Committee on Minority Historians Mentoring Breakfast

Marriott Wardman Park, Coolidge Room

The Committee on Minority Historians invites minority graduate students and first-year faculty to a continental breakfast. Please join the committee in a discussion of life in the profession. The breakfast starts with a panel speaking on strategies for navigating particular aspects of the profession, and concludes with small, informal group discussions. Because space is limited, advance registration is required. Cost: $10 members, $15 nonmembers. Individuals who wish to participate in the discussion only are invited to arrive at 8:00 a.m.

OFFSITE WORKSHOP

Friday, January 3, 10:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m.

Historians and History Museums: An Offsite Workshop at the Smithsonian’s National Museum of American History

Smithsonian’s National Museum of American History, Warner Bros. Theater

Sponsored by the AHA Professional and Research Divisions

The Malleable PhD

This workshop will take place offsite at the Smithsonian’s National Museum of American History, on Constitution Ave. NW between 12th and 14th St.

Take Metro to the Federal Triangle station. Turn right on 12th St. for one block, turn right on Constitution Ave., and then left into the entrance of the museum. If traveling by taxi, ask the driver to drop you off at the Constitution Ave. entrance. The Warner Bros. Theater is immediately to your left after you pass through visitor screening. Doors open at 10 a.m.

10:30 a.m.–12:00 p.m. History Museum Directors on the Past, Present, and Future of History Museums: A Roundtable Discussion

Chair: Stephen Aron, University of California, Los Angeles and Autry National Center of the American West

Panel: John Gray, Smithsonian’s National Museum of American History
W. Richard West Jr., Autry National Center of the American West
Joan Marshall, Bullock Texas State History Museum
Lonnie Bunch, Smithsonian’s National Museum of African American History and Culture
Kevin Gover, Smithsonian’s National Museum of the American Indian

The directors of several of the nation’s foremost history museums will discuss the changes that their institutions have undergone and the challenges they face. The session will also examine the role that historians have played and might play in the work of these museums.

12:00–2:15 p.m. Lunch and Tours of the National Museum of American History

Participants may purchase lunch in the museum’s Stars and Stripes Café. Lunch will be followed by curator-led tours of the museum’s exhibits. Please e-mail aha@historians.org to reserve a place on the tour.

LOCAL ARRANGEMENTS COMMITTEE TOURS

Friday, January 3, 2:30–5:30 p.m.

Tour 5: The Freer and Sackler Galleries: The Smithsonian's Museums of Asian Art

Marriott Wardman Park, Park Tower Room 8226

Tour leader: David Hogge, head of archives, Freer and Sackler Galleries

Participants will receive an overview of the museum's collecting focus through original archival materials that document the reception of Asia through its art and culture in the 19th and 20th centuries. Collections include the papers of art historians, archaeologists, artists, dealers, and collectors, plus important collections of nineteenth and twentieth-century photography of Asia and the Middle East. .

Limit 15 people. $10 members, $15 nonmembers.

Tour 6: Curator-Led, Behind-the-Scenes Tour and Discussion of the Historic Thomas Jefferson Building of the Library of Congress

Marriott Wardman Park, Park Tower Room 8226

Tour leaders: Thomas Hoban, docent, Library of Congress
 Cheryl Fox, manuscript specialist, Library of Congress

Participants will tour the Library's historic Thomas Jefferson Building, completed in 1897. The building, designed in the Italian Renaissance style by architects John L. Smithmeyer and Paul J. Pelz, was described at the time of construction as "the largest, the costliest, and the safest" library building in the world. Professor Hoban has done extensive study in the archives of the building. Collections from the archives will be pulled for a special display for this tour.

Limit 15 people. $10 members, $15 nonmembers

Friday, January 3, 2:45–5:15 p.m.

Tour 7: Federal Preservation Case Study: Rehabilitation and Reuse of the Historic Old Post Office Building

Marriott Wardman Park, Park Tower Room 8226

Tour leaders: Nancy Witherell, General Services Administration
 Kirsten Brinker Kulis, GSA liaison, Advisory Council on Historic Preservation

Participants will tour portions of the Old Post Office Building, built in 1899. The building served as the main city and federal post office until 1914. For most of the twentieth century, it seemed that the massive Romanesque Revival structure was destined to be demolished, but through the efforts of dedicated preservationists it has become one of Washington's favorite landmarks. While the building is notable for many reasons, the most remarkable feature inside is the nine-story light court topped by an enormous skylight that floods the interior with natural light. When it was built, the room was the largest, uninterrupted interior space in Washington. Under the National Historic Preservation Act and associated legislation, GSA is leasing the property to the Trump Organization for rehabilitation and reuse into a luxury hotel.

