Message from the President

October was a very busy month at the IASC. We kicked it off with a beautiful celebration of our Brick Memorial. (We are offering bricks again – check the office for information.) Next, we celebrated fall harvest with La Vendemmia. Thank you to Beverly Lauria and her social team for a beautiful affair. Thanks, also, go to Chef Mike, his entire staff, our ladies at the bar and everyone who volunteers to make our events successful. We couldn't do it without you! Elvis was in the house on October 15th – ok, it was really Captain Kirk – and we had a great time. Watch our calendar for our next special Tuesday event. DJ Tito closes October with our always popular Halloween party. I know it will be a fantastic night and many thanks to all the NEW volunteers that are stepping up to help. With so many of us away on a cruise, it is comforting to know we have left this event in very capable hands! Thank you, Marie and Roe!

November brings our annual Anniversary Dinner Dance. Tickets are available now. This is always a very special night and really kicks off our holiday season. On November 16th, we hope to see our IASC ladies at a Holiday Fashion Show here at the club. Belk will be supplying the fashions; we'll serve a delicious meal and Vince Cautero will provide wonderful entertainment. Men, you are welcome, too, as always! Only $25 per person – tickets are available now!

Our super Building & Grounds volunteers came through for us again in October and saved us a lot of money. We are so grateful to have Jim Baranoski and Tony Carcich amongst us! And to all our volunteers, it takes a village and we have a wonderful group of friends that always step up. I love you and thank you.

Remember to keep our members and their families in your prayers. We have many members struggling with loss and illness at this time and our love and prayers go out to them.

Colette

COMMITTEE

Gina Lollobrigida

A woman who is redolent of another screen siren, Sophia Loren, would become known as the Mona Lisa of the 20th Century. She could mesmerize with owl-like eyes as brown and as rich as cinnamon and beguile her audience with her evocatively seductive voice.

Born in Subiaco, Italy, the young Luigina studied painting and sculpting while at school but was destined to be admired by both men and women as she spent much of her early to mid-teen years modelling. Lollobrigida began entering beauty pageants and by 1945 she came third in the Miss Italia Pageant which afforded her national exposure.

Her young life was peppered with bit parts in Italian films until 1950 when tycoon, Howard Hughes asked her to work with him in Hollywood. She refused explaining she was happiest in Europe, a decision that would prevent her from acting in the American Movie industry filming in the US nevertheless, she would appear in those American films shot in Europe and her performance in Bread, Love and Dreams in 1953 awarded her with a BAFTA nomination for which she won the Nastro d'Argento award. She became an international star.

In 1949 she married a Slovenian physician, Milko Skofic with whom she had one child, a boy Andrea. Having given up practicing medicine to become her manager, Gina and Milko Skofic, after 22 years, divorced in 1971.

With her momentum restored, she went on to appear in two of her most renowned Italian films; The Wayward Wife 1953 and Woman of Rome 1954 and later appeared in French and English films; her first being Beat the Devil in 1953. However, during her five-decade career she became known as The Most Beautiful Woman in the World and Beautiful but Dangerous, after a film of the same name she appeared in, in 1955. During the same year she received her first David di Donatello for Best Actress having sung several arias from Tosca. It was the beginning of an impressive list of appearances in films that starred some of the finest actors the silver screen has ever known.

Through the years she won six David di Donatello awards and as many Bambi Awards whilst being nominated three times for the Golden Globe, one of which she was awarded in 1961.

By the launch of the 1970's Lollobrigida's film career had slowed considerably until she was cast in several television series until the mid-1980's. But her career had taken on a new facet wherein she became a successful photographic journalist whose clients were, among many, Paul Newman, Audrey Hepburn, Henry Kissinger and David Cassidy. After harnessing an exclusive interview with Cuba's Fidel Castro, she released a collection of her work titled Italia Mia which was published in 1973.

Gina Lollobrigida retired in 1997. In 1999 she was nominated Goodwill Ambassador of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and in 2013 she sold her diamond jewelry collection for $4.9 million in Geneva and passed the profits over to raise money for stem cell research.

From the first moment the youngest girl child born in the picturesque mountain village in Subiaco made her mark in the world and although she always maintained she had become an actress by mistake, once she appeared on the silver screen, the industry knew it would never be the same again.
