient's ability to pay for care.