Attendees must enter the building on Pennsylvania Avenue, present a valid photo ID, and go through security at this federal building.

Limit 15 people. $10 members, $15 nonmembers

Friday, January 3, 2:45–5:15 p.m.

Tour 7b: The National Library of Medicine's History of Medicine Division

Marriott Wardman Park, Park Tower Room 8226

Tour leader: Stephen J. Greenberg, History of Medicine Division, National Library of Medicine

Participants will tour the History of Medicine Division of the National Library of Medicine, the world's largest medical library. The tour will include rare medical books (some dating back to the 11th century), modern manuscript collections, prints and photos, historic audiovisuals, two rotating exhibitions, and current digital access and preservation projects.

Important: The National Library of Medicine is a U.S. government agency, located on the campus of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda. Participants will be required to produce a government-issued photo ID and pass through a security checkpoint.

Limit 15 people. $10 members, $15 nonmembers

Friday, January 3, 3:00–5:00 p.m.

Tour 8: Olmsted Walk: The History and Design of the National Zoo

Marriott Wardman Park, Park Tower Room 8226

Tour leader: Gregory Kaliss, Franklin and Marshall College

A walking tour exploring the grounds of the zoo, designed by landscape architect Frederick Law Olmsted in the late nineteenth century. Please note: Participants will meet at the hotel and walk one third of a mile uphill to the zoo entrance. The zoo is located on hilly terrain in Rock Creek Park.

Limit 15 people. $10 members, $15 nonmembers

AHA COMMITTEE ON WOMEN HISTORIANS BRAINSTORMING SESSION

Saturday, January 4, 11:00 a.m.–12:00 p.m.

Marriott Wardman Park, Marriott Balcony B

The Committee on Women Historians cordially invites all interested AHA members to a brainstorming session to help think through the question of the mission of the CWH as we go forward. In a conversation started two years ago, colleagues raised a number of issues of concern. Although many gender inequities in our profession appear to have been remedied and the history of women, gender, and sexuality established in most departments, it is clear that balancing "work" and "life" remains difficult and harassment continues to be a problem. The paucity of jobs and transformations in higher education pose further challenges. In the face of both improvements and continued and new difficulties, what are the urgent tasks for the CWH?

POSTER SESSION

Saturday, January 4, 2:30–5:00 p.m.

208. Poster Session

Marriott Wardman Park, Exhibit Hall B South

This poster session provides a venue for the newest developing historical research. Though relatively new to the humanities, poster sessions have long been utilized at professional meetings in scientific fields. On sessions with several panel participants, audience interaction is limited to brief discussion periods—usually only a few people are able to ask questions and each presenter may not have time to discuss their research fully. The poster session addresses this common problem, allowing for considered dialogue and engaging interaction.

The 2014 Program Committee encourages all meeting attendees to visit the posters on display. The following presenters will be available to discuss their posters between 2:30 and 5:00 p.m. on Saturday, January 4:

- 208-1. Building “Houses”: Helping Students Develop Critical Thinking Skills in Undergraduate History Classes
Matthew D. Bloom, Concordia University Texas
- 208-2. The Confederate World in the Civil War
Adrian Brettle, University of Virginia
- 208-3. “This Trail Destroys the Peace”: Considering the Spatial Politics of Rails-to-Trails Conversions
Silas A. Chamberlin, Lehigh University
- 208-4. AHEPA vs. the KKK: Greek Americans on the Path to Whiteness
Steven Gerontakis, University of North Carolina at Asheville
- 208-5. Gridiron: Segregated Stardom
Brian Hallstoos, University of Dubuque
- 208-6. Choosing a Famine Narrative: The Philadelphia Irish Memorial

217. Chronicling America: Using Historic Digital Newspapers for Teaching and Research

Marriott Wardman Park, Washington Room 6

In this workshop, participants will receive an introductory, hands-on use of Chronicling America. The instructors representing NEH and EDSITEment, the digital educational outreach of NEH, will work with both history and social studies educators at K–12 and college levels as well as academic researchers on how they might incorporate historic digital newspapers in their professional activities. After an introduction to Chronicling America and its basic functionality, the workshop instructors will lead participants in a guided exercise to brainstorm innovative teaching and research techniques. Participants will be divided into small groups evenly balanced between K–12 educators and academic historians. They will be tasked with constructing a learning resource that may be adapted for use either in the classroom or for further research inquiry. By the end of the workshop, participants will walk away with the resources they produced. A discussion session at the close of the workshop will answer any questions about using the site’s functionalities as well as explore methods for incorporating Chronicling America into K–12 and college classrooms. Note: Participants are strongly encouraged to bring their own laptops or tablets. Prior familiarity with Chronicling America is recommended but not necessary
